Among other outlandiſh Men that lived here in St. Katharine's was one Crokehay, a Man of Credit and Subſtance, who inhabited here in Queen Mary's Days; whoſe Wife Gertrude, being a faſt Proteſtant, was troubled upon her Death-bed by Dr. Mallet, then Maſter of St. Katharine's, becauſe he could not perſuade her either to receive the Unction or the Sacrament; excuſing this laſt, in that ſhe was ſubject to vomit, and ſo was ſure, ſhe ſaid, to caſt up their God again. He therefore refuſed her Chriſtian Burial when ſhe was dead, and ſaid ſhe ſhould be buried in ſome Highway, and a Mark ſet upon her, in Token that ſhe was an Heretick: But her Huſband at laſt obtained Leave to bury her in his Garden, for there were Gardens then in St. Katharine's.

The Flemiſh Church-yard.

Behind Hangman's-Gains is the Flemiſh Church-yard, which was appropriated for the Burial of thoſe of Hammes and Guiſnes, and other poor Flemings that came over afterwards under Queen Elizabeth; and is ſtill a Churchyard for the poorer Sort.

The Jewry in St. Katharine's.

Somewhere within the Liberties of the Tower, and, as it ſeems, in this Part of St. Katharine's, was a Place called Judaiſmus, the Jewry, which being a Place of Privilege, ſuch as were Jews (as well as others) reſorted thither for their Safety, who fell off from the Religion then profeſſed and practiſed; and particularly Prieſts that had taken Wives, and ſo eſteemed Apoſtates from the Unity of the Catholick Church. Among the Collections of the Tower Records taken by Mr. Prynn, we have this:

Rec. Tur. A Place of Privilege.

"That, Anno 1279, the eighth of Edward I. "upon the Archbiſhop's Requeſt, the King iſ-"ſued a Writ to the Mayor and Sheriffs of Lon-"don, to apprehend certain Apoſtates, qui receſ-"ſerunt ab unitate Catholicæ Fidei. But they were "in Judaiſmo, i. e. the Jewry, and ſo out of the "Power and Juriſdiction of the Magiſtrates of "London. Upon this the Archbiſhop wrote to "the Biſhop of Bath and Wells, that was Chan-"cellor, ſignifying that thoſe Enemies of the "Faith were yet in Balliva Majoris & Vicecom. "Lond. ſed in Judaiſmo ſub Cuſtodia & Poteſtate "Conſtabularii Turris, ubi ingredi non poſſunt, ut "dicitur, ſine ſpeciali mandato." Some of theſe Enemies of the Faith, and Apoſtates from Catholick Unity, ſeem to be ſuch Prieſts as had Wives; for in the ſame Letter it is added, that he would take away that Word Dudum in his former Writ, Quoniam nunc ipſorum Uxores ſunt ſicut prius.

Bounds of St. Katharine's.

The Circuit of this Hoſpital, or Free Chapel of St. Katharine, is as follows: From the Eaſt Gate of the Tower by the Thames, unto the Bank beyond St. Katharine's Dock Eaſtward, and from thence through all the Lane which leadeth from the ſaid Dock, and in and by every Part of the ſaid Lane unto the King's Highway Northward; which Way lieth between the Abbey of Grace and the ſaid Hoſpital or Free Chapel, and leadeth from the City of London unto Radcliff; and alſo from the ſaid Way, againſt the ſame Lane, unto the Tower Ditch Weſtward, and from thence to the River of Thames Southward.

St. Katharine's was famous for Brew-houſes in antient Times. One Geffrey Gate, in Henry VIII's Days, ſpoiled the Brewhouſes at St. Katharine's twice; either for brewing too much to their Cuſtomers beyond the Sea, or for putting too much Water into the Beer of their Cuſtomers that they ſerved on this Side the Sea, or elſe for both. St. Katharine's Brew-houſes. Leigh's Accid. of Armory, fol. 79. b.

There are divers very antient Records concerning this Knighten Guild, or Portſoken, that afterwards came into the Poſſeſſion of the Canons of Trinity Church; and likewiſe concerning the Hoſpital of St. Katharine; and many Charters of the Kings of England, ſetting out the Liberties, Extent, and Privileges of them; authentick Copies whereof are ſtill remaining in certain old written Books in the Guildhall of London; which Records and Charters follow. And firſt, an antient Record concerning the Original of the Guild, and Confirmation of it: Antient Records concerning the Knighten Guild.

"In the Times of King Knowt * (or Kanutus) "the Dane, were there thirteen Knights, very "well beloved both of King and Kingdom: Theſe "begged of the King's Grace a certain Piece of "Land in the Eaſt Part of London, which the "Inhabitants had lately forſaken by Reaſon of "the Hardſhip and Service they there ſtood "charged withal. The Knights Suit for to have "this Land granted unto them for ever, with "the Liberty of a Guild upon it, the King upon "this Condition granted, namely, that every one "of them ſhould perform three Combats upon "the Land and in the Water, and come off with "Victory; and alſo, that upon a Day appointed, "they ſhould run at Tilt againſt all Comers, in "the Field which is now called Eaſt Smithfield. "This they having performed gloriouſly, the "King gave them the Field, and the ſame Day "named it Knytte Guilden, appointing theſe "Boundaries unto it: Firſt, that it ſhould reach "from Ealdgate to the Place where the Bars now "are, Eaſtward, on both Sides the Town. He "extended it another Way toward Biſhopſgate, "as far as the Houſe of William the Prieſt. To "the Southward the Liberties of this Guild reach-"ed ſo far into the Water of the Thames, as a "Horſeman, riding into the River at a dead low "Water, could dart his Horſeman's Staff from "him: So that all Eaſt Smithfield, with Part of "the right Hand Way, which ſtretcheth by Dod-"ding's Pond into the Thames, and alſo the Ho-"ſpital of St. Katharine, with the Mills, (which "Hoſpital was founded in the Reign of King "Stephen) together with the outer Stone Wall, "and the new Ditch of the Tower, ſtand and are "within the Fee aforeſaid: For the ſaid Wall "and Ditch were not as yet made, but were "afterwards, in the very Time that King Ri-"chard I. was at Jeruſalem; which was done by "the Biſhop of Ely, the King's Juſtice over all "the Kingdom. The Occaſion was a Difference "betwixt Earl John, the King's Brother, and the "Chief Juſtice. By the digging of this Ditch in "the Ground of Eaſt Smithfield, did the Church "of the Holy Trinity in London loſe half a Mark a "Year Revenue; and the Mill which belonged "unto the poor Brotherhood of the Hoſpital of "St. Katharine, and unto the Churches of St. "Katharine, and of the Holy Trinity altogether, "was

" Edward gave five Marks and an half unto the " poor Brotherhood for that Part of their Garden
" which the Ditch had deſtroyed; and that Part
" which it had not, he reſtored unto them again,
" which they hold unto this Day. As for their

This Guild was by divers Kings afterwards confirmed; and firſt by Edward the Confeſſor, then by King William Rufus; of whoſe Charter I here give you this Abſtract:

More concerning the Tower Ditch beforementioned, and of the encloſing the whole City of London with a Ditch:

" Whilſt King Richard, in his Return from
" Jeruſalem, was kept Priſoner by the Emperor
" of Almayne, there fell out a Diſſention betwixt
" Earl John, the King's Brother, and the Biſhop
" of Ely, Lord Chief Juſtice of England; where-
" upon the Biſhop thought good to fortify the " * King's Caſtle, which the Earl at that Time
" provided to beleaguer. It ſeemed good to the " Biſhop therefore to encompaſs in the whole
" Bulwark with a Wall of a moſt wonderful
" Thickneſs, and to make a broad and deep
" Ditch about that, which the Thames flowing
" into, the whole Tower might both be encom-
" paſſed and fortified by it. Upon Occaſion
" therefore of this Ditch, which was then made
" in Smithfield, (and by Reaſon of that other
" Ditch, which the Citizens for the ſame Cauſe
" then began to make round about their City)
" did the Church of the Holy Trinity loſe half a
" Mark of yearly Revenue; and the Mill alſo
" belonging unto the Poor of the Hoſpital of " Aldgate was taken away; whereupon there ac-
" crued no ſmall Damage both unto us *, and to
" thoſe poor People; for which, though Re-
" compence hath been often promiſed, yet have
" we hitherto received no Satisfaction."

More concerning this Matter out of a French Record in Book H. Folio 199, and in Book Dunthorn, Folio 88: Which is a Deſire of the Maſter of St. Katharine's Hoſpital to have Leave of the City to encloſe a certain Piece of Ground near the Tower of London:

A Garden of St. Katharine's.

" It was told unto the Mayor, Aldermen, and
" Commonalty, how that John Hermeſthorpe, Ma-
" ſter of St. Katharine's Hoſpital by the Tower
" of London, had a certain Piece of Land which " had ſomewhile been a Portion of the Garden
" of his Hoſpital, which Portion King Edward,
" Son to King Henry, had purchaſed of thoſe of
" the ſaid Hoſpital for the Enlargement of the " Tower Ditch; for which he paid unto the Ma-
" ſter, Brothers, and Siſters of the ſaid Hoſpi-
" tal, three Pounds thirteen Shillings and four
" Pence yearly for ever; and that the ſaid Ho-
" ſpital had received the ſaid Rent ever ſince the " Time of the Purchaſe. This Place indeed had " heretofore lain void and waſte, and had been of
" no Profit to any, ſerving only for a Reſort or
" Meeting-place of Rogues and Women of ill
" Converſation. For the reſtraining of which
" Naughtineſs and Pilferies, the ſaid John had
" again purchaſed it of King Edward III. of " whom he had received Licence to encloſe the
" ſaid void Piece for the Benefit of his Hoſpital;
" he paying to the King and his Heirs, into their
" Exchequer, ſix Shillings and eight Pence for " ever: By Virtue of which Licence the ſaid
" Maſter had already begun to encloſe the ſaid
" void Plat of Ground. This the Mayor, &c.
" hearing of, ſent to forbid the Encloſure of,
" affirming, that the ſaid Plat belonged unto the " Commonalty of the City of London: Where-
" upon the Maſter forbore to proceed farther for
" ſix or eight Years together.

A Place of ill Reſort near St. Katharine's.

" At the End of this Term the ſaid Maſter
" made Suit unto the Mayor and Commonalty,
" that they would pleaſe to give him Leave to
" encloſe the ſaid Place, were it but only to " prevent

" prevent and take away the Villainies which he " affirmed to be there committed. For which " Courteſy he then promiſed, that himſelf, and " all the Brothers and Siſters of the ſaid Ho- " ſpital, would particularly, and in an eſpecial " Manner, pray for the good Eſtate of the City; " and be willing moreover to pay ſome ſmall " yearly Rent, unto the Chamber of Guildhall, " London, for ever. To this Suit the Mayor, " Aldermen, and Commonalty conſented; and " farther made Choice of ſome certain Aldermen " and Commoners, who ſhould take a View of " this and other void Places belonging to the " City, and make Report to them, &c."

To prove that the Hoſpital of St. Katharine, with the Mills, and all that belong to it, together with the Tower Ditch, all Eaſt Smithfield without the Poſtern, before the Abbey of Grace, with the right Hand Part of the Street leading along by Dodding's Pond, are, and Time out of Mind have been, within the Liberty of the City of London, and Parcel of Portſoken Ward without Aldgate, in the Suburbs:

I find two ſeveral Copies of this; one in Book Dunthorn, fol. 80, and another in Book K. fol. 56.

" The Mayor and Commonalty of the City of " London affirm, that, in the Time of the Con- " queror, and long before, the ſaid Ward of " Portſoken was called the Ward of Angliſh Knight- " gilden; and that afterwards, about the eighth " of King Henry I. Ralph the Son of Algode, Wol- " fard le Deveriſh, Orgar le Prude, with divers " other ſubſtantial Citizens of London, deſcended " of the antient Race of the Engliſh Knights, be- " ing Lords of the Liberty of the ſaid Guild, in " the Soken aforeſaid, and were ſeized of all the " Lands in the ſaid Soken, (as by the Charter of " the ſaid King Henry it appeareth) did bequeath " the ſaid Soken and Lands unto the Church and " Canons of the Holy Trinity within Aldgate, Lon- " don: Which Gift the ſaid King Henry by his " Charter (which the Mayor and Commonalty " have here to ſhew) alſo confirmed. Upon " Pretext of which Gift and Confirmation Nor- " man, at that Time Prior, and the Convent of " the Church aforeſaid, as alſo their Succeſſors, " ſtood a long Time poſſeſſed. Afterwards, a- " mong other Things, Ralph the Prior, with the " Canons of the ſaid Church, did grant unto " Maud Queen of England, Wife to King Stephen, " a certain Parcel of Land in the ſaid Soken, (the " very ſame upon which the ſaid Hoſpital of St. " Katharine is now founded) together with all the " Mill there in the Shambles *, in Lieu of ſix " Yards Land in the Manor of Bracching, in the " County of Hertford; even as by two Patents " of the ſaid King and Queen made upon that " Occaſion, it manifeſtly is declared. More- " over they affirm, that whereas the Lord Ed- " ward I. ſometimes King of England, had not " any Piece of Ground of his own proper Lands " near enough unto his Tower of London, where- " upon to build up his Wall, and to make his " Ditch about the Tower, which he purpoſed " to build a-new; he purchaſed of the Mayor, " Brethren, and Siſters of the Hoſpital of St. " Katharine by the Tower aforeſaid, a certain " Plat of Ground with the Appurtenances in " Eaſt Smithfield, adjoining unto the Tower, both " for the laying of the Sand, Gravel, and Marle " which ſhould be digged out of the Ditch, and " that which ſhould ſerve for the repairing of the " Wall aforeſaid; and that he paid unto the Ma- " ſter, Brothers, and Siſters aforeſaid, five Marks, " ſix Shillings, and nine Pence, both for the Pur- " chaſe of the ſaid Plat, and the Recompence of " their Loſs long ſince ſuſtained by the Enlarge- " ment of the Ditch and Reparation of the Wall " aforeſaid, which he cauſed for himſelf and his " Succeſſors to be yearly payable out of the Ex- " chequer; which five Marks, ſix Shillings and " nine Pence, the Maſters, Brothers, and Siſters " for the Time being of the ſaid Hoſpital, have " ever ſince the ſaid Grant received, and do " actually at this preſent receive it by Virtue of " the ſaid Patent, which they now have by them, " &c. the Copy whereof was entered upon Record " in the Chamber of * Guildhall, and acknow- " ledged by them before Nicholas Brembre, then " Mayor, and the Aldermen. They affirm alſo, " that in the fourteenth Year of King Edward II. " at ſuch Time as he held Aſſizes in the ſaid " Tower, it was proved, that the ſaid Ward of " Portſoken (heretofore called Engliſh Knightgeld) " was in and of the Liberties of London; and " that, ſo often as any Tax was to be raiſed for " the King, or to be aſſeſſed for the Commonalty " of London, upon the Commoners of the ſaid " City, or that any other Aſſeſſment was to be " made by the ſaid Commonalty, either for the " raiſing of ſome Wall, making of any Enclo- " ſure, or for the Defence of the City, that all " the People inhabiting the ſaid Ward were ac- " cuſtomed to pay the ſaid Taxes, like other " Freemen of the City, and the ſame Aſſeſſments " were wont to be levied upon them as upon " other Freemen of the City; like as by the " Tranſcript of the Rolls of the ſaid Aſſizes * of " the Kings, now remaining in the Treaſury of " the Guildhall of the ſame City, moſt clearly it " appeareth.

" They farther affirm, that the Lord Edward " III. late King of England, Progenitor of our " Lord the King that now is, in the ſeventeenth " Year of his Reign, directed by his Letter * " unto John Hamond, at that Time Mayor of " his City of London, and his Majeſty's Eſcheator " in the ſame; in which Letters he made Re- " hearſal of all the former Buſineſs concerning the " Wall and Ditch of the Tower made in his " Grandfather's Time. He rehearſed alſo, how " Ralfe of Sandwich and John de Weſton, late Con- " ſtables of the Tower, did lett out the ſame " Place by Parcels unto divers Men, without " Leave or Licence had therefore, either from " the King his Grandfather, Father, or himſelf; " and that the ſaid Place was then builded upon, " and rented out for forty Shillings a Year, and " that himſelf had given out Commiſſions to en- " quire upon the Reaſons, Manner, Right, " and Value of every Thing, &c. And that " the ſaid John Hamond, making Enquiry " hereupon, made Return of all into the Chan- " cery, &c.

" They affirm moreover, that all the Lands " and Tenements upon the foreſaid right Hand " of the Way by Dudding's Pond, and about the " ſaid Places of Eaſt Smithfield, Tower-hill, and " Rome-land, circularly ſituated, were and have " been in the Time of the holding the Aſſizes of

" the

" the ſaid King, impleaded and ſued within the " ſaid City, and not elſewhere; as by the Evi- " dences of the ſaid Lands and Tenements, " upon Record enrolled in the Guildhall, &c. " appeareth.

" They farther ſay, that, in the Times of all " the former Kings and Aſſizes, (Time out of " Mind) ſo often as any Miſhap or Caſualty, " ſuch as Murther, Drowning, or other indirect " Death of any Perſon, in any of the Places fore- " mentioned, hath fallen out, upon which there " was any Enquiry to be taken, or any Summons, " Attachment, or Execution to be made in any " of the ſaid Places, yea, and which more is, " even within the Tower it ſelf, and at ſuch " Time as the King (now and then) hath been " preſent, have the Sheriffs, Coroners, and other " Officers of the ſaid City of London for the Time " being, and no other, uſed to make ſuch Queſts " of Enquiry, Summons, Attachments, and " Executions, and had Right ſo to do; as it " is moſt manifeſtly to be proved by divers " Rolls of the Crown, and other Records of " the Times aforeſaid, now being in the ſaid " Treaſury.

The Liberties of the City this Way.

" They ſay moreover, that, amongſt other Li- " berties granted by the King's Predeceſſors unto " the Citizens of London, and ratified in divers " Parliaments, this expreſsly is one: That no " Arreſt, Attachment, or Execution, be made " by any Officers of the King within the ſaid " Liberty, either by Writ or without Writ, but " only by the Officers of the City. By all which " Charters, Letters Patents, Bills, Acts of As- " ſize, Writs, Inqueſts, Returns, Rolls of the " Eſcheators, and Crown-Office, Aſſizes, Plead- " ings, Enrollments, Freedoms, and moſt plen- " tiful other Kinds of Records and Proofs, it may " eaſily and undoubtedly be concluded, that the " ſaid Hoſpital of St. Katharine, with the Mills, " and other its Appurtenances; as alſo the whole " Tower Ditch, with all the Lands of Eaſt Smith- " field without the Poſtern, before the Abbey of " Grace, together with the right Side of the Street " going by Dudding's Pond; as alſo the whole " Ditch and Plain without the Tower within the " Poſtern, called Rome-land, with all the Houſes " and Gardens round about them, have all the " Time aforeſaid been within the Compaſs of the " Liberty of the City."

The ſelf-ſame Copy of what is laſt above is ſomething differently recorded alſo in Book Dunthorn; the different Points whereof, not mentioned in this former, I have tranſcribed.

Dunthorn, fol. 84.

" That the Hoſpital, Ditch, and the Tower- " hill, are of the Pariſh of St. Botolph Aldgate, " and Parcel of Portſoken Ward. That another " Part by Romeland and the Thames, towards the " Poſtern by St. Katharine's Hoſpital, were of the " Pariſh of Allhallows-Berking, and of the Ward " of the Tower of London. That Queen Maud " was the Foundreſs of Trinity Church within " Aldgate. That the Ditch begun by the Citizens " in Richard I's Time, was for the Defence of " the City. That there is another Soken within " the Walls of the City called the Inner Soken, " which reacheth from Aldgate even unto that " Gate unto the Tower called * Cinigate; which " Soken is within the Liberties of the City, as

" by ſome Records kept by the Prior doth ap- " pear. That the Inhabitants of Portſoken and " the Tower are to be impleaded only in the " Courts of the City, for all Matters, Cauſes, and " Contracts howſoever ariſing. That the Tower " hath no proper Court of its own, but only the " Court of the Baron, which is no Court of Re- " cord, as by Records exemplified in the King's- " Bench it appeareth. That when any Murther " or Drowning hath been within the ſaid Hoſpital " or Tower, the City Officers have attached the " Malefactors within the Tower, notwithſtanding " that the King himſelf ſometimes happened to " be preſent within the ſaid Tower, and have car- " ried the ſaid Men ſo arreſted into ſome of the " King's Priſons within the City. That when " the Juſtices Itinerant have uſed to come to keep " Aſſizes in the Tower, the Officers of the City " have had the keeping both of the inner and " outer Gates of the ſaid Tower; and that no- " thing was executed within the Tower which " pertained to the Office of a * Servant, but by " the Servants of the City. That the Sheriff of " London hath had the Charge of all the Priſons " in the Tower, ſo often as the ſaid Juſtices Iti- " nerant have come, as appears in many Rolls " of Pleas of the Crown, and of the ſaid Itinerant " Juſtices."

By another ſhort Record in the ſaid Dunthorn, Fol. 85. it is ſpecified, " That if any were " murthered within the Tower, or drowned " in the Tower Ditch, or in the Gate called the " Water-gate; that notwithſtanding the King " himſelf were there preſent, yet have the City " Sheriff and Coroner ſitten upon the dead Body, " and empanelled their Juries."

The Letter or Commiſſion of King Edward unto John Hamond, Mayor of London, before- mentioned, is to be ſeen in Dunthorn, Fol. 87. 'Tis dated at Weſtminſter, the twenty-firſt of Oc- tober, in the ſeventeenth Year of his Reign over England, and over France the fourth. The Lord- Mayor's Return of the Inquiſition is alſo there recorded.

More concerning the ſame Matter, and of the reſtoring to the Church a little Piece of Land encroached upon by the Conſtables of the Tower:

King Stephen alſo reſtored ſomething unto the ſaid Church, as by this following Charter appeareth, which the Conſtables of the Tower had encroached. This was done after the Lands were proved by Oath to belong to the Church before the King's Chief Juſtice:

" Stephen King of England, to the Biſhop of " London, the Juſtices, Sheriffs, Barons, Officers, " and all his Liege People, both French and En- " gliſh, of the County of Hertford, greeting. Know " ye that I have given and granted unto the " Church of the Holy Trinity, and to the Canons " ſerving God there, T. Then next follows Queen Maud's Confirmation of the King's Gift, dated at London, under the ſame Witneſſes; where the ſame Things are repeated:

Notes upon the aforeſaid Charters.

Firſt, Obſerve the Time of the building of St. Botolph's old Church without Aldgate, which was about the Age of the Conqueror. So much we know by this, that it was built betwixt the Time of Canutus and Henry I. Aldgate Church, when built

Secondly, Whereas the Kings write to the Barons of London, know what Matthew Paris in his Henry III. ſays, viz. That the Citizens of London, both for their Antiquity and the Honour of the City, were called Barons: But they were only the principal Citizens that had this Title. The chief Men of the City, whom we now call Barons, were heretofore ſtiled Captains: They were the King's free Tenants, privileged all over England. Sometimes the King's Writs were directed to the Sheriff and Barons of London. The Church alſo had its Barons or free Tenants, and divers other Cities of England. See for this Word in Sir Henry Spelman's Gloſſary.

Thirdly, Obſerve London and Middleſex to be in thoſe Days joined together, as in King Henry's Charter.

I add one Paſſage more concerning this Priory. In Proceſs of Time the Hoſpital of St. Katha- rine near the Tower, which had Dependance upon the ſaid Priory, now in the Time of King Henry III. withdrew their canonical Obedience, having a Diſpenſation from a Biſhop of London, and ſome Countenance alſo from the Queen ſo to do. Whereupon the Prior and Convent applied and complained of the Wrong done them, unto Pope Urban, who gave them his Bull in their Favour, which happened Anno 1264, 48 Henry III. Which Bull ſets forth firſt the State of the Caſe, viz.

Fœdera, Convention. p. 787.

" That the Prior and Convent of the Church " of the Holy Trinity of the Order of St. Auguſtine had ſhewn him that King H. and M. his " Queen had granted the perpetual Cuſtody, and " whatſoever they had of Right in the Hoſpital " of St. Katharine near the Tower of London, " which they built of their own Goods, and endowed, freely conferred it upon the ſaid Pri" ory and Convent. That it was confirmed by " Kings afterwards. And ſome Biſhops of Lon" don, with the Conſent of the Chapter, had " granted the ſame to the Prior and Convent. " And ſome Archbiſhops of Canterbury had con" firmed the Collation and Donation of the ſaid " Place. That the Friars in that Hoſpital took " their Profeſſion, Habit, and Manner of Liv" ing, according to the Rule of St. Auguſtin, " and promiſed by an Oath given upon this to " live under Obedience to them, and fully to an" ſwer to them, as well in Temporals as Spiri" tuals. But that a Biſhop of London at that " Time had ſpoiled them of the foreſaid Hoſpital, " and the Rights of it, and permitted not the " Friars to yield canonical and due Obedience to " them. The Pope therefore commanded the " ſaid Prior and Convent by his Apoſtolick Let" ter to require the ſaid Biſhop to reſtore to them " their Privileges in the ſaid Hoſpital."

The ſame Year the Pope directed a Bull to the Queen of England, who had alſo deprived the ſaid Priory and Convent of the ſaid Hoſpital; not ſuffering thoſe of that Hoſpital to give their due and canonical Obedience to them, and for which they had interceded with him: Wherefore he ſent her his Bull in their Behalf; ſince for an hundred Years the ſaid Hoſpital belonged to them, &c.

And ſo return we back again to our Review of the Places in this Ward, not yet taken notice of.

New Abbey on East Smithfield Founded by K Ed. III. Burial for the Dead, prepared in Time of Peſtilence.

On the Eaſt, and by North of the Tower, lie Eaſt Smithfield and Tower-hill, two Plats of Ground ſo called, without the Wall of the City. And Eaſt from them both was ſometime a Monaſtery called New Abbey, [and the Abbey of Graces] founded by King Edward III. in the Year 1359, upon Occaſion as followeth:

In the Year 1348, 23 Edward III. the firſt great Peſtilence in his Time began, and encreaſed ſo ſore, that for want of Room in Church-yards to bury the Dead of the City, and of the Suburbs, one John Corey, Clerk, procured of Nicholas, Prior of the Holy Trinity within Aldgate, one Toft of Ground near unto Eaſt Smithfield, for the Burial of them that died, with Condition that it might be called the Church-yard of the Holy Trinity. Which Ground he cauſed, by the Aid of divers devout Citizens, to be encloſed with a Wall of Stone. Robert Elſing, Son of William Elſing, gave five Pounds thereunto; and the ſame was dedicated by Ralph Stratford, Biſhop of London, where innumerable Bodies of the Dead were afterward buried, and a Chapel built in the ſame Place to the Honour of God: To the which King Edward ſetting his Eye (having before in a Tempeſt on the Sea, and Peril of drowning, made a Vow to build a Monaſtery to the Honour of God, and our Lady of Grace, if God would grant him Grace to come ſafe to Land) builded there a Monaſtery, placing an Abbot and Monks of the Ciſtercian or White Order. The Bounds of this Plat of Ground, together with a Decree for Tythes thereof, are expreſſed in the Charter; the Effect whereof I have ſet down in another Place.

Cauſing it to be named Eaſtminſter.

This Abbey of St. Mary of Graces had a Charter from K. Edward III. in the 25th of his Reign: And another Occaſion of the Foundation ſeems to appear thence.

Therefore, the more amply to dilate the Worſhip of the ſaid God, and his Mother, he now began to found and endow this Free Chapel of the Ciſtercian Order, as a filial Houſe to be ſubject to the Monaſtery of Beaulieu of the ſame King's founding; and appointed the Abbot, and his Succeſſors, yearly to viſit it, or as Need ſhould require, and duly to correct what ſhould require the Line of Correction. He ordered the ſaid Abbot to ſend ſome of his Fellow-Monks of his Convent to ſerve God and the bleſſed Virgin in the ſaid Chapel, under the regular Obſervance of the ſaid Order. And he appointed Walter de Sta Cruce, i. e. Holy Croſs, to be the firſt Preſident of the ſaid Chapel; whom he enjoined kindly to receive and treat the ſaid Religious, that were to profeſs Religion at the ſaid Free Chapel.

By a Patent of 19 R. II. it appears, that there belonged to this Monaſtery of St. Mary de Graciis the Manor of Graveſend, and ſeveral other Manors in Kent; alſo Rents in Woolwich, and the Manor of Popeler: And by a Patent 1 H. IV. it had divers Manors in the Counties of Devon and Cornwal and Somerſet.

This Houſe, at thegeneral Suppreſſion, A. D. 1539, was valued at 546 l. 10 d. yearly. It was ſurrendered in the Year 1539, 30 Henry VIII. Since the which Time, the ſaid Monaſtery being clean pulled down by Sir Arthur Darcy, Knt. and others, of late Time (in place thereof) is builded a Slaughter-houſe for Oxen and Hogs, and a large Storehouſe for Victuals; and convenient Ovens are builded there, for baking of Biſket to ſerve his Majeſty's Ships: The Grounds adjoining, and belonging to the ſaid Abbey, are converted into ſmall Tenements.

K. Hen. III. in the 13th of his Reign granted, that a Fair ſhould be held at Eaſt Smithfield for 15 Days; viz. from the Eve of Pentecoſt to the Octaves of Trinity: And the ſaid King ſent his Briefs to the ſeveral Sheriffs of Lincoln, Glouceſter, Kent, Worceſter, York, Norfolk and Suffolk, and to the Mayor and Sheriffs of London to proclaim the ſame. Et ideo tibi precipimus, quod predict. feriam, &c. i. e. "And therefore we command "you, that you cauſe to be proclaimed the be- "foreſaid Fair throughout the whole Bailiffwick, "as is aforeſaid; cauſing all Merchants of your "Bailiffwick to know, that they may ſecurely "come to the Fair. And 30 Edw. III. there was a Grant to the Maſter, Brethren, and Chaplains, and Siſters of St. Katharine's, that they, for ever, ſhall have one Fair upon Tower-hill [now called Little Tower-hill] over-againſt the Abbey of St. Mary of Graces. There was alſo a Charter for this 20 Henry VI.

For Tower-hill, as the ſame is greatly diminiſhed by building of Tenements and Garden-plats, &c. ſo it is of late, to wit, in the Year of Chriſt 1593, on the North Side thereof, and at the Weſt End of Hog-ſtreet [or Hog-lane] beautified by certain fair Alms-houſes there, ſtrongly builded of Brick and Timber, and covered with Slate, for the Poor, by the Merchant-Taylors of London, in place of ſome ſmall Cottages given to them by Richard Hills, ſome Time a Maſter of that Company * certain Timber for that Uſe; being alſo given by Anthony Radcliffe, of the ſame Society, Alderman.

R. Hills. * One hundred Loads.

In theſe Alms-houſes fourteen charitable Brethren of the ſaid Merchant Taylors yet living, ſays Stow, have placed fourteen poor ſole Women, which receive each of them of their Founders 16 d. or better, weekly, beſide 8 l. 15 s. yearly, paid out of the common Treaſury of the ſame Corporation, for Fuel.

In this Hog-lane, now mentioned, lying on the Back-ſide of Whitechapel, were eight Acres of Land, which about the Year 1574, were in the Poſſeſſion of one Benedict Spinola, a rich Italian Merchant; whereof he made twenty Tenter-yards, and certain Gardens. Theſe, ſome pretended, were firſt encloſed by him, being before open and common. And hence it came to paſs, that in the Year 1584 it was preſented as an Annoyance to the Archers, and all the Queen's Liege People. And a Precept was awarded to the Tenants and Occupiers of the Premiſſes to remove their Pales and Fences, and all Buildings made thereupon: For now many Clothiers dwelt here, who hereupon applied themſelves to the Lord Treaſurer of England, and brought Witneſs to the contrary: Shewing, that the ſame Field, before it was ſo converted as then it was, was a Piece of Ground ſeveral, not common, nor never commonly uſed by any Archers, being far unmeet for Archers to ſhoot in, by reaſon of ſtanding Puddles, moſt noiſome Layſtalls, and filthy Ditches in and about the ſame. Alſo the Way called Hog-lane was ſo foul and deep in the Winter-time, that no Man could paſs by the ſame: And in Summer-time Men would not paſs thereby for fear of Infection, by means of the Filthineſs that lay there. So that the Preſenters were utterly deceived, and not well informed in their Preſentments. Afterwards Benedict Spinola beſtowed great Coſt and Charges upon levelling and cleanſing the Premiſſes, and made divers Tenter-yards; by means whereof the common Ways and Paſſages about the ſaid eight Acres were greatly amended and enlarged, that all People might well and ſafely paſs. And poor Clothworkers by the Tenter-yards were greatly relieved: For that of late time divers Tenter-yards in and about London were decayed and pulled down, and the Ground converted to other Uſes. And becauſe the Queen had lately by Proclamation reſtrained all future Buildings and Encloſures in the Suburbs, they ſhewed that theſe Tenter-yards and Gardens were made long before the ſaid Proclamation.

From the Weſt Part of this Tower-hill, towards Aldgate, being a long continual Street, amongſt other ſmaller Buildings in that Row, there was ſometimes an Abby of Nuns of the Order of St. Clare, called the Minories, founded by Edmund, Earl of Lancaſter, Leiceſter and Darby, Brother to King Edward I. in the Year 1293; the Length of which Abbey contained fifteen Perches and ſeven Feet, near unto the King's Street, or Highway, &c. as appeareth by a Deed dated 1303. A Plague of Peſtilence being in this City in the Year 1515, there died in this Houſe of Nuns profeſſed to the Number of twenty-ſeven, beſides other Lay People, Servants in the Houſe. This Houſe was valued to diſpend 418 l. 8 s. 5 d. yearly; and was ſurrendered by Dame Elizabeth Salvage, the laſt Abbeſs there, unto King Henry VIII. in the thirtieth of his Reign, the Year of Chriſt 1539.

Abby of St. Clare Nuns, called the Minories.

Concerning this Houſe of Nuns, I find theſe Particulars. The Licence for founding it bore Date 21 E. I. to the Abbeſs of St. Clare without Aldgate. There was a Charter granted 9 E. II. that the Siſters Minoreſſes without Aldgate ſint quiete de Tallagio, &c. i. e. be quit of Tallage on account of their Lands and Tenements in the City of London. In another Charter 14 E. II. it is called the Abbey of the Minoreſſes of St. Mary of the Order of St. Clare without the Walls of the City: In which Charter are confirmed certain Meſſes of theirs in the Vintry, in Wood-ſtreet, Lad-lane, Old Fiſh-ſtreet, and one Meſs and two Shops in Lombard-ſtreet, Chriſtchurch-lane, and Sbirburgh-lane; gotten of divers well-affected Perſons: What the Charters and Liberties of theſe Minoreſſes were, may be ſeen by the Confirmation thereof in 1 H. V. and Anno 16, and 25, and 2 H. IV. which remain in the Tower Records.

CHAP. XXVI.

Of QUEENHITHE WARD.

With a PLAN, neatly engraved from a NEW Survey.

Its Name. Bounds. Extent. Modern State. Government. Alderman and Common-Councilmen. Pariſhes and Churches. Painter-ſtainers and Blackſmiths Halls. Lutheran Church. Queenhithe. Wharfs. Antiquities.

Its Name.

THIS Ward receives its Name from the Hithe or Harbour for large Boats, Barges or Lighters, and even for Ships, which in antient Times anchored at that Place, as they do now at Billingſgate; the Timber Bridge or Lock on London-bridge being drawn up for their Paſſage through; Queenhithe being then the principal Key, Wharf or Strand for lading and and unlading in the Heart of the City.

Bounds.

It is bounded on the Eaſt by Dowgate Ward; on the North by Bread-ſtreet Ward and Cordwainer Ward; on the South by the River of Thames; and on the Weſt by Baynard's-caſtle Ward.

Extent.

This Ward beginneth in the Eaſt, in Knightrider's-ſtreet, on the South Side thereof, at the Eaſt End of the Pariſh-Church called the Holy Trinity; and runneth Weſt, on the South Side, to a Lane called Lambert-hill; which is the Length of the Ward in Knightrider's-ſtreet. Out of the which Street are divers Lanes, running South to Thames-ſtreet, and are of this Ward. The firſt is Trinity-lane, which runneth down by the Weſt End of Trinity Church. Then is Spuren-lane, or * Spooners-lane, now called Huggen-lane. Then Bread-ſtreet-hill. Then St. Mary Mounthaut. Out of the which Lane, on the Eaſt Side thereof, is one other Lane, turning Eaſt through St. Nicholas Olave's Church-yard, to Bread-ſtreet-hill. This Lane is called Finimore-lane, or Five-foot-lane, becauſe it is but five Foot in Breadth at the Weſt End. In the midſt of this Lane, runneth down one other Lane, broader, South to Thames-ſtreet, called Deſborne-lane. I read of ſuch a Lane to have been in the Pariſh of St. Mary Somerſet, in the 22d of Edward III. Where there is ſaid to lie between the Tenement of Edward de Montacute, Knt. on the Eaſt Part, and the Tenement ſometime pertaining to William Gladwine, on the Weſt, one Plat of Ground, containing in Length towards Thames-ſtreet twenty-five Foot, &c.

Knightrider's-ſtreet.

* Sporers.

Laſt of all, is Lambert-hill, ſo called of one Lambert, an Owner thereof; and this is the fartheſt Weſt Part of this Ward.

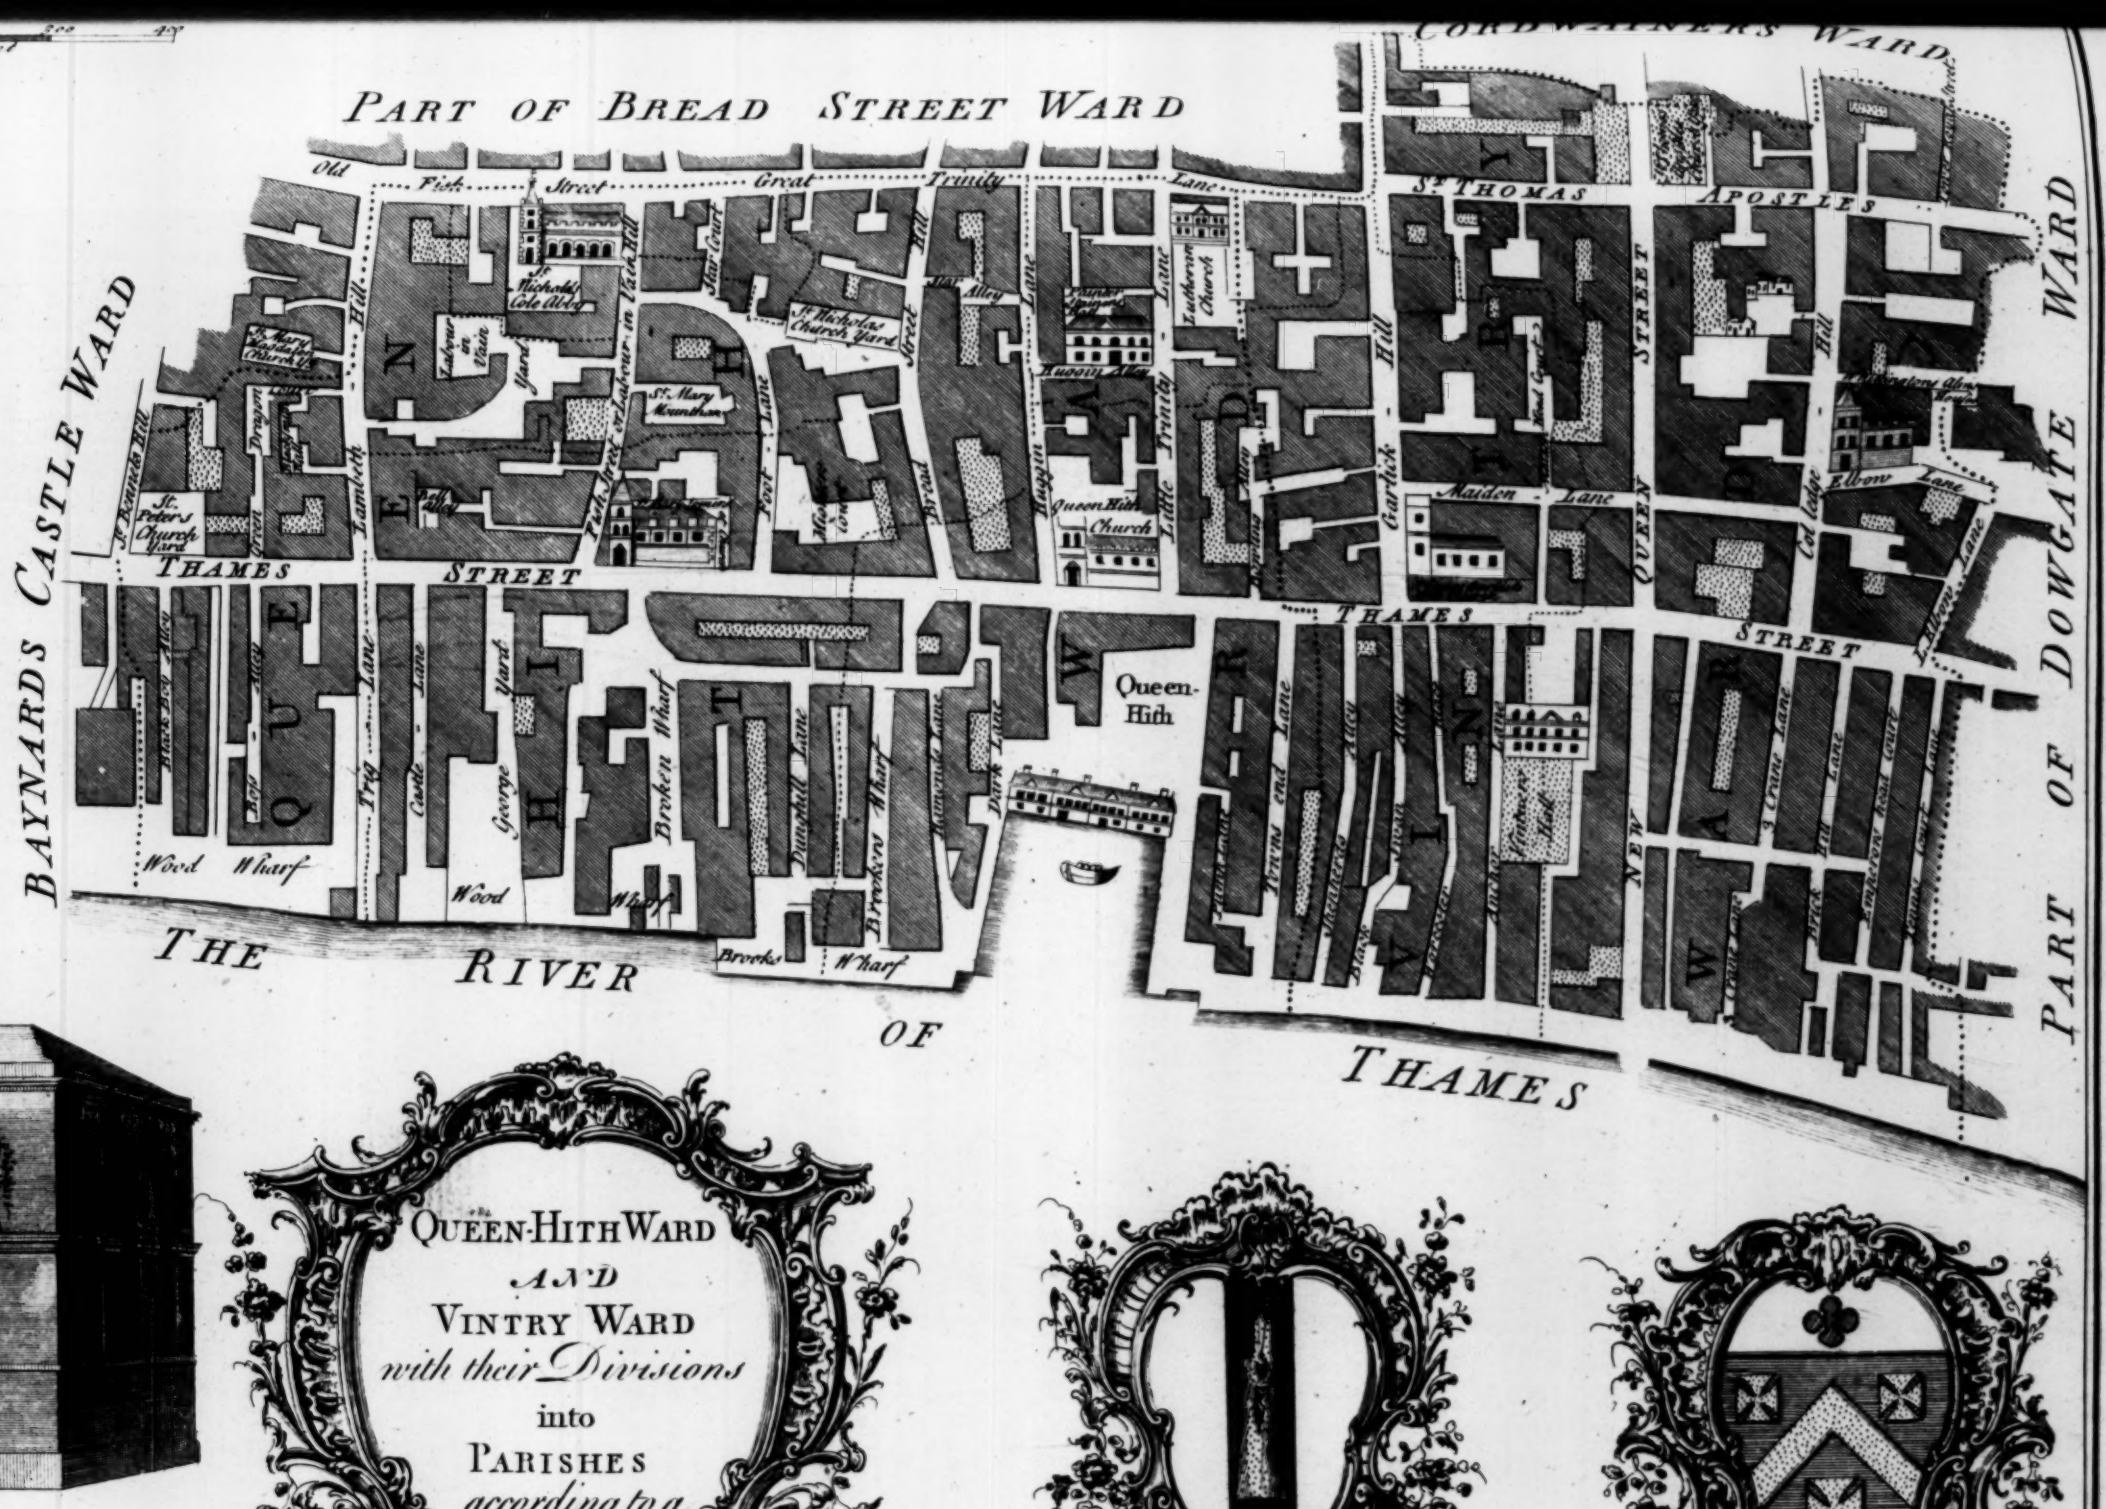
QUEEN-HITH WARD AND VINTRY WARD with their Divisions into PARISHES according to a new SURVEY.

The Arms of Sr. Crisp. Gascoyne Knt.

The Arms of Marsh. Dickinson Esqr.



B. Cole Sculp.

These Plans are most humbly Inscrib'd to Sr. Crisp Gascoyne Knt. Alderman of Vintry Ward. And to Marsh Dickinson Esqr. Alderman of Queen Hith Ward. 1755.

On the North Side, coming down from Knight-rider's-ſtreet, the Eaſt Side of Lambert-hill is wholly of this Ward; and the Weſt Side, from the North End of the Blackſmiths-hall (which is about the midſt of this Lane) unto Thames-ſtreet. Then Part of Thames-ſtreet is alſo of this Ward; to wit, from a Cook's Houſe called the Sign of King David, three Houſes Weſt from the Old Swan Brewhouſe in the Eaſt, unto Huntington Houſe, over-againſt St. Peter's Church in the Weſt, near unto Paul's-wharf: And on the Lane Side, from the Blue-boar, to the Weſt End of St. Peter's Church, and up St. Peter's-hill, two Houſes North above the ſaid Church.

Modern State. The chief Streets, Lanes, and Hills, in this Ward, are Thames-ſtreet, Queenhithe, with the ſeveral Lanes which run down to the Thames, Lambert-hill, Fiſh-ſtreet-hill, Five-foot-lane, Bread-ſtreet-hill, Huggen-lane, Little Trinity-lane, with the South Side of Great Trinity-lane, Old Fiſh-ſtreet.

Thames-ſtreet runs through the Heart of this Ward, as it does through that of the Vintry; and the Lanes, Alleys, Hills, and Courts, as they lie on each Side, ſhall be ſpecified, beginning at the Weſt End, and on the South Side.

This Street enjoys a good Trade, and hath a great Reſort, occaſioned by the ſeveral Wharfs on the Water Side; and therefore much peſtered with Carts. Black-boy-alley, long and narrow, having a great Dyer's at the lower End. Boſs-alley, alſo long and narrow, with a Dyer's by the Thames Side. Betwixt this Place and Black-boy-alley, is a large Paſſage to a Wood-Wharf. Robin-hood-court, but very ordinary. Trig-ſtairs, ſo called from the Stairs on the Water Side, which is indifferently well ſupplied by Watermen. The Lane is open, reaſonably well built and inhabited. Caſtle-lane, pretty broad for Carts, having a Wood-Wharf at the lower End; the Buildings are but ordinary. George-yard, being good and large, and taken up by Timber-Merchants and Wood-Wharfs at the lower End. Broken-wharf; by this was a Water-Houſe to convey the Thames Water in Pipes into this Quarter of the City.

Brookes's-wharf leads alſo to the River Thames, having a large Wharf, with Keys therein, for the landing of Corn, Malt, and other Goods, thither brought in conſiderable Quantities. For which it is of great Reſort.

Eaſtwards from the Water-Houſe, is High-timber-ſtreet, or Hithe, ſo called from the Timber or Boards there taken up and wharfed. The Place is but ordinary, and ſerves as a Paſſage to other Places which lead to the Wharfs; as Dunghill-lane, Broker's-wharf, and Hamond's-lane, formerly called Stew-lane, from a Stew or Hot-houſe there kept; all Places of ordinary Account. And from this Lane is a Paſſage to Queen-hithe, called the Dark-lane: And here is Boydens's-wharf.

Queen-hithe, a great Receptacle for Weſtern Barges, Lighters, and Boats, which brings a conſiderable Reſort and Trade to the Place. Here is a great Meal-Market, having the Conveniency for Stowage of the Goods thither brought to be ſold by the ſaid Veſſels. The Market-Houſe is commodiouſly ſeated by the Water-ſide, and before it an open Yard for Carts to carry off the Goods there ſold; and round about the Yard, except the South Side next the Thames, are Rows of Houſes, well inhabited, beſides good Store of Publick-Houſes, for the Reception of People that reſort thither about Buſineſs, next the Stairs.

Eaſtward of Queen-hithe, is Pump-court, or Yard, a ſmall Place, which comes out of Queen-hithe, and falls into Townſend-lane, an open Place for Carts to the Wharfs. And theſe are the Eaſtern Limits of this Ward.

Then on the North Side are theſe Places. Bowling-alley, a ſmall Place, which falls into Sugar-loaf-court, now taken up for a Brew-houſe.

St. Michael Queen-hithe Church, rebuilt ſince the great Fire, a handſome well built Church, of Free-ſtone, having on the Top of the Steeple a ſmall Free-ſtone Spire, with a Ship upon a Ball all gilt with Gold. To this Church and Pariſh is that of Trinity united.

Little Trinity-lane comes out of Great Trinity-lane, and falls into Thames-ſtreet, by St. Michael Queen-hithe Church. This Lane is well built and inhabited.

Huggen-lane, formerly called Spooner's-lane, comes out of Great-Trinity-lane, and falls into Thames-ſtreet, a Lane of good Account. On the Eaſt Side is Fair-cloth-court, very ſmall, with a Free-ſtone Pavement. Star-yard, very ordinary, hath a Paſſage into Bread-ſtreet-hill.

Bread-ſtreet-hill, a Place well built, and inhabited by good Tradeſmen, moſtly Wholeſale.

On the Weſt Side of this Hill was the Pariſh-Church of St. Nicholas Olave. The Church was deſtroyed in the dreadful Fire of London, and not rebuilt; but the Pariſh is united unto St. Nicholas Cole-abbey.

More Southward is a very handſome ſquare Court, with three large Houſes, now called Migley's-court, from one of that Name inhabiting there.

Five-foot-lane, ſo called, for that the Weſt End was but five Foot broad. It hath its chief Entrance out of Thames-ſtreet, and with a turning Paſſage leads into Fiſh-ſtreet-hill. It hath another Paſſage out of Bread-ſtreet-hill, by St. Nicholas Olave's Church-yard; and another into Old-fiſh-ſtreet, through Star-court, which is but ſmall.

Fiſh-ſtreet-hill, a well inhabited Place, comes out of Old-fiſh-ſtreet, and runs down into Thames-ſtreet. On the Eaſt Side is Five-foot-lane, as aforeſaid.

More Southward was the Pariſh-Church of St. Mary Mounthaw, or Mounthaut. It was deſtroyed in the Fire of London, and not rebuilt, the Pariſh being united to St. Mary Somerſet; and the Ground on which it ſtood being incloſed for a Burial-Place for the Inhabitants.

Labour-in-vain-yard, a large Place, having at the upper End, on the North Side, a handſome Court, with private Houſes; the Southern Part being taken up with Stabling, where it hath a Paſſage into Lambeth, or Lambert-hill. Dove-court, a handſome Place, adjoining to Labour-in-vain-yard. Bell-alley, long and ordinary, adjoining to Fiſh-ſtreet-hill.

But in Thames-ſtreet, over-againſt Broken-wharf, is ſeated the Pariſh-Church of St. Mary Somerſet.

Lambert-hill, a Place well built, and inhabited by private Houſe-keepers. Of this Hill, the Weſt Side, about half Way, viz. unto Green-dragon-court, is in Caſtle-baynard's Ward, and all the reſt is in this Ward. In which is Green-dragon-court, being now a Timber-yard, and has a Paſſage into Thames-ſtreet. On this Hill is Blackſmiths Hall, a good handſome Building; and the Alms-houſes are in Caſtle-baynard's Ward, and there ſpoken of.

St. Peter's-hill, ſpoken of in Caſtle-baynard's Ward. In this there are but two Houſes and the Church, which, before the Fire of London, (and deſtroyed by it) was but ſmall, and is not rebuilt; but the Pariſh is united to St. Bennet Paul's-wharf near adjoining.

Old-fiſh-ſtreet, a good open broad Street, well built, and inhabited chiefly by Fiſhmongers, from whom it took its Name. The North Side is in Bread-ſtreet Ward, and the South in this.

Here is ſeated the Pariſh-Church of St. Nicholas Cole-abbey.

Near St. Nicholas Cole-abbey, is Moor's-yard, indifferent. And beyond Fiſh-ſtreet-hill is Star-court, which is but ſmall, and hath a Paſſage into Five-foot-lane.

Great Trinity-lane comes out of St. Thomas Apoſtle's, and runs Weſtward to Old-fiſh-ſtreet, a Place indifferently well built and inhabited; the South Side is only in this Ward, the North Side in Bread-ſtreet Ward.

Adjoining to the Lutheran Church, is a ſmall Place called Swediſh-court. And now more Eaſtward is Jack's-alley, narrow and mean; but this is in Vintry Ward.

Watch. There are to watch at the ſeveral Stands in this Ward, every Night, a Conſtable, the Beadle, and forty Watchmen.

Jury. The Jurymen returned by the Inqueſt for this Ward are to ſerve in the ſeveral Courts at Guildhall in the Month of October.

Government. This Ward hath an Alderman, and ſix Common-Councilmen, nine Conſtables, eight Scavengers, thirteen Inqueſtmen, and a Beadle. It is taxed to the Fifteenth in London 20 l. and in the Exchequer at 19 l. 6 s. 2 d.

Alderman, Common-Councilmen. The Alderman is Marſh Dickinſon, Eſq; and the Common-Council-men are, Mr. George Nelſon, Deputy; Mr. Richard Peers; Mr. Richard Belſon; Mr. Samuel Turner; Mr. Richard Speed; and Mr. John Rily.

Remarkable Things. The remarkable Things in this Ward are,

Pariſhes and Churches. Firſt, Three Pariſhes with Churches; as (1) St. Nicholas Cole-abbey, (2) St. Mary Somerſet, (3) St. Michael Queen-hithe: And four Pariſhes without Churches; (1) The Pariſh of Trinity the Leſs, (2) St. Nicholas Olave's, (3) St. Mary Mounthaw, and (4) St. Peter Paul's-wharf: Of which in the Parochial Hiſtory.

Halls. Secondly, Here are two Halls of Companies:

Painter-Stainers-hall. (1) Painter-ſtainers Hall, which is ſituate in Little Trinity-lane, and is adorned with a handſome Screen, Arches, Pillars and Pilaſters of the Corinthian Order, painted in Imitation of Porphyry, with gilt Capitals. The Pannels of Wainſcot, and the Ceilings are embelliſhed with great Variety of Hiſtory and other Paintings, exquiſitely performed; as, 1. The Portraitures of King Charles II. and his Queen Catharine, by Howſman. 2. The Fire of London. 3. Endymion and Luna, by Palmaitier. 4. Orpheus flaying Pan, by Brull. 5. A Piece of Architecture of the Corinthian Order, by Trevit. 6. Another of the Ionick Order, given by Mr. Thompſon the City-Painter. 7. Heraclitus and Democritus, by Penn. 8. A Landſkip, by Aggas. 9. Fiſh and Fowl, by Robinſon. 10. Art and Envy, by Hungis. 11. A Piece of Birds, by Barlow. 12. A Piece of Fruit and Flowers, by Everbrook. 13. A Ruin, by Griffier. 14. Camden's Portrait. 15. A Piece of Birds. 16. The Ceiling is finely painted with Pallas triumphant, with Art and Fame, attended by Mercury, ſuppreſſing their Enemies, Sloth, Envy, Pride, &c. done by Fuller. 17. A fine Piece of Shipping, by Mr. Peter Monumea. And there are ſeveral other Pieces in the Parlour.

In the Court-Room are ſeveral fine Pictures, moſt of them Members of this Company.

There is in the Front of the ſaid Room a fine Buſto of Mr. Thomas Evans, who left five Houſes in Baſinghall-ſtreet to the Company, and under it this Inſcription:

P. M.
THOMÆ EVANS HUJUS SOCIETATIS TAM SENIORITATE QUAM BENIGNITATE VERE PATRIS, VIVENS ENIM QUOTIDIANUM AUXILIUM NOBIS PRÆBUIT, MORIENS NOS HÆREDES SUOS CONSTITUIT.

15 die Januarii. M.DC.LXXXVII.

Mr. Camden, the famous Antiquarian, whoſe Father was a Painter in the Old-Baily, gave to the Painter-Stainers Company a Silver Cup and Cover, which they uſe every St. Luke's Day at their Election; the old Maſter drinking to the new one, then elected, out of it. Upon this Cup is the following Inſcription:

GUL. CAMDENUS CLARENCEUX FILIUS SAMPSONIS PICTORIS LONDINENSIS DONO DEDIT.

Blackſmiths-hall. (2.) Blackſmiths Hall, ſituate on Lambert-hill, and a very handſome Building.

Lutheran Church. Thirdly, The Lutheran Church, known commonly by the Name of the Swedes Church, tho' ſupported chiefly by the Hamburgh Merchants, is built upon the Site of the little Pariſh-Church of the Holy Trinity in Little Trinity-lane.

The State of the Lutheran Church here. The converting of this Trinity Church into a Church for Proteſtant Foreigners, called Lutherans, is founded upon the King's Letters Patents, dated the thirteenth of September, 24 Car. II. to Theodore Jacobſon, and five other Gentlemen more, named in the Patent, and to their Heirs and Aſſigns, by the Conſent and Approbation of the then Archbiſhop of Canterbury, Biſhop of London, and Lord-Mayor: Free Liberty being granted them to cauſe a Temple to be erected on the Ruins where the Church of the Holy Trinity, before the Fire of London, ſtood; which Ground they had purchaſed of the City of London, for the free Exerciſe of the Auguſtan Confeſſion in the German Tongue; with divers other Powers and Authorities mentioned in the ſaid Letters Patents. And according to thoſe Powers granted to the Patentees, they made ſeveral Orders or Laws for the better regulating of themſelves, and for the Good of the ſaid Congregation.

Theodore Jacobſon being antient, by Indenture dated the twenty-ſeventh of Jan. 1702-3, by Advice of able Counſel, conveyed all the ſaid Rights and Powers unto fourteen Perſons more, of known Honeſty and Ability, and of the ſame Congregation, and their Heirs; upon the Truſt, and to the Intents and Purpoſes in the Letters Patents mentioned. Theſe, for the Good of the Church, as they pretended, altered ſome of the former Laws and Orders, and made others in their Room. Whereat the Miniſter and four or five more of the Congregation were diſpleaſed; and they cauſed a Meeting to be held at the ſaid Temple, the fifth of May, 1703. And there, without Authority from the Truſtees, but rather in Oppoſition to them, elected twelve Perſons, under the Denomination of Deacons. And with theſe pretended Deacons the ſaid Miniſter thwarted the intended good Deſigns of the Truſtees.

Queen-hithe. Fourthly, The Harbour of Queen-hithe, antiently known by the Name of Edred's-hithe, in Thames-ſtreet, with two Paſſages to it out of the City, one down Little-Trinity-lane, the other down Huggen-lane, is a large Receptacle for Ships, Lighters, Barges, and ſuch other Veſſels. Touching the Antiquity and Uſe of this Gate and Hithe; firſt I find, that of old Time the ſame belonged to one named Edred, and was then called Edred's-hithe. Which ſince falling into the Hands of King Stephen, it was by his Charter confirmed to Will. de Ypre. The Farm thereof in Fee and in Heritage, Will. de Ypre gave it unto the Prior and Convent of the Holy Trinity within Aldgate, as appeareth by this Charter:

Given to Trinity Priory. "To Theobald, by the Grace of God Arch-
" biſhop of Canterbury, Primate of England, and
" Legate Apoſtolike; to the Biſhop of London,
" and to all faithfull People, Clerkes and Lay-
" men, William de Ypre ſendeth greeting. Know
" ye me to have given and granted unto God,
" and to the Church of the Holy Trinity of Lon-
" don, to the Prior and Canons there ſerving
" God, in perpetual Alms, Edred's Hithe, with
" the Appurtenances: With ſuch Devotion, that
" they ſhall ſend every Yeere twenty Pounds
" unto the Maintenance of the Hoſpitall of Ka-
" tharine's, which Hoſpital they have in their " Hands; and one hundred Shillings to the
" Monkes of Berdmonſey, and ſixty Shillings to
" the Brethren of the Hoſpitall of Saint Giles.
" And that which remaineth, the ſaid Prior and " Canons ſhall enjoy to themſelves. Witneſſes,
" Richard de Lucia, Raphe Bigot, or Picot, &c."

Record. This Edred's Hithe, after the aforeſaid Grants, came again into the King's Hands, by what means I have not read.

Grants of Queen-hithe. Clauſ. 6. H. III. m. 7. & 10. H. III. m. 22. Pet. le Neve. Nor. And in the ſixth Year of Henry III. being then called Ripa Reginæ, he granted it to Richard de Ripary, i. e. Rivers. And in the tenth of his Reign he granted it to Thomæ Cirenceſtriæ ad placitum Regis; i. e. To Thomas Cirenceſter at the King's Pleaſure.

But it pertained unto the Queen, and therefore was called Ripa Reginæ, the Queen's Bank, or Queen's Hithe; and great Profit was made to her Uſe, as may appear by this which followeth:

Ships of the Ports arreſted, and forced to bring their Corn to Queen-hithe. King Henry III. in the ninth of his Reign, commanded the Conſtable of the Tower of London to arreſt the Ships of the Cinque Ports, on the River of Thames, and to compel them to bring their Corn to no other Place, but to the Queen's Hithe only.

Pet le Neve. Clauſ. 9. H. III. m. 15. The ſame Year, viz. 9 Hen. III. the ſaid Conſtable was required to arreſt the ſaid Ships in the Thames, to carry their Corn only to the Ports of the Realm. The Words are, De blado non cariando niſi ad portus Regni.

In the eleventh Year of his Reign, he charged the ſaid Conſtable to diſtrain any Fiſh offered to be ſold in any Place of this City, but at the Queen's Hithe.

Fiſh-Boats not to tarry on this Side the Bridge. Rot. Clauſ. 11. H. III. m. 15. Pet le Neve. The Words of the Record are, Diſtringat eos, qui ducunt piſcem venalem in Navibus uſq; London. & remanent trans Pontem London. ex parte Turris, ad ducendum dict. piſcem uſq; Hitham. The Conſtable was to compel or force them who brought Fiſh in Boats to London, to ſell, not to remain on this Side the Bridge near the Tower, but to ſee them conveyed to Queen-hithe. And again in the tenth of that King, Ducet [Conſtabularius Turris] piſcem venalem venientem ap. London. ad Ripam Reginæ.

Clauſ. 10. H. III. m. 14. Moreover, in the twenty-eighth of the ſaid King's Reign, an Inquiſition was made before William of York, Provoſt of Beverley, Henry of Bath, and Hierome of Caxton, Juſtices Itinerants, ſitting in the Tower of London, touching the Cuſtoms of Queen-hithe, obſerved in the Year laſt before the Wars between the King his Father, and the Barons of England; and of old Cuſtoms of other Times. And what Cuſtoms had been changed, at what Time the Tax and Payment of all Things coming thither; and between Woorepath, and Anedehethe, were found and ſeized, according to the old Order; as well Corn and Fiſh, as of other Things. All which Cuſtoms were as well to be obſerved in the Part of Dowgate, as in Queen-hithe, for the King's Uſe. When alſo it was found, that the Corn arriving between the Gate of the Guildhall of the Merchants of Coleyne, and the Soke of the Archbiſhop of Canterbury, (for he had a Houſe near unto the Black-friars) was not to be meaſured by any other Quarter, than by that of the Queen's Soke.

Soke is Court.

After this, the Bailiffs of the ſaid Hithe complained, that, ſince the ſaid Recognition, fourteen foreign Ships, laden with Fiſh, arrived at Billingſgate, which Ships ſhould have arrived at the ſaid Hithe. And therefore it was ordered, that if any foreign Ship, laden with Fiſh, ſhould in Form aforeſaid arrive elſewhere than at this Hithe, it ſhould be at the King's Pleaſure to amerce them at 40 s. Notwithſtanding, the Ships of the Citizens of London were at liberty to arrive where the Owners would appoint them.

The Inquiſition concerning Queen-hithe. 28 Hen. III. Lib. Horn. fol. 342. All this Inquiſition before the King's Juſtices Itinerants, 28 Hen. III. concerning Queen-hithe, being ſet down very imperfectly and obſcurely, I ſhall here more fully and exactly relate it, as it ſtands in the Books of the Chamber:

" Dominus Rex mandavit, &c. i. e. Our Lord
" the King, (Henry III.) commanded Lord
" William de Eboraco, Provoſt of Beverley, and " Henry

" Henry of Bath, and Jeremiah de Caxton, his Fel" low Juſtices Itinerants at the Tower of Lon-
" don, in the 28th Year of the Reign of the ſaid
" Henry, Son of King John, that with all Dili-
" gence, and by all the Ways they could, they
" cauſe Inquiry to be made, what Cuſtoms
" belonged to the Queen's Hithe, London; the " Year next before the War moved between
" the Lord John, his Father, and his Barons
" of England. And when it ſhall appear to
" them concerning thoſe Cuſtoms, and others,
" which belonged to the aforeſaid Hithe, and
" which were afterwards changed and aliena-
" ted, they labour, with all Solicitude and Care-
" fulneſs they can, to reform the ſaid Hithe to its " due State. And that the Cuſtoms in the " ſame be held, which were wont to be held in
" the Time foreſaid.

" Before which Provoſt and Juſtices it was " convicted by the Mayor and Aldermen of the " City, that in the Time aforeſaid were three
" Cuſtoms belonging to the foreſaid Hithe; to
" wit:

" Of every Sieve * (that is a Meaſure con" taining five Quarters) of Salt, that ſhall be-
" long to a Man that is a Foreigner, or to any " one of the five Ports, and ſhall land and
" come, whereſoever it be within Worepeth, and
" Anedehethe, or beyond, 2 d. at the Farm of
" the ſaid Hithe.

" Alſo, if any Citizen of London have Part
" in the ſame Sieve of Salt, he ſhall give no-
" thing of his Portion: But the Reſidue that " belongs to Strangers ſhall give Cuſtom ac-
" cording to the Quantity of Ware.

" Alſo, if any bring from abroad Herring,
" Corn, or ſuch like, together with Salt, in one
" Ship, it hath been lawful for the Queen's
" Bailiff to take a Part of the foreſaid
" Catals.

" Alſo, if any from abroad, and alſo from
" the five Ports, come with Salmon, if he ſhall
" bring an hundred, or more, he ſhall give two
" Salmons to the Queen's Farm.

" And if he ſhall land them in the Queen's
" Soke, he ſhall give one of the beſt, and one
" of the middling Sort.

" And if he ſhall bring leſs than an hundred,
" he ſhall give according to the Quantity of the " Thing, to the fourth Part.

" And if he ſhall bring leſs than the fourth
" Part, he ſhall give nothing but Standage.

" Alſo, of Salt Mulvel [a kind of Fiſh] the " ſame Cuſtom is to be taken at the Queen's
" Farm in the ſame Soke, which the Sheriff takes
" for the King's Uſe at Billingſgate.

" Alſo, if a Stranger, and alſo any for the five
" Ports, ſhall bring in his Ship White Herring
" ſalted, in the Queen's Soke, one hundred is " to be taken out of the Ship. And if any of the " Citizens have a Part with him, nothing to be " taken from his Portion.

" Alſo, whatſoever Stranger brings the firſt
" Red Herring, not frailed, he ſhall give an hun" dred Herrings. And others who ſhall come
" with the ſame kind of Herrings, whether they
" are frailed or not, ſhall give nothing through
" the whole Year, beſide the Standage of the " Ship.

" Alſo, if any Foreigner ſhall buy Salmon or
" Mulvel, ſalted in the Ship, and ſhall put it
" into another Ship; for every thouſand he ſhall
" give an Halfpenny.

" Alſo, concerning Salmon and Mulvel bought
" in Shops, ſituate in the ſame Soke, of every
" hundred is to be taken 2 d. as was before ſaid
" concerning the Ships.

" Alſo, of Herrings bought in Shops, of every
" thouſand is to be taken an Halfpenny.

" Alſo, of every kind of Freſh Fiſh, coming
" in the Queen's Soke, the ſame Cuſtom is to " be taken, which is taken of the ſame kind
" of Fiſh, at the Queen's Farm at London-
" bridge.

" Alſo, of every Ship that ſaileth within Or-
" lokes, is to be taken 2 d. at the Queen's
" Farm; unleſs it be of London, or of the five
" Ports.

" Alſo, of a Ship which ſaileth with Toll *, * Cum Tholl.
" is to be taken an Halfpenny.

" Alſo, of every Shout coming down in the " Queen's Soke with Corn, to be taken 1 d. ob.
" But if with Wood, without Corn, 1 d.

" All Cuſtoms before-written are to be kept
" and held as well in the Port of Downgate, as " Queen-hithe, for the Lord the King's Uſe.

" Alſo, Corn which landeth between the " Gutter of the Guildhall of the Men of Colen,
" and the Archbiſhop of Canterbury's Soke, [i. e.
" near Black-friars] is not wont to be meaſured
" by another Quartern, than by the Quartern of " the Queen's Soke.

" Alſo, it belongeth to the Queen's Bailiff
" to take Scawynge in Selda Wynton, for the Queen's
" Uſe, under the ſame Form, as the Sheriff of " London takes Scawynge elſewhere in London for
" the King's Uſe.

" Alſo, if any withdraw his Cuſtom, and de-
" part from the City with the ſame Cuſtom, he
" falls into the Mercy of the Bailiff.

" Alſo, if any offer to pay his Cuſtom to the " Bailiff, or his Servant, and they will not take
" it, although he depart from the City, he is " not to be amerced.

" Alſo, all Aſſizes of the City, in the Huſt-
" ings, provided and ordained for the Amend-
" ment of the City, are to be ordained and ob-
" ſerved in the Queen's Soke. And therefore " it is a Cuſtom, that the Lord the King have
" his Seizin of all the foreſaid Cuſtoms, accord-
" ing as it is acknowledged by the ſame Mayor
" and Citizens.

" Afterwards came the Bailiffs of the ſame
" Hithe, and complained, that, after the foreſaid
" Acknowledgment, fourteen foreign Ships land-
" ed with Fiſh at Billingſgate, which ought to " have landed at the foreſaid Hithe. And there-
" fore the Cuſtom is, that, if any foreign Ship
" with Fiſh land elſewhere in the Form afore-
" ſaid, than at the foreſaid Hithe, it is in the " King's Mercy; to wit, at 40 s. [Forfeiture.]
" Let this Puniſhment have Place, until one
" Month after the Feaſt of St. Michael, this " Year. And in the mean Time, according to
" the Tranſgreſſion, Proviſion is made for in-
" flicting an heavier Pain, if they will not ob-
" ſerve the foreſaid Form.

* Sippa.

Memorand That Worepeth, or Worepath, is in Eaſt Part of the Flete of Barking, about ſeven Miles from London; and Anedeheth is near Weſtminſter on the Weſt Part of London.

" Afterwards came the Mayor and Citizens, " and ſay, That ſix Ships of Strangers, with all " Salt Fiſh, in foreign Spindler Boats, landed " at the foreſaid Hithe, in the foreſaid Time. But " Ships which were the Citizens of London, land- " ed elſewhere, where they would. And there- " fore let the King have his Seizin."

Queen-hithe let to farm to the Mayor and Commonalty of London.

After this, the ſaid Henry III. confirmed the Grant of Richard Earl of Cornwal, for the Farm of the Queen-hithe, unto John Giſors, then Mayor, and to the Commonalty of London, and their Succeſſors for ever; as by this his Charter appeareth.

" Henry, by the Grace of God King of Eng- " land, Lord of Ireland, Duke of Guien, and " Earl of Anjou, to all Archbiſhops, &c. Be it " knowne, that Wee have ſeene the Covenant " betweene our Brother Richard, Earl of Corn- " wall, of the one Party, and the Maior and " Communalty of London, on the other Party; " which was in this Sort. In the thirtieth Yeere " of Henry, the Sonne of King John, upon " the Feaſt of the Tranſlation of St. Edward at " Weſtminſter, this Covenant was made betweene " the Honourable Lord Richard Earle of Corn- " wall, and John Giſors, then Maior of London, " and the Commons thereof; concerning cer- " taine Exactions and Demands pertaining to " the Queen-hithe of London. To wit, That " the ſaid Earle granted for himſelf and his " Heyres, that the ſaid Maior, and all Maiors " enſuing, and all the Commons of the City, " ſhould have and hold the Queene-hithe, with " all the Liberties and Cuſtomes, and other Ap- " purtenances in Fee Ferme; rendering thence " yeerely to the ſaid Earle, his Heires and " Aſſignes, fifty Pounds, at Clarkenwell at two " ſeveral Termes; to wit, at the Cloſe of Eaſter " twenty-five Pounds, and in the Octaves of " Michaelmas twenty-five Pounds. And for " more Surety hereof, the ſaid Earle hath ſet " thereunto his Seale, and left it with the Maior; " and the Maior and Communalty have ſet their " Seale, and left it with the Earle. Where We " confirme and eſtabliſh the ſaid Covenant, for " Us and for our Heires. Witneſſes, Raphe " Fitz-Nichol, Richard Gray, John and *Will. Lib. Trinit. London.

The City doubt of the Earl's Title to Queen-hithe.

It ſeems Queen-hithe was in the Hands of the Earl of Cornwal, at the Death of K. Henry III. and the Citizens ſuppoſed it was wrongfully detained from them. For upon an Inquiſition appointed by the Juſtices the third of Edward I. they make this Preſentment: " That the Queen-hithe " was ſometime belonging to the City of London; " and how it came to the Earl of Cornwal, and " his Heirs, they knew not, nor by what Warrant. " And that it was worth per Ann. 52 l. And more- " over they ſay, That King John, Father of Lord " King Henry, gave Queen-hithe to Alionore then " Queen of England; and was had of the King's " Demeſne all his Time. But from that Time, " till now, the Earl of Cornwal and his Heirs " held it; and ſtill did hold it againſt the Crown, " and Diſenheriſen of the King, as it ſeemed to " them. But by what Warrant they knew not."

The Charge of this Queen-hithe was then committed to the Sheriffs, and ſo hath continued ever ſince. The Profits whereof are ſore diminiſhed: So that (as writeth Robert Fabian) it was worth in his Time little above twenty Marks, or fifteen Pounds, one Year with another.

Rob. Fabian Lib. Conſtit.

Now, for Cuſtoms of this Queen-hithe: In the Year 1302, the 30th of Edward I. it was found by the Oath of divers Men, that Bakers, Brewers, and others, buying their Corn at Queen-hithe, ſhould pay for Meaſuring, Portage, and Carriage, for every Quarter of Corn whatſoever; from thence to Weſt-cheap, to St. Anthonine's Church, to Horſeſhoe-bridge, and to Woolſey-ſtreet, in the Pariſh of Alhallows the Leſs, and ſuch like Diſtances, one ob. q. To Fleet-bridge, to Newgate, Cripplegate, to Birchovers-lane, to Eaſt-cheap, and Billingſgate, one Penny. Alſo, that the Meaſurer, or the Meter, ought to have eight chief Maſter Porters, every Maſter to have three Porters under him, and every one of them to find one Horſe, and ſeven Sacks; and he that ſo did not, to loſe his Office.

Cuſtom of Queen-hithe.

A Corn-Meter, eight Maſter Porters, and twenty-four Porters under them, at Queen-hithe.

This being related, for Brevity ſake, ſomewhat imperfectly, I ſhall here exemplify it out of an authentick Record in the Chamber of London, bearing this Title, Salarium Menſuratorum bladi & cariant. in Ripa Reginæ; i. e. The Fee of the Meters of Corn, and the Carriers of it in Queenhithe.

Corn-Meters and Corn Carriers, their Fee.

Inquiſitio capta, &c. i. e. " An Inquiſition " taken before Elia Ruſſel, then Mayor of Lon- " don, and Alderman of the ſame City, on Sa- " turday next after the Conception of the Bleſ- " ſed Virgin Mary, An. 29 Edw. I. (which was " in the Year of Chriſt 1301) by John de Strat- " ford, William de Welles, Richard de Chingford, " Will. Poyntell, John Page, Will. de Gartone, " Peter de Hungrie, *Will. Who being ſworn, and diligently " examined, ſay upon their Oath, That an- " tiently it was appointed, and hitherto uſed in " the City and Suburbs of London, that the " Bakers and Brewers, and others of the City " of London, paid for the common Meaſure, " and Carriage, and Porterage to their Houſes, " of one Quarter of Corn, of whatſoever Kind, " bought at Queen-hithe, after this Manner; " to wit, From the Hithe of the Queen, to all " Streets and Lanes as far as Eaſt-cheap, and as " far as the Church of St. Anthony, and as far " as Horſeſhoe-bridge, and as far as Wolfeſgate, " ob. q. And from the ſame Hithe, through all " Streets and Lanes beyond the foreſaid Places, " to the Bridge of the Flete, and to Newgate, " and to Crepelgate, and as far as over-againſt " Berchevers-lane upon Cornhul, and as far as " Eaſt-cheap, and as Billingſgate, 1 d. And from " this Hithe of the Queen, through all Streets " and Lanes beyond the foreſaid Places, even to " the Bars of the Suburb, 1 d. q.

Lib. Horn fol. 298. b.

" And they ſay moreover upon their Oath, " that every Head Maſter of the Meaſurers of " the Men ſerving the People at Queen-hithe, " ſhall find a Quartern-Buſhel, and Half-Buſhel, " and a Strike, and one Horſe. And there ſhall " be

" be there eight Head or Capital Maſters. And " every one of the eight Maſters ſhall have " three ſtanding Fellows or Companions. And " each of thoſe three Standers ſhall find one " Horſe, and ſeven Sacks, &c. And he that " doth contrary to the foreſaid Ordinance, ſhall " abjure his Office."

This Hithe was then ſo frequented with Veſſels, bringing thither Corn, (beſides Fiſh, Salt, Fuel, and other Merchandizes) that all theſe Men, to wit, the Meter, and Porters, thirty-ſeven in Number, for all their Charge of Horſes and Sacks, and ſmall Stipend, lived well of their Labours. But now that Caſe is altered: The Bakers of London, and other Citizens, travel into the Countries, and buy their Corn of the Farmers, after the Farmers Price.

Lib. Guild. King Edward II. in the 1ſt of his Reign, gave to Margaret, Wife to Peter de Gaveſtone, forty-three Pounds, twelve Shillings, and nine Pence Halfpenny Farthing, out of the Rents in London, to be received of the Queen's Hithe.

Romeland at Queenhithe. Certain Impoſitions were ſet upon Ships and other Veſſels coming thither; as upon Corn, Salt, and other Things, toward the Charge of cleanſing Romeland there, the 41ſt of Ed. III.

Romeland to be paved and cleanſed of Filth. Theſe were the Impoſitions, and the Occaſions of them. This Romeland being annoyed with Dung, Filth, &c. ſo as the Sellers of Corn and Victual there could not ſtand to ſell their Commodities, as formerly they had done, it was ordered by a Common Council, An. 41. of King Edw. III. That the Place ſhould forthwith be made clean and paved: And that from thenceforth, towards the perpetual Cleanſing and Reparation thereof, there ſhould be taken for every Quarter of Corn, of what Kind ſoever, there ſold or coming, a Farthing; for every Quarter of Salt, a Farthing; for every Veſſel, called a Battel, bringing Ruſhes, four Pence; for every Veſſel called a Shout, bringing Corn or Malt, two Pence; for every Ship bringing other Victuals, two Pence; and of every Perſon laying Soil there, two Shillings; and the Seller of Ruſhes, to pay for every Boat of Ruſhes, four Pence.

The 3d of Edward IV. the Market at Queenhithe being hindered by the Slackneſs of drawing up London-bridge, it was ordained, That all manner of Veſſels, Ships, or Boats, great or ſmall, reſorting to the City with Victual, ſhould be ſold by Retail; and that if there came but one Veſſel at a Time, were it Salt, Wheat, Rye, or other Corn from beyond the Seas, or other Grains, Garlick, Onions, Herrings, Sprats, Eels, Whitings, Plaice, Cods, Mackarel, &c. then that one Veſſel ſhould come to Queen-hithe, and there to make Sale: But if two Veſſels came, the one ſhould come to Queen-hithe, the other to Billingſgate: If three, two of them ſhould come to Queen-hithe, the third to Billingſgate, &c. always the more to Queen-hithe. If the Veſſel being great, coming with Salt from the Bay, and could not come to theſe Keys, then the ſame to be conveyed by Lighters, as before is meant.

Queenhithe to be more frequented of Ships and Boat, than Billingſgate.

Garner framed for Corn at Queenhithe. One large Houſe for Stowage of Corn, craned out of Lighters and Barges, is there lately builded. Sir John Lion, Grocer, Mayor, 1554, by his Teſtament, gave 100 l. toward it. But ſince increaſed and made larger, at the Charges of the City, in the Year 1565.

A Corn-Mill upon Barges or Lighters on the Thames. Againſt this Queen-hithe, on the River of Thames, of late Years was placed a Corn-Mill, upon or betwixt two Barges or Lighters; and there ground Corn, as Water-Mills in other Places; to the Wonder of many that had not ſeen the like. But this laſted not long without Decay: Such as cauſed the ſame Barges to be removed and taken aſunder, are ſoon forgotten. I read of the like to have been in former time, as thus:

Two Corn-Mills in one Barge, given to this City 1525. " In the Year 1225, the 16th of Henry VIII. " Sir William Bayly being Mayor, John Cooke " of Gloceſter, Mercer, gave to the Mayor and " and Commonalty of London, and theirs for " ever, one great Barge, in the which two great " Corn-Mills were made and placed. Which " Barge and Mills were ſet in and upon the " Stream of the River of Thames, within the " Juriſdiction and Liberty of the City of London. " And alſo he gave to the ſaid City, all ſuch " Timber, Boards, Stones, Iron, &c. provided " for making, mending, and repairing of the " ſaid Barge and Mills. In Reward whereof, " the Mayor gave him 50 l. preſently, and 50 l. " yearly, during his Life. And if the ſaid Cooke " deceaſed before Joan his Wife, then ſhe to " have forty Marks the Year during her Life."

Fifthly, Here are ſeveral conſiderable Wharfs; as,

Salt-wharf. (1) Next adjoining to this Queen-hithe, on the Weſt Side thereof, is Salt-wharf, named of Salt taken up, meaſured, and ſold here.

Brookes's-wharf. Broken wharf. (2) Brookes's-wharf, and Broken-wharf, a Water-gate or Key ſo called of being broken and fallen down into the Thames.

Brookes's-wharf leadeth to the River Thames, having a large Wharf, with Keys therein, for the landing of Corn, Malt, and other Goods, thither brought in conſiderable Quantities. For which it is of great Reſort, as before recited.

A void Space of Ground here to be inclofed. At a Common Council, July 23, the 2d of Queen Elizabeth, Order was taken, that out of a certain void Space of Ground at Broken-wharf, there ſhould be thirty-three Foot incloſed, and laid to the City's Brewhouſe. Which was to have a ſubſtantial Pale about it, to keep the City's Fuel, and other Goods, &c.

Bygot's houſe by Broken-wharf. By this Broken-wharf remaineth one large old Building of Stone, with arched Gates; which Meſſuage, I find, in the Reign of Henry III. the 43d Year, pertaining unto Hugh de Bygot; and in the 11th of Edward II: to Thomas Brothertun, the King's Brother, Earl of Norfolk, Marſhal of England; and in the 11th of Henry VI. to John Mowbray, Duke of Norfolk, &c.

An Engine for enforcing of Thames Water. Within the Gate of this Houſe (now belonging to the City of London) is lately, to wit, in the Year 1594, and 1595, builded one large Houſe of great Height, called an Engine, made by Bevis Bulmar, Gentleman, for the conveying and forcing of Thames Water, to ſerve the the Middle and Weſt Parts of the City. The antient great Hall of this Meſſuage is yet ſtanding, and pertaining to a great Brewhouſe for Beer.

The Entrance of Westminster hall.

B. Cole sculp.

Antiquities. In this Ward were formerly, 1. A City Manſion belonging to John Earl of Cornwall, in the fourteenth of Edward III. on the Eaſt Side of Trinity-lane, near the Bottom. 2. A Manſion belonging to the Biſhop of Hereford, on the Weſt Side of Old Fiſh-ſtreet-hill, built of Stone and Timber, which ſome Time belonged to the Mounthauts in Norfolk. Radulphus de Maydenſtone, Biſhop of Hereford, about 1234, bought it of the Mounthauts, and gave it to the Biſhops of Hereford his Succeſſors. Charles, both Biſhop of Hereford and Chancellor of the Marches, about the Year 1517, repaired it.

(3.) There was ſome Time a fair Houſe in the Pariſh of St. Mary Mounthaut, belonging to Robert Belkenape, one of the King's Juſtices; but the ſaid Belkenape being baniſhed this Realm, King Richard II. in the twelfth of his Reign, gave it to William Wickham, Biſhop of Wincheſter.

An old Hall of the Fiſhmongers. (4.) On the Eaſt Side of this Old Fiſh-ſtreet-hill is one great Houſe, now letten out for Rent, which Houſe ſome Time was one of the Halls pertaining to the Company of Fiſhmongers, at ſuch Time as they had ſix Hallmotes or Meetings-places; namely, two in Bridge-ſtreet, or New Fiſh-ſtreet; two in Old Fiſh-ſtreet, whereof this was one; and two in Stockfiſhmonger-row, or Thames-ſtreet; as appeareth by a Record of the twenty-ſecond of Richard II.

Fiſhmongers Hallmotes ſix in Number.

Water-Conduit for Thames Water. (5.) On the North Side of St. Nicholas Cole-Abbey Church, in the Wall thereof, was built a convenient Ciſtern of Stone and Lead for Receipt of Thames Water, conveyed in Pipes of Lead to that Place, for the Eaſe and Commodity of the Fiſhmongers, and other Inhabitants in and about Old Fiſh-ſtreet.

Barnard Randolph, Common Serjeant of the City of London, did (in his Life-time) deliver to the Company of Fiſhmongers the Sum of nine hundred Pounds, to be employed towards the conducting of the ſaid Thames Water, and ciſterning the ſame, &c. And in the Pariſhes of St. Mary Magdalen and St. Nicholas Cole-Abbey, near Fiſh-ſtreet, ſeven hundred Pounds, and other two hundred Pounds to charitable Deeds. He deceaſed in 1583; and ſhortly after this Conduit, with the other, was made and finiſhed.

CHAP. XXVII.

Of TOWER-STREET WARD.

With a PLAN, neatly engraved from a NEW Survey.

Its Name. Bounds. Extent. Modern State. Government. Remarkable Things. Pariſhes and Churches. The Tower of London. The Cuſtom-Houſe. The Clothworkers-Hall. The Bakers-Hall. The Trinity-Houſe. Antiquities.

Name. THIS Ward takes its Name from the principal Street therein, which leadeth out of the City in a direct Line to the grand Entrance into the Tower of London, and is the firſt Ward in the South-Eaſt Part of the City within the Wall.

Bounds. It is bounded on the Eaſt by Tower-hill and Part of Aldgate Ward, on the North by Langbourn Ward, on the Weſt by Billingſgate Ward, and on the South by the River Thames; and extends from the Tower of London in the Eaſt, to the middle Way between Great Dice-key and Smart's-key in the Weſt, and from the Weſt Corner of Tower-dock in the South, to within ſeventy Feet of the North End of Rood-lane in the North, in which are contained a great Number of Streets, Lanes, &c. as, Tower-ſtreet, Thames-ſtreet, Mark-lane, Mincing-lane, and Seething-lane, St. Olave Hart-ſtreet; then Idle-lane, St. Dunſtan's-hill, Harp-lane, Water-lane, and Beer-lane; in which Places are ſeveral Courts and Alleys. Extent. Modern State.

Tower-ſtreet, of which there is the Great and the Little; of which latter only ſome Part is in this Ward, beginning about the Middle near unto St. Margaret Pattens Church, and falls into Great Tower-ſtreet, which runs Eaſtward unto Tower-hill, and is a ſpacious Street, well built and inhabited by able Tradeſmen. Tower-ſtreet.

The Courts in this Street are, Mercers-court, ſeated on the North Side, very long, with turning Paſſages, and but indifferently inhabited. Carpenters-hall-court, a ſquare Place, with an open Paſſage into it ſufficient for a Cart. Fowks-court, very handſome and open, with a Free-ſtone Pavement, and hath good Houſes, which are well inhabited. Black Swan-court, a pretty handſome open Place, with indifferent Houſes. Red-croſs-court, alſo pretty good. Beckford-court, a very handſome, airy Place, with large Houſes, well inhabited, eſpecially the upper End. White-lion-court, ſeated over-againſt Barking Church, is both ſmall and ordinary, and hath a Paſſage into Chitterling-alley. Prieſts-alley, both narrow and ordinary, which with a turning Paſſage falls into Tower-dock: In this Alley are two ſmall Courts, very ordinary, and without Names. Roſe-alley, over-againſt Barking Church, being long and ordinary, and hath a Paſſage down Steps into Chitterling-alley, as alſo into Glouceſter-court. Then Barking Church.

On the back Side of Barking Church-yard is an Alley or Paſſage into Tower-hill, with Houſes on the North Side, which have a Proſpect of the Church and Church-yard; on this Part was antiently the fair Barking Chapel. On the South-Eaſt Corner of Tower-ſtreet is a Row of Houſes fronting the Tower, and leadeth to Thames-ſtreet, pleaſantly ſituated, having the Proſpect of the Thames.

Thames-ſtreet is a Place of conſiderable Trade, and taken up by great Dealers, as well by Wholeſale as Retail; and altho' the Street is broad enough, yet, by Reaſon of the Cuſtom-houſe, and the ſeveral Keys and Wharfs, it is extremely peſtered with Carts, to the great Annoyance of the Inhabitants and Paſſengers through it. This Street runneth a very great Length from Eaſt to Weſt, even to Puddle-dock, which is about a Mile, but lies in ſeveral Wards. The Part in this Ward goeth not ſo far as Billingſgate, and contains the following Keys or Wharfs, viz. the Tower-dock, Brewers-key, Galley-key, Cuſtom-houſe-key, Potters-key, Wiggings-key, Ralphs-key, Temple-key, Little Dice-key, Great Dice-key, Smarts-key, and then Billingſgate; which ſaid Keys are all made uſe of for the lading and unlading of Merchants Goods; and ſome of theſe Keys are more conſiderable Thames-ſtreet. The preſent Keys and Wharfs.

On the North Side of this Thames-ſtreet, beginning towards Biſhopſgate, are theſe Courts, viz. Wichelers-yard, taken up in Warehouſes for Stowing of Merchants Goods. Nag's-head-court, but ordinary. Vine-court-warehouſe, taken up by Warehouſes.

Bear-lane. Bear-lane comes out of Tower-ſtreet, and runs into Thames-ſtreet, a Place of ſmall Account. In this Lane are theſe Courts, viz. Glouceſter-court, a pretty handſome Place, with a Free-ſtone Pavement, and hath a Paſſage into Prieſts-alley. Horn-alley, but indifferent, hath a Paſſage into Thames-ſtreet, another into Roſe-alley, and another into Chitterling-alley, both indifferent Places. Cuſtom-houſe-court, a good handſome Place, with a Free-ſtone Pavement. At the upper End of this Court is another ſmall Court ſo called, which hath a Paſſage through the Ship Tavern into Water-lane.

Water-lane. Water-lane, a very great Thorough-fare, occaſioned by the Cuſtom-houſe, as being the ready Paſſage to it, and is for the generality taken up by Publick-houſes. This Lane is ſo called as running down to the Water-gate by the Cuſtom-houſe; but formerly it was called Sporiar-lane. In this Lane is Orance-court, having but two Houſes, the reſt taken up in Warehouſes: And Trinity-houſe. here is Trinity-houſe, a good, handſome, large Building, in which Houſe is alſo kept the Ballaſt-Office.

Harp-lane Harp-lane comes out of Tower-ſtreet, and falls into Thames-ſtreet, a Place much peſtered with Carrs, by reaſon of their paſſing this Way to the Cuſtom-houſe-keys, which is no ſmall Annoyance to the Inhabitants. On the Eaſt Side is Bakers-

Bakers-Hall. Hall, ſome Time ſince the Dwelling-Houſe of John Chichley, Eſq; Chamberlain of the City of London. On the Weſt Side of this Harp-lane is

Croſs-lane Croſs-lane, which is but ordinary, and leads to

St. Dunſtan's hill. St. Mary-hill. St. Dunſtan's-hill, formerly called Church-lane, runs as far as St. Dunſtan's Churchyard, and from thence down unto Thames-ſtreet. On the Weſt Side of the ſaid Church is another Church-lane. Lane called Church-lane, which turneth into another towards St. Mary-hill, and is called Fowl-

Fowl-lane. lane. This St. Dunſtan's-hill is a Place well inhabited by Merchants, eſpecially about the Church; and on the Eaſt Side, over-againſt the Church, is Coffin-court, which is but narrow.

St. Dunſtan's Church. Then St. Dunſtan's Church, called St. Dunſtan's in the Eaſt.

Adjoining to which, Northwards, is Church-alley, which hath a handſome Free-ſtone Paving, and pretty good Buildings on the Side fronting

Idle-lane. the Church; and this Alley leadeth into Idle-lane, which comes out of the Weſt End of Tower-ſtreet, and falls into Thames-ſtreet. On Croſs-lane the Weſt Side of this Lane is Croſs-lane, which falls into St. Mary-hill. By this Church is Prieſts-alley.

Mincing-lane. Mincing-lane, antiently called Mincheon, is filled with very good Houſes, which for the generality are taken up by Merchants, and Perſons of Repute, and the Street is broad and ſtrait, coming out of Tower-ſtreet, and going up into Fenchurch-ſtreet.

Mark-lane. Mark-lane, or Mart-lane, being ſo called from a Mart there formerly kept; a Place now well inhabited, with divers large Houſes for Merchants, tho' ſome of them are old Timber Houſes. The greateſt Part of this Lane is in this Ward, to wit, from Tower-ſtreet unto that Part where the Poſt and Chain is placed a-croſs the Street, which is above the Weſt End of Hart-ſtreet; and in this Part of the Lane are theſe Places, viz. Sugar-loaf-alley, which is but indifferent, over-againſt which is the old Navy-Office. Well-alley, being both ſmall and narrow. Pick-ax-alley alſo ſmall. And Star-alley, which is but ordinary.

Hart-ſtreet. Hart-ſtreet is but ſhort, coming out of Mark-lane, and falls into Crutched-friars by St. Olave Hart-ſtreet Church: It has a Church-yard behind it. Over-againſt this Church is Croſſeys or Angel-court, which is a pretty, open Place, with good Buildings, well inhabited.

St. Olave Hart-ſtreet Church.

Seething-lane. Seething or Sything-lane runneth Northwards from Tower-ſtreet unto Crutched-friars. It is now a Place of no great Account; but amongſt the Inhabitants ſome are Merchants. Here is the Navy-Office. Navy-Office; but the chief Gate for Entrance is out of Crutched-friars, in Aldgate Ward. And in this Lane are theſe Courts and Places of Name, viz. John Devere's-yard, pretty broad in the Middle, but ordinary, with a narrow Paſſage into Mark-lane. Carr-yard, a pretty, handſome, open Place, but meanly inhabited. Green-arbour-court, a pretty large Place, containing two Courts, one within another, and both bearing the ſame Name. Star-alley, newly built for Warehouſes and Tenements. Black-dog-alley, very mean and ordinary. Black-raven-court, an open Place, with good new Brick Buildings, well inhabited; and here is kept the Tranſport-Office. Plough yard, but ordinarily built and inhabited. Crown-court, but ſmall, with a Free-ſtone Pavement.

Tower-hill. Tower-hill. The Weſt Row of Buildings, with Part of the Hill which is in this Ward, is a handſome Structure, very well inhabited, and pleaſantly ſeated in an open Air, having the delightful Proſpect of the Thames and the Tower; and in this Row is Barking-alley or Alleys, one leading into Tower-ſtreet, and the other into Seething-lane; in both which the Buildings encompaſs Barking Church on the North and Eaſt Sides. Then about the Middle of this Row of Buildings is Roſe-court. Farther Northwards is Muſcovy-court, a curious, large, open Place, with a Free-ſtone Pavement, and conſiſting of fair new Brick Buildings, and they very well inhabited. Out of this Court is a back Paſſage, with a Door into the Navy-Office.

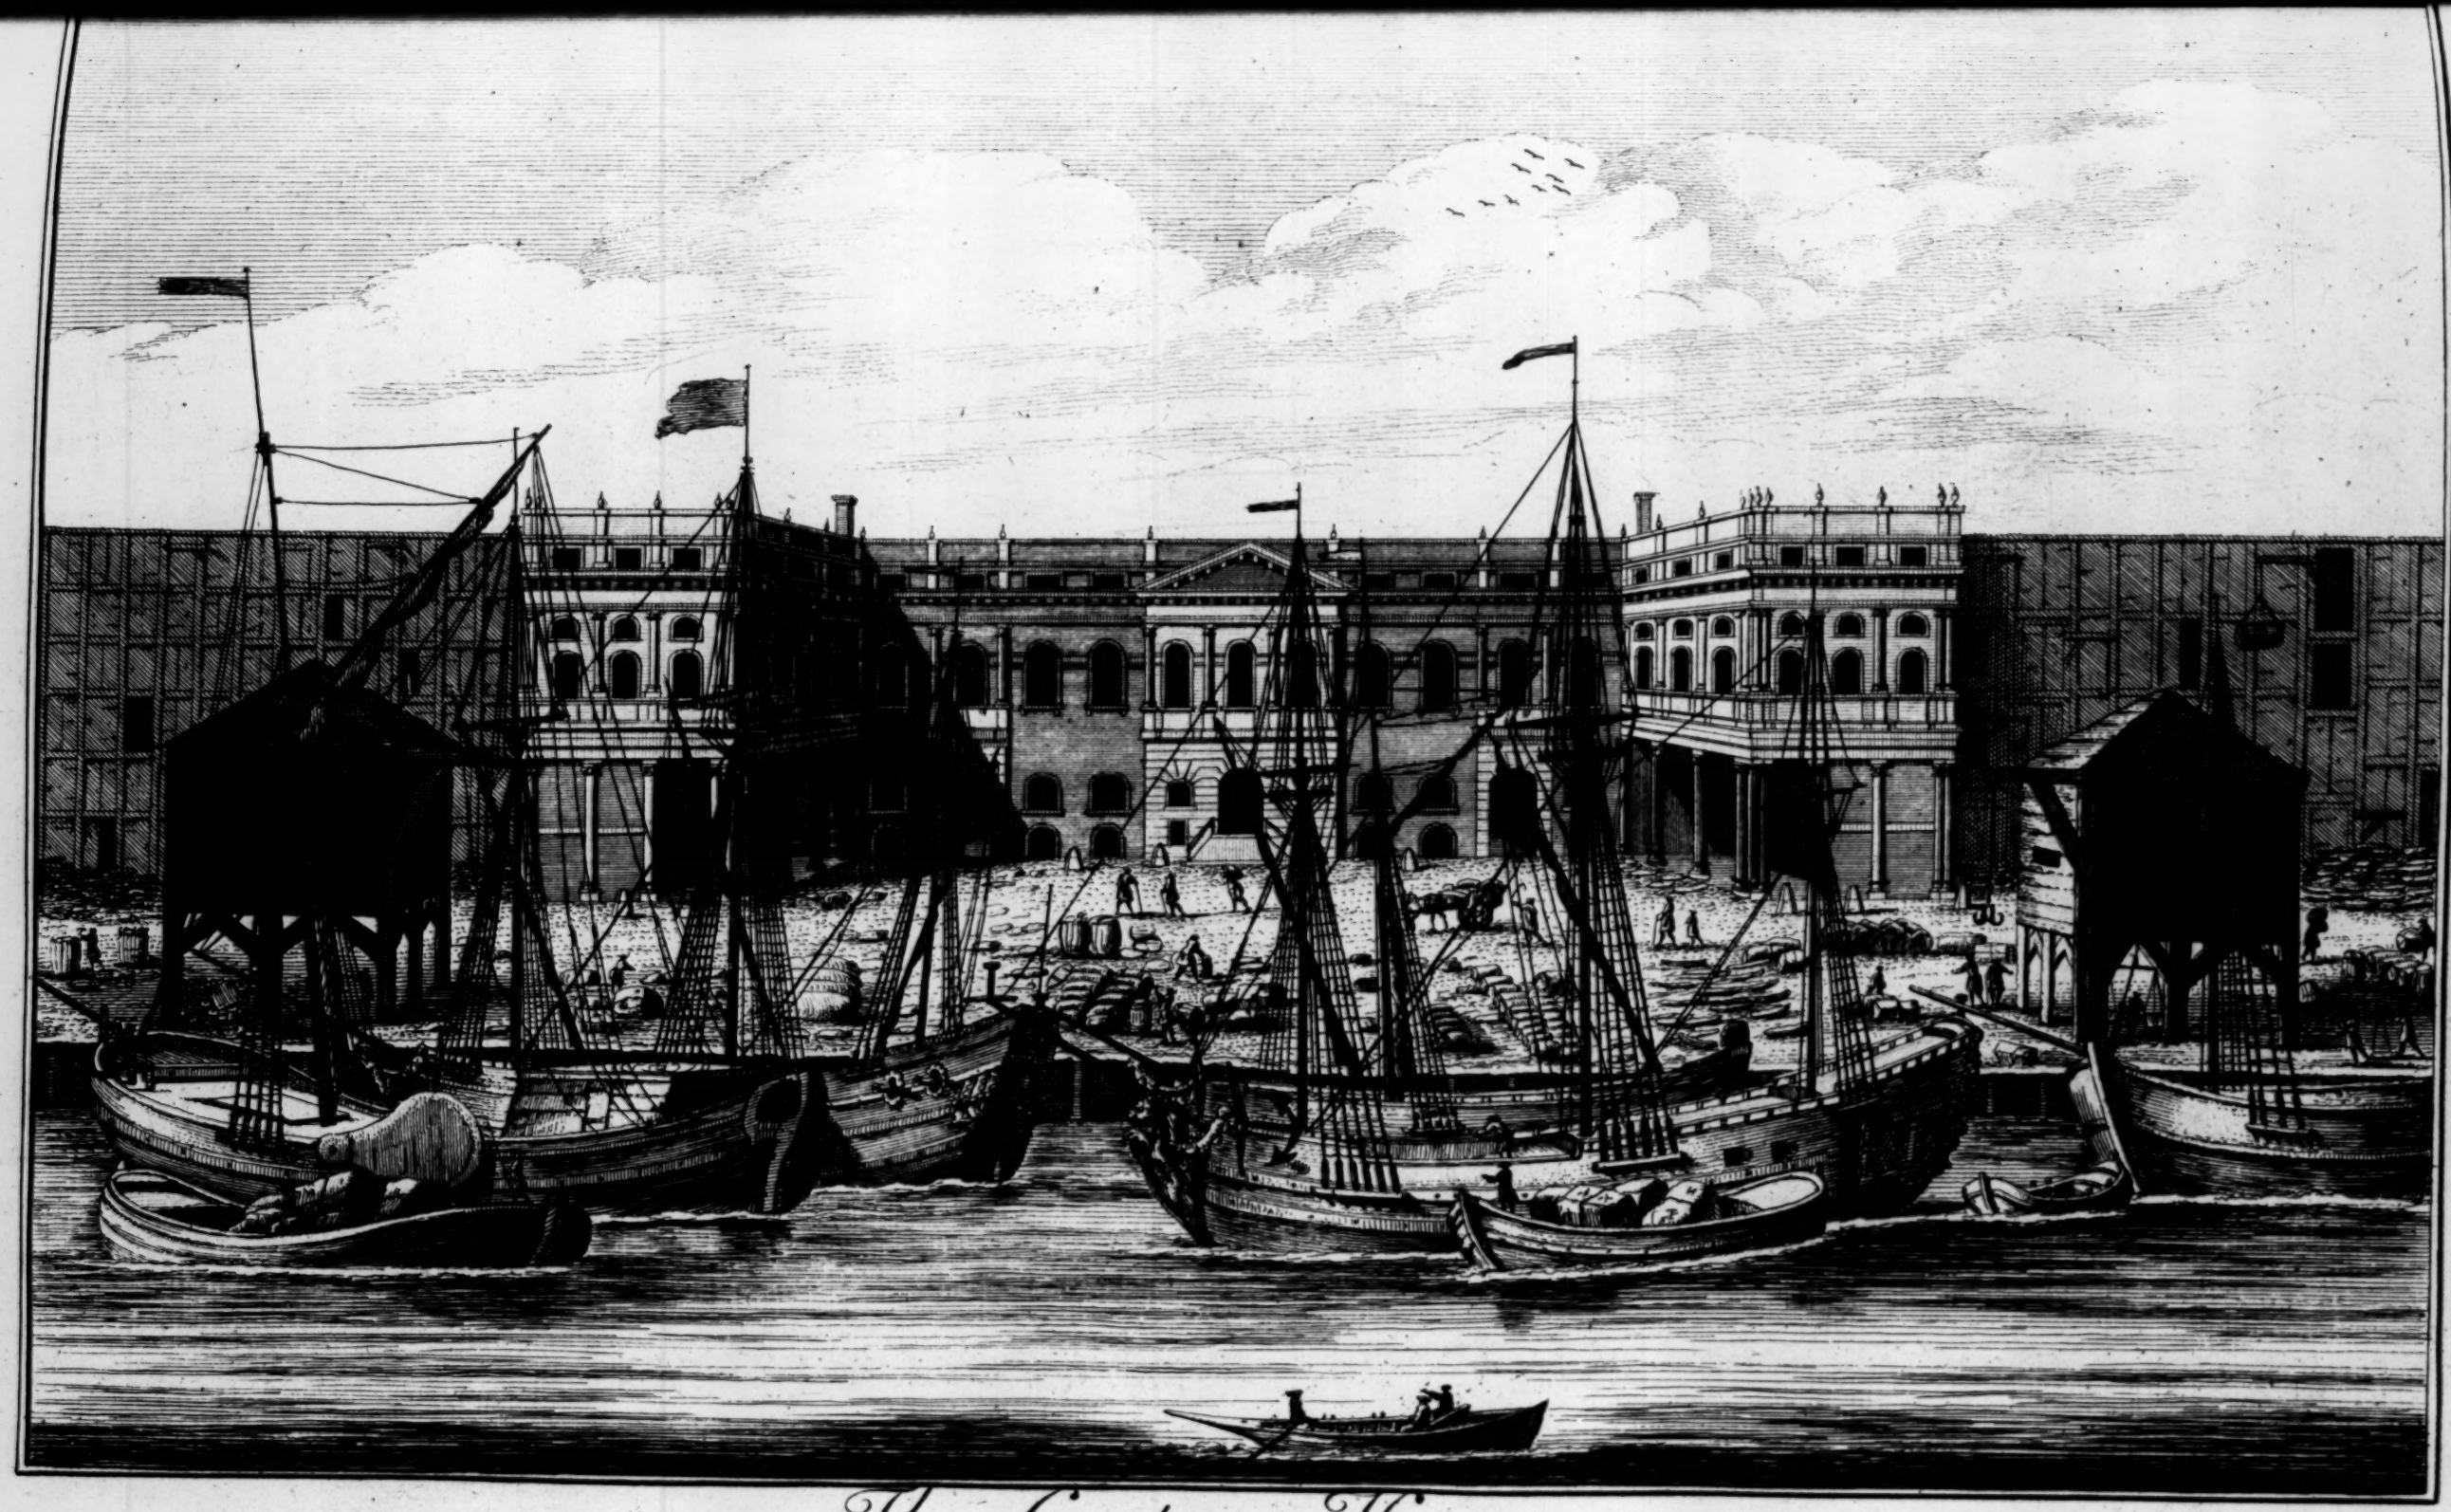
Formerly there were round the Tower old Buildings, which encloſed the Ditch or Moat; and theſe ſtood until the Reign of King Charles II. But being found incommodious, they were, by Command from above, (Sir John Robinſon being Lieutenant) pulled down, and the Moat cleanſed and enlarged, with Brick-work on the Outſide, even to the Ground: So that now the Tower is not ſo choaked up, but ſtands open on all Sides.

Government. It is governed by an Alderman, who at preſent is Thomas Chitty, Eſq; and twelve Common-Councilmen, who are, Mr. Richard Roman, Deputy, Mr. Richard Brooke, Mr. Edward Floyd, Mr.

Alderman and Common-Councilmen.



The Custom House.

Mr. William Prowting, Mr. Oſmond Cooke, Mr. Nicholas Nixon, Mr. Francis Hutchins, Mr. William Kilpin, Mr. John Woodbridge, Mr. Jonathan Granger, Mr. John Trotman, and Mr. Richard Allnutt. Under whom are thirteen Conſtables, twelve Scavengers, thirteen Wardmotemen, and a Beadle.

This Ward is taxed to the Fifteenth at twenty-ſix Pounds.

Watch. The Watch in this Ward every Night conſiſts of a Conſtable, a Beadle, and forty Watchmen.

Jury. The Jurymen returned by the Wardmote-Inqueſt for this Ward are to ſerve as Jurors in the ſeveral Courts in Guildhall in the Month of May.

Remarkable things. Churches. The moſt remarkable Things in this Ward are, Firſt, Three Pariſh-Churches, (1.) Allhallows Barking, (2.) St. Olave Hart-ſtreet, (3.) St. Dunſtan's in the Eaſt; of which in our Parochial Hiſtory.

The Tower Secondly, The Tower of London. One half of the Tower, the Ditch on the Weſt Side, and Bulwarks adjoining, ſtand within that Part where the Wall of the City of old Time went ſtraight from the Poſtern Gate South to the River of Thames, before the Tower was built.

See a large Account of this royal Fortreſs in Chap. XVI. Book I.

Cuſtom-houſe. Thirdly, The King's Cuſtom-houſe, where we may properly mention the Reaſon of eſtabliſhing certain Keys and Wharfs for landing and ſhipping Merchandizes.

Wharfs and Keys appointed for landing Merchandizes. By occaſion of the defrauding of the Queen of her Cuſtoms for Goods and Merchandizes brought in or carried out, by making uſe of ſmall obſcure Creeks, or Places where no Cuſtom-Houſe Officer was attending, or by the Corruption of thoſe Officers, or by other fraudulent and undue Practices, and ſo privately conveying them away, without paying the Cuſtom or Subſidy due; there was an Act made in the firſt Year of Queen Elizabeth, Anno 1559, That no Goods ſhould be put aſhore at any Place in the Kingdom, but where ſhe ſhould aſſign and appoint by her Commiſſion. 1 Eliz. c. 11. In Purſuance of this Act the Queen ordered her Lord Treaſurer, her Under-Treaſurer, and Chancellor of her Exchequer, to ſet forth and publiſh her Pleaſure for the divers Ports of her Kingdom. And for the Port of London the ſaid Commiſſioners drew up this Declaration, determining what particular Keys, Wharfs, and Stairs ſhould be for lading and diſcharging of all Manner of Merchandizes; and what particular Goods ſhould be landed at Billingſgate, the Three Cranes, the Bridge-houſe, and the Stillyard; where Newcaſtle Coals, Beer, Deal Boards, Ore, Corn, &c. ſhould be laid on Land; what Creeks, Wharfs, and Keys, from Graveſend to London-bridge, ſhould be no more uſed as Lading or Diſcharging Places, but be debarred utterly from it for ever; and that no Stranger, whether Denizen or not, ſhould henceforth inhabit upon any of the Wharfs allowed, except the Stillyard only; and laſtly, that all Keepers of Wharfs and Keys ſhould be bound to the Queen in certain Sums of Money, that no Goods ſhould be landed at their Keys or Stairs, or put thence upon the Water to be carried abroad, before the ſaid Goods were entered in the Queen's Cuſtom-Books, and to be laden in the Preſence of ſome Searcher. All theſe Orders ran in this expreſs Tenor following:

" Anno Dom. 1559. " Winchester. Richard Sakevile. Wa. Mildemay."

Theſe Wharfs and Keys commonly bear the Names of their Owners, and are therefore changeable. I read in the twenty-ſixth of Henry VI. that in the Pariſh of St. Dunſtan in the Eaſt, a Tenement called Paſſekes-wharf, and another called Horners-key in Thames-ſtreet, were granted to William Haringdon, Eſq; I read alſo, that in the ſixth of Richard II. John Churchman, Grocer, for the Quiet of Merchants, did newly build a certain Houſe upon the Key called Wool-wharf, in the Tower-ſtreet Ward, in the Pariſh of Allhallows Barking, betwixt the Tenement of Paul Saliſbury on the Eaſt Part, and the Lane called the Water-gate on the Weſt, to ſerve for Tronage or Weighing of Wools in the Port of London; whereupon the King granted, that, during the Life of the ſaid John, the aforeſaid Tronage ſhould be held and kept in the ſaid Houſe, with Eaſements there for the Balances and Weights, and a Compting-place for the Cuſtomer, Comptrollers, Clerks, and other Officers of the ſaid Tronage, together with Ingreſs and Regreſs to and from the ſame, even as was had in other Places where the ſaid Tronage was wont to be kept; and that the King ſhould pay yearly to the ſaid John, during his Life, forty Shillings, at the Terms of St. Michael and Eaſter, by even Portions, by the Hands of his Cuſtomer, without any other Payment to the ſaid John, as in the Indenture thereof more at large appeareth. Tronage of Wools.

And here at the Cuſtom-houſe we will ſtay a little, to make ſome few Remarks of Matters relating to it in former Times. Some Remarks of the Cuſtoms

About the Year 1554, or 1555, under Queen Mary I. a Commiſſion was given forth to certain Commiſſioners for the ceiling of the new Rates; whereof the Lord Paget and Sir John Baker were the chief, the one Lord Privy Seal, and the other Chancellor of the Exchequer; who obſerved this Rule, to under-rate the moſt neceſſary Commodities that came into the Realm, to draw them hither, and to over-rate the ſuperfluous Commodities inward, to drive them away: And generally they did under-rate and under-prize all foreign Commodities of that they were ordinarily current for, leſt a Glut here of any of thoſe Wares might bring them under their Rates, and that the Merchants might not ſay they were valued to the utmoſt, that before lacked a good Part of that they were then rated at. And ſo Peter Oſborne, Remembrancer to the Lord Treaſurer, divers Years after informed him. Rates ſet for Merchandize.

There was alſo, long before this, a Book of Rates, in King Henry VII's Time. Book of Rates in Hen. VII's Time.

One Needham, about the Year 1570, and odd, wrote a Book for ſhewing and correcting the Abuſes of Cuſtomers, of Shippers, of Merchants, &c. and ſent it privately to the Lord Treaſurer, with his Letter, to this Tenor: " That he thought " it his Duty juſtly and truly to open to his Ho- " nour ſuch Notes and Knowledge as by his Ser- " vice and Travel he had gathered in ten or " twelve Years, by ſearching how to reform ſuch " Abuſes, Deceits, and Diſorders, as were uſed " all England through againſt the Queen's Ma- " jeſty, both by her Officers belonging to the " Cuſtoms, as alſo by Merchants and Shippers, " and how they might be redreſſed, and her " Highneſs juſtly anſwered her Rights and Du- " ties: Abuſes of Cuſtoms, &c. Chart. D. Theſaur. Angl.

" ties: And alſo his farther Opinion how to re-
" form ſuch Wrongs as the ſaid Officers and their
" Clerks, and their Clerks Clerks, uſed againſt
" the Merchants and Shippers, by raiſing new " Duties, delaying them from Bills, Cockets,
" and other Writings, and not obſerving the " Hours and Times appointed them to be at the " Cuſtom-houſe, and give Attendance to receive
" her Majeſty's Duties, and diſpatch the Mer-
" chants and Shippers: All which good Orders,
" that had been appointed both for the good
" Service of her Majeſty, the Merchants, and
" Shippers, by the gentle and mild Nature of the " late Lord Treaſurer, (Marquis of Wincheſter)
" deceaſed, all the Officers and Clerks were ſuf-
" fered to break, and in Manner did what they
" would without Controlment; and by long Suf-
" ferance both they, the Merchants, Shippers,
" Key-keepers, and other Watermen, were now
" neſtled, and grown into that diſordered Li" berty, which had been and was ſo profitable to " them, that it would be hard to bring them to
" good Order again, without ſome Severeneſs to
" be uſed."

A Method to redreſs them. The Method of doing this this Man laid before the preſent Treaſurer Lord Burghley, in certain Articles, and offered himſelf to be employed therein, having his Warrant from the ſaid Treaſurer, and he making it his own Device and Doing, ſo that it might not be known to come from him [this Propoſer,] for his avoiding of farther Diſpleaſure.

A ſpecial Searcher. This Perſon the Queen had twelve Years ago put in Truſt to travel in theſe Matters of Cuſtom; and he had, according to his Oath and Duty, without Reſpect of Favour or Malice to any Perſons, ſhewed his Opinion how to reform the Abuſes as well of the one as the other; as one deſirous to ſee her Majeſty truly anſwered her Rights and Dues, and that honeſt Merchants and Shippers might be well uſed, and Offenders puniſhed.

An Account of the Queen's yearly Cuſtoms. In the Year 1572, a Liſt was brought in to the Lord Treaſurer of the Queen's yearly Cuſtoms, Subſidies, and Impoſts, ſince the Beginning of her Reign to that Time; which ſtood thus:

Secundo	84905	5	6 q.

About the Year 1590 Thomas Smith was the Queen's Cuſtomer, to whom ſhe lett the Cuſtoms and Subſidies in the Port of London Inwards to farm, (who had long before been a Collector of them) for which he paid her Rent twenty thouſand Pounds per Annum; whereas, as it was diſcovered, all the Incomes of thoſe Cuſtoms amounted yearly to thirty thouſand three hundred and nine Pounds fifteen Shillings and five Pence; ſo that it appeared the Queen loſt yearly by that Farm ten thouſand three hundred and nine Pounds fifteen Shillings and five Pence.

We ſee that the Cuſtoms were once farmed in Queen Elizabeth's Reign for twenty thouſand Pounds per Annum, which now bring in above an hundred Times as much, viz. above two Millions yearly.

Preſent State of the Cuſtom-houſe. The Cuſtom-houſe is ſituated on the South Side, and not far from the Eaſt End of Thames-ſtreet. After the Fire of London, viz. in the Year 1668, a very handſome Office was built here; but that being burnt in the Year 1718, it was rebuilt in a very ſpacious and commodious Manner with Brick and Stone, adorned with an upper and lower Order of Architecture; the latter is with Stone Columns, and Entablature of the Tuſcan Order; the former with Pilaſters, Entablature, and Pediments of the Ionick Order. The Length of the Building is an hundred and eighty-nine Feet, the Breadth in the Middle twenty-ſeven Feet, but at the End much broader.

Companies Halls.

Fourthly, Here are two Halls alſo belonging to Companies, viz. (1.) Clothworkers-Hall, ſituate near the North-Eaſt End of Mincing-lane next Fenchurch-ſtreet. The Hall is a lofty Room, adorned with Wainſcot to the Cieling, where is curious Fret-work. The Screen at the South End is of Oak, adorned with four Pilaſters, their Entablature and Compaſs Pediment of the Corinthian Order, enriched with their Arms and Palm Branches. The Weſt End is adorned with the Figures of King James and King Charles I. richly carved, as big as the Life, in their Robes, with Regalia, all gilt with Gold, where is a ſpacious Window of ſtained Glaſs, and the King's Arms; alſo thoſe of Sir John Robinſon, Knt. and Bart. his Majeſty's Lieutenant of the Tower of London, Lord-Mayor of this honourable City Anno 1663, and Preſident of the Artillery Company, who kept his Mayoralty in this Hall, in which Year he entertained their Majeſties, the King, Queen, and Queen Mother, and their Royal Highneſſes the Duke and Dutcheſs of York, and towards the re-edifying of this Hall was a worthy Benefactor. His Coat of Arms, 1ſt and 4th Gules and Or, quarterly embatteled; the 2d and 3d Vert, Semi of Trefoils, a Buck trippant, Or, and the like Buck for the Creſt.

Here are alſo painted the Arms of Samuel Pepys, Maſter of the Company, and a Benefactor, Anno 1677, viz. 1ſt and 4th Sable, on a Bend, Or, between two Horſes Heads eraſed, Argent, three Fleurs de Lis; the 2d and 3d Gules, a Lion Rampant within a Bordure ingrailed, Or.

In another Window, finely painted, the Arms of William Hewar, Maſter of this Company, and a Benefactor 1687, viz. Sable, two Talbots Heads, Or, between as many Flaunches, Ermine.

In a fourth Window, the Arms of Sir Joſeph Williamſon, Knt. one of his Majeſty's moſt Honourable Privy Council, and Principal Secretary of State, Maſter of this Worſhipful Company, Anno 1676, and a noble Benefactor, viz. Or, a Chevron ingrafted between three Trefoils, Sable.

Alſo in two ſmall Windows, the Arms of the Honourable City of London, and thoſe of this Company, which are, Sable, a Chevron Ermine, between two Habricks in chief Argent, and a Teſſel in Baſe, Or; Creſt, a Ram paſſant, Or; Supporters, two Griffins, Or, Pelletee; Motto, My Truſt is in God alone.

The Outſide is adorned with curious Brick fluted Columns, with Corinthian Capitals of Stone.

Bakers-hall. Chichley Houſe.

(2.) In Hart-lane is the Bakers-hall, ſometime the Dwelling-Houſe of John Chichley, Chamberlain of London, who was Son to William Chichley, Alderman of London, Brother to William Chichley, Archdeacon of Canterbury, Nephew to Robert Chichley, Mayor of London, and to Henry Chichley, Archbiſhop of Canterbury.

This John Chichley (ſaith Leyland) had four and twenty Children. Sir Tho. Kirrial of Kent, after he had been long Priſoner in France, married Elizabeth, one of the Daughters of this Chichley, by whom he had this Chichley's Houſe.

This Elizabeth was ſecondly married to Sir Ralph Aſhton, Knight Marſhal: And thirdly, to Sir John Bourchier, Uncle to the late Bourchier, Earl of Eſſex; but ſhe never had a Child. Edward Poynings made part with Bourchier and Elizabeth to have Oſtenhanger in Kent after their Death, and entered into it, they living.

Trinity-Houſe in Water-lane.

Fifthly, In Water-lane is ſituate Trinity-Houſe, which belongs to an antient Corporation of Mariners, founded in King Henry VIII's Time, for the Regulation of Seamen, and Security and Convenience of Ships and Mariners on our Coaſts. In the ſaid King's Reign lived Sir Tho. Spert, Knight, Comptroller of the Navy to that King; who was the firſt Founder and Maſter of the ſaid Society of Trinity-Houſe; and died Anno 1541, and was buried in the Chancel of Stepney Church. To whoſe Memory the ſaid Corporation, Anno 1622, ſet up a Monument there for him eighty Years and one after the Deceaſe of the ſaid Spert, their Founder. And by an Inſcription antienter than that ſet up by the ſaid Corporation, loſt long ſince in the Church, but preſerved by Norden; we learn, that this Gentleman had three Wives, Dame Margery, Dame Anne, and Dame Mary, all lying in the Chancel there; and that his Coat of Arms was Two Launces in Saltier, between four Hearts, on a Chief, a Ship with the Sails furled. He was Commander of the biggeſt Ship then that the Sea bore, namely, Henry Grace de Dieu, built by King Henry VIII. near the Beginning of his Reign. Norden's Middleſex.

This Houſe, where the Corporation uſually meets, belonged to them before the great Fire, but how long I know not: They took a long Leaſe, and rebuilt it, but pay a Ground Rent to —— Ruſſel of Stubbers in Eſſex, Eſq; Deſcendant of Sir William Ruſſel, Knt. ſometime Alderman of London. This Houſe was burnt down about the Year 1718 again, but is now by the ſaid Brotherhood built up fairly a ſecond Time.

The Government of it.

This Corporation, one of the conſiderableſt in the Kingdom, is governed by a Maſter, four Wardens, eight Aſſiſtants, and the Eldeſt Brothers of the Company, as they are called, one and thirty in all. The reſt of their Company are called Younger Brothers, without any fixed Number: For any Seafaring Men that will, are admitted into the Society under that Name: But they are not in the Government.

They meet to chuſe their Maſter commonly at Deptford Strand, but are not obliged to do it there; but the Houſe there being their antient Houſe, they meet there by old Cuſtom.

Their Courts.

Their Meetings are commonly on Wedneſdays and Saturdays here at their Houſe in Water-lane; but their Courts are not fixed conſtantly to a ſet Time, but as Occaſion and Buſineſs requires.

Their Arms.

Their Coat of Arms is, Between a Croſs Gules, four Ships under Sail. The Creſt, a Demi-Lion crowned, Or, with a Sword in his right Paw. The Motto is, Trinitas in Unitate.

They are eſtabliſhed by many Charters of the Princes of this Land.

Their Uſe and Service.

Their Service and Uſe is, that they appoint all Pilots: They ſet and place the Buoys and Sea-Marks for the ſafe Direction of Ships in their Sailing. For which they have certain Duties payable by Merchant-men. They can licence poor Seamen, antient and paſt going to Sea, to exerciſe the Calling of a Waterman upon the Thames, and take in Fares, tho' they have not been bound to any one free of the Watermen's Company. They do maintain in Penſions at this Time two thouſand poor Seamen, or their Widows; every one of which have at leaſt Half a Crown paid them every firſt Monday in the Month, and ſome more, beſides accidental diſtreſſed Seamen.

Their Hoſpitals.

They have three fair Hoſpitals, built by themſelves; two at Deptford, and one at Mile-end, near London. That at Mile-end is a very handſome Structure with a fair Chapel, and is peculiar for decayed Sea-Commanders, Maſters of Veſſels, or ſuch as have been Pilots, and their Widows.

Their Revenues.

And thus as they do a great deal of Good, ſo they have large Revenues to do it with: Which ariſe partly, from Sums of Money given and bequeathed unto them for charitable Uſes, partly from Houſes and Lands alſo given them, and particularly and chiefly from Ballaſt. For they only have, by Act of Parliament, the Benefit of providing Ballaſt for Ships in the Thames; and all Ships that take in Ballaſt pay them 12 d. a Ton: For which it is brought to their Ship's Side. They have alſo certain Light-Houſes, as at Scilly and Dungeneſs in the Weſt. To which Houſes all Ships pay one Half-penny a Tun.

In their Hall. In their Hall there is an old Flag hanging up, which they ſay was taken from the Spaniards by Sir Francis Drake; whoſe Picture hangeth up there. There is alſo the exact Model of a Ship of a great Size rigged, encloſed in a Frame glazed round; the Gift of Sir Jeremy Smith: Likewiſe two large Globes encloſed, as was the Model of the Ship; the Gift of Sir Thomas Allen: Both Admirals of the Navy under K. Charles II. Divers Tables alſo hang up round the Hall, containing the Names of their Benefactors, with the Mention of their reſpective Gifts; and in their Parlour five large Plats, drawn curiouſly and exactly by a Pen, deſcribing certain Sea Fights in King Charles II's Time.

Sixthly, In Plough-yard in the Pariſh of Barking is a School founded by James Hickſon, Eſq; for the Education of twenty poor Children. To the Head Maſter of which he appointed 20 l. per An. his Dwelling, and two Chaldron of Sea-Coal. And to a Writing Maſter 8 l. per An.

The Jewry near the Tower. Seventhly, The Antiquities of this Ward, which are come to our Knowledge, are,

(1.) A Place within the Liberties of the Tower, called the Jewry, becauſe it was inhabited by Jews; where there happened, 22 Hen. III. a Robbery and a Murther to be committed by William Fitz-Bernard, and Richard his Servant; who came to the Houſe of Joce a Jew, and there ſlew him, and his Wife Henna. The ſaid William was taken at St. Saviour's for a certain Silver Cup, and was hanged. Richard was called for, and outlawed. One Miles le Eſpicer, who was with them, was wounded, and fled to a Church, and died in it. No Attachment was made by the Sheriffs, becauſe it happened in the Jewry; and ſo belonged not to the Sheriffs, but to the Conſtable of the Tower.

Barking Chapel of our Lady. (2.) On the North Side of Barking Church was fair Chapel founded by King Richard I. Some have written, that his Heart was buried there under the high Altar. This Chapel was confirmed and augmented by King Edward I. Edward IV. gave Licence to his Couſin John, Earl of Worceſter, to found there a Brotherhood for a Fraternity here. a Maſter and Brethren. And he gave to the Cuſtos of that Fraternity, which was Sir John Scot, Knt. Thomas Colt, John Tate, and John Croke, the Priory of Totingbroke, and the Advowſon of the Pariſh-Church of Stretham in the County of Surrey, with all the Members and Appurtenances, and a Part of the Priory of Okeborne in Wiltſhire, both Priors Aliens, and appointed it to be called the King's Chapel, or Chantry, In Capella beatæ Mariæ de Barking.

The King's Chapel of Barking. King Richard III. new builded this Chapel, and founded therein a College of Prieſts, conſiſting of a Dean and ſix Canons: All which that King placed there. The Deanry he gave to Edmund Chaderton, a great Favourite of his. The Canonries he diſpoſed, at the Time that Chaderton was made Dean, to theſe Perſons following, viz. Mr. Tho. Cowton a Canon there; Richard Baldry another; Mr. Jane another; James Molineux another; Richard Selſie another; Maculin Coſin another. Hamond de Lega was buried in that Chapel. Robert Tate, Mayor of London, 1488, and others, were there buried. K. Ric. III. a new Founder. K. Rich. Ledg. Book.

This College was ſuppreſſed and pulled down in the Year 1548, the ſecond of King Edward VI. The Ground was employed as a Garden-Plat during the Reigns of King Edward, Queen Mary, and Part of Queen Elizabeth, till at length a large ſtrong Frame of Timber and Brick was ſet thereon, and employed as a Storehouſe of Merchants Goods brought from the Sea, by Sir William Winter, &c. Suppreſſed.

An Hoſpital here for mad People. (3.) Somewhere in this Pariſh Licence was given in 44 Edw. III. for the founding of an Hoſpital pro ſuſtentatione Hominum in Freneſim, &c. cadentium, i. e. for the ſuſtaining of People that fall into Phrenſies, &c.

(4.) In Sydon-lane were divers fair and large Houſes; one built by Sir John. Allen, ſome time Mayor of London, and of the Privy Council unto K. Henry VIII. Sir Francis Walſingham, Knt. principal Secretary to the Queen's Majeſty that then lived, was lodged there, and ſo was the Earl of Eſſex, &c. And hereabouts was a capital Meſſuage called Sharington Houſe, forfeited to King Edward VI. from Sir Edward Sharington, belonging to the Mint, attainted the 3d of his Reign: Which Houſe the King gave to Henry Earl of Arundel. Sharington Houſe.

(5.) In Mincing-lane of old Time dwelled divers Strangers born, of Genoa and thoſe Parts: Theſe were commonly called Galley-men, as Men that came up in the Galleys, brought up Wines and other Merchandizes, which they landed in Thames-ſtreet, at a Place called Galley-key: They had a certain Coin of Silver amongſt themſelves, which were Half-pence of Genoa, and were called Galley Half-pence. Theſe Half-pence were forbidden in the 13th Year of King Henry IV. And again by Parliament in the 4th of Henry V. by the Name of Half-pence of Genoa, forbidden to paſs, as unlawful Payment, amongſt the Engliſh Subjects. And it was enacted, That if any Perſon bring into this Realm Galley Half-pence, Suſkins, or Dodkins, he ſhould be puniſhed as a Thief; and he that taketh or payeth ſuch Money, ſhall loſe an hundred Shillings, whereof the King ſhall have the one Half, and he that will ſue, the other Half. Galley-men dwelled there.

(6.) In the ſixth of Henry V. there was in the Tower Ward a Meſſuage, or great Houſe, called Cobham's Inn; and in the 37th of Henry VI. a Meſſuage in Thames-ſtreet, pertaining to Richard Longvile, &c. Some of the Ruins before ſpoken of may ſeem to be of the foreſaid Hoſpital, belonging peradventure to ſome Prior Alien, and ſo ſuppreſſed among the reſt, in the Reign of Edward III. or Henry V. who ſuppreſſed them all. Cobham's Inn.

CHAP. XXVIII.

Of VINTRY WARD.

With a PLAN, neatly engraved from a NEW Survey.

Its Name. Bounds. Extent. Modern State. Alderman and Common-Councilmen. Pariſhes and Churches. Vintners Hall, &c. Antiquities. Whittington's College. Tower Royal, &c. &c.

Its Name. VINTRY Ward takes its Name from a Part thereof called the Vintrie by the Antients, occupied by Vintners or Wine-Merchants from Bourdeaux, ſettled on the Bank of the River Thames; at which Place they landed their Wines, and were obliged to ſell them in forty Days, till the 28th of Edward I. who by Privy-Seal granted longer Time and certain Privileges to the ſid Merchants, as we have more largely ſhewn in the firſt Book, under that King's Reign.

Bounds. Its Bounds may be collected from this Deſcription: It begins, in the Eaſt, at the Weſt End of Dowgate Ward, as the Water-courſe of Walbrook parteth them, to wit, at Grantham's-lane on the Thames Side, and at Elbow-lane on the Land Side: It runneth along in Thames-ſtreet, Weſt, ſome three Houſes beyond the Old-Swan, a Brewhouſe on the Thames Side, and on the Land Side ſome three Houſes Weſt beyond St. James at Garlick-hithe.

Extent. In Breadth, this Ward ſtretcheth from the Vintry, North, to the Wall of the Weſt Gate of the Tower Royal: So that it is bounded on the Eaſt by Dowgate Ward, on the South by the Thames, on the Weſt by Queen-hithe Ward, and on the North by Cordwainers Ward.

Out of this Royal-ſtreet, by the South Gate of the Tower Royal, runneth a ſmall Street, Eaſt, to St. John's upon Walbrook, which Street is called Horſhoe-bridge, of ſuch a Bridge ſome Time over the Brook there, which is now vaulted over. Horſhoe-bridge-ſtreet.

Then from the South Gate, Weſt, runneth one other Street, called Knightriders-ſtreet, by St. Thomas Apoſtles Church, on the North Side, and Wringwren-lane, by the ſaid Church, at the Weſt End thereof, and to the Eaſt End of the Trinity Church in the ſaid Knightriders-ſtreet; where this Ward endeth on that South Side the Street. But on the North Side it runneth no farther than the Corner againſt the Tavern, and other Houſes, in a Plat of Ground, where ſome Time ſtood Ormond-place. Another Lane lower down in Royal-ſtreet, ſtretching forth from over-againſt St. Michael's Church, to and by the North Side of St. James's Church by Garlick-hithe, called Kerion-lane. On the Thames Side, Weſt from Grantham's-lane, is Herber-lane, or Brickles-lane, ſo called of John Brickles, ſometime Owner thereof. Knightriders-ſtreet.

Then is Simſon's-lane, of one Simſon; or Emperors-head-lane, of ſuch a Sign: Then the Three-Cranes-lane, ſo called, not only of a Sign of three Cranes at a Tavern Door, but rather of three ſtrong Cranes of Timber, placed on the Vintry Wharf by the Thames Side, to crane up Wines there, as is before ſhewed. This Lane was, in the 9th of Richard II. called the Painted-Tavern-lane, of the Tavern being painted. Simſon's-lane.

Over-againſt St. Martin's Church is a large Houſe, builded of Stone and Timber, with Vaults for the Stowage of Wines, called the Vintry. There dwelled John Giſors, Mayor of London, and Conſtable of the Tower. And then Henry Picard, Vintner, Mayor. In this Houſe Henry Picard feaſted four Kings in one Day. The Vintry Record.

Next is Vannar's-lane, ſo called of one Vannar that was Owner thereof. It is now called Church-lane, of the coming up from the Wharf to St. Martin's Church. Vannar's-lane.

Broad-lane, for that the ſame is broader for the Paſſage of Carts from the Vintry Wharf, than be the other Lanes. At the North-Weſt Corner of this Lane is the Pariſh-Clerks Hall. Spittle-lane, of old Time ſo called; ſince Stodie's-lane, of the Owner thereof, named Stodie. Sir John Stodie, Vintner, Mayor in the Year 1357, gave it, with all the Quadrant wherein Vintners Hall now ſtandeth, with the Tenements round about, unto the Vintners. Broad-lane.

Next is Palmer's-lane, now called Anchor-lane. The Plummers have their Hall there, but are Tenants to the Vintners. Palmer's- or Anchor-lane.

Then is Worceſter-Houſe, ſometime belonging to the Earls of Worceſter, now divided into many Tenements. The Fruiterers have their Hall there. Then is the Old-Swan, a great Brewhouſe. And this is all, on the Thames Side, that I can note in this Ward. Worceſter Houſe. Old Swan.

On the Land Side, in the Royal-ſtreet, is Pater-noſter-lane, I think, of old Time called Arches: For I read, that Robert de Suffolk gave to Walter Darford his Tenement, with the Appurtenance, in the Lane called Les Arches, in the Pariſh of St. Michael de Pater-noſter Church, between the Wall of the Field called Wincheſter-field on the Eaſt, and the ſame Lane on the Weſt, &c. More, I read of a Stone Houſe, called Stoda de Winton, juxta Stodum-bridge, which in that Lane was over Walbrook Water. Pater-noſter-lane.

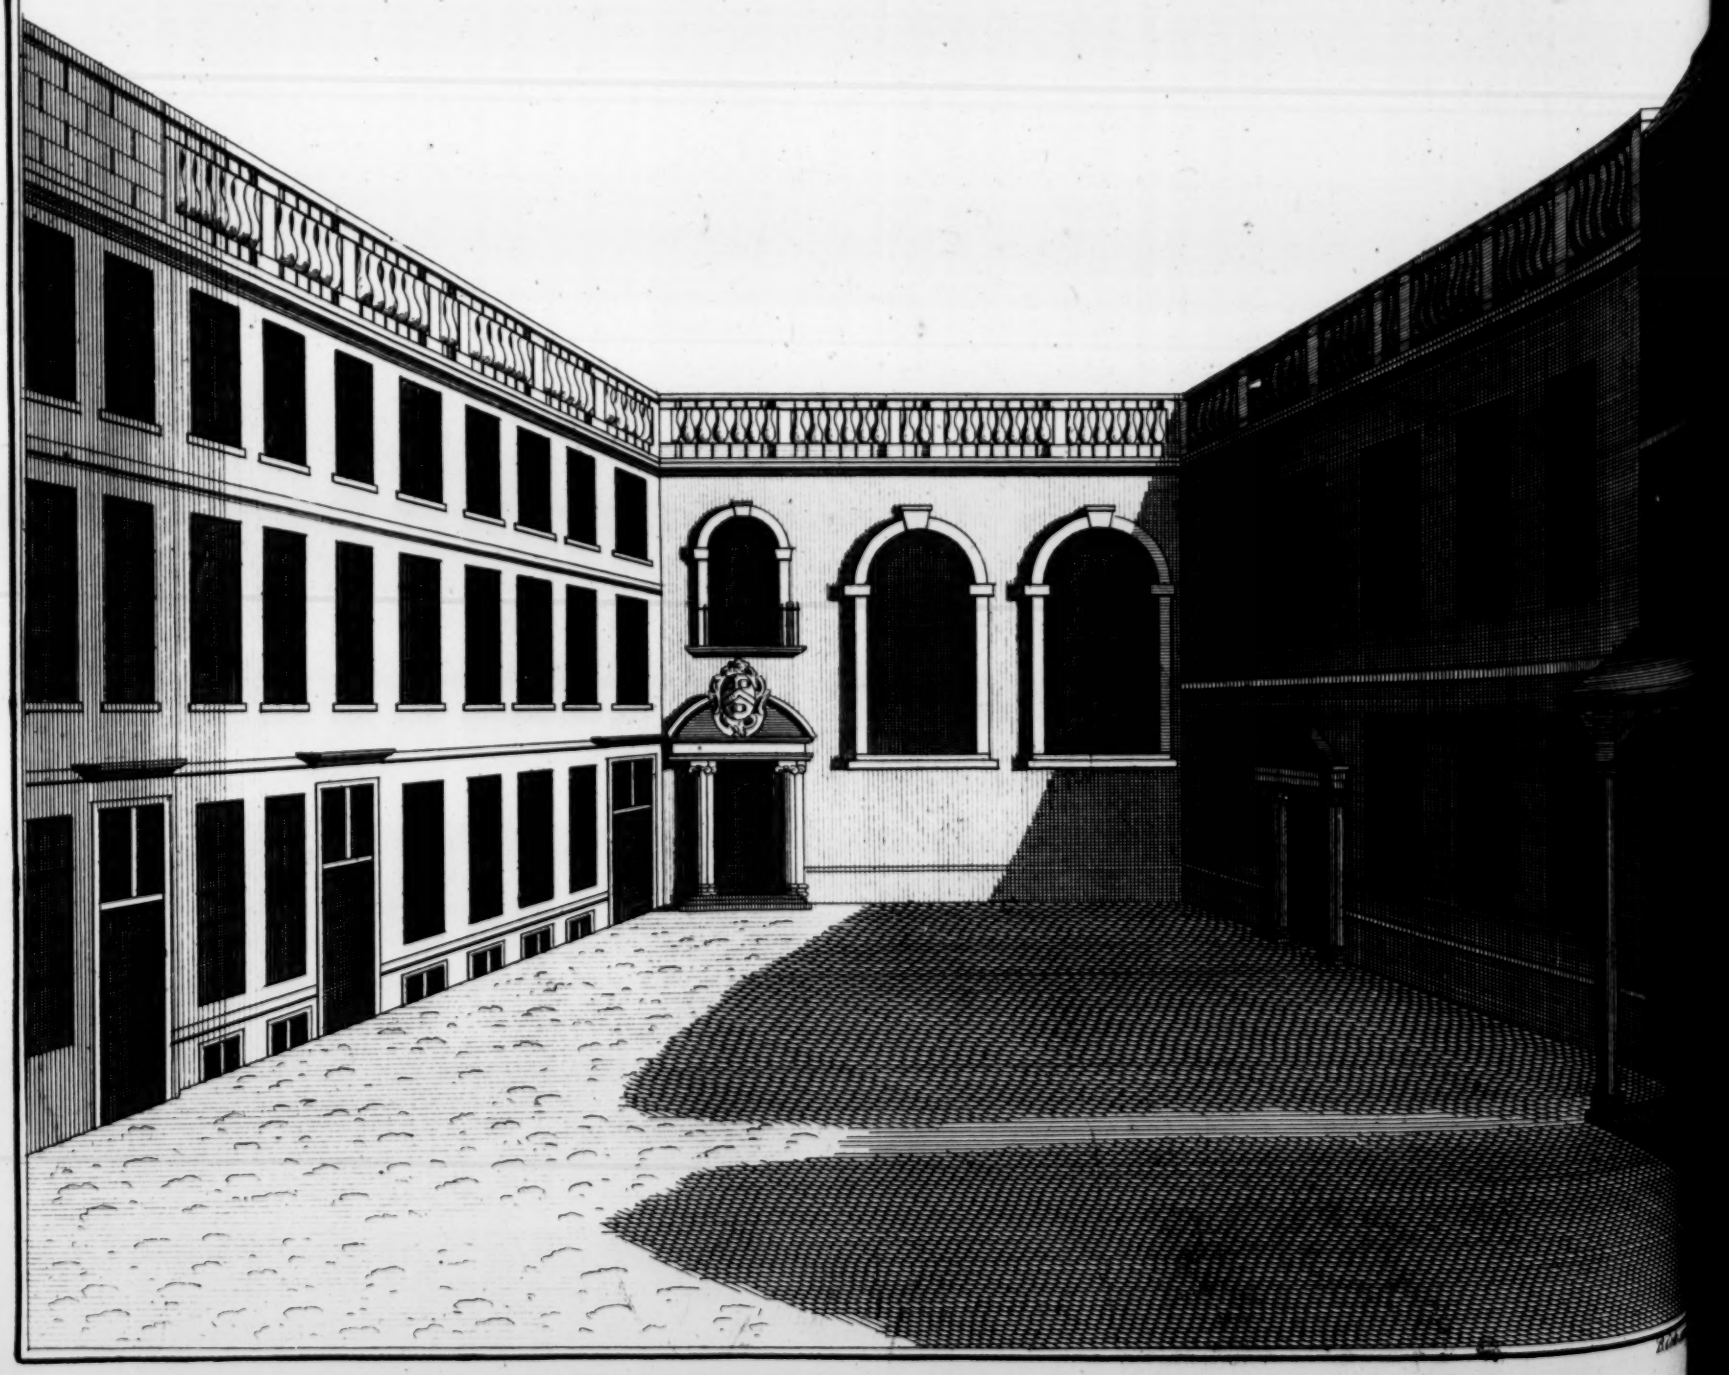
Thames-ſtreet runneth through the Heart of this Ward from Eaſt to Weſt; being a Street, as before noted, well inhabited by able Tradeſmen: The Part in this Ward is from little Elbow-lane in the Eaſt, where Dowgate Ward joins unto it, and to Townſend-lane in the Weſt, where Queen-hithe Ward begins. In this Part of Thames-ſtreet, within this Ward, are theſe Places: Shepherd's-alley, long and narrow, but indifferent good. Black-ſwan-alley, indifferent well built, and wide enough for Boats to paſs to the River Side: Here was formerly a large Houſe called Worceſter-houſe, as belonging to the Earls of Worceſter, and from thence ſo called; now converted into Tenements: And here the Fruiterers have their Hall. Anchor-lane, long and narrow, running down to the Thames: It was formerly called Palmer's-lane; and here the Plumbers have their Hall. Modern State. Thames-ſtreet.

New Queen-ſtreet, commonly called the Three-Cranes in the Vintry, a good open Street, eſpecially that Part next Cheapſide, which is beſt built, and inhabited; but it hath no more in this New Queen-ſtreet.

Fishmongers Hall near London Bridge



Vintners Hall in Thames Street

this Ward than a little beyond St. Thomas Apoſtles, the reſt of this Street being in Cordwainers Ward, and Cheap Ward: At the lower End of the Street, next the Thames, is a Pair of Stairs, the uſual Place for the Lord-Mayor and Aldermen to take Water at to go to Weſtminſter-Hall, for the new Lord-Mayor to be ſworn before the Barons of the Exchequer. This Place, with the Three-Cranes, is now of ſome Account for the Coſtermongers, where they have their Warehouſes for their Fruit.

Church-lane. Church-lane, ſo called, as ſeated over-againſt St. Martin's Vintry Church, a long and narrow Lane, which leadeth to the River of Thames. Out of this Place is a Paſſage into New Queen-ſtreet.

Three-Crane-lane. Three-Crane-lane, long and narrow, running down to the Thames, where there is a Pair of Stairs: This Lane is alſo taken up by Coſtermongers; about the Middle of the Lane is a Paſſage into Church-lane, as alſo into Brick-hill-lane. Over-againſt this Lane was the Church of St. Martin in the Vintry; it is in the Dioceſe of London: The Abbot of Glouceſter was Patron, and the Diſmes 11*l.* 6*s.* 8*d.* This Church was conſumed in the Fire of London, 1666, and not rebuilt, but the Pariſh united to St. Michael Royal.

Brick hill-lane. Brick-hill-lane, a pretty open Place, with good Buildings, and runneth down almoſt to the Thames.

Empe-rors head-lane. Emperor's-head-lane, narrow and ordinary, with a Paſſage to the Thames. Tennis-court, or Friars-lane, runneth down almoſt to the Thames, where there is a Dyer's, and falls into Dowgate. In this Lane is the Entrance into Joyners Hall, in Dowgate Ward.

Little Elbow-lane. The North Side of Thames-ſtreet hath theſe Places: Little Elbow-lane, which falls into Great Elbow-lane, and ſo into College-hill, by St. Michael Royal Church; both which Lanes are indifferent. The Eaſt Part of this Lane is in Dowgate Ward.

College-hill. College-hill comes out of St. Thomas Apoſtles, and falls into Thames-ſtreet; a Place well built, and inhabited by Merchants and others. On the Weſt Side is Maiden-lane, which croſſeth New Queen-ſtreet, and falls into Garlick-hill, by St. James Garlick-hithe Church. Out of this Lane is a Paſſage into Thames-ſtreet, and another into Maiden-head-court, which is but ordinary. On the Eaſt Side of College-hill is St. Michael's Royal Church, and almoſt over-againſt the ſaid Church is Buckingham-houſe, ſo called as being bought by the Duke of Buckingham, and where he ſome Time reſided upon a particular Humour: It is a very large and graceful Building, late the Seat of Sir John Lethulier, an eminent Merchant, ſome Time Sheriff and Alderman of London, deceaſed.

St. Thomas Apoſtles. St. Thomas Apoſtles, of which there are two, viz. Great St. Thomas Apoſtles, which is in this Ward, and Little St. Thomas Apoſtles, which is in Cordwainers Ward. This Great St. Thomas Apoſtles is a good handſome Street, and well inhabited: On the North Side was ſeated the Church of St. Thomas Apoſtles, which, before its being burnt in the general Fire of London, ſtood in the middle of New Queen-ſtreet; a Street made, ſince the ſaid Fire, out of Soper-lane, &c. for a ſtraight Paſſage to the Water-ſide from Guildhall.

In this Street of Great St. Thomas Apoſtles are theſe Places: Black-lion-Inn, but indifferent. Baldwins-yard, a good handſome open Court, with good Buildings at the upper End. Blunderbuſs-alley, on the Eaſt Side of St. Thomas Church-yard, very ſmall. Dodſon's-court, a pretty large open Place, with a Free-ſtone Paſſage into Budge-row, pretty well built and inhabited. Almoſt over-againſt this Court is Cutlers Hall, ſeated in Cloak-lane, which falleth into Dowgate-hill, a pretty good Building, as to its Bigneſs. Baldwins-yard.

Garlick-hill. Garlick-hill takes its Beginning in the North from Bow-lane, and falls into Thames-ſtreet, a Place well built, and inhabited. In this Place are theſe Courts: Sugar-loaf-court, a good large Place, but ordinarily inhabited: It hath a Paſſage down Steps into Thames-ſtreet, through a Place called the Bowling-alley. Three-ſhear-court, ſmall and ordinary; over-againſt this Court is the Pariſh-Church of St. James Garlick-hithe.

Great Trinity-lane. Great Trinity-lane hath but a ſmall Part in this Ward.

Bow-lane hath alſo ſome ſmall Part in this Ward, but the greateſt Share is in Cordwainers Ward.

Watch. There are to watch at the ſeveral Stands in this Ward every Night a Conſtable, the Beadle, and thirty-four Watchmen.

Jury. The Jurymen returned by the Wardmote-Inqueſt for this Ward are to ſerve in the ſeveral Courts holden in the Guildhall in the Month of April.

Alderman, Common Council. The Government of this Ward is by an Alderman, who at preſent is Sir Criſp Gaſcoyne, Knt. and nine Common-Councilmen, who are, Mr. Thomas Gregg, Deputy, Mr. John Gould, Mr. Moſes Allnutt, Mr. Thomas Delamott, Mr. Higgins Eden, Mr. John Kent, Mr. Will. Campbell, Mr. Benj. Gaſcoyne, Mr. James Wilkes: Under whom are nine Conſtables, four Scavengers, fourteen Wardmote-Inqueſtmen, and a Beadle.

It is taxed to the Fifteenth in London 61*l.* 13*s.* 4*d.*

Remarkable Things. The moſt remarkable Things in this Ward are,

Pariſh-Churches. Firſt, Four Pariſh-Churches, viz. (1) Of St. Michael's Royal, (2) St. Martin's Vintry, (3) St. Thomas Apoſtle's, and (4) St. James Garlick-hithe: Of which in our Parochial Hiſtory.

Halls. Secondly, Four Halls belonging to ſeveral Companies, viz. (1) Vintners Hall, a curious large Building, which encloſeth a large ſquare Court, with a handſome Free-ſtone Pavement. The North Side fronts the Street, where there is a curious Pair of Gates, with Free-ſtone Pillars on each Side, wreathed with Grapes and Leaves, and upon each of the Pillars are three Tuns, with a Bacchus ſitting thereon. Behind the Hall and other Buildings is a Garden, from which is a Paſſage to the Thames; where there is a Pair of Stairs; and, being thus open, hath a fine Proſpect into the Thames.

It is built on Part of the Ground bequeathed unto the ſaid Company by Sir John Stody before-mentioned.

Stody's Manor of the Vintry firſt given to the Church.

This Place of Stody was called in old Records, The Manor of the Vintry. This Manor the ſaid Stody, July 3, the 2d of Edw. III. gave and granted to one John Tuke, Parſon of that Pariſh-Church; "to have and to hold the ſaid "Manor to him and his Succeſſors, to the Uſe "and Behalf of the ſaid Church; the King's "Licence thereof not had, nor obtained." By Force of which Feoffment the ſaid John was ſeized thereof as of Fee, contrary to the Senſe of the Statute of Lands and Tenements to be put into Mortmains, had and provided. Of this there was an Inquiſition taken in the 17th of Edw. IV. before Sir Rauf Joſſelyn: And there was likewiſe a Trial in the Exchequer about it. But King Richard III. granted it to the Company of Vintners.

The Vintners great Bourdeaux Merchants

Theſe Vintners in London were, of old Time, called Merchant Vintners of Gaſcoyne; and ſo I read them in the Records of Edward II. the 11th Year, and Edward III. the 9th Year. They were, as well Engliſhmen, as Strangers born beyond the Seas, but then Subjects to the Kings of England, great Bourdeaux Merchants of Gaſcoyne and French Wines. Divers of them were Mayors of this City; namely, John Adrean, Vintner; Reginald at Conduit; John Oxenford; Henry Picard, that feaſted the Kings of England, France, Scotland, and Cyprus; John Stody, that gave Stody's-lane to the Vintners: The four laſt were Mayors in the Reign of Edward III. and yet Gaſcoyne Wines were then to be ſold at London not above four Pence, nor Rheniſh Wines above ſix Pence the Gallon.

Cognizance taken of corrupting Wines.

I read in the 6th of Henry VI. the Lombards corrupting their ſweet Wines, when Knowledge thereof came to John Rainwell, Mayor of London, he (in divers Places of the City) commanded the Heads of the Buts and other Veſſels in the open Streets to be broken, to the Number of one hundred and fifty. So that the Liquor running forth, paſſed through the City like a Stream of Rain-Water, in the Sight of all the People; from whence there iſſued a moſt loathſome Savour.

Malmſeys brought by the Longobards.

In the Reign of Henry VII. no ſweet Wines were brought into this Realm, but Malmſeys, by the Longobards, paying to the King for his Licence, 6 s. 8 d. of every Butt, beſides 12 d. for Bottle large. It appeareth in the Church-Book of St. Andrew Underſhaft, that in the Year 1547, I. G. and S. K. then Church-wardens, for eighty Pints of Malmſey ſpent in the Church, after one Penny Halfpenny the Pint, paid at the Year's End for the ſame ten Shillings.

Malmſey ſpent in St. Andrew Underſhaft, for a Year, 80 Pints.

Wine-tunners incorporated the 15*th of* He. VI.

The Vintners and Wine-drawers, that retailed by the Pottle, Quart and Pint, were all incorporated by the Name of Wine-tunners in the Reign of Edward III. and confirmed the 15th of Henry VI.

Cutlers-hall.

(2) In Horſe-bridge-ſtreet is the Cutlers Hall. Richard de Wilehale, 1295, confirmed to Paul Butelar this Houſe, and the Edifices, in the Pariſh of St. Michael Pater-noſter Church, and St. John upon Walbrooke; which ſome Time Lawrence Giſors, and his Son Peter Giſors, did poſſeſs, and afterwards Hugo de Hingham; and lieth between the Tenement of the ſaid Richard towards the South, and the Lane called Horſe-ſhoe-bridge towards the North; and between the Way called Pater-noſter Church on the Weſt, and the Courſe of Walbrooke on the Eaſt; paying yearly one Clove of Gilliflowers at Eaſter, and to the Prior and Convent of St. Mary Overy 6 s. This Houſe ſome Time belonged to Simon Doleſly, Grocer, Mayor in the Year 1359. They of this Company were (of old Time) three Arts, or Sorts of Workmen; to wit, the firſt were Smiths, Forgers of Blades, and therefore called Bladers: And divers of them proved wealthy Men; as namely, Walter Nele, Blader, one of the Sheriffs, the twelfth of King Edward III. deceaſed, 1352, and buried in St. James Garlick-hithe. He left Lands to the mending of High-ways about London, between Newgate and Wicombe, Aldgate and Chelmsford, Biſhopſgate and Ware, Southwark and Rocheſter, &c. The ſecond were Makers of Hafts, and otherwiſe Garniſhers of Blades: The third Sort were Sheath-makers for Swords, Daggers and Knives. In the tenth of Henry IV. certain Ordinances were made betwixt the Bladers, and other Cutlers; and in the fourth of Henry VI. they were all three Companies drawn into one Fraternity or Brotherhood, by the Name of Cutlers.

Bladers or Blade-ſmiths.

Haft-makers.

Sheath-makers.

(3) Plumbers Hall, and (4) Fruiterers Hall, which have nothing in them remarkable.

Antiquities.

Whittington's College.

(1) Whittington College, founded on the Spot where now ſtands the Pariſh-Church of St. Michael, called Pater-noſter Church, in the Royal.

St. Michael de Pater-noſter, a College, an Alms-houſe or Hoſpital.

This Church was new builded, and made a College of St. Spirit, and St. Mary, founded by Richard Whittington, Mercer, four Times Mayor, for a Maſter, four Fellows, Maſters of Arts, Clerks, Conducts, Choriſts, &c. and an Alms-houſe, called God's Houſe or Hoſpital, for thirteen poor Men: One of them to be Tutor, and to have 16 d. the Week; the other twelve each of them to have 14 d. the Week for ever, with other neceſſary Proviſion, an Hutch with three Docks, a common Seal, &c.

R. Whittington, Son to Sir W. Whittington, Knight.

Theſe (as the Manner then was) were bound to pray for the good Eſtate of Richard Whittington, and Alice his Wife, their Founders; and for Sir William Whittington, Knight, and Dame Joan his Wife; and for Hugh Fitzwaren, and Dame Molde his Wife; the Fathers and Mothers of the ſaid Richard Whittington, and Alice his Wife; for King Richard the Second, and Thomas of Woodſtock, Duke of Gloceſter, ſpecial Lords and Promoters of the ſaid Whittington, &c. It follows in the Will, "For Anne and Eleanor, the Wives of the ſaid "King and Duke. Furthermore alſo for the "good Heel and Staat of our aforeſaid Lord "[King Henry VI.] and Archbiſhop, [Henry "Chicheley] that now be, and the Conſervators "and Benefactors of the ſame Houſe, while "they live; and for our good Staat, while we "live; and for their Souls and ours, whan they "and we be paſſed out of this World; and gene"rally

" rally for them, to whom the ſaid Rich. Whit-
" tington and Alice were byhold to in any
" manerwiſe while we live, and for all Chriſten
" Soules."

The Licence for this Foundation was granted by King Henry IV. the eleventh of his Reign; and in the twelfth of the ſame King's Reign, the Mayor and Commonalty of London granted to Richard Whittington a vacant Piece of Ground, thereon to build his College in the Royal: All which was confirmed by Henry VI. the third of his Reign, to John Coventre, Jenkin Carpenter, and William Grove, Executors to Richard Whittington.

This Foundation was again confirmed by Parliament the tenth of Henry VI. and was ſuppreſsed by the Statute of Edward VI. The Almshouſes, with the poor Men, do remain, and are paid by the Mercers.

Ordinances of Whittington College.

There are extant, in Cuſtody of the Mercers, the original Ordinances of Richard Whittington's Charity, made by his Executors, Coventre, Carpenter and Grove, fairly written. Where on the firſt Page is curiouſly allumined the ſaid Whittington lying on his Deathbed, a very lean conſumed meagre Body; and his three Executors, and a Prieſt, and divers others ſtanding by his Bed-ſide. They begin thus:

" To alls the trew People of Cryſt, that
" ſhalle ſe or here the Things which be con-
" teyned within theſe preſent Letters, John
" Coventre, Jenkin Carpentre, and William Grove,
" &c. Executors of the Teſtament of the wor-
" thy and notable Merchant Richard Whitting-
" ton, late Citezin and Mercer of the Cite of
" London, and oftentimes Meyer of the ſame
" Cite, ſending gretyng in our Lord God ever-
" laſting.

" The fervent Deſire and beſy Intention of
" a prudent, wyſe and devout Man ſhal be to
" caſt before and make ſeure the State and
" thende of the ſhort Liffe with Dedys of Mer-
" cy and Pite; and namely to provyde for
" ſuch poure Perſons, which grevous Penu-
" re and cruel Fortune have oppreſſed, and
" be not of power to gete their Lyving either
" by Craft or by any other bodily Labour:
" Whereby that, at the Day of the laſt Juge-
" ment, he may take his Part with them that
" ſhal be ſaved. This conſidering the foreſaid
" worthy and notable Merchaunt Richard
" Whittington, the which while he leved had
" ryght liberal and large Hands to the needy
" and poure People, charged ſtreitly, in his " Death-bed, us his foreſaid Executors, to
" ordeyne a Houſe of Almes after his Death,
" for perpetual Suſtentation of ſuch poure Peo-
" ple as is tofore reherſed; and therupon ful-
" ly he declared his Will unto us. And we
" wylling after our Power to fullfil thentent
" of his commendable Wille and holeſome
" Deſire in this Part, as we be bound:

" Firſt, Yfounded by us, with ſufficient
" Authorite, in the Church of Seint Migbells,
" in the Royolle of London, where the fore-
" ſaid Richard and Dame Alice his Wife be
" biried, a commendable College of certain
" Preſtes and Clerkis, to do there every Day
" divine Service for the aforeſaid Richard and
" Alice.

" We have founded alſo, after the Wille
" aboveſeid, a Houſe of Alms for xiii pouer
" Folk ſucceſſively for evermore, to dwell and
" to be ſuſtained in the ſame Houſe: Which
" Houſe is ſituated and edified upon a certain
" Soyl that we bought therfore, late in the " Pariſh of Seinte Migbel aboveſaid; that is
" to ſay, Bytweene the foreſaid Church and
" the Wall that cloſeth in the voyd Place be" hind the heigh Auter of the ſame Church
" in the Southſide, and our great Tenement,
" that was the late Houſe of the aforeſaid Ri-
" chard Wyttington, in the Northſide. And
" it ſtretcheth fro the dwelling Place of the
" Maſter and the Prieſtis of the College a-
" boveſaid. The which alſo we did late to
" be now added in the Eaſtſide unto a great
" voyd Place of our Land. The which by
" the Help of God we purpoſe to do be hal-
" lowed lawfully for a Churchyard to the
" ſame Church within ſhort Time in the Weſt-
" ſide.

" And in the more ful and clere Foundation
" and Ordinaunce, and alſo ſtablyng of the " foreſeid Almeſhouſe for pouer Men, the
" Myght of the Fadre, the Wyſdom of the
" Sonne, and the Goodneſs of the Holy Ghoſt,
" fyrſt of al ycalled unto our Help, we procede
" in this wiſe:

" Fyrſt, Both by Lycence, Graunt and Au-
" thorite of the right mighty Prince and Lord
" K. Henry VI. King of England, and of Fraunce,
" that now is; and alſo by the Will and
" Conſent of the ryght worthy Lord and Fadre
" in Cryſt, Henry, by the Sufferaunce of God,
" Archbiſhop of Canterbury, Primate of all England,
" and Legate of the See of Rome, of whoſe
" Juriſdiction immediate be the Church and
" Parriſhe aboveſaid; and the Graunt and
" Conſent of all and every Man, that had any
" Title or Intereſt in this Partie, before required
" and had."

Then the Ordinances follow, which were theſe:

The Ordinances of the College.

" To be twelve pouer Folks alonely of Men or " Women togiddre; after the ſad Diſcretion and
" good Conſcience of the Overſeers underwrit,
" and Conſervators of the ſame Houſe, to be
" provided and admitted.

" The which every Day, when due and con-
" venient Time is, ſhal pray for evermore for
" al the now being alive, and alſo for the by-
" paſt, to God; whoſe Names of great Speci-
" alty been expreſſed in theſe Statutes under-
" writ.

" To be one Principal, which ſhal pas al other
" in Power and Reverence, and be called Tutor.
" The Office and Charge of him ſhal be the " Goods of the Almes-houſe, which ſhal come to
" his Hands, well and truly to miniſter; the " Goods diſſevered to gather again togidre, to the
" Uſe of the Almes-houſe; and the Huſbandry
" of the ſame Houſe, in as much as he may, goodly
" overſee, diſpoſe, and ordain; inforcing himſelf
" to edifie and nouriſh Charity and Peace among " his Felawes.

" The

" The poor Folks unto the ſaid Tutor evermore " ſhall obey.

" The thirteen poor Folke to be hable in Con- " verſation, and honeſt in Living.

" The ſame Houſe to be called for ever God's " Houſe, or Almes-houſe, or the Hoſpital of " Richard Whyttington.

" The L. Maior to be Overſeer of the ſaid " Almes-houſe; and the Keepers of the Com- " monalty of the Craft of Mercers to be cal- " led for evermore Conſervators of the foreſaid " Houſe.

" The Tutor to have a Place by himſelf, that " is to ſay, a Cell, or little Houſe, with a Chim- " ney and a Prevy, and other Neceſſaries, in the " which he ſhall lyegge and reſt; and that he " may aloon and by himſelf, without Let of any " other Perſoon, intend to the Contemplation of " God, if he woll.

" That the ſeid Tutour and pouer Folke, whan " they be in the aforeſaid Houſes and Cells, and " alſo in the Cloiſters, and other Places of the " foreſaid Almes-houſes, have hemſelfe quietlie " and peſably, without Noiſe or Diſturbance " of his Felaws; and that they occupy himſelf " in Prayer or Reading, or in Labour of her " Hondes, or in ſome other Occupation, &c."

It endeth thus:

" In Witneſs we have put to our Seals. Gy- " ven at London, the xxi Day of Decemb. in the " Yere of our Lord a thouſand CCCC xxiiii. and " and the Yere of King Henry VI. after the Con- " queſt the thrydde.

" Go litel Boke, go litel Tregedie,—
" Thee lowly ſubmytting to al Correction
" Of theym being Maiſters now of the Mercery,
" Olney, Felding, Boleyne, and of Burton:
" Herteley theym beſeyking with humble Salu- " tation
" Thee to accept, and thus to take in gre,
" For evre to be a Servant withyn yeare Com- " minaltie."

But further, for the Direction of their daily Devotion, of their Eating, and their Habit, theſe were the Appointments and Ordinances:

The Devotion of Whitting-ton College.

" Every Tutour and poor Folk every Day firſt " whan they riſe fro their Bedds, kneeling upon " their Knees, ſey a Pater Noſter and an Ave Maria, " with ſpecial and herty Recommendation-make- " ing of the foreſaid Richard Whyttington and " Alice to God, and our bleſſed Lady Maidyn " Mary: And other Times of the Day, whan " he may beſt and moſt commody have Leiſure " thereto, for the Staat of al the Souls above- " ſaid, ſay three or two Sauters of our Lady at " the leaſt; that is to ſay, threies ſeaven Ave " Marias, with xv Pater Noſters, and three " Credes: But if he be letted with Febleneſs, or " any other reaſonable Cawſe, one in the Day at " the leaſt, in Caſe it may be; that is to ſay, " after the Meſſe, or when Complyn is don, they " come togidder within the College about the " Tomb of the aforeſaid Rich. Whyttington and " Alice, and they that can ſey ſhal ſey, for the " Soules of the ſeid Richard and Alice, and for " the Soules of al Chriſten People, this Pſalm, " De Profundis, with the Verſicles and Orioſons " that longeth thereto. And they that can " ſhal ſey three Pater Noſters, three Ave Marias, " and on Crede. And, after this doon, the Tu- " tour, or oon of the eldeſt Men of theym, ſhal " ſey openly in Engliſh, God have Mercy on our " Founders Souls, and al Chryſten; and they that " ſtond about ſhal aunſwer and ſey, Amen.

" That they be bound to dwell and abide con- " tinewally in the ſeid Almes-houſe, and Bounds " thereof; and that every Day, both at Meet " and Soupier, they eet and be fed within the " ſaid Almes-houſe; and while they be at Meet " or Soupier, they abſteyn thanne from veyn and " ydel Words; and if they wol any Thyng talk, " that it be honeſt and profitable.

" That the Overclothing of the Tutour and " pouer Folk be derk and brown of Colour, and " not ſtaring ne blaiſing, and of eaſy priſed, ac- " cording to their Degre."

Theſe Executors of the Will of Richard Whit- Five Chap- tington conſtituted five Chaplains in his Col- lains. lege founded in this Church; which were con- firmed by the King in the third of Henry VI.

This Richard Whittington was (in this Church) Richard three Times buried; firſt by his Executors, under Whitting- a fair Monument; then, in the Reign of Edward ton thrice VI. the Parſon of that Church, thinking ſome buried. great Riches (as he ſaid) to be buried with him, cauſed his Monument to be broken, his Body to be ſpoiled of his Leaden Sheet, and again the ſecond Time to be buried; and in the Reign of Queen Mary, the Pariſhioners were forced to take him up to lap him in Lead, as afore, to bury him a third Time, and to place his Monument, or the like, over him again; which remained, and ſo he reſted, till the great Fire of London violated his Reſting-place again.

This Church of St. Michael Pater-noſter in the Wittington Vintry, the Capital Houſe, and Scite thereof, tains this called Whittington College, alias Whittington, and College. one Garden belonging to the ſame, of the yearly Value of four Pounds ſix Shillings and eight Pence, was ſold to Armagill Waad, Clerk of the Council, in the ſecond of Edward VI. for ninety-two Pounds two Shillings.

Either in this College, or in the Pariſh, the Earl of Rutland had a Place in Edward VI's Time; whither I find reſorted to Dinner the Mourners at his Uncle Sir Richard Mannor's Funeral, after he had been buried at Cree Church.

(2.) The Tower Royal, formerly ſituate at the Tower upper End of the Street now ſo called, was a Royal. great Place, pertaining to the Kings of this Realm; but by whom the ſame was built, or of what Antiquity continued, I have not read more, than in the Reign of King Edward I. the ſecond, fourth, and ſeventh Years, it was the Tenement of Simon Beawmes; alſo that, in the thirty-ſixth of Edward III. the ſame was called the Royal, Froſard. in the Pariſh of Michael de Pater-noſter; and that, in the forty-third of his Reign, he gave it by the Name of his Inne called the Royal, in his City of London, in Value twenty Pounds by the Year, unto his College of St. Stephen at Weſtminſter. Notwithſtanding, in the Reign of Richard II. it was called the Queen's Wardrobe, as appeareth by The Queen's Wardrobe this that followeth:

" King

The Lady Princeſs lodged in the Tower Royal.

" King Richard having in Smithfield overcome " and diſperſed the Rebels, he, his Lords, and " all his Company, entered the City of London " with great Joy, and went to the Lady Princeſs " his Mother, who was then lodged in the Tower " Royal, called the Queen's Wardrobe, where ſhe " had remained three Days and two Nights, right " ſore abaſhed. But when ſhe ſaw the King her " Son, ſhe was greatly rejoiced, and ſaid, Ah, " Son, what great Sorrow have I ſuffered for " you this Day! The King anſwered and ſaid, " Certainly, Madam, I know it well, but " now rejoice and thank God, for I have " this Day recovered mine Heritage, and " the Realm of England, which I had near " Hand loſt."

This Tower Royal a Place of Defence.

This Tower ſeemeth to have been (at that Time) of good Defence; for when the Rebels had beſet the Tower of London, and got Poſſeſſion thereof, taking from thence whom they liſted, the Princeſs being forced to fly, came to this Tower Royal, where ſhe was lodged, and remained ſafe, as ye have heard; and it may be alſo ſuppoſed, that the King himſelf was at that Time lodged there. I read, that, in the Year 1386, Lyon King of Armony, being chaſed out of his Realm by the Tartarians, received innumerable Gifts of the King and of his Nobles, the King then lying in the Royal; where he alſo granted to the ſaid King of Armony a Charter of a thouſand Pounds by Year during his Life. This for Proof may ſuffice, that Kings of England have been lodged in this Tower; though the ſame (of later Time) hath been neglected, and turned into Stabling for the King's Horſes, and now lett out to divers Men, and divided into Tenements.

King Richard lodged in the Tower Royal.

Afterwards the King's Horſes here ſtabled.

The Duke of Norfolk lodged here.

This great Houſe, belonging antiently to the Kings of England, was inhabited by the firſt Duke of Norfolk of the Family of the Howards, granted unto him by King Richard III. for ſo I find in an old Ledger-Book of that King's; where it is ſaid, " That the King granted unto John Duke of Nor- " folk, Meſſuagium cum Pertinenciis, voc. le Tower, " infra Paroch. Sancti Thomæ Lond." Where we may obſerve how this Meſſuage is ſaid to ſtand in St. Thomas Apoſtle, though Stow placeth it in St. Michael's.

Ringed-hall.

(3.) In St. Thomas Apoſtles there was a Meſſe, perhaps ſome Time the Dwelling of the Earls of Cornwall, called Ringed-hall; for in the Reign of Edward III. a Place ſo called, with four Shops and two Gardens, in this Pariſh, was granted by Edmund Earl of Cornwall to the Abbot of Beaulieu near Oxford; and re-granted, and a Plea thereupon in the Huſtings, in the ſecond of Richard II.

Ipres-Inn.

William of Ipres.

(4.) Then Weſt from the ſaid Church, on the ſame Side, was one great Meſſuage, ſome Time called Ipres-Inn, of William of Ipres, a Fleming, the firſt Builder thereof. This William was called out of Flanders, with a Number of Flemings, to the Aid of King Stephen, againſt Maud the Empreſs, in the Year 1138, and grew ſo far in Favour with the ſaid King for his Service, that he built this Houſe near the Tower Royal, in which Tower it ſeemeth the King was then lodged, as in the Heart of the City, for his greater Safety.

King Stephen lodged in the Tower Royal.

Robert Earl of Glouceſter, Brother to the Empreſs, being taken, was committed to the Cuſtody of this William, to be kept in the Caſtle of Rocheſter; till King Stephen was alſo taken, and then one was delivered in Exchange for the other, and both ſet free.

(5.) Over-againſt Ipres-Inn in Knightriders-ſtreet, at the Corner towards St. James at Garlickhithe, was a great Houſe built of Stone, and called Ormond-place, which belonged to the Earls of Ormond. King Edward IV. in the fifth of his Reign, gave to Elizabeth his Wife the Manor of Greenwich, with the Town and Park, in the County of Kent; he alſo gave this Tenement called Ormond-place, with all the Appurtenances to the ſame, ſituate in the Pariſh of St. Trinity in Knightriders-ſtreet, in London.

Ormond-place.

(6.) In the Pariſh of St. James Garlickhithe was antiently a Guild or Fraternity founded, to the Honour of their Church's Saint; an Account whereof, by Order from the King, was brought in to the Archbiſhop of York, Lord Chancellor, by Roger Stokes and Henry Garnevil, Wardens of the ſaid Guild; which was as follows:

A Guild.

The Commons of this Pariſh.

(7.) In this ſame Pariſh of St. James Garlickhite was a Meſſuage called the Commons, in the Tenure of divers Prieſts, and heretofore given by Thomas Kent for the maintaining of an Anniverſary in the ſame Church. This, with divers other Lands, of the yearly Value of one hundred and ſixty-eight Pounds two Shillings and two Pence, was made over and granted by King Edward VI. in the fourth of his Reign, to William Place and Nicolas Spakeman, for two thouſand five hundred and fifty-one Pounds three Shillings.

CHAP. XXIX.

Of WALBROOK WARD,

With a PLAN, neatly engraved from a NEW Survey.

The Name. Bounds. Extent. Modern State. Government. Alderman and Common-Councilmen. Pariſhes and Churches.

Name. THIS Ward takes its Name from a Street which runs up from Canon-ſtreet, near London-Stone, to the South-Weſt Corner of the City Manſion-houſe, built upon the Site of Stocks-market, which Street was ſo called from a Brook which ran down on the Weſt Side thereof.

Bounds. It is bounded on the Eaſt by Langbourn Ward, on the South by Dowgate Ward, on the Weſt by Cordwainers Ward, and on the North by Cheap Ward; whoſe Extent and modern State is thus deſcribed:

Extent.

Modern State. The Streets and Lanes in this Ward are, Walbrook, as far as Bucklerſbury, on both Sides.

Bucklerſbury, the Eaſt End on both Sides, about eighty Feet.

Budge-row, the Eaſt End on both Sides for about ſeventy Feet.

Dowgate, the North End on the Weſt Side as far as Cloak-lane, and on the Eaſt Side as far as againſt Tallowchandlers-Hall.

Canon-ſtreet, on both Sides as far as Green Lettice-lane on the South Side, and to Abchurch-lane on the North Side.

St. Swithin's-lane, on both Sides the Way almoſt as far as Bearbinder-lane.

Bearbinder-lane, the whole, except about thirty-five Feet at the Eaſt End.

Lombard-ſtreet, about an hundred and ſeventy-five Feet on both Sides of the Weſt End next the Manſion-houſe, which this Ward alſo takes in.

Sherborn-lane, the South End on both Sides for about an hundred and twenty Feet.

Buſh-lane, from Canon-ſtreet Southwards on both Sides as far as Croſs-lane, which hath the North Side in this Ward.

Suffolk-ſtreet, the Weſt Side at the North End for about eighty-five Feet downwards.

Green Lettice-lane, only the Weſt Side.

Abchurch-lane, the Weſt Side as far as the Church.

Walbrook. This Street of Walbrook is well built, and inhabited by Merchants and Tradeſmen, eſpecially Furriers, for which it is of Note. On the Eaſt Side is Bond-court, which is large and open, the Turning at the upper End having good Houſes, and a Free-ſtone Pavement, and the Entrance into this Court being broad for Coach or Cart. On the Weſt Side is the Bell-inn, which is but indifferent. Walbrook

St. Stephen's Walbrook Church, ſeated on the Eaſt Side, and on the South Side of the Manſion-houſe. St. Stephen's Walbrook Church.

This Church was deſtroyed in the Fire of London; and ſince its rebuilding, which is very ornamental, having a Cupola in or about the Middle of it, to it the Pariſh of St. Bennet Sherehogg, not rebuilt, is united.

Up farther North once ſtood the Stocks-market, out of which is an Entrance into Lombard-ſtreet. But there is but little of the Street in this Ward, except towards this End, formerly very narrow, but lately widened, by leſſening the Houſe at the South-Weſt Corner: The reſt being in Langbourn Ward is there treated of.

Bearbinder-lane, a Place of no great Account, as to Trade; it comes out of the Stocks-market, and falls into St. Swithen's-lane, which is well inhabited by Merchants and others. This Lane comes out of Lombard-ſtreet by St. Mary Wolnoth Church, and paſſing by Dove-court and Bearbinder-lane, (both which have ſome ſmall Part in this Ward, but the greateſt in Langbourn Ward, have been there mentioned) falls into Canon-ſtreet by St. Swithen's Church. In this Lane are theſe Places: Brites-alley, formerly called Horſhoe-alley, is both narrow and ſmall, having but one Houſe, with a Paſſage into Sherborn-lane. Bearbinder-lane. St. Swithens Lane.

New-court, a very handſome, large Place, with an open Paſſage into it for Coach or Cart. Here are very good Buildings, with Inhabitants anſwerable.

Salters-hall, a very good Building, ſeated in a good Court, with a Free-ſtone Pavement, and good built Houſes. Out of this Court is a Paſſage into the back Side of St. Swithen's Church, which falls into Canon-ſtreet. In this Paſſage is Whiſtlers-court, which is pretty large, well built and inhabited, having a Free-ſtone Pavement. Salters-hall.

More towards Canon-ſtreet is Oxford-court, which is pretty large and open, eſpecially the upper End, where are good Houſes: And in this Place antiently ſtood the Houſe of the Prior of Tortington in Suſſex, which afterwards fell to the Earls of Oxford, and in Proceſs of Time, from one one to another, at Length it was converted into Buildings, as now it is, and yet retains the Name of Oxford-court.

Sherborn-lane. Sherborn-lane begins at the Corner of Swithen's-lane, by the Sign of the Cock againſt the back Gate of the Poſt-Office, and, with a turning Paſſage by St. Mary Abchurch, falls into Canon-ſtreet.

Canon-ſtreet. Canon-ſtreet begins in the Weſt by the Corner of Dowgate-hill on the South, and Walbrook on the North, and runs Eaſtward into Great Eaſtcheap, a Street well built, and inhabited by good Tradeſmen, and is a great Thoroughfare; but the Part in this Ward goeth but to Green Lettice-lane, which hath the Weſt Side in this Ward, the Eaſt being in Candlewick Ward, where it is ſpoken of.

St. Swithen's Church. In this Street is St. Swithen's Church, ſeated on the Weſt Side and at the South-Eaſt Corner of St. Swithen's-lane.

London Stone. Over-againſt St. Swithen's Church is the famous old Stone called London Stone.

Turnwheel-lane. On the South Side of this Street, and almoſt againſt St. Swithen's Church, is Turnwheel-lane, which runs up to Dowgate-hill, being a Place well inhabited.

St. Mary Bothaw. The Pariſh-Church of St. Mary Bothaw ſtood in theſe Parts, burnt in the great Fire, not rebuilt, but the Pariſh is united to St. Swithen's.

Tucklerſbury. Bucklerſbury falls into Walbrook almoſt againſt St. Stephen's Walbrook Church. It is a Place well built and inhabited, particularly by Druggiſts and Furriers. But in this Ward there is no great Part, the moſt being in Cordwainers Ward.

St. John Baptiſt. Near this Street, more Southward, ſtood the Church of St. John Baptiſt, which being deſtroyed by the Fire, is now encloſed for a Church-yard, and the Pariſh united to St. Antholin's.

Budge-row, Cloak-lane, Buſh-lane, Suffolk-lane, &c. In this Ward theſe following Lanes have ſome ſmall Part, the greateſt Parts lying in other Wards, namely, Budge-row and Cloak-lane in Vintry Ward, Buſh-lane and Suffolk-lane in Dowgate Ward, and Green Lettice-lane in Langbourn Ward.

Watch. There are to watch at the ſeveral Places or Stands in this Ward every Night, one Conſtable, a Beadle, and twenty Watchmen.

Jury. The Jurymen returned by the Wardmote-Inqueſt for this Ward are to ſerve in the ſeveral Courts holden at Guildhall in the Month of October.

Government. Its Government is under an Alderman, who at preſent is Slingſby Bethell, Eſq; and eight Common-Councilmen; who are, Mr. James Ennis, Deputy, Mr. Joſeph Blandford, Mr. William Whipham, Mr. Baſil Browne, Mr. William Walter, Mr. Jonathan Weeble, Mr. Nathan Thomas, and Mr. Robert Norris.

Alderman and Common-Councilmen.

Remarkable Things. The moſt remarkable Things in this Ward are, three Pariſhes, and but two Churches.

Pariſhes and Churches. Firſt, (1.) The Pariſh-Church of St. Swithen, (2.) of St. Stephen Walbrook, and (3.) the Pariſh of St. Mary Bothaw: Of which in our Parochial Hiſtory.

Manſion-houſe. Secondly, The Manſion-houſe, for the Reſidence of the Lord-Mayors of this City for the Time being. It is built on the Ground which was formerly the Stocks-market. This Edifice is all of Portland Stone, very capacious within, and well provided for the Entertainment of the chief Magiſtrate and his Officers; but too much confined by the Contiguity of the neighbouring Buildings, by which the Grandeur of ſo magnificent a Structure is intercepted from the curious Spectator. See the Elevation of this Manſion annexed.

London Stone. Thirdly, On the South Side of Canon-ſtreet, cloſe under the South Wall of St. Swithen's Church, ſtands upright a great Stone called London Stone. It, till of late Years, was pitched near the Channel, facing the ſame Place, and fixed in the Ground very deep, faſtened with Bars of Iron, and otherwiſe ſo ſtrongly ſet, that if Carts did run againſt it through Negligence, the Wheels were broken, and the Stone itſelf unſhaken.

The Cauſe why this Stone was ſet up, the very Time when, or other Memory hereof, is uncertain; but that the ſame hath been long continued there is manifeſt; for, in the End of a fair written Goſpel Book, given to Chriſt-Church in Canterbury by Ethelſtane, King of the Weſt Saxons, I find noted of Lands or Rents in London belonging to the ſaid Church, whereof one Parcel is deſcribed to lie near unto London Stone. Of later Time we read, that, in the Year of Chriſt 1135, the firſt of King Stephen, a Fire, which began in the Houſe of one Ailward, near unto London Stone, conſumed all Eaſt to Aldgate: In which Fire the Priory of the Holy Trinity was burnt; and Weſt to St. Erkenwald's Shrine in St. Paul's Church.

Lib. Trin. Antiquity of London Stone.

Some have ſaid this Stone to have been ſet as a Mark in the Middle of the City within the Wall; but it ſtandeth nearer to the River of Thames than to the Wall of the City.

Read Mr. John Speed, what he ſaith thereof, and of the like Stones.

Others have ſaid the ſame to be ſet for the tendering and making of Payment by Debtors to their Creditors, at their appointed Days and Times, till of later Time Payments were more uſually made at the Font in St. Paul's Church, and at the Royal-Exchange. Some again have imagined the ſame to be ſet up by one John or Thomas Londonſtone, dwelling there againſt it. But more likely it is that ſuch Men have taken Name of the Stone, than the Stone of them.

Some of our Forefathers had a Conceit, that London Stone was ſet up in Signification of the City's Devotion towards Chriſt, and his Care and Protection of the City, under the Notion of a Stone, on which it was founded, and by his Favour ſo long preſerved; for that Way thoſe Rhimes of Fabian in the Praiſe of London ſeem to look:

We. Mon. p. 352.

" It is ſo ſure a Stone that that is upon ſette,
" For though ſome have it threttе
" With Manaſes grym and grette,
" Yet Hurte had it none:
" Cryſt is the very Stone
" That the Citie is ſet uppon,
" Which from al hys Foone
" Hath ever preſerved yt."

London Stone for meaſuring Miles.

And ſince others have caſt in their Conjectures in a Matter ſo obſcure, by Reaſon of the Antiquity of it, let me add one or two of mine own. The Romans reckoned their Miles from all great Towns and Places by Stones pitched, and ſo they did did in Britain; and perhaps this might be the Stone for London, from which preciſe Place to meaſure their Miles from this City towards the other Parts of the Land. And this Street in former Times being the chief Street of London, as Cheapſide now is, this London Stone ſeems to have been the Place (and likely enough upon this Stone) whence Proclamations and publick Notices of Things were given to the Citizens. There is a Paſſage in our Chronicles that favours this Conceit. In Henry VI's Time, Anno 1450, when Jack Cade, the Kentiſh Rebel, who feigned himſelf the Lord Mortimer, came through Southwark into London, he marched to this Stone, where was a great Confluence of People, and the Lord-Mayor among the reſt: Here he ſtruck his Sword upon it, and ſaid, Now is Mortimer Lord of this City: And there making a formal, but lying Declaration to the Mayor, departed back again to Southwark.

And for publick Declarations.

London Stone ſet up perhaps for religious worſhip

Mr. Owen of Shrewſbury.

Perhaps this Stone may be of greater Antiquity than the Times of the Romans, and was an Object or Monument of Heathen Worſhip; if any be moved ſo to think, from what an exquiſite Britiſh Antiquitarian aſſerts, that the Britains erected Stones for religious Worſhip, and that the Druids had Pillars of Stone in Veneration: Which Cuſtom, he ſaith, they borrowed from the Greeks, who, as Pauſanias writeth, adored rude and unpoliſhed Stones.

Down Weſt from London Stone is Walbrook Corner, where was a Conduit, new built in the Year 1568, at the City's Charge, but not rebuilt after the Fire of London. From whence runneth up North to Stocks-market a Street called Walbrook, becauſe it ſtood on the Eaſt Side of a Brook by the Bank thereof; and the whole Ward taketh its Name from this Street.

This City, of old Time, from North to South, was not divided by a large Highway or Street, as from Eaſt to Weſt, but by a Brook of Water which came from out the North Fields through the Wall and Midſt of the City into the River Thames. This Water was called Walbrook (not Gallus Brook, from a Roman Captain ſlain by Aſclepiadotus, and thrown therein, as ſome have fabled, but) from running through and from the Wall of the City.

The Courſe whereof, to proſecute it particularly, was and is from the ſaid Wall to St. Margaret's Church in Lothbury; from thence, beneath the lower Part of the Grocers-hall, about the Eaſt Part of their Kitchen, under St. Mildred's Church, ſomewhat Weſt from the ſaid Stocks-market; from thence through Bucklerſbury, by one great Houſe built of Stone and Timber, called the Old Barge, becauſe Barges out of the River Thames were rowed up ſo far into this Brook, on the back Side of the Houſes in Walbrook-ſtreet, (which Street taketh Name of the ſaid Book) by the Weſt End of St. John's Church upon Walbrook, under Horſeſhoe-bridge, by the Weſt Side of Tallow-chandlers-hall and of the Skinners-hall, and ſo behind the other Houſes to Elbow-lane, and by a Part thereof down Greenwich-lane into the River Thames.

This is the Courſe of Walbrook, which was, of old Time, bridged over in divers Places, for Paſſage of Horſes and Men, as Need required: But ſince, by Means of Encroachment on the Banks thereof, the Channel being greatly ſtreightned, and other Annoyances done thereunto, at Length the ſame, by common Conſent, was arched over with Brick, and paved with Stone, equal with the Ground where-through it paſſed, and is now in moſt Places built upon, that no Man may by the Eye diſcern it; and therefore the Trace thereof is hardly known to the common People.

Antiquities.

Fourthly, The Antiquities in this Ward may be reduced to theſe few Particulars:

Stocks-market.

(1.) Stocks-market, which ſtood at the North-Eaſt Corner of Walbrook, and of which we have the following Account:

About the Year of Chriſt 1282, Henry Walleis, Mayor, cauſed divers Houſes in this City to be built towards the Maintenance of London-bridge; namely, one void Place near unto the Pariſh-Church called Woolchurch, on the North Side thereof, where ſome Time (the Way being very large and broad) had ſtood a Pair of Stocks for Puniſhment of Offenders. This Building took Name of thoſe Stocks, and was appointed by him to be a Market-place for Fiſh and Fleſh in the Midſt of the City. Other Houſes he built in other Places, as by Patent of Edward I. doth appear, dated the tenth of his Reign.

Lib. Horn. Shops in Stocks-market.

This Stocks-market was ſome Time belonging to the Keepers of the Bridge of London, and they lett the Shops for Term of their Lives to the Butchers and Fiſhmongers at certain Rents, which were appropriated for the Uſe of the ſaid Bridge. But afterwards it was concluded, that no Keeper of the ſaid Bridge ſhould lett the ſaid Shops for Life, without the Concurrence of the Mayor and Commonalty, as appears by this Record:

John de Giſors being Mayor about the Year 1312 or 1313, there was a Congregation of honeſt Men of the Commonalty met, to treat concerning the State of the Butchers and Fiſhmongers holding Places at the Stocks; and it was agreed by the whole Commonalty, "That all they who "took their Places by the Demiſe of John le "Bevere, and of other ſix honeſt Men, to whom "Henry le Galeys, heretofore Mayor, and the "whole Commonalty, granted and demiſed the "ſame Places, viz. that whole Houſe which is "called the Stocks, for the Term of the Life of "the ſaid John Bevere and his Companions, for a "certain Sum of Money, which they rendered "yearly to London-bridge, that they may enjoy "the ſame: And the ſame John, and the others, "may demiſe thoſe Places to the Butchers and "Fiſhmongers, according to what was indented "in a certain Writing between the ſaid Henry, "the Mayor, and the Commonalty, on the one "Part, and the ſaid John, &c. on the other, "and enrolled in the Huſtings." And it was likewiſe agreed, "That other Butchers who have "ſince taken Places by the Demiſe of other "Keepers of the Bridge, and have paid certain "Sums to have for the Term of their Lives, "and can ſhew it, may have and hold them: "And that, for the future, thoſe Places which "are not held in the aforeſaid Market, to be "taken into the Hands of the Commonalty, and "be demiſed by the Keepers of the Bridge, who "are

" are now Tenants yearly, [the Bridge-keepers " being from that Time yearly choſen.] And " it is agreed, That no ſuch Keepers for the " Time to come have Power of letting any " Places for Term of Life, without the Aſſent " and Will of the Mayor, Aldermen, and Com- " monalty."

After this, in the Year 1322, the ſeventeenth of Edward II. a Decree was made by Hamond Chickwell, Mayor, that none ſhould ſell Fiſh or Fleſh out of the Markets appointed, to wit, Bridge-ſtreet, Eaſtcheap, Old Fiſh-ſtreet, St. Nicolas Shambles, and the ſaid Stocks, on Pain to forfeit ſuch Fiſh or Fleſh as were ſold for the firſt Time, and the ſecond Time to loſe their Freedom. Which Act was made by Commandment of the King, under his Letters Patents, dated at the Tower the ſeventeenth of his Reign; and then was this Stocks lett to Farm for forty-ſix Pounds thirteen Shillings and four Pence by Year. This Stocks-market was again begun to be built in the Year 1410, in the eleventh of Henry IV. and was clean finiſhed in the Year next following. In the Year 1507 the ſame was rented at fifty-ſix Pounds nineteen Shillings and ten Pence. And in the Year 1543, John Cotes * being Mayor, there was in this Stocks-market for Fiſhmongers twenty-five Boards or Stalls, which rented yearly to thirty-four Pounds thirteen Shillings and four Pence; there were for Butchers eighteen Boards or Stalls, rented at forty Pounds ſixteen Shillings and four Pence; and there were alſo ſixteen Chambers above, rented at five Pounds thirteen Shillings and four Pence; in all, eighty-two Pounds three Shillings.

Conduit by the Stocks.

(2.) By the Stocks was a Stone Conduit ſet up by the Inhabitants, where before was only a Pipe of Lead, as appears by an Act of Common Council, viz.

At a Common Council held on Tueſday, the twenty-ſeventh of November, in the firſt Year of Henry VIII. this Petition was preferred and granted:

To the Right Honourable the Lord-Mayor, and his Brethren the Aldermen, and to the diſcreet Perſons of the Common Council of the City of London.

" Beſeeching your good Lordſhip and Maſter- " ſhips, the Inhabitants dwelling about the " Stockes, that by the Space of five or ſixe Yeeres " paſt, a Vent of Water hath runne by a Pipe of " Lead beſide the Stockes; which Pipe of Lead, " by Reaſon that it is not cloſed, is daily hurt " with Horſes and Carts: It may therefore pleaſe " your good Lordſhip and Maſterſhips, and all " our Maſters of the Common Councell, to " grant and give Licence unto the ſaid Inhabi- " tants, upon their own proper Coſts and " Charges, to make, or cauſe to be made, a " little Poſterne of Stone, with a Ceſterne of " Lead therein; ſo that the ſaid Water ſhall bee " therein preſerved and conveyed, and ſo to bee " drawne out by Cocks, to the common Weale " of all the ſaid Inhabitants thereabout dwelling. " Thus, at the Reverence of God, and in the " Way of Charity."

This Market took up all that Ground which was the antient Fleſh and Fiſh-markets, and alſo the Ground on which Woolchurch ſtood, and contained from North to South in Length, through the Midſt, about two hundred and thirty Feet, and in Breadth from Eaſt to Weſt, in the Midſt, about an hundred and eight Feet, beſides the waſte Ground on the Eaſt and Weſt Sides, which ſerved as a Street for Paſſage of People. On the Eaſt Side were planted Rows of Trees, very pleaſant to the Inhabitants, this Side being much better than the Weſt. About the Middle of this Row was an Entrance into a Court, in which was a good large Houſe, within the Bounds of this Market-place; and more towards the North Side were twenty-two ſtanding Stalls, covered over, for Shelter of Fruit there ſold, as well on Market-Days as at other Times. The reſt of the Market-place was taken up by Gardeners and others, for the Sale of Fruits, Roots, Herbs, and Flowers: But at the South-Weſt Corner there were two Ranges of Stalls for a few Butchers, under a Shelter, with Racks, Blocks, Scales, &c.

The Statue of King Charles II.

At the North End of this Market-place, by a Water-Conduit-Pipe, was erected the Statue of King Charles II. which was done at the ſole Charge of Sir Robert Viner, Alderman, Knight and Baronet. Of this clumſey Piece of Sculpture we beg Leave to give the following Account, from an ingenious Author: " It is impoſſible to quit this Place, ſaith he, " without taking Notice of the Equeſtrian Sta- " tue raiſed here in Honour of Charles II. A " Thing in itſelf ſo exceedingly ridiculous and " abſurd, that 'tis not in one's Power to look " upon it without reflecting on the Taſtes of " thoſe who ſet it up: But, when we enquire " into the Hiſtory of it, the Farce improves " upon our Hands, and, what was before con- " temptible, grows entertaining. This Statue " was originally made for John Sobieſki, King " of Poland, but, by ſome Accident, was left " upon the Workman's Hands. About the " ſame Time the City was loyal enough to " pay their Devoirs to King Charles, imme- " diately upon his Reſtoration; and, finding " this Statue ready made to their Hands, re- " ſolved to do it the cheapeſt Way, and con- " vert the Polander into a Briton, and the Turk " underneath his Horſe into Oliver Cromwell, " to make their Compliment compleat; and " the Turbant upon the laſt-mentioned Fi- " gure is an undeniable Proof of the Truth of " the Story."

BOOK III.

An Account of the antient and preſent State of the ſeveral PARISHES within the City and Liberties of LONDON, alphabetically digeſted.

THE next Diviſion of the City of London, that we ſhall conſider, is into its ſeveral Pariſhes; of which we propoſe to treat in an alphabetical Order.

St. ALBAN's.

This Church is a Rectory, ſituate on the North Side of Love-lane, and Eaſt Side of Wood-ſtreet, in the Ward of Cripplegate-within, and dedicated to St. Alban, the Britiſh Proto-martyr. In Eccleſiaſtical Affairs, 'tis ſubject to the Archdeacon of London, in Subordination to the Biſhop; ſave what appertains to the proving of Wills, and granting of Adminiſtrations of Inteſtates Effects, and their Appendages, which belong to the Commiſſary.

Ibid. The Patronage of this Church antiently belonged to the Maſter, Brethren and Siſters of the Hoſpital of St. James at Weſtminſter, with whom it continued till the Founding of Eaton College by Henry VI. who granted the ſame to his new College, with whom it ſtill remains.

This Church being burnt down Anno 1666, 'tis ſince rebuilt, with a handſome Tower, and beautiful Pinnacles; and to which is united, by Act of Parliament, the Pariſh of St. Olave, Silver-ſtreet; whereby the Profits ariſing yearly to the Rector are conſiderably increaſed; which, together with the Receipts and Diſburſements on Account of the Church and Poor, are as follow:

Mat. Par. in vit. Abb. St. Alban. We are told by an eminent Hiſtorian, that in the Time of Paul, the Abbot of St. Alban's, Anno 1077, this Church, with many others in London, belonged to the Abbey of that Place; the Patronage whereof he changed with the Abbot of Weſtminſter for that of another.

Ibid. The ſame Author likewiſe acquaints us, that this Church originally was the Chapel of King Offa, which adjoined to his Palace; but thro' the ſupine Negligence of the ſucceeding Abbots, the ſame was daily incroached upon by the neighbouring Citizens, till it was reduced to a very ſmall Compaſs, in reſpect to its former Dimenſions: But that the Church changed by the Abbot, was Offa's Chapel, (who is not mentioned to have erected any Building in London) appears to me very improbable; for in the third Year of Ethelwulf, Chron. Saxon. Anno 839, the Danes took and burnt this City, which for many Years after lay waſte, in a very piteous Condition; and 'tis manifeſt, that, in all their dreadful Ravages and Depredations, they generally begun with the Churches. Hence 'tis more reaſonable to preſume, that this Church was built by King Alfred, after he had bravely diſpoſſeſſed the Danes of this Part of the Country, and retaken the City of London; he being greatly Flor. Wigorn. Chron. applauded for having honourably reſtored the ſame in the Year 886, by repairing its Walls, and adorning it with beautiful Buildings.

Mund Ed. Stow. Sur. A certain Author imagines, that the great ſquare Tower remaining at the North Corner of Love-lane in the Year 1632, was Part of King Athelſtan's Palace; and by this Church's being built with the ſame Sort of Materials, viz. Roman Bricks and Stones, he conjectures, that they both owe their Origin to the ſaid Prince; and to corroborate this Opinion, ſuppoſes that Adel (in Saxon, noble) or Addle-ſtreet, in this Neighbourhood, received that Appellation from its Vicinity to the Palace. Be thoſe imaginary Origins as they will, this Church is certainly of a very antient Foundation; and perhaps, as already hinted, the firſt Place of Worſhip built in this City after the Deſtruction aforeſaid.

ALHALLOWS BARKING.

This is a Vicarage, ſituate on the North and Eaſt Sides of Tower-ſtreet and Seething-lane, in the Ward of Tower-ſtreet; and is ſo denominated from its Dedication to All Saints, and its having antiently belonged to the Abbeſs and Convent of Barking in Eſſex. Newc. Repert. Eccleſ. Paroch. Ibid.

The Patronage of this Church was in the ſaid Abbeſs and Nuns of Barking, till Ann. 1546, when Henry VIII. exchanged the ſame with Thomas, Archbiſhop of Canterbury, in whoſe Succeſſors it ſtill continues. However, 'tis ſubject to the Archdeacon of London in Matters Eccleſiaſtical; except as to Wills and Adminiſtrations, which belong to the Commiſſary.

This Church, having eſcaped the great Fire Anno 1666, remains upon the antient Foundation in reſpect to the Vicar, whoſe Stipend, by the Viſitations of the Years 1636 and 1693, appears to have been as follows:

Tho' the Time when this Church was at firſt erected be unknown, yet it appears to be of conſiderable Antiquity, by Richard I. having erected a Chapel on the North Side thereof, towards the Cloſe of the twelfth Century. Stow. Sur. Lond.

The Rectory of this Church, coming to the Abbeſs and Convent of Barking, the ſame was converted into a Vicarage about Ann. 1389. Newc. Rep. Eccleſ. Paroch.

In the Year 1639, divers Innovations were made in this Church, by removing the Communion Table from its antient Place, and putting thereover the Portraiture of the Holy Ghoſt; the Rails of the Altar were inriched with a Variety of Images, and a Croſs placed over the Font. Ibid.

Theſe Alterations were ſo highly diſpleaſing to the Pariſhioners, that they petitioned the Biſhop for Redreſs, who referring the ſame to his Chancellor, the Affair was amicably accommodated, by removing the Objects of Offence.

This Church, Anno 1649, as already obſerved, was greatly damaged by the blowing up of Gunpowder; but it was ſoon after repaired, with the Addition of a new Brick Steeple, at the Charge of the Pariſh: And it happily eſcaping the great Conflagration Anno 1666, it remains upon the antient Foot in reſpect to the Vicar.

ALHALLOWS, Bread-ſtreet.

This Church, which is a Rectory, and one of the thirteen Peculiars in this City belonging to the Archbiſhop of Canterbury, owes its Name to its Dedication and Situation.

The Advowſon of this Church was in the Prior and Canons of Chriſt's-Church in Canterbury 'till the Year 1365, when, in Return for the many Favours conferred upon them by their Archbiſhop, they, on the twenty-fourth of April, by a proper Inſtrument under their Common Seal, did convey and aſſign the Right of Preſentation to Simon Archbiſhop of Canterbury, and his Succeſſors, in whom it ſtill continues. Newc. Rep. Eccleſ. Paroch.

This Church, being deſtroyed in the Fire Anno 1666, was rebuilt at the Charge of the Publick in a beautiful Manner, and ſerves not only for the Accommodation of the Inhabitants of its own Pariſh, but likewiſe of thoſe of St. John the Evangeliſt's, who are thereunto annexed by Act of Parliament; whereby the united Profits ariſing to the Rector, with the Diſburſements on Account of the Cure, together with the Receipts and Diſburſements on Account of the Church and Poor, are as follow:

The firſt Mention I find of this Church is, that Edward III. on the ſixth of May, Anno 1349, granted Licence to John de Hurley, Walter de Tiffeld, and Matthew le Barbour, to give to Nicholas Rothwell, Parſon of this Pariſh, and his Succeſſors, a Piece of Ground adjoining to the Chancel in Watling-ſtreet, of the Length of twenty-ſeven Feet, and Breadth of twelve.

Ibid. And on the twentieth of February after, the ſaid King granted Licence to William de Ifford to give to Thomas, the Incumbent, and to his Succeſſors, a certain Spot of Ground with the Appurtenances contiguous to the Church, containing in Length twenty, and in Breadth eleven, whereon to erect a Chapel.

Stow. Sur. Lond. On the fifth of September, Anno 1559, the beautiful Stone Spire of the Steeple of this Church was ſtruck with Thunder near the Top, which, by diſplacing a Stone, occaſioned ſuch a Breach therein, that it ſoon after cauſed the whole to be pulled down, ſince which Time no Spire has been rebuilt.

ALHALLOWS the Great.

This Church, which is a Rectory, and one of the thirteen Peculiars in London, belonging to the Archbiſhop of Canterbury, is ſeated on the South Side of Thames-ſtreet in the Ward of Dowgate, and was antiently denominated Alhallows the More, and Alhallows ad Fænum, in the Ropery, from its Vicinity to a Hay-Wharf or Market, and Situation among Rope-makers.

Newc. Rep. The Patronage of this Rectory, in the Year 1361, was in Edward le Deſpenſer, Lord of Glamorgan; from whom it went by Marriage to Richard Beauchamp, Earl of Warwick; from whom it deſcended to Richard Nevil, Earl of Warwick and Saliſbury, by Marriage with Anne, Daughter of the ſaid Beauchamp: But Nevil being killed in the Battle of Barnet, Anno 1471, this Rectory, with a Moiety of his Eſtate, came to his eldeſt Daughter Iſabella, Conſort to George Duke of Clarence, Brother to Edward the Fourth; after whoſe Suffering it fell to the King. But, in the Year 1488, it was by Parliament reſtored to Anne, Relict of the late Earl of Warwick, together with her paternal Eſtate; whereupon ſhe ſettled the ſame upon Henry VII. and his Deſcendants Male; in whom it continued till Henry VIII. exchanged the ſame with Thomas, Archbiſhop of Canterbury, in the Year 1546, in whoſe Succeſſors it ſtill continues.

This ſpacious and ſtately Church, with a large Cloiſter on the South Side thereof, were conſumed in the general Conflagration Anno 1666; ſince which it has been beautifully rebuilt for the Uſe of this Pariſh, and that of Alhallows the Leſs, which are united by Act of Parliament, whereby the annual Receipts and Diſburſements on Account of the Cure, together with thoſe of the Church and Poor, are as follow:

The firſt Mention I find of this Church is in the Year 1361.

Almoſt contiguous to this Church on the Weſt, where the Steel-yard is ſituate, ſtood the ſtately Hall and Warehouſes which belonged to the Anſeatick or German Merchants of this City, which in the Front in Thames-ſtreet had three magnificent Stone Gateways, whereon were the following Inſcriptions:

Weav. Fun. Mon. Hæc domus eſt læta, ſemper honitate repleta
Hic pax, hic requies, hic gaudia ſemper honeſta.
Aurum blanditiæ Pater eſt, natuſque doloris,
Qui caret hoc meret, qui tenet, hic metuit.
Qui bonis parere recuſat, quaſi vitato fumo in flammam incidit.

On the Eaſt Side of this noble Fabrick, contiguous to the River of Thames, was ſituate the Hay-Market, which ſupplied the City with Hay.

ALHALLOWS, Honey-lane.

This is a Rectory, the ſmall Church whereof ſtood where the Eaſt End of Honey-lane Market is at preſent ſituate, in the Ward of Cheap.

Newc. Repert. The Advowſon of this Chrch was antiently in private Hands, as appears by Simon de Crapping a Citizen of London's preſenting William de Coventre thereunto, Anno 1327. But in the Year 1471 it came to the Company of Grocers in this City, with whom it ſtill remains.

This Church being deſtroyed by the Fire in the Year 1666, the Site thereof was purchaſed by the City, and is now the Part of Honey-lane Market above-named. And the Pariſh thereof being by Act of Parliament united to that of St. Mary le Bow, I ſhall take Notice of the Rectorial Profits and Diſburſements when I come to treat of that Pariſh, and in the Interim ſhall ſubjoin an Account of the annual Charge of the Church and Poor.

Thomas de Karbole was Rector thereof before the Year 1327.

ALHALLOWS the Leſs.

This is a Curacy, the Church whereof ſtood on the South Side of Thames-ſtreet in Dowgate Ward, almoſt adjoining to that of Alhallows the Great on the Eaſt.

Newc. Repert. The Advowſon of this Church, which was antiently a Rectory, was in the Biſhop of Wincheſter; in whom it continued till a College was founded in the Church of St. Laurence Poulteney by Sir John Poulteney, about Ann. 1347, when it is ſuppoſed he purchaſed the Patronage of this Church, and appropriated the ſame to his ſaid College; which is very much corroborated by its ceaſing to be a Rectory after the Year 1334, when Nicholas Battenyleyn was collated to it by the Biſhop of Wincheſter.

This Church, at the general Suppreſſion of Religious Houſes by Henry VIII. coming to the Crown, Queen Elizabeth, in the Year 1577, granted the ſame to William Verle for the Term of Ibid. twenty-one Years; after the Expiration of which, King James I. in the Year 1604, regranted it to Richard Blake, &c. and their Heirs, in free Soccage for ever: And being a Donative impropriate pays neither Firſt-fruits, Tenths, nor Procurations, other than two Shillings and ſix Pence to the Archdeacon of London, to whoſe Juriſdiction it has always been ſubject.

This Church having ſuffered in the common Calamity, Anno 1666, the Site thereof was converted into a Cemetery, and the Pariſh, by the general Act of Parliament, united to that of Alhallows the Great; where an Account of the Vicatorial Profits and Diſburſements will be inſerted. I ſhall, in the mean time, proceed to give an Account of the Receipts and Diſburſements for the Church and Poor. Act Parl. 22 & 23 Car. II.

Newe. Repert. Eccleſ. Paroch. Thomas de Beſill was preſented to this Church on the fourth of October, Anno 1322, which effectually refutes Stow's Opinion of its being built by Sir John Poultney.

Ibid. This Church antiently went by divers Appellations: In ſome Records it is denominated, Omnium Sanctorum ſuper Cellarium, that is, the Church of All Saints over the Cellars; ſo called from its having Vaults underneath, as our modern Churches have: And in other Writings it had the Name of Omnium Sanctorum parva, or Alhallows the leſs, to diſtinguiſh it from its huge Neighbour, Alhallows the great.

Stow. Sur. Lond. The Choir and Steeple of this Church were erected over a ſtrong arched Gateway, which led to a ſpacious and ſtately Edifice denominated Cold Herberg, or Harbrough the latter, being a Corruption of the former, which ſignifies an Inn, or Manſion-houſe; the Epithet of Cold was probably added on Account of its bleak Situation, being ſo near the River Thames. However, the Site thereof and Buildings thereon are at preſent known by the Name of Coal-Harbour.

ALHALLOWS, Lombard-ſtreet.

This Church, which is a Rectory, and one of the thirteen Peculiars in London belonging to the Archbiſhop of Canterbury, is ſituate in Ball-alley, near the North-Eaſt Angle of Lombard-ſtreet, in the Ward of Langbourn.

Somn. Ant. Cant. Dugd. Mon. Ang vol. 1. The Advowſon of this Rectory appears to have been antiently in Lay Hands; for Brihtmer, a Citizen of London, with the Approbation of Stigand the Archbiſhop, and Godric the Dean, gave the ſame, with an adjoining Meſſuage, to the Church of Canterbury about the Year 1053, or 1054, as mentioned by different Antiquaries; and atteſted by Lieſſtan, Portreve, and other Citizens: By Virtue of which Donation the Right of Patronage ſtill remains in the Dean and Chapter of that metropolitan Church.

This Church was burnt down in 1666; but being ſoon after rebuilt in a handſome Manner, it was continued upon the antient Foot, without having any united to it, or other Alteration than that (to the Advantage of the Rector) of changing the uncertain Tithes to a certain Stipend; which, with other Profits ariſing to the Incumbent, and Diſburſements on Account of the Cure, together with thoſe for the Church and Poor, are as follows:

Somn. Ant. Cant. Dugd. Mon. Ang vol. 1.

This Church appears to be of great Antiquity, and of a Saxon Original, by Brihtmer's Gift thereof Anno 1053, as above-mentioned. The additional Epithet of Graſs, corruptly Grace, is from its having ſtood at the Corner of the Graſs-Market, which extended from Graſs-church, vulgarly Grace-church-ſtreet (which was likewiſe denominated from the Market and Church) to Birchin-lane.

The Patronage of this Church was antiently in the Prior and Convent of the Holy Trinity; with whom it continued till their Diſſolution by Henry VIII. when coming to the Crown, it therein ſtill remains. And in Matters eccleſiaſtical, it is ſubject to the Archdeacon of London.

This Church having fortunately eſcaped the great Fire in the Year 1666, remains upon the antient Eſtabliſhment, in reſpect to the Rectorial Revenues and Diſburſements; which, together with thoſe of the Church and Poor, are as follows:

Newc. Repert. Eccleſ. Paroch. This Church had an Incumbent in the Year 1335. The additional Epithet of London-Wall was conferred upon it, by its North Side being erected upon the City Wall.

That this Neighbourhood was one of the laſt inhabited Parts within London, I think, does in ſome meaſure appear by the Ground not being raiſed ſix Feet above the Virgin Earth, (as was lately diſcovered at the pulling down Part of London Wall to make way for New Broad-ſtreet) whereas in other Parts of the City it is raiſed from ten to above thirty Feet.

ALHALLOWS Staining.

This is a Curacy, the Church whereof is ſituate on the Weſt Side, and near the North End of Mark-lane, in the Ward of Langbourn.

Ibid. Though this is at preſent a Donative, or Curacy, yet it was antiently a Rectory, and as ſuch continued under the Patronage of the de Walthams and others, till Anno 1366; when, upon the Petition of the Abbot and Convent of Grace, Simon, Biſhop of London, appropriated the ſame to them and their Succeſſors, with a Power to convert the Profits thereof to their own Uſe, and to ſupply the Cure either with a Monk, or a Secular Prieſt, removeable at their Pleaſure. On which Occaſion the Biſhop reſerved to himſelf and Succeſſors (out of the Profits of the Church) a Penſion of ſix Shillings and eight Pence per Annum; and to the Dean and Chapter of St. Paul's, and their Succeſſors, three Shillings and four Pence. But this Curacy devolving to the Crown, King James I. granted it to George Bingley, and others, to be held of the Crown in Soccage; and the ſame ſince coming to the Lady Slany, ſhe bequeathed it to the Company of Grocers, who have had the Advowſon thereof ever ſince.

This Church eſcaping the Fire, Anno 1666, it remains upon the ſame Foot as formerly; and, being a Donative, pays neither Firſt-fruits nor Tenths to the King: But the Profits ariſing to the Curate not being aſcertained in any Preſentment, I can give no other Account thereof than as follows: To which are ſubjoined the Receipts and Diſburſements on Account of the Church and Poor:

St. ALPHAGE.

This is a Rectory, the Church whereof, which ſtands at the North-Weſt Corner of Aldermanbury, in the Ward of Cripplegate, owes its Name to its Dedication to St. Alphage, or Elphege, a noble Engliſh Saxon, and Archbiſhop of Canterbury, who was murdered by the Pagan Danes at Greenwich, Anno 1013.

The Advowſon of St. Alphage Church was antiently in the Dean and Canons of the Collegiate Church of St. Martin's le Grand; in whom it continued till Henry VII. annexed the ſaid Collegiate Church to the Convent of Weſtminſter; by Virtue whereof the Abbot and Canons, and, after them, the Biſhop of Weſtminſter, remained Patrons of the ſame, till Queen Mary, by her Letters Patent, Anno 1553, granted the Patronage thereof to Edmund Biſhop of London, and his Succeſſors, in whom it ſtill remains, and is ſubject to the Archdeacon.

This Church having eſcaped the devouring Flames in the Year 1666, remains upon the antient Foot in reſpect to the Rector, whoſe Profits and Diſburſements, together with thoſe of the Church and Poor, are as follows:

The firſt Church in London, which was dedicated to St. Alphage, ſtood adjoining to the City Wall near the Eaſt Side of Cripplegate: But at the Suppreſſion of religious Houſes by Henry VIII. the ſame being demoliſhed, and the Site thereof turned into a Carpenter's Yard, the South Iſle of the Church of St. Mary Elſing Spital was converted into the preſent Pariſh-Church. But as to the Origin of the firſt Church, I can trace it no higher than a little before the Year 1335, when John Cateleyne was Incumbent thereof. See Cripplegate Ward within. Stow. Sur. Lond.

St. ANDREW's Holborn, the City Liberty.

This is a Rectory, the beautiful and ſtately Church whereof is ſeated on the South Side of Holborn-hill, in a ſpacious Cemetery, in the Ward of Faringdon without; and is ſo denominated from its Dedication to St. Andrew the Apoſtle, and the Place

Place of its Situation: And in Matters Eccleſiaſtical 'tis ſubject to the Archdeacon.

Newc. Repert. Eccleſ. Paroch. The Patronage of this Church appears to have been antiently in private Hands; for the ſame, by Right of Patrimony, having deſcended to Gladerinus, a Preſbyter, he conferred it upon the Church and Canons of St. Paul's, about the Year 1322, upon Condition that the Church and Monks of Bermondſey ſhould hold the ſame of them, to whom they were annually to pay in their Cathedral an Acknowledgement of twelve Pence. Purſuant to which Agreement, the Abbot and Convent of Bermondſey continued Patrons thereof till their Diſſolution; when coming to the Crown, Henry VIII. granted the ſame, Anno 1546, to Thomas Lord Wriotheſley, Son of William Wriotheſley, York Herald, juſt advanced to the Dignity of a Baron, by the Title of Tichfield in Com. Southampton, and ſoon after created Earl of Southampton.

Ibid. Upon the Condemnation of Henry Earl of Southampton, as Confederate with Robert Earl of Eſſex in his Rebellion, Anno 1600, the Patronage of this Rectory reverted to the Crown, wherein it continued for ſome Time; but being reſtored to its former Patron, it continued in his Family till the Extinction of the Male Line by the Death of Thomas Earl of Southampton, Anno 1667.

Ibid. After the Death of the ſaid Thomas, Jane, his Relict, preſented to this Church; after which it came to one of the Daughters and Co-heireſſes of the ſaid Earl; with whom, I ſuppoſe, it went in Marriage to the Family of Montague, ſeeing the Duke of that Name is the preſent Patron.

Ibid. This Church having eſcaped the Flames in the Year 1666, it remains as antiently in reſpect to the Rector, whoſe Profits and Diſburſements in the Year 1636 were as follow: But by the vaſt Number of additional Buildings ſince that Time, the Profits, as it is ſaid, are increaſed to above 600 l. per Ann.

Holborn, in the Conqueror's Survey, appears to have been a Village, ſituate in the Hundred of Oſulveſtane or Oſulſton, denominated Holeburne, wherein the King had two Cotarii or Cottagers, who paid to his Bailiff or Sheriff an annual Sum of twenty Denarii or Pence. Newc. Rep. Eccl. Paroch. The earlieſt Account I find of this Church is, that William de Chicheſter was Rector thereof in the Year 1362. In antient Records it is denominated Eccleſia ſancti Andreæ ſuper Cornhill, from the Street wherein it ſtands, which, before the Erection of Leadenhall, went by that Name as far as this Place: And the additional Epithet of Underſhaft it received from a lofty Shaft, or Maypole, which was annually erected on the firſt of May before the South Door thereof, in the Middle of the Street, whoſe towering Top ſurpaſſed that of the Steeple in Altitude. But ſince Evil May-day (ſo called from an Inſurrection of the Citizens on the firſt of May, 1517) it has not been re-erected.

Newc. Rep. Eccl. Paroch. In the Year 1561, Edmund Grindal, Biſhop of London, united to this Pariſh that of St. Mary the Virgin, St. Urſula and the eleven thouſand Virgins, then commonly called St. Mary at the Ax, (from ſuch a Sign oppoſite to the ſame) or St. Mary Pellyper, from a Spot of Ground on the North Side thereof, belonging to the Company of Skinners.

Ibid. The Church of St. Mary ſtood on the Weſt Side of St. Mary's-ſtreet, now called St. Mary-Ax-ſtreet, where at preſent the School-houſe is ſituate.

Stow. Sur. Lond. And near the lower End of Berry-ſtreet, adjoining to London-wall, ſtood an Hoſpital, denominated Auguſtine Papey in the Wall. See Aldgate Ward.

Ibid. Newc. Rep. Eccl. Paroch. The preſent beautiful Gothick Structure of the Church of St. Andrew was rebuilt by the Pariſhioners, and finiſhed in the Year 1532; which Work was greatly forwarded by the Generoſity of Stephen Jennings, Eſq; Lord-Mayor of this City Anno 1502, who appears to have been at near a third Part of the whole Charge.

St. ANDREW WARDROBE.

This is a Rectory, the Church of which is ſituate upon a conſiderable Eminence on the Eaſt Side of Puddle-dock-hill, in the Ward of Caſtle-Baynard.

Newc. Rep. Eccl. Paroch. The Advowſon of this Church was antiently in the noble Family of Fitz-Walter, to which it probably came by Virtue of the Office of Conſtable of the Caſtle of London, (that is Baynard's-Caſtle) which that honourable Family long enjoyed, and for which they had a Soke or Juriſdiction allowed them by the City in the Ward of Caſtle-Baynard, which contained this whole Pariſh.

After the Extinction of the Fitz-Walter Family, the Patronage ſeems to have been in Thomas Lord Berkeley; from whom, by the Marriage of his only Child and Heireſs, it deſcended to Richard Earl of Warwick; after whoſe Death it came to his three Daughters, Coheireſſes; and by Right of them to their Huſbands, John Lord Talbot, Edmund Earl of Dorſet, and George Lord Latimer, who jointly preſented to the ſame.

But after the Partition of Warwick's Eſtate, their Succeſſors preſented alternately, (with a few Interruptions on the Account of Non-age) till the Year 1663; ſince which Time it came to the Crown, wherein it ſtill remains. Ibid.

This Church ſuffering in the common Calamity of the Year 1666, was rebuilt at the Expence of the Publick, and its neighbouriſh Pariſh of St. Anne's Black-friars thereunto united by Act of Parliament; whereby the Profits and Diſburſements on Account of the Cure are as follow: Act Parl. 22 & 23 Car. II.

Newc. Rep. Eccl. Paroch. Tho' the Origin of this Church be buried in Oblivion, yet that it is not of a modern Foundation is evident, by its having had Robert at Marſh for its Rector, before the Year 1322.

Ibid. This Church was antiently denominated St. Andrew juxta Baynard's-Caſtle, from its Vicinity to that Palace; but, ſince the Erection of that magnificent Structure called the Wardrobe, almoſt contiguous to it on the North, the additional Epithet of Baynard's-Caſtle has given Way to that of its next Neighbour the Wardrobe; which ſpacious Building having uſurped the Sites of many others, the Pariſh Tithes were thereby ſo much affected, that they occaſioned the Parſon to apply to King Edward III. for Redreſs; who was thereupon pleaſed to grant the Rector and his Succeſſors forty Shillings per An. in Perpetuity, out of the ſaid royal Manſion called the Great Wardrobe. St. ANNE's Alderſgate.

This Rectory Church, which is ſeated on the North Side of St. Anne's-lane, in the Ward of Alderſgate within, and is ſubject to the Archdeacon, owes its Name to its Dedication to St. Anne, the Mother of the Virgin Mary, and the Place of its Situation.

The Patronage of this Rectory was antiently in the Dean and Canons of St. Martin's le Grand; in whoſe Gift it continued till Henry VII. annexed that Collegiate Church, with its Appurtenances, to the Abbey of Weſtminſter; by Virtue whereof the Abbot and Convent, and after them the Biſhop of Weſtminſter, continued Patrons thereof, till Queen Mary, in the Year 1553, by her Letters Patent, granted the Advowſon of the ſame to the Biſhop of London and his Succeſſors, in whom it ſtill remains. Newc. Rep. Eccl. Paroch.

This Church having ſhared the common Fate in the great Fire of the Year 1666, was rebuilt at the publick Charge, and the Pariſh of St. John Zachary thereunto united; which turning to the Advantage of the Incumbent, the Profit and Diſburſements of the Cure are as follow: Act Par. 22 & 23 Geo. II.

Newc. Repert. Eccleſ. Paroch. This Church is of great Antiquity, as is manifeſt from the State thereof, when Ralph de Diceto was Dean of St. Paul's, in the Year 1190.

St. AUGUSTIN, or St. AUSTIN's.

This is a Rectory, the Church whereof is ſituate at the North-Weſt Corner of Watling-ſtreet, in the Ward of Faringdon within; and is ſo denominated from its being dedicated to Auſtin the Monk, the Engliſh Apoſtle.

The Advowſon of this Rectory is in the Dean and Chapter of St. Paul's, but ſubject to the Archdeacon.

This Church having ſuffered in the dreadful Conflagration, Anno 1666, has been rebuilt in a much more ſtately and beautiful Manner than formerly, and the Pariſh of St. Faith by Act of Parliament thereunto united; whereby the Incumbent's Stipend is conſiderably augmented, the Profits and Diſburſements of the Cure being as follow:

Newc. Repert. Eccleſ. Paroch. This Church was antiently denominated Eccleſia Sancti Auguſtini ad Portam, from its Vicinity to the South-Eaſt Gate of St. Paul's Church-yard. But in reſpect to its Origin, I can trace it no higher than about the Year 1190, when the State thereof was ſettled by the Dean and Chapter of St. Paul's.

St. BARTHOLOMEW, Exchange.

Ibid. This Church is a Rectory, ſeated at the South-Eaſt Corner of Bartholomew-lane, in the Ward of Broad-ſtreet; and is ſo called from its Dedication to St. Bartholomew the Apoſtle, and its Neighbourhood to the Royal Exchange.

Ibid. The Patronage of this Rectory was antiently in Simon Godart, a Citizen of London, who probably gave it to the Abbot and Convent of Grace, with whom (excluſive of two Preſentations) it continued till the Diſſolution of their Monaſtery, when it came to the Crown, where it has continued ever ſince, but ſubject to the Archdeacon.

This Church being conſumed in the general Conflagration, Anno 1666, 'tis ſince rebuilt in a very handſome Manner, and remains upon the antient Foot in all Reſpects, other than in lieu of Tithes, a certain Stipend is ſettled upon the Rector by Parliament; whereby, together with the great Improvement of the Glebe, 'tis become the beſt Benefice within the City Wall.

The Patronage of this Rectory has been in the noble Family of the Riches, (now Earls of Holland) ſince the Year 1545, when Henry VIII. granted the ſame to Sir Robert Rich; before which Time I imagine it to have been in the Prior and Canons of the adjoining Monaſtery of St. Bartholomew, ſeeing no Inſtitution appears till after the Surrender of the ſaid Priory. Since which Time it has been all along preſented to under the Appellation of a Rectory.

Officers, &c. in this Pariſh.

The Veſtry is neither ſelect nor general, all being admitted that have either ſerved or fined for Offices; two Church-wardens; two Overſeers of the Poor; three hundred and twenty-four Houſes.

Antiquities, &c. in this Pariſh.

Tho' I cannot aſcertain the Time when this Church was at firſt erected, yet I am of opinion that it is not coeval with the adjacent Priory; for the Monaſtery of St. Bartholomew was founded by Rahere, in the Reign of Henry II. upon a mooriſh Spot of Ground, which till then had been employed as a Layſtall. And the Site of this Pariſh only occupying the ſmall Precinct of the ſaid Priory, I think it cannot be juſtly imagined that there were many, or any Houſes on this Spot at that Time. But, King Henry having granted the Prior and Canons of that Convent a Privilege of holding an annual Fair within their own Diſtrict, People ſet to work in the building of Houſes, which probably in a ſhort time increaſed to ſuch a Number, that the Conventual Church was not ſufficient to accommodate their Inhabitants; wherefore I am of opinion, that the ſaid Prior and Canons erected a new Church (for the better Accommodation of their Tenants in the Performance of their religious Duties) towards the Cloſe of the twelfth Century, in the Reign of Richard I.

Stow. Sur. Lond.

Ibid. This Convent, with its Precinct, was incloſed on all Sides with a ſtrong Wall, the South Part whereof contain'd a Cemetery, with a ſpacious Court or Yard, ſtill denominated Bartholomew-Cloſe, wherein the Fair was antiently held; and on the North and Eaſt of the Convent was the Priory Garden; but thoſe Places at laſt being converted into Streets of Houſes, the Fair was removed into Smithfield, where it has been held ever ſince. See Faringdon Ward without.

Upon the Surrender of this Priory, at the general Suppreſſion of Religious Houſes by Henry VIII. Anno 1539, the Revenues thereof amounted to 653 l. 15 s. per Annum, and the ſix tuneable Bells in the Steeple being ſold to the Pariſh of St. Sepulchre's, the Church was demoliſhed to the Choir, which the King ordered to be annexed to the Pariſh-Church, for enlarging the ſame. Ibid.

This Church was given by Queen Mary to the Friars Preachers, or Black Friars, who officiated therein till the Reign of Queen Elizabeth; when it was granted by the Parliament to the Inhabitants for their Pariſh-Church.

On the South Side of this Church, the Eaſtern Part of the beautiful Cloiſter, conſiſting of eight Arches, is ſtill remaining; but at preſent 'tis reduced to the mean Office of a Stable.

The Precinct ſtill maintains ſuch an Independency of the City, (tho' in one of its Wards) that a Non-freeman may ſet up his Trade in any Part of this Pariſh.

St. BARTHOLOMEW the Leſs.

This Church, which is a Vicarage, is ſeated on the South-Eaſt of Smithfield, adjoining to the Hoſpital of that Name, in the Ward of Faringdon without; and, as being a Chapel to the Hoſpital, owes its Origin to Rahere, the Founder of the neighbouring Priory; who founded it, together with the Hoſpital, in the Year 1102, as an Appendage to his new Convent, from which it was denominated. Stow. Sur. Lond.

Ever ſince the Gift of this Church and Hoſpital to the City of London, by Henry VIII. Anno 1546, the Patronage thereof has been in the Mayor and Commonalty of London, and is ſubject to the Archdeacon, in Subordination to the Biſhop. Newc. Repert. Eccleſ. Paroch.

St. BENEDICT's, vulgarly Bennet Fink.

This is a Curacy, the Church whereof is ſituate on the South Side of Threadneedle-ſtreet, in the Ward of Broad-ſtreet; and is ſo denominated from its Dedication to St. Benedict, an Italian Saint, and Founder of the Order of Benedictine Monks: And the additional Epithet of Fink it received from its Rebuilder, Robert Fink. It is ſubject to the Archdeacon in Eccleſiaſtical Affairs, ſave as to Wills and Adminiſtrations, which belong to the Commiſſary. Stow Sur. Lond.

Tho' this Church is at preſent a Donative, it was antiently a Rectory, in the Gift of the noble Family of Nevil, who probably conferred the ſame upon the neighbouring Hoſpital of St. Anthony; for upon erecting a Free-ſchool within the Precinct thereof, John Carpenter, the Maſter, and the Newc. Rep. Eccleſ. Paroch.

the Brethren of the ſaid Hoſpital, Anno 1440, petitioned Robert Biſhop of London to have the ſame appropriated to their Hoſpital, which being granted, it commenced a Curacy, and the Cure was ſupplied by ſuch as were appointed by the ſaid Maſter and Brethren.

Newc. Repert. Eccleſ. Paroch. But Edward the Fourth in the Year 1474, granting the Hoſpital of St. Anthony's, with all its Appurtenances, in pure and perfect Alms, to the Dean and Chapter of Windſor and their Succeſſors; the Patronage of this Church, by Virtue thereof, has been in the ſaid Dean and Chapter ever ſince; and which they generally ſupply with one of their own Canons, who is licenſed by the Biſhop of London, or his Chancellor.

This Church having ſuffered in the dreadful Calamity, Anno 1666, 'tis ſince beautifully rebuilt, and remains ſeparate as formerly. But being a Donative, it pays neither Firſt-fruits nor Tenths to the King; wherefore the Profits and Diſburſements of the Cure are as follow:

St. BENNET's Graſs-Church.

This Church, which is a Rectory, ſtands at the South-Weſt Corner of Fenchurch-ſtreet, in the the Bridge Ward; and its Name it owes to its being dedicated to St. Benedict, and its Vicinity to the Graſs-Market, antiently held there. Newc. Report. Eccleſ. Paroch.

The Veſtry is general; two Church-wardens; and thirty-two Houſes. Augmentation to St. Bride's Pariſh two Pounds per An.

Newc. Rep Eccl. Paroch. The earlieſt Account I have been able to come at in reſpect to the Antiquity of the late Church of this Pariſh, is, that John de Lincolne was Rector thereof before the Year 1323; at which Time it went by the Name of St. Oſyth, from its being dedicated to a Queen and Martyr of that Name. However ſhe appears to have been but a very impotent Protectrix, in ſuffering herſelf to be diveſted of the Tutelage of this Church by Benedict Sborne, a Fiſhmonger of this City, a Rebuilder, Repairer, Repairer, or Benefactor to the ſame; and Shorne, his Sirname, deviating into Shrog, 'twas at laſt converted into Sherebog; and Benedict, as already mentioned, turned into Bennet.

St. BOTOLPH's Alderſgate, the City Liberty.

Newc. Rep. Eccl. Paroch. This Church, which was antiently a Rectory, is at preſent a Curacy, ſituate at the South-East Corner of Little-Britain, in the Ward of Alderſgate without; and is ſo denominated from its Dedication to St. Botolph, a Saxon Monk, and its Vicinity to one of the City Gates.

Ibid. The Patronage of this Church was antiently in the Dean and Canons of St. Martin's le Grand, but unappropriated till the 21ſt of May, Anno 1399; when Richard II. by his Letters Patent at Pembroke, gave Licence to Thomas Stanley, Dean of St. Martin's, and Patron of this Church, to appropriate the Income thereof (at that Time not exceeding five Marks per Ann.) to the Collegiate Church of the ſaid St. Martin, for the Celebration of a perpetual Anniverſary for his late Royal Conſort Queen Anne, upon the Day of her Death, during his Life; and that after his Demiſe, the ſaid Anniverſary to be ſolemnized upon his Obit for ever: Whereupon this Church was, upon the 18th of December following, appropriated to that of St. Martin's le Grand, by Virtue of a Commiſſion from Robert Biſhop of London to Thomas Stow, L. D. his Official: By which Appropriation the ſaid Dean and Canons were to provide a ſufficient Maintenance for a Chaplain to ſerve the Cure; ſince which Time it has continued a Donative or Curacy.

Ibid. And when Henry VII. in the Year 1503, annexed the Collegiate Church of St. Martin's le Grand to the Convent of St. Peter's Weſtminſter, this Church, as an Appendage thereof, became ſubject to that Abbey. After the Suppreſſion of Monaſteries, Henry VIII. granted the ſaid Churches to his new Biſhop of Weſtminſter; but, upon Queen Mary's Acceſſion to the Crown, the new Biſhoprick being diſſolved, and the Abbot and Monks reſtored to their Convent, both Churches reverted to their old Maſters. But upon the Demiſe of that Princeſs, and Acceſſion of Queen Elizabeth, the Monks were re-expelled by Parliament, and the Convent converted into a Collegiate Church, to the Dean and Chapter of which Elizabeth granted this Church, together with that of St. Martin's le Grand, towards their Support. However, it remains ſubject to the Biſhop and Archdeacon of London, to whom it pays Procuration; but, being a Donative, pays neither Firſt-fruits nor Tenths to the King.

Ibid. By the Return made of this Church in the Year 1636, it appeared, that the Impropriation then amounted to three hundred Pounds per Annum, to the Dean and Chapter aforeſaid, who are to provide a Curate; but the Allowance made by them to him is ſuch a Trifle, as not to deſerve mentioning: Wherefore he is chiefly maintained by the Surplice Fees, Bequeſts, and a Collection among the Pariſhioners.

The dreadful Conflagration in the Year 1666 ſtopping near this Church, it fortunately eſcaped Deſtruction; wherefore it remains in all Reſpects as formerly, paying to the Biſhop four Shillings, and to the Archdeacon nine Shillings Procurations.

Augmentation from the following Pariſhes, viz. from St. Martin's Outwich, ſix Pounds; St. Martin's Ludgate, five Pounds; and from St. Margaret Pattens and Trinity Pariſh, two Pounds per Annum.

Though I have not been able to diſcover the Time when this Church was at firſt founded, yet that it is of conſiderable Antiquity is evident by Par. Rec. the Pariſh Records; wherein appears, that a Houſe, antiently given to the Pariſhioners, was by them demiſed upon Leaſe to Richard Rothing in the Year 1319.

This Church was rebuilt laſt Year (1754) by virtue of an Act of Parliament; of which the following is an Abſtract:

Preamble. "Whereas the Pariſh-Church of St. Botolph "without Alderſgate is a very antient Fabrick, "and, notwithſtanding the continual Expence "the Inhabitants of the ſaid Pariſh have been "at, in repairing and ſupporting the ſame, "the whole Building is now very much decayed "and out of Repair: And whereas, in regard "to the Premiſſes, the Landlords and Proprie"tors of Houſes are willing to contribute to the "Repair of the ſaid Church, and the Tower "thereof: Now, to the Intent that the ſaid "Church may be ſubſtantially repaired for the "publick Worſhip of God, and the Inſtruction "of the Inhabitants of the ſaid Pariſh in the "true Chriſtian Religion, as now profeſſed in "the Church of England, and that the ſame may "be effected in a Manner that may be leaſt "burdenſome to the Inhabitants of the ſaid "Pariſh, who of themſelves are unable to re"pair the ſame; may it therefore pleaſe your "Majeſty, that it may be enacted, &c.

The Sum of 1500*l. to be raiſed by Annuities, at* 8*l.* per Cent. "And foraſmuch as borrowing Monies upon "the Credit of this Act will be the moſt ſpeedy "and effectual Method to accompliſh the pious "Purpoſes aforeſaid; be it therefore further "enacted by the Authority aforeſaid, That it "ſhall and may be lawful to and for any Perſon "or Perſons to contribute, advance, and pay into "the Hands of the ſaid Truſtees, or any ſeven "or more of them, or to ſuch Perſon or Per"ſons as the ſaid Truſtees, or any ſeven or "more of them, ſhall by any Writing or "Writings under their Hands and Seals autho"rize and impower to receive the ſame, for the "Uſes before-mentioned, any Sum or Sums of "Money, not exceeding in the Whole the Sum "of fifteen hundred Pounds, for the abſolute "Purchaſe of one or more Annuity or Annuities, "to be paid and payable, during the full Term "of the natural Life of ſuch Contributors re"ſpectively, or the natural Life of ſuch other "Perſons as ſhall be nominated by or on the "Behalf of ſuch reſpective Contributors at the "Time of Payment of their reſpective Contri"bution-monies, which Annuity or Annuities "ſhall not exceed the Rate of eight Pounds "per Annum, for every one hundred Pounds; "and ſo in Proportion for any greater or leſſer "Sum to be advanced and paid as aforeſaid; all "which ſaid Annuities, ſo to be purchaſed as "aforeſaid, ſhall not exceed in the Whole the "Sum of one hundred and twenty Pounds per "Annum, and ſhall be payable and paid by the "ſaid Truſtees, or any three or more of them, "in the Veſtry-room of the ſaid Pariſh, or in "ſuch Place in the ſaid Pariſh, as they, or any "three or more of them, ſhall for that Purpoſe "appoint, by Half-yearly Payments, to com"mence from the Payment of the ſaid Mo"ney; which Annuities ſhall be publickly ſold "by the ſaid Truſtees, to the beſt Bidder for "the ſame.

St. BOTOLPH's Aldgate, the City Liberty.

This is a Curacy, the Church whereof ſtands on the North Side of Aldgate High-Street, and Eaſt Side of Houndſditch, in the Ward of Portſoken; and is ſo denominated from its Dedication to the above-named St. Botolph, and Neighbourhood to the Gate.

The Advowſon of this Church was antiently in the Proprietors of the Ward of Portſoken, who, in the Year 1115, gave it, together with the whole Ward, to the Prior and Canons of the Trinity within Aldgate: Which Grant was not only ſoon after confirmed by Henry I. but likewiſe by the Pope and Biſhop of London. Stow. Sur. Lond. Newc. Rep. Eccleſ. Paroch.

This Church was no ſooner appropriated to the Trinity Convent, than the Canons, inſtead of appointing a Curate, reſolved to ſerve the Cure alternately themſelves; which they regularly performed till the Diſſolution of their Monaſtery, when the ſame coming to the Crown, Queen Elizabeth, in the Year 1577, granted this Church and Curacy to Robert Halywell, for a certain Term of Years; and in the Year 1588, to George Puttenham, for another Term of Years; Ibid.

Stow. Sur. Lond. This Church, before the Suppreſſion of the Trinity Priory, was rebuilt by the Prior and Canons; and luckily eſcaping the fatal Cataſtrophe of the Year 1666, it remains, in all Reſpects, upon the antient Foot; and being a Donative, pays neither Firſt-fruits nor Tenths to the King. But the Profits thereof, returned Anno 1636, were as follow; and being ſubject to the Biſhop and Archdeacon, it pays Procurations to both.

EAST-SMITHFIELD LIBERTY.

Tho' this Town, or Liberty, be at preſent reckoned within the Juriſdiction of the County of Middleſex; yet, as it appears to be within the antient Bounds of the Ward of Portſoken, which extended from Whitechapel-bars, Southward, by Dodding's-pond in Nightingale-lane, and the Hermitage-bridge, to the River Thames; I ſhall therefore inſert it in this Place, conſidering that it ſtill belongs to the Pariſh of St. Botolph, Aldgate, in the Liberty of the City; but as that Union only regards the Church, I ſhall ſubjoin the Church-wardens and Overſeers of the Poor's Accounts, in reſpect to their ſeveral Charges relating to the Church, Liberty and Poor. Two Church-wardens; four Overſeers of the Poor; five Headboroughs; two Conſtables; ſix Scavengers, that paid the Raker, for cleanſing the Streets, and carrying away the Duſt, for one Year, the Sum of one hundred and ſixty Pounds; two Beadles; eight Watchmen; fourteen hundred and thirty-five Houſes.

Eaſt-Smithfield is a Manor, wherein is kept a Court-Leet and Court-Baron; in the former of which are choſen the Officers belonging to the Liberty; and in the latter Pleas are held for any Sum under forty Shillings; to which Court belong a Steward, a Town-Clerk, and three Attornies.

On the North Side of St. Catharine's Hoſpital, and Eaſt Side of Little Tower-hill, where at preſent is ſituate the Victualling-Office belonging to the Royal Navy, was ſeated the Abbey of Grace, founded by Edward III. in the Year 1349.

St. BOTOLPH's Billingſgate.

This is a Rectory, the Church whereof ſtood oppoſite Botolph-Lane in Thames-ſtreet, and Ward of Billingſgate, from which it receives its latter Appellation, as it does the former from the Saint of that Name.

Newc. Rep. Eccleſ. Paroch.

The Advowſon of this Rectory appears to have been antiently in Lay Hands, by a Proceſs carried on (about the Year 1194) by John Bocumeter, and Dionſia his Wife, againſt the Dean and Canons of St. Paul's, for the Patronage thereof. But the Dean and Chapter having ſhewed their Right, not only to this Rectory, but alſo to that of St. Martin Orgars, by a Deed of Gift to them of both Rectories, from one Odgarus, his Son, and Chriſtiana, the Mother of the ſaid Dioniſia; the Plantiffs thereupon renounced all Pretenſions to both the ſaid Rectories; ſince which Time the Right of Collation to both has continued in the ſaid Dean and Chapter.

The Dean and Canons ſeemingly pricked in Conſcience for the Hardſhips the Complainants lay under, by their being iniquitouſly deprived of their paternal Inheritance; therefore, to make them an Amends, promiſed annually to celebrate the Obiits of the ſaid John Bocumeter, and Dioniſia his Wife. A poor Return for ſo great a Loſs!

This Church being conſumed in the general Conflagration, Anno 1666, it has not been rebuilt; wherefore the Pariſh is annexed to the Church of St. George Botolph-lane, where I ſhall give an Account of the Receipts and Diſburſements of both Pariſhes relating to the Cure; and, in the Interim, ſhall give an Account of thoſe concerning the Church and Poor:

I am of Opinion this Church is of Saxon Foundation; for William the Conqueror, Anno 1067, granted to the Abbot and Canons of Weſtminſter a Gate and Wharf in this Neighbourhood, denominated Botolph's; which Appellation I imagine they received from their Vicinity to this Church.

St. BOTOLPH's Biſhopſgate.

This Church is a Rectory, ſituate oppoſite Houndſditch, on the Weſt Side of Biſhopſgate-ſtreet without, in the Ward of that Name; and is ſo denominated from its Dedication to the Monk aforeſaid, and its Neighbourhood to one of the City Gates.

Newc. Repert. Eccleſ. Paroch.

The Patronage of this Rectory, for ought appears, has been all along in the Biſhop of London, to whom, and his Commiſſary, 'tis only ſubject; and being wholly exempt from the Archidiaconal Juriſdiction, pays no other Tithes than thoſe due to the Biſhop.

This Church having fortunately eſcaped the devouring Flames, Anno 1666, it remains in all Reſpects upon the antient Foot in reſpect to the Cure: The Profits and Diſburſements whereof, as return'd in the Year 1636, were as follow:

But being diſturb'd by the Populace, diſcontinu'd his Funeral Devotions, and erected a Monument to his Memory, with a Perſian Inſcription, Engliſh'd thus:

Ibid. This Grave is made for Hodges Shaughſware, the chiefeſt Servant to the King of Perſia, for the Space of Twenty Yeeres, who came from the King of Perſia, and dyed in his Service. If any Perſian cometh out of that Country, let him read this, and a Prayer for him, the Lord receive his Soule; for here lyeth Maghmote Shaughſware, who was borne in the Town of Novoy in Perſia.

Antiquities, &c. in this Pariſh.

Newc. Repert. Eccleſ. Paroch. By the earlieſt Account I have been able to come at of this Pariſh-Church, it appears that John de Northampton was Rector thereof before the Year 1323, which ſhews it to be of a conſiderable Standing.

Stow. Sur. Lond.

The old Church, which ſtood upon the Bank of the City Ditch, (as did thoſe of St. Botolph's Alderſgate, Aldgate, and St. Giles's Cripplegate) being antient and in a very crazy Condition, an Act of Parliament was obtained for rebuilding the ſame; whereby the Commiſſioners were impowered to raiſe upon all Landlords two Shillings per Pound, out of the Rents of their ſeveral Houſes in the Pariſh, and ſix Pence per Pound of the Tenants, not exceeding in the whole the Sum of ten thouſand Pounds. But this Sum not proveing ſufficient to finiſh the Work, a Pariſh Rate was made to ſupply the Deficiency, whereby the Sum needful was raiſed; and the Church and Steeple being finiſhed, the Charge of the whole amounted to ten thouſand four hundred and forty-four Pounds, one Shilling, and eight Pence Half-penny.

In digging the Foundation for the preſent Church, Part of the Walls of the firſt-erected were diſcovered, whereby it appeared not to have been near ſo big as the late, nor the preſent Fabrick; in the firſt Stone of which was inlaid a Copper Plate, with the following Inſcription:

Deo & Eccleſiæ ſacrum, Lapidem hunc Ακρογωνιαιον poſuit Reverendus in Chriſto Pater, Edmundus, Londinenſis Epiſcopus, iſtius Eccleſiæ Patronus perpetuus, 10 die Menſis Aprilis, A. D. 1725.

Raſt. Stat. 34 & 35 H. VIII.

The Street leading from the Gate to Shoreditch, denominated Biſhopſgate-ſtreet, was firſt paved by Act of Parliament, Anno 1543.

Mynd. Ed. Stow. Sur.

This Pariſh being greatly ſtraitened for Room to bury their Dead in, the City conferred upon them that Part of the Town-Ditch between their Cemetery and the City Wall, Anno 1615. Since which Time that Spot of Ground has been raiſed above eight Feet. At the Weſt End of this new Burial Ground, and Eaſt Side of Moorfields, (whereon the New Broad-ſtreets are ſituate) was a Street of mean Buildings, denominated Petty France, from its being at firſt inhabited by People of that Nation.

BRIDEWELL PRECINCT.

Tho' this Precinct be extraparochial, yet as the Chapel thereof has a Government reſembling that of a Pariſh-Church, I ſhall therefore inſert it in this Place. But the Hoſpital whereunto it belongs, I have treated of in Faringdon Ward without.

The Advowſon of this Chapel is in the Gift of the Governors of the Hoſpital; and the Liberty, or Diſtrict thereunto belonging, is Part of the antient Juriſdiction, which appertained to the Royal Palace of Bridewell. But tho' this Precinct contains divers Streets of Houſes, yet the Inhabitants thereof, not being impowered to make a Poor's Rate, raiſe Money by way of Contribution. Therefore I ſhall ſubjoin one of their annual Accounts in reſpect to the Poor.

St. BRIGIT's, vulgarly St. Bride's.

This Pariſh, tho' antiently a Rectory, is at preſent a Vicarage, the Church whereof is ſituate behind the Southern Row of Houſes of Fleet-ſtreet, in the Ward of Faringdon without; and is ſo denominated from its Dedication to St. Brigit, by moſt Authors ſaid to have been a Scotiſh Virgin. Newc. Repert. Eccleſ. Paroch.

The Advowſon of this Church was in the Abbot and Convent of Weſtminſter, till their Diſſolution by Henry VIII. Anno 1539. But when the ſame was changed into a Vicarage, is uncertain; tho' probably it happened about the Year 1529, when William Mott, S. T. B. was collated as the firſt Vicar thereof. However, 'tis ſubject to the Archdeacon of London, ſave as to Wills and Adminiſtrations, which belong to the Commiſſary. Ibid.

This Church ſharing the common Fate in the Fire of London in the Year 1666, was rebuilt at the Charge of the Publick, in the magnificent and beautiful Manner, as it at preſent appears; but it remains in all Reſpects upon the antient Foot in regard to the Cure; except that of haveing a certain Stipend ſettled upon the Vicar, by the general Act of Parliament, for aſcertaining the Profits of the Incumbents of the ſeveral Pariſhes of this City, whoſe Churches were deſtroyed by the Conflagration aforeſaid.

This Vicarage, by reaſon of its having been heretofore a Rectory, pays Firſt-fruits and Tenths to the King; which, together with its Profits, are as follow:

Mund. Ed. Stow. Sur. Here lieth James Kinnon, a Gentleman of Lentilo, in Monmouthſhire, a Citizen, and Cannoniere, and a Souldier. He dyed, aged 67 Yeres, overheating his Bloud, in preparing of Forty Chambers, at the Entertainment of the Prince, in the Artillery Garden; to the which Society he gave Forty Chambers, and Five Marks in Money; to the Poore of this Pariſh he gave Ten Pounds per Annum, for One and Twenty Yeeres; and to the Poore of Lentilo, the like Summe; and Five Pounds preſent. He had One Wife, and One Sonne. Obiit 19 die Decemb. Ann. Dom. 1615.

It ever was his Wiſh to dye in Field,
Or elſe at Sea. Fates half his Wiſh did yeeld.
A Prince and Army ſtood about him round;
Yet Age (o're-wearied) tooke the mortal Wound.
Arts Mathematicke he both lov'd and knew;
In which his Skill increaſt, as Yeeres grew.
Wales gave him Breath; faire was his Birth and Name,
And though Death ſtole his Life, he left him Fame.

Stryp. Ed. Stow Sur. Here reſteth the Body of Sir John Curzon, of Croxal in the County of Derby, Knight; deſcended from antient Gentry, and of long Continuance in that Place: Who, like the Race from whence hee came, was a Man of upright Life, religious and hoſpitable. Hee tooke to Wife Mary, the Daughter of Sir Richard Leviſon, of Lelleſhull in the County of Salop, Knight: By whom he had Walter, who died young; and Mary, then his only Daughter and Heire; who was married to Edward Sackville, Earl of Dorſet, Knight of the Honourable Order of the Garter. Which Lady cauſed this Monument to bee here fixed to the ſacred Memory of her deare Father. He departed this Life the 17th of November, 1612.

The deareſt Object of thine Eyes?
Believe this Marble, what thou valu'ſt moſt,
And ſett'ſt thy Heart upon, is ſooneſt loſt.

Ibid. Near this Place lyeth the Body of James Molins, Maſter of Surgery, and Doctor of Phyſick, Servant to their Majeſties King Charles II. and King James II. A Man of ſtrong Judgment, and ready Wit; ſkilful, compaſſionate, and honeſt in his Profeſſion; whoſe Family, for many Generations, has produced Men very eminent in the Art of Surgery. Antiquities, &c. in this Pariſh.

Tho' the Origin of this Church be unknown, yet it appears not to be of a late Date, by its having had three Rectors before the Year 1362. However, it ſeems to have been very ſmall, till about the Year 1480, when it was greatly enlarged by William Venor, Warden of the Fleet Priſon; who cauſed a ſpacious Fabrick to be erected at the Weſt End thereof, conſiſting of a Middle and two Side Iſles; to which the old Church ſerved as a Choir. Newc. Rep. Eccleſ. Paroch. Stow. Sur. Lond.

Henry VIII. having diſſolved the Convent of Weſtminſter, and erected the ſame into a Deanry, he granted the Advowſon of this Church towards the Support of his new Foundation; and the ſame being ſoon after converted into a Biſhoprick, it was conferred upon the Biſhop. But Edward VI. was no ſooner poſſeſſed of the Crown, than he diſſolved the Biſhoprick, and reſtored the Deanry; and Edward demiſing ſoon after, Mary, upon her Acceſſion to the Throne, reduced it to its priſtine State, by reſtoring the Abbot and Monks. But this, like the others, proving of no long Duration, it was by Queen Elizabeth converted into a Collegiate Church; in the Dean and Chapter of which this Impropriation has continued ever ſince. Newc. Rep. Eccleſ. Paroch.

CHRIST's-CHURCH.

This is a Vicarage or Impropriation; the Church whereof is ſituate behind the Northern Row of Houſes of Newgate-ſtreet, in the Ward of Faringdon within.

The Right of Advowſon to this Church has been in the Governors of St. Bartholomew's Hoſpital ever ſince the Year 1546, when Hery VIII. granted the ſame to the City.

The late ſpacious and magnificent Church being conſumed in the Fire of London, Ann. 1666, the Choir thereof has only been rebuilt; and, by

Act of Parliament, conſtituted the Place of Publick Worſhip, both for this Pariſh, and that of St. Leonard's Foſter-lane; whereby the Profits of the Vicar are greatly increaſed: Which, together with the Diſburſements of the Cure on Account of both Pariſhes, are as follow:

Within this Grave, encloſed here,
Anne Beaumont now doth reſt,
A loving and faithful Wife,
With many Children bleſt.
She ſerved God with Zeale of Truth,
And learn'd to fly from Sinne;
And as ſhe learn'd his holy Will,
So liv'd and dy'd therein.
A Friend to ſuch has Virtue ſought,
A Foe unto no Wight;
A Help to thoſe that feared God,
With all her Power and Might.
The Poore ſhall oft bewaile her Want,
By whom they found Relief;
Whoſe Minde with earneſt Care was bent
To eaſe them of their Griefe.
Thus happy ſhe, that now is gone
From hence, Reward to finde;
Unhappy yet for ſuch her Friends,
As ſhe hath left behind:
But thrice unhappy for his Loſſe,
That doth her Praiſe rehearſe;
A woful Praiſe unto her Sonne,
Who wrote this dolefull Verſe.

Here you may ſee John Jackſon Hee,
By Death laid in his Bower,
He dy'd in June, Twenty and one,
Fifteen hundred Eighty-four.
Whom God in Health endu'd with Wealth;
And Treaſurer he hath been
To Infants poor, to ſave them Store,
That kept are here within.
When he did dye, then Deputy
Unto the Alderman,
To end the Brawl of Great and Small,
As teſtify we can.
His Will can tell he lived well,
To feed the Poor with Meat:
His Gifts therein ſo large have been,
And Legacies ſo great.
His zealous Heart did never ſtart
From preaching of the Word,
Till from this Bell, he went to dwell
In Glory with the Lord.
Where he in Bliſs undoubted is,
A juſt Reward of Faith,
And all that grieve, and do believe,
As Holy Scripture ſaith.

Death.

Stand, fairly encountered both, grave, ſovereigne Time,
Borne of Eternity, Age's Father,
Prince of all Power; all Powers on Earth are thine,
That doeſt my Ruines trueſt Records gather;
Lend thy Conſent, thy helping Hand to mine;

Impartial Death, Honour's reſpectleſſe Foe,
Grimme, meager Caytife, wherefore doſt thou come?
Muſt Virtue's Children to thy Slaughter goe,
In thy Bloud-yawning Cell to fill a Roome?
Can none but they quench thy bloody Thirſt?

Death.

No. Rogers I come for: Time, thou canſt not ſave him:
This Dart muſt ſtrike him, and grim Death will have him.

Rogers.

Death wellcome; all by thee (I know) muſt end;
Nor do I care for longer Life than this:
I thanke thee, thou haſt ſtaid ſo long (kind Friend.)
Sweete Time, be patient, pardon mine Amiſſe,
If I have Time miſ-pent; alas, we all offend:
If, ſaid I? yes, 'tis certaine, ſure I have;

In whom Duty, Affection, Affability and Condeſcenſion were the Effect, not ſo much of an happy natural Diſpoſition, as of juſt Reflection and ſincere Piety: Worthy to have continued in the World, had the World been worthy of her. She lived long enough to give a Specimen of Virtue, to confirm the Hopes that had been conceived; alas! no longer, than to ſhew the Greatneſs of our Loſs, and the Vanity of temporal Enjoyments. Antiquities, &c. in this Pariſh.

To come at the Origin of this Church, 'twill be neceſſary to give ſome Account of the Convent to which it belonged.

Bibl. Cott. Vit. F. 12. 13. fol. 45. In the Year 1224, there arrived at the Port of Dover, in Kent, four Clerks and five Lay-Brothers, Friars Minors of the Franciſcan Order; five of whom ſettled at Canterbury, and the other four repaired to London; where they were kindly received and entertained by the Friars Preachers at their Houſe in Holbourn, for the Space of fifteen Days. Hence they removed to a Houſe in Cornhill, which they took of John Travers, one of the Sheriffs; wherein they continued about a Year, when they were much ſtraitned for Room, by reaſon of the great Increaſe of their Number. Which being obſerved by John Iwyn, Citizen and Phyſician of London, (who ſoon after became a Lay-Brother among them) he, for the Health of his Soul, and Good of the ſaid Friars, granted to the Mayor and Citizens of London, in pure and perpetual Alms, all his Land and Houſes ſituate in the Pariſh of St. Nicholas Shambles; which Spot of Ground was ſoon after conſiderably enlarged by the additional Benefactions of the Mayor and Commonalty, as well as by the Munificence of private Citizens of London.

Ibid A Site was no ſooner provided, than divers of the principal Inhabitants of this City began, in the Year 1225, at their own Expence, to erect a Houſe and Chapel for the better Accommodation of the ſaid Friars. But the Monks continuing to increaſe in Number, the Chapel was not ſufficient to accommodate them in the Celebration of the Divine Offices; wherefore Margaret, Conſort to Edward the Firſt, in the Year 1306, began to erect a ſtately and very ſpacious Church, which took up twenty-one Years in building, at a very great Expence; and in regard to its Dimenſions, it excelled all the Places of Worſhip in this City, except that of the Cathedral; it being no leſs than three hundred Feet in Length, eighty-nine in Breadth, and ſixty-four and two Inches in Height: This magnificent Fabrick was erected at the Charge of the ſaid Margaret, that of two other Queens, many of the Nobility, Citizens of London, and others.

Sir Richard Whittington, Mayor of this City Anno 1419, erected at his own Expence, in the Year 1421, a ſpacious Library for the Uſe of this Convent, and laid out in furniſhing the ſame with Books the Sum of four hundred Pounds. Ibid.

At the Diſſolution of Religious Houſes Anno 1538, this Monaſtery was ſurrendred to Henry the Eighth; when, according to a certain Author, its Revenues amounted to thirty-two Pounds nineteen Shillings and ten Pence. This I take to be a Miſtake; for 'tis not probable, that ſo noble and ſtately a Structure as this Convent appears to have been, could have ſo piteous an Income as the above: For I am of Opinion, that inſtead of that Sum, the Maintenance of its numerous Family is more likely to have coſt ſome hundreds of Pounds per Annum. Speed Hiſt Gr. Brit.

This Church was no ſooner ſurrendered to the King, than it was converted into a Repoſitory for Prize Goods taken from the French. But Henry the Eighth, in the Year 1546, having granted the ſame to the Mayor and Commonalty of London, he annexed a certain Diſtrict thereunto, which conſiſted of the Pariſhes of St. Nicholas Shambles, St. Ewin, and that Part of St. Sepulchre's within the City Wall; and having erected the ſame into a Pariſh, the Church thereof, from its Dedication, was denominated Chriſt's-Church. For the Service of which were appointed a Vicar, a Viſitor of Newgate, five Prieſts, two Clerks, and a Sexton. The Vicar to receive of the City a Stipend of 26 l. 13 s. 4 d. The Viſitor, 10 l. Each of the Prieſts, 8 l. The Clerks, 6 l. each: And the Sexton, 4 l. per Annum. This magnificent and ſtately Edifice, which extended from Butcher-hall-lane to Grey-Friers Gate-way, was conſumed in the general Conflagration in the Year 1666, and though the Choir thereof has only been re-edify'd, 'tis nevertheleſs the largeſt Pariſh-Church within the City.

St. CHRISTOPHER's.

This is a Rectory, the Church whereof is ſituate near the North-Weſt Angle of Threadneedle-ſtreet, in the Ward of Broad-ſtreet; and is ſo denominated from Chriſtopher, a Proſelyte, Martyr, and a Saint of Canaanitiſh Extraction; whoſe Name, before his Converſion, was Reprobus; but his preſent Name, it ſeems, he received from his carrying Chriſt over a great River upon his Shoulders; if you can believe it. Newc. Rep. Eccl. Paroch.

The Patronage of this Rectory appears to have been anciently in the noble Family of Nevil, by whom 'twas probably given to the Biſhop of London, Ibid.

don, in whom it has continued upwards of three hundred Years. It is ſubject to the Archdeacon of London, ſave as to Wills and Adminiſtrations, which belong to the Commiſſary.

This Church was a great Sufferer by the Fire of London, Anno 1666, yet not ſo much as to occaſion its being rebuilt; therefore it was repaired, and continues upon the ancient Foot in all Reſpects, other than what relates to the Rectorial Profits, which are conſiderably augmented by Act of Parliament; which, together with the Diſburſements on Account of the Cure, are as follow:

As the Origin of this Church is buried in Oblivion, I can come no nearer the ſame, than that Richard at Lane was collated thereunto in the Year 1368.

St. CLEMENT's Eaſtcheap.

This Rectory Church, which is ſeated on the Eaſt Side of St. Clement's-lane, in the Ward of Candlewick, owes its Name to St. Clemens or Clement, (a Roman, and Diſciple of St. Peter the Apoſtle) Biſhop of Rome.

The Advowſon of this Church appears to have been in the Abbot and Convent of Weſtminſter till their Diſſolution. In the Year 1553, Queen Mary conferred the ſame upon the Biſhop of London, in whoſe Succeſſors it ſtill remains. But in Eccleſiaſtick Affairs 'tis ſubject to the Archdeacon, except as to Wills and Adminiſtrations, which belong to the Commiſſary. Newc. Rep. Eccl. Paroch.

This Church ſharing the common Fate in the Year 1666, 'tis ſince handſomely rebuilt, and by Act of Parliament conſtituted the Place of Worſhip for its own Pariſh and that of St. Martin Orgars. The Rectorial Profits and Diſburſements whereof are as follow: Act Parl. 22 & 23 Car. II.

Newc. Rep. Eccl. Paroch. As to the Antiquity of this Church, I can trace it no higher than that William de Southlee was Rector thereof before the Year 1309, which ſhews it to be not of a modern Date.

St. DIONIS Backchurch.

This Pariſh is a Rectory, the Church whereof is ſituate near the South-Weſt Corner of Lime-ſtreet, in the Ward of Langbourn. Its Name it owes to St. Dionis, Dionyſius, or Dennis, an Athenian Areopagite, or Judge, who, upon St. Paul's preaching at Athens, was converted, and became the firſt Biſhop of that City, and afterwards Patron of the French Nation. This is the celebrated Miracle-monger, who, according to the abſurd and ridiculous Fables of the Papiſts, carried his Head two Miles, after it was cut off.

Newc. Rep. Eccl. Paroch.

The Epithet of Backchurch was conferred upon this Church, from its Situation behind a Row of Houſes, to diſtinguiſh it from the Church of St. Gabriel, which ſtood in the middle of Fenchurch-ſtreet; therefore thoſe Churches were anciently known by no other Appellation than thoſe of Fore and Back-Church.

Ibid. The Patronage of this Church, which is one of the thirteen Peculiars in this City belonging to the Archbiſhop of Canterbury, was anciently in the Prior and Canons of that Church, in whom it continued till the Diſſolution of their Priory; when 'twas conferred upon the Dean and Chapter of the ſaid Church, who are ſtill Patrons thereof.

This Church being deſtroyed in the great Fire of 1666, 'tis handſomely rebuilt, and remains in all Reſpects as formerly, other than the aſcertaining a Stipend for the Rector, whoſe Profits and Diſburſements on Account of the Rectory are as follow:

St. DUNSTAN's in the Eaſt.

This Church, which is a Rectory, ſituate on the Weſt Side of St. Dunſtan's-hill, in the Ward of Tower-ſtreet, is dedicated to the imperious and implacable Dunſtan, a Weſt-Saxon, and an inveterate Enemy and cruel Perſecutor of the Secular Clergy in favour of the Regulars; and the additional Epithet of Eaſt, is to diſtinguiſh it from other Churches of the ſame Name within the Bill of Mortality.

Newc. Rep. Eccleſ. Paroch. The Patronage of this Rectory was anciently in the Prior and Canons of Canterbury, who, Anno 1365, granted the ſame to Simon their Archbiſhop, and his Succeſſors, in whom it ſtill remains, and is one of the thirteen Peculiars in this City belonging to the Archiepiſcopal See of Canterbury.

This Church having greatly ſuffered by the Conflagration of the Year 1666, it has ſince been repaired, and a beautiful new Steeple added thereto; whereby it has not only become a Gainer by its Misfortune, but the Rector likewiſe, whoſe Stipend, like thoſe of others, is greatly augmented by Act of Parliament; which, together with the Profits and Charges of the Rectory, are as follow:

In a Vault near this Place is depoſited the Body of Sir John Moore, Kt. ſome time Lord Mayor of London, one of the Repreſentatives of this City in Parliament, and Preſident of Chriſt's Hoſpital; who, for his great and exemplary Loyalty to the Crown, was impowered by King Charles the IId to bear on a Canton one of the Lions of England, as an Augmentation to his Arms. NewView Lond.

He, out of a Chriſtian Zeal for good Works, founded and endow'd a Free School at Appleby in Leiceſterſhire, his native Country; and was a good Benefactor to the worſhipful Company of Grocers, to the ſeveral Hoſpitals of this City, to his own Relations in general, and to the Pariſh. He departed this Life the 2d Day of June 1702, aged 82 Years.

Officers, &c. in this Pariſh.

The Veſtry is ſelect, conſiſting of thirty-one Members; two Church-wardens; three hundred and twenty-two Houſes. Augmentation paid to St. Bride's Pariſh, twenty Pounds per An.

Antiquities, &c. in the Pariſh.

The only Antiquity in this Pariſh is that of its Church, which, tho' I cannot trace it to the Time of its Foundation, it nevertheleſs appears not to be of a late Date, by John de Burton's being collated thereto in the Year 1312. Newc. Rep. Eccl. Paroch.

St. DUNSTAN's in the Weſt.

This is a Vicarage, the Church whereof is ſeated on the North Side of Fleet-ſtreet, in the Ward of Farringdon without; and is ſo denominated from its Dedication to Dunſtan aforeſaid; and the Epithet of Weſt, to diſtinguiſh it from the Church above-mentioned.

This Church, tho' at preſent a Vicarage, was anciently a Rectory, in the Patronage of the Convent of Weſtminſter; the Abbot whereof, Richard de Barking, in the Year 1237, granted the ſame to Henry the Third; from which Time the Advowſon continued in the Crown, till the Year 1362, after which it ſeems for ſome time to have been in the Biſhop of London; for, upon the Petition of the Abbot and Convent of Premonſtratenſes of Alnwick, in the County of Northumberland, to Robert, Biſhop of London; ſetting forth, That, by their Monaſtery's ſtanding upon the Frontiers of Scotland, their Revenues, by the frequent Incurſions and Depredations of the Scots, were not only very much diminiſhed, but their Convent likewiſe burnt, and they not in a Condition to rebuild the ſame, nor keep the Hoſpitality they ought: Newc. Repert. Eccleſ. Paroch.

Wherefore the Biſhop, on the 30th of October, Anno 1386, by the Aſſent of the Dean and Chapter of St. Paul's, did appropriate this Rectory to the Abbot and Canons of that Convent, with a Power to ſupply the Cure with one of their own Canons, or other Secular Prieſt, removable at their Pleaſure. Hence it was, my Author ſuppoſes, that there was neither Rector nor Vicar inſtituted to this Church for upwards of Seventy Years. Ibid.

But in the Year 1437, a perpetual Vicar being inſtituted thereto, the Patronage continued in the ſaid Abbot and Convent till their Suppreſſion; when when coming to the Crown, it continued therein till the Year 1554, when Edward the Sixth granted the ſame to the Lord Dudley, where it continued not long; for both the Rectory and Advowſon of the Vicarage were granted to Sir Richard Sackville, in whoſe Family it continued till alienated to George Rivers, in the Year 1625; ſince which Time they have been in Lay Hands.

The Fire of London, Anno 1666, ſtopping within three Houſes of this Church, it luckily eſcaped Deſtruction; wherefore it remains in all Reſpects as formerly. The Profits and Diſburſements whereof, as returned in the Year 1636, were as follow:

His Mind to thee unfold:
Seeke not with Heapes of worldly Toyes
To furniſh thy Delight;
Nor let him fancy high Degree,
That hopes to live aright.
If thou have Wealth, ſupply their Want
That languiſh and decay;
And linger not thy good Intent
Untill the latter Day.
If Poverty oppreſſe thy Minde,
Let Patience be thy Guide:
Let Rigour faile to falſe thy Faith,
What Hap ſo thee betide.
For, as from Death no Way there is,
Whereby thee to defend;
So happy may no Creature be,
Before his finall End.
Wherefore of God his Mercy crave,
Who hath of Mercy Store,
And unto him commend my Soule,
(My Friend) I crave no more.

Here lies her Duſt, who, in a Span of Life,
Compaſt the Virtue of the worthieſt Wife:
If Oddes there be, (well meaſured) 'twill be found
She more acquir'd; ſo her bright Stocke renown'd:
And to thoſe Wives, that Glory moſt doe gaine,
She was a Mirrour, that no Breath could ſtaine;
Though ſhe a Female were, her Judgment was,
To trueſt Maſculines, a truer Glaſſe:
For ſhe by Nature, Grace and Wiſdome too,
Shew'd by a Woman, what beſt Men ſhould doe
In their beſt Actions: For ſhe acted nought,
That came not from a grave and gracious Thought.
But Nature (though familiar, yet moſt ſtrange,
Shewing how much ſhe doth delight in Change,
In Thouſand Faſhions doth herſelf array)
Permits nought here, to ſtand at conſtant Stay.
And Time and Death with her therein conſpire,
Elſe had theſe Aſhes ſtill held vitall Fire.
But theſe juſt Lines, in Time and Death's Deſpight,
Shall lead all Times to do her Vertue Right.

By this ſmall Statue (Reader) is but ſhowne,
That ſhe was buried here; but hadſt thou knowne
The Piety and Vertues of her Minde,
Thou wouldſt have ſaid, why was ſhe not enſhrin'd?
Both Vere's and Windſor's beſt Blood fill'd her Veins,
She matcht with Talbot, yet their noble Straines
Were far below her Vertue; in whoſe Breaſt
God had infus'd his Graces, 'bove the reſt
Of all her Sex; whoſe ſacred Courſe of Life,
Both in the State of Widow, Maid and Wife;
For each ſhe had beene, though her latter Dayes
Chaſte Widowhood crown'd, to her immotall Praiſe;
Was ſo immaculate, ſhe deſerves to be
The Chryſtall Mirrour to Poſterity.
More Honour haſt thou by her Burial here,
Dunſtan, than to thee chanc'd this many a Yeere.
Earth, from her Coffin, heave thy ponderous Stones,
And, for thy ſacredſt Relique, keepe her Bones.

Stryp. Ed. Stow. Sur. The comfortable Farewell of a young Infant, ſighed out in his dying Sickneſs, to his mournefull Parents.

Let not my Father greeve, or Mother moane,
That I this wretched World have ſoone forgone:
Better I dye, before I doe amiſſe,
Than live to ſinne, and be bereft of Bliſſe.
All that I can be charg'd with at the Tribunall Throne,
Is Sinne Originall, for Actuall I have none,
And that I know my Saviour with his Blood
Hath waſht away, and made my Badneſs Good.
And cauſe I know (though Knowledge I have ſmall)
That Jeſus Chriſt did dye to ſave us all;
I paſſe with Joy, in Heaven to meet my King,
With Angels and Archangels there to ſing.
Then, Father, mourne, and, Mother, weep no more,
I now dye rich, that might have liv'd but poore;
For had I progreſt unto Man's Eſtate,
It is not certaine what would be my Fate:
Whether a Croſſe, or Bleſſing, I ſhould prove,
Or merit Parents direful Hate, or Love.
For oft you ſee, how Youths rebellious Prankes
Makes Sonnes ingrate, to thoſe they owe moſt Thankes!
And might not I have been amongſt the Number
Of thoſe that doe their Parents States incumber?
Yes, yes, I might, perhaps, have been a Slave,
And kill'd your Hearts with Care, and digg'd your Grave.
But now my ſilly Dove-like Soule doth part
In Peace of God, and Love of Parents Heart.
Sweet Innocence, my Shield, I beare in Hand,
To guard me towards that moſt Holy Land,
Where Parents both, and Siſter I ſhall ſee,
In God's appointed Time triumphantly.
Till when,
Adieu, ſweet Parents! Jehovah calls away,
My Name is Simon, (Obedience) and I muſt obey.

He was loyal to his King, uſeful in his Pariſh, charitable to the Poor whilſt he was living, and left ſeveral Memorials of it at his Death; and departed this Life the 10th, of Dec. 1675, aged 77 Years.

Near him lyeth the Body of his Son Joſhua Marſhal, Eſq; late Maſter Maſon to King Charles II. He walked in the Steps of his Father, and ſucceeded him, not only in his Office but Virtues. Whereas his Father, in his Life-time, did give Ten Pounds per Annum, iſſuing out of a Houſe in Fetter-lane, during the Term of a Leaſe, for the daily Reading of Divine Morning Service in this Church; he hath perpetuated it for ever. He was Twice Maſter of his Company, and bequeath'd unto them above 200*l.* to the End that, by them, Ten Pounds per Annum ſhould be for ever diſtributed to their poor Widows; and he gave ſeveral other charitable Bequeſts.

In whoſe Memory this Monument is erected by Catharine, his Wife, out of the tender Affection ſhe bore to her Huſband. He died April 6th, 1678, aged 49 Years.

St. EDMUND's the King.

This Church, which is a Rectory, ſituate on the North Side of Lombard-ſtreet, in the Ward of Langbourn, is denominated from its Dedication to St. Edmund, King of the Eaſt-Angles, who, for his ſtedfaſt Profeſſion of the Chriſtian Religion, was barbarouſly murdered by the Pagan Danes, in the Year 870.

Newc. Repert. Eccleſ. Paroch. The Patronage of this Rectory was in the Prior and Convent of the Trinity within Aldgate, till their Suppreſſion, Anno 1539, when coming to the Crown, 'twas ſoon after conferred upon the Archbiſhop of Canterbury and his Succeſſors, in whom it ſtill remains. But in Eccleſiaſtical Affairs 'tis ſubject to the Archdeacon of London; except what relates to Wills and Adminiſtrations, which belong to the Commiſſary.

Act. Parl. 22 & 23 Car. II. This Church ſharing the common Fate in the Fire of 1666, 'tis ſince rebuilt, and by Act of Parliament conſtituted the Place of Publick Worſhip for this and the Pariſh of St. Nicholas Acons; whereby the Rectorial Profits are increaſed near double to what they were; which, together with the Diſburſements of the Cure, are as follow:

This Monument declares, that here the Corps doth lye,
Of him that ſought in Science Sight to publiſh prudently,
(Among the reſt of Things, the which be put in ure)
That antient Practice and profound, that hight Architecture.
A Knowledge meet for thoſe that Buildings do erect,
As by his Workes, at large ſet forth, is ſhewn the full Effect.
All for the Love he bare to do this his native Land;
Yet though he dyed, his Deeds do live, and Fame in them doth ſtand.
Who likes therefore to winne ſuch Fame as he hath wonne,
Let them take Care for Commonweale, as here John Shute hath done.
Whoſe Soule we hope to be in faithful Abraham's Breſt,
With God's elect and choſen Flocke, for ever there to reſt.
Wiſedome and Science, above each other Thing,
Are Vertues, from the which all Fame doth ſpring.
John Shute, Painter-Stainer, dyed the 25th, of September, Anno Domini 1563.

Tho' the Origin of this Church be buried in Oblivion, it yet appears to be of great Antiquity, from a Diſpute between the Dean and Chapter of St. Paul's, and the Prior and Canons of the Trinity Convent within Aldgate, about the Year 1175, concerning the Patronage thereof; which was determined by Gilbert, Biſhop of London, in Favour of the latter.

St. ETHELBURG's.

This is a Rectory, the ſmall Church whereof ſtands on the Eaſt Side of Biſhopſgate-ſtreet within, in the Ward of that Name; and is ſo denominated from its being dedicated to Ethelburge, the firſt Chriſtian Saxon Princeſs, and Daughter to Ethelbert, King of Kent, the firſt Chriſtian Saxon Prince, and Patron to Auſtin the Monk, the Engliſh Apoſtle.

Ibid.

The Advowſon of this Church was in the Prioreſs and Nuns of St. Helen, in Biſhopſgate-ſtreet, till the Suppreſſion of their Convent, Anno 1539; when coming to the Crown, 'twas ſome time after granted, by Queen Elizabeth, to the Biſhop of London and his Succeſſors, who have ever ſince collated and inducted to the ſame. And in Matters Eccleſiaſtical 'tis ſubject to the Archdeacon.

This Church having fortunately eſcaped the devouring Flames in the Year 1666, it remains, in all Reſpects, upon the antient Foot. The Profits and Diſburſements whereof, to the Incumbent, appear to have been in the Year 1636, as follow:

St. FAITH's.

This Pariſh is a Rectory, the Church whereof was the Vault under the Eaſt End or Choir of St. Paul's Cathedral; and its Name it owes to its being dedicated to St. Faith, or Sancta Fides, a French Virgin of the City of Agen, in the Province of Aquitain, who, according to ſome, ſuffered in the Reign of Diocleſian the Emperor, for refuſing to ſacrifice to Idols.

Act Parl. 22 & 23 Car. II. This Church having ſuffered with the Cathedral of St. Paul's in the great Fire of 1666, the Pariſh thereof has by Parliament been united to the Church of St. Auſtin, where I have taken Notice of its Receipts and Diſburſements on Account of the Cure; therefore ſhall proceed to its Parochial Diſburſements on Account of the Church and Poor:

Antiquities, &c. in this Pariſh.

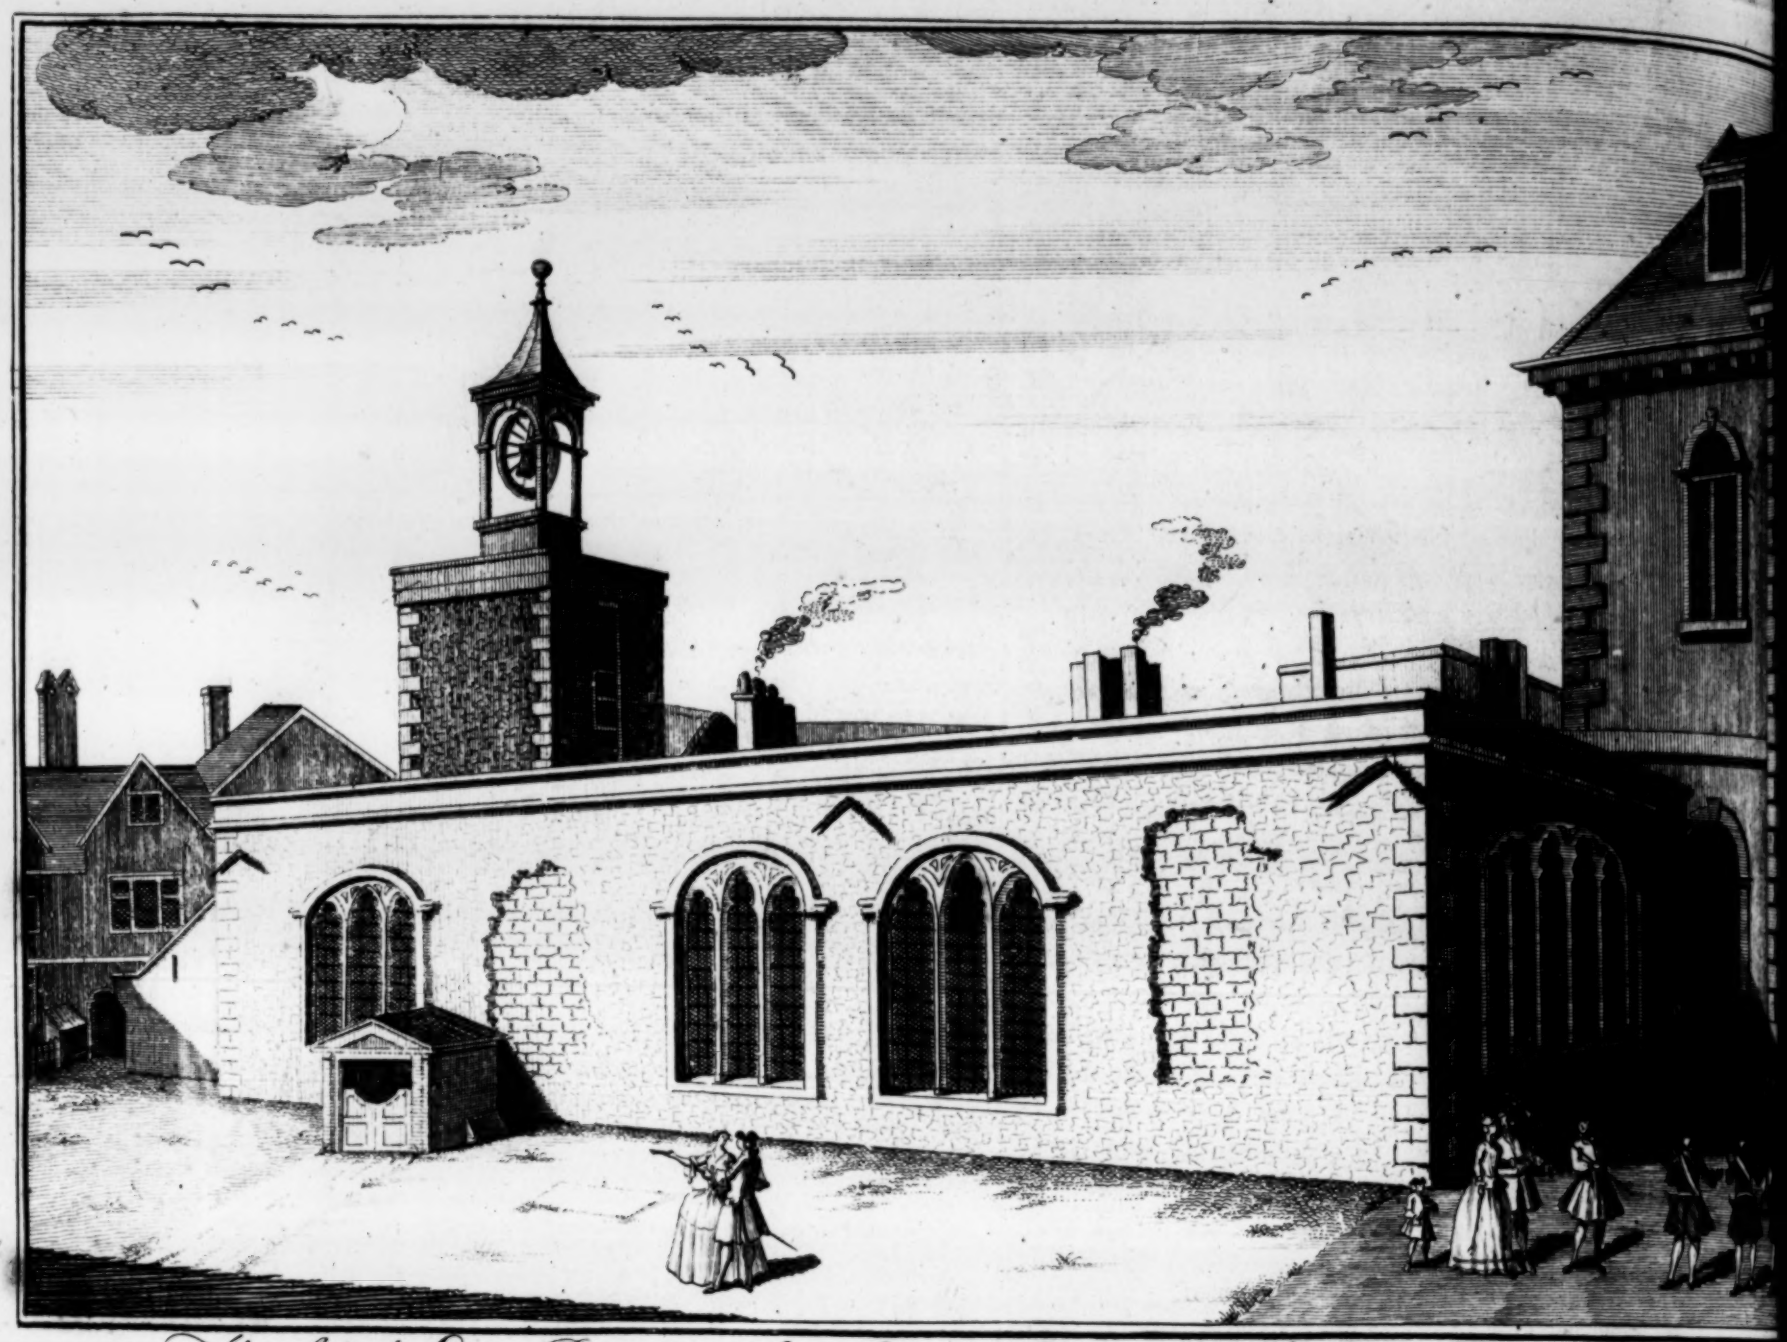
Whether the antient Inhabitants of the Diſtrict at preſent denominated St. Faith's Pariſh, had a Church before the Foundation of the late ſtately Fabrick of St. Paul's Cathedral, by Maurice Biſhop of London, Anno 1087, I cannot aſcertain; yet I think 'tis highly probable they had, becauſe of the great Number of Houſes there appears to have been in this Diſtrict before the Fire of London, in the Year 1086, which were purchaſed and pulled down by the ſaid Maurice, for a Site for his intended ſtupendous new Cathedral. Be that as it will, 'tis manifeſt they could have had no Place of Worſhip under the Choir of St. Paul's before the Year 1312, when the ſame was finiſhed. Godw. Cat. Eng. Biſh. Sax. Chron. Dugd. Hiſt. St Paul.

The firſt Place of Worſhip granted by the Dean and Chapter of St. Paul's to the neighbouring Inhabitants, was in the Cryptis, (corruptly the Crowds) or Weſtern Part of the Vault, under the Choir of that Cathedral; which being dedicated to St. Faith, or Sancta Fides, abovementioned, they continued to perform their religious Duties therein till the Year 1551, when the Chapel of Jeſus, at the Eaſt End thereof, was ſuppreſſed, into which they were permitted to remove, being a Place much more convenient, both in reſpect to its Dimenſions and Lightſomneſs: Of which, on the firſt of March, Anno 1553, they obtained a Leaſe of William May, LL. D. in the Name of the Dean and Chapter of St. Paul's; which was granted to John Denman, D. D. the Parſon and John Laws and Robert Toy, Church-wardens of this Pariſh; whereby was demiſed to them all the Vault or lower Eaſt Part of St. Paul's Church, commonly called the Crowds, ſome time denominated Jeſus Chapel; together with the late Chapel of our Lady and St. Nicholas, in the South Part of the ſaid Vault, or Crowds, and the Entry leading from the South End of the Steps in the ſaid Cathedral, to the ſaid Crowds or Church, but with the Liberty of Paſſage to the ſaid Dean and Chapter, thro' the ſaid Entry, to and from their Crowds, Storehouſe or Wine-Cellar; which Leaſe was granted for the Term of ninety-nine Years at the Rent of twelve Pence per Annum, to be paid yearly at the Feaſt of Pentecoſt; and in caſe of Non-Payment for the Space of twenty Days after the ſame ſhall become due and demanded, then and in ſuch caſe 'twas lawful for the ſaid Dean and Chapter to enter upon, and take Poſſeſſion of the Premiſes at Pleaſure. Stow. Surv. Lond. Rec. St. Paul. Cath.

And the Parſon and Church-wardens aforeſaid, did covenant to maintain and keep in repair the ſaid Crowds or Church, during the Continuance of their Leaſe; and not to break down any of the Walls or Pillars of the ſame; nor to break up any Part of the Floor or Ground to bury in, without Leave firſt had and obtained of the ſaid Dean and Chapter, one of the Reſidentiaries of St. Paul's; or, in his Abſence, of the Sub-Dean, or Clerk of the Veſtry of the ſaid Cathedral. Ibid.

And it was farther agreed, that the ſaid Parſon, Church-wardens and their Succeſſors, ſhall, for every Corpſe buried in their ſaid Church or Crowds, pay to the Dean and Chapter, and their Succeſſors, the Sum of ſix Shillings and eight Pence, and to the Clerk of the new Works of St. Paul's the like Sum of ſix Shillings and eight Pence, upon Forfeiture (when lawfully demanded) of forty Shillings for each Corpſe, over and above the ſaid Sum of thirteen Shillings and four Pence. 'Twas Ibid.



The South East Prospect of the Chapel Royal of S.t Peter in the Tower.

The West Prospect of the Parish Church of S.t Giles Cripplegate

likewiſe agreed, that the ſaid Parſon, &c. ſhould have a Wire, from the Clock of the Cathedral, to be faſtened to a Hammer, to ſtrike upon the Bell of St. Faith's Church.

Tho' it does not appear that the Pariſhioners of St. Faith's ever renewed their Leaſe, yet it is manifeſt that they continued their Publick Worſhip in the aforeſaid Crowds, or Vault, till Anno 1666, when the Cathedral of St. Paul was deſtroyed by Fire; on which Occaſion this Pariſh being united to the Church of St. Auſtin's, the Pariſhioners are provided with a Church, tho' not a Cemitery; for which they ſeem to lie at the Diſcretion of the Dean and Chapter of St. Paul's.

St. GABRIEL's.

This is a Rectory, the Church whereof ſtood oppoſite Cullum-ſtreet, in the middle of Fenchurch-ſtreet, and Ward of Langbourn.

Newc. Rep. Eccl. Paroch. This Church has gone by divers Names, the moſt antient whereof appears to be that of St. Mary Fenchurch, whereby 'twas known 'till the Year 1517, when in the London Regiſtry it was recorded by the Appellation of St. Gabriel, and the Year after by that of All-Saints; whence my Author conjectures, that it was at firſt dedicated to all three. Be that as it will, it was from that Time to the Fire of London, in Records, denominated St. Gabriel Fenchurch; which, by the Vulgar, was converted into Fore-Church, to diſtinguiſh it from St. Dionis, in the ſame Street, commonly called Back-Church.

Ibid. The Patronage of this Rectory appears to have been antiently in the Prior and Convent of the Trinity within Aldgate, in whom it continued till the Suppreſſion of their Priory, when it devolved to the Crown, in which it ſtill remains.

This Church having undergone the common Fate Anno 1666, it has not been rebuilt; but the Pariſh being annexed to the Church of St. Margaret Pattens, the Rectorial Profits are thereby augmented, which, together with the Diſburſements on Account of the Cure, I ſhall inſert when I come to treat of the Pariſh of the ſaid St. Margaret. In the mean Time, I ſhall ſubjoin the Parochial Charge in reſpect to the Church and Poor.

St. GEORGE Botolph-lane.

This Church, which is a Rectory, ſituate on the Weſt Side of Botolph-lane, in the Ward of Billingſgate, is denominated from its Dedication to St. George of Cappadocia, the Confeſſor, Martyr, and Tutelar Saint of the Engliſh Nation: But the Story of his killing the Dragon, is equally abſurd with the fictitious Invention of there being ſuch an heterogeneous Creature. Newc. Report. Eccleſ. Paroch.

The Patronage of this Rectory was in the Abbot and Convent of Bermondſey till their Suppreſſion in the Year 1539, when it came to the Crown, in which it ſtill remains. But in Eccleſiaſtical Affairs it is ſubject to the Archdeacon of London, ſave as to Wills and Adminiſtrations, which belong to the Commiſſary. Ibid.

This Church being deſtroyed in the great Fire Anno 1666, it is handſomely rebuilt, and the Pariſh of St. Botolph's Billingſgate thereunto united by Act of Parliament; whereby the Rector's Stipend is conſiderably advanced, which, with the Rectorial Diſburſements, are as follow: Act Parl. 22 & 23 Car II.

St. GILES's Cripplegate.

This is a Vicarage, the Church whereof is ſituate at the South-Weſt Corner of Fore-ſtreet in the Ward of Cripplegate without; and is ſo denominated from its Dedication to St. Gil[es] Grecian and Citizen of Athens, and the neighbouring Gate. Ibid.

The Patronage of this Vicarage was in private Hands, till Aelmund, [illegible] (after his own Death, [illegible] only Son) to the Dean and Chapter of St. Paul's Church, whereby they became [illegible] Ordinaries of the Pariſh, but likewiſe Proprietors of the Rectory, and Patrons of the Vicarage; wherefore it is exempt both from the Archdeacon Ibid.

Monumental Inſcriptions.

Franciſco Barono Nobiliſſimo Mediolanenſi, & Annæ Baptiſtæ Baroni Uxori, necnon & Filio, quorum oſſa hoc clauduntur Tumulo. Idem Baptiſta Baronus, Franciſci Frater, ac Annæ Maritus, in eorum memoriam hanc poſuit ſcriptionem. Obiit Franciſcus, Londin. 16 die Aprilis, Anno Domini 1633, Ætatis ſuæ 31. Anna vero & Filius, ultimo die Octobris, 1546. Mund Ed. Stow. ſur.

Heere lyeth buried Sir Henry Grey, Knight, Sonne and Heire to George Lord Grey, of Ruthen, and Earl of Kent. The which Sir Henry Grey departed this Life the 24th Day of September, in the Yeere of Chriſt 1562. Ibid.

Johannis Hambei, Armigeri, Caro hoc in Tumulo repulvereſcit, ſicut & Janæ chariſſimæ Conjugis. Qui dum vixit Edowardo Sexto, Maria, & Elizabetha Angliæ Regibus, in variis calculorum & rationum generibus, tam præſtitorum & exterorum, quam decimarum & primitiarum ratiocinator digniſſimis extiterat. Obiit autem Johannes, 8 Calend. Aprilis, Anno Salutis è Chriſto 1573. Quem Jana Secundo poſt Menſe inſequuta eſt, 16 Scilicet Calend. Junii. Quorum ſpiritus ad Cœlum reverſi reaſſumptionem Carnis expectant. Ibid.

A Remembrance of Tho. Buſbie, Citizen and Cooper of London, who departed this Life in the Yeere 1575, and was buried the 11th Day of July. Ibid.

This Buſbie, willing to relieve the Poore
With Fire and with Bread,
Did give the Houſe wherein he dwelt,
Then called the Queenes Head.
Four full Loads of the beſt Charcoales,
He would have bought each Yeere,
And Forty Dozen of Wheaten Bread,
For poor Houſeholders here.
To ſee theſe Things diſtributed,
This Buſbie put in Truſt
The Vicar and Church-wardens,
Thinking them to be juſt.
God grant that poore Houſeholders here
May thankful be for ſuch;
So God will move the Minds of more,
To do for them as much.

And

And let this good Example move
Such Men as God hath bleſt,
To doe the like before they goe
With Buſbie to their Reſt.
Within this Chapel, Buſbie's Bones
In Duſt a while muſt ſtay,
Till he that made them raiſe them up,
To live with Chriſt for aye.

Ibid. If you on Earth that live, did know
What Reſt the Dead poſſeſſe,
You would not wiſh to wander here,
In Vale of Wretchedneſſe.
Good Helen, Wife to me that was,
Prepare thyſelf with ſpeed,
That thou and I, with this young Maid,
A Plant of both our Seed,
May reſt in One, and riſe in Three,
By Power of Godhead's Might,
When we with Angels ſhall aſſemble,
To everlaſting Light.

Richard Roper lived 70 Yeeres, and dyed the 28th Day of Septemb. Anno Dom. 1578. Helen lived 65 Yeeres, and Joane 2.

Ibid. Sacro ſub hoc ſaxo tria Corpora miſta quieſcunt,
Gulielmi Bullen, Medici, Fratriſque Richardi,
Ac Johannis Foxi, qui tres, mihi crede, fuerunt
Doctrina clari, rari & pietatis alumni.
Gulielmus Bullen, Medicamina ſemper habebat,
Æquè Pauperibus danda, ac locupletibus æquè.
Sic que Richardus erat bene facere & ipſe paratus
Omnibus ex æquo, quibus ipſe prodeſſe valebat.
At Foxus noſter per multos hos paraſangas,
Vita precurrit, ſtudiiſque accedimus omnes.
Extant quæ ſcripſit Tormenta cruente Piorum,
Extant perdocte per multa volumina ſcripta,
Quæ ſcripſit Foxus; nulli fuit ipſe ſecundus.
Obiit An. Dom. 1587, April 16.

Ibid. Chriſto S. S. Johanni Foxo, Eccleſiæ Anglicanæ Martyrologo fideliſſimo, Antiquitatis Hiſtoricæ indagatori Sagaciſſimo, Evangelicæ veritatis propugnatori acerrimo, Thaumaturgo admirabili; qui Martyres Marianos, tanquam Phœnices, ex Cineribus redivivos præſtitit: Patri ſuo omni pietatis officio imprimis colendo, Samuel Foxus, illius Primogenitus, hoc Monumentum poſuit, non ſine Lachrymis.

Obiit die 18 Menſ. Aril. Anno Dom. 1587. Jam Septuagenarius.

Vita Vitæ mortalis eſt, ſpes Vitæ immortalis.

Ibid. Within this Ile lyeth buried the Body of Charles Langley, ſometime of this Pariſh, Ale-Brewer, who was buried the Eighth Day of June, An. Dom. 1602, and did give bountifully to the Poore of this Pariſh.

If Langley's Life you liſt to know,
Read on, and take a View;
Of Faith and Hope I will not ſpeake
His Works ſhall ſhew them true.
Who whilſt he liv'd with Counſell grave
The better Sort did guide;
A Stay to Weake, a Staffe to Poore,
Without Back-bite, or Pride.
And when he dyed he gave his Mite,
All that did him befall,
For ever once a Year to cloath
Saint Giles his Poore withall.
All-Saints he pointed for the Day,
Gownes, Twenty, ready made,
With Twenty Shirts and Twenty Smocks,
As they may beſt be had.
A Sermon eke he hath ordain'd,
That God may have his Praiſe,
And others might be won thereby,
To follow Langley's Wayes.
On Vicar and Church-Wardens then
His Truſt he hath repos'd,
As they will anſwer him one Day,
When all ſhall be diſclos'd.
Thus being dead, yet ſtill he lives,
Lives never for to dye,
In Heaven's Bliſſe, in World's Fame;
And ſo I truſt ſhall I.

Roger Maſon, of this Pariſh, Citizen and Vintner of London, gave to the Poore of the Freedome of this Pariſh 200 l. wherewith an yeerly Rent of Sixteen Pounds, or thereabout, is purchaſed for ever; to be beſtowed on Ten Gownes of black Cloath lined, to be diſtributed yeerly upon Tenne poore Men of the Freedom of this Pariſh, upon All-Saints Day, at the Diſcretion of the Vicar and Church-Wardens for the Time being. He died the 3d Day of September 1603, Ætat. ſuæ 37; leaving his Wife Jane, by whom he had Three Sons and Three Daughters, whereof One only now liveth, named Katherine; which Jane truely paid the above-mentioned Two hundred Pounds; and joyned the Erection of this Monument; ſet up An. Dom. 1606, May the 8th Day. Ibid.

William Day, Citizen and Vintner of London, the Sonne of Thomas Day, of Boſeham in Suſſex, Gentleman, and Elizabeth, his Wife, gave to the Poore of this Pariſh Eighty Pounds; which was paid by his Brother George Day, wherewith an yeerly Rent of Six Pounds, or thereabout, is purchaſed for ever; to be beſtowed on Twelve Coats of Greene Cloth, to be diſtributed yeerly upon Twelve poor Orphans, upon All-Saints Day; at the Diſcretion of the Vicar and Church-Wardens for the Time being. Hee lyeth buried in his Pariſh Church of St. Michael in Cornhill, and dyed the 28th Day of September 1603, Ætatis ſuæ 32; ſet up Anno Domini, 1606, May the 8th Day. Ibid.

Here lyeth the Body of Edward Harviſt, Citizen and Brewer of London, Alderman's Deputy, of this Pariſh, and one of his Majeſty's Gunners, and Anne, his beloved Wife. They were both very charitable Perſons; as in giving Land to this Pariſh perpetually, for the Relief of poore Widows; as alſo Land to the Company whereof he was free, for mending of the High-way between Edgeworth and Paddington. He gave great Legacies to his poore Kindred, and departed this Life the 14th Day of March 1610. She departed this Life the 24th Day of May, Anno Dom. 1610, expecting both a glorious Reſurrection in Jeſus Chriſt. Ibid.

The ſacred Corps of Sarah, Wife of Henry Goodricke, Daughter of William Bodenham, Knight, was interred at the South End of this Seat, towards the Pulpit. Buried the 6th June, Anno 1616. Stryp Ed. Stow. Sur.

The Bearer's Sorrow ſable Lions ſhew,
Like to that Lion which did overthrow
The Man of God; and, charg'd alike, doe ſtand
Grand Guardants here, to checke the upheav'd Hand,
Unweeting Wights, or ignorant ſhall lay
Upon her hallowed Corps, that here did pray.
A ſacred Temple 'twas, wherein did ſhine
Her Maker's Glory, Humane and Divine.
Sweet Commerce ſanctify'd with Zeal, mov'd there,
In Beauties Fabrick, its own proper Sphere;
For which it towr's above the Sight of Eye,
God's Temples muſt ly low, that tower ſo high.

On the well-diſpoſed of Women, Jane Wilſon, Wife of Dr. John Wilſon, who left this Life to thoſe that lov'd it, the 16th of July 1624. She had Iſſue by him Five Sons and Four Daughters. New View Lond.

Ibid. An Elegy and Epitaph compoſed to perpetuate the pious Memory of the well-deſerving and worthely-honoured Mr. Henry Colron, who died Aug. 8, 1655. Aged 57 Years.

Silence, but a Word, namely, that he Was Pious, Wiſe, Juſt, Merciful and Free;
This was his Work, to quench illegal Hates,
Not conquer Kingdoms, but compoſe Debates;
How rare a Pilot in ſuch Tempeſts known,
Many Eſtates embark'd, but ſhipwreck'd none.
Pardon his meaner Grave, who thought it meet
By Virtue, not with Fabricks, to be great:
For to his Tomb non could more Trophies bring,
A uſeful Man on Earth, in Heav'n a King.

Epitaph.

Before this Stone interred lyes
The lame Man's Feet, the blind Man's Eyes;
Bleſt, when at the laſt Judgment he,
With theſe ſhall his Redeemer ſee.
None like to thoſe, except that Eye
Of Faith which brings Plerophory.

Ibid. To the Memory of Conſtance Whitney, eldeſt Daughter to Sir Robert Whitney, of Whitney, the proper Poſſeſſion of him and his Anceſtors, in Herefordſhire, for above Five hundred Years paſt. Her Mother was the Fourth Daughter of Sir Thomas Lucy, of Charlecote in Warwickſhire, by Conſtance Kingſmell, Daughter and Heir of Richard Kingſmell, Surveyor of the Court of Wards. This Lady Lucy, her Grandmother, ſo bred her ſince ſhe was eight Yeers old.

As ſhe excelled in all noble Qualities, becoming a Virgin of ſo ſweet Proportion of Beauty and Harmony of Parts, ſhe had all Sweetneſs of Manners anſwerable: A delightful Sharpneſſe of Wit, and offenceleſſe Modeſty in Converſation; a ſingular Reſpect and Piety towards her Parents; but religious even to Example. She departed this Life moſt Chriſtianly at Seventeen; dying the Grief of all, but to her Grandmother an unrecoverable Loſs; ſave in her Expectation, ſhe ſhall not ſtay long after her; and the Comfort of knowing, who ſhe is, and where, in the Reſurrection, to meet her.

Though the Figure of a Woman (on this Monument) riſing up in a Coffin, be only an Emblem of the Reſurrection; it has nevertheleſs given Birth to an idle Story, that the interred was buried alive, which being, by a certain Caſualty, diſcovered, ſhe was taken up, and had afterwards many Children.

Neer this Pillar lies interred the Body of Edmund Harriſon, Eſq; late of this Pariſh; who (having lived about Forty Years a Batchelour) had to Wife Jane, the eldeſt Daughter of Thomas Godfrey, late of Hodiford in the County of Kent, Eſq; by whom he had Iſſue Twelves Sons and Nine Daughters; of which, at the Time of his Death, were only living Three Sons, Godfrey, Edmund, and Peter; and Two Daughters, Sarah and Jane. Stryp. Ed. Stow Sur.

He was Embroiderer to Three Kings, viz. King James I. King Charles I. and King Charles II. Left the Troubles of this World the 9th of January 1666, in the 77th Year of his Age, in a Chriſtian Aſſurance of a Reſurrection unto Life eternal. To whoſe Memory his eldeſt Son, Godfrey, erected this Monument.

Suis & ſibi conſtans. Deo, Regi & Legi fidus Obtemperator. Ætate Civis & Prudentia verè venerandus. Prole multæ Spei numeroſa, ut Conjugio felix, dives rem ſuis benè partam & liberam reliquit. In Memory of Mary, the Daughter of Robert Compton, of Elveſtowe in the County of Bedford, Eſq; the pious, charitable, chaſte, and moſt beloved Wife of Captain John Perry, of this Pariſh. She was born the 20th of November, 1651, dyed the 21ſt of February 1676. She had Two Daughters, Margaret and Mary, both here buried in their Infancy; whoſe Death, ſhe too much lamenting, haſtned her own. Ibid.

Here to the Word of God ſhe did attend;
Hence, at the Call of God, ſhe ſhall aſcend.

You do not him forget, who is above, &c.

Here lyes interred the Body of John Wythens, Gent. of an ancient Family in Kent, who was buried the 2d of October 1693, and Elizabeth, his well-beloved Wife, who was buried July 6, 1701. They lived very happily together in this Pariſh Forty Years, having had Nine Children. Alſo the Body of Tho. Wythens, their Son. Alſo of William Rowe, Son of George Rowe. New View Lond.

Within this Tomb's enclos'd the ſacred Duſt
Of them, whoſe Souls now plac'd among the Juſt;

But now they're gone into thoſe Joys above,
To their Redeemer, and their God of Love.

Stow Sur. Lond. The Church of this Pariſh was founded by Alſune, (the firſt Maſter of St. Bartholomew's Hoſpital) about the Year 1090.

Ibid. The Site of this Pariſh, which was anciently a Fen or Moor, was at firſt converted into Gardens by the Citizens; but the ſame being ſince obliged to make way for Houſes, it was conſtituted a Prebend of S. Paul's Cathedral, by the Appellation of Mora.

St. GREGORY's.

Newc. Rep. Eccl. Paroch. This Church, which was anciently a Rectory, adjoining to the South-weſt Angle of St. Paul's Cathedral, in the Ward of Baynard's Caſtle, owes its Name to Gregory the Great, Biſhop of Rome, who ſent hither Auſtin, the Monk, to convert the Engliſh Nation to Chriſtianity.

Ibid. This Church being one of the Peculiars belonging to the Dean and Chapter of St. Paul's, they are both Patrons and Ordinaries thereof; therefore it pays neither Firſt-fruits or Tenths, nor other Procuration than that to the Commiſſary.

Act Par. 22 & 23 Car. II. This Church ſuffering in the great Fire of London, in 1666, it has not been rebuilt; but the Pariſh thereof being by Act of Parliament annexed to the Church of St. Mary Magdalen in Old Fiſh-ſtreet, I ſhall there account for the Profits and Diſburſements of the united Cures; and ſhall now proceed to the Parochial Diſburſements on Account of the Church and Poor.

Antiquities, &c. in this Pariſh.

Stow. Sur. Lond. Ab Floriacenſ. This Church undoubtedly was one of the moſt ancient in this City; for the piratical and barbarous Danes having committed the moſt unheard-of Cruelties and Depredations in the Kingdom of Eaſt-Anglia, Anno 1010, Alwyne, Biſhop of Helmeham, removed the Remains of King Edmund, the Martyr, from Bedriſworth (St. Edmund's-Bury) to the City of London, where he depoſited the ſame in this Church, in which they continued for the Space of three Years.

Newc. Rep. Eccleſ. Paroch. King Edward III. in the Year 1367, made the firſt Advance toward the Reduction of this Rectory, by giving Licence to Robert de Ketering, the Rector thereof, to grant certain Lands and Meſſuages, of the Value of 6 l. 13 s. 4 d. per Annum, to the Dean and Chapter of St. Paul's, toward the Maintenance of the Petty Canons, to ſing Divine Service daily in that Cathedral, for the Proſperity of the King, Queen and Royal Family, during Life, and for the Repoſe of their Souls after Death, together with thoſe of all the Faithful deceaſed.

Ibid. In the Year 1446, this Church was wholly appropriated to the ſaid Petty Canons, for their better Support; ſince which Time they have been both Parſons and Proprietors thereof. And by Act. Parl. 22 & 23 Car. II. the Act of Parliament for uniting Pariſhes, and ſettling their reſpective Cures, after the Fire of London Anno 1666, the ſaid Petty Cannons are to enjoy all Tithes, Oblations and Duties ariſing in this Pariſh, in as ample a Manner as formerly, to all Intents and Purpoſes, as if the ſaid Act had never been made; which is a great Hardſhip upon the Pariſhioners, who are not only obliged to pay Tithes, but likewiſe to contribute their Share of the 120 l. appointed by the ſaid Act as a Stipend to the Incumbent of the united Pariſhes in lieu of Tithes.

St. HELEN's.

This Church, which is a Vicarage, ſituate in a ſpacious Court, on the Eaſt Side of Biſhopſgate-ſtreet, in the Ward of that Name, is denominated from its Dedication to St. Helen, the Mother of Conſtantine the Great.

Newc. Rep. Eccl. Paroch. The Patronage of this Church appears to have been anciently in Lay Hands; for one Ranulph, with his Son Robert, about the Year 1180, granted the ſame to the Dean and Canons of St. Paul's, by whom it was ſome Time after granted to William, Son of William, a Goldſmith, who founded the adjacent Priory of St. Helen; on the Prioreſs and Nuns of which he conferred the Advowſon thereof, in whom it continued till the Suppreſſion of their Convent Anno 1539, when it came to the Crown.

Ibid. On the firſt of April 1551, Edward the Sixth, by his Letters Patent, granted the Advowſon to Nicholas, Biſhop of London, and his Succeſſors; which was confirmed by Queen Mary, Anno 1553. But it having been ſince regranted to the Dean and Chapter of St Paul's they are both Patrons and Ordinaries, and collate to the Vicarage.

This Church fortunately eſcaping the devouring Flames of 1666, it remains in all Reſpects as formerly, paying neither Firſt-fruits, Tenths or Procurations, other than 6 s. 8 d. to the Commiſſary of the Dean and Chapter of St. Paul's, and to the ſaid Dean and Chapter a Penſion of 6 s. 8 d.

Newc. Rep. Eccl. Paroch. Reg. Dec. & Cap. lib. a. f. 32. I am of Opinion that this Church was founded in the Reign of Henry II. by one Ranulph, who, with his Son Robert, about the Year 1180, granted it to the Dean and Chapter of St. Paul's, who ſome Time after regranted the Advowſon thereof to William, the Son of William, a Goldſmith.

Stow. Sur. Lond. By this Extract from the Records of the Dean and Chapter of St. Paul's, is plainly ſhewn Stow's Miſtake, in aſcribing the Foundation of this Priory to William Baſing, Dean of St. Paul's; whereas there never was any Perſon of that Name Dean of that Cathedral.

While the ſaid Priory ſubſiſted, the Pariſh Church was within that of the Convent; but the Nunnery being diſſolved, and the Partition removed, both Churches were laid into one, and conſtituted the Pariſh-Church as it at preſent appears.

The Impropriation reverting to the Crown, it was, Anno 1568, demiſed to the Pariſhioners, upon Leaſe, for the Term of twenty-one Years, at the Rent of 8 l. 16 s. 1 d. The Leaſe being made to Cæſar Aldermane and Thomas Colcel, in Truſt for the Inhabitants, who, during the ſaid Term, were to enjoy the Rectory, Pariſh-Church, Meſſuages, Houſes, Tithes, Oblations, and all Profits whatſoever, other than the Right of Advowſon, which was reſerved to the Crown. Par. Rec.

The aforeſaid Leaſe being expired, Queen Elizabeth, in the Year 1599, ſold the Rectory and Church, with all their Rights and Appurtenances ſome Time belonging to the late Priory, together with all the Meſſuages, Houſes, Gardens, Tithes, Oblations, Obventions, Rents, Fruits, Profits and Hereditaments to Michael and Edward Stanhope, to be held by them, their Heirs and Aſſigns, in Soccage, in Conſideration of their having paid to her Majeſty the Sum 610 l. 18 s. 7 d. Beſide this Sum, the Purchaſers agreed to pay annually for ever the Sum of twenty Pounds, as a Stipend to a Miniſter to celebrate the Divine Offices in the ſaid Church, to be approved of by the Biſhop of London. The Impropriation at preſent belongs to Mr. William Parker. See Biſhopſgate Ward. Ibid.

St. JAMES's Duke's-Place.

This is a Curacy, the Church whereof is ſeated in Duke's-Place in the Ward of Aldgate; and the Patronage thereof being in the Lord-Mayor and Commonalty of London, they claim a Right of Exemption from the Biſhop of London's Juriſdiction, in Matters Eccleſiaſtical. Newc. Repert. Eccleſ. Paroch.

Sir Edward Barkham, ſome Time Lord-Mayor of this City, being a great Contributor toward the erecting of this Church, the following Verſes were hung up in the ſame to perpetuate his Generoſity:

Mund. Ed. Stow. Sur.

As David could his Eyes no Reſt afford,
Till he had found a Place out to the Lord
To build an Altar, ſo this Man of Worth;
The Mirrour which theſe latter Days brings forth,
Barkham, the worthie, whoſe immortall Name,
Marble's too weake to hold, for this Workes Fame:
He never ceaſt in Induſtrie and Care,
From Ruines to redeem this Houſe of Praier;
Following in this to holy Patriarcks waies,
That ready were him Altars ſtill to raiſe,
Where they receiv'd a Bleſſing: So this Lord,
Scarce warme in Honour's Seate, did firſt accord
To this moſt pious Worke, in which is ſhowne
God's Bleſſing and his Thanks, met both in one.
The Charge the honourable Citie beares,
Whoſe Bounty in ful Nobleneſs appeares,
To Acts of beſt Condition, in ſuch wiſe,
That all Things bettering, by their Ruine riſe:
Two noble, faithfull Superviſors then,
Amongſt a Senate of religious Men,
Selected were, to whom the Care they gave,
Generous Hamerſley and Cambell the grave,
Each being a Maſter-piece of Zeal and Care
Towards God's own Temple, fit for Truth's Affaire.
Now at the bleſſed Foundreſs I arrive,
Matilda, whom Henry the firſt did wive,
The Chriſtendome ſhe gave it held the ſame,
Till James our Sovereigne gave it his owne Name.
And ſince I touch Antiquity ſo neere,
Obſerve what Notes remarkable appeare:
An Alderman of London was at firſt
Prime Prior of this Church: Falling to worſt,
It is now rais'd by Encouragement and Care
Of a Lord Maior of London, which is rare,
And worth obſerving; then, as I began,
I end beſt with the Honour of the Man.
The Citie's firſt Lord Mayor lies buried here,
Fitz-Alwine, of the Drapers Company,
And the Lord Maior, whoſe Fame now ſhines ſo cleare,
Barkham, is of the ſame Society.

At the Eaſt End of the Chancel.

Ibid.

The Riſing here of the cleere Goſpel's Sunne,
Is through the Senate's free Donation.
The Globe of that bright Sunne, the God of Might,
Chriſt Jeſus is the Riſing and the Light,
The Heat, the bleſſed Spirit of Truth and Right;
And as theſe Three, the Globe, the Light, the Heat,
Are all one Sunne, ſo Three, one God compleat:
Thrice Allelujah ſpeakes about the Rayes,
That Three in One may only have the Praiſe.

Stay, Paſſenger, here's one Twice bury'd lyes,
Firſt in his Mother's Womb, in which he dies;
Next in his Mother's Lap, and thine, repos'd;
Thus Orient Pearls in Thetis' Cheſts are clos'd:

Stow. Sur. Lond.

The firſt Mention I find of this Church is, that Richard de Rothing (one of the Sheriffs of this City) is ſaid to have rebuilt the ſame about the Year 1326, and in the Neighbourhood of which was a Garlick Market, from which it received its diſtinguiſhing Epithet.

St. JOHN the Baptiſt's.

This is a Rectory, the Church whereof ſtood on the Eaſtern Bank of Walbrook, and Weſt Side of Dowgate-hill, in the Ward of Walbrook; and was ſo denominated from its being dedicated to John the Baptiſt, the Fore-runner of Chriſt.

Newc. Rep. Eccl. Paroch.

The Patronage of this Church was antiently in the Dean and Chapter of St. Paul's, who, it ſeems, granted the ſame to the Prioreſs and Convent of St. Helen, in whom it continued till the Suppreſſion of their Priory, when it came to the Crown, in which it ſtill remains; but in Eccleſiaſtical Affairs it is ſubject to the Archdeacon.

This Church being deſtroy'd in the Fire of London 1666, and not ſince rebuilt; the Pariſh is annexed to the Church of St. Antholin, whereby the Incumbent's Profits are conſiderably increaſed; which, together with the Diſburſements on Account of the Cure, I have inſerted in the Account of St. Antholin's Pariſh; I ſhall therefore proceed to the Receipts and Diſburſements of the Church and Poor:

The Veſtry is neither ſelect nor general, all being admitted that have either ſerved or fined for Church-wardens; two Church-wardens; ſeventy-five Houſes.

Anti-

Antiquities, &c. in this Pariſh.

When, or by whom the late Church was at firſt erected, I cannot learn; however, that it was of great Antiquity, is manifeſt from the State thereof about the Year 1181.

St. JOHN the Evangeliſt's.

This Pariſh is a Rectory, the Church of which was ſeated at the North-Eaſt Corner of Friday-ſtreet, in Watling-ſtreet and Ward of Bread-ſtreet; and was ſo denominated from its Dedication to St. John the Apoſtle and Evangeliſt.

Newe. Rep. Ec-Paroch. The Patronage of this Rectory was antiently in the Prior and Convent of Canterbury, in whom it continued till the Suppreſſion of their Priory, which Henry VIII. having converted into a Dean and Chapter, the Right of Advowſon is veſted in them; and the Rectory, which is one of the thirteen Peculiars of Canterbury in this City, belongs to the Archbiſhop.

This Church being deſtroyed in the great Fire of the Year 1666, it has not been rebuilt; but the Pariſh being united to that of Alballows Bread-ſtreet, the Church thereof is become the Place of Publick Worſhip for both. The Profits and Diſburſements whereof, in reſpect to the Cure, being already accounted for; I ſhall now ſubjoin the Pariſh Receipts and Diſburſements on Account of the Church and Poor.

Newc. Rep. Eccl. Paroch. I have not been able to trace this Church higher, than that it had three Rectors before the Year 1354.

St. JOHN ZACHARY's.

This is a Rectory, the Church whereof was ſituate at the North-Weſt Corner of Maiden-lane, in the Ward of Alderſgate.

Newc. Repert. Eccleſ. Paroch. The Patronage of this Rectory has been all along in the Dean Chapter of St. Paul's; in whom it ſtill continues, under the Subjection of the Archdeacon.

This Church being deſtroy'd in the common Calamity of 1666, and not being rebuilt, the Pariſh is annexed to that of St. Anne; where I have given an Account of the Profits and Diſburſements of both Rectories in reſpect to the Cure.

Mund.Ed. Stow. Sur. This Monument is erected to Sir James Pemberton, Knight; who, being Sheriff of this City at the coming in of King James, entertained neere Forty Earles and Barons in his Houſe, on the Day of the King's being proclaimed. Afterwards, Anno 1612, was elected Maior of this moſt Honourable Citie of London. Hee erected a Free-Schoole in the Pariſh of Eccleſton in Lancaſhire, Sixteene Yeeres before his Death, and gave Fifty Pounds by the Yeere to the maintaining thereof for ever. Hee gave alſo Five hundred Pounds to Chriſt's Hoſpitall; and Two hundred Pounds to the Company of Goldſmiths, beſides many liberall Gifts to the Poore of his Kindred; and many other moſt charitable Uſes. He died the Eighth Day of September, 1613, aged 68 Years.

Marble, nor Touch, nor Alabaſtar can
Reveale the Worth of the long-buried Man.
For oft (we ſee) Mens Goods, when they are gone,
Doe pious Deeds, when they themſelves did none.
Mine (while I liv'd) no Goodneſs did expreſſe,
'Tis not Inſcriptions, make them more or leſſe.
In Chriſt I hope to riſe, among the Juſt;
Man is but Graſſe, all muſt to Wormes and Duſt.

Vertue and Death, being both enamoured
On worthy Pemberton, in Heate of Love,
To be poſſeſt of that each coveted,
Thus did they dialogue, and thus they ſtrove:

Vert. What Vertue challengeth, is but her Right.
Dea. What Death lays Claim to, who can contradict?
Ver. Vertue, whoſe Power exceeds all other Might.
Dea. Where's Vertue's Power, when Death makes all ſubmit?
Ver. I gave him Life; and therefore he is mine.
Dea. That Life he held no longer than I liſt.
Ver. I made him more than Mortall, meere Divine.
Dea. How hapt he could not then Death's Stroke reſiſt?
Ver. Becauſe (by Nature) all are born to dye.
Dea. Then thine owne Tongue yeelds Death the Victory.
Ver. No, Death, thou art deceiv'd, thy envious Stroke
Hath given him Life immortall, 'gainſt thy Will.
Dea. What Life can be but vaniſheth as Smoke?
Ver. A Life, that all thy Darts can never kill.
Dea. Have I not lockt his Body in my Grave?
Ver. That was but Duſt; and that I pray thee keepe.
Dea. That is as much as I deſire to have,
His comely Shape in my eternall Sleepe.

Ver. But where's his Honourable Life, Renown and Fame?
Dea. They are but Breath; them I reſigne to thee.
Ver. Them I moſt covet. Dea. I prefer my Claime,
His Body mine. Ver. Mine, his Eternity.

And ſo they ceaſt; Death triumphs o're his Grave,
Vertue o're that, which Death can never have.

And as Faire Trophees, fit to beautifie
His Hearſe, Vertue hangs up theſe Ornaments:
His Juſtice, Wiſdome and Integritie,
His Courage, dreadleſſe of what'ere Events,
His upright Soule, in that High Dignitie
Which London gives her chiefeſt Preſidents,
Free from Compare with ſuch as went before,
Or ſhould ſucceed. It was his ſole Deſire,
Truth might report thoſe Actions leſſe, or more,
Which honeſt Thoughts did in his Heart inſpire.
His Care of Learning, and his liberall Minde
Unto the Poore, Love to his Company,
Kindred and Friends, to whom he was moſt kinde,
And with whom he dealt truly bounteouſly:
Theſe Graces better doe become his Grave,
Than waſtfull Words of fruitleſſe Flattery,
And their due Merit (doubtleſſe) he ſhall have,
Among the Bleſſed in Eternity.
Whereto fair Vertue now hath brought her Son,
Worthily honour'd, Sir James Pemberton.

The earlieſt Account I find of the late Church, is its being rated to pay a certain annual Sum to the Canons of St. Paul's, about the Year 1181, at which Time it was denominated St. John Baptiſt's, as appears by a Grant thereof from the Dean and Chapter of St. Paul's, to one Zachary, whoſe Name it probably receiv'd, to diſtinguiſh it from one of the ſame Name on Walbrook. However, it not being rebuilt, the Site thereof is converted into a Cemitery. Newc. Repert. Eccleſ. Paroch.

St. KATHARINE Coleman.

This Church is a Rectory, ſituate on the South Side of Fenchurch-ſtreet, in the Ward of Aldgate; and is ſo denominated from its being dedicated to an Egyptian Virgin, and the Epithet of Coleman, to a large Hawyard or Garden, call'd Coleman-Haw. Newc. Rep. Eccl. Paroch.

The Patronage of this Church was antiently in the Dean and Canons of St. Martin's le Grand, in whom it continued till Henry VII. annexed that Monaſtery, with its Appurtenance, to the Convent of Weſtminſter; whereby the Right of Advowſon devolved upon the Abbot and Canons, with whom it continued till their Suppreſſion; when coming to the Crown, Queen Mary, by her Letters Patent, Anno 1553, granted the ſame to the Biſhop of London and his Succeſſors, in whom it ſtill remains. But in Affairs Eccleſiaſtical it is ſubject to the Archdeacon.

The old Church happily eſcaped the devouring Flames in the Year 1666. The Profits and Diſburſements of the Rector, in regard to the Cure, as returned in the Year 1636, were as follow:

The Epitaph.

In ancient Times, the Friends ſurviving gave
Some rich Memoriall to the dead Friend's Grave,
Gold, Pearles or Gemmes; which Cuſtom did intend
Our Riches ought to wait upon our Friend,
In Life and Death. O bleſſed Ages, when Men parted Fortunes, and not Fortunes Men!
But now perverted are our preſent Ends,
That for Wealth ſell the Fame of living Friends.

The Dead we live by, now can ſcant afford
The Rites and Sacrifice of one good Word:
Of which, leſt I be one, though I can bring
(For worthy Obſequie) no precious Thing,
My Gratitude preſents unto her Hearſe,
My Teares for Balme, for Offering my ſad Verſe.
Give leave then, Griefe, let my ſad Muſe declare,
What ſhe that's dead was, unto them that are.
The Rule and Index to find all the Good
That ever Heaven dealt upon Womanhood:
For if we but anatomize her Life,
We find both a good Woman and good Wife.
Firſt ſhe lov'd God, not like the Phariſee,
In Oſtentation and Hypocriſie,
But even with all her Heart and all her Soule;
She ſecretly did raging Sinne controule:
For ſhe (for Goodneſſe Sake) was innocent,
And not for Glory, or Feare of Puniſhment.
Next, to her Neighbour, did her Love extend,
Ready to helpe at Need, and to befriend
The Poore, and thoſe that never could repay,
But with their Prayers at the latter Day.
The Remnant of her Love ſhe did beſtow
Upon her Huſband, not in outward Show,
Or elſe in feign'd adulterate Flattery,
But in ſound Truth, and deepe Sincerity.
Thus did ſhe live, divided in her Love,
From this unworthy World; and Nature then,
Which had but lent her, tooke her backe agen.
Where let us live in Peace, and let us try
To live like her, that we like her may dye.
Come hither, Women, leave your Vanities,
Your Luſt, your Scorns, your Pride, your Fooleries;
For hither you muſt all. The Duſt, and Grave,
All your adored Braveries muſt have.
And all thoſe Beauties, that are now afraid,
Of Ayre, of Sunne, muſt in the Ground be laid.
Then deck your Soules, unto whoſe Quinteſſence,
Nor Time, nor Death, nor Grave, can bring Offence.
For ſo you may (for ever) beautifie
Yourſelves, as Angels, in Eternity.

Newc. Repert. Eccleſ. Paroch. The neareſt the Origin of this Church I have been able to come at, is, that John de Hertford was Rector thereof before the Year 1346, which ſhews it not to be of a very modern Foundation. The old Church was very mean; but was pulled down and rebuilt with Brick and Stone, according to the Model annexed, at the Charge of the Pariſh, about 20 Years agoe, under the Sanction of an Act of Parliament, which was afterwards explained and recited by the following Act 15 Geo. II.

Preamble, reciting the Act 12 Geo. II. " Whereas by an Act made and paſſed in the " Twelfth Year of the Reign of his preſent Ma- " jeſty, intituled, An Act to enable the Pariſhi- " oners of the Pariſh of Saint Catherine Coleman in " Fenchurch-ſtreet, in the City of London, to rebuild " the Church of the ſaid Pariſh; certain Truſtees " therein named, or any ſeven or more of them, " were authorized and impowered to cauſe the " ſaid Pariſh-Church, and the Steeple thereof, " to be pulled down, and to be rebuilt after ſuch " Model, and of ſuch Dimenſions and Materials, " and in ſuch Manner and Place, as by the ſaid " Truſtees, or any ſeven or more of them, ſhould " be agreed upon; and for defraying the Ex- " pences of pulling down and rebuilding the ſaid " Church and Steeple, the ſeveral funeral Rates " and Duties therein mentioned and expreſſed, " were granted to, and veſted in the ſaid Truſtees, " for the Purpoſes of the ſaid Act, with ſuch Powers " and Authorities for raiſing and levying the ſame, " as in the ſaid Act mentioned and contained; " and it was thereby enacted, That it ſhould be " lawful for the Pariſhioners of the Pariſh of Saint " Catherine Coleman aforeſaid, in their Veſtry aſ- " ſembled, to nominate twelve ſubſtantial Inha- " bitants of the ſaid Pariſh, who had not ſerved " the Office of Scavenger therein; out of which " twelve Perſons ſo to be nominated, and in De- " fault of ſuch Nomination, out of ſuch other " Inhabitants as had not ſerved that Office there, " the ſaid Truſtees, or any ſeven or more of them, " were thereby authorized, impowered, and re- " quired to chooſe and appoint four Perſons to be " Receivers or Collectors of ſuch Rates, Duties, " and Sums of Money, as ſhould be due and pay- " able by Virtue of the ſaid Act, from all Perſons " liable to pay the ſame; and the ſaid Pariſhioners " in their Veſtry aſſembled, were thereby alſo " authorized, impowered, and required, on the " Tueſday in Eaſter Week, in the Year of our " Lord one thouſand ſeven hundred and forty, " and alſo on the Tueſday in Eaſter Week in every " ſucceeding Year, to nominate twelve other like " Inhabitants; and the ſaid Truſtees, or any " ſeven or more of them, were thereby directed " to chooſe and appoint four of them, and in De- " fault of ſuch Nomination, four other like In- " habitants, to be receivers or Collectors of the " ſame Rates, Duties, and Sums of Money, for " the Purpoſes of the ſaid Act: And it was there- " by further enacted, That it ſhould and might " be lawful to and for any Perſon or Perſons to " contribute, advance, and pay into the Hands " of the ſaid Truſtees, or any ſeven or more of " them, or to ſuch Perſon or Perſons as they " reſpectively ſhould appoint, any Sum or Sums " of Money not exceeding in the whole the Sum " of two thouſand ſeven hundred Pounds, for " the Purchaſe of one or more Annuity or Annu- " ities, to be paid and payable for the natural " Life or Lives of ſuch Contributor or Contribu- " tors reſpectively, or of ſuch other Perſon or " Perſons as they reſpectively ſhould in that Be- " half nominate and appoint, ſo as the ſaid An- " nuity or Annuities ſhould not exceed the Sum " of eight Pounds per Annum, for every one " hundred Pounds, and ſo in Proportion for any " greater or leſs Sum, to be advanced and paid " as aforeſaid: And it was thereby further enacted, " That ſuch Annuities ſo to be purchaſed ſhould " be, and were thereby charged upon and made " payable out of the Monies ariſing by the Rates, " Duties and Aſſeſſments therein mentioned; and " the ſaid Truſtees, or any ſeven or more of them, " were thereby authorized and impowered to " make or cauſe to be made an Aſſeſſment or " Aſſeſſments on all Lands, Houſes, Tenements, " and Hereditaments within the ſaid Pariſh, not " exceeding one Shilling and ſix Pence in the " Pound, in any one Year, of the yearly Rent of " the ſame Premiſſes, as the ſame ſhould be rated " to the Land-tax: And whereas the Truſtees " appointed by the ſaid recited Act, have by Vir- " tue and in Purſuance of the Truſt, Power, and " Authority thereby veſted in them, and by the " Ways and Means therein directed and pre- " ſcribed, raiſed the ſaid Sum of two thouſand " ſeven hundred Pounds, thereby authorized and " appointed to be raiſed as aforeſaid, and have " applied the ſame for and towards the rebuilding

" the ſaid Pariſh-Church of Saint Catherine Coleman,
" and the ſame Church is now intirely rebuilt
" and finiſhed, and divine Service hath for ſome
" Time paſt been performed therein: But as
" ſeveral extraordinary and unforeſeen Expences
" have happened and accrued in and about build-
" ing and finiſhing of the ſaid Church, the total
" Charge of ſuch Building and Finiſhing has ex-
" ceeded the Sum of two thouſand ſeven hun-
" dred Pounds, ſo authorized and directed to be
" raiſed by the ſaid Act for that Purpoſe; and
" the ſum of ſix hundred fifty Pounds, and up-
" wards, being the Surplus of the Charge and
" Expence of ſuch Building above the ſaid two
" thouſand ſeven hundred Pounds, doth now
" remain due to the ſeveral Workmen and Ar-
" tificers employed in the building and finiſhing
" the ſaid Church; which Debt cannot be le-
" vied and raiſed by and out of the Fund grant-
" ed and appropriated by the ſaid Act: And
" whereas the Pariſh of Saint Catherine Coleman
" aforeſaid is but a very ſmall Pariſh, conſiſting
" of few Inhabitants, who moſt of them have
" ſerved the Office of Scavenger; for which Rea-
" ſon the Nomination by the Veſtry of the ſaid
" Pariſh of twelve Inhabitants who have not
" ſerved the ſaid Office, and qualified as in the " Act is directed, and the Appointment by the
" ſaid Truſtees or four Perſons out of ſuch twelve
" to be Receivers or Collectors of the Rates, Du" ties, and Sums of Money thereby granted, and
" the employing and charging four Perſons in
" and with ſuch Receipt or Collection, has " been found very difficult and troubleſome, both
" to the ſaid Truſtees, and Inhabitants of the ſaid
" Pariſh, who do apprehend, and are ſatisfied,
" that the placing and employing any two ſub-
" ſtantial Perſons of the ſaid Pariſh in ſuch Re-
" ceipt and Collection, will tend to the Eaſe and
" Benefit of the ſame Pariſh: Wherefore, for
" making Proviſion for paying and diſcharging
" the Debt, ſo contracted for the carrying on and
" accompliſhing ſo good and neceſſary a Work,
" and for explaining and amending the ſaid former
" Act relating to the Office and Management of
" the Receipt of the ſaid Rates and Duties; may
" it pleaſe your moſt excellent Majeſty that it
" may be enacted, and be it enacted by the King's
" moſt excellent Majeſty, by and with the Ad-
" vice and Conſent of the Lords Spiritual and
" Temporal, and Commons, in this preſent Par" liament aſſembled, and by the Authority of the " ſame, That the ſaid Clauſe in the ſaid former
" Act, which authorizes and requires the Pariſh-
" ioners of the ſaid Pariſh of Saint Catherine Cole-
" man, from Time to Time, to nominate twelve
" Inhabitants of the ſaid Pariſh, qualified and de-
" ſcribed as therein is mentioned; and impowers
" and requires the Truſtees, or any ſeven or
The Clauſe appointing four Collectors repealed. " more of them, to appoint four Perſons to be
" Receivers or Collectors of the Rates, Duties,
" and Sums of Money due and payable by virtue
" of the ſaid Act, ſhall be, and is hereby repeal-
" ed, and declared to be void.

" And it is hereby further enacted and de" clared, That it ſhall and may be lawful to and
" for the Pariſhioners of the ſaid Pariſh of Saint
" Catherine Coleman, in the then Veſtry aſſembled,
" and they are hereby authorized and required,
" within two Calendar Months after the paſſing of
" this Act, to nominate any ſix ſubſtantial In-
" habitants of the ſaid Pariſh, out of which ſix
" Perſons ſo to be nominated, or in Default of
" ſuch Nomination, out of ſuch other Inhabitants,
" the Truſtees aforeſaid, or any ſeven or more
" of them, are hereby authorized, impowered and
" required, to chooſe and appoint two Perſons Two Collectors to be choſen.
" to be Receivers or Collectors of ſuch Rates,
" Duties, and Sums of Money as are or ſhall be due
" and payable by Virtue of the ſaid former Act,
" and this preſent Act, from all Perſons liable to " pay the ſame; and the ſaid Pariſhioners in their
" Veſtry aſſembled are alſo hereby authorized,
" impowered, and required, on the Tueſday in Eaſter
" Week, in the Year of our Lord one thouſand
" ſeven hundred and forty three, and alſo on the
" Tueſday in Eaſter Week in every ſucceding Year,
" to nominate ſix other Inhabitants; and the ſaid
" Truſtees or any ſeven or more of them, ſhall
" chooſe and appoint two of them, or in Default
" of ſuch Nomination, two other like Inhabitants,
" to be Receivers or Collectors of the ſame Rates,
" Duties, and Sums of Money for the Purpoſes
" of the ſaid former Act, and this preſent Act;
" and all Perſons who by Virtue of this and the
" ſaid former Act are charged therewith, or liable
" thereto, are hereby required to pay the ſaid
" Rates and Duties unto ſuch Receivers or Col-
" lectors accordingly, the ſaid Receivers or Col-
" lectors giving Receipts for the ſame gratis.

" And for the raiſing a ſufficient Sum of Mo" ney to diſcharge the ſaid Sum of ſix hundred
" fifty Pounds, and upwards, ſo remaining due
" to the ſaid Workmen and Artificers as aforeſaid,
" and for other Purpoſes herein after mentioned,
" it is hereby further enacted by the Authority a-
" foreſaid, That it ſhall and may be lawful to
" and for any Perſon or Perſons to contribute, ad-
" vance, and pay into the Hands of the Truſtees
" in the ſaid former Act named, or any ſeven or " more of them, or ſuch Perſon or Perſons as
" they, or any ſeven or more of them, ſhall by
" any Writing under their Hands and Seals au-
" thorize and impower to receive the ſame, any
" Sum or Sums of Money, not exceeding in the 900 l. to be raiſed by Sale of Annuities,
" Whole the Sum of nine hundred Pounds, for
" the abſolute Purchaſe of one or more Annuity
" or Annuities to be paid and payable for the na-
" tural Life or Lives of ſuch Contributor or Con-
" tributors reſpectively, or the Life or Lives of
" ſuch other Perſon or Perſons as ſhall be nomi-
" nated by or on Behalf of ſuch reſpective Con-
" tributor or Contributors, at the Time of Pay-
" ment of their reſpective Contribution-Monies,
" ſo as the ſaid Annuity or Annuities do not exceed
" the Sum of eight Pounds per Annum, for every at 8 l. per Cent. per Ann.
" one hundred Pounds, and ſo in Proportion for " any greater or leſs Sum to be advanced and paid
" as aforeſaid, and ſo as the ſaid Annuities to be " granted in Purſuance of this Act do not exceed
" in the Whole the Sum of ſeventy-two Pounds
" per Annum.

" And for effectually ſecuring the Payment of
" the Annuities to be purchaſed and granted upon
" the Credit and in Purſuance of this Act, it is Additional Rate of 6d. in the Pound, to be directed by the Land-tax,
" hereby further enacted by the Authority afore-
" ſaid, that it ſhall and may be lawful to and for
" the Truſtees in the ſaid former Act named, or " any

" any ſeven or more of them, by any Writing un-
" der their Hands and Seals, from Time to Time,
" to make or cauſe to be made an additional
" Rate and Aſſeſſment on all Lands, Houſes,
" Tenements, and Hereditaments within the Pa-
" riſh of Saint Catherine Coleman aforeſaid, ſo as
" the ſame do not exceed ſix Pence in the Pound
" in any one Year of the yearly Rent of ſuch
" Lands, Houſes, Tenements, and Hereditа-
" ments, as the ſame ſhall reſpectively be rated to
" the Land-tax: And they are hereby authorized
" and required to order and direct the Receivers
" orCollectors ſo to be choſen or appointed as aforeto be collected quarterly. " ſaid, for he Time being, to collect quarterly
" from the Owners and Occupiers of ſuch Lands,
" Houſes, Tenements, and Hereditaments, in
" ſuch and the like Proportions, with regard to
" ſuch Owner and Occupiers, as in and by the
" ſaid former Act is directed and preſcribed.

" And it is hereby further enacted, that the " Money to be raiſed and collected by the ſaid
" additional Rates and Aſſeſſments, ſhall from " Time to Time be paid over, by ſuch Receivers
" or Collectors for the Time being, unto ſuch Per-
" ſon or Perſons as the ſaid Truſtees, or any ſeven
" or more of them, ſhall, by any Writing or
" Writings under their Hands and Seals, autho-
" rize and impower to receive the ſame.

Application of the Money to be raiſed by Sale of Annuities. " And it is thereby further enacted and de" clared, That the Money to be raiſed by Sale
" of the Annuities in Purſuance of this Act, ſhall,
" as the ſame ſhall come in, and be received, be
" iſſued and applied for the Purpoſes herein after
" mentioned; that is to ſay, in the firſt Place,
" for paying and defraying the Charges and Ex-
" pences of paſſing this Act, and afterwards for
" the paying, ſatisfying, and diſcharging the
" ſaid Sum of ſix hundred fifty Pounds, and up-
" wards, ſo remaining due to the ſaid Workmen
" and Artificers as aforeſaid.

Additional Rates to take Place from May 1, 1742. " And it is hereby further enacted by the Au" thority aforeſaid, That the ſeveral additional
" Rates and Aſſeſſments hereby directed and ap-
" pointed to be raiſed and levied for the Purpoſes
" aforeſaid, ſhall take Place from the firſt Day
" of May, one thouſand ſeven hundred and forty
" two, and ſhall continue ſo long as there ſhall
" be Occaſion or Neceſſity to raiſe the ſame, and
" no longer.

The Aſſeſſments ſhall diminiſh as the Annuities ſhall fall in. " And it is hereby further enacted and declared,
" That when and as often as any of the Annuities
" granted or to be granted in Purſuance of the
" ſaid former Act, and this preſent Act, ſhall
" ceaſe and determine, then and in ſuch Caſe,
" from Time to Time, as it ſhall ſo happen, a
" proportionable Part of the ſaid additional Rates
" and Aſſeſſments hereby directed and authorized
" to be raiſed and levied ſhall ſink and abate."

St. KATHARINE Cree-Church.

Stow. Sur. Lond. This Church, which is a Curacy, ſtanding at the South-eaſt Angle of Cree-Church-lane, in Leadenhall-ſtreet, and Ward of Aldgate, owes its Name to its Dedication to St. Katharine, the Egyptian Virgin above-nam'd; and the Epithet of Chriſt (corruptly Cree) from its Vicinity to the Conventual Church of the Holy Trinity, originally denominated Chriſt-Church.

From the Founding of Chriſt-Church, or the Trinity Convent, the Prior and Canons thereof were Patrons of this Church, and as ſuch continued till the Suppreſſion of their Priory, Anno 1531; when Henry the Eighth conferred the ſame upon Sir Thomas Audley, with all his Appurtenances; one of which being this Church, it was on the 19th of April, Anno 1544, deviſed by the ſaid Audley to the Maſter and Fellows of Magdalen College in Cambridge, and their Succeſſors, whom he enjoined to ſerve the Cure in all Futurity. But the Deviſees it ſeems not approving of this Part of the Will, have commonly let the Curacy, with all its Emoluments, to farm to the Pariſhioners, whereby they are impowered to chuſe their own Miniſter, who is to be licenſed by the Biſhop of London. However, in Matters Eccleſiaſtical 'tis ſubject to the Archdeacon, except as to Wills and Adminiſtrations, which belong to the Commiſſary. Newc. Rep. Eccl. Paroch.

This Church happily eſcaping Deſtruction in the great Conflagration An. 1666, it remained upon the ancient Foot till the Year 1725, when the Leaſe of the Impropriation expired: About the renewing of which a Difference aroſe, between the Impropriators and the Pariſh, which was amicably accommodated upon the following Terms: Rem. Lond.

That the Pariſhoners, in lieu of Tithes, ſhall annually raiſe the Sum of one hundred and fifty Pounds; out of which the officiating Curate ſhall, for the Space of ten Years, receive yearly the Sum of fifty Pounds, beſides Surplice Fees; and after the Expiration of that Term, the Sum of ſeventy Pounds per Annum, excluſive of Perquiſites; which Agreement was confirmed by Parliament in the Year 1727. Ibid.

This, being a Donative, pays neither Firſt-fruits nor Tenths; and Procurations to the Biſhop and Archdeacon, only two Shillings each. Newc. Repert. Eccleſ. Paroch.

Mund.Ed. Stow. Sur. Here lyeth the Body of Sir Nicholas Throkmorton, Knight, the fourth Sonne of Sir George Throkmorton, Knight. The which Sir Nicholas was Chief Butler of England, one of the Chamberlaines of the Exchequer, and Ambaſſadour Lieger to the Queenes Majeſtie, Queen Elizabeth, in France. And after his Returne into England, he was ſent Ambaſſadour againe into France, and Twice into Scotland. He married Anne Carew, Daughter to Sir Nicholas Carew, Knight, and begate of her Ten Sonnes and Three Daughters. He dyed the 12th Day of February, Anno Dom. 1570, aged 57 Yeeres.

Ibid. Here lyeth the Body of Maſter John Smith, Eſquire, Citizen and Mercer of London, who had Two Wives, the firſt named Anne, the Daughter of Fulke Mullert, in the County of Surrey, Eſquire, which brought him one Daughter, named Mary. His other Wife was Mary, Daughter to Sir James Hawes, Knight and Lord Mayor of London, by whom he had no Iſſue. Hee deceaſed the 24th Day of December, Anno Domini 1594, Ætatis ſuæ 63.

Shee was one of the Daughters and Heires of Francis Walleſborne, Eſquire, of Hanny, in the County of Berk, who deceaſed the 10th Day of July, Anno Domini 1605, aged 22 Yeeres.

Well borne ſhe was, but better borne againe:
Her firſt Birth to the Fleſh did make her Debtor,
The latter in the Spirit (by Chriſt) hath ſet her.
Freed from Fleſhe's Debts, Death's firſt and latter Gaine,
Wives pay no Debts, whoſe Huſbands live and reign.

New View Lond. Here reſteth, in Hope of a bleſſed Reſurrection, the Body of Richard Spencer, Eſq; Turky Merchant, whoſe Change from Mortal to Immortality commenc'd on Sept. 3, Anno Dom. 1667, Ætat. 50.

While he lived on Earth, Reaſon and Religion were his Rules, Juſtice and Temperance his Meaſures, Gravity and Diſcretion his Ornaments. He was to many helpful, to moſt acceptable, to none injurious, to himſelf and Friends conſiſtent.

After he had ſeen the prodigious Changes in the State, the dreadful Triumps of Death by Peſtilence, the aſtoniſhing Conflagration of the City by Fire, he piouſly lamented the Miſeries; and then in Peace and Charity, in the Faith of Chriſt, in Communion of the Church, he finiſhed his Courſe, and left behind him a good Name, a virtuous Example, a dear Wife, and Three Daughters; who, for the high Eſteem and entire Affection to her deceaſed Huſband, hath erected this Monument and Memorial to Poſterity.

If Wealth, nor Worth, nor Friends, nor Parts,
Can reſcue from Death's killing Darts,
Then mind thy Doom, and, paſſing by,
Be wiſe betime, prepare to dye.

The Veſtry is neither ſelect nor general, all being admitted that have either ſerved or fined for Church-warden; two Church-wardens; three hundred and eighteen Houſes. Augmentation to the Pariſhof St. Botolph's Aldgate, four Pounds per Annum.

Antiquities, &c. in this Pariſh.

Though I cannot aſcertain the Origin of this Pariſh-Church, yet that it is of great Antiquity is manifeſt, by it, and the Churches of St. Mary Magdalen, St. Michael and the Trinity, being obliged to make way for the Trinity Convent, founded Anno 1107, and the Church thereof, under the Appellation of Chriſt's, being made Parochial, it was conſtituted the common Place of Worſhip for the Inhabitants of the ſaid four Pariſhes. See Aldgate Ward. Stow. Sur. Lond.

This Church being old and crazy, it was taken down and rebuilt. The firſt Stone being laid on the 23d of June, Anno 1628, the Fabrick was finiſhed and conſecrated by Biſhop Laud on the 16th of January 1630. By a Pillar of the old Church ſtill remaining at the Weſt End, and near the South Door, it is manifeſt that the Ground in this Neighbourhood muſt have been raiſed about twenty Feet. Ibid.

Between the Eaſt Ends of Leadenhall and Fenchurch-ſtreets, under three Houſes fronting Aldgate, is ſtill remaining intire, the beautiful ſmall Church of St. Michael, of which, in its preſent State, we have already given a Deſcription in Aldgate Ward. But as it is altered or diminiſhed ſince Mr. Strype ſurveyed it, we ſhall add what he ſays of its Dimenſions in his Time, about the Year 1720. St. Michael's Church.

This handſome Gothick Structure, ſays he, which is ſituate North and South, is forty-ſix Feet in Length, ſeventeen in Breadth, and from the Floor to the Vertex of the Arch eleven Feet eleven Inches in Height: But as the Capitals of the Pillars at preſent appear only about four Feet above the Floor, I take the Altitude of the Arches, at firſt, to have been eighteen Feet.

This Church, by two handſome interſected Pillars, which ſupport three beautiful Stone Arches, is divided into two Iſles, the Entry into which was by a Door in the Eaſt Side, in which were likewiſe ſmall Windows, as were alſo in the Ends thereof; and adjoining to the Church, on the Weſt, is the Remains of a ſquare Stone Building, but to what Uſe the ſame was employed I cannot aſcertain, though probably it was either a Steeple, a Veſtry Room, or Parſonage Houſe. Be that as it will, the Entrance into this great Piece of Antiquity at preſent (1720) is at Mr. Rogers's, an Oil Shop, (now, 1755, Mr. Kilpin's, a Chemiſt,) facing the Pump.

As this Church, by its Manner of Conſtruction, ſeems to have been built about the Time of the Conqueſt, I am of Opinion, that this, and that under the Church of St. Mary le Bow in Cheapſide, are the moſt ancient Chriſtian Temples in Great Britain.

St. KATHARINE's, near the Tower.

Though this Pariſh, in the Bill of Mortality, be reckoned in the County of Middleſex, yet it appears by the City Records to be in the Ward of Portſpoken.

Rec. Guild Lib. Dun.

St. Katharine's was originally an Hoſpital, founded by Matilda, Conſort to King Stephen.

Dugd. Mon. Angl.

Eleanor, Relict of Henry the Third, did, by her Charter of the 5th of July, Anno 1273, grant certain Lands in the Counties of Kent and Hertford, and Eaſt-Smithfield.

Eleanor, Conſort to Edward the Firſt, enlarged this Foundation, by endowing the ſame with additional Lands.

Rec. Tur. Pat. 20. Hen. VI. p. 4. m. 11.

Henry the Sixth, in the Year 1442, granted a very ample Charter to this Hoſpital, whereby he not only confirmed all former Grants, but likewiſe granted to them divers additional Privileges.

Stow. Sur. Lond.

The Revenues of this Hoſpital, at the Time of its Suppreſſion, amounted to 315 l. 14 s. 2 d. per Annum.

This Church, which at preſent is Collegiate, ſituate on the Eaſt Side of St. Katharine's Court, near the Tower of London, in the Ward of Portſoken, conſiſts of a Maſter and three Brethren, who have forty Pounds each; three Siſters, twenty Pounds; and ten Beadſwomen, eight Pounds per Ann. each. But the other Profits ariſing from their Eſtates being only known to the Maſter and Brethren, they are divided amongſt them.

Queen Eleanor, Relict to Henry the Third, by her Charter aforeſaid, reſerved to herſelf, and the Queens of England her Succeſſors, the Patronage of this Hoſpital, by Virtue whereof they conſtitute a Cuſtos or Maſter.

Newc. Repert. Eccleſ. Paroch.

This Hoſpital was exempt from the Juriſdiction of the Biſhop of London till its Suppreſſion by Henry the Eighth. Soon after which, Edward the Sixth, by his Letters Patent of the firſt of April, Anno 1551, annexed the ſame to the Dioceſe of London, whereby it has ever ſince been ſubject to the Juriſdiction and Viſitation of the Biſhop of that See. See Portſoken Ward.

Whereas it does not appear that this Church pays either Firſt-fruits nor Tenths, nor has any Church-warden, by its being immediately under the Government and Direction of the Maſter and Brethren thereof; I ſhall therefore proceed to give an Account of the Receipts and Diſburſements relating to the Poor.

Rec. Guild. Lib. Dun. By the City Records mentioning Shambles to have been on the Spot of Ground, granted by the Prior and Canons of the Trinity Convent, to Queen Matilda, about the Year 1140, whereon to erect her intended Hoſpital; I imagine there muſt antiently have been a Fleſh Market held within this Precinct, which muſt have been deſtroyed, together with the Mill and Garden belonging to the Hoſpital, by William Biſhop of Ely's fortifying the Tower of London, with an additional Wall and Ditch, about the Year 1190. However, tho' the Brethren and Siſters of this Hoſpital became ſo great Sufferers by the Loſs of their Property, no Satisfaction appears to have been made them till the following Century; when they had Five Marks 6*s.* 9*d.* paid them for the ſame: At which Time Edward I. intending to rebuild the exterior Wall of his Tower of London, and to inlarge the Ditch thereof, purchaſed of the Maſter, Brethren and Siſters of this Hoſpital, a Piece of Ground (at preſent denominated Little Tower-hill, and that Space between the Eaſtern Bank of the Tower Ditch and the Houſes of St. Katharine's, fronting the ſaid Tower, Southward to the River Thames) whereon to lay the Sand, Gravel and Marle, that ſhould be taken out of the ſaid Ditch. Stow. Sur. Lond. In or about the Year 1626, an Alom Work was erected in this Pariſh, the poiſonous Dregs or Excrement whereof, running into the River Thames, deſtroyed the Fiſh therein; and the intolerable Scent of the putrid Vapour, inceſſantly emitted therefrom, was ſo very offenſive and pernicious to the neighbouring Inhabitants, that they petitioned the Privy Council for Redreſs; ſetting forth, That, if the ſaid Work was not ſpeedily removed, they would for the Preſervation of their Health, indiſpenſably be obliged to remove from their reſpective Habitations: Which being ſeriouſly conſidered of, an Order of Council was made on the 25th of July 1627, whereby the Proprietors of the ſaid Alom Work were obliged to remove the ſame by the 25th of March 1628. St. LAWRENCE Jewry.

This Church, which is a Vicarage, ſituate on the North Side of Cateaton-ſtreet, in the Ward of Cheap, is denominated from its Dedication to Lawrence, a Spaniſh Saint, born at Hueſca, in the Kingdom of Arragon; who, after having undergone the moſt grievous Tortures, in the Perſecution under Valerian, the Emperor, he was cruelly broiled alive upon a Gridiron, with a ſlow Fire, till he died, for his ſtrict Adherence to Chriſtianity: And the additional Epithet of Jewry, from its Situation among the Jews, was conferred upon it, to diſtinguiſh it from the Church of St. Lawrence Pulteney, now demoliſhed. Newc. Rep. Eccl. Paroch.

Ibid. This Church, which was antiently a Rectory, being given by Hugo de Wickenbroke, to Baliol College in Oxford, Anno 1294, the Rectory ceaſed; wherefore Richard, Biſhop of London, converted the ſame into a Vicarage, the Advowſon whereof ſtill continues in the Maſter and Scholars of the ſaid College: But as to Matters Eccleſiaſtical it is ſubject to the Archdeacon, ſave as to Wills and Adminiſtrations, which belong to the Commiſſary.

Hugo de Warkenthby was Rector of this Pariſh in the Year 1295, at which Time it was denominated Eccleſia Sancti Laurentii in Judaiſmo, i. e. the Church of St. Lawrence in the Jewry; from its Situation among the Jews, who, upon their Admiſſion into England by William the Conqueror, ſettled in this Neighbourhood. Newc. Rep. Eccl. Paroch. Ant. Or. Lib. 2.

But the Jews, for their villainous Practices, being expelled the Kingdom by Edward I. they, upon their Readmiſſion into England, ſettled in this City, near Aldgate, in a Place at preſent called Poor Jewry-lane; on which Occaſion this their antient Place of Habitation received the Appellation of the Old Jewry.

The next Building of Note I find mentioned in this Pariſh, is the College or Chapel of Mary Magdalen and All-Saints, commonly called London College, ſtanding on the Eaſt Side of Guildhall Yard, and North Side of Blackwell-hall.

Edward VI. in the Year 1551, granted the ſame to the Mayor and Commonalty of London, to be held by them in Soccage of the Manor of Eaſt Greenwich; ſince which it has been denominated Guildhall Chapel, wherein Divine Service has been weekly performed before the Lord-Mayor, Aldermen and Sheriffs. See Cheap Ward.

The next Edifice of Note erected in this Pariſh, was the Town-Houſe or Guildhall of the City, which was begun to be built in the Mayoralty of Thomas Knowles, Anno 1411, a little to the Eaſt of the antient, ſmall and pitiful Guildhall in Aldermanbury. The Church of this Pariſh, which was a Curacy, ſtood on the Weſt Side of Lawrence Pulteney's Lane,

Every Chriſtian Heart ſeeketh to extoll
The Glory of the Lord, our onely Redeemer;
Wherefore Dame Fame muſt needs inroll
Paul Withypoll his Child, by Love and Nature,
Elizabeth, the Wife of Emanuel Lucar;
In whom was declared the Goodneſſe of the Lord,
With many high Vertues, which truly I will record.
She wrought all Needle Workes that Women exerciſe,
With Pen, Frame or Stoole, all Pictures artificiall,
Curious Knots, or Trailes, what Fancy would deviſe,
Beaſts, Birds, or Flowers, even as Things naturall.
Three manner Hands could ſhe write, them faire all;
To ſpeak of Alegoriſme, or Accounts in every faſhon
Of Women, few like (I thinke) in all this Nation.
Dame Cunning her gave a Gift right excellent,
The good Practice of her Science Muſicall,
In divers Tongues to ſing and play with Inſtrument,
Both Viall and Lute, and alſo Virginall;
Not only upon one, but excellent in all.
For all other Vertues belonging to Nature,
God her appointed a very perfect Creature.
Latine and Spaniſh, and alſo Italian,
She ſpake, writ and read, with perfect Utterance.
And for the Engliſh, ſhe the Garland wan,
In Dame Prudence Schoole, by Graces Purveyance,
Which cloathed her with Vertues, from naked Ignorance.

This Monument was erected Anno Domini 1620, by the Lady Ann Bromley, late Wife unto Sir Henry Bromley, of Holt, in the County of Worceſter, Knight, Daughter of William Beſwicke, of London, Alderman, in Remembrance of her firſt Huſband, William Offley, of London, Merchant, who, being free of the Merchant Taylors, fined both for Sheriff and Alderman. He had Iſſue by the ſaid Ann Fifteen Children, whereof Five are living, viz. William, Elizabeth, Margaret, Robert and Mary, the reſt dyed Infants.

The Veſtry is general; two Church-wardens; ſeventy-ſeven Houſes. Augmentation to the Pariſh of St. Botolph's Aldgate, four Pounds per Ann.

St. LEONARD's Eaſtcheap.

This Pariſh, which is a Rectory, is one of the thirteen Peculiars in this City belonging to the Archbiſhop of Canterbury; the Church whereof ſtood on the Eaſt Side of Fiſhſtreet-hill, near the Corner of Little Eaſtcheap, in the Bridge Ward. Its Name it owes to Leonard, a French Saint, a mighty Miracle-monger. And the additional Epithet ſerves to diſtinguiſh it from another Church in this City of the ſame Dedication. Newc. Repert. Eccleſ. Paroch.

The Patronage of this Rectory, which was antiently in the Prior and Convent of Canterbury, is at preſent in the Dean and Chapter of that See. Ibid.

This Church being burnt down in the great Conflagration, Anno 1666, and not ſince rebuilt, the Pariſh is annexed to St. Bennet's Graſs-Church, whereby the Profits of the Cure are greatly increaſed; which, together with its Diſburſements, I have inſerted in the Account of St. Bennet's Pariſh: I ſhall therefore proceed to the Pariſh Account in reſpect to Church and Poor: Act Parl. 22 & 23 Car. II.

Though I cannot aſcertain the Time when the late Church of this Pariſh was founded; yet that it was not of a modern Date, is apparent by Johnſon's Sepulchral Inſcription in the Year 1280, as above ſpecified. But the Church, as aforeſaid, not being rebuilt, the Site thereof is turned into a Cemitery. At the North-Eaſt Corner of which, in a Green-Shop (the late Veſtry Room) in Pudding-lane, is the following Inſcription:

Time out of Mind this Veſtry ſtood,
Till crooked with Age my Strength I loſt,
And in November with full Conſent
Was built anew at the Pariſh Coſt;
When Queene Elizabeth rained had,
To England's Peace, Twenty-ſix Yeares.

John Heard, Parſon; Rich. Powntes and Harry Baker, Church-wardens were, Ann. Dom. 1584.

St. LEONARD's, Foſter-Lane.

This Pariſh is a Rectory, the Church whereof was ſituate on the Weſt Side of Foſter-lane, in the Ward of Alderſgate; and its Name is owing to its Dedication to the French Saint above mentioned, and the Place of its Situation, to diſtinguiſh it from the preceding Church in Eaſt-Cheap. See Alderſgate Ward.

This Church ſuffering in the fatal Cataſtrophe of 1666, and not being rebuilt, the Pariſh is annexed to Chriſt's Church; which being the Place of Publick Worſhip for both Pariſhes, the Incumbent's Profits are thereby conſiderably augmented; the Account whereof, together with the Diſburſements of the Cure, I have inſerted in that of Chriſt's Church: I ſhall therefore ſubjoin the Parochial Charges in reſpect to the Church and Poor:

Officers, &c. in this Pariſh.

This Pariſh compriſing the chief Part of the antient Diſtrict of the College of St. Martin's le Grand, I ſhall therefore inſert an Account of the Officers belonging to the Liberty, as well as thoſe of the Pariſh.

The Veſtry is ſelect; two Church-wardens; ſix Headboroughs; one Conſtable; one Scavenger, who paid the Raker, for cleanſing the Streets and carrying away the Duſt for one Year, the Sum of twenty Pounds; one Beadle, and four Watchmen; one hundred and ſixty-four Houſes.

Antiquities, &c. in this Pariſh.

Newc. Rep. Eccl. Paroch. This late Church I take to have been founded about the Year 1236, by William Kirkham, Dean of St. Martin's le Grand, in the Court or Yard of that Collegiate Church, for the Uſe of the Inhabitants of the Sanctuary.

Almoſt contiguous to this Church, on the North, was ſituate the ſtately College of St. Martin's le Grand, which was founded, Anno 1056, by Stow. Sur. Lond. Engelrick, and Edward his Brother, for a Dean and Secular Canons. Some Time after, at the general Suppreſſion of Monaſteries, this College was ſurrendered to Edward VI. in the Year 1548, when the Church thereof was demoliſhed, and a Tavern erected in its Stead, at the upper or Eaſt End of New Rents; in the Cellars of which are ſtill to be ſeen divers of its Pillars, as under the Neighbouring Houſes is its Cloiſter.

St. MAGNUS's.

This Church, which is a Rectory, ſituate at the North-Eaſt Corner of London-Bridge, in the Bridge Ward, owes its Name to its Dedication to St. Magnus, who ſuffered Martyrdom under the Emperor Aurelian, in the City of Cæſarea, for his ſtedfaſt Adherence to the Chriſtian Religion.

Newc. Rep. Eccl. Paroch.

Ibid. The Patronage of this Church was antiently in the Abbots and Convents of Weſtminſter and Bermondſey, who preſented alternately, till the general Suppreſſion of Monaſteries; when coming to the Crown, Queen Mary, by her Letters Patent, Anno 1553, granted the ſame to the Biſhop of London, and his Succeſſors, in whom it ſtill remains, but ſubject to the Archdeacon.

Act Parl. 22 & 23 Car II. This Church ſuffering in the fatal Cataſtrophe of 1666, 'tis beautifully rebuilt, and by Act of Parliament conſtituted the Place of Publick Worſhip for this and the Pariſh of St. Margaret's, New Fiſh-ſtreet; whereby the Rectorial Profits are greatly increaſed, which, together with the Diſburſements on account of the Cure, are as follow:

St. MARGARET's, Lothbury.

This Church, which is a Rectory, ſeated over the ancient Courſe of Walbrook on the North Side of Lothbury, in the Ward of Coleman-ſtreet, owes its Name to its being dedicated to St. Margaret, a Virgin Saint of Antioch, who ſuffered in the Reign of Decius, the Emperor, for her inviolable Attachment to Chriſtianity; and the additional Appellation is to diſtinguiſh it from other Churches of the ſame Name in this City. Ibid.

The Advowſon of this Rectory was anciently in the Abbeſs and Nuns of Barking in Eſſex, with whom it continued till the Diſſolution of their Convent; when coming to the Crown, it has therein remained ever ſince. Ibid.

This Church ſharing the common Fate in the dreadful Fire in the Year 1666, it is rebuilt in a very handſome Manner, and remains in all Reſpects as formerly, except as to the ſettling an improv'd and certain Stipend upon the Rector, in lieu of Tithes; which, together with the other, Profits and Diſburſements on Account of the Cure, are as follow: Act Parl. Though ſafe on Seas, though ſure on Land he ſeem'd,
Yet here he lyes, too ſoone by Death oppreſt;
His Fame yet lives, his Soule in Heaven hath Reſt.

Here lyeth John Dimock, Sonne to John Dimock, Eſquire, ſome time Citizen and Draper of London; he married Anne, his firſt Wife, by whom he had One Sonne; which Anne dyed the Yeere of Chriſt 1558, after whom he married his Second Wife, Mary, by whom he had a Daughter. He ſerved the Princes, of famous Memory, King Henry the Eighth, and King Edward the Sixth. For his faithful and good Service, he was well-eſteemed; for his upright Dealings, he was well-beloved of his Equals; for his Benevolence to the Poore, he was both praiſed and prayed for. He lived One hundred Yeeres lacking Seven, very commendably; and the 14th of July 1585, he dyed Chriſtianly. Ibid.

Here lyeth the Body of Chriſtian Towerſon, Wife of William Towerſon, Merchant; who lived together 21 Yeeres and 6 Moneths, and had Iſſue 10 Children; leaving behind her John, William, Robert, Elizabeth, and Mary. She left this Life the 19th Day of February, 1611. Ibid.

Here reſteth in Hope of a joyful Reſurrection the Body of Nicholas Style, late Alderman of London; who was borne at Langley in the Pariſh of Beckingham in the County of Kent; the Son of Humphrey Style, Knight, and of Dame Bridget, his Wife. He married Gertrude, the Daughter of Thomas Bright, of London, Ironmonger; with whom hee lived moſt lovingly and faithfully the Space of Forty Yeeres; and by her had Three Sonnes and Foure Daughters; of whom remained living at his Deceaſe One Sonne, Humfrey; and One Daughter, Mary. This Pariſh is a Rectory, the Church whereof ſtood at the South-weſt Corner of Piſſing-alley (now Little Friday-ſtreet) oppoſite Diſtaff-lane in Bread-ſtreet; and its Name it has from its being dedicated to St. Margaret above mentioned; and its additional Epithet, from one Moſes, its Rebuilder. Stow. Sur. Lond.

The Patronage of this Rectory appears to have been anciently in Lay Hands; for Robert Fitzwalter gave the ſame to the Prior and Canons of St. Faith's at Horſham in the County of Norfolk; which being confirm'd to them by a Bull of Pope Alexander the Third, in the Year 1163, it continued in the ſaid Prior and Canons till the Suppreſſion of their Convent by Edward the Third, as an Alien Priory; when this Church, as an Appendage thereof, coming to the Crown, it has ever ſince therein continued. Newc. Rep. Eccleſ. Paroch.

This Church ſuffering in the dreadful Fire in the Year 1666, and the ſame not being rebuilt, the Pariſh has been annexed to St. Mildred's Church in Bread-ſtreet, whereby the Rectorial Profits are conſiderably increaſed; which, together with the Diſburſements of the Cure, I ſhall inſert in the Accounts of St. Mildred's Pariſh; and ſhall now proceed to the Receipts and Diſburſements on Account of the Church and Poor.

St. MARGARET's, New Fiſh-ſtreet.

This Pariſh is a Rectory, the Church whereof ſtood on the Eaſt Side of Fiſh-ſtreet-hill, where the Monument at preſent is ſituate, in the Bridge Ward. And its Name it owes to the aforeſaid St. Margaret, and the Place of its Situation.

The Patronage of this Rectory appears to have been in the Abbot, and Convent, and Biſhop of Wincheſter, till Queen Mary, by her Letters Patent, Anno 1553, granted the ſame to the Biſhop of London and his Succeſſors, in whom it ſtill remains. St. MARGARET PATTEN's.

This Church, which is a Rectory, ſituate at the Corner of Little Tower-ſtreet, in Rood-lane, and the Ward of Billingſgate, owes its Name to St. Margaret, aforeſaid, and its ancient Situation among Patten-makers.

Newc. Repert Eccleſ. Paroch. The Advowſon of this Rectory was anciently in the Family of the Nevils, in which it continued till the Year 1392, when it probably came to Robert Rikenden of Eſſex; who, in the Year 1408, confirmed the ſame to Richard Whittington; who, Anno 1411, conveyed it to the Mayor and Commonalty of London; ſince which Time it has been in the Gift of the Citizens, who have preſented thereto after divers Manners; viz. ſometimes the Mayor alone; at other times, the Mayor and Aldermen; then, the Mayor and Commonalty; and anon, the Mayor and Commonalty and Citizens of London, in whom it ſtill remains.

The Veſtry, in chuſing Pariſh Officers, is general, but in making Rates it is ſelect; two Church-wardens; one hundred and eighty-eight Houſes, ninety-five whereof are within, and ninety-three without the Wall. Augmentation to the Pariſh of St. Botolph's, Alderſgate, Five Pounds per Ann.

Antiquities, &c. in this Pariſh.

The higheſt I can trace the firſt Church of this Pariſh, is, that Robert de Sancto Albano was collated thereto, by the Abbot and Convent of Weſtminſter, Anno 1322. Newc. Rep. Eccl. Paroch. Pariſh

We are told by Robert of Glouceſter, in his Rhyming Chronicle, that this Church was founded by Cadwallo, King of the Britains (who is ſaid to have died Anno 677) which is a Falſhood ſo notorious, that I ſhall no otherwiſe reply to it, than to acquaint the Reader, that the Saxons had been in Poſſeſſion of this City near a Century before the Time above mentioned. Chron. Rob. Gloucеſt.

In digging a Foundation for the preſent Church, after the great Conflagration of 1666, the Sepulchral Stone above-mentioned, in the Third Chapter of Book I. of this Work, was dug up.

St. MARTIN's Orgars.

This Pariſh is a Rectory, the Church whereof ſtood on the Eaſt Side of St. Martin's-lane, near Cannon-ſtreet, in the Ward of Candlewick, and is ſo denominated from its Dedication to St. Martin aforeſaid; and the additional Epithet of Orgars is a Corruption of Odgarus, or Ordgarus, who probably was the Founder and Patron thereof, and, with the Conſent of his Wife and Sons, granted the ſame to the Dean and Canons of St. Paul's Cathedral in this City, about the Year 1181. Since which Time the Advowſon has been in the ſaid Dean and Chapter. Newc. Repert. Eccleſ. Paroch.

This Church being conſumed in the dreadful Conflagration of the Year 1666, and the ſame not rebuilt, the Pariſh has been annexed to the Church of St. Clement's, Eaſtcheap; which being conſtituted the Place of Publick Worſhip for both, the Rectorial Profits are thereby conſiderably augmented, which, together with the Diſburſements of the Cure, I have inſerted in the Account of the Pariſh of St. Clement aforeſaid; therefore ſhall now ſubjoin the Account relating to the Church and Poor. St. MARTIN's Outwich.

This Church, which is ſeated at the South-eaſt Angle of Threadneedle-ſtreet, in the Ward of Broad-ſtreet, owes its Name to St. Martin aforeſaid, and the additional Epithet to William and John de Oteſwich, ſome time Proprietors thereof.

Newc. Repert. Eccleſ. Paroch. The Patronage of this Rectory appears to have been anciently in the Earl of Surrey; but the ſame coming to the de Oteſwiches above mentioned, they conferred it upon the Company of Merchant-Taylors, in whom it ſtill remains; but in Matters Eccleſiaſtical it is ſubject to the Archdeacon, ſave as to Wills and Adminiſtrations, which belong to the Commiſſary.

This Church fortunately eſcaping the devouring Flames Anno 1666, it remains in all Reſpects upon the ancient Foot in regard to the Rectorial Profits and Diſburſements, which in the Year 1636 were as follow:

Antiquities, &c. in this Pariſh.

Newc. Rep. Eccl. Paroch. The firſt Mention I find of this Church is, that John de Warren, Earl of Surrey, in the Year 1325, collated John de Dalyngton thereunto; which ſeems to convict Stow of a Miſtake, who ſays, that four Men of the Name of de Oſtewich were the Founders thereof; which if they had, 'tis not to be doubted but the Right of Patronage would originally have been in them: Whereas 'tis manifeſt it never was, unleſs we admit that John Churchman (who was Sheriff of London, Anno 1385, and, as ſecond Patron of this Church, collated thereto in the Year 1387,) purchaſed the ſame, not for his own Uſe, but for that of the de Oteſwiches, which gives room for Conjecture, (tho' he might as well have ſold it to them) ſeeing that he in the Year 1405, by Licence from King Henry the Fourth, in the Names of William and John de Oteſwich, two of the pretended Founders, gave the Advowſon of this Church, together with four Meſſuages and ſeventeen Shops, with their Appurtenances in this Pariſh, to the Maſter and Wardens of the Taylors and Linen Armorers (now the Company of Merchant Taylors) and their Succeſſors, in perpetual Alms, for the Maintenance of the Poor of the ſaid Fraternity; by Virtue of which Grant, the Company has continued Patrons of this Rectory ever ſince.

Stow. Sur. Lond. By what has been ſaid, I think, it is evident, that the Oteſwiches, inſtead of being the Founders of this Church, were only late Proprietors of the ſame. And as to the additional Epithet of Oteſwich, conferred upon it, that may have been given by the aforeſaid Company, in grateful Commemoration of their great and generous Benefactors. See Broadſtreet Ward.

St. MARTIN's Vintry.

This Pariſh is a Rectory, the Church whereof ſtood near the South-Eaſt Corner of Queen-ſtreet, in Thames-ſtreet, and Ward of Vintry; and was ſo denominated from its Dedication to St. Martin aforeſaid, and the Place of its Situation among the Wine Tunners, Wine Merchants and Coopers.

Newc. Report. Eccleſ. Paroch. The Patronage of this Church appears to have been antiently in Lay Hands, by Ralph Peverell's granting the ſame to the Abbot and Canons of St. Peter's in the City of Glouceſter, in whom it remained till the Suppreſſion of their Convent; when coming to the Crown, Edward VI. granted the ſame to the Biſhop of Worceſter and his Succeſſors, in whom it ſtill continues. But in Affairs Eccleſiaſtical 'tis ſubject to the Archdeacon, except as to Wills and Adminiſtrations, which belong to the Commiſſary.

Act Parl. 22 & 23 Car. II. This Church ſharing the common Fate in the dreadful Cataſtrophe of the Year 1666, and the ſame not being rebuilt, the Pariſh is annexed to the Church of St. Michael Royal, whereby the Incumbents Profits are conſiderably increaſed; which, together with his Diſburſements in reſpect to the Cure, I ſhall inſert in the Account of the Pariſh of St. Michael's Royal; and ſhall now ſubjoin the Pariſh Charge concerning the Church and Poor:

St. MARY Abchurch.

This Church, which is a Rectory, ſeated on the Weſt Side of Abchurch-Lane, in the Ward of Candlewick, owes its Name to its Dedication to the Virgin Mary, and the additional Appellation of Ab or Upchurch, to diſtinguiſh it from other Churches of the ſame Name in this City. Newc. Repert. Eccleſ. Paroch.

The Patronage of this Church was antiently in the Prior and Canons of St. Mary Overies in Southwark, who in the Year 1448, (which my Author, thro' Miſtake, inſtead of the 26th of Hen. VI. calls the 26th of Hen. IV.) exchanged the ſame with the Maſter and Chaplains of Corpus Chriſti College, near the Church of St. Laurence Pulteney, for a Houſe in the Pariſh of Allhallows the Leſs; in which the Maſter and Chaplains continued till the Suppreſſion of their College; when coming to the Crown, Queen Elizabeth, Anno 1568, granted the perpetual Advowſon thereof to the College of Corpus Chriſti in Cambridge, wherein it ſtill remains. But in Eccleſiaſtical Affairs, 'tis ſubject to the Archdeacon. Ibid. Stryp. Ed. Stow.Sur.

This Church ſharing the common Fate Anno 1666, 'tis rebuilt in a very handſome Manner; and to which, by Act of Parliament, is annexed the Pariſh of St. Laurence Pulteney, whereby the Rectorial Profits are greatly augmented; which, together with the Diſburſements in reſpect of the Cure, are as follow: Act Par. 22 & 23 Car. Stryp. Ed. Stow. Sur. An Epitaph upon the Departure of the illuſtrious Precedent of Bounty and pious Induſtry, Maſter Roger Montague, Eſq;

In Life and Death thy Works did well purſue
The honourable Name of Montague.
Nobility of Birth ran in thy Blood:
Nobility of Action made that Good.
Thy Charity, the Top of all thy Fame,
The Figure that thy Monument may claime
With Juſtice; 'tis thine own, fit to enrol
Thy Memory here, as Heaven adorns thy Soul.
Sum up all Vertues in Man ever known,
And ſet them to thy Actions, th'are thine own:
That's the neer'ſt Way to make for thy Worth room,
Particular Praiſes would o'erſpread the Tomb.
Here's all in brief; who ſhall henceforth endite
A good Man's Epitaph, let him but write
The Copy of thy Life: It ſtands for all
That ever made Man's Praiſe, or ever ſhall.

Newc. Rep. Eccl. Paroch. The higheſt I have been able to trace this Pariſh Church, is, that Nicholas Woleye was Rector thereof before the Year 1363; and as to the additional Appellation of Ab, or Up-Church, I am at as great a Loſs in reſpect to its Meaning, as I am to the Time when the Church was at firſt founded: But, as it appears to have antiently ſtood on an Eminence, probably that Epithet was conferred upon it, in regard to the Church of St. Laurence Pulteney, ſituate below. See Candlewick Ward.

Stow. Sur. Lond.

St. MARY, Aldermanbury.

This Church, which is a Curacy, ſeated at the North-Eaſt Corner of Love-lane, in Aldermanbury, and Ward of Cripplegate within, owes its Name to its being dedicated to the Virgin Mary, and the Place of its Situation.

The Patronage of this Church appears to have been antiently in the Dean and Chapter of St. Paul's; who, upon the founding of the neighbouring Hoſpital of Elſing-Spittle, did by Conſent of Stephen, Biſhop of London, in the Year 1331, appropriate the ſame to the ſaid Hoſpital; but with this Proviſo, that the Dean and Chapter ſhould have the Patronage of both; and that upon the Inſtitution of a Cuſtos or Rector to this Church and Hoſpital, he was to ſwear Fealty to the ſaid Dean and Chapter, and to pay them an antient Penſion of one Mark per Annum, due from this Church, and ſix Shillings and eight Pence yearly for the ſaid Hoſpital, as granted by William de Elſing, the Founder, in Teſtimony of its Subjection to the Church of St. Paul, to the Dean and Chapter whereof this Church ſtill pays an annual Penſion of twenty Shillings. Dugd. Mon. Ang. vol. 2.

'Twas likewiſe at the ſame Time agreed, that the Rector and Cuſtos of this Church and Hoſpital ſhould, in all Futurity, find a Prieſt to ſerve the Cure, and to adminiſter the Sacraments in the ſaid Church; which Prieſt was to be approved of by the Dean and Chapter aforeſaid. Whence 'tis evident, that this Church (then, as at preſent) was ſerved by a Curate, till the Diſſolution of the ſaid Hoſpital; ſince which Time, the Rectory and Advowſon thereof has been granted in Truſt for the Pariſhioners; who, by Virtue thereof, have the Right of chooſing their own Miniſter, who muſt be licenced by the Biſhop of London. But in Matters Eccleſiaſtical 'tis ſubject to the Archdeacon, ſave as to Wills and Adminiſtrations, which belong to the Commiſſary. Ibid.

This Church being conſumed in the lamentable Conflagration of the Year 1666, 'tis rebuilt in a beautiful Manner, and remains as formerly, without any other Addition than that of a great Augmentation of the Curate's Fees; and, by its being a Donative, pays neither Firſt-fruits nor Tenths to the King, nor other Diſburſements on Account of the Cure than thoſe that follow:

Tho' I cannot aſcertain the Origin of this Pariſh-Church; yet by John Conſtantine's ſepulchral Inſcription of the Year 1116, above inſerted, I am of Opinion, it owes its Foundation to the Saxons.

In a Cloiſter contiguous to this Church, before the Fire of London in the Year 1666, hung a Bone of a monſtrous Size, of the Length of twenty-eight Inches and a Half, which was ſuppoſed to have been the Bone of a human Leg. But by its great Dimenſions, I think, it may more reaſonably be ſuppoſed to have belonged to an Elephant, or ſome other large Quadruped. See Cripplegate Ward. Stow. Sur. Lond.

St. MARY Aldermary.

This Church, which is a Rectory, ſeated on the Eaſt Side of Bow-lane, in the Ward of Cordwainer-ſtreet, owes its Name to its Dedication to the Virgin Mary aforeſaid; and the additional Epithet of Aldermary, or Eldermary, from its being the ancienteſt Church in this City dedicated to the ſaid Virgin. Newc. Repert. Eccleſ. Paroch. Stow. Sur. Lond.

The Patronage of this Rectory, which is one of the thirteen Peculiars of this City belonging to the Archbiſhop of Canterbury, was antiently in the Prior and Canons of Canterbury; till Thomas Arundell, the Archbiſhop, by Indenture, dated the 21ſt of December, Anno 1400, between him and Thomas Chiltenden, the Prior, and Chapter of Chriſt's Church in Canterbury, did by Licence from the King exchange the Advowſon of the Church of Weſtwell, in the County of Kent, for that of this Church; reſerving unto himſelf and Succeſſors the Collation to the Vicarage of Weſtwell; and the Prior and Canons reſerved to themſelves and Succeſſors, all ſuch Penſions as were payable to them out of this Church, before the Exchange was made; ſince which Time the Collation has been in the ſaid Archbiſhop. Newc. Repert. Eccleſ. Paroch.

This Church was deſtroyed in the never-to-be-forgotten dreadful Conflagration of 1666, and rebuilt in the preſent magnificent Manner, by the Munificence of Henry Rogers, Eſq; as appears by the following Inſcription in Golden Letters over the Weſt Door of the Church. Ibid.

Mund.Ed. Stow. Sur.

Here is fixt the Epitaph of Sir Henry Kebyl, Knight;
Who was some time of London Mayor,
A famous, worthy Wight;
Which did this Aldermary Church
Erect and set upright.
Though Death prevaile with mortal Wights,
And hasten every Day,
Yet Vertue over-lives the Grave,
Her Fame doth not decay:
As Memories do shew reviv'd,
Of one that was alive,
Who being dead, of vertuous Fame
None shall seeke to deprive;
Which so in Life deserv'd Renowne,
For Facts of his to see,
That may encourage other now,
Of like good Mind to be.
Sir Henry Keble, Knight, Lord Mayor
Of London, here he sate,
Of Grocers worthy Company,
The chiefest in his State;
Which in this Citie grew to Wealth,
And unto Worship came,
When Henry reign'd, who was the Seventh
Of that redoubted Name.
But he to Honour did atchieve,
The Second golden Yeere
Of Henries Reigne, so call'd the Eight,
And made his Fact appeare.
When he this Aldermary Church
'Gan build with great Expence,
Twice Thirty Yeeres agon, no doubt,
Counting the Time from hence:
Which Worke began the Yeer of Christ,
Well knowne of Christen Men,
One thousand and Five hundred just,
If ye will adde but Ten.
But lo, when Man purposeth most,
God doth dispose the best;
And so before this Work was done,
God call'd this Knight to Rest.
This Church was then not fully built;
He dy'd about the Yeere
When ill May-day first took his Name,
Which is downe fixed here: 1516.
Whose Workes became a Sepulcher,
To shrowd him in that Case:
God tooke his Soule, but Corps of his
Was laid about this Place.
Who, when he dyed, of this his Worke
So mindful still he was,
That he bequeath'd a Thousand Pounds,
To have it brought to passe.
The Execution of whose Gift,
Or where the Fault should be,
The Work as yet unfinished
Shall shew you all for me.
Which Church stands there, if any please
To finish up the same;
As he hath well begun, no doubt,
And to his endlesse Fame,
They shall not only well bestowe
Their Talent in this Life,
But after Death, when Bones be rot,
Their Fame shall be most rife;
With thankful Praise and good Report
Of our Parochians here;
Which have of Right Sir Henries Fame
Afresh renew'd this Yeere.
God move the Minds of wealthy Men,
Their Works so to bestow,
As he hath done, that though they dye,
Their vertuous Fame may flow.

Inclita perpetuo durabit tempore Virtus,
Et floret Fato non violanda truci.

Here lieth buried Sir Charles Blount, or Blunt, Baron Mountjoye, who died 1544, with this Epitaph, made by himself a little before his Death: Weav. Fun.Mon.

Willingly have I sought, and willingly have I found,
The fatall End that wrought thither, as Dutie bound:
Discharg'd I am of that I ought to my Countrey, by honest Wound;
My Soule departy'd, Christ hath bought: the End of Man is Ground.

Sir William Laxton lyes interr'd Mund.Ed. Stow.Sur.
Within this hollow Vault,
That by good Life had happy Death,
The End for which he sought.
Of Poore and Rich he was belov'd,
His Dealings they were just;
God hath his Soule, his Body here
Consumed is in Dust.

Here lives by Fame, that lately died,
Sir William Laxton's Wife;
That ever was a Doer of Good,
And liv'd a virtuous Life:
A mindfull Matron of the Poore,
And to the learned Sort
A true and faithful Citizen,
And dyed with good Report.
He dyed the 29th Day of July 1556.

Here lyeth buried Sir Thomas Lodge, Knight, and Dame Anne, his Wife. He was Lord Maior in the Yeere of our Lord God 1563, when God did visit this Citie with a great Plague for our Sinnes. Ibid.

Here lyeth interred the Body of Sir John Smith, Knight, Alderman, and sometime Sheriff of London, Son of James Smith of Fryday-street, Esq; He first married Ann, Daughter of William Wayes, of Windsor, by whom he had One Son; afterward he married Jane, Daughter of Robert Dean, of this Parish, by whom he had Six Sons and Three Daughters: Three Sons and Two Daughters only survived. Though I cannot aſcertain the Time when, or by whom this Church was founded, Sir Chriſtopher Wren, the ingenious Architect, who rebuilt the Churches of this City, after the Conflagration in the Year 1666, was of Opinion, that this was an antient Roman Chriſtian Church: It may indeed reſemble the Architecture of that People, yet that it was not of their Conſtruction, is evident, by its having been erected in the Time of the Conqueror. And as it was the firſt Church in this City, that was built with Arches, 'twas therefore denominated New-Mary Church, from the ſaid Arches, or Bows; which Appellation has ſince been converted into that of St. Mary le Bow. Stow. Sur. Lond.

This ancient Church, on which the new is founded, is converted into a ſepulchral Repoſitory; the Structure of which conſiſts of two Rows of ſmall circular Pillars (the Capitals whereof are now about two Feet and a half above the Floor of the Vault; which ſhews the Ground to be greatly raiſed in this Neighbourhood) which form three Iſles; at the South-eaſt Angle of which is a Chapel, about ten Feet Square; wherein, according to Stow, was a magnificent ſepulchral Monument, which is now buried by the great Riſe of the Ground. This Church, and that of St. Michael above mentioned, I take to be the two oldeſt Chriſtian Temples in Great Britain. See Cordwainers Ward.

St. MARY Bothaw.

This Pariſh is a Rectory, and one of the thirteen Peculiars in this City belonging to the Archbiſhop of Canterbury; the Church whereof ſtood on the Eaſt Side of Turnwheel-lane, near Dowgate-hill, in the Ward of Walbrook. The former Part of its Name is owing to its Dedication to the Virgin Mary; and the latter, (according to the Surmiſe of a certain Author) to its Vicinity to a Boat-Haw, or Boat-Builder's Yard, in that Neighbourhood.

The Patronage of this Rectory was antiently in the Prior and Convent of Chriſt's Church, Canterbury; in whom it continued till their Suppreſſion, when coming to the Dean and Chapter of that See, it has remained with them ever ſince.

This Church having ſuffered in the dreadful Calamity of 1666, and not being rebuilt, the Pariſh is annexed to the Church of St. Swithin; whereby the Rectorial Revenues are greatly increaſed; which, together with the Diſburſements in reſpect to the Cure, I ſhall inſert in the Account of St. Swithin's Pariſh; and now proceed to the Parochial Diſburſements on Account of the Church and Poor.

Stryp. Ed. Stow. Sur. Tho' I have not been able to diſcover the Origin of the late Church of this Pariſh; yet, that it was of great Antiquity is manifeſt, by Wibert, the Prior, and Convent of Chriſt's Church in Canterbury's having in the Year 1167, granted certain Lands and Houſes on the North Side thereof to one Ernis, and his Heirs; who, in Conſideration thereof, were annually to pay the Sum of ten Shillings in Money; a Towel of the Value of eight Pence; two Pitchers, at ſix Pieces of Money; and a Salt-cellar at four; which were to be delivered to the Prior's Steward, for the Uſe of his Houſe. St. MARY Cole-Church.

Newc. Repert. Eccleſ. Paroch. Stow. Sur. Lond. This Pariſh is a Curacy, the Church whereof ſtood at the South-Weſt Corner of the Old Jewry in the Poultry, and Ward of Cheap. Its Name it owed to its Dedication to the Virgin Mary; and the additional Epithet, to one Cole, its Founder.

Newc. Repert. Eccleſ. Paroch. My Author reaſonably conjectures, that it was antiently appropriated to the Maſter and Brethren of the neighbouring Hoſpital of St. Thomas, Martyris de Acon; after the Suppreſſion of which Hoſpital, Henry VIII. in the Year 1542, granted the Site there to the Company of Mercers, together with the Advowſon of this Curacy, in whom it ſtill remains.

Ibid. The Company of Mercers, as Impropriators of this Curacy, allowed the Incumbent thereof Forty Pounds per Annum, (till the Fire of London, Anno 1666) beſide the Eaſter Book, of twenty Pounds: But the Church ſuffering in that fatal Cataſtrophe, and not ſince rebuilt, the Pariſh is united to the neighbouring Church of St. Mildred, which has greatly advanced the Incumbent's Profits; which, together with the Diſburſements of the Cure, I ſhall inſert in the Account of St. Mildred's Pariſh; and in the Interim ſhall ſubjoin the Parochial Diſburſements in reſpect to the Church and Poor.

Rec. Tur. Pat. 1. Hen. IV. p. 7. m. 29. God. de Præſ. Angl. Stow Sur. Lond. Though I have not been able to trace the Foundation of this Church, yet, as it appears that Thomas Becket (who was conſtituted Archbiſhop of Canterbury, Anno 1162) was baptized therein, it probably owed its Original to the Saxons. But the late Church having been built over an arched Vault, 'twas aſcended by Steps; therefore it muſt have been erected ſince the Norman Conqueſt.

Ibid. Contiguous to this Church, on the Weſt, was ſituate the Hoſpital of St. Thomas of Acons. See Cheap Ward.

St. MARY at Hill.

This Church, which is a Rectory, ſituate on the Weſt Side of St. Mary Hill, in the Ward of Billingſgate, owes its Name, like the abovementioned, to its Dedication to the aforeſaid Virgin, and its Situation upon a pleaſant Eminence.

Newc. Repert. Eccleſ. Paroch. The Advowſon of this Rectory appears to have been in private Hands till about the Year 1638, when the Pariſh purchaſed the ſame; and by Virtue thereof, on the 13th of June, collated Samuel Baker, S. T. P. thereto; which they continue alternately to do, with that of St. Andrew Hubbard; for ſince the annexing of that Pariſh to this Church, the Duke of Somerſet, who is Patron thereof, preſents in his Turn.

Though this Church was not deſtroyed in the fatal Cataſtrophe of 1666, yet it was very much damaged, all that was combuſtible therein being conſumed by that dreadful Conflagration; however, it was ſoon after repaired, and the Pariſh of St. Andrew Hubbard, as above hinted, united thereunto, whereby the Rectorial Profits are very much augmented; which, together with the Diſburſements of the Cure, are as follow:

Newc. Rep. Eccl. Paroch. Fab. Chron. I can come no nearer to the Origin of this Church, than that Roſe de Wrytell founded a Chantry in the ſaid Church, about the Year 1336.

In the Year 1497, in digging in this Church for the Foundation of a Wall, the Corps of the abovenamed Alice Hackney was diſcovered in a very rotten Coffin, the Skin whereof was found and flexible, and the Joints pliable, without Diſlocation, after being buried about one hundred and ſeventy Years. The Body was kept above Ground three or four Days, without a nauſeous Smell; but the ſame beginning to taint, it was again depoſited.

Annually on the Sunday after Midſummer, according to ancient Cuſtom, the Fraternity of Fellowſhip Porters of this City, repair to the Church of this Pariſh in the Morning, where, during the Reading of Prayers, they reverently approach the Altar, two and two; on the Rails of which are placed two Baſons, into which they put their reſpective Offerings; and being generally followed therein by the whole Congregation, the Money offered is diſtributed among the aged Poor and indigent Members of the Fraternity. See Billinſgate Ward.

This Pariſh is a Rectory, the Church whereof ſtood where the Weſt End of Honey-lane Market is ſituate, in Milk-ſtreet, and the Ward of Cripplegate within. The late Church was denominated from its Dedication to Mary Magdalen (whom Chriſt diſpoſſeſſed of ſeven Devils) and the Street wherein it was ſituate.

Newc. Repert. Eccleſ. Paroch. This Church about the Year 1181, appears to have paid to the Canons of St. Paul's a Penſion of twenty Sol. Synodales, four Pence, and to the Archdeacon one Sol. It muſt therefore be of great Antiquity, as well as the Fiſh-market wherein it ſtood, though we know not the Founder. See Baynard's Caſtle Ward.

St. MARY Mounthaw.

Stow. Sur. Lond. This Pariſh is a Rectory, the Church whereof was ſeated on the Weſt Side of Old Fiſhſtreet-hill, in the Ward of Queenhithe; and its Name it owed to its Dedication to the Virgin Mary, and the Family of Montalto, or Mounthauts, in the County of Norfolk.

Stow. Sur. Lond. On the Weſt Side of Old Fiſhſtreet-hill was anciently ſituate the City Manſion of the Montalto's or Mounthaubts, in the County of Norfolk, wherein was a Chapel (the Original of the late Church;) the which Houſe and Chapel were purchaſed by Ralph de Maydenſtone, Biſhop of Hereford, about the Year 1234. Both of which he ſettled upon the Biſhops his Succeſſors; whereby they not only became poſſeſſed of the Houſe, which they uſed as their City Reſidence, but likewiſe of the Patronage of the Chapel or Church. Newc. Rep. Eccl. Paroch.

Stow. Sur. Lond. There was likewiſe in this Pariſh the City Manſion of Robert Belknape, a Judge; who being expelled the Kingdom upon ſome Miſdemeanor, Richard the Second conferred the ſame upon the Biſhop of Wincheſter. See Queenhithe Ward.

St. MARY Somerſet.

This Church, which is a Rectory, ſituate oppoſite Broken Wharf in Thames-ſtreet, in the Ward of Queenhithe, owes its Name to its Dedication to the often-mentioned Virgin; and the additional Epithet of Somerſet, to its Vicinity to Summer's Het or Hithe, a ſmall Port or Haven, (according to the Conjecture of my Author) reſembling that of Queen-hithe. Stow. Sur. Lond.

Newc. Rep. Eccl. Paroch. The Patronage of this Church was anciently in a Family of the Peytons; ſince which Time it having had divers Maſters, it is at preſent in the Poſſeſſion of but ſubject to the Archdeacon.

Newc. Rep. Eccl. Paroch. Stow. Sur. Lond. This Pariſh is a Rectory, the ſmall Church whereof was ſeated on the North Side of Oat-lane, in the Ward of Alderſgate within. And though it is certain, that the ſaid Church was denominated from its being dedicated to the Virgin Mary; yet the additional Epithet of Staining is as uncertain, as the Time of its Foundation; ſome imagining it to be derived from Painters-Stainers, who probably lived near it: And others, from its being built with Stone; to diſtinguiſh it from thoſe in the City that were built with Wood. Stow. Sur. Lond.

Newc. Rep. Eccl. Paroch. The Advowſon of this Rectory was anciently in the Prioreſs and Convent of Clerkenwell, in whom it continued till their Suppreſſion by Henry the Eighth; when coming to the Crown, it therein ſtill continues; but ſubject to the Archdeacon.

St. MARY Woolchurch-haw.

This Pariſh is a Rectory, the Church of which ſtood on the Eaſt Side of Stocks Market, in the Ward of Walbrook. This Church, like the above-ſpecified, received its Name from its Dedication to the Virgin Mary; and the additional Appellation from a Trone, Beam, or Balance in the Cemetery

Stow. Sur. Lond. Cemetery thereof, for the weighing of Wool; wherefore it was denominated Woolchurch-haw.

Newc. Repert. Eccleſ. Paroch. The Patronage of this Rectory was anciently in Hubert de Ria, and Eudo, his Son; who gave the ſame to the Abbot and Canons of St. John's Abbey at Colcheſter, in whom it continued till their Suppreſſion by Henry the Eighth in the Year 1539, when coming to the Crown, it ſtill remains therein: But in Matters Eccleſiaſtical it is ſubject to the Archdeacon, other than what relates to Wills and Adminiſtrations, which belong to the Commiſſary.

Act. Parl. 22 & 23 Car. II. This Church being deſtroyed in the great Conflagration of 1666, and the ſame not rebuilt, the Pariſh is annexed to the Church of St. Mary Woolnoth, whereby the Rectorial Profits are much augmented; which, with the Diſburſements in reſpect to the Cure, I ſhall inſert in the Account of the Pariſh of the ſaid St. Mary Woolnoth. Newc. Rep. Eccl. Paroch. The late Church of this Pariſh ſeems to have been founded ſoon after the Norman Conqueſt, by Hubert de Ria, the Father of Eudo, who was Steward of the Houſhold to William the Conqueror, and Founder of the Abbey of St. John at Colcheſter; to which the ſaid Eudo, by his Charter of Foundation, gave this Church, by the Name of St. Mary de Weſtcheping, otherwiſe called New Church; which had been granted to Ailward, a Prieſt, by Hubert, his Father. And by its being then called New Church, my Author is of Opinion, that it owed its Foundation to the ſaid Hubert.

Rec. Tur. Pat. 10. Ed. I. m. 11 The Cemetery, which belonged to this Church, being anciently the Woolſtaple, there was on the North Side thereof a void Piece of Ground, which Edward the Firſt, in the Year 1282, granted to Henry le Walleiſs, the Mayor, and the Commonalty of London, for the Support of London Bridge. Which Spot of Ground, together with that whereon the publick Stocks ſtood, the Citizens converted into a Market-place. See Walbrook Ward.

St. MARY Woolnoth.

Newc. Repert. Eccleſ. Paroch. This Church, which is a Rectory, ſituate at the Corner of Sherbourn-lane, in Lombard-ſtreet, and Ward of Langbourn, is, like the ſeveral above-mentioned, denominated from its being dedicated to the aforeſaid Virgin; but the additional Epithet of Woolnoth being unaccounted for, it might probably be added from its almoſt contiguous Situation to Woolchurch-haw, abovementioned; wherefore it might juſtly be called Wool-neah, or nigh, which, by an eaſy Tranſition, might paſs into Woolnoth,

Ibid. The Advowſon of this Church was in the Prioreſs and Convent of St. Helen's in Biſhopſgate-ſtreet, till their Diſſolution; when coming to the Crown, it was by Henry the Eighth, in the Year 1540, granted to Sir Martin Bowes, in whoſe Family it has ever ſince continued; but ſubject to the Archdeacon.

Act Parl. 9 Anne Though this Church was not quite deſtroyed by the fatal Cataſtrophe of the Year 1666, yet it became ſo great a Sufferer, that nothing eſcaped but the Walls; which being ſoon after repaired, or rather patched together, it continued in a very crazy Condition, till the Year 1711, when an Act of Parliament was made for erecting fifty new Churches within the Bill of Mortality; this being appointed one thereof, it was finiſhed in the Year 1719, as it at preſent appears. And the Pariſh of St. Mary Woolchurch being thereunto annexed, the Incumbent's Profits are thereby much augmented; which, together with the Diſburſements of the Cure, are as follow:

Newc. Repert. Eccleſ. Paroch. In digging a Foundation for the preſent Church, in the Year 1716, at the Depth of fifteen and twenty-two Feet, were diſcovered a great Variety of Roman Earthen Veſſels, both for ſacred and prophane Uſes, (but all broken) together with a Number of Tuſks and Bones of Boars and Goats, with divers Medals and Pieces of Metal, ſome teſſelated Works, a Piece of an Aqueduct, and, at the Bottom of all, a Well full of Dirt, which was no ſooner removed, than a fine Spring aroſe, wherein is placed a Pump, by which, it is ſaid, is drawn the beſt and moſt ſalubrious Wa-

St. MATTHEW's, Friday-ſtreet.

Newc. Rep. Eccleſ. Paroch. This Church, which is a Rectory, ſituate on the Weſt Side of Friday-ſtreet, in the Ward of Faringdon within, owes its Name to its Dedication to St. Matthew, the Evangeliſt, and its Situation in the Street of that Name.

Ibid. The Patronage of this Rectory being antiently in the Abbot and Convent of Weſtminſter, it continued in them till their Suppreſſion; when the Coventual Church being converted into a Cathedral, Henry VIII. conferred the ſame upon the Biſhop: But the new Biſhoprick being ſoon after diſſolved, Edward VI. in the Year 1551, granted the ſame to the Biſhop of London, and his Succeſſors, in whom the Advowſon ſtill continues.

Act Parl. 22 & 23 Car. II. This Church being deſtroyed by the Fire of London in the Year 1666, 'tis handſomely rebuilt; and the Pariſh of St. Peter, Cheap, being thereunto united, by Act of Parliament, the Incumbent's Profits are thereby greatly increaſed; which, together with the Diſburſements of the Cure, are as follow:

St. MICHAEL, Cornhill.

This Church, which is a Rectory, ſituate in St. Michael's-alley in Cornhill, and Ward of that Name, owes its Name to its Dedication to St. Michael

Michael above mentioned, and its antient Situation in the Street called Cornhill.

Stow. Sur. Lond. The Patronage of this Church appears to have been antiently in Alnothus, a Prieſt, who gave the ſame to the Abbot and Convent of Coveſham (miſtaken for Eveſham) before the Year 1133; for in that Year Reynold, the Abbot, and Canons, granted the ſame to Sparling, a Prieſt, with all the Lands thereunto belonging, except thoſe held by Orgar le Proud, at the Rent of two Shillings per Annum; in Conſideration of which Grant, the ſaid Sparling covenanted and agreed, not only to pay annually to the ſaid Abbot and Canons the Sum of thirteen Shillings and four Pence, but likewiſe to ſupply the Houſe of the ſaid Abbot (when in London) with Fire, Water and Salt.

Ibid. Some Time after, this Rectory reverting to the Abbot and Convent aforeſaid, they continued Patrons thereof till the Year 1503, when, by a proper Inſtrument, dated 3 December, they conveyed the Advowſon thereof to the Company of Drapers of this City; who, in Conſideration of which, ſettled a perpetual Annuity of five Pounds ſix Shillings and eight Pence upon the ſaid Abbot and Canons, and their Succeſſors; beſides an antient Penſion of ſix Shillings and eight Pence annually paid them out of the ſaid Church. By Virtue of which Contract, the ſaid Company of Drapers have been Patrons thereof ever ſince. But in Matters Eccleſiaſtical it is ſubject to the Archdeacon, other than what relates to Wills and Adminiſtrations, which belong to the Commiſſary.

This Church being deſtroyed in the dreadful Conflagration, Anno 1666, it is beautifully rebuilt, and in all Reſpects remains as formerly; other than, Act Parl. 22 & 23 Car. II. in lieu of uncertain Tithes, a certain Stipend is ſettled upon the Rector, which, together with his other Profits and Diſburſements on account of the Cure, are as follow:

Antiquities, &c. in this Pariſh.

Stow. Sur. Lond. Though I have not been able to diſcover the Time when this Church was at firſt founded, yet by Alnothus's having given the ſame to the Abbot and Convent of Eveſham, in the Year 1133, I am of opinion that it owes its Foundation to the Saxons. Be that as it will, it was ſituate in the Street denominated Cornhill, till the Reign of Edward VI. when 'twas excluded the ſame, by the Erection of four Houſes in the Cemetery, on the North Side thereof. Ibid.

Contiguous to this Church, on the South, was antiently ſituate a handſome Cloiſter, and a beautiful Church-yard, wherein was a Pulpit Croſs (reſembling that of St. Paul's) erected by Sir John Rudſtone, ſome Time Mayor of this City; who purchaſing Ground in this Neighbourhood, not only enlarged the ſaid Church-yard, but likewiſe erected convenient Apartments for the Choriſters, who daily officiated in the Church; but the Choir being ſoon after diſſolved, the Apartments were converted into Habitations for decayed Pariſhioners. Ibid. See Cornhill Ward.

St. MICHAEL's, Crooked-Lane.

This Pariſh-Church is not of a modern Date, as is evident by John de Barham's being Rector thereof before the Year 1304. It is a Rectory, ſituate on the Eaſt Side of St. Michael's-lane, in the Ward of Candlewick-ſtreet, and denominated from its Dedication to the above-named St. Michael, and its Vicinity to Crooked-lane. The Patronage thereof appears to have been antiently in the Prior and Convent of Canterbury, in whom it continued till about the Year 1408. Since which Time it has been in the Archbiſhops of that See, and is one of the thirteen Peculiars in this City belonging to Canterbury. Newc. Rep. Eccl. Paroch. Ibid.

This Church ſuffering in the great Conflagration Anno 1666, 'tis, with its Steeple, rebuilt in a beautiful Manner; and remains, in all Reſpects, as formerly, except as to the Parliamentary Addition made to the Rectorial Revenues, which, with the other Profits and Diſburſements reſpecting the Cure, are as follow: Act Parl. 22 & 23 Car. Stow. Sur. Lond.
This Rectory Church was antiently a very ſmall and piteous Building, adjoining to the Market of Eaſtcheap, wherein dwelt divers ſlaughtering Butchers; who laying the Ordure and Excrements of the Beaſts they killed near unto the Church, the ſame was almoſt ſurrounded with a noiſome Lay-ſtall: But John Lovekin, ſome Time Mayor of this City, having removed that Nuiſance, in the Year 1317, he erected a handſome Church on the Site thereof; which being ſome Time after enlarged with a Choir and Side-Iſles, by the famous Sir William Walworth, he by Licence from Richard II. Anno 1380, united eight ſeveral Chantries therein; and by an Addition to the annual Revenues thereof, converted the ſame into a College in the ſaid Church, conſiſting of a Maſter and nine Prieſts, to celebrate the Divine Offices, for the good State of the King, himſelf, and Margaret, his Wife, whilſt living, and their Souls when dead, together with thoſe of the Founders of the ſaid Chantries, and the Souls of all Benefactors and Faithful deceaſed.

By the early Account we have of the Market, which was antiently held in this Neigbourhood, denominated Eaſtcheap, and its Vicinity to the Roman Trajectus, or Ferry, I take it to have been one of the firſt Markets of this City.

St. MICHAEL's, Queenhithe.

Newc. Repert. Eccleſ. Paroch.
This Church is a Rectory, ſituate on the North Side of Thames-ſtreet, in the Ward of Queenhithe; about the Year 1181, it was denominated St. Michael de Cornhithe; which ſeems to ſhew the modern Appellation of Queenhithe to be only a Corruption.

This Rectory, which is denominated from the above-named St. Michael and its Neighbourhood to Queenhithe, has all along been in the Collation of the Dean and Chapter of St. Paul's, in Subjection to the Archdeacon.

The Church of this Pariſh which was deſtroyed by the great Fire in the Year 1666, was rebuilt in the preſent handſome Manner, and the Pariſh of the Trinity thereunto united; whereby the Incumbent's Fees are conſiderably augmented, which, with the other Profits and Diſburſements of the Cure, are as follow:

This Pariſh is a Rectory, the Church whereof, which ſtood at the Weſt End of of Cheapſide, between Blowbladder-ſtreet, and Pater-noſter-row, in the Ward of Farringdon within, had a narrow Paſſage at the Weſt End; but it being burnt down in the late Fire of London, the Site thereof by Act of Parliament was laid into the Street to inlarge the ſame. See Faringdon Ward within.

Ibid. The earlieſt Account I find of this Church is in the Year 1181, when the State thereof was returned to the Dean and Chapter of St. Paul's; at which Time it appears to have been only a Chapel, and as ſuch it continued many Years after; Stow. Sur. Lond. for the firſt Parſon or Rector thereof, we are told, was buried therein, Anno 1461. In Records it is called Ibid. St. Michael ad Bladum; that is, at the Corn, at preſent corruptly, Querne. It was likewiſe at ſome times denominated, St. Michael de Macello, from its Neighbourhood to the Shambles, or Fleſh-Market.

Stow. Sur. Lnd.

was obliged to make way for the Inlargement of the Church of St. Michael at Querne, and Erection of the little Conduit at St. Paul's Gate aforeſaid; which, with the Juſts held in the Reign of Edward III. between the great Croſs and Soper-lane, are ſufficient to ſhew, that this was the old Standard; and that the other at the End of Honey-lane, called the Old Standard, muſt have been erected ſince the Year 1331, otherwiſe the ſaid Juſts could not have been conveniently held in Cheapſide.

On part of the Site of the Church of this Pariſh, after the Fire of London in the Year 1666, was erected a Conduit, for ſupplying the Neighbourhood with Water. But the ſame being found unneceſſary, it was, with others, pulled down Anno 1727. See Farringdon Ward within.

Newc. Rep. Eccl. Paroch.

The firſt Mention I find of this Pariſh-Church is, that Hugh de Derby was collated thereto in the Year 1285, by the Prior and Canons of Canterbury, in whom it continued till it was converted into a College; and even then the ſaid Monks ſo far continued Patrons thereof, as to preſent a Perſon nominated by the Maſter and Wardens of the Mercers Company.

Mund Ed. Stow. Sur. An Obite, conſecrated to the happy Memorial of Sir John Chadworth, or Shadworth, Knight, ſome time Mercer and Lord Maior of this City of London, who gave a Veſtry to this Church; an Houſe for the Paſtor to dwell in; and a Church-yard to the Pariſhioners, wherein to bury their Dead. He deceaſed the 7th Day of May, An. Dom. 1401.

Here lieth a Man, that Faith and Works did even,
Like fiery Chariots, mount him up to Heaven:
He did adorne this Church, when Words were weake,
And Men forgot, the living Stones will ſpeake.
He left us Land; this little Earth him keepes,
Theſe blacke Words Mourners, and the Marble weepes.

Ibid. Here lieth Roger Forde, Vintner of London, with Joane and Margaret, his Wives; the which Joane deceaſed the 8th Day of Auguſt, An. Dom. 1467; and Margaret deceaſed the 11th Day of June, An. Dom. 1492. And the foreſaid Roger deceaſed, &c.

Ibid. Here lieth the Body of Thomas Copynger, the which deceaſed the 14th Day of November, in the Yeere of our Lord God 1513; on whoſe Soule, &c.

Ibid. Here lieth Sir Cuthbert Barne, Knight; who deceaſed the 16th Day of October, in the Yeere of our Lord God 1521; on whoſe Soule, &c.

Ibid. Here lieth buried Thomas Clivelod, of Warmoſter in the County of Wiltſhire, Clothier, who deceaſed the 24th Day of Jnne, An. Dom. 1558.

Ibid. Th' admired Empreſſe, through the World applauded,
For ſupreme Vertues rareſt Imitation;
Whoſe Scepter's Rule Fame's loud-voyc'd Trumpet lauded,
Unto the Eares of every foreign Nation.
Canopied under powerfull Angels Wings,
To her immortal Praiſe ſweet Science ſings.
Queen Elizabeth dy'd 24 March 1602.

Stryp. Ed. Stow. Sur. Here lye buried the Bodies of John Ireland, Citizen and Salter of London, and Elizabeth his Wife, who were married together about Nine and Forty or Fifty Yeeres: And hee had Iſſue by her Sixe Sonnes and Sixe Daughters; and he lived in this Pariſh Sixty Yeeres: He was Deputy of this Ward Fifteen Years; and was the firſt Maſter of the Company of Salters. She deceaſed the Second Day of April, 1613, being of the Age of 75 Yeeres; and hee deceaſed the 25th Day of June, being aged 83 Yeeres. So reſt they both here in the Bed of Death, in Hope of a joyful Reſurrection.

Reſpice & proſpice Finem.

Ibid. This Stone openeth upon the Stairs of a Vault, made by Captain Nicholas Criſpe, anno 1628, wherein lieth buried his Grandfather, Maſter John Ireland, late Deputy of this Ward: He was buried the 29th of Juue 1641. And Miſtreſs Elizabeth Ireland, his Wife, buried the 13th Day of April, 1613. And his Father, Ellis Criſpe, late Alderman, and died Sheriff; he was buried the 10th Day of November 1625. And his Son Nicholas Criſpe, who was buried the 23d Day of January 1626. Nicholas, Elizabeth and John, Children of Captain Nic. Criſpe, buried An. Dom. 1632.

Ere his Worth was fully known,
London loſt him, once her own.
Let that Year ly buried here,
In which London Two did gain,
Sheriffs good, and loſt again.
City, Church, Wife, Children weep,
Reaſon good, though he but ſleep.
Ill can London not lament,
Spoil'd of one chief Ornament.
Pity Death had him ore grown,
Ere his Worth was fully known.

St. MILDRED's, Poultry.

This Church is a Rectory, ſituate at the Corner of Scalding-alley, in the Poultry, and Ward of Cheap. John de Aſſwell was collated thereto in the Year 1325. Its Name it owes to its Dedication to the above-named St. Mildred, and the Place of its Situation.

To this Church antiently belonged the Chapel of Corpus Chriſti and St. Mary, at the End of Conyhop-lane, or Grocer's-alley, in the Poultry; wherefore in ancient Records 'tis denominated, Eccleſiæ S. Mildredæ, ſuper Walbroke, vel in Pulteria una cum Capella Beatæ Mariæ de Conyhop, eidem annexæ. Newc. Rep. E. clef. Paroch.

The Patronage of this Church was in the Prior and Canons of St. Mary Overie's in Southwark, till their Suppreſſion; when coming to the Crown, it has ever ſince been in the Gift of the King. But in Affairs Eccleſiaſtical it is ſubject to the Archdeacon, except as to Wills and Adminiſtrations, which belong to the Commiſſary.

This Church being conſumed in the great Fire Anno 1666, it is rebuilt in a beautiful manner; and the Pariſh of St. Mary Cole being thereunto annexed, the Incumbent's Profits are thereby conſiderably increaſed; which, together with his Diſburſements on Account of the Cure, are as follow: Act. Mund. Ed. Stow. Sur. Hanc ſubter ſpeciem Corpus jacet ecce Johannis Saxton, qui fuerat vocitatus ejus in Annis.
Hunc qui plaſmavit de Terra, ſuppeditavit.
Nunc Pater & Flamen, ſibi dent cum prole locamen.

Stow. Sur. Lond. Here Thomas Tuſſer, clad in Earth, doth lie,
That ſome time made the Poynts of Huſbandry.
By him then learne thou maiſt, here learne we muſt,
When all is done, we ſleepe and turn to Duſt.
And yet through Chriſt to Heaven we hope to goe,
Who reades his Bookes ſhall find his Faith was ſo.

Mund. Ed. Stow. Sur. In this Chancell lyeth the Body of Thomas Iken, Citizen and Skinner of London, who was borne in Hodnet, in the County of Salope, and had to Wife Elizabeth, the Daughter of Roger Smith, of Newport Pagnell, in the County of Buckingham, by whom he had Six Sonnes and Eight Daughters; which Thomas departed this Life the 10th Day of March, Anno Dom. 1590.

Stryp. Ed. Stow. Sur. In Hodnet and London, God bleſſed my Life,
Till Forty and Six Yeares, with Children and Wife;
And God will raiſe me up to Life againe,
Therefore have I thought my Death no Paine.

New View Lond. Under the Communion Table, in the Vault, is depoſited the Body of John Lorymer, late of London, Eſq; with Two of his Children. Alſo the Body of Frances Lorymer, the Relict of the ſaid John Lorymer, who died September 9th, 1674.

Here alſo is buried the Body of Dr. Cronne, one of the Fellows of the Royal Society and of the College of Phyſicians in London, who died the 12th of October 1684, and left behind him his ſorrowful Widow, Mary Cronne, Daughter of the ſaid John and Frances Lorymer.

Officers, &c. in this Pariſh.

The Veſtry is neither ſelect nor general, all being admitted that have either ſerved or fined for Offices; two Church-wardens; ſeventy-eight Houſes. Augmentation to the Pariſh of St. Sepulchre, ſix Pounds per Annum.

Antiquities, &c. in this Pariſh.

Stow. Sur. Lond. The Rivulet or running Water, denominated Walbrook, ran thro' the Middle of the City above Ground, till about the Middle of the fourteenth Century, when it was arched over: Since which Time it has ſerved as a Common Sewer, wherein, at the Depth of ſixteen Feet, under this Church Steeple, runs a great and rapid Stream.

Ibid. At the South-Eaſt Corner of Grocers-alley, in the Poultry, ſtood a beautiful Chapel, called Corpus Chriſti & Sancta Maria, which was founded in the Reign of Edward III. by Jonirunnes, for a Maſter and Brethren, for whoſe Support he endowed the ſame with Lands, to the Amount of twenty Pounds per Ann. See Cheap Ward.

St. NICHOLAS Acons.

In the Reign of William the Conqueror, Anno 1084, Godwin, and Thurund his Wife, for the Redemption of their Souls and the Remiſſion of their Sins, and thoſe of all Chriſtians, gave this Church, together with all their Meſſuages and Appurtenances, to St. Mary and St. Adelme the Confeſſor, and the Church of Malmſbury, for ever. This Gift was confirmed by the Bull of Pope Innocent the Fourth, at Lyons, on the third of October, in the ſixth Year of his Pontificate. Newc. Rep. Eccl. Paroch.

This Church, which ſtood on the Weſt Side of Nicholas-lane, in the Ward of Langbourne, owed its Name to its Dedication to St. Nicholas, a Citizen of Lycia, in Aſia Minor; who being only a private Houſe-keeper, was, out of a Caprice of the Electors, caſually choſen Biſhop of Myræa; for the Biſhops and Prieſts intereſted in the Election, came to an unanimous (but very ridiculous) Reſolution, that whatever Perſon ſhould firſt enter the Church the next Day, ſhould be elected Biſhop. Nicholas, according to Cuſtom, repairing early next Morning, to perform his Mattin Devotions, being the firſt that entered, was choſen Biſhop, purſuant to the ſaid Reſolution; in which Office his Deportment was ſuch, as to procure him a Seat in the Claſs of Saints. Ibid.

From the Time of the aforeſaid Godwin and Thurund's Gift, the Patronage of this Church continued in the Abbot and Convent of Malmſbury, till their Suppreſſion; when coming to the Crown, it therein ſtill continues. But as to Matters Eccleſiaſtical it is ſubject to the Archdeacon, ſave as to Wills and Adminiſtrations, which belong to the Commiſſary. Ibid.

The late Church of this Pariſh, being deſtroyed by the Fire of London, Anno 1666, and the ſame not rebuilt, the Pariſh is annexed to the Church of St. Edmund the King, in Lombard-ſtreet; whereby the Rectorial Revenues are conſiderably increaſed; which, together with the Diſburſements of the Cure, I have inſerted in the Account of St. Edmund's Pariſh: Therefore ſhall proceed to the Parochial Charge relating to the Church and Poor:

St. NICHOLAS Cole-Abbey.

This Church, which is a Rectory, ſituate on the South Side of Old Fiſh-ſtreet, in the Ward of Queenhithe, is denominated from its Dedication to the above-named Saint, and the additional Epithet of Cole-Abby, by ſome from Golden-Abbey, Cold-Abbey or Coldbey, from its cold or bleak Situation. John Brand was Rector thereof before the Year 1383.

Stow. Sur. Lond. Newc. Rep. Eccleſ. Paroch.

Ibid. The Advowſon of this Rectory was antiently in the Dean and Chapter of St. Martin's le Grand; but upon the Grant of that Collegiate Church to the Abbot and Canons of Weſtminſter, the Patronage devolved to that Convent, in whom it continued till the Diſſolution of their Monaſtery; when coming to the Crown, it remained therein, till Queen Elizabeth, in the Year 1560, granted the Patronage thereof to Thomas Reeve and George Evelyn, and their Heirs, in Soccage, who conveying it to others, it came at laſt to the Family of the Hackers; one whereof, was Colonel Francis Hacker, Commander of the Guard that guarded King Charles I. to and from his Trial, and at laſt to the Scaffold; for which, after the Reſtoration, he was executed as a Traytor, when the Advowſon reverted to the Crown, wherein it ſtill continues, ſubject nevertheleſs to the Archdeacon in Matters Eccleſiaſtical, except what relates to Wills and Adminiſtrations, which belong to the Commiſſary.

This Church being conſumed in the great Conflagration Anno 1666, 'tis handſomely rebuilt, and the Pariſh of St. Nicholas Olave thereunto united, whereby the Incumbent's Profits are greatly augmented; which, with his Diſburſements on Account of the Cure, are as follow:

St. NICOLAS Olave's

This Pariſh is a Rectory, the Church whereof ſtood on the Weſt Side of Breadſtreet-hill, in the Ward of Queenhithe; but when or by whom the ſame was founded, is unknown. However, that it is of great Antiquity, is evident by Gilbert Foliot's, Biſhop of London, having given the ſame to the Dean and Chapter of St. Paul's about the Year 1172; and its Name, like thoſe abovementioned, is owing to the aforeſaid Nicholas, and is ſuppoſed to be derived from Olave, or Olaus, King of Norway.

Newc. Repert. Eccleſ. Paroch.

Ibid. Since Foliot's Gift of this Church, the Advowſon thereof has ever ſince continued in the Dean and Chapter of St. Paul's: But as to Matters Eccleſiaſtical it is ſubject to the Archdeacon, ſave as to Wills and Adminiſtrations, which belong to the Commiſſary.

This Church ſharing the common Fate in the devouring Flames of 1666, it has not been rebuilt; wherefore the Pariſh is annexed to the Church of St. Nicholas Cole-abbey, where I have inſerted the Profits and Diſburſements of the Cure; therefore ſhall proceed to give an Account of the Receipts and Diſburſements in reſpect to the Church and Poor.

St. OLAVE's, Hart-ſtreet.

This Church is a Rectory, ſituate on the South Side of Hart-ſtreet, in Tower-ſtreet Ward; Newc. Report. Eccleſ. Paroch. William de Samford was Rector thereof before the Year 1319; and it is denominated from its Dedication to St. Olave, or Olaus, King of Norway, who was a great Friend to the Engliſh in Oppoſition to the Danes; who not only invaded his Country on Account of his ſincere Attachment to the Chriſtian Religion, but likewiſe prevailed upon his Pagan Subjects to rebel againſt and deſtroy him in Battle; wherefore he was deemed worthy to be ranged among the Saints, and to have a Place aſſigned him in the Roman Rubrick.

Ibid. The Patronage of this Rectory appears to have been antiently in a Family of the Nevils, from which it came to others; whereby is ſhewn its having been all along in private Hands.

This Church having fortunately eſcaped the devouring Flames Anno 1666, it remains in all reſpects upon the antient Foot; wherefore the Profits and Diſburſements of the Cure are as follow:

Antiquities, &c. in this Pariſh.

Stow. Sur. Lond. On the Weſt Side of Woodroffe-lane, in the Place called Savage-Garden, was ſituate the Priory of Croſled, vulgarly, Crouched-friars. See Tower Ward.

St. OLAVE's Jewry.

Newc. Rep. Eccl. Paroch. This Pariſh, tho' antiently a Rectory, is at preſent a Vicarage; the Church whereof is ſituate on the Weſt Side of the Old Jewry, in the Ward of Coleman-ſtreet. It is of great Antiquity, as is manifeſt, from the State thereof, preſented to the Dean and Chapter of St. Paul's, in the Year 1181.

Stow. Sur. Lond. This Church was antiently denominated St. Olave's Upwell; the former from its Dedication to the Saint of that Name; and the latter, probably, from a Well under the Eaſt End thereof, wherein at preſent a Pump is placed; but that giving way to the modern Epithet of Jewry, 'twas owing to this Neighbourhood's becoming the common Reſidence of all the Jews in this City.

The Patronage of this Church was in the Dean and Chapter of St. Paul's, till about the Year 1181, when they granted the ſame, together with two Parts of St. Stephen's Chapel, (now the Pariſh Church) in Coleman-ſtreet, as an Appendage thereof, to the Prior and Convent of Butley, in Suffolk, to be held of them as Vicars of the Parſonage of St. Olave, paying unto them annually for the ſame the Sum of four Shillings. And, that the ſaid Prior and Canons of Butley do, by themſelves, or their Vicars in the ſaid Churches, anſwer to the Biſhop of London, and his Officials, in all things belonging to them. Newc. Repert. Eccleſ. Paroch.

The above-named Priory having ſuſtained great Loſſes by Inundations; Stephen, Biſhop of London, in Conſideration thereof, did, in the Year 1322, appropriate this Church and its Appendage, the Chapel aforeſaid, to the ſaid Convent. But on this Condition, that the ſaid Biſhop and his Succeſſors ſhould, in all Futurity, have the Power of inſtituting and admitting the Vicars, and of aſſigning them a Competency for their Support, out of the Profits of the ſaid Church: Whereupon the Prior and Convent aforeſaid became Proprietors and Patrons of this Church and Vicarage, with the Chapel of St. Stephen, thereunto annexed till the Year 1456, when the ſaid Chapel was converted into a Pariſh-Church; which I ſhall give an Account of, when I come to treat of that Pariſh. Ibid.

The Advowſon of this Church, tho' ſeparated from St. Stephen's Chapel, continued in the aforeſaid Prior and Convent till their Diſſolution, when coming to the Crown, it therein ſtill remains. But in Matters Eccleſiaſtical 'tis ſubject to the Archdeacon, ſave what relates to Wills and Adminiſtrations, which belong to the Commiſſary.

This Church being conſumed in the great Fire of 1666, 'tis rebuilt in a handſome Manner, and the Pariſh of St. Martin, Ironmonger-lane, is thereunto united; whereby the Incumbent's Profits are conſiderably increaſed; which, together with the Diſburſements on account of the Cure, are as follow: Act Parl. 22 & 23 Car. Under this Tomb, the ſacred Aſhes hold,
The droſſie Part of more celeſtiall Gold;
The Body of a Man, a Man of Men,
Whoſe Worth to write at large, would looſe my Pen.
Then do thy worſt, Death, glut thy ſelf with Duſt,
The precious Soul is mounted to the Juſt.
Yet Reader, when thou read'ſt, both read and weep,
That Men ſo good, ſo grave, ſo wiſe, do ſleep.

Near this Place lyeth the Body of Ephraim Skinner, Merchant, ſome time his Majeſty's Conſul at Livorne, whoſe exemplary Piety towards God, Integrity towards Men, Charity to the Poor, and Humility towards all, made him live deſired, and die lamented by all that knew him. — New View Lond.

He was born in the Town of Barnſtaple, in Devon, on St. Andrew's Day, An. 1637. Died at Iſlington, May the 6th, 1678, in the 44th Year of his Age.

New View Lond. Here lyeth in Hope of a glorious Reſurrection, the Body of Sir Nathaniel Herne, Kt. late Sheriff, and at his Death Alderman of this famous City, and Governor of the Eaſt-India Company; Son to Nicholas and Grandſone to Richard Herne, ſome time Alderman alſo of this City. A Perſon of great Prudence, and indefatigable Induſtry in the Management of all Publick Affairs; of exemplary Piety, ſpotleſs Integrity, and diffuſive Charity, having with his own Hand diſpenſed very conſiderable Sums to many charitable Uſes, particularly to the Relief of poor Seamen, and educating of their Children.

He took to Wife Judith, eldeſt Daughter of Sir John Frderick, Knight, Alderman, and ſometime Lord Mayor of London, his now ſorrowful Widow, by whom he had divers Children, and left Three hopeful Sons ſurviving, viz. Frederick, Nathaniel and Thomas; to whoſe, and this City's, and Nation's great Loſs, as alſo the Grief of all them that knew him, he departed this Life the 10th of Auguſt, 1679, Ætat. 50.

Stow. Sur. Lond. The Street wherein this Church is ſituate, was antiently denominated Colechurch-ſtreet, from the Church of that Name at the South-Weſt Corner thereof in the Poultry; but the Jews ſettling therein, the Appellation thereof was changed into that of Jewry; and afterwards, upon the Jews removing into another Part of the City, the additional Epithet of Old was conferr'd upon it. See Coleman-ſtreet Ward.

St. OLAVE's Silver-ſtreet.

This Pariſh is a Rectory, the ſmall Church of which ſtood at the South Weſt Corner of Silver-ſtreet, in the Ward of Alderſgate; its Antiquity, I can trace no higher than the Year 1593. It owes its Name to its Dedication and Place of its Situation, and the Patronage of this Church has been all along in the Dean and Chapter of St. Paul's, but ſubject to the Archdeacon.

This Church being conſumed in the great Fire Anno 1666, and not rebuilt, the Pariſh is annexed to the Church of St. Alban's, Woodſtreet; in the Account of which I have inſerted the Profits and Diſburſements of the Cure. Mund. Ed. Stow Sur.. Here under this Stone lieth buried the Body of John Darcy, Second Son to John Lord Darcy of Ebie, who died in An. 1593, aged 33 Yeeres.

Here lieth Griſſeild Windſore, Daughter of Henry Lord Windſore, and Lady Anne his Wife, Daughter and Heyre of Sir Thomas Rivet, Knight, who departed this Life the Seven and Twentieth Day of June, in the Yeere of our Lord God 1600. Ibid.

Great Men that ne're did good in all their Dayes,
But at the very Inſtant of their Death,
Finde yet no meane Commenders of their Praiſe,
Although it laſts no longer than a Breath.
Shall then good Men, though leſſer in Degree,
Finde none to give them Right and Equity?
If one ſhall ſay, the great Man's Life was ſuch,
So good, ſo full of Hoſpitality;
When God doth know, he ne're did half ſo much,
Though thus he muſt be grac'd with Flattery;
Shall meane Men, who ſuch Workes truly did,
Be nothing ſpoken of? Oh, God forbid.
Not then, as equalling with any Great,
My fatherly good Friend, John Baniſter,
No more but Truth of thee, let me repeate,
A Sonnes Love-Tears, thy Body to interre.
That ſuch as knew thee, better farre than I,
May ſay thy Vertues did not with thee dye.
Thy Skill and Practice, that it ſelf commends,
Some of the beſt have truly found the ſame:
Not partially employed, to wealthy Friends,
But even the pooreſt Wretch, the Sick and Lame.
Felt of the beſt; ſome Difference there might be,
The Rich pay'd ſomewhat, poore Men had it free.
Thy Care and Coſt laid out, for common Good,
In greater Meaſure than came in againe.
But that Heaven's Bleſſing, with thy Bounty ſtood,
Hardly had ſtretcht ſo many to ſuſtain.
But it is true, the liberal Heart God loves,
And from him ſtill all Cauſe of Lacke removes.
Thy Weekly Charity given to the Poore,
In Bread, beſide, in Money from thy Purſe:
Even in the hardeſt Yeeres dealt at the Doore,
When ſome repin'd that every Day did worſe;
Makes poore Men ſay, our good Relief is gone,
Let them goe to thy Find-faults, and have none.
Poore maymed Souldiers, ſore ſick-hearted Men
That under Miſeries hard Crouch did bow,
Were freely cured, methinkes they cry, Lord, when,
Where ſhall we find our good Phyſician now?
I doubt not, but ſome others will as much:
Yet (in theſe Dayes) we find not many ſuch.
Sleep then, thou happy Soule, in endleſſe Reſt,
All good Men's Groanes, be powred on the Grave;
Live thou in Abraham's Boſom with the Bleſt,
Where Faith and Workes due Recompence ſhall have.
My Sight grows Dimme, ſighing my Heart makes ſore.
Tears blot my Paper, I can write no more.

St. PANCRAS.

This Pariſh is a Rectory, and one of the thirteen Peculiars in this City belonging to the Archbiſhop of Canterbury; the Church whereof ſtood on the North Side of St. Pancras-lane, near Queen-ſtreet, in the Ward of Cheap. Robert de Sandwich was Rector thereof in the Year 1319. Its Name it owes to its Dedication to St. Pancras, a young Phrygian Nobleman, who for his ſtrict Adherence to the Chriſtian Faith ſuffered Martyrdom at Rome, under the Emperor Dioclefian.

Newc. Reprt. Eccleſ. Paroch.

Ibid. The Patronage of this Rectory was in the Prior and Canons of Canterbury, till they granted the Advowſon thereof to Simon the Archbiſhop in the Year 1365. Since which Time it has been in the Collation of the Archbiſhop of that See.

St. PAUL's Cathedral.

Wren's Parentalia p. 271. "The Chriſtian Faith, without doubt, was very "early received in Britain; and without having "Recourſe to the monkiſh Tale of Joſeph, of Ari- "mathea, and other legendary Fictions, there is "authentick Teſtimony of a Chriſtian Church "planted here by the Apoſtles themſelves, and, "in particular, very probably by St. Paul.

"It is very certain this Apoſtle, from his firſt "Impriſonment at Rome, to his Return to Jeru- "ſalem, had ſpent eight Years in preaching in "divers Places, but more eſpecially in the "Weſtern Countries. We know he deſigned for "Spain, and it is not improbable, but his Ear-"neſtneſs to convert the Britains might have car-"ried him to this Iſland.

"This Opinion may be ſtrengthened by the "Evidence of Vanutius Fortunatus, who ſays the "ſame Thing, ſpeaking of the Travels of St. "Paul, in his Poem on the Life of St. Martin:

"Tranſit et oceanum, vel qua facit inſula portum,
"Quaſque Britannus habet terras ultima Thule.

"Every Chriſtian Church derived from the "Apoſtles, had a Succeſſion of Biſhops from them "too, and the Condition of the Britiſh Church "was ſo early eſtabliſhed, that ſome maintain "there were Biſhops of the Britains at the Council "of Nice, aſſembled in 325: And 'tis certain, "that twenty-two Years after, Reſtitutus, Biſhop "of London, was one of the three Britiſh Biſhops "preſent at the Council of Arles.

"Some Britiſh Prelates were likewiſe at the "Council of Ariminum, aſſembled in 359, and "theſe were of ſuch Dignity, that they refuſed "the Emperor's Allowance, thinking it beneath "them not to bear their own Expences.

"The firſt Cathedral of this Epiſcopal See of "London, (built in the Area, where had been "the Roman Prætorian Camp; the Situation of "all the ſucceeding Fabricks to this Time) was "demoliſhed under the great and general Perſe-"cution by Dioclefian: But although, in Purſu-"ance of the Strictneſs of his Edicts, the Chriſtian "Churches in all the Provinces of the Roman "Government were ordered to be pulled down, "yet poſſibly the Præfects might not take the "Pains, when they had made them unfit for "Uſe, to tear up the Foundations alſo. The Time

"of

" of the Perſecution was ſhort, for under Con-
" ſtantine the Church flouriſhed again; the " Churches in Rome, and other Parts of the Em-
" pire were ſoon rebuilt, and moſt likely ours
" among the firſt, after the Pattern of the Roman
" Baſilica of St. Peter, and St. Paul, in the Vati-
" can; and, as (Sir Chriſtopher Wren) the Sur-
" veyor conceived, upon the old Foundations
" left by the Perſecutors; for the Chriſtians were
" zealous, and in haſte to be ſettled again.

" The Church thus re-edified under Conſtantine,
" was afterwards deſtroyed by the Pagan Saxons;
" and reſtored again, upon the old Foundations,
" when they embraced Chriſtianity, in the ſeventh
" Century, (viz. in 608) by Mellitus, Biſhop of " London, under Ethelbert King of Kent, the firſt
" Saxon King of the Chriſtian Faith."

Saxon. Chron. This Church at firſt ſeems to have been but a ſmall Wooden Building; for the ſame being burnt down Anno 961, it was in the ſame Year ſoon after re-edified, as may be preſumed, with the like Materials, conſidering its being rebuilt in ſo ſhort a Time.

Ibid. In the Year 1086, this Cathedral was not only conſumed a ſecond Time by Fire, but likewiſe the greateſt Part of the City. This fatal Cataſtrophe, thro' great Inadvertence, is by divers Authors placed in the Year 1088.

Malmſ. de Geſt. Pont. Maurice, Biſhop of London, having reſolved to rebuild this his Church after a very ſumptuous and magnificent Manner, " obtained of the King, the Wren's Parentalia p. 272. " old Stone of a ſpacious Caſtle in the Neighbour-
" hood called the Palatine Tower, demoliſhed by
" the ſame Fire; (this Fort ſtood at the En-
" trance of the Fleet-river, as if to defend the " little Haven, then capable of Ships) and be-
" gan the Building, upon the old Foundations,
" a fourth Time of that Pile; which after Ad-
" ditions, at ſeveral Times, to the Eaſt and Weſt,
" continued till the laſt general Conflagration of
" the City, in 1666.

" The Fabrick thus began by Mauritius, had " originally, as the Surveyor believed, a ſemicir-
" cular Preſbyterium or Chancel, after the uſual
" Mode of the Primitive Churches, and came near
" the Form of a Croſs, ſhort to the Eaſt; as he " concluded, for this Reaſon; a Quire in after
" Times was added to give a greater Length
" Eaſtward than at firſt; this Building was appa" rently of a more modern Gothick Stile, not with " Round (as in the old Church) but ſharp-headed
" Arches; to make Way for which, the ſemicir-
" cular Preſbyterium had been taken down. Upon
" demoliſhing the Ruins, after the laſt Fire, and
" ſearching the Foundations of this Quire, the " Surveyor diſcovered nine Wells in a Row;
" which, no Doubt, had antiently belonged to
" a Street of Houſes, that lay aſlope from the " High-ſtreet, (then Watling-ſtreet) to the Roman
" Cauſeway, (now Cheapſide) and this Street,
" which was taken away to make room for the
" new Quire, came ſo near the old Preſbyterium,
" that the Church could not extend farther that " Way at firſt. He diſcovered alſo, there had " been a conſiderable Addition, and a new Front
" to the Weſt, but in what Age is not aſcer-
" tained.

" The Reaſon the Surveyor was of Opinion,
" that though ſeveral Times the Fabrick had
" been ruined, yet that the Foundation might " remain, as originally they were laid, was up-
" on his obſerving, that they conſiſted of no-
" thing but Kentiſh Rubble-ſtone, artfully worked,
" and conſolidated with exceeding hard Mortar,
" in the Roman Manner, much excelling what he
" found in the Superſtructure; the Outſide of " which was built chiefly with the Free-ſtone
" of the old Palatine Tower, and Free-ſtone,
" ſuppoſed from the Quarries of Yorkſhire, and
" in every Part was apparently leſs ſkilfully
" performed, and with worſe Mortar.

" Tho' there be now no Hiſtory or Record no-
" tifying directly the firſt Building of the firſt
" new Quire, yet it is probable it might have " been executed by Richard, who was Biſhop of " London in the firſt Year of the Reign of King
" Richard the Firſt, and had been Treaſurer to
" King Henry the Second; who is ſaid to have ex-
" pended a vaſt Sum of Money on the Buildings of
" his Church, &c.

" But the ſaid Quire being, afterwards, not " thought beautiful enough, and a Reſolution
" taken for an Improvement, they began with
" the Steeple, which was finiſhed in the Year 1221,
" (5 Hen. III.)" And then Roger Niger, promoted to the See of London in 1229, having vigorouſly proſecuted the Work, finiſhed the Quire, and ſolemnly conſecrated the ſame in the Year 1240, in Preſence of the King, the Pope's Legate, and many Lords, both Spiritual and Temporal. Whart. Hiſt. de Epiſc.

Ibid. The farther Enlargement of this Church, ſo long before intended, (being the whole Extent of the Church of St. Faith) was begun to be erected in the Year 1256, by Fulco Baſſet, Biſhop of London, at the Eaſt End of the Quire, on a Spot of Ground formerly obtained from King John, for a Market-place; which magnificent and ſtately Lel. Coll. Edifice, called the New Work, was paved and finiſhed about the Year 1312, which is two hundred and twenty-four Years after laying the Foundation by Maurice, Anno 1088.

Dugd. Hiſt. St. Paul. The Charge of the New-Work, together with all thoſe carried on ſince the Year 1228, appear to have been defrayed by Money ariſing from Indulgences. This very ſpacious and moſt magnificent Edifice being intirely finiſhed, a Survey thereof was taken, whereby its ſeveral Dimenſions appear to have been as follow:

The Dimenſions of the Old Church of St. Paul.

Ibid.

	Feet.
Length of the Church — —	690
Ditto in Breadth — — —	130
Height of the Weſt Part within —	102
Height of the Quire within — —	88
Height of the Body of the Church —	150
Height of the Tower — —	260
Height of the Spire — — —	274
Height of the Tower and Spire —	534
The Ball on the Top could contain 10 Buſhels of Grain
Length of the Croſs above the Ball —	15
Length of the Traverſe of the Croſs —	6

Wren's Parentalia p. 274. " Antiquaries differ in their Accounts of its
" Altitude. By Stow's Meaſures, the Stone-
" tower, and Spire, were equally 260 Feet each
" in height, the whole 529 Feet. Mr. Camden's
" Dimenſions

" Dimenſions riſe to 534 Feet. Dugdale (ſeem-
" ly by good Authority, who took his Relation
" from a Braſs Table heretofore hung on a Pillar
" on the North Part of the Quire) makes the
" Heighth of the Tower 260 Feet, and of the " Spire 274 Feet, and yet the whole, viz. both
" of Tower and Spire did not exceed 520 Feet,
" as is teſtified by the Table, (whereof there is a
" MS. Copy alſo in the publick Library in Cam-
" bridge) which is 14 Feet ſhort of the Height
" of the two Dimenſions of the Tower and
" Spire added together: ' This, (ſays the Right
" Rev. and Learned Editor of Camden's Britan-
" nia) muſt indeed have been true, had the
" Spire riſen from the Summit of the Battlements:
" Whereas, I ſuppoſe, it roſe, (as the Spires of " moſt Steeples do) much below them; the
" Battlements here riſing 14 Feet above the Baſe
" of the Spire, muſt occaſion the Difference.'

" All the Stone Tower was ſtanding when the " Surveyor meaſured it before the Fire, and,
" agreeable with the other Accounts, was in " Height 260 Feet; the Baſis of the Spire he " found was 40 Feet, therefore, according to the
" uſual Proportion of Spires in Gothick Fabricks,
" which was 4 Diameters, or 5 at moſt, it
" could riſe no higher than 200 Feet, and make
" the whole Altitude not to exceed 460 Feet to
" the Ball, of Copper gilt, and Croſs; upon which,
" after the firſt Fire by Lightning, was added a
" Weathercock, repreſenting an Eagle, of Copper
" gilt likewiſe.

" The Proportions of theſe Copper Ornaments
" are thus recorded: The Ball was in Circumfe-
" rence 9 Feet one Inch. The Height of the Croſs,
" from the Ball, 15 Feet 6 Inches, and its Tra-
" verſe 5 Feet 10 Inches. The Eagle from the " Bill to the Tail, 4 Feet, the Breadth over the
" Wings, 3 Feet and a half."

Stow Sur. Lond. The firſt Caſualty that happened to this ſtately Edifice, after it was finiſhed, was on the firſt of February, Anno 1444, when, about two o'Clock in the Afternoon, its lofty Spire was fired by Lightning, which, by the laudable Aſſiduity of the Citizens, was ſoon ſeemingly extinguiſhed; but, to their great Surprize and Terror, it broke out again, about nine o'Clock at Night, with redoubled Fury; but by the indefatigable Pains of the Lord-Mayor and Citizens, it was effectually overcome. However, the Damage occaſioned thereby was not fully repaired till the Year 1462, when the Spire was beautifully refitted, and a ſtately Eagle Weathercock of gilt Copper placed thereon.

Mund. Ed. Stow. Sur. In the Year 1561, a much greater Misfortune befel this noble Pile; for on the fourth of June, about four o'Clock in the Afternoon, the Top of this towering Spire was again ſet on Fire, by Lightning, as we have informed our Readers in our firſt Book, Page 255.

Heyl. Eccl. Reſt. But a modern Author gives us a different Account thereof, by acquainting us, that an antient Plummer, at his Death, confeſſed, that the above-named Spire was not fired by Lightning, but by his Careleſſneſs, in leaving a Pan of Coals and other Fewel in the Steeple, while he went to Dinner; which ſeizing the Spire, the Fire was got to ſuch a Head at his Return, that he judged it impoſſible to quench the ſame; therefore concluded it would be more conſiſtent with his Safety not to divulge it. In the mean Time the Fire burning downwards, it ſoon conſumed the whole Spire; and continuing to rage furiouſly, it deſtroyed all the Roof of the Church within the Space of four Hours.

This melancholy Accident greatly affected the Queen, inſomuch that ſhe forthwith ſent Letters to the Lord-Mayor, ſtrictly enjoining him to take ſome ſpeedy Courſe for its Reparation: And was graciouſly pleaſed not only to give a thouſand Marks in Money towards repairing the ſame, but alſo a Warrant for a thouſand Loads of Timber to be taken out of her Woods. Mund. Ed. Stow. Snr.

The Citizens made large Contributions for the intended Work, and granted three Fifteenths for the more effectual performing the ſame, which amounting to 3247 l. 16 s. 2 d. this, together with other Sums collected in the Province of Canterbury, and the Courts of Juſtice, amounted to 6702 l. 13 s. 4 d. In the Interim, ſix Citizens and two of the Petty Canons were appointed to ſuperintend the Work; which was carried on with ſuch an aſſiduous Application, that before the Month of April, Anno 1566, all the Roofs were leaded and perfectly finiſhed: But the Steeple, tho' divers Models were prepared for its Reconſtruction, yet during the remaining Part of Queen Elizabeth's Reign, there was not the leaſt Attempt made that Way. Ibid.

Nothing having been done for many Years towards finiſhing the Repairs of this Church, King James I. (at the earneſt and preſſing Solicitations of Henry Farely, a private Citizen) in the Year 1620, began to think of renewing the Work; and on the ſixteenth of November, iſſued a Commiſſion under the great Seal, directed to Sir Francis Jones, the Lord-Mayor, the Archbiſhop of Canterbury, great Officers of State, and a great Number of the Nobility, Gentry and Clergy; who meeting ſome Time after, agreed to attempt a general Subſcription or Contribution, which was begun by the King, and followed by many of the Nobility and others; but the People being averſe to ſuch a Method, it was ſeemingly laid aſide; till Dr. Laud, advanced to the See of London ſome Time after, obtained of King Charles I. in the Year 1631, a new Commiſſion to revive the Subſcription; which he heartily ſetting about, by his great Aſſiduity, the Subſcriptions went on ſo ſucceſsfully, that he found himſelf in a Condition to lay the firſt Stone of the new Work; which the King willing to encourage, erected the magnificent Weſtern Portico, of the Corinthian Order, at his own Charge. Dugd. Hiſt. St. Paul. Ibid.

The Work was carried on with great Application for the Space of nine Years, during which Time, the Money received on that Account amounted to the Sum of one hundred and one thouſand three hundred and thirty Pounds four Shillings and eight Pence: But the Flames of Civil War breaking out in the Year 1642, an intire Stop was put to the Proſecution of that Undertaking. Ibid.

This magnificent Structure ſharing the common Calamity of Civil War, the Weſt Part thereof was converted into a Stable, and the ſtately new Portico Dugd. Hiſt. St. Paul. 2 Edit.

Portico into Shops for Milliners and others, with Rooms over them for the Convenience of Lodging; at the erecting of which, the magnificent Columns were pitiouſly mangled, being obliged to make way for the Ends of Beams, which penetrated their Centers.

Dugd. Hiſt. St. Paul. 2 Edit.

After the Reſtoration of Monarchy, King Charles II. by his Letters Patent, conſtituted divers Perſons of Quality and others, Commiſſioners, for perfecting the Repairs of this noble Piece of Antiquity: The ſaid Commiſſioners, being zealous to promote ſo deſirable a Work, met frequently to conſult about the moſt proper Methods for raiſing Money; at laſt a voluntary Contribution being agreed on, Money came flowing in from all Quarters; and many Hands being ſet to work, the Houſes adjoining to the Church were all pulled down, and the Work carried on till the great Conflagration in the Year 1666, when the Church was irreparably deſtroyed.

Having in this compendious Account brought the Church of St. Paul's from its Foundation to its Deſtruction by the Fire of London aforeſaid; I ſhall now, for the Information of the Reader, ſubjoin an Account of the great Number of perpetual Chantries, which were founded and endowed in this Cathedral by ſuperſtitious Men, for a certain Number of Prieſts, to celebrate Divine Service for the Good of their Souls.

Total of Founders 70, of Prieſts 96.

Beſides theſe perpetual Chantries, there were in this Church no leſs than ſixty endowed Anniverſary Obits; which, together with the numerous Officers belonging to the Cathedral, great Numbers of Saints Chapels, Statues of the Virgin Mary, and St. Erkenwald's Shrine, where many Oblations were daily offered; it may be preſumed, that the Number of Prieſts belonging to this Church could not amount to leſs than two hundred. Ibid.

By an Inventory taken by Ralph Baudak, Dean of St. Paul's, at his Viſitation in the Year 1295, the Treaſury of this Church appears to have been very rich; but as the Particulars thereof take up thirteen Leaves in Folio, I ſhall content myſelf with inſerting a Summary of the Articles therein particularly expreſſed, viz. Dugd. Mon. Ang.

Three golden Morſes; fourteen of Silver; thirty of Copper, gilt; ſeven ditto of Wood, plated with Silver; all of which were richly embelliſhed with Jewels: Four Pair of Silver Phials, or Cruets; three Ampuls of ditto; one Chriſmatory of ditto; two Pair of ditto Candleſticks; a gilt Silver Cup, with Cover and Pyx; two holy Water Veſſels; nine Silver Cenſers; three Silver Globes, with a Plate and Ship for Frankincenſe; ſix Silver Baſons; eleven Silver Croſſes; five golden Chalices, or Cups; five ditto of Silver; eleven Books richly bound; five Silver Biers, with many Trunks, Boxes, and Caſkets with Relicks, decorated with Jewels; ſix Silver Cups; four Horns, enriched with Silver; nine Mitres, partly adorned with Jewels, as were alſo the Biſhop's Gloves; nine Pair of rich Sandals; eight Croſiers; ten rich Cuſhions; one hundred Copes of the richeſt Silks, many of Cloth of Gold, and others embroidered with curious Figures; eighteen Amices; one hundred Veſtments, with proper Stoles, Manciples, Tunicks, Dalmaticks, Albes, Corporals, Canopies, &c. Beſides the above, there was a great Variety of Particulars belonging to the Altars of ſundry Chapels, which, for Brevity's Sake I ſhall omit, and refer the curious to Dugdale's Monaſticon for the ſame.

Tho' this Church was irreparably deſtroyed by the Fire of London, as already obſerved, yet an Attempt was made to repair it. " The firſt " Thing deſigned after this deplorable Fire, was " to fit ſome Part of the Church, thus ruined, " for a Quire; wherein the Dean and Prebends " might have divine Service, until the Repair " of the whole, or a new Structure could be ac- " compliſhed: To which End, upon a View " thereof, it was reſolved, that Part of the Body " of it, towards the Weſt End, might, with the " leaſt Charge, be made uſeful for that Purpoſe. " Whereupon Workmen were ſet upon it, and " Scaffolds raiſed for Search of the Walls, and " cutting the Remainder of the unmelted Lead " from the high Roof, and other Parts of the " Church. Ibid. Wren's Parentalia p. 278.

" In which Employment, as alſo in digging " up the melted Lead, clearing the Rubbiſh, " taking down the Remainder of the vaulted " Roof and Walls, with the greateſt Part of the " Tower-ſteeple, digging up the Floors, ſorting " the Stone, and carrying it to ſeveral Places,

" repairing

" repairing the Convocation-houſe, and building " new Offices for the Work; no leſs than two " Years, (viz. the reſt of the Year 1666, the " whole Year 1667, and Part of the Year 1668) " were ſpent. Towards the latter End of which " two Years, they fell to caſing ſome of thoſe great " and maſſy Pillars, which ſtood betwixt the " middle Aile, and the ſide Ailes; beginning " with thoſe below the little North Door, to- " wards the Weſt: But, before the third Pillar " was perfectly caſed, ſo weak and unſound had " the exceſſive Heat of the Fire left it, with the " remaining Pillars and Walls, which were all " miſerably ſcaled with the Flame, and ſhattered, " that upon farther Search into them, they were " found to be altogether uncapable of any ſub- " ſtantial Repair: It was therefore fully con- " cluded, that, in order to a new Fabrick, the " Foundations of the old Cathedral, thus made " ruinous, ſhould be totally cleared; and Prepa- " ration of Materials, and all Things needful " made ready, conducing to a new Fabrick. " Which Work continued until the laſt of April " 1674".

And, every thing being ready, the firſt Stone of the preſent moſt ſtately and magnificent Edifice was laid by Mr. Strong, the chief Maſon, on the twenty-firſt of June 1675; and the Work being proſecuted at the Charge of the Publick, the Croſs was put up, and the Body of the Building finiſhed in the Year 1711; whereby it appears, that the Time employed in the Conſtruction of this noble Structure was thirty-ſix Years. But many Decorations, as well as neceſſary Works, being required to embelliſh and finiſh this magnificent Church, an Account of the Expence of the whole is brought down to the Year 1723, as will appear by a Specification thereof below.

" The grand Cathedral of St. Paul (ſays an " ingenious Writer) is undoubtedly one of the " moſt magnificent modern Buildings in Europe; " all the Parts of which it is compoſed are ſu- " perlatively beautiful and noble; the North " and South Fronts in particular are very per- " fect Pieces of Architecture, neither ought the " Eaſt to go without due Applauſe. The two " Spires at the Weſt End are in a finiſhed Taſte; " and the Portico with the Aſcent, and the " Dome that riſes in the Center of the whole, " afford a very auguſt and ſurprizing Proſpect.'

" The Parts (ſays a judicious Traveller) of the " Front of that moſt admirable Fabrick of St. " Peter's in Rome are certainly very beautiful, " grand, and noble, the Pillars being nine Feet " in Diameter; but the whole is terminated by " a ſtraight Line at Top, which (without any Pre- " judice in favour of my own Country) I cannot " think has ſo good an Effect as the agreeable " Variety, which is given by the Turrets at each " End, and the Pediment riſing in the Middle of " the Front of St. Paul's."

Antiquities, &c. belonging to this Church.

This Cathedral, with its ſpacious Cemetery, was encompaſſed with a Wall by Richard Biſhop of London, about the Year 1109, which, from the North-Eaſt Corner of Ave-Mary-lane, extended Eaſtward along Pater-noſter-row, to the North End of the Old Exchange in Cheapſide; whence it ran Southwards to Carter-lane, and paſſing on the North Side thereof to Creed-lane, it turned up to its great Weſtern Gateway in Ludgate-ſtreet. Stow. Sur. Lond.

The Dean and Chapter of St. Paul's having granted to Sir William le Baud twenty-two Acres of Land, for inlarging his Park at Weſtlee in Eſſex, he, in Conſideration thereof, in the Year 1725, covenanted with the ſaid Dean and Canons, to give them annually a fat Doe, on the Day of St. Paul's Converſion, and a fat Buck on the Commemoration Day of that Saint. On which Days, the Dean and Chapter, in their Pontificalibus, with Garlands of Flowers on their Heads, in a ſolemn Proceſſion, were to receive the ſaid Doe and Buck at the Foot of the Steps leading to the Quire; whence Baud, or his Servants who brought Dugd. Hiſt. St. Paul.

brought the ſame, (received a Fee of one Shilling) proceeded to the High Altar, where having offered them, they were divided amongſt the Reſidentiaries; and the Buck's Horns being carried on the Top of a Spear in Proceſſion round the Inſide of the Church, they were attended by a noiſy Concert of Horns.

Stow. Sur. Lond. The above-mentioned Wall it ſeems falling to decay, the Church-yard became as it were the Receptacle for Whores and Thieves, who committed numerous Robberies and other nocturnal Villanies therein; wherefore the Dean and Canons, by a Grant from Edward II. Anno 1317, fortified the ſame in ſuch a manner, as effectually put a Stop to thoſe wicked Practices.

Ibid. Dugd. Hiſt. St. Paul. This ſpacious Incloſure contained, at the North-Weſt Corner of the Church-yard, the Epiſcopal Palace; contiguous to which, on the Eaſt, was a Cemetery, denominated Pardon Church Haw, wherein Gilbert Becket, Sheriff of London in the Time of King Stephen, erected a Chapel. This Chapel, Thomas More, Dean of St. Paul's, not only rebuilt, in the Reign of Henry V. but likewiſe encompaſſed the ſame with a ſtately Cloiſter; in the lower Part of which was curiouſly depicted the Dance of Death, who, in a dancing Poſture handed all Degrees of Men into Eternity.

Stow. Sur. Lond. Over the Eaſt Side of the ſaid Cloiſter was a handſome Library, founded by Walter Shirington, Chancellor of the Dutchy of Lancaſter; and the Sepulchral Monuments below excelled all thoſe in the Cathedral, both in Number and Magnificence.

Ibid. Between this Cloiſter on the Weſt, the College of Petty Canons on the North, and Canon-alley on the Eaſt, ſtood a Chapel, founded in the Time of Henry VI. by the aforeſaid Walter Shirington, for two Chantry Prieſts. And adjoining to Canon-alley, in the Eaſt, ſtood a Chapel, called the Charnel, ſo denominated from the Repoſitary of Human Bones underneath, wherein, according to my Author, were depoſited above one thouſand Cart Loads of the ſaid Bones, as appeared at their carrying from thence to Finſbury Fields, Anno 1549, where they were laid in a Mooriſh Soil; and the ſame being covered with a Layſtall, formed a conſiderable Mount, ſince denominated Windmill-hill, from the erecting of divers Windmills thereon.

Ibid. A little Eaſt from Canon-alley, about the Middle of the Church-yard, was ſituate a Pulpit-croſs, where Sermons were Weekly preached, and at which Croſs were held the Falkmote, or General Convention of the Citizens. See Page 50.

Ibid. Contiguous to this Steeple, on the South, ſtood St. Paul's School, where the preſent is now ſituate. And on the South Side of the Cathedral, almoſt oppoſite St. Paul's Chain, was ſeated the ſtately Chapter-houſe, and a handſome Cloiſter, which in the Year 1332 were erected in the Dean and Chapter's Garden, and on the Site of the old Chapter-houſe.

Ibid. A little to the Weſt of the ſaid Chapter-houſe, adjoining to the South-Weſt Angle of St. Paul's Cathedral, was ſituate the Pariſh-Church of St. Gregory; and to the South-Weſt of the ſame, ſtood the Dean's-houſe; and on the Weſt Side thereof were divers ſpacious Houſes for the Uſe of the Reſidentiaries.

The Weſt End of the Church-yard was made uſe of in a military Manner, by the Citizens repairing to their Standard therein, as often as ſummoned by their Banner-bearer, the Lord Fitz-Walter.

There were ſix Gates in the Wall: The Weſtern and principal whereof was ſituate near the Ends of Creed and Ave-Mary-lanes in Ludgate-ſtreet. The ſecond was that at Paul's-alley in Pater-noſter-row, which led to the Poſtern Gate of the Church. The third, at Canon-alley, led from the North Gate of the Cathedral to Pater-noſter-row. The fourth, denominated the Little Gate, was ſituate where at preſent the Street leads out of St. Paul's Church-yard into Cheapſide. The fifth, called St. Auſtin's, led to Watling-ſtreet; and the ſixth fronted the South Gate of the Church, near St. Paul's Chain.

The Fence of the Church-yard is a dwarf Stone Wall, of an irregular Height (occaſioned by a Declivity of the Ground) from two Feet ſix Inches, to about four Feet; on which is placed the moſt magnificent Iron Balluſtrade, perhaps, in the Univerſe; and the ſame being of the Height of five Feet ſix Inches, it makes the Altitude of both eight Feet, where loweſt.

In this ſtately Encloſure are ſeven beautiful Iron Gates, which, together with the Baniſters, weigh two hundred Tons and eighty-one Pounds, which having coſt ſix Pence per Pound, the whole, with other Charges, amounted to the Sum of eleven thouſand two hundred and two Pounds and ſix Pence.

Within this ſtately Fence is ſituate the magnificent Cathedral Church; at the Weſt End whereof is a curious Marble Statue of Queen Anne, which is ſurrounded with four beautiful Figures, repreſenting Great Britain, France, Ireland and America. The North-Eaſt Part of the Church-yard is conferred by the Dean and Chapter upon the Inhabitants of St. Faith's Pariſh, for the Interment of their Dead; as is alſo the South-Eaſt Part of the Cemetery, with a Vault therein, granted to St. Gregory's Pariſh, for the Burial of their Dead.

Conyer. MS. in Bib. Sir Hans Sloane. In the Year 1675, divers Labourers, in digging at the North-Eaſt Corner of the late Cathedral for Foundation for the preſent, they dug in ſome Places twenty-five and in others thirty Feet deep, before they reached the Virgin Earth. About ſix Feet below the Surface of the Ground, a Layer of Corps were interred, and five Feet lower another, the latter whereof my Author ſuppoſes to have been the firſt buried in that Ground, after it became cuſtomary to bury in Church-yards, in the Time of the Saxons: Whence 'tis manifeſt, that the former were buried in the new raiſed Ground after rebuilding the Cathedral by Maurice and Beaumeis, Biſhops of London. And at the Depth of twelve Feet lower was diſcovered a Layer of Rubbiſh, conſiſting of Chalk and Hewings of Stones, thought to have been the remaining Refuſe after rebuilding the Church by Erkenwald, the fourth Biſhop from Mellitus.

Ibid. Parallel to the Eaſt End of the Church, and about the ſame Height with the Stratum of Chalk and Stones, lay interſperſed divers flinty Pavements, by my Author juſtly ſuppoſed to have been Yards to the Houſes purchaſed by Biſhop ſhop Maurice, for enlarging the Foundation of the intended new Church. See Book I. P. 17, 18.

Below theſe Pavements, as the Earth changed its Colour, and became of a Yellowiſh Dye, were diſcovered a great Quantity of Roman Potſheards, found and of a beautiful Red, much reſembling that of Sealing-Wax; on the Bottoms of ſome of which were Inſcriptions, denoting them to have been drinking Veſſels; and on others, repreſenting our modern Sallet Diſhes, beautifully made and curiouſly wrought, was the Inſcription, Dz. PRIMANI. And on others, thoſe of PARICI. QVINTIMANI. VICTOR. IANUS. RECINIO, &c. Together with divers Braſs Coins, which, by their long Continuance in the Earth, were become a Prey to devouring Time. And one of which, tho' of a finer, whiter and harder Metal than that of Bells, was almoſt eat up by the corroding nitrous Salt; but thoſe that happened to lie in a more generous Soil, were ſo much preſerved as to diſcover in whoſe Reigns they were coined: On one of which was an Adrian's Head, with a Galley under Oars on the Reverſe. And on others, the Heads of Romulus and Rhemus, Claudius and Conſtantine.

Ibid. The Pots and divers Glaſs Veſſels were of a Murrey Colour; others, reſembling Urns, were beautifully embelliſhed on the Outſides with raiſed Work, repreſenting Grey-hounds, Stags, Hares and Roſe Trees. Others, of a Cinnamon Colour and Form of an Urn, tho' a little faded, appeared as if they had been gilt. Some, reſembling Jugs of an obſolete Make, formed an Hexagon, curiouſly indented and adorned with a Variety of Figures, in Baſſo Relievo. Many appeared like Black Earthen Pudding-Pans, indented and croſſed quincunx Faſhion.

Ibid. The Red Veſſels appeared to have been the moſt honourable, for on them were inſcribed the Names of their Deities, Heroes and Judges; and the Matter whereof theſe Veſſels were made, was of ſuch an excellent Compoſition, as to vye with poliſhed Metal in Beauty.

Ibid. Theſe curious Antiquities were found at the Depth of twenty Feet, in Holes, filled with the Refuſe of coarſe Gravel and Potſheards, which makes me believe they were antiently Roman Gravel-pits. Beſides, near the ſame Place, at the Depth of fifteen Feet, were diſcovered a Number of Lapilli or Teſſelæ of various Sorts of Marble, viz. Egyptian, Porphyry, Jaſper, &c. in the Form of Dice, which were uſed by the Romans in paving the Prætorium, or General's Tent.

In the ſame Place were alſo found divers Glaſs Beads or Rings of various Colours, fit for the Little Finger, with a Number of large Pins of Ivory and Bone, ſome with Heads ſtuck on like our modern Pins, and others ſcrewed; together with many Pieces of Bucks Horns, ſawn aſunder, and many Tuſks of Wild-Boars; which in ſome meaſure corroborates the Opinion, that here antiently ſtood a Pagan Roman Temple.

Our Antiquary is of Opinion, that the great Deſtruction of theſe Veſſels and Utenſils muſt have happened at the Sacking of London; if ſo, I am of Opinion, that muſt have been when the Britiſh Heroine Boadicea plundered and burnt this City in the Year ſixty-three.

To what has been ſaid of the Cathedral Church of St. Paul, I ſhall ſubjoin a compendious Account of the ſeveral Sums of Money received and paid, as well for and towards repairing the ſaid Church, from the Reſtoration of King Charles II. in the Year 1660, to the Fire of London, Anno 1666, as for and towards the rebuilding thereof after the ſaid Fire; with other neceſſary Works and Expences done and diſburſed, in order to the Beginning of the ſaid Work of Rebuilding.

Ibid. "Upon all which Boundary Houſes, the Broad Arrow, the Royal Mark, has, by his Majeſty's ſpecial Command, been affix'd ever ſince their Erection."

St. PETER's Cheap.

Newc. Repert. Eccleſ. Paroch. This Pariſh is a Rectory, the Church whereof ſtood at the South-weſt Corner of Wood-ſtreet, in the Ward of Farringdon-within; but of what Antiquity I know not, other than that Thomas de Winton was Rector thereof in the Year 1324. However, it is denominated from its Dedication to St. Peter the Apoſtle, and its Vicinity to Cheapſide: Yet in Records it is frequently called Eccleſia S. Petri de Wood-ſtreet, as it is alſo S. Petri de Weſtchepin.

The Patronage of this Church was anciently in the Abbot and Convent of St. Alban's; with whom it continued till the Suppreſſion of their Monaſtery, when Henry the Eighth, in the Year 1546, granted the ſame to the Earl of Southampton; at preſent it is in the Duke of Montague, but ſubject to the Archdeacon. Ibid.

This Church being deſtroyed in the Fire of 1666, and not rebuilt, the Pariſh is united to the Church of St. Mathew, Friday-ſtreet, where I have given an Account of the Profits and Diſburſements of the Cure; and ſhall now proceed to thoſe of the Pariſh, in reſpect to the Church and Poor:

At the End of Wood-ſtreet, in Cheapſide, ſtood a great Croſs, erected in the Year 1290.

In the Year 1401, Licence was granted to the Inhabitants of this Pariſh to erect a Shed or Shop before their Church in Cheapſide. On the Scite of this Building, anciently called the Long-Shop, are now erected four Shops, with Rooms over them. See Farringdon Ward within. Ibid.

St. PETER's, Cornhill.

This Church is a Rectory, ſituate near the South-eaſt Corner of Cornhill, in the Ward of that Name, and is ſo denominated from its Dedication to St. Peter, and its Vicinity to a Corn-Market anciently held in this Neighbourhood.

The Patronage of this Rectory appears to have been anciently in a Family of the Nevil's; for the Lady Alice, Relict of Sir Hugh Nevil, in the Year 1362, made a Feoffment thereof to Richard Earl of Arundel and Surrey; and paſſing through divers Hands ſince, it was in the Year 1411 conveyed, by Richard Whittington and others, to the Lord-Mayor and Commonalty of this City, in whom the Right of Advowſon ſtill remains, but ſubject to the Archdeacon. Newc. Rep. Ecc. Paroch.

This Church ſharing the common Fate in the great Conflagration Anno 1666, it is handſomely rebuilt, and not having a Pariſh annexed to it, it remains in all reſpects upon the ancient Foot, other than, inſtead of uncertain Tithes, a certain Stipend is by Parliament ſettled upon the Incumbent; which, together with the other Profits and Diſburſements of the Cure, are as follow: Act Parl. 22 & 23 Car. II.

Mund.Ed. Stow. Sur.

In the Yeere of Jeſus Chriſt's Incarnation
One thouſand Five hundred Forty and Foure,
The Twenty-ſecond Day of April by juſt Computation,
In this Place was buried with great Honour,
Which prov'd a Man meet to bee a Governour
For the Commonwealth of this high and famous Citie:
Called Sir William Bowyer, Lord of the Maioralty,
Which departed not with finding great Calamity:
And pray wee to God to grant his Soule Mercy.
O London, if thou looke to the Lacedemonies,
There to find Lycurgus, that noble and kinde King,
Or if thou ſeeke for Ciceroes, Men moſt of Prize;
Or if thou apply thee to have all the whole Deſiring
Of Amphion, Orpheus, or of Mecenas, demeaning;
Seeke no further to find, for here is buried,
Which had all their Properties for London's good Ordering.
Bee wee then of this honourable Degree well conceiving,
For his Acts for ever be regiſtred in London's Meaning.
Here under lieth buried William Meſſe, of this Citie,
Whilſt he lived, free of the Grocers Company;
And Julian, his Wife, to whom 24 Yeeres married was he,
By whom God ſent him Five Sonnes and Daughters Three.
And to God's Will his Heart was alwaies bent,
So did his Death ſhew a Life well ſpent.
Here this is written that others may remember
His godly Departure from this World, the 26th of September.

Officers, &c. this Pariſh.

The Veſtry is ſelect, conſiſting of forty Members; two Church-wardens; two Overſeers of the Poor; one hundred and ninety Houſes. Augmentation to the Pariſh of St. Botolph, Biſhopſgate, ten Pounds per Annum.

Antiquities, &c. in this Pariſh.

In this Church hangs a Table, with the following Inſcription:

" Be hit known to all Men, that the Yeerys of owr Lord God, An. CLXXIX. Lucius, the fyrſt Chriſten King of this Lond, then cally'd Brytayne, fowndyd the fyrſt Chyrch in London, that is to ſey, the Chyrch of Sent Peter apon Cornhyl; and he fowndyd ther an Archbiſhop's See, and made that Chirch the Metropolitant and cheef Chirch of this Kindom, and ſo enduryd the Space of CCCC. Yeerys and more, unto the Commyng of Sent Auſten, an Apoſtyl of Englond, the whych was ſent into the Lond by Sent Gregory, the Doctor of the Chirch, in the Tyme of King Ethelbert, and then was the Archbiſhoppys See and Pol removyd from the aforeſeyd Chirch of Sent Peter's apon Cornhyl unto Derebernaum, that now ys callyd Canterbury, and ther yt remeynyth to this Dey." Weav. Fun.Mon.

" And Millet Monk, whych came into this Lond wyth Sent Auſten, was made the fyrſt Biſhop of London, and hys See was made in Powllys Chyrch. And this Lucius, Kyng, was the fyrſt Foundyr of Peter's Chyrch apon Cornhyl; and he regnyd King in thys Ilond after Brut, MCCXLV. Yeerys. And the Yeerys of owr Lord God a CXXIV. Lucius was crownyd Kyng, and the Yeerys of hys Reygne LXXVII Yeerys, and he was beryd aftyr ſum Cronekil at London, and aftyr ſum Cronekil he was beryd at Glowceſter, at that Plaſe wher the Ordyr of Sent Francys ſtandyth."

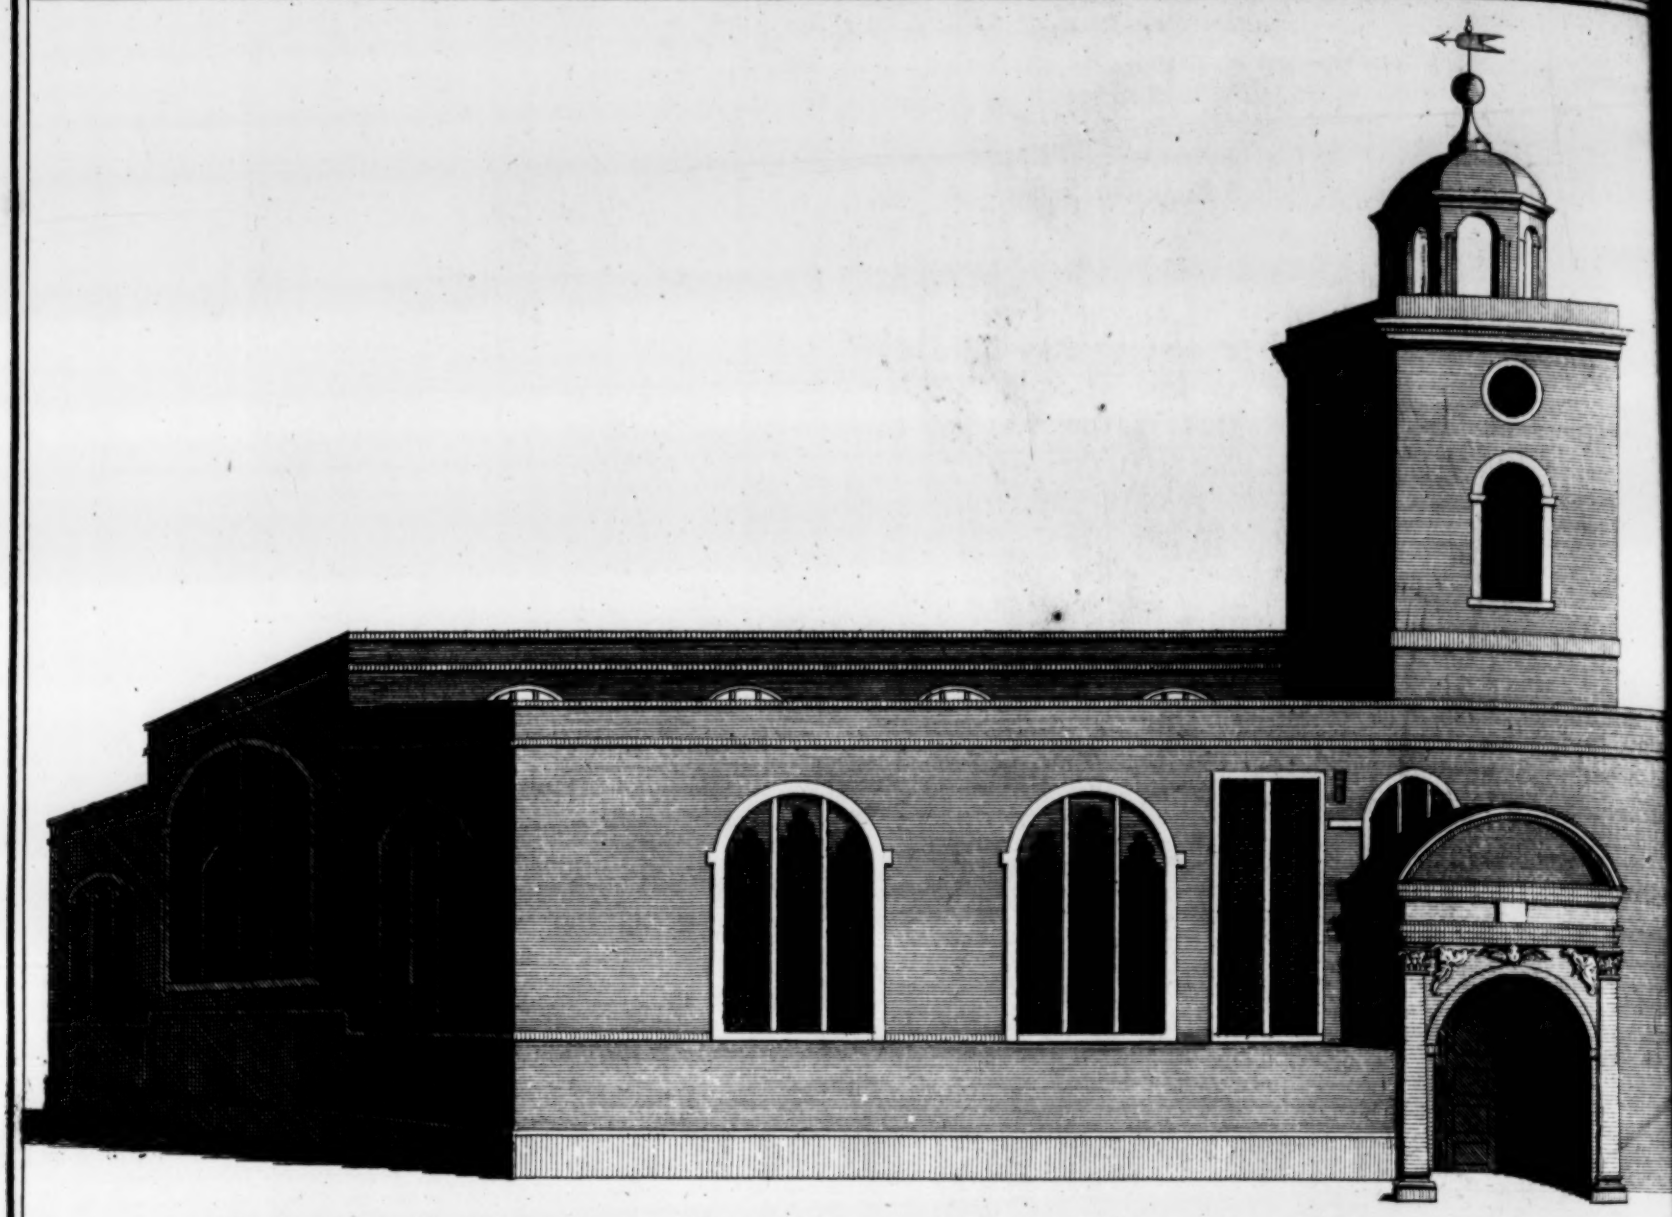
Could this Inſcription be depended upon, it would plainly demonſtrate, that this Church was the firſt Chriſtian Temple erected in Britain; as it is manifeſt, by Bede, that there was no Chriſtian Church in London at the Arrival of Mellitus; for Ethelbert, as an Encouragement for him to proceed in the Work of Converſion, erected a Church in this City for the Accommodation of him and his Proſelytes, and dedicated the ſame to St. Paul. I think it is not to be doubted that this, and all the other ancient Churches in London, owe their Origin to the Saxons, Danes and Normans, and not to the Britons. Bed. Eccleſ. Hiſt. Angl.

The firſt authentic Account I find of this Church, is, that William Kingſton, before the Year 1298, gave to it his Tenement in Graſs-ſtreet, called the Horſe Mill: And that anciently belong'd to the ſame, a publick Library well furniſhed with Books; which being diſpoſed of in a private Manner, the Building was converted into a Schoolhouſe for the Education of Youth. Stow Sur. Lond.

Under the corner Houſe of Leadenhall and Biſhopſgate Streets, and two Houſes on the Eaſt, and one on the North Side thereof, was ſituate a very ancient Church of Gothick Conſtruction, the principal Part of which is ſtill remaining under the ſaid corner Houſe and the two adjoining in Leadenhall-ſtreet; but Part of the North Iſle, beneath the



The North East prospect of S.t Olives Church Hart Street.

The South East prospect of S.t Peter's Le poor in Broad Street.

the Houſe contiguous in Biſhopſgate-ſtreet, was lately obliged to make way to inlarge the Cellar.

When or by whom this old Church was founded I cannot learn, it not being ſo much as mention'd by any of our Hiſtorians or Surveyors of London, that I can diſcover: However, the Inſide of it appears of the Length of forty Feet, and the Breadth of twenty-ſix and one Inch; the former whereof conſiſts of four Arches, and the latter of two Iſles, that towards the South being of the Breadth of nine Feet three Inches, and that on the North ſixteen Feet, which ſhews the ſmall Pillars to be only ten Inches in Diameter.

The Roof of this ancient Structure, which is a flattiſh Gothick Arch, is at preſent only ten Feet nine Inches above the preſent Floor; wherefore I am of Opinion, that this Church originally was not above the Height of ſeventeen Feet within; which, together with three Feet, the Thickneſs of the Arch, as lately diſcovered by a Perforation, ſhews that the Ground is very much raiſed in this Neighbourhood.

The Walls of this Church being ſo much decay'd, and patch'd with Brick-work, I could diſcover neither Door or Window therein; however, the Entrance to the chief Part thereof, (A.D.1738) is at Mr. Jones's, a Diſtiller, oppoſite Leadenhall-Gate.

At the Diſtance of twelve Feet from this Church, Northward, is to be ſeen, under the Houſe late Mr. Macadams, a Peruke-maker, in Biſhopſgate-ſtreet, a Stone Building of the Length of thirty Feet, Breadth of fourteen, and Altitude of eight Feet ſix Inches above the preſent Floor, with a Door in the North Side, and a Window in the Eaſt End, as there probably was one in the Weſt. It is covered with a ſemi-circular Arch, built with ſmall Pieces of Chalk in the Form of Bricks, and ribb'd with Stone, reſembling thoſe of the Arches of a Bridge. What this Edifice at firſt was appropriated to is very uncertain, though, by the manner of its Conſtruction, it ſeems to have been a Chapel: But the Ground being ſince raiſed on all Sides, it was probably converted into a ſubterraneous Repoſitory for Merchandize; for a Pair of Stone Stairs, with a deſcending Arch over them, ſeems to have been erected ſince the Fabrick was built. See Cornhill Ward.

St. PETER Le Poor.

This is a Rectory Church, ſeated on the Weſt Side of Broad-ſtreet in the Ward of that Name, but in reſpect to its Origin, I am at a great Loſs; but that it is of an ancient Foundation, is manifeſt from the State thereof in the Year 1181. Its Name, like thoſe of the ſame Appellation, it has from its Dedication to St. Peter, and the additional Epithet of Le Poor from the mean Condition (as is ſuppoſed) of the Pariſh in ancient Times: If ſo, that Epithet may at preſent be juſtly chang'd to that of Rich, becauſe of the great Number of Merchants and other Perſons of Diſtinction inhabiting there.

Newc. Rep. Eccl. Paroch.

The Advowſon of this Church appears to have been all along in the Dean and Chapter of St. Paul's; but in Eccleſiaſtical Affairs it is ſubject to the Archdeacon, ſave as to Wills and Adminiſtrations, which belong to the Commiſſary.

Ibid.

This Church eſcaping the great Fire of 1666, it remains in all Reſpects upon the ancient Foot in regard to the Incumbent: However, by the great Improvement of Rents, and Erection of Houſes upon new Foundations, the Tithes are increaſed above double to what they were, which, with the other Profits and Diſburſements of the Cure, are as follow:

Epitaphium.

So fraile and brittle is the Life of Man,
That who lives longeſt, liveth but a Span;
In Youth and Age all dye, God hath ſo doom'd,
That Earth returnes to Earth to be intomb'd.
Wadſon, who of that Subſtance was compos'd,
Lies in his Mother Center here inclos'd;
A Sheet doth hide his Face, but not his Fame,
The Grave contains his Corps, not his good Name:
For his good Name outlives (O bleſſed Man)
When others good Names dye before they can.

Sixteene hundred Twenty-foure, he did pay
The Debt to Nature, which all Men doe know,
He was no ſooner born but he did owe.
If Vertues could have ſtaid the Hand of Death,
Then Wadſon ſtill had drawne his vitall Breath.
His Soule above, his Worth doe here remaine,
Till Chriſt ſhall come to raiſe him up againe.

Thus he enjoyes Heaven's Immortality,
And here on Earth, Earth's happy Memory.
Poſt varios Vitæ caſus, dabit Urna quietem.

This Pariſh is a Rectory, the Church whereof ſtood at the South-eaſt Corner of St. Peter's-hill in Thames-ſtreet, and Ward of Queenhithe, but of what Antiquity is unknown; its antient Foundation is manifeſt from the State thereof in the Year 1181. Its Name, like the above-mention'd, it owes to its Dedication to St. Peter, and the additional Epithet to its Neighbourhood to St. Paul's Wharf. Anciently it was denominated St. Peter's Parva, or the Little, from the Smallneſs of its Dimenſions.

This Church being deſtroyed in the great Conflagration of 1666, and the ſame not rebuilt, the Pariſh is annexed to the Church of St. Bennet, Paul's Wharf; where having accounted for the Incumbent's Profits and Diſburſements on Account of the Cure, I ſhall now ſubjoin the Parochial Receipts and Payments in reſpect to the Church and Poor.

St. SEPULCHRE's, the City Liberty.

This Church is a Vicarage, ſituate on the North Side of Snow-hill, in the Ward of Farringdon without; but when or by whom founded is unknown. That it is of great Antiquity, is apparent, by Roger Biſhop of Saliſbury's giving the ſame, with its Appurtenances, (about the Beginning of the twelfth Century) to the Prior and Canons of St. Bartholomew in Smithfield, as appears by a Charter of Confirmation of Henry the Third, dated at Wincheſter 15 June 1253. Its Name it owes to its being dedicated in Commemoration of Chriſt's Sepulchre at Jeruſalem, and was anciently called St. Sepulchre's in the Bailey, or by Chamberlain Gate, now Newgate.

Dugd. Mon. Ang

By Virtue of the above-mentioned Gift of this Church, the Prior and Convent aforeſaid became Patrons thereof, and in whom the Right of Advowſon continued till the Diſſolution of their Monaſtery; when coming to the Crown, it continu'd therein, till James the Firſt, Anno 1610, granted the Rectory and its Appurtenances, with the Advowſon of the Vicarage, to Francis Philips, and others; after which the Rectory, with its Appurtenances, were purchaſed by the Pariſhioners to be held in Fee-Farm of the Crown; while the Advowſon thereof was obtained by the Preſident and Fellows of St. John Baptiſt's College in Oxford, in whom the Patronage ſtill continues: But in Affairs Eccleſiaſtical it is ſubject to the Archdeacon, except as to Wills and Adminiſtrations, which belong to the Commiſſary.

Though this Church was not deſtroyed by the great Conflagration of 1666, it was yet greatly damaged; however it being repaired again, no Alteration has happened in that Reſpect, other than, in lieu of uncertain Tithes, a certain Stipend is ſettled by Parliament on the Vicar; which, together with the other Profits and Diſburſements of the Cure, are as follow:

Qualis vita, finis ita. Mund. Ed. Stow. Sur.

Here under lyes the Wonder of her Kinde,
The Quintessence of Nature and of Grace,
Wit, Beauty, Bounty, and (in noble Race
The rarest Jewel) a right humble Minde,
Here lyes her Body, but her Soule refin'd
Above th' Empyreall, hath Imperial Place,
In Bliss so boundlesse, as no Words embrace,
Nor Art can feigne, nor mortall Heart can finde.
Her Fame remaines a Monument of Honour,
Built by her Vertue, gilt with purest Gold,
With Lilly Flowers and Roses strewed upon her.

A ſuffering Spirit, rendring Right for Wrong:
Her Heart a Spheare, where all good Thoughts did move,
Whoſe Influence was diſperſed by the Tongue.
Religion was her Compaſſe, Truth her Starre,
In ſundry Seas of Worlds Proſperity.
Wealth her bad Angell, Fleſh and Bloud her Warre,
Yet Wiſedome made this Diſcord Harmony.
Then Marble keepe to all Poſterity
Her Lives deare Memory, upon whoſe Urne
And to her Obſequies (O! obſequiouſly)
In Loves ſweet Odours Hearts ſhall ever burne.
And let each Chriſtian Heart, joine with my Pen,
T'embalme her Vertues in the Hearts of Men.
Thou Bed of Reſt, reſerve for him a Roome,
Who lives a Man divorc't from his deare Wife:
And as they were one Heart, ſo this one Tombe
May hold them neere in Death, as linckt in Life.
She's gone before, and after comes her Head;
To ſleepe with her among the bleſſed Dead.

Accordiamus, vincere eſt vivere.

Here lies one conquer'd that hath conquer'd Kings,
Subdu'd large Territories, and done Things
Which to the World impoſſible would ſeem,
But that the Truth is held in more Eſteem.
Shall I report his former Service, done
In Honour of his God and Chriſtendom?
How that he did divide from Pagans Three,
Their Heads and Lives, Types of his Chivalry:
For which great Service in that Climate done,
Brave Sigiſmundus (King of Hungarion)
Did give him as a Coat of Armes to wear,
Thoſe conquered Heads, got by his Sword and Spear.
Or ſhall I tell of his Adventures ſince,
Done in Virgina, that large Continent?
How that he ſubdu'd Kings unto his Yoke,
And made thoſe Heathen flee, as Wind doth Smoke;
And made their Land, being of ſo large a Station,
A Habitation for our Chriſtian Nation:
Where God is glorifyed, their Wants ſupply'd,
Which elſe for Neceſſaries might have dy'd.
But what avails his Conqueſt now he lies
Interr'd in Earth, a Prey to Worms and Flyes?
O may his Soul in ſweet Elyſium ſleepe,
Untill the Keeper, that all Souls doth keep,
Return to Judgment; and that after thence,
With Angels he may have his Recompence.

St. STEPHEN's, Colemanſtreet.

This Church is a Rectory, ſeated on the Weſt Side of Coleman-ſtreet, in the Ward of that Name. It is of great Antiquity, as is manifeſt, from its having antiently belonged to the Dean and Chapter of St. Paul's, who granted the Church of St. Olave's Jewry, together with this, then a Chapel and an Appendage of the ſame, to the Prior and Abbot of Butley in Suffolk, between the Years 1171, and 1181.

Some Time after, the ſaid Dean and Chapter made a new Grant of the Church of St. Olave, and this Chapel as an Appendage thereof, to the Prior and Convent aforeſaid; which was confirmed by Stephen Biſhop of London in the Year 1322, and the Year after ratified by the Dean and Chapter of St. Paul's; after which it continued annexed to St. Olave's, till it was made Parochial; except in the Years 1436, and 1451, at each of which Times a Clerk was admitted Vicar thereof, without ever mentioning its Dependance upon St. Olave's; but that was owing to the King's Collating thereto, to whom the Right of Preſentation had devolved, by its being appropriated to Butley, without his Licence.

The ſaid Chapel was made parochial in the thirty-fifth of Henry VI. Anno 1456, when Thomas, Biſhop of London, convened before him the Prior and Canons of Butley, as Patrons of this Chapel, and the People who belonged to the ſame, (between whom divers Conteſts had happened) together with the Vicar of St. Olave's, when the Biſhop, by Conſent of all Parties, conſtituted the ſaid Chapel a Pariſh-Church, inſtituted a Vicarage, and endowed the ſame; and out of the Profits ariſing thereby, appointed the Prior and Canons aforeſaid, annually to pay the Vicar and his Succeſſors, the Sum of eleven Pounds: But in caſe of Non-reſidence, without immediate Licence from the Biſhop, they were to pay him only ten Pounds per Annum.

It continued in the Convent of Butley till their Suppreſſion, when it came to the Crown. But Queen Elizabeth, in the Year 1577, granted the ſame, together with the Church and Rectory, to Thomas Paſkin and others; and ſome Time after, (Anno 1590) to William Daniel, Serjeant at Law, and other Pariſhioners; which Rectory impropriate, and Right of Advowſon, have been held by the Pariſh in Fee-farm of the Crown ever ſince.

This Church ſharing the common Fate in the great Conflagration, 'tis again rebuilt in a handſome Manner; but without any other Alteration, than fixing a certain Stipend upon the Vicar, to his great Advantage; which, with his other Profits and Diſburſements on Account of the Cure, are as follow:

Mund. Ed. Stow. Sur. An honeſt Heart, religiouſly affected;
A zealous Soul; a charitable Mind;
True-dealing Conſcience; all Untruth rejected:
All theſe in One are hard and far to find;
Yet in the Courſe, both Time and Truth have tryed,
In Youth and Age, John Taylor liv'd and died.
His honeſt Heart, his honeſt Friends have found;
His Zeal to God, God and the Godly know;
His Charity, his true Reliefe may ſound,

The bleſſed Token of the Daughter's Love,
Unto the Father's kind and loving Care,
May to the World this Monument approve,
How bleſſed Parents in their Children are:
And, bleſſed God, that ſo his Love expreſſeth,
Who thus both Parents and the Children bleſſeth.

In the Year 1415, as already mentioned, Thomas Falconer, Lord Mayor of this City, cauſed Moorgate to be erected for the Convenience of the Citizens to repair to the Fields and neighbouring Villages.

The Quarters, or lower Moorfield, was raiſed anew in the Years 1730, 31, and 32, with Rubbiſh and Street Dirt, about the Height of three Feet; and being almoſt brought to a Level with the middle Field, it was beautifully inrailed and planted with Elm Trees. See Coleman-ſtreet Ward.

St. STEPHEN's, Walbrook.

This Church is a Rectory, ſituate on the Eaſt Side of Walbrook, in the Ward of that Name; the earlieſt Account I find of it is, that before the Year 1135, in the Reign of Henry I. it was given to the Monaſtery of St. John in Colcheſter, by Eudo, Sewer to the ſaid King; which ſhews it to be of an antient Date. The Church of this Pariſh, till the Year 1428, ſtood on the Weſt Side of the Street upon the Eaſtern Bank of the antient Water-courſe of Walbrook: About which Time Robert Chichely, Mayor of this City, and Executor, as I imagine, of William Standon, ſome time Mayor of London; with whoſe Money he purchaſed the Ground of the preſent Church and Cemetery, of the Company of Grocers, which by Direction he gave to this Pariſh, whereon to erect their Church; the firſt Stone whereof he laid Anno 1429; but the Work advanced ſo ſlowly, that it was not finiſhed till the Year 1439. Stow. Sur. Lond.

The Patronage of this Church, (which owes its Name, like that above mentioned, to its Dedication to St. Stephen the Protomartyr, and its Situation in the Street of Walbrook) was antiently in the Prior and Canons of St. John in Colcheſter, with

St. SWITHIN's.

This Church is a Rectory, ſituate at the South-Weſt Angle of St. Swithin's-lane, in Canon-ſtreet, and Ward of Walbrook. Tho' I cannot aſcertain the Origin of the Church of this Pariſh, yet that it is of ſome Antiquity, is manifeſt by Robert de Galdeford's being Rector thereof before the Year 1331. No living Creature lives so long,
But once must needs give Place
When dolefule Death, that Champion strong,
Arrests them with his Mace.
Example take by me,
Which did my Life enjoy,
The Space of Sixty Yeeres, lacke Three,
Which Death did then destroy.
Like thee I was some Time,
But now am turn'd to Dust,
As thou at length (O Earth and Slime)
Returne to Ashes must.
Of the Company of Clothworkers
A Brother I became,
A long Time in the Livery.
I lived of the same.
Then Death that deadly Stroke did give,
Which now my Joyes doth frame,
In Christ I dyed, by Christ to live;
John Rogers was my Name.
My loving Wife, and Children Two,
My Place behind supply;
God grant them living so to do,
That they in him may dye.
He dyed the 5th August, An. Dom. 1576.

TRINITY the Leſs.

This Pariſh is a Rectory, the Church of which was ſeated at the North-eaſt Corner of Little Trinity-lane, where at preſent a German Chapel, denominated the Swediſh Church, is ſituate, in the Ward of Queenhithe; but as to its Antiquity, I can trace it no farther, than that it had Thomas Marſhall for its Rector Anno 1407. However, it is denominated from its being dedicated to the Trinity; and the Epithet of Leſs, to diſtinguiſh it from the Trinity Priory at Aldgate.

Newc. Rep. Eccleſ. Paroch.

The Patronage of this Rectory was anciently in the Prior and Canons of St. Mary Overies in Southwark, with whom it continued till their Diſſolution; when coming to the Crown, it was ſoon after granted to the Dean and Chapter of Canterbury, in whom it ſtill remains, but ſubject to the Archdeacon.

Ibid.

This Church being conſumed in the great Conflagration Anno 1666, and not rebuilt for the Uſe of the Pariſh, it is united to that of St. Michael's, Queenhithe, in the Account of which I have ſpecified the Profits and Diſburſements of the Cure,

Act Parl. 22 & 23 Car. II.

in reſpect to both Pariſhes; therefore I ſhall now inſert the parochial Diſburſements on account of the Church and Poor.

Antiquities, &c. in the Pariſh.

In Trinity-lane anciently ſtood a magnificent Edifice belonging to the Earl of Cornwall.

This Church, as already obſerved, being deſtroyed in the late dreadful Fire, divers German Merchants purchaſed the Site thereof, in order to erect a Church thereon, for the Celebration of the Divine Offices, according to the Auguſtan Confeſſion, or Lutheran Religion. See Queenhithe Ward.

TRINITY in the Minories.

This Church is a Curacy, ſituate in the Little Minories, and Ward of Portſpoken; in the Place where anciently ſtood an Abbey of Nuns, of the Order of St. Clare, called the Minoreſſes; which was founded by Edmund, Earl of Lancaſter, Brother to Edward the Firſt, in the Year 1293, but the ſame being ſuppreſſed Anno 1539, a Number of Houſes was erected on the Site thereof; for the Inhabitants of which a ſmall Church was built for the Celebration of the Divine Offices; and the ſame being dedicated to the Trinity, it thereby received its preſent Appellation, and the additional Epithet of Minories, from the Monaſtery aforeſaid. Stow Sur. Lond.

The Patronage of this Church has been all along in the Crown, but in Subjection to the Archbiſhop; but as it is a Curacy, it pays neither Firſt-fruits nor Tenths, nor other Diſburſement on account of the Cure, except Procuration to the Archdeacon 2 s. 6 d. Nor in Truth can the Curate afford to pay any great Matter, ſeeing his Income is ſo very ſmall, that it is ſaid only to amount to a Subſcription of twenty-five Pounds per Annum, beſide Surplice Fees. St. VEDAST, alias Foſter's,

This Church, which is a Rectory, ſituate on the Eaſt Side of Foſter-lane, in the Ward of Farringdon within, is denominated from its being dedicated to St. Vedaſt, Biſhop of Arras, in the Province of Artois; and the additional Appellation, either from the Place of its Situation, or the Founder, or Rebuilder of the ſame. The firſt Time I find it mentioned in Hiſtory, is, that Walter de London was preſented thereto in the Year 1308. Newc. Rep. Eccl. Paroch.

The Patronage of this Church was anciently in, and continued with the Prior, and Convent of Canterbury, till the Year 1352, when coming to the Archbiſhop of that See, it has been in him and his Succeſſors ever ſince; and is one of the thirteen Peculiars in this City, belonging to that Archiepiſcopal See. Ibid.

This Church, though not intirely deſtroyed by the great Conflagration Anno 1666, it was however made a Prey of ſo far, as to have nothing left ſtanding but the Walls; which being ſome time after repaired, the crazy Steeple continued ſtanding till the Year 1694, when it was taken down, and beautifully rebuilt at the Charge of the united Pariſhes, and ſuch Benefactions as were ſent them. Ibid.

To this Pariſh that of St. Michael Quern being united, the Incumbent's Profits are hereby greatly increaſed; which, together with his Diſburſements on account of the Cure, are as follow: Act Parl. 22 & 23 Car. II.

Reader, ſtay, and thou ſhalt know
What he is, that here doth ſleepe:
Lodg'd amidſt the Stones below,
Stones that oft are ſeen to weepe.
Gentile was his Birth and Breed,
His Carriage gentle, much contenting:
His Word accorded with his Deed,
Sweete his Nature, ſoone relenting.
From above he ſeem'd protected;
Father dead before his Birth;
An Orphane only, but neglected;
Yet his Branches ſpread on Earth,
Earth that muſt his Bones containe,
Sleeping, till Chriſt's Trumpe ſhall wake them,
Joyning them to Soule againe,
And to Bliſſe eternal take them.
It is not this rude and little Heap of Stones,
Can hold the Fame, although 't containes the Bones.
Light be the Earth, and hallow'd for thy Sake,
Reſting in Peace, Peace that ſo oft didſt make.

The

Act Com. Council.

The Sum appointed by an Act of Common Council, to be yearly raiſed within the City and Liberties thereof, for paying the Beadles and Watchmen, amounts to the Sum of ten thouſand ſeven hundred and eighty-three Pounds ſeventeen Shillings.

To the above-mentioned Number of Lamps, 102 being added for the Pariſhes of St. Bartholomew the Great and Leſs, St. Jame's Duke's Place, St. Martin's le Grand, and St. Paul's Church-yard; the Number of all the publick Lamps within the City and Liberties thereof, will be increaſed to five thouſand and one; which at preſent are lighted at about forty Shillings each; the annual Expence of the whole thereby appears to amount to about ten thouſand Pounds.

Beſides this great Number of publick Lamps, the private ones belonging to the principal Citizens, Publick-houſes, &c. muſt be very conſiderable; therefore I am of Opinion, that London at preſent is the beſt lighted and the beſt watched City upon Earth.

An Account of the Numbers of Officers, viz. Headboroughs, Conſtables, Scavengers, Beadles and Watchmen in the ſeveral Pariſhes, Precincts, and Liberties within the City of London and Liberty thereof, but without its Juriſdiction; with the annual Sum paid by each to the Raker.

Work-houſe Meeting, Clerkenwell.
Number Total 12.

Theſe four Denominations of Proteſtant Diſſenters not only pay towards the Maintenance of the Parochial Incumbents, and the eſtabliſhed Church and Poor's Rates, but the three firſt handſomly provide for their own Miniſters, under whoſe Miniſtry they immediately are, and likewiſe for thoſe of their ſeveral Denominations in the Country, whoſe Congregations are not capable of ſupporting them. The Money annually collected by the Presbyterians for that Uſe amounts to about 2000*l.* by the Independents about 1800*l.* and by the Baptiſts about 700*l.*

Theſe People likewiſe collect conſiderable Sums of Money for their Poor, which being commonly immediately diſtributed, they have no Occaſion to keep an Account thereof; therefore the Sums annually beſtowed cannot be known; for which Reaſon I ſhall moderately compute, that the Meetings of the three firſt Denominations, at a Medium, collect about bout thirty Pounds each; which with the Sum above-mentioned, for the Uſe of the Country Miniſters, amounts to ſeven thouſand and ten Pounds.

And as the Quakers intirely maintain their own Poor, excluſive of Pariſh Help, their annual Diſburſements on that Account, amount to about fifteeen hundred Pounds.

The Foreign Miniſters Chapels I have choſen to inſert in this Place, becauſe their Congregations are chiefly compoſed of Britiſh Subjects; therefore I ſhall put them upon the ſame Foot with the three Denominations aforeſaid, in reſpect to their Collections for the Poor, whereby the Sums annually diſtributed by the ſaid Meetings will appear to be four hundred and fifty Pounds, which, with the Sums already mentioned, will make the Sum Total annually raiſed by the ſaid one hundred and fourteen Meetings, to amount to the Sum of eight thouſand nine hundred and ſixty Pounds.

Having given an Account of all our own Meetings within the City and Suburbs of London, I ſhall in the next Place inſert an Account of thoſe belonging to Foreigners within the Bill of Mortality.

The French Contributions for the Support of their Poor are very great, being well aſſured by one of the chief Managers, that the Chapels of Threadneedle and Black-eagle Streets only, raiſe annually for that Purpoſe about three thouſand Pounds, which, without reckoning (tho' there are divers others very conſiderable) any other Sum than that yearly paid by the Government for the Support of the Poor of that Nation, they together amount to the Sum of eighteen thouſand Pounds per Annum.

Though I have not been able to come at the Diſburſements of the Congregations belonging to theſe Chapels on Account of the Poor, yet, by the Informations I have received from the moſt conſiderable Members thereof, I ſhall venture to reckon them at a Medium of ſixty Pounds each, or the whole at the Sum of four hundred and eighty Pounds per Annum.

Jewiſh Synagogues.

Bevis Markes Synagogue, of Portugueſe Jews.
Duke's Place Synagogue, of German Jews.
Magpye Alley Synagogue, of German Jews.

By the Suffrages of the ſubſtantial Part of the Portugueſe Jewiſh Congregation, the Sum of two thouſand Pounds is annually raiſed for defraying the Charges and Incidents belonging to the Synagogue and Poor; out of which are paid the following yearly Stipends, Salaries, &c.

To a Prieſt —	£. 100	0	0
The two Readers, at 60 and 40 l.	100	0	0
To three School-maſters, 40 l. each	120	0	0
To two Phyſicians for the Poor, 30 l. each — —	60	0	0
To an Apothecary for Medicines for ditto — —	125	0	0
To two Clerks, 40 l. each —	80	0	0
To diſtreſſed Brethren in the Holy Land — —	80	0	0
To redeem Captive Brethren	60	0	0

The Method of raiſing the aforeſaid great Sum is by a Rate of ſeven hundred Pounds, which was laſt aſſeſſed upon two hundred and ten Perſons (then the Number capable of paying from ten Shillings to fifteen Pounds;) and a Duty of two Shillings per Cent. upon all Goods and Stocks bought and ſold by Foreign Commiſſions; which, as that People are great Dealers, amounts to a very conſiderable Sum; and whatever Deficiency may happen, the ſame is made good out of the Money ariſing by Offerings made on the Sabbaths, and other great Feſtivals.

Beſides, many of the moſt eminent and charitable of both Sexes, in Commiſeration to the Poor, have formed themſelves into divers Societies for their Relief.

The firſt whereof, called the Orphan Society, keep twelve Boys at School, whom they annually cloath in Grey; and every other Winter give each a great Coat; and towards their Subſiſtence, five five Shillings per Month. Theſe Children are not only inſtructed in the Jewiſh Literature, but likewiſe to read, write and account in Engliſh; and after having been at leaſt three Years at School, have each of them twenty Pounds given him for advancing them in the World.

The Second Society, is that called the Theological, which conſiſts of the Chief Prieſt and about fifteen Aſſiſtants, who all but the firſt have handſome Salaries allowed them for expounding the Scriptures in a Rabbinical Manner.

The third, is the Valetudinary Society, who not only, according to the Directions of the Phyſicians and Surgeons, carefully adminiſter all manner of Neceſſaries to the ſick and impotent Poor, but are likewiſe at the Expence of burying all ſuch as die under their Care.

The fourth Society, is that of Circumciſion, who carefully provide Perſons for Godfathers and Godmothers for poor Male Infants at their Circumciſion; and whoſe Office it is, that inſtead of being Sureties for the Childrens being brought up in the Jewiſh Religion, they are only to vouch for their Circumciſion, when controverted. To the Parents of each of theſe poor Infants the Society gives two Guineas. They alſo give to every poor adult Stranger of their Nation, coming from Spain or Portugal, at the Time of his Circumciſion, one Guinea; and they likewiſe give to every poor Woman at her being delivered of a Male Child, the ſame Sum.

The fifth Society, is that for Cloathing the Naked, who annually, in Autumn, give many Suits of Apparel to the Neceſſitous of both Sexes.

The ſeveral Sums diſburſed by the ſaid Societies amount to above ſeven hundred Pounds per An.

Before I leave this People, I think 'twill not be amiſs to acquaint the Reader, that they have divers Cuſtoms, which tho' they have not the Sanction, yet among themſelves they have the Force of Laws; by virtue whereof, the Elders of the Synagogue (five in Number, who are annually choſen by the People) meet twice a Week, on Sundays and Wedneſdays, on the firſt of which Days they hear and decide all Controverſies among the People; for by one of the ſaid Cuſtoms, none are permitted to commence a Proceſs in any Court of Judicature, without the immediate Permiſſion of the ſaid Elders: Therefore, if any Perſon incurs a Breach of this or any other Cuſtom, he is amerced in a Pecuniary Mulct of ten Pounds, or in lieu thereof, in the moſt publick Place of the Synagogue, in full Aſſembly, to aſk Pardon of God and the Elders for his great Offence. But if the Offender prove refractory, he is forthwith excommunicated, and not ſuffered to enter the Synagogue till he has made ample Satisfaction. And if in the Interim the Perſon criminal happen to die in Impenitence, he is denied Jewiſh Burial, till Retribution is made to the Congregation by his Executors. And on the latter of the ſaid Days, the Elders meet to receive Petitions for admitting the Neceſſitous into Penſion, and to relieve ſuch as are not allowed a Competency for their Support.

The Heads of this Account I received from one of the principal Managers and chief Elders of the Synagogue, A.D. 1737.

The Management of the German Jews, both in Reſpect to their Synagogues and Poor, is ſo miſerably bad, that none were capable of giving a tolerable Account thereof, tho' applied to in my Behalf, by one of the moſt Eminent of their Brethren. However, I was told by ſome of thoſe principally concerned, that the Poor ſtands them in above a thouſand Pounds per Annum.

By the above ſpecified Accounts of Meeting-houſes, both Domeſtick and Foreign, the Sum Total annually expended by the ſame for the Support of their Poor appears to amount to the Sum of thirty-one thouſand two hundred and forty Pounds.

BOOK IV.

Containing the Civil, Eccleſiaſtical, and Military Government.

CHAP. I.

An Account of the Civil Government, by Portreves, Bailiffs and Mayors; with a Liſt of the latter.

WHAT Manner of Government London had, immediately after its Foundation by the Romans, is unknown; becauſe of the great Uncertainty of its antient State. See Book I. Chapter I. Page 11.

However, as Biſhop Stillingfleet is of Opinion, that London originally was a mixed Colony, which, by the great Confluence of People, was in the Time of Tacitus become a noble Emporium; we may infer, that London then had a Civil, as well as a Military Government; which muſt have continued till the Declenſion of the Roman Power in Britain.

The Romans having abandoned this Iſland, the Saxons, arriving ſoon after, poſſeſſed themſelves of this City; but what Sort of Government they exerciſed therein, before its Reduction by the Danes, is alſo unknown. And tho' London, in the Year 851, was brought under the Daniſh Yoke, yet it does not appear that they made any other Uſe thereof, than as a Place of Security, which they could upon all Emergencies fly to, as a ſure Place of Defence: But being diſlodged by King Alfred in the Year 886, he no ſooner became Maſter of the ſame, then he repaired the Walls, and rebuilt the the City in a more magnificent and beautiful Manner than formerly.

W. Malm. de Geſt. Reg. Angl.

Alfred had no ſooner reſtored London to its former Splendor, than he committed the Government thereof to Ethelred, Duke of Mercia, who had married Elfleda, his Daughter; but as to the Government exerciſed therein by the ſaid Duke, I am at a great Loſs, for we have not the leaſt Account tranſmitted to us, whereby we can form an Idea of the Government of this City, before the Norman Conqueſt, other than a few Scraps taken from a Charter addreſſed to the Portgrave, and ſaid to be granted by Edward the Confeſſor to the City of London, whereby all her antient Cuſtoms and Uſages were confirmed; and by an additional Grant, every Servant or Vaſſal, repairing to London, and reſiding therein during a Year and a Day, without being claimed by his Lord, or Maſter, became in all Reſpects a Freeman of this City, as if he had been born and bred therein. See Book I. Chap. VI.

By this Charter it appears, that the chief Officer of the City before the Norman Conqueſt, was denominated Portreve, or Portgrave. Various are the Derivations of this Epithet, ſome taking Port to ſignify a Town, whereas in Truth it means an Haven or Harbour; and Grave, an Intendant, Governor, or Collector, is derived from the Saxon Grau, that is Gray or Hoary-head; ſuch were, by the antient Saxons, for their Age and Experience, choſen Judges, as the Roman Senators, and Aldermen of England were on the ſame Account: But this Appellation at laſt becoming general, it was indifferently applied to a Judge, Governor, Magiſtrate, Warden, Keeper, and Receiver; as is manifeſt by the following antient German Titles, viz. Margrave, a Warden of the Marches; Landgrave, an itinerant Judge; Burgrave, a Governor, or chief Magiſtrate of a City; and Portgrave, a Collector, or general Receiver of the Publick Duties of a Commercial Port: Such a one was the Portgrave of London under the Saxons, who, I imagine, was likewiſe at the Head of the Civil Government of the City.

Chriſt. Schlop. Bard. Chron.

Doomſd. Book. Rec. Exch.

In the Survey, commonly called Doomſday-Book, made in the twentieth of William the Conqueror, Anno 1086, it appears, that many Cities and Boroughs in England were held of the Saxon Kings, Nobility, and Clergy, in Demain or Vaſſalage; and whoſe ſeveral Properties being cantoned out into Sokes and Liberties in the ſaid Cities and Boroughs, I imagine, they at firſt gave riſe to the Appellation of Ward, to each of the ſaid Diviſions; which is not only in ſome meaſure corroborated by the Wards of Baynard's-Caſtle, Coleman-ſtreet and Portſoken, but likewiſe by the ſeveral Wards of London being antiently alienable. That the Burgeſſes, or Inhabitants of this City, were then under ſome ſuch Hardſhips, I think, does in ſome meaſure appear, by the Charter, or rather Protection of William the Conqueror, granted to the Citizens of London, in the Saxon Language, as above ſpecified.

In the Reign of Henry I. an additional Magiſtrate was added to the Government of this City, by the Name of Provoſt; but what his Office was, is not mentioned, tho' probably 'twas either that of Sheriff or Bailiff.

Richard I. in the firſt of his Reign, in Conſideration of a great Sum of Money given to him by the Londoners, towards his Expedition to the Holy-land, granted them a Privilege of chuſing annually, from among themſelves, two Bailiffs, or Sheriffs, for their better Government. See Book I. Chap. VIII.

Poly. Virg. Hiſt. Angl.

By the third Charter of King John, An. 1199, the Citizens of London were reimpowered to chooſe their own Sheriffs; by virtue of which Grant of Confirmation, and the preſſing Inſtances of the Commonalty, thirty-five of the moſt prudent and ſubſtantial Part of their Body were choſen; but whether by the Bailiffs and Aldermen, or Falkmote, is not mentioned, no more than the Office they were to ſerve; therefore 'tis probable they were only ſelected out of the Commonalty, as a ſtanding Body where out of to elect the City Magiſtrates; for it appears, that both Bailiffs and Sheriffs were afterwards annually elected out of the ſaid Number, as were at firſt the Mayors, when in the Election of the Citizens. See the Charter on Page 75, Vol. I.

Fab. Chron. P. 7.

The chief Officer of this City under the Saxons (as already hinted) was the Portgrave; but the Normans having by Conqueſt reduced the Engliſh, they were in all Things forced to ſubmit to the Conqueror; wherefore the Appellation of Portgrave was obliged to make way for the exotick one of Mayor; from the French Word Meire, (a Latin Derivative from Major) wherewith the chief Magiſtrate of the City of Roan, the Capital of the Province of Normandy, was then dignified.

Etymology of the Title Mayor.

The firſt Mention I find of the Appellation of Mayor, is in the Reign of Henry II. which muſt have been towards the Cloſe of it, ſeeing that, but four Years before, a Portgrave had the Government of this City.

The Citizens of London, weary under the Government of a Foreigner, humbly applied to King John, in the Year 1215, for a Power to chooſe their own Mayor; which Privilege he was pleaſed to grant, by an additional Charter, whereby they were impowered annually to elect from among themſelves their chief Magiſtrate. See the Charter on Page 76, Vol. I.

Roy. Char. Lond.

Tho' John, by his Charter, had indulged the Citizens of London with the Choice of their Mayor, yet by the ſame Power they were annually obliged to preſent him to the King for his Approbation, or in his Abſence to his Juſticiary; this Cuſtom ſtill remaining, he is yearly preſented to the Lord Chancellor; without which Sanction the Perſon ſo choſen could no more act as Lord-Mayor of this City, than a mere Stranger.

The antient Seal of this City being laid aſide in the fourth of Richard II. the preſent, whereof the annexed is a Repreſentation, was made in the ſame Year, 1381.

Rec. Guild.

The Citizens of London having by divers Royal Grants obtained the Privilege of chooſing their own Magiſtrates, they were elected by the Court of Aldermen, and a Number of Commons ſummoned by them out of each of the Wards; but the Numbers being occaſionally varied, at the Diſcretion of the Aldermen, gave great Uneaſineſs to the Commonalty; for the removing of which, the Method of Election was altered by an Act of Common Council, Anno 1476, whereby the preſent Manner of electing by the Liverymen of the ſeveral Companies was eſtabliſhed: By virtue whereof the Lord-Mayor, or chief Magiſtrate of the City, is annually choſen on Michaelmas-day; for which Purpoſe, the Liverymen aſſemble in Guildhall on the ſaid Day, where, by holding up of Hands, they chooſe two of the Senior Aldermen below the Chair, who being returned to the Court of Lord-Mayor and Aldermen, the Senior Aldermen is commonly declared Lord-Mayor Elect.

Brad. Hiſt. Treat. Cit.

The Election being over, the Lord-Mayor Elect, accompanied by the Recorder and divers of the Aldermen, is ſoon after preſented to the Lord-Chancellor (as his Majeſty's Repreſentative) for his Approbation; and on the ninth of November following is ſworn into the Office of Mayor, at Guildhall, and the Day after before the Barons of the Exchequer at Weſtminſter. In the Morning of the ſaid Day, the Aldermen and Sheriffs repair to the Lord-Mayor's Reſidence, whence they attend him to Guildhall in a Proceſſion at preſent formed by Coaches, which about Noon proceed to the River-ſide, where, at the Three-Cranes Stairs, the Lord-Mayor, Aldermen, Recorder and Sheriffs, go on board the City Barge, attended by the ſeveral Corporations of Citizens, in their Formalities, and magnificent Barges, pompouſly adorned with a great Number and Variety of Flags and Pendants; and thence proceeding to Weſtminſter, form ſuch an auguſt and majeſtick aqueous Proceſſion, as probably is no-where to be parallelled, except at Venice.

The Ceremony being over at Weſtminſter, the dazzling Navy returns to the City, where, at Black-friars Stairs, moſt of the Companies come on Shore, the Liverymen whereof, by the Make and Sumptuouſneſs of their Robes, appear like ſo many Senators; and being ſeverally preceded by their Colours, Flags, and Bands of Muſick, in Proceſſion to their proper Stands, they continue ſeated in their ſtately Robes, amidſt the numerous Concerts of Muſick, and inceſſant Acclamations of the Populace, till their chief Magiſtrate the Lord-Mayor be paſt.

This great and powerful Officer being landed at Black-friars Stairs, he is preceded by the Artillery Company of Citizens, a military Body, which for Men, and Dexterity of Exerciſe, is ſcarce to be excelled by the beſt Veterans; and in regard to their ſumptuous Accoutrements, 'tis not to be queſtioned, but they excel all other Bodies of Infantry whatſoever.

This Company is followed by that whereof the Lord-Mayor is free, which is attended by the City Muſick, and followed by the Lord-Mayor's Officers and Domeſticks, who immediately precede his Lordſhip in his Coach of State, who is followed by the Aldermen, Recorder, Sheriffs, Chamberlain, Common Sergeant, Town Clerk, &c. in their ſeveral Coaches and rich Equipages, amidſt the Acclamations of an infinite Number of People, and the Streets thro' which the pompous Proceſſion paſſeth are adorned with the moſt pompous Decorations. This ſolemn and moſt ſtately Shew has been often embelliſhed with a great Variety of magnificent Pageants, which, together with the Magnificence and Pomp of all its Parts, may juſtly be ſaid to vie with the Coronations of ſome Princes. The Proceſſion being over, the ſeveral Corporations repair to their ſtately Halls, where they are ſumptuouſly regaled with an elegant Entertainment.

What has been ſaid upon the preſent Grandeur at the Inſtallation of this great Magiſtrate, is not to be admired at, eſpecially if we conſider, that the City whereof he is Head and Governor, immediately under the King, is the moſt populous and opulent of all others.

The Lord-Mayor, upon all publick Occaſions, is cloathed, according to the Seaſon, either in Scarlet, or Purple Robes richly furred, with a Velvet Hood and Golden Chain, or Collar of SS, with a rich Jewel appendant; and when abroad, he is attended by a great Number of his Officers, before and on each Side; and when on Foot, his Train is ſupported by a Page, and the City Sword and Mace carried before him, attended by the Sheriffs.

The Officers belonging to the Lord-Mayor, for the Support of his Dignity, are, the Sword-bearer, who for the Expence of his Table has a very conſiderable annual Allowance; the Common-hunt, Common-crier, and Water-bailiff, who have all great Salaries, or Perquiſites, with each the Title of Eſquire; together with the three Sergeant Carvers, three Serjeants of the Chamber, a Sergeant of the Channel, two Yeomen of the Chamber, four Yeomen of the Water-ſide, a Yeomen of the Channel, an Under Water-bailiff, ſix Youngmen-waiters, three Meal-weighers, two Yeomen of the Wood-wharf, and the Foreign-taker. The State and Grandeur of this Magiſtrate in all Reſpects duly conſidered, will be found not to come far ſhort of that of ſome Viceroys; for the Support of whoſe Honour, and the defraying other publick Expences, the Receipts and Diſburſements of the City for the Year 1732 were as follow:

A brief State of the fifth Account of Samuel Robinſon, Eſq; Chamberlain of London, from Michaelmas 1731, to Michaelmas 1732.

Though I cannot aſcertain the Time when the Title of Right Honourable was firſt given to the Chief Magiſtrate of this City, I am nevertheleſs of Opinion, that it was conferred by the great Patron of London, Edward III. in the Year 1354. See the Charter, &c. on Page 129, Vol. I. At the Return of Henry VI. from his being crown'd King of France at Paris, Anno 1432, the Mayor was firſt apparelled in a Gown of Crimſon Velvet, a furred Cap, with a Girdle of Gold and a Golden Chain about his Neck; and the Aldermen in Scarlet Gowns and Sanguine Hoods. Stow. An. Engl.

The Wear of Robes being eſtabliſhed, and the various Colours agreed upon, a Regulation was publiſhed by the Court of Lord-Mayor and Aldermen, Anno 1568, for fixing the Days whereon their ſeveral coloured Robes ſhould be worn, viz. The Lord-Mayor, Aldermen and Sheriffs to be dreſſed in their Scarlet Gowns on St. Bartholomew's Day, to behold the Wreſtling near Weſt-Smithfield; the Sunday after, for hearing a Sermon at St. Paul's Croſs; at the Proclamation of Southwark Fair; at the Election of the Lord-Mayor; at preſenting the Sheriffs at Weſtminſter; the Lord-Mayor, Recorder and Sheriffs only, to be in Scarlet on the 29th of October, for attending the Lord-Mayor at Weſtminſter; the Feſtivals of All Saints, Chriſtmas, Twelfth-day and Candlemas; at all publick Meetings during Chriſtmas Holydays, Innocents-day, Monday after Twelfth-day, Eaſter-Monday and Tueſday, Low-Sunday, Whit-Sunday, and Whitſun-Monday and Tueſday; on their attending the King; on the firſt Sunday of every Term; and at the King's Coronation. Ord. Appar.

And on the following Days, the Lord-Mayor, Aldermen and Sheriffs, to appear in their Violet-coloured Gowns, viz. on Midſummer-day, at the Election of Sheriffs; St. Bartholomew's-Eve, for proclaiming the Fair in Smithfield; at the Swearing in of the Sheriffs; at the Swearing in of the Lord-Mayor; on St. Thomas's-day, for holding Courts of Wardmote; on Eaſter-wedneſday; at the Election of Members to repreſent the City in Parliament; at the Election of Chamberlain and Bridge-Maſters; on the firſt Day of every Quarter-Seſſions; at the Funerals of Aldermen; and at the Orphans Court. Ibid.

And on the Days following to be apparelled in their Black Gowns, viz. on extraordinary Occaſions during the Chriſtmas-Holydays; Good-Friday; all Days during the Quarter-Seſſions, except the firſt; at the Nomination of Aldermen, the Lord Mayor to appear in Black; and alſo at the Election of Governors for the City Hoſpitals. Ibid.

Though the Office of Lord-Mayor of this City be only elective, yet it may in ſome meaſure be ſaid to be perpetual; for his Authority ceaſeth not, neither on the Demiſe, or Abdication of the King, as that of all Commiſſion-Officers do; wherefore, in ſuch Caſes, the Lord-Mayor of London is ſaid to be the principal Officer of the Kingdom, as he appears to have been upon the Demiſe of Queen Elizabeth, and the Acceſſion of King James I. and of K. George I. to the Crown.

The Power of this great Officer at preſent is much greater than formerly; for at this Time he is not only the King's Repreſentative in the Civil Government of the City, but likewiſe firſt Commiſſioner of the Lieutenancy, perpetual Coroner and Eſcheator within the City and Liberties of London and Borough of Southwark, Chief Juſtice of Oyer and Terminer and Gaol Delivery of Newgate, Judge of the Courts of Wardmote at the Election of Aldermen; Conſervator of the Rivers Thames and Medway, whereby he is impowered, that if any Citizen or Apprentice of London be carried away, and by force detain'd on Shipboard, he can, by his Warrant, compel the Captain or Maſter of ſuch Ship or Veſſel to releaſe the ſaid Citizen; the Lord-Mayor is alſo a perpetual Commiſſioner in all Affairs relating to the River Lea, and Chief Butler of the Kingdom at all Coronations, whoſe Fee for that Service is a Golden Cup and Cover, with a Golden Ewer.

As by the Norman Conqueſt the Appellation of Sheriff was obliged to make way for that of Bailiff, ſo was that of Portreve to that of Proveſt; voſt; this Title being ſoon after converted into that of Mayor, I ſhall, previous to the Liſt of the latter, inſert that of the former, from the Conqueſt to the firſt of Richard I. Anno 1189, viz. Richard de Par, Leofſtanus Goldſmith, Robert Barquerel and Andrew Buchevet. But the Years of the reſpective Governments of thoſe Provoſts not being aſcertained, the Dates of ſuch Offices under the new Appellation of Mayor, commence in the aforeſaid Year, as will appear by the following Liſt of the ſaid Officers.

Stow. S

When or on what Occaſion a Sword was at firſt carried before this Magiſtrate, I cannot learn. However, I am of Opinion it was not before the Reign of Henry VIII. for Pope Leo the Tenth, Anno 1513, preſented that Prince with a conſecrated Sword, and a Cap of Maintenance, the former being an offenſive Weapon to deſtroy the Enemies of the Church, and the latter Armour to defend the Head. This being the firſt Cap of Maintenance I read of in England, 'twas regarded by Henry as the greateſt Favour Leo could confer upon him; therefore the King as an additional Honour to the Metropolis of his Kingdom, might grant the Citizens a Privilege to uſe both the Sword and Cap of Maintenance.

CHAP. II.

An Account of the City Repreſentatives in Parliament, with a Liſt of them.

THough the Repreſentatives of this City in Parliament do not immediately belong to the Government of London; yet as there is not a Place in this Work more proper to inſert the ſame, I ſhall ſubjoin an Account thereof. The Number of Repreſentatives ſent by this City at firſt to Parliament, appear to have been only two: But the Number thereof not being aſcertained till the thirty-fourth of Edward III. in the Year 1361, the Citizens, according to the Directions of the ſeveral Writs, choſe two, three, or four Members, as will appear by the following Liſt; but in that Year they being impowered to elect four Members, they have almoſt practiſed the ſame ever ſince.

But how this City, out of fifteen Parliaments in the Reign of Edward I. only ſent Repreſentatives to two, is not mentioned, other than it ſeems to have been excuſed from ſending to other Parliaments: That London, the capital City of the Kingdom, (than which none were better qualified to ſend Repreſentatives to Parliament) ſhould be excuſed from this Service, and the petty Borough of Southwark allowed to ſend Members, I think is highly improbable; therefore, 'tis more reaſonable to believe, that Edward ward, ſtill retaining a Grudge againſt the Londoners for their Rebellion againſt his Father, would not allow them the Honour of ſending Repreſentatives to any of his Parliaments before that of the 26th of his Reign, in the Year 1298.

A Liſt of the Repreſentatives of the City of London in Parliament, from the latter End of the Reign of Edward the Firſt to the Year 1754, with the reſpective Names of the Kings, Years and Towns wherein the ſeveral Parliaments were held.

CHAP. III.

An Account of the Aldermen and Sheriffs, with a Liſt of the latter.

THE Saxon Appellation of Ealderman, Alderman, or Old-Man, is of the ſame Signification as the Latin Appellative Senex, whence is derived Senators. The Epithet of Ealderman, among the ancient Saxons, appears to have been a Title of the greateſt Honour, as will appear by the following Monumental Inſcription, in the Abbey of Ramſey.

Spel. Gloſ. "Hic requieſcit D. Alwinus, inclyti regis Eadgari cognatus, totius Angliæ Aldermannus, & hujus ſacri cœnobi miraculoſus fundator."

As the Epithet of Alderman was the ſame as that of Earl, the ſaid Alwin muſt have been dignified with the Title of Earl of all England; which ſhews the City of London muſt have been in very great Repute, when the noble Appellation of Alderman was conferred upon her Magiſtrates; this probably gave riſe to the honourable Title of Barons, whereby the Aldermen and Commonalty of London were long after denominated.

Whether the City of London at firſt was divided into Wards by King Alfred, (after his rebuilding the ſame, as already mentioned) or by arbitrary Lords, whoſe Demains in the City were held in Vaſſalage by the Citizens, or by others, is unknown. However, the ſecond ſeems the more probable, ſeeing that during the Saxon Government moſt of the Cities and Towns in this Kingdom were held in Demain or Vaſſalage; which is potently coroborated by the Wards of this City being anciently hereditary, and alienable at the Will of the Alderman.

And it is obſervable, that the Wards or Aldermanries of this City were denominated from the Aldermen, and anciently changed their Names as often as their Maſters; and that the Diviſion of the City into Wards or Aldermanries, appears to be of great Antiquity; for it is manifeſt, that London had both Wards and Aldermen in the Reign of King Richard the Firſt, which is above five hundred and fifty Years ago.

Fitz. Steph. Deſcrip. Lond.

The firſt Number of Wards I read of in this City was twenty-four; (ſee Page 105, Vol. I. but in the Year 1394, Farringdon Ward being divided by Act of Parliament, the outward Diviſion was erected into a ſeparate Ward, which made up the preſent Number of twenty-five; (ſee Page 125, 126, Vol. I.) for that called the Bridge Ward without being only nominal, it is well adapted to the Senior Alderman, who by his great Age is rendered incapable of undergoing much Fatigue; but in caſe of Non-acceptance, the Court of Aldermen chooſe another of their Brethren to ſupply the Vacancy.

In the ſeventeenth of Richard the Second, Anno 1394, it was by Parliament enacted, that the Aldermen of the City of London ſhould not from thenceforth be elected annually, but continue in their ſeveral Offices during Life, or good Behaviour. Act Parl. 17 R. II.

The Aldermen of London having anciently become ſo by Purchaſe, occaſioned great Jealouſies and Heart-burnings among the Commonalty; for the laying of which, and preventing the like for the future, it was in the Year 1402 by the Common Council enacted, that they ſhould be elective; the Manner of which Election has ſeveral times varied: But in the Year 1714, by the Common Council of the City it was enacted, that from thenceforth in all Elections of Aldermen, there ſhall be choſen only one Citizen by the Inhabitants of every Ward deſtitute of an Alderman, and the Perſon ſo elected to be returned by the Lord-Mayor (or other returning Officer, duly qualified to hold a Court of Wardmote) to the Court of Lord-Mayor and Aldermen, by whom the Perſon ſo returned is to be admitted, and ſworn into the Office of Alderman. Act. Com. Council.

The different Factions in the City continuing vigorouſly to oppoſe each other in the Choice of their Repreſentatives to ſerve in Parliament, Lord-Mayor, Aldermen, Sheriffs, Common-Councilmen, Chamberlain, Town Clerks, &c. Application was made to Parliament to prevent ſuch Diſputes for the future, by reducing the Number of Electors, which was thought would in a great meaſure prevent violent Conteſts on all ſuch Occaſions. See Page 534, 535, 536, 537, 538, Vol. I.

For the attaining ſo ſalutary an End, it was by Parliament enacted, "That at all times from "and after the firſt Day of June in the Year of "our Lord 1725, upon every Election of a "Citizen or Citizens to ſerve the ſaid City of "London in Parliament; and upon all Elections "of Mayors, Sheriffs, Chamberlains, Bridge-"Maſters, Auditors of Chamberlain's and Bridge-"Maſter's Accounts, and all and every other "Officer or Officers to be choſen in and for the "ſaid City by the Liverymen thereof; and upon "all Elections of Aldermen and Common-Coun-"cilmen choſen at the reſpective Wardmotes "of the ſaid City; the Preſiding Officer or "Officers at ſuch Elections ſhall, in Caſe a Poll "be demanded by any of the Candidates, or "any two or more of the Electors, appoint a "convenient Number of Clerks to take the ſame, "which Clerks ſhall take the ſaid Poll in the "Preſence of the Preſiding Officer or Officers, "and be ſworn by ſuch Officer or Officers, "truly and indifferently to take the ſame, and "to ſet down the Name of each Voter, and his "Place Act Parl. 12 G. I. Sect. 1. which relates to the Method of Granting and Taking a Poll.

" Place of Reſidence or Abode, and for whom " he ſhall Poll; and to Poll no Perſon who ſhall " not be ſworn, or, being a Quaker, ſhall not af- " firm according to the Direction of this Act."

Sect. 4. directing at what Time a Poll ſhall be begun and finiſhed.

" That if a Poll ſhall be demanded at any of " the Elections beforementioned, &c. the Pre- " ſiding Officer or Officers at ſuch Election ſhall " begin ſuch Poll the Day the ſame ſhall be de- " manded, or the next Day following at fartheſt, " unleſs the ſame ſhall happen on a Sunday, and " then on the next Day after, and ſhall duly and " orderly proceed thereon from Day to Day, " Sundays excepted, untill ſuch Poll be finiſhed, " and ſhall finiſh the Poll at Elections by the " Liverymen within ſeven Days, excluſive of " Sundays, and the Poll at the Wardmote within " three Days, excluſive of Sunday, after com- " mencing the ſame reſpectively."

" And ſhall, upon adjourning the Poll on each " Day, at all and every the Elections aforeſaid, " ſeal up the Poll Books with the Seals, and in " the Preſence of ſuch of the reſpective Candi- " dates, or Perſons deputed by them, as ſhall " deſire the ſame; and the ſaid Poll Books ſhall " not be opened again, but at the Time and " Place of meeting in Purſuance of ſuch Adjourn- " ment; and after the ſaid Poll is finiſhed, the " ſaid Poll Books being ſealed up as aforeſaid, " ſhall within two Days after, be publickly open- " ed at the Place of Election, and be duly and " truly caſt up; and within two Days after ſuch " caſting up, the Number of the Votes or Polls " for each Candidate ſhall be truly, fairly and " publickly declared to the Electors at the Place " of Election, by the Officer or Officers preſid- " ing at ſuch Elections.

Sect. 4. directing in what Manner, and within what Time a Scrutiny is to be carried on and ended.

" If a Scrutiny ſhall, upon ſuch Declaration " made, be lawfully demanded, the ſame ſhall " be granted and proceeded upon, and the re- " ſpective Candidates ſhall immediately nominate " to the preſiding Officer or Officers at ſuch " Elections, any Number of Perſons qualified to " Vote at ſuch Election, not exceeding ſix, to " be Scrutineers for and on Behalf of the Candi- " date or Candidates on each Side, to whom the " Preſiding Officer or Officers at ſuch Elections " ſhall within ſix Days next after ſuch Scrutiny " ſhall be demanded, upon Requeſt and at the " Charge of the Candidate or Candidates, or any " the Scrutineers on his or their Behalfs, deliver " or cauſe to be delivered to him, or them, a " true Copy, ſigned by ſuch Officer or Officers, " of the Poll taken at ſuch Elections.

" And all and every the Scrutinies to be had " or taken upon any Election to be made by the " Liverymen of the ſaid City ſhall begin within " ten Days after the Delivery of the Copies of " the ſaid Polls; and be proceeded on Day by " Day (Sundays excepted) and ſhall be finiſhed " within fifteen Days after the Commencement " of ſuch Scrutiny; and thereupon the Pre- " ſiding Officer or Officers ſhall within four " Days after the finiſhing ſuch Scrutiny, pub- " lickly declare, at the Place of ſuch Election, " which of the Candidates is or are duly elected, " and the Number of Legal Votes for each Can- " didate appearing to him or them upon ſuch " Scrutiny.

" And on the Election of any Officer or Offi- " cers at the reſpective Wardmotes of the ſaid " City, if a Scrutiny be demanded, the Candi- " dates or Scrutineers, nominated on their Be- " halfs reſpectively, ſhall within ten Days next " after the Receipt of the Copy or Copies of the " Polls taken at ſuch Election; deliver or cauſe " to be delivered to the Preſiding Officer or " Officers, the Names in Writing of the ſeveral " Perſons, who have Polled in the ſaid Election, " againſt whoſe Votes they ſhall object, with " the particular Objections againſt each reſpective " Name, and the Preſiding Officer or Officers " ſhall thereupon, within three Days next follow- " ing, at the Requeſt and Charges of any Can- " didate or Candidates, or the Scrutineers named " on his or their Behalfs, deliver, or cauſe to be " delivered to him or them, one or more true " Copy or Copies (ſigned as aforeſaid) of the " Paper, containing ſuch Names and Objections " as aforeſaid; and the Preſiding Officer or " Officers within ten Days then next following " (excluſive of Sundays) after having fully heard " ſuch of the ſaid Candidates, as ſhall deſire the " ſame, or ſome Perſon appointed by him or " them, touching ſuch Objections, ſhall at or in " the Place of Election openly and publickly de- " clare, which of the ſaid Candidates is or are " duly elected, and the Number of Legal Votes " for each Candicate appearing to him or them " upon ſuch Scrutiny.

" And if the Preſiding Officer or Officers, or " any other Perſon or Perſons ſhall offend in the " Premiſſes, every ſuch Offender ſhall forfeit, for " every ſuch Offence, the Sum of two hundred " Pounds of lawful Money of Great Britain, " with full Coſts of Suit, over and above all Pe- " nalties and Forfeitures inflicted by any other " Act or Acts of Parliament.

Sect. 14. declaring what Liverymen are to be excluded from Voting at a Common-Hall.

" And it is hereby further Enacted, That " no Perſon or Perſons whatſoever, ſhall from " and after, &c. have any Right or Title to " Vote at any Election of a Citizen or Citizens " to ſerve in Parliament for the ſaid City, or of " any Mayor or other Officer or Officers to be " choſen by the Liverymen thereof, who have not " been upon the Livery by the Space of twelve " Kalendar Months before ſuch Election; and " who ſhall not have paid their reſpective Livery " Fines, or who, having paid the ſame, ſhall have " received ſuch Fines back again, in part or all; " or ſhall have had any Allowance in reſpect " thereof.

Sect. 7. which Enacts the Qualifications neceſſary to entitle one to Vote for Alderman and Common-Councilmen.

" And whereas divers Controverſies and Diſ- " putes have ariſen in the ſaid City of London, " touching the Right of Election of Aldermen " and Common-Councilmen for the reſpective " Wards of the ſaid City; for quieting all ſuch " Diſputes and Controverſies for the future, it is " hereby further Enacted by the Authority afore- " ſaid, That from and after the ſaid firſt Day of " June, in the Year of our Lord 1725, the " Right of Election of Aldermen and Common- " Councilmen for the ſeveral and reſpective " Wards of the ſaid City, ſhall belong and ap- " pertain to Freemen of the ſaid City of London " being Houſeholders, paying Scot, as herein " after is mentioned and provided, and bearing " Lot, when required, in their ſeveral and re- " ſpective Wards, and to none other whatſoever.

" Pro-

The 8th and Part of the 10th Precinct, describing in what manner Householders are to be entitled to Vote, &c.

" Provided nevertheleſs, that the Houſes of " ſuch Houſeholders be reſpectively of the true " and real Value of ten Pounds a Year at leaſt; " and that ſuch Houſeholders be reſpectively the " ſole Occupiers of ſuch Houſes; and have " actually been in Poſſeſſion reſpectively of a " Houſe of ſuch Value, in the Ward wherein " the Election is made, by the Space of twelve " Kalendar Months next before ſuch Election. " And

" Sect. 10. Provided always, That ſuch Houſe- " holder, within the Space aforeſaid, ſhall have " been rated or charged, and contributed or paid " his Scot to all and ſingular the Rates and Taxes " (other than and except annual Aids granted by " Parliament) whereunto the Citizens of London, " inhabiting therein, are or ſhall be liable; or " ſhall have paid in the whole to the ſaid Rates " and Taxes, or ſome of them, except as afore- " ſaid, thirty Shillings a Year at leaſt.

The 9th Precinct, which aſcertains what are the Rules and Taxes to which ſuch Houſeholders ought to pay their Scot.

" Provided alſo, and for the better aſcertaining " what are the Rates and Taxes, to which ſuch " Houſeholders ought to contribute and pay " their Scot, the ſame are hereby Declared and " Enacted to be, a Rate to the Church; to the " Poor; to the Scavenger; to the Orphans; " and to the Rates in lieu of or for the Watch " and Ward; and to ſuch other annual Rates, " as the Citizens of London, inhabiting therein, " ſhall hereafter be liable unto, other than and " except annual Aids granted or to be granted " by Parliament; and in Caſe any ſuch Houſe- " holder, within the Space aforeſaid, ſhall have " been rated and charged, and contributed and " paid his Scot to all the ſaid Rates or Taxes, " or thirty Shillings a Year to all, or ſome of " them, except as aforeſaid, every ſuch Perſon " ſhall be deemed and taken to be a Perſon pay- " ing of Scot.

Sect. 10. relating to Partners.

" And in Caſe any two or more Partners " carry on a joint Trade in any ſuch Houſe " together, and ſhall have been Houſeholders of " ſuch Houſe by ſuch Space of Time, as afore- " ſaid; ſuch Partners ſhall, paying their Scot in " manner aforeſaid, and bearing their reſpective " proper Lots, if required, have Votes at the " Elections aforeſaid; ſo as ſuch Houſe, wherein " ſuch Partners carry on their Trade, be of the " true and real yearly Value of as many reſpective " Sums of ten Pounds a Year, computed toge- " ther, as there are Partners.

Sect. 12. relating to ſeveral Inhabitants.

" Provided alſo, that where two Perſons and " no more, not being Partners, ſhall have by " the Space aforeſaid, ſeverally inhabited in the " ſame Houſe, ſuch two Perſons, ſeverally pay- " ing their Scots, and bearing their reſpective " Lots, as aforeſaid, ſhall have Votes at the Elec- " tion aforeſaid; ſo as ſuch Houſe, wherein ſuch " two Perſons inhabit, be of the true and real " yearly Value of twenty Pounds or upwards; " and that each of the ſaid Perſons doth pay the " yearly Rent of ten Pounds at the leaſt, for his " reſpective Part of ſuch Houſe.

Sect. 14. declaring the general Diſqualifications of Voting at all Elections whatſoever, within the City of London.

" And no Perſon or Perſons whatſoever, " ſhall have any Right to Vote at any Election " of a Citizen or Citizens to ſerve in Parlia- " ment; or of any Mayor, Alderman, or other " Officer or Officers of or for the ſaid City, " or any the Wards, or Precincts thereof, who " have at any Time within the Space of two " Years next, before ſuch Election or Elections, " requeſted to be, and accordingly have been diſ- " charged from paying to the Rates and Taxes, " to which the Citizens of London, inhabiting " therein, are or ſhall be liable, as aforeſaid, or " any of them; or have within the Space afore- " ſaid, had or received any Alms whatſoever; " and the Vote of every ſuch Perſon ſhall be " void.

To which add the diſabling Clauſe inſerted in the Statutes of 9 George II. Chap. 20. Sect. 13. and 10 George II. Chap. 22. Sect. 10. with Regard to the Neglect or Refuſal to pay the Lamp or Watch Rates.

" And to the end that the Payment of the " ſaid Rates and Aſſeſſments for the Purpoſes " aforeſaid, may be effectually enforced, be it " further Enacted, &c. That every Freeman " of London, liable to pay the Rates and Aſſeſſ- " ments as aforeſaid, who ſhall have neglected or " refuſed to pay the ſaid Rates and Aſſeſſments to " the Perſon or Perſons authoriſed and empow- " ered to collect and receive the ſame, (the " ſame having been lawfully demanded) or ſhall " have deſired to be excuſed from paying ſuch " Rates and Aſſeſſments, ſhall be under the ſame " incapacity of Voting at Elections within the " ſaid City of London, as any Perſon or Perſons " now is or are, who do not pay their Scot and " Lot to the ſeveral yearly Rates and Taxes, to " which the Citizens of London are at this Time " liable."

And as an Encouragement to Merchants, and other Perſons of Wealth and Abilities, reſiding within the City, who have hitherto been prevented from becoming free of the ſame, by Freemen being reſtricted from diſpoſing of their Eſtates by Will: It was enacted by the Authority aforeſaid, That from and after the Firſt of June in the Year above-mentioned, all Freemen unmarried, and who have not Iſſue by any former Marriage, as well as all ſuch that ſhall become free of the City of London after the Time aforeſaid, may diſpoſe of their perſonal Eſtates in all Reſpects, as if there never had been any Cuſtom in the City to the contrary.

And to prevent the inevitable Crime of Perjury in the Citizens, by their being formerly obliged, at their Admiſſion into the Freedom of the City, to take the following Oath:

" Ye ſhall ſwear that ye ſhall be good and " true to our Sovereign Lord King George, and to " the Heirs of our ſaid Sovereign Lord the " King: Obeyſant and obedient ye ſhall be to " the Mayor and Miniſters of this City; the " Franchiſes and Cuſtoms thereof ye ſhall main- " tain, and this City keep harmleſs in that " which in you is. Ye ſhall be contributory to " all manner of Charges within the City, as " Summons, Watches, Contributions, Taxes, " Tallages, Lot and Scot, and to all other " Charges, bearing your Part as a Freeman " ought to do. Ye ſhall colour no Foreigners, " Goods, under or in your Name, whereby the " King, or this City, might or may loſe their " Cuſtoms or Advantages. Ye ſhall know no " Foreigner to buy or ſell any Merchandize " with any other Foreigner within this City, " or

" or Franchiſe thereof, but ye ſhall warn the " Chamberlain thereof, or ſome Miniſter of the " Chamber. Ye ſhall implead or ſue no Free- " man out of this City, whilſt ye may have " Right and Law within the ſame City. Ye " ſhall take none Apprentice, but if he be free " born, (that is to ſay) no Bondman's Son, nor " the Son of any Alien, and for no leſs Term " than for ſeven Years, without Fraud and De- " ceit: And within the firſt Year, ye ſhall " cauſe him to be enrolled, or elſe pay ſuch " Fine as ſhall be reaſonably impoſed upon you " for omitting the ſame; and after his Term's End, " within convenient Time, (being required) ye " ſhall make him free of this City, if he have " well and truly ſerved you. Ye ſhall alſo keep " the King's Peace in your own Perſon. Ye ſhall " know no Gatherings, Conventicles, or Con- " ſpiracies made againſt the King's Peace, but " ye ſhall warn the Mayor thereof, or let it to " your Power. All the Points and Articles ye " ſhall well and truly keep, according to the " Laws and Cuſtoms of this City to your Power. " So God you help."

The following, which is adminiſtered to all Perſons at their Admiſſion into the Freedom of the City was conſtituted in its room.

" Ye ſhall ſwear, that ye ſhall be good and " true to our Soverign Lord King George, and " to the Heirs of our ſaid Sovereign Lord the " King. Obeiſant and obedient ye ſhall be to " the Mayor and Miniſters of this City; the " Franchiſes and Cuſtoms thereof ye ſhall main- " tain, and this City keep harmleſs in that " which in you is. Ye ſhall be contributory to " all manner of Charges within the City, as " Summons, Watches, Contributions, Taxes, " Tallages, Lot and Scot, and to all other " Charges, bearing your Part, as a Freeman " ought to do. Ye ſhall colour no Foreigners " Goods under or in your Name, whereby the " King, or this City might or may loſe their " Cuſtoms or Advantages. Ye ſhall take none " Apprentice for any leſs Term than for ſeven " Years, without Fraud or Deceit: And within " the firſt Year ye ſhall cauſe him to be enrolled, " or elſe pay ſuch Fine as ſhall be reaſonably " impoſed upon you for omitting the ſame; and " after his Term's End, within convenient Time " (being required) ye ſhall make him free of " this City, if he have well and truly ſerved " you. Ye ſhall alſo keep the King's Peace in " your own Perſon. Ye ſhall know no Gather- " ings, Conventicles, or Conſpiracies made a- " gainſt the King's Peace, but ye ſhall warn the " Mayor thereof, or let it to your Power. All " theſe Points and Articles ye ſhall well and truly " keep, according to the Laws and Cuſtoms of " this City to your Power. So God you help."

To what has been ſaid of the Aldermen of this City, I ſhall only add, that they are the ſecond conſtituent Part of the City Legiſlature, and all of them that have paſſed the Chair, and three under it, are by Charter perpetual Juſtices of the Peace within the City; and by the ſame Power, they are by virtue of their Office exempt from ſerving on Inqueſts, Juries, &c. as they are likewiſe without the City from Pariſh Offices, &c.

Richard I. as already obſerved, having changed the Names of two of the Magiſtrates of this City, from thoſe mentioned in the Charter of Henry I. his Great-Grandfather, viz. from the Appellation of Sheriffs to that of Bailiffs; however it was only a Change of Name, and not of Office: For as the Norman Appellative of Bailiff implies an Intendant, Collector, or petty Magiſtrate; ſo doth the Saxon Scirgrave or Sheriff import the ſame, Scire ſignifying a Diviſion, and Grave (as already mentioned) a Judge, Overſeer, or Collector; which Epithet of Sheriff was probably at firſt brought into Uſe in this City, upon King Henry I's granting the Sheriffwick of Middleſex to the Citizens of London.

The Appellation of Bailiff proving of no long Duration, the more antient one of Sheriff was reſtored to the Executors of that Office, who at preſent are choſen by the Liverymen of the ſeveral Companies on Midſummer-day, and whoſe Office, according to our great Antiquary, is to collect the publick Revenues within their ſeveral Juriſdictions, to gather into the Exchequer all Fines, to ſerve the King's Writs of Proceſs, and by the Poſſe Comitatus to compel head-ſtrong and obſtinate Men to ſubmit to the Deciſions of the Law, to attend the Judges and execute their Orders, to impanel Juries, to bring in their Verdicts to the Judges, and to take care that all condemned Criminals be duly executed. Camd. Brit. in Com. Mid.

The Liſt of the Sheriffs of London being carried no higher, by any Author hitherto publiſhed, than the firſt of Richard I. in the Year 1189, I ſhall ſupply that Defect from a Manuſcript in the King's Library, wherein the Names of the ſaid Officers are carried up to the Time of King Edward the Confeſſor; but the Years of their reſpective Governments not being aſcertained, the Dates of ſuch Offices of this City are only recorded from the Year 1188, as will appear by the following Account of the ſaid Officers, taken from the moſt antient Record in the Archives of Guildhall, intitled, De Antiquis Legibus Liber; by which I am not only enabled to rectify the Miſtakes and Miſnomers in Fabian, Arnold, and Stow, till the Year 1266, but likewiſe the Dates of the ſeveral Governments, and Spelling the Names of the ſaid Officers, which the ſaid Authors have unwarrantably modernized.

Beſides the Mayor, Sheriffs, and Aldermen, there are ſeveral other eminent Officers belonging to the City.

The Recorder. First, There is a Recorder of the City of London, a grave and learned Lawyer, ſkilful in the Cuſtoms of the City: Alſo he is to be a chief Aſſiſtant to the Lord-Mayors, for their better Direction in Matters of Juſtice and Law. He takes Place in Councils and in Courts before any Man that hath not been Mayor, and learnedly delivers the Sentences of the whole Court.

His Qualifications. The Qualifications of the Recorder of the City are thus ſet down in one of the Books of the Chamber: That "He ſhall be, and is wont to "be, one of the moſt ſkilful and virtuous Ap"prentices of the Law of the whole Kingdom: "Whoſe Office is always to ſit on the right "Hand of the Mayor, in recording Pleas, and "paſſing Judgments; and by whom Records "and Proceſſes, had before the Mayor and Al"dermen at Great St. Martin's, ought to be re"corded by Word of Mouth before the Judges "aſſigned there to correct Errors. The Mayor "and Aldermen have therefore uſed commonly "to ſet forth all other Buſineſſes, touching the "City, before the King and his Council, as alſo "in certain of the King's Courts, by Mr. Re"corder, as a chief Man endued with Wiſdom, "and eminent for Eloquence."

The Fee of the Recorder was ſometimes more, and ſometimes leſs, according to Time and Merit, as appears in the fourth Book of Liber Albus. After, the Recorder's Fee was ſettled at an hundred Marks: And he was to have of the Chamber ſuch Veſture (Lineatam vel penulatam) lined or faced, and as often as the Mayor and Aldermen take every Year. And his Clerk, ſuch as the Serjeants of the Chamber. The Recorder, and his Clerk are wont to ſit at the Mayor's Table.

What the Recorder's Office was long ago demanded to be, to wit, in the Year 1304, may be worthy to be read out of a Record, viz. Die Lunæ, &c. "On Monday after the Feaſt of "the Converſion of St. Paul, in the 32d of King "Edward, before the Lords, John le Blund, "Mayor, John de Burreſorch, Sheriff, William "de Beton, Walter de Fyuchingfield, William de "Leyre, Thomas Romeyn, Adam de Folham, "John of Canterbury, Simon de Paris, John de "Dunſtable, Richard de Glouceſtre, Henry de "Louceſtre, Adam de Rokeſle, &c. Aldermen, "meeting together, John de Wengrave, Alder"man and Recorder, was ſworn, well and faith"fully to render all the Judgments of the Huſt"ings, after the Mayor and Aldermen ſhould "meet concerning their Pleas, and agreed to"gether; and alſo all other Judgments touch"ing the City of London, &c. And that he ſhall "do Juſtice as well to Poor as Rich. And that "all the Pleas of the Huſtings, preſently after "the Huſtings is finiſhed, he ſhall overſee, or"der, and cauſe to be enrolled, according to "the Things pleaded, &c. And that he ſhall "come prepared to diſpatch the Buſineſs of the "City, &c. when he ſhall be lawfully warned "by the Mayor and Bailiffs. For which La"bour the aboveſaid Mayor and Aldermen have "yielded to give the aforeſaid John 10 l. Sterling "by the Year out of their Chamber, and 20 d. "of each Charter written, and each Teſtament "enrolled in the ſaid Huſtings, &c."

The preſent Recorder is Sir William Moreton, Knight.

The following are alſo Officers of eſpecial Reſpect in the City.

The Chamberlain of London.

The Chamberlain.

He is an Officer of great Repute and Truſt; and tho' annually choſen on Midſummer-day, yet not diſplaced, but continues during Life, if no juſt and great Crimes are made out againſt him. He had the keeping of the Monies, Lands and Goods of the City Orphans, or took good Security for the Payment thereof when the Parties came to Age. And to that End he was deemed in the Law a ſole Corporation, to him and his Succeſſors, for Orphans; and therefore a Bond, or a Recognizance made to him and his Succeſſors, was recoverable by his Succeſſors. This Officer hath a Court peculiarly belonging to him, which will be ſpoken of hereafter. His Office may be termed a Publick Treaſury, collecting the Cuſtoms, Monies, and yearly Revenues, and all other Payments belonging to the Corporation of the City. The preſent Chamberlain is Sir Thomas Harriſon, Knt.

The Common-Serjeant.

The Common-Serjeant.

He is to attend the Lord-Mayor and Court of Aldermen on Court-Days, and to be in Council with them, on all Occaſions, within and without the Precincts or Liberties of the City. He was to take Care of Orphans' Eſtates, either by taking Account of them, or to ſign their Indentures, before their paſſing the Lord-Mayor and Court of Aldermen. And likewiſe he was to let, ſet and manage the Orphans' Eſtates, according to his Judgment, to their beſt Advantage. The preſent Common-Serjeant is Thomas Garrard, Eſq;

The Town-Clerk, or Common-Clerk.

The Town-Clerk.

He keeps the Original Charters of the City, the Books, Rolls, and other Records, wherein are regiſtered the Acts and Proceedings of the City;

City; ſo that he may not be improperly termed the City-Regiſter: He is to attend the Lord-Mayor and Aldermen at their Courts. The preſent Town-Clerk is Miles Mann, Eſq;

The Town-Clerk and Common-Serjeant take Place according to their Seniority. The Fees of the Chamberlain, Common-Serjeant, and Common-Clerk, or Town-Clerk, were antiently 10 l. per Ann.

The Coroner of London.

The Coroner.

Called ſo from Corona, i. e. a Crown, becauſe he deals principally with the Crown, or in Matters appertaining to the Imperial Crown of England. As to the Antiquity of this Office; There were Coroners in the Time of King Alfred, as appears by the Book, intitled, The Miroir. The Lord-Mayor for the Time being is Coroner, but hath his Deputy for the Management thereof. In antient Time this Office was of ſuch great Eſteem, that none could execute it under the Degree of a Knight. As the Sheriff may inquire of all Felonies, ſo the Coroner is to inquire of all ſudden Deaths: And to that End he impannels a Jury, takes Evidence upon Oath, and gives the Charge to the Jury.

In former Times this Officer was nominated and appointed by the King. In 51 Edw. III. the Citizens prayed, That they might place and diſplace a Coroner among themſelves, anſwering unto the King what belongs thereunto. It was anſwered, The King will not depart with his antient Right. The preſent Coroner is George Grew, Eſq;

Two Judges of the Sheriffs' Court; four Common Pleaders; Comptroller of the Chamber; Secondary of Wood-ſtreet Compter; Secondary of the Poultry Compter.

The City Remembrancer.

The City Remembrancer.

This Officer is to attend the Lord-Mayor on certain Days, his Buſineſs being to put his Lordſhip in Mind of the ſelect Days he is to go abroad with the Aldermen, &c. He is to attend daily at the Parliament Houſe, during the Seſſions, and to report to the Lord-Mayor their Tranſactions. The preſent Remembrancer is R. Cheſlyn, Eſq;

A Regiſter of the Orphans' Fund; a Solicitor; eight Attornies in the Sheriffs' Court; two Bridge-Maſters; a Hall-Keeper.

There are alſo Officers peculiarly belonging to the Lord-Mayor's Houſe. The firſt are, the four Eſquires of the Lord-Mayor's Houſe.

The Sword-Bearer.

The Sword Bearer.

This Officer is to attend the Lord-Mayor at his going abroad, and to carry the Sword before him, being the Emblem of Juſtice. He hath his Table at the Lord-Mayor's: For the Support of which, there is 1000 l. a Year allowed. His Dwelling, allowed him by the City, is at Juſtice-Hall in the Old-Bailey. The Gentleman that bears this Office is Heron Powney, Eſq;

The Sword-Bearer's Place is honourable; in as much as the Sword is needful to be born before head Officers of Boroughs, or other corporate Towns, to repreſent the State and princely Office of the King's Moſt Excellent Majeſty, the chief Governor. To the Right of bearing which Sword, in the Chamber of London, this Obſervation is to be made, according to an antient Writer of Armoury: "That the Bearer "muſt carry it upright, the Hilts being holden "under his Bulk, and the Blade directly up the "Midſt of his Breaſt, and ſo forth between the "Sword-Bearer's Brows. This, in Diſtinction "from bearing the Sword in any Town for a "Duke, or an Earl, or a Baron. If a Duke, "the Blade thereof muſt lean from the Head "between the Neck and the right Shoulder, "nearer to the Head than the Shoulder. And "for an Earl, the Bearer muſt carry the ſame "between the Point of the Shoulder and the "Elbow: And ſo there is another different "Bearing of the Sword for a Baron."

The Common-Hunt.

The Common-Hunt.

The chief Buſineſs of this Officer is to take Care of the Pack of Hounds belonging to the Mayor and Citizens, and to attend them in Hunting, when they pleaſe. This Officer's Houſe, allowed him, is in Finſbury-Fields. He has a yearly Allowance, beſides Perquiſites. He is to attend the Lord-Mayor on ſet Days. This Officer is Michael Lally, Eſq;

The Common-Crier.

The Common Crier.

It belongs to him and the Serjeant at Arms to ſummon all Executors and Adminiſtrators of Freemen to appear, and to bring in Inventories of the Perſonal Eſtates of Freemen, within two Months after their Deceaſe: And he is to have Notice of the Appraiſements. He is alſo to attend the Lord-Mayor on ſet Days, and at the Courts held weekly by the Mayor and Aldermen. He has his Dwelling allowed him in Alderſgate. This Office is executed by Peter Roberts, Eſq;

The Water-Bailiff.

The Water Bailiff.

This Officer is to look after the Preſervation of the River Thames, againſt all Encroachments; and to look after the Fiſhermen, for the Preſervation of the young Fry, to prevent the deſtroying them by unlawful Nets. For that End there are Juries for each County, that hath any Part of it lying on the Sides or Shores of the ſaid River. Which Juries, ſummoned by the Water-Bailiff at certain Times, do make Inquiry of all Offences relating to the River and the Fiſh; and make their Preſentments accordingly. He is alſo bound to attend the Lord-Mayor on ſet Days in the Week: And has his Houſe in Cripplegate. The preſent Water-Bailiff is Roger Griffith, Eſq;

There are alſo three Serjeant-Carvers; three Serjeants of the Chamber; a Serjeant of the Channel; a Yeoman of the Channel; four Yeomen of the Water-ſide; an under Water-Bailiff; two Yeomen of the Chamber; two Meal-Weighers; two Yeomen of the Wood-Wharfs; a Foreign Taker; City Marſhals. There are beſides theſe, ſeven Gentlemen's Men; as,

The Sword-Bearer's Man, the Common-Hunt's two Men, the Common-Crier's Man, the Water-Bailiff's two Men, and the Carver's Man.

Nine of the foregoing Officers have Liveries of the Lord-Mayor, viz. the Sword-Bearer and his Man; the three Carvers; and the four Yeomen of the Water-ſide. All the reſt have Liveries from the Chamber of London.

The

The following Officers are likewiſe belonging to the City; Farmer of the Markets; Auditor; Clerk of the Chamber; Clerk to the Commiſſioners of the Sewers; Clerk of the Court of Conſcience; Beadle of the ſame Court; Clerk of the City Works; Printer to the City; Juſtice of the Bridge-Yard; Clerk Comptroller of the Bridge-Houſe; Steward of the Borough; Bailiff of the Borough.

The Lord-Mayor's Officers, and their Days of Waiting, according to a Table that hung up in the antient Council-Chamber.

Mr. Sword-Bearer, to wait daily.

Mr. Common-Hunt, to wait Mondays, Wedneſdays, Fridays and Saturdays.

Mr. Common-Crier, to wait Tueſdays, Thurſdays, Fridays and Saturdays.

Mr. Water-Bailiff, to wait Mondays, Tueſdays, Wedneſdays and Thurſdays.

The three Serjeant-Carvers, to wait weekly, all Excuſes ſet apart.

The three Serjeants of the Chamber, to wait weekly, without any Excuſe.

The Serjeant of the Channel, to wait daily.

The two Yeomen of the Chamber, one of them to wait daily at Dinner, to uſher the Hall.

The four Yeomen of the Water-ſide, two of them to wait weekly, and not to be abſent.

The Foreign--Taker, to wait likewiſe on General Days.

The Sheriffs' Officers.

Sheriffs' Officers.

The Sheriffs alſo of London, as the Mayor, for the State of the City, had their Officers. In the Year 1471, they were appointed each of them to have ſixteen Serjeants, every Serjeant to have his Yeoman. And ſix Clerks, viz. a Secondary, a Clerk of the Papers, and four other Clerks; beſides the Under-Sheriffs' Clerks, their Stewards, Butlers, Porters, and others in Houſehold, many.

CHAP. IV.

An Account of the ſeveral Courts within the City and Liberties of London.

THE various Opinions concerning the Antiquity of the Commonalty of this City's having a Share in the Government thereof, have occaſioned warm Diſputes between the Advocates for the Aldermen and Commons, but ſeemingly to very little Purpoſe; for inſtead of determining on either Side, Matters are as much embarraſſed as ever. I ſhall therefore endeavour to come as near the Origin of the ſame as I can.

That the Government of London by Aldermen is of Saxon Origin, is almoſt demonſtrable, by the Charter of Henry I. granted to the City about thirty-five Years after the Conqueſt; wherein all Strangers are expreſsly commanded to pay no Cuſtom to any Perſon, ſave to the Owner of the Soke, or his Deputy: That the Owner of the Soke, or Ward, was the Alderman, I think, is beyond Diſpute. But that the Government of the City was not veſted in the Aldermen excluſive of the Commons, I think, does in ſome meaſure appear by the ſaid Charter; for as the latter were thereby impowered to chuſe their own Sheriff and Juſticiary, I think, it is not to be queſtioned, but they were a Part of the City Legiſlature.

The Common-Councilmen at firſt returned being only two for each Ward, the City Commons thought it a Number very inſufficient to repreſent their numerous Body; wherefore, in the Year 1347, it was agreed, that each Ward of the City ſhould chooſe a Number of Common-Councilmen according to its Dimenſions, but none to exceed twelve, nor any to have leſs than ſix; which has been ſince increaſed to the preſent Number. Lond. Libert.

The City of London being divided into twenty-five Wards, and they into two hundred and thirty-ſix Precincts, each thereof ſend a Repreſentative to the Common-Council, who is elected after the ſame Manner as an Alderman, only with this Difference, that as the Lord-Mayor preſides in the Wardmote, and is Judge of the Poll at the Election of an Alderman; ſo are the Aldermen of the ſeveral Wards in all Reſpects the ſame at the Choice of Common-Councilmen.

The ſeveral Parts which compoſe the City Legiſlature very much reſemble thoſe which conſtitute that of the Kingdom; for as the King is the chief Eſtate of Parliament, ſo is the Lord-Mayor of the Common Council; and as the Houſes of Lords and Commons are ſubordinate to the former, ſo are the Aldermen and Common-Councilmen to the latter; but the three Eſtates of the national Repreſentative enjoying ſeparately the Right of the Negative, that belonging to the Common Council of the City is only veſted in two, viz. the Aldermen and Common-Councilmen.

The Court of Common Council.

This Court, as already obſerved, conſiſts of the Lord-Mayor, Aldermen and Repreſentatives of the ſeveral Wards; and being the City Legiſlature, make By-laws for the good Government thereof: They aſſemble in Guildhall, as often as the Lord-Mayor by his Summons thinks proper to convene them: They annually ſelect from among themſelves a Committee of ſix Aldermen and twelve Commoners, for letting the City Lands, to which end they uſually meet at Guildhall on Wedneſdays. They likewiſe appoint another Committee of four Aldermen and eight Commoners, for tranſacting the Affairs belonging to the Benefactions of Sir Thomas Greſham, who generally meet at Mercers-hall, at the Appointment of the Lord-Mayor, who is always one of the Number. They alſo, by virtue of a Royal Grant, yearly appoint a Governor, Deputy and Aſſiſtants, for managing the City Lands in Ireland. They have alſo a Right of diſpoſing of the Offices of Town-Clerk, Common-Serjeant, Judges of the Sheriffs' Court, Common-Crier, Coroner, Bailiff of the Borough of Southwark, and City Garbler. The Court of Common Council.

The Court of Lord-Mayor and Aldermen.

The Court of Lord-Mayor and Aldermen is a Court of Record, wherein is lodged a great Part of the executive Power, whereby all Leaſes and other Inſtruments that paſs the City Seal are executed, the Aſſize of Bread aſcertained, Conteſts relating to Water-courſes, Lights, and Party-walls, adjuſted, and the City Officers ſuſpended and puniſhed according to the Notoriety of their ſeveral Offences.

The ſaid Court has not only a Power of electing annually eleven Overſeers, or Rulers of the Fraternity of Watermen; but likewiſe a Right of fixing their ſeveral Taxes, with the Approbation of the Privy Council: And alſo a Right of diſpoſing of moſt of the Places belonging to the City Officers.

The Court of Huſting.

As this Court is of a Saxon Origin, and the moſt ancient in the Kingdom; ſo is its Name a Saxon Compound, of Hus and Ding, the former implying a Houſe, and the latter a Thing, Cauſe, Suit or Plea; whereby it is manifeſt, that Huſding imports a Houſe or Hall wherein Cauſes are heard and determined; which is farther evinced by the Saxon Dingere or Thingere, an Advocate or Lawyer.

This, which is a Court of Record, and the ſupreme Judicature of the City of London, and weekly held on Tueſdays, was originally eſtabliſhed for the Preſervation of the Laws, Franchiſes and Cuſtoms of the City, and wherein preſided as Judges the principal Magiſtrates, as at preſent do the Lord-Mayor and Sheriffs, who are aſſiſted by the Recorder upon all Cauſes of Conſequence. In this Court two Sorts of Cauſes are pleadable, viz. Pleas of Land, and Common Pleas, which are held diſtinctly; for one Week Pleas merely real are held, and the next, mixed Actions are decided. Here Deeds are inrolled, Recoveries paſſed, Writs of Right, Waſte, Partition, Dower and Replevins determined.

The Lord-Mayor's Court.

Lex Lond. This is a Court of Record, held before the Lord-Mayor, Aldermen and Recorder, every Tueſday in Guildhall, wherein Actions of Debt, Treſpaſs, Attachments, Covenants, &c. ariſing within the City and Liberties of any Value may be try'd, and Actions from the Sheriffs' Court removed hither, before the Jury be ſworn.

Privi. Lond. This is alſo a Court of Chancery or Equity, reſpecting Affairs tranſacted in the City and Liberties; and gives Relief when Judgment is obtained in the Sheriffs' Court, for more than the juſt Debt. This Court has an Office peculiar to itſelf, conſiſting of four Attorneys, by whom all Actions cognizable therein are entered, for the Execution whereof there are ſix Serjeants of Mace, who daily attend in the ſaid Office.

Lex Lond. This Court, in divers Reſpects, is the beſt to commence a Proceſs in, ſeeing an Action (excluſive of Stamps) may be entered at the ſmall Charge of four Pence, and which, tho' not proceeded upon, never dies, as thoſe in other Courts. Beſides, a Suit may be begun and ended here, within the Space of fourteen Days, for ſo ſmall a Charge as thirty Shillings. In ſhort, this is the moſt extenſive Court of the Kingdom; for all that's cognizable in the ſeveral Courts of England, is the ſame in this.

The Juries for trying Cauſes in this, and the Sheriffs' Courts, are by the ſeveral Courts of Wardmote annually returned at Chriſtmas, when each Ward, according to Cuſtom, appoint a ſufficient Number of Perſons to ſerve on the ſaid Juries for every Month of the Year, as follow: Ibid.

Months	Wards.
January	Aldgate, Portſoken and Cornhill.
February	Cheap Ward.
March	Baſſiſhaw and Cripplegate.
April	Vintry and Breadſtreet.
May	Tower and Billingſgate.
June	Farringdon without.
July	Bridge Ward.
Auguſt	Alderſgate, Colemanſtreet and Broadſtreet.
September.	Farringd. within and Caſtle Baynard
October	Queenhithe, Dowgate and Walbrook,
November	Langbourn and Limeſtreet.
December	Candlewick, Cordwainer and Biſhopſgate.

The Sheriffs' Courts.

Theſe are Courts of Record, held in Guildhall every Wedneſday and Friday, for Actions entered at Woodſtreet Counter, and on Thurſdays and Saturdays for thoſe entered at the Poultry Counter, of which the Sheriffs being Judges, each has his Aſſiſtant or Deputy, who are commonly called Judges of theſe Courts, before whom are tryed Actions of Debt, Treſpaſs, Covenant, &c. and where the Teſtimony of an abſent Witneſs in Writing is allowed to be good Evidence. To each of theſe Courts belong four Attorneys, who upon their being admitted by the Court of Aldermen, have an Oath adminiſtred to them, which for its remarkable Contents I ſhall ſubjoin, to remind the Gentlemen of the Faculty of their ſeveral Duties. Ibid.

The Oath.

"Ye ſhall ſwear, that ye ſhall well and lawfully do your Office of Attorney, and well and lawfully examine your Clients, and their Quarrels, without Champarty, and without procuring of any Juries, or any Inqueſt embracing. And that ye ſhall change no Quarrel out of his Nature, after your Underſtanding. Alſo ye ſhall plead, ne ley, nor ſuffer to be pleaded or leyed by your Aſſent, no foreign Releaſe, Acquittance, Payment, Arbitration, plain Account, whatſoever it be, to put the Court out of his Juriſdiction, nor none other Matter; but it be ſuch as ye may find rightful and true by the Information of your Client, whoſe Information and Saying upon your Oath and Conſcience ye ſhall think to be true. Ibid.

"And ye ſhall not inform ne inforce any Man to ſue falſely againſt any Perſon by falſe or forged Action. Ready ye ſhall be at all times to come and attend at the Warning of the ſaid Maior, and of the Sheriffs of the ſaid City, unleſs ye be letted about the Buſineſs of this City, or for ſome other reaſonable Cauſe. The Franchiſes, Laws and Ordinances of this City you

" ſhall keep, and due to be kept to your Power. " And that well and lawfully ye ſhall do all " things that to the Office of Attorney pertaineth " to do. As God help you."

Ibid. To each of theſe Courts likewiſe belong a Secondary, a Clerk of the Papers, a Prothonotary, and four Clerks Sitters. The Secondary's Office is to allow and return all Writs brought to remove Cauſes out of the ſaid Courts; the Clerk of the Papers files and copies all Declarations upon Actions; the Prothonotary draws and ingroſſes all Declarations; the Clerks Sitters enter Actions and Attachments, and take Bail and Verdicts. To each of the Counters or Priſons belonging to theſe Courts appertain ſixteen Serjeants at Mace, with a Yeoman to each, beſides inferior Officers, and the Priſon-keeper.

The Court of Orphans.

Ibid. This Court is occaſionally held by the Lord-Mayor and Aldermen, who are Guardians to Children that are under the Age of twenty-one Years, at the Deceaſe of their Fathers; and who take upon them not only the Care and Management of their Goods and Chattels, but likewiſe that of their Perſons, by committing them to careful and faithful Tutors, to prevent diſpoſing of themſelves during their Minority, without their Approbation.

Privil. Lond. The Common Serjeant is authorized by the ſaid Court, to take exact Accounts and Inventories of all deceaſed Freemen's Eſtates; and the youngeſt Attorney of the Mayor's Court, being Clerk to that of the Orphans, is appointed to take Securities for their ſeveral Portions, in the Name of the Chamberlain of London, who is a ſole Corporation of himſelf, for the Service of the ſaid Orphans; and to whom a Recognizance or Bond, made upon the Account of an Orphan, ſhall, by the Cuſtom of London, deſcend to his Succeſſor; which is hardly known elſewhere.

LexLond. When a Freeman of London dies, and leaves Children in their Minority, the Clerks of the ſeveral Pariſhes are to give in their Names to the Common-Crier, who is thereupon immediately to ſummon the Widow, or Executor, to appear before the Court of Lord-Mayor and Aldermen, to bring in an Inventory of, and give Security for the Teſtator's Eſtate; for which, two Months time is commonly allowed: And in caſe of Non-appearance, or Refuſal of Security, the Lord-Mayor may commit the contumacious Executor to Newgate.

Juſtice-Hall Court.

Roy. Char. Lond. This Court is held by the King's Commiſſion of Oyer and Terminer, at Juſtice-hall in the Old-Bailey, eight times a Year, for trying of Criminals, for Crimes committed within the City of London and County of Middleſex; the Judges of this Court are, the Lord-Mayor, Aldermen that are paſt the Chair, and the Recorder, who on all ſuch Occaſions are attended by both the Sheriffs, and generally by one or more of the national Judges. All Offences committed in the City are try'd by a Jury of Citizens; and thoſe committed in the County, by one of that. The Crimes and Miſdemeanours try'd in this Court, are, High and Petty Treaſon, Murder, Felony, Perjury, Forgery, Petty Larceny, Cheating, Libelling, falſe Weights and Meaſures, &c. the Penalties incurred by which, are, the Loſs of Life, corporal Puniſhment, Tranſportation, Amerciaments, &c. The Charge of a Proſecution in this Court is but a Trifle, for the Encouragement of People to proſecute Rogues.

The Coroner's Court.

The Lord-Mayor being perpetual Coroner of the City, this Court is held before him, or his Deputy, who is to inquire into the Cauſe of the Death of any Perſon, who, upon Sight of the Body, is ſuppoſed to have come to an untimely End, as he is likewiſe into the Eſcape of the Murderer; and alſo concerning found Treaſure, Deodands, and Wrecks at Sea. Ibid. Cok. Inſt. P. 4.

The Court of Eſcheator.

Roy. Char. Lond. The Lord-Mayor of London being perpetual Eſcheator within the City, this Court is alſo held before him or his Deputy, to whom all original Writs of Diem clauſit extremum, Mandamus, Devenerunt, Melius inquirend', &c. are directed, to find an Office for the King, after the Death of his Tenant who held by Knight's Service. The Eſcheator may alſo find an Office for Treaſon, Felony, &c.

The Court of Conſervacy.

Ibid. This Court is yearly held eight times before the Lord-Mayor, at ſuch Places and Times as his Lordſhip ſhall think fit to appoint within the reſpective Counties of Middleſex, Eſſex, Kent and Surrey; in which ſeveral Counties he has a Power of ſummoning Juries, who for the better Preſervation of the Fiſhery of the River Thames, and Regulation of the Fiſhermen that fiſh therein, are upon Oath to make Inquiſition of all Offences committed in and upon the ſaid River from Staines-bridge in the Weſt, to Yenfleet in the Eaſt; and to preſent all Perſons that are found guilty of a Breach of the Articles recited in Vol. I. Page 60.

And for the more effectual Preſervation of the Navigation, and Fiſh in the River Thames, the Lord-Mayor, as Conſervator thereof, has his Aſſiſtant or Deputy, the Water-Bailiff; who, together with his Subſtitutes, detect and bring to Juſtice all ſuch Perſons as ſhall preſume to deſtroy either the Current or Fiſh of the ſaid River.

The Court of Requeſts.

LexLond. This excellent Court, from its reaſonable and equitable proceedings, is commonly called, The Court of Conſcience, and which had its Beginning in the Ninth of Henry the Eighth, Anno 1518, by Act of Common Council, whereby it was ordained, that the Court of Lord-Mayor and Aldermen ſhould monthly appoint two Aldermen and four Commoners to be Commiſſioners thereof, who were to ſit weekly in Guildhall on Wedneſdays and Saturdays, to hear and decide all Cauſes brought before them for the Recovery of Debts not exceeding forty Shillings.

This, being an experimental Act, was only made for two Years; but upon its being found to be of great Uſe and Benefit to the Poor, it was renewed and continued by divers Acts of Common Council, and the Number of Commiſſioners increaſed to fourteen; in which State it continued till till the Third of King James the First, Anno 1606, at which Time divers cruel and inexorable Creditors, deſpiſing the Authority of the ſame, commenced Suits in ſuperior Courts againſt ſeveral Citizens for trifling Debts, to the Ruin of them and their poor Families; wherefore the City in the Year aforeſaid, applied to Parliament for Redreſs of this Grievance, by which it was enacted, that all the Citizens, and others inhabiting within the City of London, and Liberties thereof, who then had, or thereafter ſhould have any Debt or Debts due, or becoming due to him or them, by any Citizens, &c. as aforeſaid, not amounting to the Sum of forty Shillings, that he or they ſhould, or might cauſe ſuch Debtor or Debtors to be ſummoned to appear before the Commiſſioners of the Court of Requeſts at Guildhall by the Officer thereunto belonging; where they, or any three thereof, are impowered to hear and determine all Matters between Citizen and Citizen, &c. touching Debts not amounting to forty Shillings; and in a judicial Manner to adminiſter Oaths to Plaintiffs, Defendants and Witneſſes. And for the more effectual preventing all litigious and mercileſs Creditors from ruining their poor Debtors, it was ordained, that if by any Action of Debt, brought againſt a Citizen of London, in any of the Courts of Weſtminſter, or elſewhere (out of the ſaid Court of Requeſts) it ſhall appear to the Judge or Judges where ſuch Action ſhall be proſecuted, that the Debt ſued for does not amount to forty Shillings, in ſuch Caſe, the ſaid Judge or Judges, inſtead of allowing the Plaintiff or Plaintiffs any Coſts of Suit, they ſhall adjudge the ſaid Plaintiff to pay to the Defendant all ſuch Coſts as he ſhall make appear to have been by him diſburſed in defending the ſaid Suit.

Act Parl. 3 Jac. I.

Act Parl. 3 Jac. I.

It was alſo ordained, by the Authority aforeſaid, that if either Plaintiff or Defendant, after having been duly ſummoned, ſhall refuſe to appear before the ſaid Commiſſioners in the Court of Requeſts, or ſhall refuſe to obey the Orders or Deciſions of the ſaid Court; in both ſuch Caſes, the Commiſſioners are impowered to commit ſuch Perſon or Perſons to either of the Counters, till he, ſhe, or they ſhall ſubmit to the Rules and Determinations of the ſaid Court.

Perhaps never a Court of Juſtice was better adapted than this, for the Eaſe and Relief both of Debtor and Creditor; for here the firſt is not expoſed to the Payment of exorbitant Charges, and the latter may recover his Debt with the greateſt Expedition, at ſo ſmall an Expence as ten Pence; viz. For the Plaint and Summons, ſix Pence; and for the Order, four Pence. But if the Defendant do not appear the ſecond Court Day, after being regularly ſummoned, an Attachment is awarded againſt him; which compelling him to appear, the Charge is thereby inhanced.

Ibid.

And if any Citizen happen to be arreſted for a Debt under forty Shillings, this Court grants a Summons for the Plaintiff; who, in caſe of Non-appearance the firſt Court Day, has an Attachment granted againſt him, whereby he is obliged to take his Debt, and pay the Defendant his Coſts. And in caſe any Attorney ſhall preſume to proſecute the Suit after Notice to the contrary, or ſhall refuſe to adhere to the Order of Court, he ſhall, upon Complaint thereof to the Court of Lord-Mayor and Aldermen, immediately be ſuſpended.

The Court of Wardmote.

Cok. Inſt. P. 4.

This Court is denominated from the Words Ward and Mote, that is, the Ward Court; for in this City Pariſhes are as Towns, and Wards as Hundreds; wherefore this Court reſembles that of the Leet in the County: For, as the latter derives its Authority from the County Court, ſo does the former from that of the Lord-Mayor; as is manifeſt by the annual Precept iſſued by the Lord-Mayor to the ſeveral Aldermen, for holding their reſpective Leets, for the Election of proper Officers in each Ward; the Tenor whereof is as follows:

To the Alderman of the Ward of —— LexLond.

"We charge and command you, that upon "St. Thomas's Day the Apoſtle, next coming, you "do hold your Wardmote; and that you have "afore us, at our general Court of Aldermen, to be "holden the Monday next after the Feaſt of the Epi- "phany next coming, all the Defaults that ſhall be "preſented afore you by Inqueſt in the ſaid Ward-"mote; and the ſaid Inqueſt ſhall have full Power "and Authority, by one whole Year, to inquire "and preſent all ſuch Defaults as ſhall be found "within your ſaid Ward, as oftentimes as ſhall be "thought to you expedient and needful; which we "will ſhall be once every Month at leaſt.

"2. And if it happen any of your ſaid Inqueſt "do die, or depart out of your ſaid Ward within "the ſaid Year, that then in Place of him or them "ſo dying, or departing out of your ſaid Ward, "you cauſe to be choſen one able Perſon in his "ſtead, to inquire and preſent with the other, in "Manner and Form aboveſaid.

"3. And that at the ſaid general Court, you "give afore us the Names and Sirnames of all of "them of your ſaid Ward that come not to your "ſaid Wardmote, if they be duly warned, ſo that "due Redreſs and Puniſhment of them may be "had, as the Caſe ſhall require, according to the "Law.

"4. And that you do provide, that at all "Times convenient a ſufficient Watch be kept; "and that Lanterns with Light by Nightertail, "in old Manner accuſtomed, be hanged forth; "and that no Man go by Nightertail without "Light, nor with Vizard, on the Peril that be-"longeth thereto.

"5. And alſo, that you do cauſe to be choſen "Men, of the moſt ſufficient, honeſt and diſ-"creet Men, of your ſaid Ward, to be for your "ſaid Ward of the Common Council of this City "for the Year enſuing, according to the Cuſtom in "that behalf yearly uſed. And alſo, that you do "cauſe the ſaid Men, ſo to be choſen to be of the "Common Council, to be ſworn before you, and "in your Preſence, according to the Oath by "them uſed, and of old Time accuſtomed.

"6. And that alſo in the ſaid Wardmote you "cauſe to be choſen certain other honeſt Perſons, "to be Conſtables and Scavengers, and a com-"mon Beadle, and a Raker to make clean the "Streets and Lanes of all your ſaid Ward, ac"cording

" cording to the Cuſtom yearly uſed in that be-
" half; which Conſtables have, and ſhall have " full Power and Authority to diſtrain for the " Salary and Quaterage of the ſaid Beadle and
" Raker, as oftentimes as it ſhall be behind or
" unpaid.

" 7. Alſo, that you keep a Roll of the Names,
" Sirnames, Dwelling-places, Profeſſions and
" Trades of all Perſons dwelling within your
" Ward, and within what Conſtable's Precinct
" they dwell; wherein the Place is to be ſpecially
" noted by Street, Lane, Alley or Sign.

" 8. Alſo that you cauſe every Conſtable,
" from time to time to certify unto you the Name,
" Sirname, Dwelling-place, Profeſſion and Trade
" of every Perſon who ſhall newly come to dwell
" within his Precinct, whereby you may make
" and keep your Roll perfect; and that you cauſe
" every Conſtable for his Precinct, to that Purpoſe,
" to make and keep a perfect Roll in like man-
" ner.

" 9. Alſo, that you give ſpecial Charge to
" every Innholder, and other Perſons within your
" Ward, who ſhall receive any Perſon to ſojourn
" in his Houſe above two Days, ſhall, before the " third Day after his coming thither, give Know-
" ledge to the Conſtable of the Precinct where he
" ſhall be ſo received, of the Name, Sirname,
" Dwelling-place, Profeſſion and Trade of Life,
" or Place of Service of ſuch Perſon, and for
" what Cauſe he ſhall come to reſide there. And " that the ſaid Conſtable give preſent Notice
" thereof to you. And that the ſaid Innholder
" lodge no ſuſpected Perſon, or Men or Women
" of evil Name.

" 10. Alſo, that you cauſe every Conſtable
" within his Precinct, once every Month at the
" fartheſt, and oftener if Need require, to make
" diligent Search and Inquiry what Perſons be
" newly come into his Precinct to dwell, ſojourn
" or lodge; and that you give ſpecial Charge,
" that no Innholder or Perſon ſhall reſiſt, or deny
" any Conſtable in making ſuch Search or Inquiry,
" but ſhall do his beſt endeavour to aid and aſ-
" ſiſt him therein.

" 11. And for that of late there is more Re-
" ſort to the City, of Perſons evil-affected in Reli" gion and otherwiſe, than in former Times hath
" been; you ſhall diligently inquire if any Man
" be received to dwell or abide within your Ward,
" that is not put under Frank-pledge, as he ought " to be by the Cuſtom of the City: And whether " any Perſon hath continued in the ſaid Ward by
" the Space of one Year, being above the Age of " twelve Years, and not ſworn to be faithful and
" loyal to the King's Majeſty, in ſuch Sort as
" by the Law and Cuſtom of this City he ought
" to be.

" 12. To all theſe Purpoſes, the Beadle of " every Ward ſhall employ his Diligence, and
" give his beſt Furtherance.

" 13. Alſo you are to take Order, that there
" be provided and ſet up a Pair of Stocks, and
" a Whipping-poſt, in ſome convenient Place in
" every Pariſh within your Ward, for the puniſh-
" ing of Vagrants and other Offenders.

" 14. Alſo, that you have ſpecial Regard that
" from Time to Time there be convenient Proviſion
" for Hooks, Ladders, Buckets, Spouts and En-
" gines in meet Places, within the ſeveral Pa-
" riſhes of your Ward, for avoiding the Peril of " Fire.

" 15. Alſo, that the Streets and Lanes of this " City be from Time to Time kept clean before
" every Church, Houſe, Shop, Warehouſe, Door,
" Deadwall, and in all other common Paſſages
" and Streets of the ſaid Ward.

" 16. And whereas by divers Acts of Common " Council aforetime made and eſtabliſhed for the " Common-weal of this City, among other
" things it is ordained and enacted, as hereafter
" enſueth:

" Alſo it is ordained and enacted, as hereafter
" enſueth: That from henceforth no Huckſter of " Ale or Beer be within any Ward of the City of " London, but honeſt Perſons of good Name and
" Fame, and ſo taken and admitted by the Alder-
" man of the Ward for the Time being; and that
" the ſame Huckſters do find ſufficient Surety afore
" the Mayor and Aldermen for the Time being,
" to be of good Guiding and Rule; and that the
" ſame Huckſters ſhall keep no Bawdry, nor ſuffer
" no Letchery, Dice-playing, Carding, or any
" other unlawful Games to be done, exerciſed or
" uſed within their Houſes; and to ſhut in their " Doors at nine of the Clock in the Night from
" Michaelmas to Eaſter, and from Eaſter to *Mi-
" chaelmas* at ten of the Clock in the Night, and
" after that Hour ſell no Ale or Beer. And if " any Huckſter of Beer or Ale, after this Act pub-
" liſhed and proclaimed, ſell any Ale or Beer,
" within any Ward of the City of London, and
" be not admitted by the Aldermen of the ſame
" Ward ſo to do, or find not ſufficient Surety, as " it is above rehearſed, the ſame Huckſter to have
" Impriſonment, and make Fine and Ranſom for
" his Contempt, after the Diſcretion of the Lord-
" Mayor and Aldermen. And alſo that the ſaid
" Huckſters ſuffer no manner of common Eating
" or Drinking within their Cellars or Vaults,
" contrary to the Ordinance thereof ordained and
" provided, as in the ſaid Act more plainly ap-
" peareth at large. We charge you, that you
" put the ſame in due Execution accordingly.

" 17. And alſo, that you ſee all Tipplers, and " other Sellers of Ale or Beer, as well privy Oſte-
" ries, as Brewers and Innholders within your
" Ward, not ſelling by lawful Meaſures ſealed
" and marked with the City Arms, or Dagger,
" be preſented, and their Names in your ſaid In-
" dentures be expreſſed, with their Defaults, ſo
" that the Chamberlain may be lawfully anſwered
" of their Amerciaments.

" 18. And alſo, that you ſuffer no Alien, or
" Son of any born an Alien, to be of the Com-
" mon Council; nor to exerciſe or uſe any other
" Office within this City, nor receive or accept
" any Perſon into your Watch, privy or open,
" but Engliſhmen born; and if any Stranger born
" out of this Realm, made Denizen by Letters
" Patents, or any other, after his Courſe and Lot
" be appointed to any Watch, that then ye com" mand and compel him, or them, to find in
" his ſtead and place an Engliſhman to ſupply the
" ſame."

" 19. And alſo, that you cauſe an Abſtract
" of the Aſſize appointed by Act of Parliament
" for Billets and other Fire-wood, to be fair
" written

" written in Parchment, and to be fixed or hanged " up in a Table, in ſome fit and convenient Place " in the Pariſh within your Ward, where the " Common People may beſt ſee the ſame.

" 20. And furthermore, we charge and com- " mand you, that you cauſe ſuch Proviſion to be " had in your ſaid Ward, that all the Streets and " Lanes within the ſame Ward be from Time to " Time cleanſed, and clearly voided of Ordure, " Dung, Mire, Rubbiſh, and other filthy Things, " whatſoever be to the Annoyance of the King's " Majeſty's Subjects.

" 21. And alſo, that at all Times, as you " ſhall think neceſſary, you do cauſe Search to " be made within your ſaid Ward for all vagrant " Beggars, ſuſpicious and idle People, and ſuch " as cannot ſhew how to live; and ſuch as ſhall " be found within your ſaid Ward, that you " cauſe to be puniſhed, and dealt with accord- " ing to the Laws and Statutes in ſuch Caſe or- " dained and provided.

" 22. And alſo, we will and charge you the " ſaid Alderman, that yourſelf certify and preſent " before us at the ſaid general Court, to be holden " the aforeſaid Monday next after the Feaſt of the " Epiphany, all the Names and Sirnames truly writ- " ten of ſuch Perſons being and dwelling within " your ſaid Ward, as to be able to paſs in a Petty " Jury by themſelves; that is to ſay, every Grand- " juryman to be worth in Goods an hundred " Marks, and every Petty-juryman forty Marks, " according to an Act in that Caſe ordained and " provided: And the ſame you ſhall indorſe on " the Backſide of your Indenture.

" 23. Item, For divers reaſonable and urgent " Conſiderations us eſpecially moving, we ſtraight- " ly charge and command you, on the King our " Sovereign Lord's Behalf, that you diligently " provide and foreſee, that no manner of Perſon " or Perſons within your ſaid Ward, what Condi- " tion or Degree ſoever he or they be of, keep- " ing any Tavern or Ale-houſe, Ale-cellar or " any other Victualling-houſe, or Place of com- " mon Reſort to eat or drink in within the ſame " Ward, permit or ſuffer at any Time hereafter, " any common Women of their Bodies, or Har- " lots, to reſort and come into their ſaid Houſe, " or other the Places aforeſaid, to eat or drink, " or otherwiſe to be converſant, or abide, or " thither to haunt, or frequent, upon Pain of " Impriſonment, as well of the Tenant and Keeper " of every ſuch Houſe or Houſes, and all other " the Places afore-remembered, as of the com- " mon Women and Harlots.

" 24. Alſo, that you do give in charge to the " Wardmote Inqueſt of your Ward, all the Ar- " ticles delivered to you herewith; and that you " may have a ſpecial Care of keeping the Peace " and good Order during your Wardmote; and " if any offend herein, you may fine or puniſh " him or them according to Law.

" 25. And whereas the Monies received for " the Fines of Perſons refuſing to hold Ward " Offices within your Ward, ought to be em- " ployed in the Service and for the publick Be- " nefit of the whole Ward, and not of any par- " ticular Precinct or Pariſh within the Ward; " theſe are therefore to require you to take Care " that all ſuch Fines be from Time to Time diſpoſed " of accordingly, for the Benefit of the whole " Ward, as you, with the Deputy, and Com- " mon-Councilmen of your Ward ſhall think " moſt fitting and convenient: And that no ſuch " Fines be received or employed in any particu- " lar Precinct or Pariſh.

" Not failing hereof, as ye tender the Common- " weal of this City, and Advancement of good " Juſtice, and as ye will anſwer for the contrary " at your uttermoſt Peril.

" Dated at under the Seal Office of " Mayoralty of the ſaid City, the Day of De- " cember, in the Year of the Reign of our So- " vereign Lord George the Second, &c."

By this Precept it does appear, that the Court of Wardmote conſiſts of the Alderman and the reſpective Houſeholders of his Ward, by whom are annually elected the ſeveral Officers peculiar to the ſame; among whom being thoſe of the Inqueſt, they receive the aforeſaid Inſtructions for their better Regulation.

The Chamberlain's Court.

This is an Office kept in the Guildhall of London, by the Chamberlain of the City, who is thereunto annually choſen by the Liverymen of the reſpective Companies on Midſummer Day. But this Practice is rather a Cuſtom than otherwiſe; for there are no Inſtances (that I can learn) of any of the ſaid Officers being turned out, without their being found guilty of Mal-Practices.

This being a Place of great Truſt, the Chamberlain at his firſt being choſen, is obliged to give Security for his Fidelity. He receives and pays all the City Caſh, and with whom are depoſited all publick Securities, for which he annually accounts to the proper Auditors.

This Officer attends every Morning for inrolling and turning over Apprentices, admits all Perſons duly qualified into the Freedom of the City, and decides all Differences that ariſe between Maſters and Apprentices; of the latter about fifteen hundred are yearly admitted into the Freedom of the City.

The Court of Hallmote.

This Court is denominated from the Place wherein it is kept, and belongs to the ſeveral Companies of Citizens, by whom it is occaſionally held in their reſpective Halls, and wherein the Affairs belonging to each of the ſaid Corporations are reſpectively tranſacted.

Pie-Powder Court.

This Court of Record, denominated Pepoudres, (vulgarly Pie-powder) is incident to every Fair, as a Court-Baron is to a Manor; it is derived from Pedes Pulveriſati, and is ſo called from its expeditious Proceedings in the Deciſion of all Controverſies that happen in Fairs, which, for the Encouragement of Traders who frequent the ſame, Juſtice is as quickly adminiſtred as Duſt can fall from the Foot. Cok. Inſt. p. 4.

This Court is held in Cloth-Fair (during the time of Bartholomew-Fair) by the City of London and Mr. Edwards, for hearing and deciding all Differences committed againſt the Tenor of the following Proclamation, which is annually made before the Lord-Mayor, or the Eve of St. Bar- tholomew, for the better Regulation of the ſaid Fair:

Privi. Lond.

" The Right Honourable Sir A. B. Kt. Lord-" Mayor of the City of London, and his Right " Worſhipful Brethren the Aldermen of the ſaid " City, ſtraightly charge and command, on the " behalf of our Sovereign Lord the King, that " all manner of Perſons, of whatſoever Eſtate, " Degree or Condition they be, having recourſe " to this Fair, keep the Peace of our Sovereign " Lord the King.

" That no manner of Perſons make any Con-" gregation, Conventicles or Affrays, by the " which the ſame Peace may be broken or diſ-" turbed, upon Pain of Impriſonment, and Fine " to be made after the Diſcretion of the Lord-" Mayor and Aldermen.

" Alſo, that all manner of Sellers of Wine, " Ale, or Beer, ſell by Meaſures enſealed, as by " Gallon, Pottle, Quart and Pint, upon pain " that will fall thereof.

" And that no Perſon ſell any Bread, except " it keep the Aſſize; and that it be good and " wholeſome for Man's Body, upon Pain that " will follow thereof.

" And that no manner of Cook, Pie-baker, " nor Huckſter, ſell, or put to ſale any manner of " Victual, except it be good and wholſome for " Man's Body, upon Pain that will fall thereof.

" And that no manner of Perſon buy, nor ſell, " but with true Weights and Meaſures, ſealed ac-" cording to the Statute in that behalf made, " upon Pain that will fall thereof.

" And that no manner of Perſon or Perſons " take upon him or them, within this Fair, to " make any manner of Arreſt, Attachment, Sum-" mons or Execution; except it be done by the " Officers of this City thereunto aſſigned, upon " Pain that will befal thereof.

" And that no Perſon or Perſons whatſoever, " within the Limits and Bounds of this Fair, " preſume to break the Lord's Day, in ſelling, " ſhewing, or offering to Sale, or in buying or " offering to buy, any Commodities whatſoever; " or in ſitting, tippling or drinking in any Ta-" vern, Inn, Alehouſe, Tippling-houſe, or " Cook's-houſe, or in doing any other Thing that " may tend to the Breach thereof, upon the Pains " and Penalties contained in ſeveral Acts of Par-" liament, which will be ſeverely inflicted upon " the Breakers thereof.

" And, finally, That what Perſons ſoever find " themſelves grieved, injured, or wronged by " any manner of Perſon in this Fair, that they " come with their Plaints before the Stewards in " this Fair, aſſigned to hear and determine Pleas; " and they will miniſter to all Parties Juſtice, " according to the Laws of this Land, and the " Cuſtoms of this City."

St. Martin's le Grand Court.

This Court, though within the City, is yet without its Juriſdiction, as being in, and belonging to the Liberty of that Name, which is ſubject to the Dean and Chapter of Weſtminſter: It is a Court of Record, held weekly on Wedneſdays, for the Trial of all Perſonal Actions whatſoever; the principal whereof is a Capias againſt the Body, or an Attachment againſt the Goods; ſo that a Man's Goods may be ſeized upon in his own Houſe, upon the firſt Proceſs, if his Perſon is not ſecured before; which is according to the Practice of all ancient Liberties or Franchiſes.

The Court of the Tower of London.

This is a Court of Record held by Preſcription, within the Verge of the City, on Great Tower-hill, by a Steward appointed by the Conſtable of the Tower of London, by whom are tried Actions of Debt (for any Sum) Damage, and Treſpaſs.

CHAP. V.

An Account of the Settling the Chriſtian Religion in London; with the Progreſs thereof under divers of its Biſhops.

According to the Teſtimony of an ancient Writer, the Goſpel was at firſt preached in Britain by St. Paul; which is ſeemingly corroborated by the moſt ancient Britiſh Hiſtorian, who, before the Revolt under Boadicia, mentions the planting of Chriſtianity in Britain, where it peaceably continued till the dreadful Perſecution under Dioclefian: The Heat hereof was no ſooner over, than it flouriſhed again in great Peace and Amity, except the Diſturbance it met with by the Doctrines of Arius.

Euſeb. Demon. Evan.

Epiſt. Gild.

The earlieſt Account we have of the Chriſtian Religion being ſettled in the City of London, whereon we can depend, is, that in the Year 314 three Biſhops were ſent from Britain to the Council of Arles; one whereof was Reſtitutus Biſhop of London, who is the firſt Biſhop we read of in this City, without regarding the pretended Liſt thereof by Jocelin of Furnes, which is not worth mentioning.

Sirm. Gal. Con.

Though we have no Account of the Predeceſſors of Reſtitutus in the See of London, it may nevertheleſs be preſumed, that he was not the firſt Biſhop thereof; for if, according to Gildas, Chriſtianity was planted in Britain in the Reign of Tiberius, it is not to be queſtioned, but there was a regular Succeſſion of Biſhops from that Time; and as this City was then the Capital of the Kingdom, it may reaſonably be preſumed to have had many Biſhops before Reſtitutus: And though the Succeſſors of that Biſhop are likewiſe buried in Oblivion, I am nevertheleſs of Opinion there was a regular Succeſſion from him to Theon, the laſt Britiſh Biſhop of this City, who retired into Wales toward the Cloſe of the ſixth Century, to avoid the cruel Perſecution carried on by the Pagan Saxons.

Uſh. Frit. Eccl. Ant.

The Chriſtian Religion, with its Profeſſors the Britons, was obliged to make way for Pagan Idolatry, and their perfidious and cruel Enemies the Saxons, who eſtabliſhed their deteſtable and idolatrous Worſhip in this City and Neighbourhood, where it continued till the Year 527, when Auſtin the Monk, a Miſſionary from Pope Gregory, together with divers of his Brethren, landed in the Iſle of Thanet, in the Dominions of Ethelbert King of Kent; who being ſoon after converted to the Chriſtian Faith, greatly encouraged the Propagation thereof throughout the ſeveral Parts of his Kingdom; whereupon Auſtin, in the Year 604, ordained Mellitus a Biſhop, and ſent him to preach the Goſpel to the Eaſt Saxons, whoſe Kingdom conſiſted of the Counties of Middleſex, Eſſex, and Part of Hertfordſhire, the Capital City whereof was London. But this Kingdom being a Fief of that of Kent, Ethelbert granted the Inveſtiture thereof to his Nephew Seberht, who, upon the Preaching of Mellitus, was likewiſe converted; this was ſo highly pleaſing to Ethelbert, that he cauſed to be erected the firſt Saxon Chriſtian Church in London, and dedicated the ſame to St. Paul the Apoſtle; ſince which Time it has been ſubordinate to, and a Suffragan of, the Archiepiſcopal See of Canterbury.

Bed. Eccl. Hiſt.

Chron Sax. Bed. Eccl. Hiſt. In the Year 616 Ethelbert King of Kent departing this Life, was ſoon followed by Seberht his Nephew, King of the Eaſt Saxons; whoſe three Pagan Sons ſucceeding him, they expelled Mellitus Biſhop of London their Dominions, who retiring into France, the Londoners ſoon returned to their primitive Idolatry. But no ſooner were the three Brothers killed in Battle againſt the Weſt Saxons, and Eadbald King of Kent converted to Chriſtianity, than the Storm abated, and Mellitus and Juſtus recalled to their reſpective Biſhopricks. Juſtus was received again by his Flock at Rocheſter; but the Londoners, chuſing rather to live in their ancient State of Paganiſm, and ſhewing but little Regard to the Authority of Eadbald, rejected Mellitus; which Eadbald, with Grief was forced to wink at, as being ſenſible, it was not in his Power to reſtore him by Force.

By the great Oppoſition made by the Citizens of London to the Return of Mellitus their late Biſhop, it cannot reaſonably be imagined that he had made any great Progreſs in the Converſion of the Eaſt Saxons, for, in all Appearance, the Succeſs he met with was owing to the Authority of Ethelbert and Seberht: For upon their Demiſe, both their Succeſſors and People returned to Paganiſm: Wherefore the Converſion of the Eaſt Saxons cannot properly be dated from this Ibid. Period, but rather from the Time of Sigbercht the Good, their King, who living in great Amity with Oſwy King of Northumberland, frequent Viſits paſſed between them; on which Occaſions Oſwy failed not zealouſly to inculcate the ſpiritual and temporal advantages ariſing from the Chriſtian Religion; which at laſt ſo effectually prevailed upon Sigbercht, that he was baptized in Oſwy's Palace, and returning home, brought Cedda, a Northumbrian Prieſt, along with him, who, upon his Arrival in theſe Parts, heartily ſet about the Work of Converſion; wherein he ſo happily ſucceeded, that in a ſhort Time he not only made abundance of Proſelytes, but likewiſe built divers Churches; and returning ſome Time after into Northumberland, to viſit Biſhop Finan, he was, for his great Zeal and Pains in the Propagation of the Goſpel, conſecrated a Biſhop by the ſaid Finan, whereupon he became the firſt Saxon Prelate of London.

Ibid. Upon the Murder of Sigbercht, and Demiſe of Swithelm his Brother, Sighere and Sebba ſucceeded to the Crown, which they held in Fee of Ann. 664. Wulfhere, King of Mercia; at which Time a dreadful Peſtilence raged in this City, which carrying off abundance of People, Sighere concluded it was an immediate Judgment ſent by the Gods, to puniſh him and his People for abandoning the Religion of their Anceſtors; wherefore he returned to Idolatry, and drew after him ſuch of his Subjects as were not thoroughly confirmed in the Articles of Chriſtianity: But Sebba, his Aſſociate in the Government, with the People immediately under his Care, ſtedfaſtly adhered to the Chriſtian Faith.

In the Interim Wulfhere, King of Mercia and Lord Paramount of Eaſt Saxony, receiving Advice of the Apoſtacy of Sighere, ſent Jaruman, Biſhop of Mercia, to endeavour the Recovery of the apoſtatized King and his People: The Labours of this Prelate were crowned with ſuch Succeſs, that in a ſhort Time he not only regained Sighere and his Subjects to the Faith, but likewiſe prevailed upon him to deſtroy all the Pagan Temples and Altars in his Dominions. Bed. Eccl. Hiſt.

Some Time after, Wulfhere, King of Mercia, begun to lord it over his Vaſſals the Eaſt Saxons, gave the firſt Inſtance of Simony in this Iſland, by ſelling the Biſhoprick of London, in the Year 666, to Wini (who had ſome Time been expelled the Biſhoprick of Wincheſter, by Cenwalch King of the Weſt Saxons) who continued Biſhop thereof till the Year 675. Ibid.

To Wini ſucceeded Earconwald (the Son of Offa, King of the Eaſt Angles). This Biſhop is highly celebrated for his great Devotion, and Works of Piety; in the latter of which he ſpent his Patrimony, by erecting two Monaſteries, viz. One at Chertſey upon Thames for Men, and the other at Barking in Eſſex for Women. He likewiſe very much inlarged and beautified his Cathedral Church of St. Paul, increaſed its Revenues, and obtained for it many great Privileges of divers Kings. Ibid.

Waldher is ſuppoſed to have ſucceeded Earconwald about the Year 685; in whoſe Time it is pretended, that a Council was held in London, wherein, according to Bale and Magdeburgenſis, the Worſhip of Images and Celibacy of Prieſts were decreed. Mag. Cent. 9 cap. 8. An. 714.

Few or no remarkable Occurrences having happened relating to the Epiſcopates of the twenty following Biſhops, I ſhall ſatisfy myſelf with only inſerting their Names, and the ſuppoſed Years wherein they were conſecrated.

958. Dunſtan. This Man had no ſooner finiſhed his Studies, than he was recommended to King Athelſtan; who ſending for him to Court, his Deportment was ſuch, that he was ſoon expelled the ſame; but Athelſtan, dying ſome Time after, was ſucceeded by Edmund, with whom Dunſtan had ſo dextrouſly ingratiated himſelf, that he became the ſole Director of all his Affairs, and not only continued chief Favourite during his Reign, but likewiſe ſo during that of his Succeſſor Edred. But Edwy ſucceeding to the Crown, could not bear the imperious Behaviour of of that haughty Abbot; therefore, ſoon after his Acceſſion, not only baniſhed him the Kingdom, but likewiſe ſequeſtered the Revenues of the Regulars, his Friends and Followers, in Favour of the Secular Clergy. This Proceeding highly inraged the Monks, to be deprived both of their Patron and Eſtates at once; who breathed nothing but Revenge againſt the Authors of their Sufferings, and bitterly inveighed againſt the Adminiſtration of Edwy, till, by their enormous Falſhoods, they perſuaded their Votaries, that Edwy was the moſt impious and abandoned Wretch upon Earth. This ſoon had the deſired Effect; for great Numbers of Malecontents appearing in Mercia, they declared for Edgar the King's Brother, by whoſe Aſſiſtance they not only became Maſters of all Mercia, but likewiſe of all the Countries on the North Side the River Thames (except that of Eſſex); whereof they no ſooner proclaimed Edgar King, than he recalled Dunſtan, which made it ſtrongly ſuſpected, that he was the chief Fomenter of the Rebellion.

Dunſtan, highly in Favour again, by ſoothing the Vices of Edgar, ſoon got the Aſcendant over that cruel and vicious Prince; whereby he was enabled effectually to put in Execution the Pope's diabolical Scheme, by expelling the ſecular Clergy from their ſeveral Benefices, on no other Account than that of their being married; which their Enemies would have regarded as the worſt of Crimes, and their Wives to be deemed Whores.

1 Tim. c. 4. v. 1 & 3.

Upon the Demiſe of Edgar, many of the Nobility, who had in the late Reign with great Impatience beheld the grievous Power and intolerable Inſolence of the Monks, embraced this Opportunity to diſpoſſeſs them of their ill-gotten Livings; but Dunſtan having craftily gained divers of the principal to ſide with him, great Diviſions aroſe, which had like to have ended in Blood. But when they came to deliberate upon the Succeſſion to the Crown, the Breach grew wider, moſt of the Nobility being for Ethelred, the lawful Succeſſor; but Dunſtan, ſiding with Edward, alledged, he ought to ſucceed to the Crown, as being thereunto named in Edgar's Will; whereas the principal Motive that induced Dunſtan to eſpouſe his Intereſt, was, that he expected the whole Management of Affairs under Edward, which there was not the leaſt Room to hope for under his Brother Ethelred, ſeeing his Mother Elfrida had no Veneration for the Monks. Dunſtan, in the interim, obſerving the contrary Party daily to increaſe, and that it was vaſtly ſuperior to that of Edward, in an illegal and unprecedented Manner, conducted Edward to Church, and anointed him King, amidſt his Brethren the Biſhops and a mighty Rabble, without the leaſt Regard to Juſtice or the adverſe Party, who, perceiving that it was not in their Power to prevent it, tamely ſubmitted to the arbitrary and imperious Miniſtry of the haughty Dunſtan.

The Pope and Monks, in Conſideration of the many eminent Services done them by Dunſtan, have raiſed him to the Dignity of a Saint, whereby he is intitled to a Place in the Roman Rubrick; however, he has, by ſome good Judges, been removed from thence, and ranked among the vileſt of Men.

According to the London Catalogue, Dunſtan only held [the Biſhoprick of London by way of Commendam, and where he ſate Biſhop only one Year. Newc. Rep.

Elfſtan ſucceeded Dunſtan about the Year 959, and continued Biſhop upwards of thirty Years. Whart. Hiſt. de Epiſc.

Wulfſtan was conſecrated Anno 996, and ſubſcribed the Charter of Rocheſter two Years after. Ibid.

Alfhun, Tutor to the Sons of Ethelred, ſucceeded Anno 1004. Ib'd.

Alwy was conſecrated to this Biſhoprick about the Year 1016. Ibid.

Elfward, the laſt of the Saxon Biſhops, ſucceeded to the See of London about the Year 1034. God. Com. de Præſul. Florent. Wig. Chron.

Robert, a Norman, had the Biſhoprick of London conferred upon him by Edward the Confeſſor, Anno 1044.

Upon the Tranſlation of Robert to the Archbiſhoprick of Canterbury, his Countryman William (the great Friend and Benefactor to the Citizens of London) was by Edward preferred to this See. In ſome Catalogues of the Biſhops of London, this Prelate is ſaid to have died in the Year 1067, and by his monumental Inſcriptions, Anno 1070. But that both theſe Accounts are erroneous, is manifeſt from an Author of good Authority; who ſhews, that he was preſent in two Synods at London in the Years 1072, and 1075, in the laſt of which he died. Whart. Hiſt. de Epiſc.

Hugh de Orivalle was, Anno 1075, promoted to this See by William the Conqueror. This Prelate, ſoon after his Advancement, was ſeized with a violent Leproſy, who for Cure thereof cauſed himſelf to be caſtrated; but that not having the deſired Effect, he continued a Leper during Life. Ibid.

Maurice, Chaplain and Chancellor to the Conqueror, was by him nominated to the See of London, Anno 1085. Maurice, it ſeems, had in ſome ſort injured his Cathedral Church; therefore, as an Atonement for the ſame, he, after the Deſtruction thereof by Fire, began the Foundation of a magnificent Pile, the Dimenſions whereof were ſo very ſtupendous, that after a conſtant Application to the Work for about forty Years, the ſame appeared to be but little advanced. Ibid. Dugd. Hiſt. S. Paul.

Richard de Belmeis, upon the Death of Maurice, was promoted to this Biſhoprick in the Year 1108, and ſoon after by Henry I. conſtituted Warden of the Marſhes of Wales. Richard applied himſelf very aſſiduouſly to the Work of St. Paul's Church, wherein he employed the whole Revenue of his Biſhoprick; but obſerving that the prodigious Work was thereby but little advanced, became weary thereof, and giving over the ſame, applied himſelf to the erecting a College of Regular Canons at St. Oſyth's in Eſſex, intended to reſign his Biſhoprick, and become a Canon in his new Monaſtery; but deferring to put his Reſolution in Execution, he died of the Dead Palſey on the ſixteenth of January, Anno 1127. Whart. Hiſt. de Epiſc.

Gilbert Univerſalis, a Canon Regular of Lyons in France, being elected to this Biſhoprick, was conſecrated by William Archbiſhop of Canterbury, on the 22d of January, Anno 1128. This Biſhop has different Characters aſſigned him by Authors; ſome ſay he was a very antient, but a very good Man; and others, that he was very rich and covetous, but a very learned Man; however, he ſeems to have been a Perſon of conſiderable Note, ſeeing Ibid. God. Com. de Præſul.

seeing St. Bernard held an Epistolary Correspondence with him; and is said to have died in a Journey to Rome, Anno 1133, by the London Catalogue Anno 1139, and by Stow in 1141. But that these Authors are all mistaken, is manifest by the Annals of Winchester; wherein it plainly appears, that he died on the tenth of August, Anno 1134.

Whart. Hist. de Epsc.

Ibid. About two Years after the Decease of Gilbert, King Stephen summoned a Council to meet at Westminster, at the Feast of Easter, Anno 1136, when a Faction of the Canons of St. Paul's, in Opposition to the King and the Dean of St. Paul's, chose for their Bishop Anselm, Abbot of St. Edmund, and Nephew to the late Archbishop Anselm; and the more effectually to support their Election, inthroned him in St. Paul's Cathedral, and furnished him with Money sufficient to procure from Rome a Confirmation of their Choice. But in the Interim, the Dean and his Party were not unmindful of their Interest; for by their repeated Application to the Pope, they obtained a Decree for setting aside the Election; which divesting Anselm of his new Honour, he not without some Difficulty was re-admitted into his former Station of Abbot.

Ibid. During the Heat of the Civil War, the See of London was by the Pope, with the Consent of King Stephen, committed to the Care of the Bishop of Winchester; till at length Maud the Empress being received into London, Anno 1141, she conferred the same upon Robert de Sigillo, a Monk of Reading; who being soon after taken Prisoner in his House at Fulham, by Geoffrey de Mandevil, (an Officer of King Stephen's) he was by him committed Prisoner to the Tower of London, whence he was obliged to purchase his Liberty at a very high Rate; however, he kept his Bishoprick till his Death, which was occasioned, as 'tis said, by eating preserved Grapes impregnated with Poison, in the Year 1150.

Ibid. Richard de Belmeis, the second, who was Nephew to his Predecessor of that Name, and Archdeacon of Middlesex; was consecrated by Theobald, Archbishop of Canterbury, on the 28th of September, Anno 1150, and is generally believed to have died on the fourth of May, Anno 1156.

Ibid. After the Decease of Richard, this See continued vacant upwards of two Years; when Richard Fitzneal of Ely, Canon of St. Paul's, Prebend of Kentish-town, Archdeacon of Colchester and Ely, Dean of Lincoln, and Lord High Treasurer of England, was by Richard I. (in pursuance of his Father's Design) nominated to this Bishoprick, and consecrated Bishop thereof at Lambeth, by Baldwin Archbishop of Canterbury, on the 31st of December, Anno 1158, and, after having assigned all the Titles of his Demeans at Fulham and Horset to St. Paul's School, died on the tenth of September, Anno 1162.

Ibid. Gilbert Foliot being advanced to the See of London, he was translated hither from that of Hereford, on the 24th of March, Anno 1163, being the first English Bishop that ever was canonically translated from one Bishoprick to another. This Prelate gave a Piece of Ground in St. Paul's Church-yard, whereon to erect a House for the Dean; and when he had continued Bishop of this See twenty-three Years, ten Months, and seven-teen Days, died in London on the 18th of February, Anno 1187.

William de Santta Maria, a Canon of York and of St. Paul's, and Dean of St. Martin's le Grand, was elected Bishop of London, September the sixteenth, Anno 1198, and consecrated at Westminster by Hubert Archbishop of Canterbury on the 23d of May, Anno 1199. He was one of the Bishops that interdicted the Kingdom by Command of the Pope, on the 24th of March 1208, for which he and his Associates were expelled the Nation, for the Term of five Years; whereupon King John caused his Castle at Stortford (now Bishop-Stafford in Hertfordshire) to be demolished. But being returned from Exile, the King, it seems, to make him Amends, gave to him and his Successors for ever, the Manor of Stoke near Guildford in Surrey; and being returned to his Bishoprick, he after having sate above twenty-one Years, on the 26th of January, Anno 1221, voluntarily resigned the same. Ibid.

Eustace de Fauconberge, Prebend of Holborn, one of the King's Justices, Privy Counsellor to King John and Henry III. by whom he was sent Ambassador twice into France, and afterwards constituted Chancellor of the Exchequer and Lord High Treasurer, was on the 25th of April, Anno 1221, consecrated Bishop of London at Westminster. Ibid.

In the Year after, a great Difference was compromised between Eustace and the Dean and Chapter of St. Paul's, on the one Part, and William the Abbot, and Monks of Westminster on the other, by the Arbitration of Stephen, Archbishop of Canterbury, the Bishops of Winton and Sarum, and the Priors of Merton and Dunstable; by whom 'twas awarded, that in all Futurity the Monastery of Westminster, and the Church of St. Margaret's adjoining, shall be exempt from the Jurisdiction of the Bishop of London, and the Church of Staines given to the said Abbot and Monks; and the Manor and Church of Sunbury, for ever appropriated to the Bishop of London and Canons of St. Paul's. This my Author takes to be the first Exemption the Church of Westminster ever had, from the Authority of the Bishop of London, notwithstanding the many Charters of pretended Privileges alledged by the Monks. Ibid.

This Bishop, after having appropriated the Church of Bumsted to the Clerks daily officiating at the Altar of the Virgin Mary, died on the 2d of November, Anno 1228. Ibid.

Roger Niger, Archdeacon of Colchester, being elected Bishop of London, was consecrated as such on the 10th of June, Anno 1229, at Canterbury, by the Bishop of Rochester, &c. This Prelate is said to have been religious, learned and eloquent, an indefatigable Preacher, courteous, hospitable, and of great Courage; the latter whereof appears by his excommunicating the King's Officers for detaining Walter Bishop of Carlisle at Dover, from going beyond Sea without the King's Permission; and also by his Threatening to anathematize his Majesty's Servants, for violently forcing Hubert de Burg, Earl of Kent, from the Altar. His Menaces had so good an Effect, that Hubert was not only restored to the Place from whence he was taken, but soon after to his Liberty. Newc. Repert.

Cuſt. Lond. This Prelate made an eccleſiaſtical Conſtitution, whereby he injoined the Citizens of London to pay to their reſpective Pariſh Prieſts, on all Sundays and Feſtivals whoſe Vigils were to be obſerved as Faſts, one Farthing for every Houſe of ten Shillings per Annum Rent, a Halfpenny for one of twenty, and for thoſe of forty Shillings one Penny each. The laſt being the higheſt Rent mentioned in that Ordinance, it occaſioned divers Conteſts between the Citizens and their Ghoſtly Fathers; for the obviating of which for the future, the Pope judged it convenient by his Bull to explain the ſaid Conſtitution, whereby the Citizens were obliged to pay to their ſeveral Incumbents on the aforeſaid Days a Pound-Rate of one Halfpenny, for the Amount of their reſpective Rents; which was not only confirmed by a Bull of Pope Nicholas the fifth, but alſo by an Act of Common Council, which enforced the Citizens to ſubmit to the Decrees of Rome.

Arnold's Chron.

Whart. Hiſt. de Epiſc. Roger having zealouſly proſecuted the Work of his Cathedral, was thereby enabled on the firſt of October, Anno 1240, to conſecrate the Choir, in Preſence of the King, the Pope's Legate, and many of the Nobility and Clergy; and in the Year following, on the 18th of September, died at his Manor of Stepney.

Ibid. Fulk Baſſet, Dean of York and Provoſt of the Collegiate Church of St. John of Beverley, was by the Canons of St. Paul's (contrary to the King's Intention) elected Biſhop of London in the Month of December, Anno 1241. But the See of Canterbury being void, his Conſecration was deferred for almoſt three Years; but at laſt he was conſecrated in the Monaſtical Church of the Trinity in London, on the 9th of October, Anno 1244.

Mat. Par. Hiſt. Angl. In the Year 1255, a mighty Conteſt happened between Fulk and Ruſtand the Pope's Legate, who by the King's Permiſſion held a Council of all the Prelates of the Kingdom at London, whom he not only acquainted with the preſſing Occaſions of the Pope for Money, but likewiſe with the Method he intended to raiſe the ſame; which was of ſo vile a Nature, as not to be paſſed over in Silence: viz. The iniquitous Pope cauſed a great Number of obligatory Notes to be drawn, wherein the ſeveral Biſhops of England acknowledged to have received of divers Merchants of Sienne, Florence, and other Cities of Italy, certain Sums of Money for the immediate Occaſion of their reſpective Churches, which they ſeverally bound themſelves (as mentioned in the ſaid Notes) to repay againſt a certain Time: Wherefore Endeavours were uſed to prevail upon, or compel each Man to ſign one of thoſe Notes, (as if they had actually received the Money therein-mentioned) upon pain of Excommunication! An Oppreſſion ſo deteſtable, that it cannot be parallelled among the moſt wicked and infamous Tyrants! and this too by a Perſon who ſtiled himſelf Chriſt's Vicegerent.

Ibid. This wicked and moſt iniquitous Propoſal greatly alarmed the Council, inſomuch that our worthy Prelate and Patriot declared, that rather than ſubmit to ſuch an unjuſt and tyrannical Oppreſſion, he'd ſooner loſe his Life. This generous Reſolution animated the reſt of the Members to ſuch a Degree, that they reſolved not to ſhew the leaſt Regard to the Authority of Ruſtand, nor his threatened Cenſures; which ſo highly inraged the Legate, that he immediately applied to the King for Redreſs; intimating, that the Biſhop of London was the chief Occaſion of the Clergy's Diſobedience.

Mat. Par. Hiſt. Angl. The King, no leſs nettled at the Diſappointment than the Legate, fell into a violent Paſſion with the Biſhop, and told him, that ſince he was neither afraid of his, nor the Pope's Diſpleaſure, he ſhould quickly feel the Effects of both. However, this Menace was ſo far from intimidating our brave Patriot, that he replied, he was very ſenſible that his Majeſty and the Pope were much more powerful than he; and in caſe he was deprived of his Mitre, he would ſoon find a Helmet to wear in its ſtead.

Stow. Sur. Lond. Newc. Repert. In the Year 1256, Fulk began to erect the Church of St. Faith, at the Eaſt End of the Choir of St. Paul's Cathedral, the Foundation whereof, according to Stow, was laid five Years before; and having founded two Chantries in St. Paul's Church, one at the Altar of the Virgin Mary, and the other at that of St. Catharine, for his own Soul, and thoſe of Alan and Alice, his Parents, he died on the 20th of May, Anno 1259.

Ibid. Henry de Wingham, Prebend of Newington, being in great Favour, the King conferred on him divers Offices, both ſpiritual and temporal, firſt, by conſtituting him Chamberlain of Gaſcony, Dean of Totenhall and St. Martin's le Grand, and ſoon after Lord High Chancellor of the Kingdom. In the Month of January, Anno 1259, he was elected Biſhop of Wincheſter; which he refuſed to accept, leſt the Plurality of Places, and accumulating of Riches, ſhould draw upon him the Cenſure and Ill-will of the People. However, towards the Cloſe of the Year, he accepted of the See of London, to which he was conſecrated in the Church of St. Mary Overie, by Boniface Archbiſhop of Canterbury, on the fifteenth of January, An. 1260. He founded a Chantry of two Prieſts at the Altar of St. Michael in his own Cathedral, for the Good of his Soul, and endowed the ſame out of the Church of Great-Watering in Eſſex; and died on the thirteenth of July, Anno 1261.

Whart. Hiſt de Epiſc. During the Vacancy of the See of London after the Death of Henry, the antient Controverſy revived between the Archbiſhop and the Chapter of St. Paul's, concerning Juriſdiction; which was ſoon adjuſted on the 21ſt of Auguſt 1262. The Compoſition whereof being ſtill obligatory, it ſets forth, that upon every Vacancy of the See of London, the Chapter of St. Paul's ſhall nominate two, three, or four of their Canons to the Archbiſhop, of whom he ſhall appoint one to be his Official, to exerciſe Juriſdiction in the Dioceſe of London, by his Authority. Richard Talbot, Dean of St. Paul's, was elected in the room of Henry, on the 18th of Auguſt, and confirmed September 20, Anno 1262, but dying before his Conſecration, he was ſucceeded by Henry de Sandwich, Prebend of Wildland; who was elected on the ſixteenth Day of November in the ſame Year, and conſecrated at Canterbury the May following, by John Biſhop of Wincheſter; but ſoon after taking part with the Barons againſt the King, he was ſuſpended by the Pope's Legate, An. 1265, and the Year after excommunicated, which obliged him to repair to Rome for a Remiſſion; when after a Reſidence of about ſix Years in that City,

City, he at laſt, with much Difficulty and great Expence, obtained an Abſolution; and returning to England, died in the Year 1273; ſoon after whoſe Deceaſe, the Controverſy was again renewed between the Archbiſhop of Canterbury and the Dean and Chapter of St. Paul's concerning the above-mentioned Agreement, but after an Explication thereof, Matters were ſoon accommodated.

Whart. Hiſt. de Epiſc. John de Chiſhul, Provoſt of Beverley, Dean of St. Paul's, and Lord High Treaſurer of the Kingdom, was elected Biſhop of this See on the 7th of December, Anno 1273, and conſecrated at Lambeth the April following; but becoming infirm, was rendered unable to perform his Paſtoral Office: Wherefore the Archbiſhop of Canterbury, in his Metropolitical Viſitation, aſſigned him the Dean and Treaſurer of St. Paul's for his Coadjutors; but their Commiſſion being ſoon after revoked, Fulk Lovell, Archdeacon of Colcheſter, was aſſigned his Coadjutor, Anno 1280, which the Biſhop only ſurvived a few Days.

Ibid. After the Deceaſe of John de Chiſhul, Fulk Lovell, Prebend of York and Archdeacon of Colcheſter, as aforeſaid, was elected Biſhop of London; but renouncing the ſame, as he had ſome Time before that of Lincoln, Richard de Graveſend was elected in his ſtead, and conſecrated at Coventry by John Archbiſhop of Canterbury, Auguſt 11, Anno 1280. Soon after a Conteſt happened between Richard and his Metropolitan, occaſioned by the citing of a Rector of his Dioceſe into the Archiepiſcopal Court of Arches, the Biſhop inſiſting that Cauſes in the firſt Inſtance could not be legally brought before the Metropolitan. But this Diſpute ſeems to have been only epiſtolary.

Ibid. In the Year 1289, the Archbiſhop of Canterbury appointed as Coadjutor to Richard, the Dean and Treaſurer of St. Paul's, not on account of his Incapacity of performing the Office, but rather on that of his being much employed in publick Affairs, both at home and abroad; for, ſoon after, he was ſent Ambaſſador to France, and at his Return conſtituted one of the National Regents.

Ibid. This Prelate, Anno 1290, inſtituted in the Church of St. Paul, the Office of Sub-Dean; and ordained, that the Chancellor of the ſaid Church ſhould read a Divinity Lecture therein; and that for the future none be admitted Chancellors of the ſame, but ſuch as were either Bachelors or Doctors of Divinity. Richard was a great Benefactor to his Church, wherein he founded a Chantry for the Repoſe of his Soul; and died on the 9th of December, Anno 1303.

Ibid. Ralph de Baldock, Dean of St. Paul's, was elected to the See of London in the Month of February, Anno 1304. But his Election being controverted by three of the Canons, who had ſometime before been ſuſpended, Ralph, to ſecure his Election, found it neceſſary to repair to Rome; where having ſucceeded according to his Wiſh, he was on his Return conſecrated at Lyons in France, by Cardinal Hiſpanus, on the 30th of January, Anno 1306.

Ibid. This Prelate, who was ſome time Lord High Chancellor, was eminently diſtinguiſhed for his Learning, having wrote a Hiſtory of England, and an Account of the Statutes and Cuſtoms of his own Cathedral: He was alſo eminent for his Generoſity, in appropriating the Church of Yelling in Middleſex to the Chancellorſhip of St. Paul's, reſerving only ten Pounds per Annum, as a Stipend for the Vicar. He likewiſe gave an Annuity of two hundred Marks towards finiſhing the additional Work of St. Paul's Church, wherein he founded and endowed a Chantry for two Prieſts, at the Altar of St. Erkenwald; and died July 14, Anno 1313. During Baldock's Government a Provincial Synod was held in this City, Anno 1310, wherein was condemned the Order of Knights Templars, for their ſcandalous and diſſolute Lives; upon which Occaſion the whole Fraternity were ſeized in all Parts of the Kingdom, and committed to Priſon. Walſing. Hiſt. Angl.

Whart. Hiſt. de Epiſc. Gilbert de Seagrave, Canon of Lincoln, Prebendary of Portpool, and Precentor of St. Paul's, was elected Biſhop of London on the 17th of Auguſt, Anno 1313, and conſecrated at Canterbury the 25th of November following by Henry Biſhop of Winchester. He re-edified St. Erkenwald's Shrine, and dedicated ſeveral Altars in the new Work of St. Paul's; and to fortify the Croſs that was to be erected on the towering Spire of his Cathedral againſt Storms of Wind, Thunder, Lightening, or other Contingencies, put therein a great Quantity of the Reliques of reputed Saints, and died the 15th of January, Anno, 1316.

Newc. Repert, Richard de Newport, Dean of St. Paul's, was, on the 27th of January, Anno 1317, choſen to ſucceed to the See of London, and to that end conſecrated the 15th of May following, by Walter Archbiſhop of Canterbury, and died Auguſt 24, Anno 1318.

Ibid. Stephen Graveſend, Prebendary of Wenlakeſharn and Chamberlain-Wood, was elected Biſhop of London, Sept. 11, Anno 1318, and conſecrated by Walter Archbiſhop of Canterbury on the 14th of January after.

Whart. Hiſt. de Epiſc. About the Year 1320, Walter Archbiſhop of Canterbury, having obtained a Power of the Pope for the Inlargement of his Authority, in purſuance thereof ordered a Metropolitical Viſitation throughout his whole Province; which was oppoſed by Stephen alone, who, appealing to the Pope, refuſed to admit the ſame; but being overpowered by the great Intereſt of his Metropolitan, was forced to ſubmit.

Ibid. Upon the Death of the ſaid Archbiſhop, a Conteſt aroſe between Stephen and the Convent of Canterbury; the Monks whereof, who antiently enjoyed the Archiepiſcopal Juriſdiction during the Vacancy of that See, were, by a Compoſition of the 24th of June, Anno 1278, to preſent two fit Perſons to the Biſhop of London, as Dean of the Province, of whom he was to ſelect one to exerciſe the ſaid Juriſdiction during the Vacancy: But the Monks proving refractory, choſe one of their Brethren to execute that Authority, without ever applying to the Dean, who ſtrenuouſly oppoſing their Meaſures, obliged them to ſubmit, and regulate themſelves according to the Tenor of the aforeſaid Compoſition.

Ibid. Stephen openly oppoſed the Depoſing of Edward II. and refuſed to qualify himſelf to his Son and Succeſſor. And upon a Report, that the unfortunate Prince was ſtill alive, (but in reality was barbarouſly murdered ſome Time before) tho' in Priſon

Priſon, he, together with Edmund Earl of Kent, and William Archbiſhop of York, were accuſed for conſpiring his Eſcape; of which they were convicted, tho' afterwards pardoned. He founded in his Cathedral Church a Chantry of two Prieſts, for the Celebration of Maſs for his Soul and that of his Uncle, and died April 8, Anno 1338.

Whart. Hiſt. de Epiſc. Richard de Byntworth, or Wentworth, Prebendary of Kentiſh-town, and Bedewynd in the Church of Sarum, was elected to the See of London, May 4, Anno 1338, on the 6th of July appointed Lord High Chancellor, and on the 12th following conſecrated at Lambeth; and died on the 8th of December, Anno 1339.

Ibid. Radolph de Stratford, Canon of St. Paul's, and Prebend of Blibury in the Dioceſe of Sarum, ſucceeded Richard on the 26th of January, Anno 1340, and was conſecrated at Canterbury the 12th of May following.

Spelm. Concil. Some Time after, a Provincial Synod was held at London, wherein divers Canons were made; the moſt remarkable whereof was as follow; viz. the fourth ſets forth, That divers Monaſteries having Pariſhes appropriated to them for charitable Uſes, did not anſwer the Ends of ſuch Benefactions, by diſtributing to the Poor of ſuch appropriated Pariſhes the ſeveral Charities allotted them by the Donors; wherefore the Monks of ſuch Monaſteries were ſtrictly injoined to relieve the Poor of ſuch Pariſhes, in proportion to the Value of the Donation; and in caſe of Non-performance, the Biſhops of the ſeveral Dioceſes were impowered to ſequeſter the Profits, and compel the Monks to their Duty.

Newc. Repert. Michael de Northburg, Prebendary of Mapesburg. was elected to this See April 23, Anno 1354, but being confirmed by Simon, Archbiſhop of Canterbury, before the Arrival of the Pope's Bull of Confirmation, both his Election and Confirmation were deemed void; therefore the Archbiſhop committed to him the Spiritualities of the Biſhoprick, not by virtue of his Election, but of the Pope's Proviſion.

Whart. Hiſt. de Epiſc. This Prelate gave two thouſand Pounds towards founding the Charter-houſe near Weſt Smithfield, and alſo Lands for endowing the ſame. He likewiſe gave one thouſand Pounds, to be depoſited in a Cheſt in the Treaſury of his Cathedral, to be lent by ten, twenty, or more Pounds to induſtrious Perſons, upon their giving Security for the ſame. He died at Copford in Eſſex, September 9, Anno 1361.

Ibid. Edward III. granted to the Dean and Chapter of St. Paul's, that during all future Vacancies of their Biſhoprick, they ſhall for ever thereafter enjoy the Temporalities of the ſame, upon their paying him and his Succeſſors one thouſand Pounds per Annum, or pro rata.

Ibid. Simon de Sudbury, (ſo denominated from the Place of his Nativity, his proper Name being Tibald) Doctor of Laws, domeſtick Chaplain to Pope Innocent the Sixth, and Auditor of the Rota at Rome, where he was promoted to the Chancellorſhip of Sarum, and ſoon after by the ſaid Pope to the See of London on the 22d of October, Anno 1361. to which he was conſecrated the May following. He founded a College in Sudbury, the Place of his Birth; and by the Pope's Bull was tranſlated to Canterbury, Anno 1375; and in the Year 1381, was cruelly murdered by Wat Tyler in the Tower of London, who, without the leaſt Form of Trial, cauſed him to be beheaded.

Ibid. William de Courtney was on the 12th of September, Anno 1375, tranſlated from the See of Hereford to this of London; in a Synod held in this City, he oppoſed the granting a Subſidy to the King by the Clergy, Anno 1376, and publiſhed the Pope's Bull at St. Paul's Croſs againſt the Florentines, without the King's Permiſſion; for which he was cited before the Lord High Chancellor, who interrogating him in reſpect to his undutiful Behaviour, inſolently replied, That he did it by the ſpecial Command of the Pope: This haughty Anſwer ſo irritated the Chancellor, that he bid him take his Choice, either to loſe his Temporals, or retract his Words; however, with much Difficulty, he obtained, Ut per alium revocare poſſit. Courtney, having re-obtained the King's Favour, was in the Year 1381 appointed Lord High Chancellor, and on the 10th of Auguſt following tranſlated to the See of Canterbury.

Ibid. Robert de Braybroke, who had enjoyed many profitable Poſts in the Church, was by the Bull of Pope Urban promoted to the See of London on September 9, Anno 1381, and conſecrated at Lambeth the January following; and on the 20th of September in the ſame Year was appointed Lord High Chancellor, which he held not above half a Year. He ordained, that the Days of Converſion and Commemoration of St. Paul ſhould be celebrated throughout his Dioceſe, equally with the higheſt Feſtivals; and alſo united and incorporated divers Chantries in his Cathedral, becauſe of their Inſufficiency to ſupport themſelves ſingle.

Ibid. A very bad and ſcandalous Cuſtom had for many Years prevailed in this Church, by the Reſidentiaries not admitting a Brother Canon to Reſidence, unleſs he'd agree to expend in the firſt Year after his Admiſſion, in Junketting and other Exceſſes, at leaſt ſeven hundred Marks. This Epicurean Practice the Biſhop had frequently attempted to remove, but without Succeſs; till at laſt he and the Reſidentiaries agreed to refer the Affair in Diſpute to the King's Arbitration, who awarded, that for the future the Reſidence of the Church of St. Paul ſhould be regulated according to the Statutes and Cuſtoms of the Church of Sarum. Braybroke, having enjoyed this See about twenty Years, died on the 27th of Auguſt, Anno 1404. Dugd. Hiſt. St. Paul.

Godw. de Præſul. Newc. Repert. Roger de Waldon, from a very mean Condition, had the Rectory of Fordham in Eſſex conferred upon him by King Richard II. Anno 1391, after which he became ſo highly in Favour, that having divers Places of great Truſt and Profit conferred upon him, was, Anno 1395, conſtituted Lord High Treaſurer of the Kingdom, and ſome Time after advanced to the See of Canterbury, which he enjoyed not long; for upon the Depoſing of King Richard, his great Friend and Patron, he was deprived of all Places of Truſt and Honour, and obliged to retire to his former Obſcurity, wherein he remained till the 30th of June, Anno 1405, when, at the Interceſſion of Thomas Archbiſhop of Canterbury, he had the See of London don conferred upon him, which he did not long enjoy, seeing he died in the Beginning of the following Year.

Whart. Hist. de Episc. Nicholas de Bubbewith, who had enjoyed many Preferments in the Church, was oppointed Master of the Rolls, then Keeper of the Privy Seal; and being elected Bishop of London, was declared Lord High Treasurer of the Kingdom, Anno 1406. But he did not long enjoy this See, for on the 22d of June, the Year following, he was translated to Salisbury, and on the 5th of October after, to that of Bath and Wells.

Godw. de Præsul. Richard Clifford, Archdeacon of Canterbury, Lord Privy Seal, and Bishop of Worcester, was translated to this See on the 13th of October, Anno 1407; and on the 14th of January 1408, a Synod was held at St. Paul's Church, for sending Representatives to the Council of Pisa, to settle the Peace of the Church, then rent in Pieces by two factious Popes. In the Year 1414, Richard, with the Consent of the Dean and Chapter of St. Paul's, by an Ordinance regulated the Form of celebrating Divine Service in his Cathedral, according to the Practice of that of Sarum. And in the Year 1416, a Provincial Council was held at St. Paul's Church, wherein Delegates were nominated to represent the Church of England in the Council of Constance; one whereof was Clifford; who gave his Suffrage in favour of Cardinal Columa, to the Pontificate; and having given a thousand Marks to the Poor-Scholars of Burnel's-Inn in Oxford, died on the 20th of August, Anno 1421.

Coll Eccl. Hist. During Clifford's Government, a Council was held at London, wherein the Clergy granted to the King a Tenth, upon the Condition that his Purveyors should not meddle with the Goods of any Ecclesiastical; and that none of their Body be imprisoned for any Crime, but those of Theft and Murder; and when prosecuted for others, to be admitted to Bail: These Privileges, according to Duck, were confirmed by Parliament, tho' not mentioned in the printed Statutes.

Newc. Repert. John Kemp, at first Rector of St. Michael's Crooked-lane, then Dean of the Arches, Doctor of Laws, Dean of Durham, Bishop of Rochester, and then of Chichester; whence he was translated to the See of London, Anno 1421, notwithstanding the Dean and Chapter's having previously elected Thomas Palton, Bishop of Hereford; who was obliged to give place to John, who by the Pope's Provision was to succeed Richard Clifford.

Coll Eccl. Hist. In a Convocation held at London, Anno 1425, divers Persons were accused of Heresy; among whom was one William Russel, a Minorite, for asserting that the Payment of Personal Tithes was not commanded by God; therefore Priests could not claim them by Divine Authority: For which Opinion he was censured as a Heretick, and his Notions condemned. And for the more effectual preventing the Propagation of Tenets so destructive to the Priesthood, the University of Oxford made an Order, that no Person whatsoever should be admitted to any Degree, without renouncing Russel's Doctrine in respect to Personal Tithes.

Newc. Repert. Kemp was appointed Lord Chancellor in March Anno 1426, and soon after translated from this See to that of York; where he converted the Church of Wey in Kent, the Place of his Nativity, into a College of Secular Priests, and gave five hundred Marks to the Divinity School in Oxford; and being created a Cardinal, Anno 1439, he was some Time after translated to the Archiepiscopal See of Canterbury, where he died on the 22d of March, Anno 1454.

Whart. Hist. de Episc. William Gray, Doctor of Laws, and Dean of York, was, upon the Translation of Kemp, elected and confirmed Bishop of this See, and consecrated to the same May 6, Anno 1426, by the Archbishop of Canterbury, without ever consulting the Pope; who, at last was in a manner forced to consent by his Bull of Provision, July 20, Anno 1426. Gray, in the Year 1431, being translated from this See to that of Lincoln, restored the College of Thele in Hertfordshire, for a Master and four Canons, and made it a Cell to Elsing Spittle in the City of London.

Ibid. Robert Fitz-Hugh was elected Bishop of London, and consecrated as such on Sept. 16, Anno 1431. Robert, who had possessed many Places of great Profit and Trust in the Church, and had been Ambassador at Rome and Venice, was at last elected Bishop of Ely, but died at St. Osyth's before his Translation, viz. on January 15, Anno 1436.

Coll. Eccl. Hist. During Fitz-Hugh's Rule, a great Contest having happened between the Council of Basil and the Pope, each Party exerted themselves as much as possible, to engage the Archbishop of Canterbury in their respective Interests; wherefore he summoned a Provincial Council at London, wherein the State of the Controversy was debated, and a Resolution taken to send certain Delegates to compose the Difference in an amicable Manner; but some thereof dying at Basil, the Convocation chose eight Doctors of Divinity to supply their Places.

Newc. Repert. In this Council at St. Paul's, for the Encouragement of Learning in England, it was decreed, that, for the future, all the greater Ecclesiastical Benefices should be conferred on none other than those educated at the Universities of Oxford and Cambridge.

Whart. Hist. de Episc. Robert Gilbert, Dean of York, was by Pope Eugenius advanced to the See of London on the 21st of May 1386, and on the 28th of the following October consecrated at Lambeth, by Henry Archbishop of Canterbury.

Ibid. Thomas Kemp, Archdeacon of Middlesex, and Chancellor of York, by virtue of a Bull from Pope Nicholas, was preferred to this See August the 21st, Anno 1448, but, in regard of the King's not immediately approving of him, he was not consecrated till a Year and a Half after; however the Ceremony was at last performed by his Uncle John, Archbishop of York, at York-place, since denominated Whitehall.

Ibid. This Prelate rebuilt the Pulpit-cross in St. Paul's Church-yard; founded and endowed at the Altar of the Trinity, a Chantry of one Priest, with the Office of of Penitentiary; to which he annexed the Church of Chigwell in Essex, and the Prebend of St. Pancras, for ever. He also gave one thousand Marks towards finishing the Divinity-School in Oxford; and likewise a great Collection of Books to the University; and died March the 28th, Anno 1489.

Ibid. Richard Hill, Dean of the King's Chapel, Prebendary of Bemyster in the Church of Sarum, and Rector of Fulham, was elected Bishop of London, Auguſt the 19th, Anno 1489, and on the 15th of November following conſecrated at Lambeth, by John, Archbiſhop of Canterbury.

Whart. Hiſt. de Epiſc. Some Time after, a Conteſt happened between Richard and his Metropolitan, about proving the Wills of ſuch Perſons as have left Effects in ſundry Dioceſes; which the Archbiſhop claiming to belong to his Court, occaſioned the Biſhop's appealing to Rome; where it was, to the great Mortification of Richard, decided in favour of his Antagoniſt, and his Prerogative thereto confirmed by a ſolemn Diploma. However, he died ſoon after, on the 20th of February, Anno 1495.

Stow. Sur. Lond. We are told by Stow, that John Marſhal was Biſhop of London, from Anno 1489, to 1493, but this is a manifeſt Miſtake, by his taking London for Landaven.

Whart. Hiſt. de Epiſc. Thomas Savage, Doctor of Laws, and Biſhop of Rocheſter, was by the Bull of Pope Alexander tranſlated thence to London, Auguſt the 3d, Anno 1496, and, by another Proviſion of the ſaid Pope's, was tranſlated hence to York, Anno 1501.

Ibid. William Warham, having gone through divers Offices in the Church, was by the King's Gift, and Pope's Proviſion, advanced to this See on the 20th of October, Anno 1501, and inſtalled on the 5th of October the Year following; and, on the 29th of November the Year after was tranſlated to Canterbury.

Ibid. This Prelate's Preferments in the State were equal to thoſe in the Church; for he was firſt made Maſter of the Rolls, and then Lord High Chancellor of the Kingdom. And having ſate Archbiſhop about twenty-eight Years, died Auguſt the 22d, Anno 1532.

Newc. Repert.

Whart. Hiſt. de Epiſc. William Barons being elected Biſhop of London, was therein confirmed by the Proviſion of Pope Julius II. Auguſt the 2d, Anno 1504, and conſecrated about the 28th of November following; and after a ſhort Epiſcopate of ten Months and ſome Days, died about the tenth of October, Anno 1505.

Godw. de Præſul. Richard Fitz-Jones, after many Preferments in the Church, was, Auguſt the 2d, Anno 1506, tranſlated from the See of Chicheſter to this of London; where he diſburſed conſiderable Sums, in adorning his Cathedral; and having beſtowed large Sums in charitable Uſes, died January 15, Anno 1521.

Whart. Hiſt. de Epiſc. Cuthbert Tunſtal, who was celebrated for his Learning, and Knowledge of the Sciences, was preferred to the See of London; to which he was conſecrated October the 9th, Anno 1522, where after having ſate about ſeven Years, was tranſlated hence to Durham, Anno 1530.

Ibid. This Prelate had been employed in divers Embaſſies, particularly in that to the Emperor Charles V. for obtaining the Releaſement of Francis the French King, then his Priſoner. He was alſo Maſter of the Rolls, and Lord Privy Seal. At the Reformation he was ejected his Biſhoprick by Edward VI. reſtored by Queen Mary, and diſpoſſed again by Queen Elizabeth, and committed to the Cuſtody of the Archbiſhop of Canterbury. He died November the 18th, Anno 1539.

Newc. Repert.

Ibid. John Stokeſley, Prebendary of St. Stephen's Chapel at Weſtminſter, being ſent Ambaſſador to Rome about the King's Divorce, was at his Return promoted to the Biſhoprick of London, Anno 1530, and conſecrated thereto on the 27th of November, and died September the 8th, Anno 1539.

Ibid. Edmund Bonner, Natural Son of George Savage, a Prieſt, and Elizabeth Frodſham, (who, when with Child by Savage, was married to Edmund Bonner, a Sawyer, from whom the Baſtard unjuſtly received its Name) tho' not eminent for Learning, yet by a peculiar Meanneſs of Spirit, and paraſitical Deportment, ingratiated himſelf ſo effectually into favour with Cardinal Wolſey, that he made him his Commiſſary for the Faculties; ſoon after which he obtained divers Offices of great Profit in the Church.

Ibid. This Man, to make his Way to further Preferment, hypocritically pretented to favour the Reformation, and the King's Divorce from Catharine of Spain; which probably procured for him the See of Hereford, and ſoon after this of London, to which he was tranſlated October the 20th, Anno 1539.

Coll. Eccl. Hiſt. In the Year 1549, an Information was preferred againſt Bonner, by William Latimer, B. D. and John Hooper, afterwards Biſhop of Glouceſter, for omitting in his Sermon at Paul's-Croſs, the Article touching the King's Power during his Minority, tho' expreſsly thereunto injoined by his Majeſty's ſpecial Command. Beſide, he was charged with an Omiſſion of Duty, in not ſearching after Polygamiſts, and ſuch Perſons who either officiated, or were preſent at any Forms of Divine Worſhip, not tolerated by the Government; and that, inſtead of going to the Sermons at Paul's-Croſs, and countenancing the ſame with his Preſence, purſuant to the King's Order, he not only left the Congregation at the Beginning of the Diſcourſe, but likewiſe writ to the Lord-Mayor and Aldermen of the City to perſuade them to do the like: Wherefore a Commiſſion was directed to Thomas Cranmer, Archbiſhop of Canterbury, Nicholas Ridley, Biſhop of Rocheſter, Sir William Petre, and Sir Thomas Smith, Secretaries of State, and Dr. Williams, Dean of St. Paul's, before whom Bonner appeared at Lambeth, and, being convicted of the ſeveral Charges brought againſt him, was, on the firſt of October, Anno 1549, deprived of his Biſhoprick.

Fox. Eccleſ. Hiſt. Yet Bonner, in Expectation of being reſtored, ſubtlely applied to the King, by way of Petition, wherein he fraudulently ſet forth his ſincere and hearty Attachment to his Majeſty, tho' the very Reverſe had juſt before appeared upon his Trial. But this Artifice not ſucceeding, Nicholas Ridley, Biſhop of Rocheſter, was preferred to this See in his Stead, where he was inthron'd April the 12th, Anno 1550. But upon the Acceſſion of Queen Mary to the Crown, Ridley was not only deprived of his Biſhoprick, but likewiſe committed to Priſon, and try'd and condemned at Oxford for the ſincere and conſtant Profeſſion of his Faith, for which he was burnt October the 16th, Anno 1555. This pious Prelate, thro the whole Courſe of his Sufferings, behaved with ſuch an admirable Patience and Reſolution, as even ſhocked the moſt cruel of his Perſecutors.

Ibid. Ridley being removed, Bonner was reſtored to his Biſhoprick September the 5th, Anno 1553, when, after having glutted himſelf about five Years with Human Gore, by a grievous Perſecution of the Proteſtants, was, on the 30th of May, Anno Anno 1559, diſplaced by Authority of Parliament, and committed Priſoner to the Marſhalſea, where he ended his wicked Life, Anno 1569.

God. de Præſul. Edmund Grindal, ſome Time Maſter of Pembroke Hall in Cambridge, Chaplain to the late Biſhop Ridley, and Precentor of St. Paul's, after a voluntary Exile in Germany on the Account of Religion, during the Reign of Queen Mary, was, at his Return, elected Biſhop of this See, July the 26th, Anno 1556, where, after he had ſate above ten Years, he was tranſlated to York, in the Month of May, Anno 1570.

Newc. Repert. This Prelate, for his rare Qualities, was in great Favour with Queen Elizabeth, till diſpoſſeſſed thereof by the malicious Inſinuations of his Enemies, who repreſented him to her Majeſty as too great a Favourer of her diſſenting Subjects the Puritans; whereas in Truth the real Cauſe was, for his having condemned the illegal Marriage of Julio, an Italian Phyſician, with the Wife of another, wherein he was ſtrongly oppoſed by the Earl of Leiceſter, who, it ſeems, approved of the ſame.

Ibid. This worthy Prelate employed the little Wealth he had gathered together in the founding and endowing a Free-School at St. Bee's in Cumberland, the Place of his Nativity; and towards the Advancement of Learning in both Univerſities. And having been re-tranſlated from the See of York to that of Canterbury, February the 15th, Anno 1575, died at Croydon in Surrey, July the 6th, Anno 1583.

Ibid. Edwin Sandys, Maſter of Catharine-Hall in Cambridge, and Vice-Chancellor of that Univerſity, intereſting himſelf in the Proclamation of the Lady Jane Grey, was committed to Priſon, where, after a long Dureſs, he was, at the Interceſſion of Friends, releaſed, and withdrawing into Germany, reſided there during the Life of Queen Mary; and returning to England upon Queen Elizabeth's Acceſſion to the Crown, had the See of Worceſter conferred upon him, to which he was conſecrated December 21, Anno 1559, whence he was tranſlated to this of London, June 2, Anno 1570, where after he had ſate ſix Years, was preferred to that of York, wherein he died Auguſt the 8th, Anno 1588.

Ibid. John Aelmer, Chaplain to Henry Duke of Norfolk, was, in the Year 1553, made Archdeacon of Stow; but not conforming himſelf according to the Times, was deprived of his Archdeaconry, and retiring into Germany, continued there till the Death of Queen Mary, and Acceſſion of Queen Elizabeth, by whom he was appointed one of the Proteſtant Diſputants againſt ſeven Popiſh Biſhops in a religious Controverſy. He was made Archdeacon of Lincoln, Anno 1562, and March 12, 1576, elected Biſhop of London, and on the 24th of the ſame Month conſecrated at Lambeth.

Aelmer was a great Enemy to the Puritans whom he oppoſed to the utmoſt of his Power, notwithſtanding his having been an Exile himſelf on the Account of Religion. He died June 3, Anno 1584.

Ibid. Richard Fletcher, Prebendary of Iſlington, and Dean of Peterborough, was ſent down to Fotheringhay in Northamptonſhire, in order to aſſiſt Mary Queen of Scotland in her Devotions, and likewiſe to prevail upon her to renounce the Errors of Popery before ſhe ſuffered.

Upon Fletcher's Arrival at Fotheringhay, the unfortunate Princeſs was deprived of her Almoner, Confeſſor, and all ſpiritual Aſſiſtance of her own Communion; and, in lieu thereof, had Fletcher forced upon her, to her great Diſpleaſure and Diſturbance in her Devotion, by the Company of a Miniſter whoſe Religion ſhe abhorred; yet nevertheleſs ſhe was cruelly and ungenerouſly denied the Aſſiſtance of her Confeſſor in her laſt Moments.

Newc. Repert. Some Time after, Fletcher was elected Biſhop of London, December 30, Anno 1594, but having the Misfortune to fall under the Queen's Diſpleaſure for taking the Lady Baker, a beautiful young Widow, to his ſecond Wife, died ſoon after ſuddenly, (as 'tis ſaid, by Diſcontent, and the immoderate Uſe of Tobacco) June 15, Anno 1596.

Ibid. Richard Bancroft, Rector of St. Andrew's Holbourn, Treaſurer of St. Paul's, Prebendary of Bloomsbury and Weſtminſter, was elected to the See of London, April 21, 1597, and conſecrated the eighth of May following; and in the Year 1604, was tranſlated hence to Canterbury, and died November 2, Anno 1610.

Ibid. Richard Vaughan, Prebendary of Holbourn, Archdeacon of Middleſex, then Biſhop of Cheſter, was tranſlated to the See of London in December, Anno 1604, and died March 30, Anno 1607.

Ibid. Thomas Ravis, Vicar of Allhallows Barking, Canon of Weſtminſter, Dean of Chriſt-Church, then Biſhop of Glouceſter, was, from that See, tranſlated to this of London, May 18, Anno 1607.

Ibid. George Abbot, Maſter of Univerſity College in Oxford, and Dean of Winton, being choſen Biſhop of Litchfield and Coventry, was, tranſlated to the Biſhoprick of London, January 20, 1609, and, about a Year after, removed to the See of Canterbury. This Prelate having the Misfortune at Bramzil, to kill the Keeper, inſtead of a Buck, was ſo deeply affected therewith, that he retired, in the moſt inconſolable Condition, to Guildford, the Place of his Nativity, where he ſpun out the Thread of his ſorrowful Life, and died Auguſt 4, Anno 1633.

Ibid. John King, Archdeacon of Nottingham, Rector of St. Andrew's Holbourn, Prebendary of Sneating in the Church of St. Paul, London, Dean of Chriſt-Church in Oxford, and Vice-Chancellor of that Univerſity, was preferred to the See of London by King James the Firſt (who, by way of Diſtinction, gave him the Appellation of King of Preachers) in the Year 1611, and died March 30, 1621.

Ibid. George Monteine, at firſt Lecturer at Greſhham College, then Maſter of the Savoy, and Dean of Weſtminſter, from which he was promoted to the Biſhoprick of Lincoln, to which he was conſecrated December 14, Anno 1617, and thence tranſlated to London, July 20, 1621, and afterwards to Durham and York, where he died about the Year 1628.

Ibid. William Laud, at his firſt ſetting out, ſeems to have been the Darling of Fortune; for before the Year 1628, he had enjoyed no leſs than eighteen Preferments in the Church, and Fortune ſtill propitious, was elected Biſhop of London, July 15, in in the ſame Year, and thence tranſlated to Canterbury, Anno 1633.

This Prelate being regarded as the Head of the Arminian Party, and an Enemy to the Puritans, drew upon himſelf the Reſentment of the Houſe of Commons to ſuch a Degree, that they impeached him of High Treaſon, for which he was tryed, condemned and beheaded on Tower-hill, January 10, 1644. Thus died this Prelate, who through the great Favour of his Royal Maſter King Charles the Firſt, enjoyed the chief Management of Affairs both in Church and State for the Term of ſeven Years.

Newc. Repert. William Juxon, Doctor of Laws, Preſident of St. John's College in Oxford, Dean of Worceſter, Chaplain and Dean of the Cloſet to the King, and Biſhop of Hereford, was promoted to the See of London, October 23, Anno 1633. Soon after he was appointed one of his Majeſty's Privy Council, and in the Year 1635, Lord High Treaſurer of the Kingdom, which he enjoyed till he was by the Parliament diveſted of all his Places both in Church and State, Anno 1641.

Ibid. Juxon attended King Charles the Firſt at his Execution, Anno 1648, after which he retired to his Eſtate in Glouceſterſhire, where he continued till the Reſtoration, when he was reſtored to his Biſhoprick, and ſoon after viz. September 20, Anno 1660, tranſlated thence to Canterbury.

Ibid. Gilbert Sheldon, Vicar of Hackney, Prebendary of Glouceſter, and Chaplain and Dean of the Cloſet to the King, ſucceeded Juxon in the See of London, to which he was elected October 23, 1660, and tranſlated thence to Canterbury, Auguſt 30, 1663; and being elected Chancellor of the Univerſity of Oxford, Anno 1667, died on the 9th of November in the ſame Year. The charitable Benefactions given by this Prelate are ſaid to have amounted to about ſixty-ſix thouſand Pounds.

Ibid. Humphry Henchman was tranſlated from the See of Saliſbury to this of London, September 15, Anno 1663. He was in great Favour with King Charles the Second, whoſe eſcape he greatly contributed to after the Battle of Worceſter. He built the Chapel in London-Houſe in Alderſgate-ſtreet, and died Anno 1675.

Each. Hiſt. Engl. Henry Compton, youngeſt Son of Spencer Earl of Northampton, was tranſlated from Oxford to London, December 18, 1675. This worthy Prelate, by his good Deportment, having gained the Love of the Proteſtant Churches both at Home and Abroad, became the Butt of the Popiſh Party at Court, who watched all Opportunities to ennoble their new Eccleſiaſtical Commiſſion with an illuſtrious Sacrifice. For King James, to facilitate the Introduction of Popery, ordered certain Directions concerning Preachers, publiſhed in the Year 1662, to be reprinted, and for the better Obſervation thereof, wrote to the Archbiſhops of Canterbury and York, ſtrictly to prohibit all Miniſters in their reſpective Provinces from preaching upon controverted Points of Religion, in order to prevent the Proteſtant Clergy from defending their Principles in the Pulpit, whilſt the Popiſh Prieſts were encouraged to attack them on all Sides. However, the Clergy of the Church of England, (without regarding the King's inſnaring Letter, or the Menaces attending it) to their immortal Honour be it remembered, laudably continued to exert themſelves in Defence of the Proteſtant Religion, and to detect the Errors of Popery, both in their Sermons and Writings, with greater Reſolution, than ever had at any other Time been done ſince the Reformation: Upon this Occaſion, the learned and ingenious Dr. Sharp, Rector of St. Giles's in the Fields, did ſignalize himſelf in an extraordinary Manner; which ſo inraged King James, that he ſent a Letter to the Biſhop of London, peremptorily commanding him, upon the Receipt thereof, to ſuſpend Dr. Sharp from preaching in any Church or Chapel in his Dioceſe, till he ſhould make Satisfaction for his bad Deportment.

The Biſhop perceiving the Deſign of the King's Letter was abſolutely to forbid all preaching againſt Popery, the Reſult whereof, in all Probability, would be the Suſpenſion of all the celebrated Preachers of the Kingdom: Wherefore our noble Prelate endeavoured to divert the impending Storm, by the following ſubmiſſive Letter to the Earl of Sunderland, to be communicated to the King, which he ſent by the pretended Aggreſſor, Dr. Sharp, to Hampton-Court, June 18, Anno 1686.

My Lord,

"I always have, and ſhall count it my Duty Ken. Hiſt. Eng.
"to obey the King in whatever Commands he lays
"upon me, that I can perform with a ſafe Con-
"ſcience; but in this I humbly conceive, I am
"obliged to proceed according to Law, and there-
"fore it is impoſſible for me to comply, becauſe,
"though his Majeſty commands me only to exe-
"cute his Pleaſure, yet, in the Capacity I am to
"do it, I muſt act as a Judge; and your Lord-
"ſhip knows no Judge condemns any Man be"fore he has Knowledge of the Cauſe, and has
"cited the Party. However, I ſent to Mr. Dean,
"and acquainted him with his Majeſty's Diſplea-
"ſure, whom I find ſo ready to give all reaſona-
"ble Satisfaction, that I have thought fit to make "him the Bearer of this Anſwer, from him that "never will be unfaithful to the King, nor other-
"wiſe than, &c."

No Anſwer could be obtained to this Letter; Ken. Hiſt. Engl.
therefore Dr. Sharp the Sunday following endeavoured to preſent a Petition to the King, which was rejected, on a Reſolution taken to execute the King's Diſpleaſure upon the Biſhop; and in order thereunto, Compton was cited to appear before the Commiſſioners of a new-erected, illegal and arbitrary Eccleſiaſtical High Commiſſion Court, held in the Council Chamber at Whitehall; where having accordingly appeared, and begged Copies of their Commiſſion and his Charge, both were unjuſtly denied, and only a Week's Time allowed him to prepare for his Trial, though at that Time there was not one Civilian in Town; wherefore his Lordſhip found himſelf neceſſitated humbly to apply for a longer Time; when after ſome Deliberation, the Commiſſioners returned him for Anſwer, that they were reſolved to allow him no Time to controvert their Commiſſion; but in other Matters granted him a Fortnight longer.

In the Interim, the Biſhop humbly applied for Ibid. Copies of the ſeveral Orders and Minutes that had had been taken relating to his Proceſs, which were likewiſe unjuſtly denied, though never refuſed in any Court of Juſtice. However, the Biſhop, at the Time and Place prefixed, appeared before the Commiſſioners, to offer his Plea to their Juriſdiction; which being rejected, he proteſted againſt their not receiving it; and offering divers other Things material to his Defence, they were likewiſe rejected, and the Commiſſioners in an arbitrary and illegal Manner proceeded to give Sentence; whereby the Biſhop was ſuſpended from the Function and Execution of his Epiſcopal Office, and all Eccleſiaſtical Juriſdiction, during the King's Pleaſure, upon Pain of Deprivation. However the puſillanimous King, not long after, thought proper to conſult Compton, and ſome of his Brethren, upon the threatened Invaſion from Holland; and they having faithfully delivered their Opinions at that critical Juncture, he thought proper to accept of their Advice, which at another Time would have been rewarded with Suſpenſions and Deprivations.

Our Prelate, ſoon after the Prince of Orange's Landing, ſeems to have changed his Croſier for a Sword; for, mounted on Horſeback, compleatly armed, he attended the Princeſs Anne (ſince Queen Anne) of Denmark in her Eſcape from Court to Nottingham, and afterward exerted himſelf in accompliſhing the Revolution, Anno 1688, the Fruits whereof he happily enjoyed till the Year 1713.

John Robinſon, at firſt Domeſtick Chaplain to the Engliſh Ambaſſador at the Court of Sweden, upon the Return of his Maſter to England, was appointed Reſident, and ſoon after Envoy Extraordinary, by King William, wherein he was continued by Queen Anne; by whom, upon his Arrival in England, he was made Dean of Windſor, Regiſter of the Garter, and Prebendary of Canterbury; and in the Year 1710, preferred to the See of Briſtol, and the Office of Lord Privy Seal, one of her Majeſty's Plenipotentiaries at the Congreſs of Utrecht, Privy Counſellor, and one of the Commiſſioners for building fifty new Churches within the Bill of Mortality; and upon the Deceaſe of Dr. Henry Compton, Anno 1713, was preferred to the See of London, wherein he died in the Year 1723.

Edmund Gibſon was in the ſame Year tranſlated from the See of Lincoln to this of London.

He was deſcended of honeſt Parentage in the County of Cumberland; and by his Learning ingratiated himſelf ſo thoroughly with Archbiſhop Teniſon, that he was admitted his Chaplain, made Rector of Lambeth, and by his Recommendation to King George I. conſecrated Biſhop of Lincoln, and thence tranſlated, as he ſays in his firſt Paſtoral Letter to the Clergy of London, without his own ſeeking to the See of London. He in his younger Days diſtinguiſhed himſelf among the Clergy, by ſeveral Pieces wrote in the Controverſy between the Archbiſhop and the Convocation: And afterwards by his Collection of the Eccleſiaſtical Laws in that voluminous Work, called by him the Codex. He publiſhed ſeveral Paſtoral Letters to the People of his Dioceſs of London, occaſioned by the Impiety of Woolſton's Writings, and the Enthuſiaſm of the Methodiſts; beſides ſome Pieces of Devotion. He died in the Year 1748, and is ſucceeded by Dr. Thomas Sherlock, tranſlated from the See of Saliſbury.

The Biſhoprick of London, conſiſting of the ancient Kingdom of the Eaſt-Saxons, is compoſed of the Counties of Middleſex, Eſſex, and Part of Hertfordſhire, and governed by a Biſhop, aſſiſted by a Dean, Precentor, Chancellor, Treaſurer, five Archdeacons, thirty Prebendaries, twelve Petty or Minor Canons, ſix Vicars Choral, a Sub-Dean and two Cardinals.

The Precentor or Chanter's Office is to ſuperintend the Church Muſick, who, as an Aſſiſtant, has a Sub-Chanter to officiate in his Abſence. To this Officer belongs the ſecond Stall on the North Side of the Choir, and whoſe Corps is in the Church of Stortford, whereof he is perpetual Rector, and Proprietor of the ſame, and Patron of the Vicarage. Newc. Repert.

The Chancellor was anciently called Magiſter Scholarum, from his having had the Charge of Literature within the City of London committed to him; whereby he was impowered to licence all the School-maſters in the City, except thoſe of St. Mary le Bow and St. Martin's le Grand; but at preſent he is only Secretary to the Chapter, has the third Stall on the North Side of the Choir, and his Corps in the Church of Borham and Yelling. Ibid.

The Treaſurer has the Cuſtody of every Thing of Value belonging to the Cathedral Church of St. Paul; for the faithful Keeping of which he is bound by Oath to the Dean and Chapter. This Officer has a Sacriſt for an Aſſiſtant, whom he preſents to the Dean for his Approbation, by whom he is admitted upon Oath for the faithful Diſcharge of his Office, which is to open the Church Doors at firſt ringing the Bell for Morning and Evening Prayers, and keeping in Order all things belonging to the Altar. Ibid.

The Sacriſt has three Servants under him called Vergers, who likewiſe keep Servants for cleanſing the Church, tolling the Bell, blowing the Organ Bellows, and other ſervile Buſineſs. Ibid.

The Treaſurer has the third Stall on the South Side of the Choir, and his Corps is in the Church of Pelham and Aldebri. Ibid.

The five Archdeaconries are of London, Eſſex, Middleſex, Colcheſter and St. Alban's.

The Appellation of Archdeacon is of primitive Antiquity, and whoſe Office it is annually to viſit the ſeveral Cures in their reſpective Archdeaconries, by inquiring into the Deportment of the ſeveral Incumbents, as well as Pariſh Officers, and with ghoſtly Advice to reform what is amiſs; and in Caſe of Contumacy, to inflict Pains and Penalties, for which he receives Procuration from every Pariſh Prieſt within his Juriſdiction. Ibid.

The thirty Canons or Prebendaries, with their Head the Biſhop, compoſe the Chapter, which manageth the Affairs of the Church: Theſe Canons have the Election both of Biſhop and Dean, yet nevertheleſs the ſeveral Prebends or Canonries are in the Collation of the Biſhop, and are as follow: Holiwell alias Finſbury, in the Pariſhes of St. Giles Cripplegate and Shoreditch; Chamberlain's-Wood, in the Pariſh of Willeſdon, in the County of Middleſex; Holbourn, in the Suburbs of London; Harleſton, in the Pariſh of Willeſdon, in Middleſex; Ibid.

Portpool, in the Pariſh of St. Andrew Holbourn, in Middleſex; Mora, in the Pariſh of St. Giles Cripplegate; Kentiſh-town, in the Pariſh of St. Pancras, in Middleſex; Twyford, in the Pariſh of Willeſdon, in Middleſex; Mapelſbury, in the Pariſh of Willeſdon in Middleſex; Oxgate, in the ſaid Pariſh of Willeſdon; Sneating, in the Pariſh of Kirkeby, in the County of Eſſex; Wenlakeſharn, in the Pariſh of St. Giles Cripplegate; Brownſwood, in the Pariſh of Willeſdon, aforeſaid; Rougemere, in the Pariſh of St. Pancras, aforeſaid; Eald-ſtreet or Old-ſtreet, in the Pariſh of St. Leonard Shoreditch, in Middleſex; Totenhall, or Totenham-court, in the Pariſh of St. Pancras, already named; Cadington Minor, in the Pariſh of Cadington, in Bedfordſhire; St. Pancras, in Middleſex; Reculverland, in the Pariſh of Tillingham, in the County of Eſſex; Wildland, in the ſaid Pariſh of Tillingham; Hoxton, in the Pariſh of Shoreditch, aforeſaid; Ealdland, in the Pariſh of Tillingham aforeſaid; Iſlington, in the County of Middleſex; Willeſdon, in the ſaid County; Conſumpt. per Mare, this Prebend was in the Pariſh of Walton or Waletome, on the Coaſt of Eſſex, three Miles North of the Gunfleet; but the ſame being ingulphed by the Sea, before the Conqueſt, the preſent Appellation ſerves to perpetuate the fatal Cataſtrophe; Bromeſbury, in the Pariſh of Willeſdon, above-mentioned; Neaſdon, in the ſaid Pariſh of Willeſdon; Stoke-Newington, in the County of Middleſex; Cadington Major, in the Manor of Aſtonbury, in the County of Bedford; and Chiſwick, in the County of Middleſex.

Newc. Repert. The Petty Canons, twelve in Number, ought to be choſen out of the Miniſters and Officers belonging to the Cathedral. They ſhould be of unſpotted Characters, with harmonious Voices, and good Judgment in Singing.

Ibid. Theſe Canons, after having had divers royal and other Benefactions conferred upon them, were, by Letters Patent of Richard the Second, Anno 1399, conſtituted a Body Politick and Corporate, by the Appellation of The College of the twelve petty Canons of St. Paul's; who are to have a common Seal, and one of their Number for a Warden.

Ibid. The Sub-dean, is, by the Dean, with the Aſſent of the Chapter, choſen out of the ſaid Petty Canons, whoſe Office it is to ſupply the Dean's Place in the Choir, to have a ſtrict Regard to the Deportment of the ſeveral Church Officers when on on Duty, and with proper Correction to redreſs what is amiſs.

There are likewiſe two Officers choſen out of the Petty Canons, by the Dean and Chapter, who are denominated Cardinals of the Choir; whoſe Office it is to ſuperintend the Behaviour and Attendance given by the ſeveral Officers belonging to the Choir; and to minute the ſeveral Crimes they are guilty of when on Duty, in order to their being corrected for the ſame by the Dean and Chapter.

CHAP. VI.

An Account of the Military Government of London.

Chron. Sax. THough the Origin of the Military Government of London cannot be aſcertained, it nevertheleſs appears to be of great Antiquity; for in the Year 896, the London Auxiliaries, having joined Alfred, marched to diſlodge the Danes from a Place in Hertfordſhire, ſuppoſed to have been the Town of Hertford. Therefore it is highly probable, that if a Military Government was not at firſt ſettled in this City by that great Prince; yet that the ſame was re-eſtabliſhed by by him after the Reduction thereof from the Danes, in the Year 883, I think may reaſonably be preſumed; ſince which Time, by the many gallant Actions performed by the Citizens, in the moſt dangerous Enterprizes, we may reaſonably conclude, that they have always had the greateſt Regard to the Support of the Military Art, ſeeing their Lives and Fortunes ſo often thereon depended.

But the Citizens being greatly harraſſed with inceſſant Exerciſes, and endleſs expenſive Muſters, occaſioned many of the moſt experienced in Military Diſcipline to form themſelves into a Company; which in leſs than two Years conſiſted of almoſt three hundred of the principal Citizens, who by their frequent Exerciſes, became ſuch Adepts in that Art, that they were capable of inſtructing others in all the Branches thereof; wherefore they aſſumed the Appellation of the Artillery Company.

In the Year 1585, a great Storm began to gather in Spain, which threatened no leſs than the intire Deſtruction of this Kingdom; divers Citizens of London, of great Experience in Military Affairs, were by Order of the Government taken out of this Company, and, to their great Honour, were appointed Officers in ſeveral Parts of the Kingdom; by whoſe Care and indefatigable Application, the Militia in moſt Parts were put into a good State of Defence.

In this Time of common Danger, the City of London, (not leſs mindful of the common Safety, than her above-mentioned brave Sons) the more effectually to prevent all ſudden and traiterous Attempts, that might be made by Papiſts and other Enemies of the Government in favour of the Spaniards, in the Year 1586, drew up the following Regulations, intituled,

The Manner of ordering the Citizens of London, to the Safe-keeping and Defence of that her Majeſty's City, againſt the traiterous and ſudden Attempts of all Conſpirators and Traitors whatſoever.

" 1. That every Alderman of his Warde, aſ-
" ſiſted with the graveſt Inhabitants there, do ga-
" ther and regiſter the Names of all ſuch Houſe-
" holders, their Children and Servants, as dwell
" in the ſame Warde, who openlye profeſſe and
" ſhewe themſelves to love the Goſpel, and hate
" Poperie, being of ſufficient Wealthe to mayn-
" teyne their own State, and able to beare
" Armes.

" 2. That of the moſt apte of thoſe Cittizens,
" there be choſen out for ſpecial Leaders (every
" of them to lead five and twenty of his Neigh" bours dwelling next him); and that there be
" ſo manye of thoſe Leaders, as after that Rate
" ſhall be ſufficient to lead four or five thouſand
" Men, or more, or leſs, as ſhall be thought
" meete; and that the ſaid Nomber of Men be
" choſen out of thoſe, to be regiſtred as afore-
" ſayd.

" 3. That of the moſt Valiant, Grave and
" Wiſe amonge the ſayd regiſtred Cittizens, there
" be

" be choſen Captaynes of Bandes, every of them " under ſeveral Enſignes; to receave Tenne of " the ſayd ſpeciall Leaders, with every of them " his five and twenty Men. So ſhall there be " two hundred and fifty Men under an Enſigne; " and that they have their ſeveral Enſignes ac- " cordinglye.

" 4. That of the ſayd Cittizens there be cho- " ſen to ſerve under everie ſuche of their Cap- " taynes. their ſeveral Lyvetenantes, Enſigne- " bearers, and Sergeantes, with a fit Drumſter: " And that there be aſſigned a Place certen " to every Captayne, whereunto he ſhall reſorte " upon any Sudden Alarme. And that he know " all his Officers, and thoſe petty Leaders eſpe- " ciallie appointed, to bring his Men thither to " him. And likewiſe, that thoſe Officers and Lea- " ders know the ſame Place, and their Captayne.

" 5. That after ſuche Election and Appoint- " ment as aforeſayd, everie one applye himſelf " to learn and know how to exerciſe their ſeve- " ral Offices and Roomes, as apperteyneth. And " that everie Houſholder have readie in his Howſe " all Weapons, and Furniture, for himſelf, and " thoſe of his Howſe to be appointed in his Service.

" 6. That the Watches for the Nighte be kepte " according to the former Order; but the ſame " to be of more ſufficient Perſons. And that eſ- " peciallie there be at every Gate a Watche, from " nine of the Clocke at Nighte till ſix in the " Morning, for the Wynter; and from ten to " five in the Sommer; and that the Portculliſes " at everie Gate be ſurveyed, and made readie to " uſe at any Suddeyn, yf any Nede be.

" 7. That inaſmuch as that Syde of the Cytie " next the River lyeth open; that therefore " from the Tower to Brydewell, they do appoint all " alongeſt a ſufficient Nomber of Watche-howſes; " and therein nightlie to be good Watches, to " come and continue as at the Gate. And that " all pryvate Kayes, Alleys, and Wharfes, dur- " ing the Howers aforeſayd, be cloſe ſhut upp.

" 8. That as thendes of Streets be prepared " Chaynes, as ſhall be thought needfull, for inter- " rupting thentrie and Paſſage of anye Adverſarie.

" 9. For quenching of ſudden Fiers, yt will be " neceſſarie to have a thowſand truſtie Perſons " to carry Leather Bucketts and Ladders; and " that to them of the graver Cittyzens, there be " appoynted Leaders, to lead them as Nede may " be, by hundreds and fifties, for to be ready to " releve anye fiered Place. And that likewiſe, " under like Leading, there be appointed five " hundred Pyoners, with Mattockes and Shovels, " ready to make Trenches, and Rampyers at " all Occaſions.

" 10. That the whole ordering and diſpoſing " of the Premiſes be at the Direction of the Lord- " Maior, Sheriffs and Aldermen, and ſuch grave " Perſons as they ſhall take and chuſe of the ſayd " Cytte to aſſiſte them; and ſo from Tyme to " Tyme, and not otherwiſe.

" 11. That upon any Alarme to be geven, " everye Captayne forthwith to repayre to his " appointed Place, and all his Officers and the " ſeveral Leaders, with their five and twenty " Men apeece, forthwith to reſort that Place, " to their ſpecial appointed Captayne. And two " of thoſe Captaynes being placed next to the " Lord-Maior's Howſe for the Tyme being, " with both their Bandes, to repayre ymmediately " to his Lordſhip. And to either of the She- " riffs in like ſorte, to repayre one ſeveral Cap- " tayne, with his ſeveral Bande; and all other " Captaynes and their Companies to remayne at " their appointed Places, till they receave Order " from the Maior. And that in ſuch caſe one " general Watch-word be geven to every Sol- " dyer; and that they have ſome ſpecial Token, " whereby everye of them may be knowen one " to another.

" 12. That upon any Shewe, or Suſpicon of " any dangerous Attempt deſcry'd or perceyved " by any of the Watches; that then forthwith " they ſhall geve Knowledge thereof to the Lord- " Maior, and Sheriffs, and to everye Alderman, " or his Deputie, in the ſeveral Wardes; that they " may call ſo many to Armes, as in caſe by them " ſhall be thought convenient and ſufficient.

" 13. That upon any Alarme, or Warning " geven, everie Inhabitant prepare and have rea- " die in his Howſe a Lanthorne with Lighte " ready to hang oute, when by Authoritie it " ſhall be ſo commanded.

" 14. That ſtraighte Order be taken, that yf " any Alarme be proclaymed, that no Maſters " of Houſes goe noe further than the Street Dores " of their Howſes; and that no Servante, or " other (upon grevous Payne) do then iſſue into " the Streete, except the Lord-Maior, Alder- " men, Sheriffs, Captaynes, Leaders, Officers " and Soldiers aforeſayd, and their Buketiers and " Pyoners, and their Leaders; and ſuche others " as ſhall be eſpeciallie called or commanded by " the Lord-Mayor or Sheriffes.

" 15. That one of the Watche-howſes at the " Waterſyde be nere the Engine there that ſerv- " eth the Cyttie with Water; for that above all " other is moſt preſent, and aboundant to that " Purpoſe, and moſt ready for quenching Fyer, " and therefore is ſpecially to be guarded.

" 16. That ſuch Recuſants as have greate " Houſes and Lodgings within the Liberties of " the Cittie; and likewiſe all dangerous and " ſuſpicious Perſons to the State, may by her " Majeſtie's Authority be remov'd from lodging " within the Walles of the Cittie (or Suburbs, " yf that may be); for thoſe Houſes are like " to harbour and cover dangerous Perſons, to be " nearer and readyer to make ſuddeyn Invaſion " upon the Cittie.

" 17. That ſome ſpecial Conſideration may " be had of all Strangers, having Howſes in the " City, and which are not of the French or Dutche " Churche; and that ſome Order may be ſette " downe, eſpeciallie concerning them, as in this " Tyme and State ſhall be found requiſite."

The Queen having received repeated Advices of the prodigious Preparations carried on in Spain, for the Reduction of England, occaſioned her Majeſty to redouble her Diligence in putting the Kingdom into a good State of Defence, but eſpecially her capital City of London; wherefore the Privy Council ordered Edmund York (a Gentleman, who, by his long Service in the Low Countries, had attained to a very great Knowledge in the the Art Military) to give his Opinion how the ſame could the moſt effectually be put in Execution. Wherefore York, in Obedience to their Lordſhips Order, drew up the following Rules, to be made uſe of for the better Defence of the City, in Caſe of Neceſſity.

An Order to be obſerved for the marſhalling of the City of London into a true Form of Diſcipline, to be uſed in Time of Occaſion.

" Conſidering the auncient Government of the " Citie hath alwayes depended on the Lord-Maior, " and his Brethren; which Courſe hath alwayes " been found ſo pleaſinge to our Prynces, and " liking to the People, as to alter were inconve- " nient; if therefore your Lordſhips ſhall pleaſe " rather to give them ſome Authority (by your " Directions) Marſhall, then to derogate anye " thinge from them, it will animate them in their " Accounts and Expences: Which Authoritie " ſhall contynew till her Majeſty and your Lord- " ſhips ſhall pleaſe to the contrary. Yet con- " ſideringe their Profeſſions and Nurritures not to " performe theſe Actions; therefore to joine unto " the Maior's Authority ſome Man of Judgment, " Experience, and Fidelitie, it were convenient, " as Marſhall; by whoſe Advice, with the Maior's " Conſent, all Cauſes Marſhall ſhall be directed: " Then a Serjeant-Maior and a Provoſt, the one " to marſhall the Men, and the other to do Juſ- " tice; wherein the French truly ſaith, that three " Things mayneteyne the Warres: Which is, " Bon Chief, Bonne Burſe, & Bon Burreau, mean- " ing Juſtice; all which may be well performed " in the Citie: For the Chief, or Marſhall, being " appointed by your Lordſhips, there is no doubt " of his Sufficiency, upon whom the greateſt " Weight of Burthen muſt lie. The Purſe, con- " ſidering the Charges ſo ſmall, it will ſoon be " performed. The Juſtice, by your Lordſhips " Directions, and the Provoſt's Diligence, ſhall " be duely adminiſtred. So as all Things ſhall " proceede to the Glory of God, to the Honour " of her Majeſtie, and to the Benefitt of the Peo- " ple. Object they canne not, for that the " Charges is defrayed by the Entertainment " only of three Perſons: So as no doubt of " the Allowance, in reſpect to Charges. For " infringing the Liberties and Privileges, your " Lordſhips do give them more than ever they " had. For Reputation and Truſt, her Majeſtie " and your Lordſhips do put Armes, and the " managing of Armes, into their Hands: So as " no doubt but of a moſt gracious Acceptance " and Acknowledgment of ſo an eſpeciall gracious " Favour and Truſt, and may juſtly ſaye them- " ſelves to be the happieſt People of the World, " in having ſo gracious a Prynce; who, contra- " rie to the Policie of all other Prynces, (who " diſarme their Subjects) doth put Armes, and " managing of Armes, into their Handes. O " bleſſed Prynce, and happie People! By how " much therefore are we more bound to her " Majeſtie, than any other Subjects of the World " to their Prince; by as much as our Lives, our " Wives, our Children, our Goods, our Free- " dome, and Poſterity is worth!

" The Marſhall, Sergeant-Maior, and Pro- " voſt, being by your Lordſhips appointed, the " firſt Thing they are to doe (after the receivinge " of their Commiſſions from your Lordſhips) is " to make a Review general of all the Armes and " Munition within the City and Suburbes, and " thereof to informe your Lordſhips.

" The next is, to make a Review of all the " Garners of Corne, as well in private Houſes, " as in common Magaſyns, not onelye of Corne, " but of all manner of Victuals, and thereof en- " forme your Lordſhips.

" Theſe Reviewes made by the Maior, his " Brethren, and Marſhall, (to whom all Proviſion " of Munition, Armes, and Victuall belongeth) " then ſhall they warne everie common Mer- " chant of Corne, to have ſuch a Quantity; and " to every common Baker and Brewer, to have " alwayes in a Readynes ſuch a Quantitie of " Corne, as he uttereth in forty Days, over and " above his ordinary uttering. And ſo ſhall " geve like Order of Proviſion to every ſeveral " Perſon, that lives and gaynes by ſelling of " Victuals. As for the Marchant of Armes and " Munitions, the Baker, the Brewer, the Butcher, " and all other Trades, have a contynual Getting; " ſo let them be bound to have an Overplus " alwayes in their Handes, to ſerve her Majeſtie, " and to ſuſteyne themſelves, upon any Occaſion " of Warres, Dearth, or the Suſtenance of di- " ſtreſſed Friendes.

" This done, the City ſhall be divided into " ſo many Quarters as there is fifteene hundreth " Men; in everie Quarter ſhall be choſen one " Colonell, a Man there dwellinge, and a Citi- " zen of Honeſtie, Reputation and Wealth, " elected by the Maior and Marſhall, (after your " Lordſhips Allowance) who ſhall have under " hym tenne Captaynes, all Dwellers in that " Quarter; and everie Captayne ſhall have a " hundreth and fiftie Men, all Inhabitants of " that Quarter; which ſhall be either the Houſ- " holder, his Sonne, or his continewed Ser- " vant. Provided that the Collonells be none " of the Aldermen; becauſe they are already " choſen to the Civill Government.

" The Regiment being all Dwellers together " in one Quarter, doth make the Collonell's Go- " vernment eaſye, and makes the Aſſemblye of " the Souldiers ſpeedie.

" The Collonells choſen, and the Quarters di- " vided, then ſhall everie Collonell chooſe ſix " Captaynes, which ſhall be allowed by the " Maior and Marſhall, (after they have inform- " ed your Lordſhips) being all Dwellers in the " Collonell's Quarter.

" After the Captaynes choſen, the Lord-Maior, " his Brethren, and the Marſhall, ſhall deliver " ſo many Houſeholders, their Sons, or con- " tynewed Servants, as will furniſh everye Cap- " tayne one hundred and fiftie Men with Wea- " pons, thus divided: That is, eight Halbar- " diers, ſixty armed Pikes, thirty Muſketeers, " and fiftie Harquebuſiers; and the two odd " Men ſhall be for the Sergeants. For to put " into theſe trayned Companyes any Archers, " or ſuperfluous Number of ſhort Weapons, it " were inconvenient; for that the Multitude, " upon any Alarum, will come furniſhed with " thoſe Weapons; and therefore to teach that " by Art, which Nature gives, were Tyme loſt;

" and

" and to charge a People with that which is not " wanting, were frivolous.

" The Companyes furniſhed, as aforeſayd, " then the Sergeant-Maior, or his Corporals, ſhall " viſit every Man's particular Furniture in their " private Houſes; as well to ſee the Goodneſs " of their Arms, as to ſee it in Order, leſt they " ſhould diſhonour their Commanders, for not " performing that which apperteynes to Men of " Judgment and Souldiers to doe.

" After your Armes provided and reviewed, " a Muſter-general of all the Army ſhall be held, " in ſome convenient Place; at which Muſters " ſhall only be the Shew of the Men, with their " Armes, without any Exerciſe; which ſhall be " held in the Preſence of ſuch honourable Per- " ſons as your Lordſhips ſhall appoint, joined " with the Maior, his Brethren, the Marſhall, " and Sargeant-Maior: At which Tyme, the " Marſhall, Sargeant-Maior, and Provoſt ſhall " be preſented unto all the Collonells, Captaynes, " and Souldiers, and theire Commiſſions pub- " liſhed.

" When your Collonells, Captaynes, and Soul- " diers know this, then everie Night, at ſix of " the Clock, ſhall five Companies of ſeveral " Regiments put themſelves in Armes; and ſo " with their Enſignes ſhall marche unto the " Exchange, and there ſtand in Battell a Quar- " ter of an Houre: To whom the Marſhall ſhall " come with the Word, which he ſhall take from " the Maior, who ſhall have it from her Majeſtie " (if ſhe be neare London); which the Marſhall " ſhall deliver to the Sargeant-Maior, with " great Duty and Reſpect; and who ſhall give " it to the Captain of the Watch, and to everie " Officer that is in Garde that Night. After the " Word delivered, a Prayer for her Majeſtie's " Eſtate and Kingdome, the Lord's Prayer ſhall " be ſayed. Then the Sargeant-Maior ſhall put " five Billets in a Hatt, which the Captaynes that " are in Garde drawe for their Places of gard- " inge; ſo as he that draweth the Billet of the " Exchange, ſhall that Night be Captaine of the " Watche; he that drawes the Billet of the " Bridge, ſhall garde it, and St. Catheryne's Gate " by the Tower; he that drawes Aldgate, ſhall " garde it, and Biſhopſgate; he that drawes Cre- " plegate, ſhall garde it, and Alderſgate; he that " draws Newgate, ſhall garde it, and Ludgate; " as for Moorgate, it is no Avenew, but a Paſ- " ſage, as the Poſterne and Graye-Fryers are. " Why I divide the Companyes into two Gardes, " is, for not overtoylinge the Souldiers, being " Men of Trade; for by this Meanes, they garde " but once in twenty Dayes, which elſe would " come everie tenne Dayes.

" When the Companyes are thus entered into " Garde, the chief Cor de garde, for the Cap- " taine of the Watche, ſhall be kept at the Ex- " change, by his whole Companye; and the " other Cor de gards, at the Gates, by Half- " Companyes. Upon everye Cor de garde, ſhall " contynually ſtand in Armes five or ſix Soul- " diers; who ſhall be relieved every Half-hour. " And conſidering the contynuall Stirringe and " Travayle that is in London, it ſhall not be in- " conyenient to ſhut the Gates till tenne of the " Clocke, or after; and then at eleven, to put " forth the Centinells; which ought to be placed " upon the Walles, as near as they may be; " and ſo ſhall ſtand centenelled tyll three in the " Morninge, and ſhall be changed everye " Houre; and everye Half-houre they ſhall " make the Round; which is the ſureſt Garde " in the World. But conſidering how impoſſi- " ble it is to place the Centenells, by reaſon " of the diſorderlye and dangerous Building of " Houſes, which are upon the Walles; by which " Meanes I have known many Townes ſur- " prized, and great Intelligence paſſed, to their " utter Ruine; for where your Centenells canne " not come to the Walles, nor your Round " have free Paſſage, it is impoſſible of any cer- " ten Safetie: Which Manner of Building ought " carefully to be looked unto, eſpecially in any " Place of Importance, as the Towere and ſuch " like Forts are. Therefore muſt the Centenells " be placed in the Streetes; who, after they " are once pozed, ſhall not ſuffer any to paſs " without the Worde. Which Manner of ſevere " Gardinge ſhall be uſed tyll the Companyes " have one all gone over: Which is onelye to " teache them to know how to ſtande upon " their Gardes; during which Tyme onelye the " Gattes ſhall be ſhutt, and the Keyes delivered " to the Maior; and no Man to come in, but " by Commandment from your Lordſhips, is as " good and orderly Forme, as in any Towne of " Warre.

" And the Orders and Ordynances for this " Diſciplyne ſhall be publiſhed by the Provoſt " that in offending no Man pleade Ignorance " hereafter. At this Muſter, a perfect Rolle " ſhall be made by ſome ſufficient Perſon, of all " Perſons and Weapons in their Army; which " ſhall be delivered to your Lordſhips, and re- " giſtred in Guildhall. And at theſe Muſters " everie Collonell ſhall bringe his Stampe and " Marke particular, with the which everie Cor- " ſlet, Pike, Harquebuze, Muſket, Murrion, " and Furniture of his Regiment ſhall be " marked, to avoyde this unmeete Lending of " Armes; whereby they neglect their Duties to " her Majeſtie, diſhonour their Commanders, " and utterly deceave themſelves. I remember " when I was firſt brought up in Piemount, in " the Count of Briſack's Regiment of the Old " Bandes, we had our particular Calibre of " Harquebuze to our Regiment; both that for " one Bullet ſhould ſerve all the Harquebuzes of " our Regiment, as for that our Collonell would " not be deceaved of his Armes: Of which " Worde of Calibre, came firſt this unapt Term " we uſe to call a Harquebuze a Calliver; " which is the Height of the Bullet, and not " of the Piece. Before the Battell of Moun- " gunter, the Prynces of the Religion cauſed ſe- " ven thouſand Harquebuzes to be made, all of " one Calibre; which were called Harquebuze du " Calibre de Monſieur le Prince. So as I think " ſome Man not underſtandinge Frenche, brought " hither the Name of the Height of the Bullet " for the Piece: Which Worde of Callibre, is " yet contynued with our good Cannoniers.

" After the Muſters paſſed, the Maior, the " Marſhall, and the Sargeant-Maior ſhall ride " round about the Citie, to ſee all the Wayes,

" or Avenues that come into the Towne, to " looke what Places are moſt fitt to place Gardes " upon, what Streetes are moſt convenient to " make Places of Armes, or Rendevous general, " for Aſſembly upon any Alarum in; which " I think will be moſt neceſſary in two Places: " That is, one Place of Aſſemblye ſhall be at " Leadenhall; which anſweres Aldgate, Biſhopſ- " gate, the Bridge, and directly into London. " The other ſhall be without Newgate; which " anſweres Holbourn, Smithfield, Ludgate, and " directly into London. To everie one of theſe " Rendevouſes ſhall, upon any Alarum, aſſemble " five Companies of five particular Regiments: " The other five Companies of every one of " thoſe five Regyments ſhall be thus employed; " that is, one Company ſhall go to Aldgate, an- " ther to Buſhopſgate, and the other three Com- " panyes of the Regyment ſhall ſtand in Armes " in their Quarter, tyll the Marſhall, or Sar- " geant-Maior ſhall command them; ſo as, " upon any ſodeyne Alarum, your Soldiers " knowe whither and how to aſſemble without " Confuſion; which is a Matter of great Weight. " By this Means, your Lordſhips have two " whole Companyes at everie Gate, twenty Com- " panyes at either of the Places of Aſſembly, " and one Companye in everye Streete of Ym- " portance in London.

" When your Collonells and Captaynes knowe " whither to aſſemble, upon any Alarum, (with- " out Confuſion) which ſhall be ſhewed by the " Marſhall, or Sargeant-Maior; then ſhall the " Sargeant-Maior, and his Corporalls, have five " Companyes everie Day abroade, in ſome pri- " vate Place, to teache them to weare their Fur- " nitures, and to uſe their Armes; ſo as in " twenty Dayes the whole fifteen thouſand " will know how to weare theire Furniture, " and to carrye theire Armes, (which Number " I eſteeme eaſye to be leavyed, of the beſt and " honeſteſt Sort) which is aſmuche as for this " Tyme is requiſite.

" As you have here the Forme, howe theſe " Companyes ſhall enter into Garde, how to " divide themſelves to their Gardes, howe to " place theire Centenells, and how to make the " Ground (which Forme ſhall everye Night be " obſerved; and when the Drums ſounde, to " put the Companyes that enter into Garde in " Armes); then ſhall the Companyes that are in " Garde put themſelves in Armes, and ſo ſtand " upon theire Cordegarde, tyll the Companye " that enters into Garde, be poſſeſſed of the " Cor de garde. Then ſhall they depart, and " marche orderlye to garde home their Colours: " All which is onelye done to teache your " Captaynes, Officers, and Souldiers, to knowe " how to enter into Garde, how to place their " Gardes; which is the moſt aſſuredſt Thinge " that ever was devized for the Safetie of " anye Citie, Town, Place, Camp or Armye; " which in the open Field, without any Covert " in the World, of Wall, Trench, or Carriage, " will be as orderly and ſafely performed, as " in any Towne, if the Maiſter of the Campe " have Judgment in placing of the Armye, and " the Sargeant-Maior Diſcretion in placing of " the Gardes.

" By this Meanes, there is everie Night at " at ſix of the Clock, tenne Enſignes marching " in London; which is drawen out of ſeveral " Regyments, and ſeveral Quarters, to make " the greater Stirring, and greater Showe. And " becauſe Townes Men love Eaſe and Profit; " therefore there ſhall onely remayne all Night, " twenty-five at everye Gate, and fifty at the " Exchange; ſo as they enter into Garde but " once every twenty Dayes, and ſtand upon " theire Garde but once in ſixty Dayes, which " is notinge.

" When the Gates, and chief Bodie of the " Watche by the Exchange is poſſeſſed, (for that " you muſt never carrye out your Souldiers, but " that you are firſt poſſeſſed of your Gardes, for " the Aſſurance of your Retreate) then ſhall the " Sergeant-Mayor have five Companies every " Day abroade, and the Sargeant-Maior of " everye Regyment ſhall have one Companye " abroad; to teach them to uſe theire Armes, to " march, aſſayle, defend; ſo by this meanes " there is everye Day in armes nine particular " Companyes, with theire Sargeant-Maior, and " five Companyes with the Sargeant-Major Ge- " neral, and tenne Companyes entering into " Garde, and in Garde; ſo that there is twenty- " four Companyes everie Day in Armes.

" Once everie twentie Days, the Marſhal and " Sergeant-Maior ſhall have one whole Regyment " abroad, to teache them to marche, and range " them in Battell, and to uſe their armes; and " once everye two Months, the Maior, the Mar- " ſhall, the Sergeant-Maior, and the Provoſt, " ſhall have all the Armye abroad for two Days " (ſaving the Companies in Garde, and thoſe " that muſt enter the next Dayes into Garde; " for you muſt never leave the Gardes unguarded, " or unprovided of thoſe that ſhall ſuſteyne " the Gardes; whereby they ſhall knowe how to " marche, how to garde in Camp, how to range " in Batell, and how to lodge in the Feeld; for " on theire Marches it were good they ſhould " learne how to marche in Covert and Cham- " pion, how to attack a Skyrmiſe, how to range " ſoddenly in Battell, and how to aſſayle and de- " fend; ſo as if her Majeſtie, upon any ſodden " Occaſion, ſhall pleaſe to uſe this Armye, they " are at all Tymes readie to marche, and know " how to marche, how to lodge, how to garde, " and how to uſe theire Armes, and (which " is more) knowe how to command, and how to " obey; which is onely brought unto them by " her Majeſtie's great Care, and ſpecial Favour " and Truſt, with your Lordſhip's Directions, " and not anye wayes to theire Charges; for " they onelye are charged with the Enterteynment " of three Perſons. Synce therefore it pleaſeth " her Majeſtie and your Lordſhips, to laye upon " upon them this eſpeciall Honour and Truſt, " as to make the Maior Lieftenant, in making " Collonells, Captaynes, Officers and Souldiers, " being all Citizens, is ſuche an Honour, ſuch " a Truſte, and ſuche a gracious Favour, as ne- " ver happened unto anye People, neither was " the like ever heretofore done unto them, or " anye other, by anye Prynce.

" As your Lordſhips have provided for the " marſhalling of the Citie, ſo to prevent anye " Incon-

" Inconvenience that by anye Foreign Enemy " may happen, which no wayes canne annoye " London, (in reſpect of the Multitude of People " therein) but by ſome ſoodeyne Attempt, which " may breede a verye great Amazement and " Fright, with moſt aſſured Daunger: If there- " fore, to prevent anye ſoodeyn Furye, either " of Horſe or Foot, your Lordſhips ſhall pleaſe " to give Directions, that at everie End of everie " Suburbe, there be thirty or forty emptye " Pipes, which ſhall be kept in ſome Place " tyll Occaſion ſerve, and then to place them " in ſuch Manner, (as I will hereafter ſhew unto " your Lordſhips, when it ſhall pleaſe you to " command) ſo as a hundred ſhall withſtand anye " two thouſond, till further Ayde ſhall be in a " Readynes.

" My Meaning is not, that theſe Forces con- " tinually uſe this Trayning and Gardinge, but " onlye during ſuch Tyme as your Lordſhips " ſhall beſt like; and that they be once well and " orderly marſhalled, and reduced into good " Form, being divided into Regyments and " Companyes; that every Capteyne may know " his Collonell, everie Souldier know his Cap- " teyne and Officer, whither to aſſemble upon " anye Alarum, and how to aſſemble, to avoyde " that dangerous Miſchief of aſſembling in Con- " fuſion, and to put them in true Order and " Forme of the Uſe of theire Armes, and in " theire Gardes. So as if at any Inſtant here- " after, her Majeſtie and your Lordſhips ſhall " pleaſe to uſe theire Service, they are at all " Tymes readie without further Direction or " Trouble to performe theire Duties, and to " obey her Majeſty and your Lordſhips Com- " mandements, havynge only a Sargeant and " two Corporalls to every Regyment; which " three ſhall bringe the whole Regyment in " order, being Souldiers of worth; without the " which, it is impoſſible to reduce them into anye " Order; ſo as by this meanes her Majeſtie ſhall " contynuallie have thirty Souldiers of worth in a " readyneſs.

" Thus to obey your Honours Commande- " ments, I ſhew my Wants, which I will rather " do then diſobey you, knowing your honourable " Vertues ſuch, and your Care of me ſo favou- " rable, as that which is ſuperfluous you will " forget, and that which is wanting, you will " with your honourable Favour help: Being " therefore neither Scholar nor Learned, I hope " your Honours will bear with my Imperfecti- " ons; but fearing you ſhould try the Opinion " of a great Man of Warre, who ſayed, a " Souldier ought never to be without his Sword " or his Penne in his Hand, (meaning in Tyme " of Warre to follow thoſe Accounts, and in " Tyme of Peace, or idle Tyme, which I have, " whereof I am aſhamed) to obſerve that which " by Experience he hath learned, wherein I finde " my ſelf farre unable to accompliſh your Lord- " ſhips Expectation; yet rather than neglect my " Dutie, I bewraye my Ignorance. Thus be- " ſeeching God to geve you long Life, and greate " Honour, I commit your Lordſhips to his Tui- " tion, and my ſelf to your Direction, this Day " of March, 1588, &c."

The Danger being over, (by the Deſtruction of the Spaniſh Fleet, which from its vaſt Number of Ships of great Force, was ſtiled The Invincible) the laudable Practice of inſtructing the Citizens in the Art Military, was diſcontinued till the Year 1610, when it was revived, and the Promoters thereof, to encourage Practitioners in that Art, erected a handſome Armoury, and furniſhed it with a Variety of Arms; and, reaſſuming the antient Appellation of the Artillery Company, increaſed to ſuch a Degree, that in the late Civil War they ſupplied the Parliament with a great Number both of Officers and Soldiers, who for Courage and Conduct were not to be excelled.

At preſent the Military Government of London is managed by a Lieutenancy, which is compoſed of a certain Number of Citizens, the principal whereof are the Lord-Mayor and Aldermen: The Commiſſioners appoint the Officers for the City Trained Bands, who are ranked into ſix Regiments; firſt, the Blue, containing eight Companies and 1411 Men; ſecond, the Green, eight Companies and 1566 Men; third, the Yellow, eight Companies and 1526 Men; fourth, the Orange, eight Companies and 1740½ Men; fifth, the White, eight Companies and 2088½ Men; ſixth, the Red, eight Companies and 1630 Men; including Officers and Drums.

In the out Parts, not ſubject to the Government of the City, there is alſo a Military Government in this Form:

Two Regiments of Trained Bands belonging to the Tower Hamlets; the firſt Regiment containing 2299½ Men; the ſecond 1898 Men; including Officers and Drums.

Two Regiments of Trained Bands belonging to the City of Weſtminſter, and County of Middleſex: The Weſtminſter Regiment containing twelve Companies and 4182 Men; the Middleſex Regiment nine Companies and 2597 Men.

Beſides the above-ſpecified eleven Regiments of Trained Bands, the Artillery Company, of about four hundred Men, is ſtill ſubſiſting, and ſerves as a Nurſery of Officers for the ſaid Regiments; whereby it appears, that the Number of Troops for the Defence of this City and Suburbs amount to twenty-four thouſand ſix hundred and twenty-one.

BOOK V.

Containing an Account of the City-Incorporations, its Commerce, and the ſeveral Offices, &c. thereon depending.

CHAP. I.

An Account of the ſeveral Incorporations of the Arts and Myſteries of the Citizens of London; the twelve firſt whereof are ſet down according to Precedence, and the others in alphabetical Order digeſted, with their reſpective Numbers, ſhewing their ſeveral Degrees of Pre-eminence.

Tac. Ann. lib. 14. THO' London had not then the Honour of being called a Colony, it was nevertheleſs much celebrated for its great Commerce and Number of Merchants, in the Year, according to the Chriſtian Æra, 63.

Bed. Eccleſ. Hiſt. One of the moſt antient Engliſh Hiſtorians tells us, that this Metropolis, in the Year 604, was famous for being the Mart of many Nations that traded hither by Sea.

Spel. Concil And for the greater Encouragement of the Trade and Navigation of this City and Kingdom, King Ethelſtan, in the Year 928, made a Law, that, If a Merchant on his own Account make three Voyages into the Straights, he ſhall be advanced in Honour, and enjoy the Privilege of a Gentleman. And as an Encouragement to Foreign Merchants to frequent the Ports of this Kingdom, it was granted by Henry III. in his great Charter, that they (excluſive of ſuch as were previouſly precluded) ſhould not only have free Egreſs and Regreſs from and to all the Ports of the Kingdom, but likewiſe the Liberty of travelling into all Parts thereof, to negotiate their Trade, Toll-free, except in Time of War.

Mag. Chart.

Mad. Firm. Burg. GUILDS, COMPANIES, or INCORPORATIONS were antiently either Secular or Religious, eſtabliſhed by the King.

Ibid. The Secular Guilds were either Guilda Mercatoria, a Merchant-Guild, or Gilda Mercatorum, a Guild of Merchants, Tradeſmen and Artizans; each of which Guilds were compoſed of an Alderman, Chaplain, Eſchevins, Elders and inferior Members, as appears by a Convention made between the Dean and Canons of St. Martin's le Grand, and the Guild or Company of Sadlers, towards the Cloſe of the twelfth Century. And the Religious Guilds, founded for Devotion and Almſdeeds, conſiſted of an Alderman, Maſter, Brothers and Siſters.

That Guilds or Gilds are of great Antiquity in this City, is apparent by the Devotional Guilds of St. Andrew Wardrobe, St. Dunſtan's in the Eaſt, and St. Laurence Poulteney. But that the Secular are of a more antient Date, is manifeſt from the Companies of Weavers and Bakers.

And as the ſaid Guilds are the Baſis of Commerce, I ſhall give an Account of the ſeveral Companies and Fellowſhips of Trades belonging to the Citizens; and by proper Numbers ſhew their reſpective Precedence.

Mercers, 1.

Rec. Tur. Pat. 17 Rich. II. p. 2. m. 4. This Company was incorporated by Letters Patent of the ſeventeenth of Richard II. Anno 1393, by the Name of The Wardens and Commonalty of the Myſtery of the Mercers of the City of London; with a Licence to purchaſe in Mortmain an Eſtate of twenty Pounds per Annum; which, by numerous Gifts, and additional Grants, did ſo vaſtly increaſe, that when the Company, in the Year 1698, accepted of Dr. Aſhton's Project for providing a Maintenance for Clergymen's Widows, &c. they ſettled for that Purpoſe a Fund of about fourteen thouſand Pounds per Annum, for ſecuring to the Widow of each Subſcriber thirty per Cent. per Annum, during Life. But the Company ſoon perceiving that this was more than they could afford to pay, reduced the ſame to twenty Pounds per Annum for each hundred Pounds. Thus ſtood the State of theſe Annuities in the Year 1738. But in the Year 1750, 24 George II. the Circumſtances of the Company failing, an Act of Parliament was obtained for their further Relief. The Revenues of this Corporation ſeem to be better applied than ſome of the other Incorporations of this City; for the Members of the Company are not only exempt from Quarterage, but at their Admiſſion upon the Livery pay only a Fine of two Pounds thirteen Shilling and four Pence. Excluſive of the above-mentioned great annual Income, the Company pay in charitable Benefactions about three thouſand Pounds per Annum.

Ac. Aſhton's Propoſals.

Clerk. Retur. Parl. and cruc. Chamb. Lond. The Fraternity is governed by a Prime and three other Wardens, and forty Aſſiſtants, with two hundred and thirty-two Liverymen, who pay a Fine at their being admitted as abovementioned. They have a ſtately Hall in Cheapſide, to manage their Affairs in.

Grocers, 2.

Stow. Sur. Lond. This Fraternity, antiently denominated Pepperers, having changed their Name to that of Grocers, were, under that Denomination, incorporated by Letters Patent of Edward the IIId, Anno 1345, by the Name of The Wardens and Commonalty of the Myſtery of the Grocery of the City of London; which was confirmed by Henry VI. Anno 1429.

Rec. Tur. Pat. 7. Hen. VI. p. 1. m. 25. Rec Roll. Pat. 15. Car. p. 4. no. 3. Theſe Grants were confirmed by a new Charter of Charles I. in the Year 1640, with an additional ditional Power of ſearching and inſpecting the Goods and Weights of all Grocers within the City and Suburbs of London, and three Miles round the ſame. They had antiently the Management of the King's Beam in this City, with a Right of appointing a Maſter-weigher and four Porters to attend it.

Cler. Retur. Parl. & Scrut. Chamb. Lond.

This Company conſiſts of a Prime and three other Wardens, fifty-two Aſſiſtants, and one hundred and twenty-ſeven Liverymen, whoſe Fine upon Admiſſion, is twenty Pounds. They have a ſpacious Hall in Grocers-alley, wherein they treat of their Affairs; with a great Eſtate, out of which is yearly paid to the Poor about ſeven hundred Pounds.

Drapers, 3.

Rec. Tur. Pat. 17. Hen. VI. p. 1. m. 15.

This Society was incorporated by Letters Patent of Henry VI. Anno 1439, by the Title of The Maſter, Wardens, Brethren and Siſters of the Guild or Fraternity of the bleſſed Mary the Virgin, of the Myſtery of Drapers of the City of London. At which Time their Arms were granted by Sir William Brugges, Garter King at Arms; and confirmed by Clarencieux King at Arms, Anno 1561.

Stryp. Ed. Stow. Sur.

Clerk. Retur. Parl. & Scrut. Chamb. Lond.

The Fraternity is governed by a Maſter, four Wardens and thirty Aſſiſtants; and the Number of Members upon the Livery are one hundred and forty; who, when admitted, pay a Fine of twenty-five Pounds. They have a magnificent Hall in Throgmorton-ſtreet, to manage their Affairs in; and pay to charitable Uſes about four thouſand Pounds per Annum.

Fiſhmongers, 4.

Act. Parl. 7 Ric. II.

The Fiſhmongers, as well as the other Victuallers of this City, were antiently under the immediate Direction of the Court of Lord-Mayor and Aldermen, which Power was confirmed to the ſaid Magiſtrates by Act of Parliament, in the ſeventh of Richard II. Anno 1384.

The Dealers in Fiſh of this City then conſiſted of two Communities, viz. The Salt-Fiſh and Stock-Fiſhmongers; the former were incorporated by Letters Patent of the eleventh of Henry VI. Anno 1433, and the latter by Charter of the twenty-fourth of Henry VII. Anno 1509. But this Diviſion proving prejudicial to the Profeſſion in general, they united, and were incorporated by Letters Patent of the twenty-eighth of Henry VIII. Anno 1536, by the Appellation of The Wardens and Commonalty of the Myſtery of Fiſhmongers of the City of London.

However, this Company does not appear to have been incorporated, till about the Year 1307, by Letters Patent of Edward II. which Charter was renewed by Henry VII. and and confirmed by divers of his Succeſſors. But when, or by whom their Arms were at firſt granted, does not appear; tho' it muſt have been Barber-Surgeons, 17.

The Art of Surgery, anciently, being ſolely practiſed by the Barbers of this City, they were, by Letters Patent of Edward the Fourth, Anno 1461, incorporated by the Name of The Maſters, or Governors of the Myſtery or Commonalty of the Barbers of London.

Act Parl. 3 H. VIII. Sometime after, others aſſuming the Practice of Surgery, the Barbers, in the third of Henry the Eighth, Anno 1512, obtained an Act of Parliament, to prevent all Perſons from practiſing Surgery, within the City of London and ſeven Miles of the ſame.

Ibid. In the ſixth Year of the ſaid Reign, Anno 1515, the practiſing Barbers, or Surgeons of this City, in Number nineteen, were, in Conſideration of their conſtant Attendance upon Patients, not only by Parliament exempted from ſerving Ward and Pariſh Offices, but likewiſe from all Military Services.

Ibid. By Virtue of the firſt-mentioned Act of Parliament, divers Perſons (not Barbers) being examined and admitted as Practitioners in the Art of Surgery, they ſoon erected themſelves into a Society, ſeparate from that of Barbers; which the Parliament taking into Conſideration, for their mutual Intereſt, united them, by the Appellation of The Maſters, or Governors of the Myſtery or Commonalty of Barbers and Surgeons of London. And as the ſaid Act ſtrictly injoins all Perſons practiſing the Art of Shaving, not to intermeddle with that of Surgery, except what belongs to the drawing of Teeth; ſo does it likewiſe all Surgeons, from following the Practice of Shaving.

Ibid. However, all the above-mentioned Encouragements could not prevent the Surgeons from falling into a ſcandalous Ignorance and Extortion, whereby the Lives of many were deſtroyed, and the Subſtance of others baſely extorted. Yet nevertheleſs they ſhamefully continued to harraſs Perſons more worthy and ſkilful than themſelves; and that for no other Reaſon, than their extenſive Charity and univerſal Benevolence, in adminiſtring proper Remedies to Objects of Commiſeration, at their own Expence. Which the Parliament in the Year 1544, taking into conſideration, occaſioned their laying open the Practice of Surgery, as an Encouragement for all Perſons ſkilled in the Nature of Herbs, Roots, and Waters, to exert themſelves in the Exerciſe thereof, for the Relief and Cure of wounded and diſtreſſed Objects of Compaſſion.

All which will appear more fully by the Preamble of the following Act of Parliament, 18 Geo. II. wereby the ſaid Corporation of Barber-Surgeons is diſſolved.

" of London; any Law, Uſage, or Cuſtom to " the contrary thereof in any wiſe notwith- " ſtanding."

The Company of Barbers are poſſeſſed of their former magnificent Hall in Monckwell-ſtreet, to tranſact their Affairs in: And the Company of Surgeons have built a new and elegant Hall in the Old-Bailey, where they have a Theatre for the Diſſection of human Bodies; all Parts whereof are explained by an anatomical Lecture, for the Inſtruction of the juvenile Part of the Science.

Baſket-Makers, 52.

This is a Fraternity by Preſcription, and not by Charter; but when, or by whom erected into a Fellowſhip, is unknown: However it has the Honour of being reckoned one of the City Companies, by the Title of The Wardens, Aſſiſtants, and Freemen of the Company of Baſket-makers of the City of London.

This Community is governed by two Wardens and forty-eight Aſſiſtants, but has neither Livery, nor Hall to manage their Affairs in.

Black-ſmiths, 40.

Rec. Roll. Pat. 13. Eliz. p. 4.

This ancient Guild, or Fraternity continued ſo by Preſcription, till incorporated by Letters Patent of Queen Elizabeth, 20, April Anno 1571, by the Style or Title of The Keepers, or Wardens and Society of the Art and Myſtery de lez Blackſmiths, London; which was confirmed by King James the Firſt.

Clerk. Return. Parl. and Scrut. Chamb. Lond.

This Corporation is governed by a Maſter, three Wardens, and twenty-one Aſſiſtants; to which belongs a Livery of two hundred and twenty Members, whoſe Fine is eight Pounds; with a pleaſant Hall on Lambert-Hill, for the Diſpatch of their Affairs.

Bowyers, 38.

Rec. Roll. Pat. 18. Jac. I. p. 18. no. 19.

This was a Fraternity by Preſcription, till the 18th of James the Firſt; who incorporated the ſame by his Letters Patent 25 May, Anno 1620. By the Name of The Maſter, Wardens and Society of the Myſtery of Bowyers of the City of London.

That the incorporating of this Fraternity ſhould be deferred to this Time, is ſomewhat ſurprizing; tho' not ſo much, as that of its being incorporated then, when the Military Engine called the Bow was almoſt rendered uſeleſs, by the Invention of Fire-Arms.

The firſt Mention I find of this Fraternity is in the Reign of Edward the Fourth; when the Prices of the beſt Bow-ſtaves were, by Act of Parliament, fixed at three Shillings and four-pence each. But this not anſwering according to Expectation, the ſame was repealed in the Year 1560, when the Prices of the ſeveral Sorts of Bows were ſettled by Parliament, as followeth: viz. each Bow of the beſt foreign Yew, at ſix Shillings and eight Pence; the ſecond Sort, three Shillings and four Pence; and the coarſer Sort, and thoſe made of Engliſh Yew, at two Shillings.

This Company, for the Management of their Affairs, have a Maſter, two Wardens, and twelve Aſſiſtants; with thirty Liverymen, each whereof, at the Time of his Admiſſion, pays a Fine of eight Pounds. They have at preſent no Hall, tho' anciently they had one in Noble-ſtreet.

Brewers, 14.

Rec. Tur. Pat. 16. Hen. VI. p. 1. m. 1.

This Company was incorporated by Letters Patent of the ſixteenth of Henry the Sixth, Anno 1438, by the Appellation of The Maſter, and Keepers or Wardens and Commonalty of the Myſtery, or Art of Brewers of the City of London; which were confirmed by Edward the Fourth, in the Year 1480, with an additional Privilege of making By-laws.

Stryp. Ed. Stow. Sur.

This Corporation anciently bore the Arms of Thomas a Becket, (ſometime Archbiſhop of Canterbury) impal'd with their own; from which they were ſeparated by Clarencieux King at Arms, Anno 1544, in lieu of which he added a Creſt to theirs.

Clerk. Retur. Parl. and Scrut. Chamb. Lond.

This Company is governed by a Maſter, three Wardens, and twenty-eight Aſſiſtants; with a Livery of one hundred and Eight of their Members, who, upon their Admiſſion into the ſame, pay each the Sum of ſix Pounds, thirteen Shillings and four Pence. They have a handſome Hall in Addle-ſtreet, to tranſact their Affairs in.

Broderers, 48.

Rec. Roll. Pat. 3. Eliz. p. 6.

This Society was incorporated by Letters Patent of the Third of Elizabeth, 25 October, Anno 1591, by the Name of The Keepers, or Wardens, and Company of the Art or Myſtery of the Broderers of the City of London.

Clerk. Retur. Parl. and Scrut. Chamb. Lond.

They are governed by two Keepers or Wardens, and forty Aſſiſtants; and the Livery conſiſts of one hundred and fifteen Members, whoſe Fine, upon Admiſſion, is five Pounds. They have a ſmall, but convenient Hall in Gutter-lane, to manage their Affairs in.

Butchers, 24.

Mad Firm Burg.

This appears to be a very ancient Fraternity; for in the twenty-ſixth of Henry the Second, Anno 1180, it was fined in the Exchequer, as an Adulterine Guild, for being ſet up without the King's Licence. However, it was not incorporated till the Third of James I, who by his Letters Patent 16 September, Anno 1605, incorporated the ſame by the Title of The Maſter, Wardens, and Commonalty of the Art or Myſtery of Butchers of the City of London.

Rec. Roll. Pat. 3. Jac. p. 14.

Clerk. Retur. Parl. and Scrut. Chamb. Lond.

This Corporation conſiſts of a Maſter, five Wardens, twenty-one Aſſiſtants, and two hundred and fourteen Liverymen, who pay a Fine of two Pounds each, upon their Admiſſion into the Livery; and to which belongs a very neat and convenient Hall in Pudding-lane, to diſpatch their Affairs in.

This Corporation is governed by a Maſter, two Wardens, and eighteen Aſſiſtants; but have neither Livery, nor Hall to tranſact their Affairs in.

Carmen, 89.

Strvp. Ed. Stow. Surv.

In the Reign of Henry the Eighth, the Carmen, by an Act of Common Council, were conſtituted a Fellowſhip of this City; and by Letters Patent of James the Firſt, Anno 1606, were incorporated with the Fraternity of Fuellers, under the Appellation of Wood-mongers, with whom they continued till the Year 1668, when the Wood-mongers were by Parliament convicted of many enormous and grievous Frauds in the Sale of Coals, and other Fuel; and being apprehenſive of a Puniſhment adequate to their deteſtable Crimes, threw up their Charter to avoid the ſame. Whereupon the Carmen were, by an Act of Common Council, re-appointed a Fellowſhip of this City, under the Title of The Free Carmen of the City of London.

They are governed by a Maſter, two Wardens, and forty-one Aſſiſtants; under the Direction of the Court of Lord-Mayor and Aldermen; but have neither Hall, nor Livery.

To this Fellowſhip belong four hundred and twenty Cars, or Carts, for the carrying of Goods and Merchandize to and from all Parts within the City and Suburbs; the Rule and Government of which are, by an Act of Common Council, veſted in the Preſident and Governors of Chriſt's Hoſpital, under the following Regulations and Reſtrictions.

1. That no more than four hundred and twenty Cars, or Carts, be allowed to work within the City of London, and Liberties thereof; every Perſon preſuming to work a ſupernumerary Car, or Cart, contrary to the Tenor of this Injunction, ſhall, for every ſuch Offence, forfeit forty Shillings.

2. That no Car, or Cart, be kept by any Wharfinger, Wood-monger, &c. but ſuch as ſhall be duely licenſed by the Preſident and Governors of the aforeſaid Hoſpital, upon Penalty of forty Shillings.

3. That a Fine of twenty Shillings be paid upon the Admittance, or Alienation of every Car or Cart; and that each of the Owners thereof do annually pay to the Preſident and Governors of Chriſt's Hoſpital, for a Licence to work, the Sum of ſeventeen Shillings and four Pence; in default of which, every Offender to be ſuſpended, and diſabled from working.

4. And for the more effectual preventing all Abuſes and Impoſitions upon the Citizens, by the Carmen, or Workers of the ſaid Carts, every Car, or Cart, is to have a Number cut in Braſs put upon it. And the following Rates, or Prices, aſcertained by an Act of Common Council, are to be paid for the Carriage of Goods from and to the under-mentioned Places: viz.

1. From any Wharf between the Tower and London-bridge, to Tower-ſtreet, Gracechurch-ſtreet, Fenchurch-ſtreet, Leadenhall-ſtreet, Cornhill, Biſhopſgate-ſtreet within, and Places of the like Diſtance, up-hill, with 1800 Weight, not exceeding 2000 Weight, two Shilling and two Pence. And being above 2000 Weight, two Pence for every hundred. Provided the Carmen for this Rate, and all other Rates herein contained, help to load and unload their Carts.

2. From any Wharf aforeſaid, to Broad-ſtreet, Lothbury, Old-Jewry, Baſſiſhaw, Coleman-ſtreet, Ironmonger-lane, St. Laurence-Jewry, Milk-ſtreet, Aldermanbury, Cheapſide, Wood-ſtreet, Friday-ſtreet, Bread-ſtreet, and Places of like Diſtance, for the like Weight as aforeſaid, two Shillings and ſix Pence.

3. For every Half-Chaldron of Coals, and for every Hundred of Faggots, one Shilling and four Pence.

4. From any of the Wharfs aforeſaid, to Smithfield-bars, Holbourn-bars, Temple-bar, or any of the Bars on the North Side of the City, and Places of like Diſtance, up the Hill, with 1800 Weight, for every Load, three Shillings and four Pence. And going beyond the ſaid Places, the Parties to agree with the Carmen.

5. From any of the Wharfs aforeſaid, to Tower-ſtreet, Fenchurch-ſtreet, Leadenhall-ſtreet, Biſhopſgate-ſtreet, &c. with a Load of 1500, not exceeding 1800 Weight, one Shilling and eight Pence, and ſo in Proportion for the reſt.

They are governed by a Maſter, three Wardens and twenty Aſſiſtants, who have a Livery of two hundred and forty-four of their Members, whoſe Fine of Admiſſion is fifteen Pounds; with a ſtately Hall in Baſinghall-ſtreet to tranſact their Affairs in.

Cordwainers, 27.

Rec. Tur. Pat. 11. Hen. IV. p. 1. m. 9.

This Fraternity was incorporated by Letters Patent of the eleventh of Henry the Fourth, Anno 1410, by the Name of Cordwainers and Coblers, the latter whereof at that Time was no deſpicable Epithet, as at preſent; for the genuine Meaning thereof then was, that it not only ſignified a Shoe-maker, but likewiſe a Seller or Dealer in Shoes; for it does not appear that the Word Shoe maker was then in Uſe.

Some Time after, the Faſhion of Shoes was ſo prepoſterous, that it occaſioned the making of an Act of Parliament to reſtrain the ſame, wherein it was enacted, that no Cordwainer or Cobler within the City of London, or three Miles of the ſame, ſhall make any Shoes, Galoſhes or Huſeans (Boots or Buſkins) with any Pyke or Poleyn, paſſing the Length of two Inches, to be adjudged by the Wardens or Governors of the ſame Myſtery in London, nor ſhall they preſume to ſell, or put upon the Legs, or Feet of any Perſon, any Shoes, Boots, or Buſkins on Sundays, or Feaſts of the Nativity and Aſcenſion of our Lord, or Corpus Chriſti, on the Penalty of twenty Shillings for each Offence.

The Title of this Company, by a late Charter, is, The Maſter, Wardens and Commonalty of the Myſtery of Cordwainers of the City of London; and is governed by a Maſter, four Wardens, and ſixteen Aſſiſtants, to which belongs one hundred and eight Liverymen, whoſe Fine of Admiſſion is ten Pounds; with a commodious Hall in Diſtaff-lane to manage their Affairs in.

Clerk Retur Parl. and Scrut. Chamb. Lond.

Curriers, 29.

Stryp. Ed. Stow. Surv.

This Society appears to be of conſiderable Antiquity, by their having founded a Guild or Religious Fraternity in the Conventual Church of White-Friers in Fleetſtreet in the Year 1367. However, they were only incorporated by Letters Patent of James the Firſt, 30 April, Anno 1605, by the Appellation of The Maſter, Wardens and Commonalty of the Art or Myſtery of the Curriers of the City of London.

Pariſh-Clerks, 88.

This Fraternity was incorporated by Letters Patent of the ſeventeenth of Henry III. Anno 1233, by the Name of The Fraternity of St. Nicholas; by which they were known till reincorporated by Charter of the ninth of James I. 19 Jan. Anno 1611. Mund. Ed. Stow. Sur.

In the Year 1625, this Company, by a Decree of the Court of Star-Chamber, obtained a Privilege of keeping a Printing-preſs in their Hall, for printing the Bill of Mortality; for which Purpoſe a Printer is aſſigned them by the Archbiſhop of Canterbury. Yet notwithſtanding this Advantage, it is one of the moſt defective of any of its kind; none being mentioned therein but ſuch as are buried in Parochial Grounds. Comp. Rec.

This Company is by Charter ſtrictly injoined to make Report of all the weekly Chriſtenings and Burials in their reſpective Pariſhes, by ſix o'Clock on Tueſday in the Afternoon; but this is by a By-law changed to two o'Clock of the ſame Day, that the King and the Lord-Mayor may have an Account thereof the Day before its Publication. Ibid.

The above-mentioned Grants to this Company were confirmed by Letters Patent of the eleventh of Charles I. 27 February, Anno 1636, by the Title of The Maſter, Wardens, and Fellowſhip of Pariſh-Clerks of the Cities of London, Weſtminſter, Borough of Southwark, and fifteen Out-Pariſhes. Rec. Roll. Pat. 11. Car. p. 9. n. 19.

This Company conſiſts of a Maſter, two Wardens, ſeventeen Aſſiſtants, and the whole Body of Pariſh-Clerks within the Bills of Mortality; who have a covenient Hall in Wood-ſtreet, to treat of their Affairs in.

Patten-makers, 76.

This Company was incorporated by Letters Patent of the twenty-ſecond of Charles II. 2 Auguſt, Anno 1670, by the Name of The Maſter, Wardens, Aſſiſtants and Fellowſhip of the Company of Patten-makers of the City of London. Rec. Roll. Pat. 13. Car. II. p. 1. n. 5.

They conſiſt of a Maſter, two Wardens, twenty-four Aſſiſtants, and forty-ſix Liverymen; who, when admitted, pay a Fine of ſix Pounds; but have no Hall.

Paviours, 56.

This is a Fellowſhip by Preſcription, and not by Charter; wherefore it may be juſtly preſumed to have been one of the antient Adulterine Guilds, that were erected without a Royal Licence.

This Community conſiſts of three Wardens, and twenty-five Aſſiſtants; but have neither Livery, nor Hall to manage their Affairs in.

Pewterers, 16.

Rec. Tur. Pat. 13. Ed. IV. p. 2. m. 5.

Porters, 90.

This Fellowſhip, conſiſting of Tackle and Ticket-Porters, was conſtituted a Fraternity by Act of Common Council, Anno 1646, with a Power of annually chuſing from among themſelves twelve Rulers, viz. ſix of each Denomination, (two whereof to be Regiſters) for the good Government of the Community, and for hearing and determining all Differences that may ariſe between the Members of the united Body. However, the Court of Lord-Mayor and Aldermen have reſerved to themſelves a Power of appointing one of their own Body, as the chief Judge of all Controverſies. This Fraternity have neither Hall, Livery nor Arms.

Act. Com. Counc.

Poulters, 34.

This Company was incorporated by Letters Patent of the nineteenth of Henry VII. 23 January, Anno 1504, by the Style of The Maſter, Wardens, and Aſſiſtants of Poulters, London.

Mund. Ed. Stow. Sur.

They conſiſt of a Maſter, two Wardens, twenty-three Aſſiſtants, and a Livery of one hundred and ſix Members, whoſe Fine is twenty Pounds. But having no Hall, they meet elſewhere to treat of their Affairs.

Sadlers, 25.

This appears to be a Fraternity of great Antiquity, by a Convention agreed upon between them and the Dean and Chapter of St. Martin's le Grand, about the Reign of Richard I. at which Time I imagine it to have been an Adulterine Guild, ſeeing it was only incorporated by Letters Patent of Edward I. by the Appellation of The Wardens, or Keepers and Commonalty of the Myſtery or Art of Sadlers, London.

Clerk. Return. Parl. and Scrut. Chamb. Lond.

They are governed by a Maſter, two Wardens, and twenty-ſeven Aſſiſtants; with a Livery of two hundred and eight Members; who, when admitted, pay a Fine of twenty Pounds. They have a ſtately Hall near Ludgate-ſtreet, to treat of their Affairs in.

This Company, conſiſting of Stationers, Book-ſellers, Letter-founders, Printers, and Book-binders, has a Stock of about fifteen thouſand Pounds, denominated the Engliſh Stock; which is employed in printing Almanacks, ABC's, Primmers, Pſalters, School-books, and privileged Ware, the ſole Printing whereof is confirmed to them by Letters Patent of divers Kings.

This Stock conſiſts of, nineteen whole Shares, of three hundred and twenty Pounds each, which are generally poſſeſſed by thoſe who are of the Court of Aſſiſtants: The ſecond are thirty-eight Half-ſhares, of one hundred and ſixty Pounds each; the third are forty-eight Quarter-ſhares, of eighty Pounds each; the fourth are fifty-ſix Half-Quarter-ſhares, of forty Pounds each; all which are divided among ſuch as have fined for, or ſerved Renter-Warden.

Upon

Upon the Death of any of the married Poſſeſſors of this Stock, the Profits ariſing from his Share devolve to his Widow; which ſhe enjoys during her Widowhood or Life: At the Expiration of either, another Perſon is choſen to enjoy the Profits of the ſaid Share.

The Dividends upon the Stock are made at Chriſtmas; which are increaſed or decreaſed, according to the Expence of the preceding Year; however, 'tis ſeldom leſs than forty Pounds upon a whole Share. The Maſter and Wardens of the Company are always in the Direction of the Stock; to them are joined ſix other Members, annually elected, who adjuſt all Accounts relating thereto; and at Chriſtmas report the State thereof to the Board, who regulate the Dividends already mentioned accordingly.

This Company are by Charter to pay in Penſions, and other Charities, two hundred Pounds per Annum, but they generally make it above.

Watermen, 91.

Rules and Orders relating to the Company of Watermen.

By a Stat. 2 and 3 Phil. and Mar. it was enacted, That at the firſt Court of Aldermen in London, next after the firſt of March, out of the Watermen, betwixt Graveſend and Windſor, eight Overſeers are to be choſen, to keep Order among the reſt.

That two Watermen ſhall not carry any, but where one of them hath exerciſed that Profeſſion two Years before that Time, and hath been allowed by the greater Part of the Overſeers, under the known Seal, on Pain to be committed to one of the Compters, by the the ſaid Overſeers for a Month, or a leſs Time, as the Offence ſhall deſerve.

That no ſingle Man, that is no Houſholder, nor retained as an Apprentice, or as a Servant, for one Year, at leaſt, ſhall exerciſe that Profeſſion betwixt the Places aforeſaid, on Pain of like Puniſhment.

The Lord-Mayor, and Aldermen of London, and the Juſtices of Peace, within the Counties adjoining to the River Thames, upon Complaint of any two of the Overſeers, or of any Waterman's Maſter, have Power, not only to hear and determine any Offence committed againſt this Act, and to enlarge any Waterman unjuſtly puniſhed by the ſaid Overſeers, but likewiſe to puniſh the Overſeers themſelves, in Caſe they unjuſtly puniſh any Perſon, by Colour of this Act.

Alſo, a Wherry, that is not twelve Feet and a half long, and four Feet and a half broad in the Midſhip, and ſufficient to carry two Perſons, on one Side right, ſhall be forfeited; and the King ſhall have one Moiety, and the Informer the other.

Again, That Waterman that withdraws himſelf in Time of Preſſing, (it being proved by two Witneſſes, before the ſaid Mayor, Aldermen, or Juſtices, and two of the ſaid Overſeers) ſhall ſuffer a Fortnight's Impriſonment; and ſhall be prohibited to Row any more upon the Thames, for a Year and a Day after.

Alſo, The overſeers ſhall not only call the Watermen before them, and direct them, and Regiſter their Names, but likewiſe examine their Boats before they be launched, whether they have due Proportion and Goodneſs, according to this Act; and if the Overſeers refuſe, or neglect their Office, they ſhall forfeit 5*l.* between the King and Informer.

Alſo, The Court of Aldermen ſhall aſſeſs the Fares of Watermen, which being ſubſcribed by two of the Privy Council, (at leaſt) ſhall be ſet up in Guildhall, Weſtminſter-hall, &c. and the Waterman that takes more, than according to the Fare ſo aſſeſſed, ſhall, for every ſuch Offence, ſuffer half a Year's Impriſonment, and forfeit 40 s. to be divided as before.

And by the 1 Jac. I. 16, no Waterman ſhall retain any Servant, or Apprentice, unleſs he himſelf hath been an Apprentice to a Waterman by the Space of five Years before, and not an Apprentice under the Age of eighteen Years, or for leſs Time than ſeven Years, in Pain to forfeit for every ſuch Offence 10*l.* to be divided between the King and the Proſecutor.

But this Act ſhall not reſtrain Watermen's Sons, of convenient Growth and Strength, and formerly trained up in Rowing; but that they be allowed to ſerve as Apprentices, and to carry Paſſengers from Place to Place, at the Age of ſixteen Years.

Alſo, That eight Overſeers ſhall yearly, upon the firſt Day of March, and the firſt Day of September, cauſe openly to be read in the Common Hall, all their Orders, made, or to be made, in Pain that every of them, for every ſuch Default, ſhall forfeit twenty Nobles, to be divided betwixt the King and the Proſecutor.

The Lord-Mayor, for the Time being, may cauſe any Perſon, inhabiting within London, or the Liberties, to be ſummoned to appear before his Lordſhip, upon the Complaint of any Citizen; and for Non-appearance, may grant his Warrant to bring ſuch Perſon before him; and hath Power to hear and determine Differences between Party and Party.

If any Apprentice, or other Perſon, ſhall be carried aboard of Ship, or there detained againſt his Will, the Lord-Mayor may ſend his Warrant by his Water-Bailiff, and compel the Captain, or Commander, of the Veſſel to releaſe ſuch Perſon.

By a late Statute, made Anno 11 and 12 Will. III. Cap. 21. for the better Ordering and Governing the Watermen, Wherrymen, and Lightermen, on the River Thames between Graveſend and Windſor, it is enacted, That all Laws in Force touching Watermen and Wherrymen, not thereby altered, or repealed, ſhall be duly put in Execution, under the Penalties therein contained. And that every Lighterman, or Owner, Keeper, or Worker of any Lighter, or other large Craft on the Thames, between Graveſend and Windſor, ſhall be taken to be of the Society, or Company, of Wherrymen and Lightermen, which Wherrymen, Watermen, and Lightermen, are, by this Act, made a Society, or Company, to be under the Direction of the Court of Lord-Mayor and Aldermen of this City; who are thereby impowered yearly to appoint eight Perſons, of the beſt Sort of Watermen, and three Perſons out of twelve to be yearly nominated by the Lightermen; which eleven Perſons are to be named and ſtyled The Overſeers and Rulers of all the Wherrymen, Watermen, and Lightermen, that ſhall uſe, occupy or exerciſe any Rowing upon the River of Thames, between Graveſend and Windſor; who ſhall keep good Order and Obedience amongſt the ſaid Watermen and Lightermen. Act. Parl. 11 & 12 W. III.

And by the ſaid Act the Rulers and Aſſiſtants of the Company are likewiſe enabled yearly, on the firſt of June, to appoint and direct the Watermen of the principal Towns, Stairs, and Plying-Places, between Graveſend and Windſor, to chuſe a Free Waterman (being a Houſholder) for each of the ſaid Places, to be of their Aſſiſtants, ſo that they do not exceed the Number of ſixty, nor be leſs than that of forty: To which ſhall be added nine Lightermen; who together ſhall compoſe the Number of Aſſiſtants of the ſaid Company. Ibid.

And by the ſaid Act of Parliament, the ſaid Overſeers and Rulers are impowered to appoint any Number of Watermen not exceeding forty, to ply and work on Sundays between Vauxhall and Limehouſe, at ſuch Stairs and Plying-places (being ſeventeen in Number, beſides the two at Weſtminſter) as they ſhall judge convenient for carrying Paſſengers acroſs the River Thames for One Penny each: The Money ariſing thereby, (amounting in the whole to upwards of 1450*l.* per Annum, including that of Weſtminſter) is by each of the working Watermen to be paid every Monday Morning to the Order of the ſaid Rulers; who, after having paid the ſaid Watermen their proper Wages, the Surplus is to be applied to the Uſe of the Poor of the Company. And every Perſon employed in the Sunday's Work, that ſhall neglect to pay in the Money ſo earned by him, ſhall for every ſuch Offence forfeit and pay the Sum of forty Shillings. Ibid.

The Watermen of the City of Weſtminſter, being exempt from the immediate Direction of the Company of Watermen in this Affair, annually appoint their own Watermen, to ply and work on Sundays, for carrying Paſſengers acroſs the River Thames, from and to Weſtminſter-bridge and Stangate, and the Horſe-ferry at Lambeth; which Money ſo earned, is applied to the Uſe of the poor Watermen, or their Widows, of the Pariſh of St. Margaret in the ſaid City. Ibid.

It is alſo declared in the ſaid Act, that if the Lord High Admiral, or Commiſſioners of the Admiralty, ſhall at any Time give Notice to the Company of Watermen, that there is Occaſion for a certain Number of the ſaid Company to ſerve on board the Royal Navy; then all ſuch Perſons as ſhall be duly ſummoned for that Purpoſe, that shall not appear before the Overseers and Rulers aforesaid, shall not only suffer Imprisonment for one Month, but likewise be rendered incapable of enjoying any Privilege belonging to the Company for two Years.

Comp. Const. By the Constitutions of this Company, all Boats and Barges belonging to the several Members thereof, are obliged to be numbered and entered in the Company's Register: The Number of the former, on the twenty-eighth of September, Anno 1734, amounted to five thousand nine hundred and seventy-two; and that of the latter, to seven hundred and sixty-seven. But many Watermen keeping a Plurality of Boats (to let to their poor Brethren) all of the same Number, the Number Total employed upon the River Thames cannot be known. However, Mr. Church, the Clerk of the Company, assured me, that by the best Account he had been able to come at, they amounted to above a thousand more than what are registred; which makes the whole amount to about seven thousand. And the Barges of the same Number being much more numerous than those of the Wherries, amount to upwards of seventeen hundred.

The Wherries or Boats being employed in carrying the Citizens to and from the several Parts of the City and Suburbs; therefore to prevent their being imposed upon by the Watermen in any Sort, their Boats, as already mentioned, are not only numbered, but likewise the subjoined Table of Rates, or Prices, were appointed by the Court of Lord-Mayor and Aldermen of this City, to be taken by the respective Watermen, rowing upon the River Thames between Gravesend and Windsor.

The Watermen's Table of Rates, made the seventh of September, 1671.

Dated at the Hall of the ſaid Com- " pany, this eighth Day of October 1701."

This Company pay to their Poor about eight hundred Pounds per Annum, which chiefly ariſes from the Sunday Ferries.

Wax-Chandlers, 20.

This Fellowſhip was incorporated by Letters Patent of the firſt of Richard III. 16 February, Anno 1483, by the Appellation of The Maſter, Wardens, and Commonalty of the Art or Myſtery of Wax-chandlers of London. Rec. Roll. Pat. 1. Ric. III. p. 5.

They are governed by a Maſter, two Wardens, and twenty Aſſiſtants; with one hundred and thirteen Liverymen, whoſe Fine of Admiſſion is five Pounds. They have a handſome Hall in Maiden-lane, to manage their Affairs in. Clerk. Return. Parl. & Scrut. Chamb. Lond.

Weavers, 42.

This Fraternity which was antiently denominated Telarii, ſeems to be the moſt antient Guild of this City; for it appears that in the Reign of Henry I. they paid an annual Rent of ſixteen Pounds to the Crown for their Immunities, which tends to corroborate what has already been ſaid, viz. That the Guilds or Companies of London antiently held their Liberties and Privileges in Fee-Farm of the Crown. Mad. Firm. Burg.

Their Privileges were confirmed at Wincheſter, by Letters Patent of Henry II. (ſtill in the Company's Poſſeſſion, but without Date) wherein the annual Sum payable to the Crown is fixed at two Marks of Gold, to be paid yearly at Michaelmas, upon a Penalty of ten Pounds. Comp. Chart.

This Company originally conſiſted of the Cloth and Tapeſtry Weavers, who, by Act of Parliament of the ſeventh of Henry IV. were put under the Government and Correction of the Lord-Mayor and Aldermen of this City. Mad. Firm. Burg. Rec. Tur. Pat. 7. Edw. IV. n 136.

Wheel-wrights, 73.

Rec. Guild.

This Fraternity was incorporated by Letters Patent of the twenty-ſecond of Charles II. 3 Feb. Anno 1670, by the Name of The Maſter, Wardens, Aſſiſtants and Commonalty of the Art and Myſtery of Wheel-wrights of the City of London.

They conſiſt of a Maſter, two Wardens and twenty-two Aſſiſtants; but have neither Livery, nor Hall to treat of their Affairs in.

Wood-mongers, 85.

Rec. Roll. Pat. 3. Jac. p. 25.

This Fraternity was incorporated with that of the Carmen of this City by Letters Patent of the third of James I. 8 Auguſt, Anno 1605, with whom they continued united till the Year 1668, when, for their Malpractices, they judged it convenient (to avoid a greater Puniſhment) to ſurrender their Charter. However, by an Act of Common Council in the Year 1694, they obtained a Privilege for keeping one hundred and twenty Carts (excluſive of the four hundred and twenty publick ones kept by the Carmen) for the more effectual carrying on their Buſineſs.

Stryp. Ed. Stow. Sur.

This Company, by an Act of Common Council, had the Management of the Publick Carts committed to them, from the Year 1661, to that of 1665, when, by reaſon of their bad Conduct, and ſiniſter Practices, the Charge of Inſpection was returned to Chriſt's Hoſpital.

Woolmen, 43.

Clerk. Ac.

Tho' this Fraternity is of great Antiquity, and probably coeval with the Wool-Trade of this Kingdom; yet it is only a Community by Preſcription, and not by Charter: However, it has the Honour of being one of the City Companies, by the Title of The Maſter, Wardens and Aſſiſtants of the Fraternity or Company of Woolmen of the City of London.

They conſiſt of a Maſter, two Wardens and eleven Aſſiſtants: but have neither Livery, nor Hall to tranſact their Affairs in.

The ſeveral Sums of Money annually diſpoſed of to charitable Uſes by the twelve chief Companies of Citizens, and eleven of the inferior, amount to the Sum of twenty-three thouſand ſix hundred and fifty-five Pounds. But as I have no Account of the ſeveral Sums yearly given by the remaining Companies, I ſhall venture to reckon them only at forty Pounds each; which being added to the above Sum, it will make the ſame amount to twenty-ſix thouſand three hundred and ſeventy-five Pounds. A very great Sum to be yearly beſtowed upon the Poor by the City Corporations.

CHAP. II.

An Account of the ſeveral Incorporations of Merchants, with a Liſt of the Ships belonging to the City of London.

Merchant Adventurers.

This Society, at preſent denominated the Hamburg Company, was incorporated by King Edward I. in the Year 1296, and this being the firſt Incorporation of Merchants erected in this Kingdom, they ſoon obtain'd ample Privileges of John Duke of Brabant, for eſtabliſhing a Factory in the City of Antwerp, then the great Mart and Center of Credit in the Northern Parts of Europe.

Stryp. Ed. Stow. Sur.

This Company proving of great Advantage to the Nation, their Privileges were confirmed and inlarged by divers ſucceeding Princes, but more eſpecially by Queen Elizabeth, who ingaging in a War with Spain, the Company was thereby deprived of its Trade in Flanders; wherefore her Majeſty, to make good the Loſs, granted the Company an additional Privilege, whereby they were impowered to extend their Commerce to all Parts of Germany; which was no ſooner known, than very great Privileges were offered them by the Magiſtrates of Hamburg, as an Encouragement to ſettle in their City; which being accepted, the Factory repaired thither, where they ſtill continue, and are at preſent known by the Appellation of the Hamburg Company, the antient Name being now in Diſuſe, other than in Deeds and other Writings.

Rec. Roll. Pat. 15. Eliz. p. 4.

This Society, ſince the diminiſhing of their Privileges, and laying open their Trade in the Reign of King William III. is greatly reduced. And 'tis to be apprehended, from the Hamburgers having engroſſed near all the Trade from Great Britain to that City, that in a few Years the Company will ceaſe to be.

Merchants of the Staple.

Stryp. Ed. Stow. Sur.

The ſecond Company of Merchants incorporated in England, were thoſe of the Staple, by Edward III. who ſettling their chief Factory at Middleborough in Zeland, ſent thither great Quantities of Leather, Woolfels, Lead, Tin, Butter, Cheeſe, Cloth, &c. But the Staple, in the Year 1389, being removed to Calais, it was ſoon after, viz. Anno 1391, removed from thence to England.

Act. Parl. 14 Ric. II.

Hudſon's Bay Company.

Deduct. Right. Great Brit.

Though the Country to which this Company trade, was diſcovered by Sir Sebaſtian Cabott in the Year 1497, yet the Commerce thereof ſeems not to have been fully ſettled till the ſecond of May, Anno 1670, when Charles II. by by his Letters Patent, incorporated the Adventurers, by the Name of The Governor and Company of Adventurers of England trading into Hudſon's Bay; and granted to his Highneſs Prince Rupert, the Duke of Albemarle, Earl of Craven, Lord Arlington, Lord Aſhley, and other Members of the Company, and their Succeſſors for ever, all the Straights, Bays, Seas, Rivers, Lakes, Creeks, Iſlands, Shores, Lands, Territories and Places whatſoever, within Hudſon's Straights and Hudſon's Bay.

This Company, by a joint Stock, carry on a conſiderable Trade to the Places aforeſaid, wherein they have ſettled divers Factories, whither the Natives repair with their fine Beaver, and other rich Furrs and Commodities of the Country. This Corporation is under the Direction of a Governor, Deputy Governor and ſeven Aſſiſtants, who have a handſome Hall in Fenchurch-ſtreet to tranſact their Affairs in.

Ruſſia Company.

Stryp Ed. Stow. Sur.

The Ruſſia Merchants were at firſt incorporated by Letters Patent of Queen Mary, February 6, Anno 1555, which were granted to divers Noblemen and Merchants, whereby they were not only impower'd to carry on an excluſive Trade to all Parts of the Ruſſian Empire, but likewiſe to all ſuch Countries as they ſhould diſcover in thoſe Northern Parts, which they ſoon after did to their great Advantage, viz. The Cherry Iſlands, Greenland, Nova Zembla, Davies's Straights and Newfoundland: In Conſideration of theſe valuable Diſcoveries, their Privileges were confirmed by Parliament; and in the Year 1614, inlarged by King James I. This Company is governed by a Governor, four Conſuls, and four and twenty Aſſiſtants, who are annually elected on the firſt of March.

Eaſtland Company.

Theſe Merchants were at firſt incorporated by Charter from Queen Elizabeth, Anno 1579. And the Factory belonging to the Company being at firſt ſettled at Elbing in Pruſſia, they received the Appellation of Merchants of Elbing; who, by their Charter, were impowered to Trade to Norway, Sweedland, Denmark, Poland, Pruſſia, and all other Parts of the Baltick Sea, excluſive of the City of Narva, previouſly granted to the Ruſſia Company. But the ſmall River of Elbing proving very incommodious to Navigation, occaſioned the Merchants of the Factory to remove, and ſettle at Dantzick, Koningsberg, Riga and other Cities of the Baltick. However the grateful Citizens of Elbing are not aſhamed to own, that the preſent Splendor and Beauty of their City is owing to the great Commerce formerly carried on there by the Engliſh.

Rec. Roll. Pat. 21. Eliz. p. 21.

This Company, in return for the ſeveral Sorts of Engliſh Commodities exported by them, import all Sorts of Oak and Firr Wood, Flax, Linen, Bees-wax, Pot-aſhes, Tallow, Sturgeon, and all Sorts of Naval Materials.

Levant, or Turkey Company.

Rec. Roll. Pat. 24. Eliz. p. 13.

This Company was at firſt incorporated in the Year 1579, by Queen Elizabeth, who endowed the ſame with many great and ample Privileges, which have been often confirmed by divers ſucceeding Princes. The Trade of the Company at firſt extended no farther than the State of Venice, where diſcovering the Oriental Gems, and Place they came from, aſſumed the Turkey Trade, which they have carried on with great Succeſs ever ſince. But a Way being diſcovered to Eaſt-India by Sea, a ſeparate Corporation was erected for carrying on a Trade to it, excluſive of this Company: However, it continues in as great Reputation as ever, and at preſent is denominated The Turkey Company; the Government whereof conſiſts of a Governor, his Deputy, and eighteen Aſſiſtants, who are annually elected in the Month of February; and by whom are appointed the Conſuls, Vice-Conſuls, Factors, and other Officers belonging to the Corporation.

Eaſt-India Company.

Rec. Roll. Pat. 43. Eliz. p. 6.

This Corporation was at firſt incorporated by Queen Elizabeth, Anno 1601. The Trade whereof is carried on by a Common Fund, by which their Commerce is extended to Arabia, India, China and Japan; for the Direction whereof are annually elected twenty-four Directors, one of which being Chairman, all the Company's Affairs are immediately under their Direction, and by whom are appointed all their Officers both at Home and Abroad. About the Beginning of the Protectorate of Oliver Cromwell, 'twas apprehended, that the laying open the Eaſt-India Commerce, would prove of great Advantage to the whole Nation; wherefore that Trade was made general, and continued ſo till the Year 1657. But the ſeparate Trade proving fatal to the Undertakers, they were, for the Good of the Whole, united to the Company by the Legiſlature.

In the Year 1698, a new Eaſt-India Company was eſtabliſhed by Act of Parliament; by virtue whereof, the old Company was to be diſſolved after the Expiration of a certain Time allowed them for diſpoſing of their Effects. However, by the kind Offices of Friends, and a due Conſideration of their ſeveral Intereſts, the Companies were united; and notwithſtanding the joint Stock amounted to three Millions and three hundred thouſand Pounds, the united Company continued to divide ten per Cent. till the Year 1722, when the Oſtend Company was erected in Oppoſition to them. This Dividend afterwards fell to eight per Cent. and now lately is reduced to ſix per Cent.

African Company.

Case Roy. Afric. Comp.

The first Engliſh Ships ſent to Africa on the Account of Commerce was about the Year 1553, from which Time the Trade to that Country was carried on by private Hands till the Year 1588, when Queen Elizabeth, by her Letters Patent, erected a Company for the more effectual carrying on the ſaid Trade, which at that Time was only for Gold, Elephants Teeth and Malaquetta; for the Engliſh, having then no Settlement in America, had no Occaſion for Negroes.

Ibid. This Company was greatly encouraged in the Reigns of James and Charles the Firſt; but the Dutch, in the Year 1637, having taken divers Forts on the Coaſts of Africa from the Portugueſe, committed great Depradations on the Engliſh, to oblige them to leave off trading to thoſe Parts. Charles the Second, the better to enable his Subjects to carry on the ſaid Trade againſt the unjuſt Pretenſions and Encroachments of theſe Newcomers, by his Letters Patent of the 10th of January, Anno 1662, incorporated a Body of Merchants by the Appellation of The Company of Royal Adventurers of England to Africa.

Ibid. The Subſcriptions for carrying on this precarious Trade not anſwering the Expectation of the incorporated Merchants, they were ſoon involved in great Debts and Difficulties, which rendered them incapable of carrying on their Commerce to advantage; wherefore they agreed, for a certain Sum of Money, to ſurrender their Charter to the Crown, and to aſſign all their Eſtates and Effects both at Home and Abroad to certain Merchants, who intended to erect a new Company for the more effectual carrying on the Trade to Africa. Purſuant to this Agreement, the King, having accepted the Surrender of the ſaid Charter, did, by his Letters Patent of the 27th of September, Anno 1672, incorporate the preſent Royal African Company, with a Power to trade in Africa, from the Port of Sally to the Cape of Good Hope, during the Term of a thouſand Years, excluſive of all his other Subjects.

Ibid. The Company, by Virtue of this Royal Grant, made a conſiderable Progreſs in erecting Forts and ſettling Factories. But their Trade being laid open by Parliament, in the Year 1697, they were rendered unable to ſupport the ſaid Forts; wherefore it was enacted, that all private Traders to Africa ſhall pay ten per Cent. to the Company for that Purpoſe. But this Duty not anſwering the End for which it was granted, the Company found themſelves neceſſitated to apply to Parliament in the Year 1730, which being taken into Conſideration, it was found neceſſary to grant a certain Sum for keeping up the ſaid Fortreſſes.

The Affairs of this Company was managed by a Governor (the King) Sub-Governor, Deputy, and a Court of thirty-ſix Directors, who were annually choſen on the tenth of January.

South Sea Company.

During the long and expenſive War againſt France in the Reign of Queen Anne, due Care was not taken for the regular Payment of Seamen employed in the Royal Navy; for, inſtead of Money, thoſe neceſſitous and very uſeful Men had Tickets granted them in lieu of Pay; which, by their great Neceſſities, were often obliged to part with at a Diſcount of forty and ſometimes fifty in the Hundred, to avaricious Men, who taking Advantage of the Neceſſities of thoſe miſerable and unhappy Men, raiſed to themſelves great Eſtates upon their Ruin.

The Debt due by the Government upon this and other Accounts not provided for by Parliament, amounted to nine millions one hundred and ſeventy-ſeven thouſand nine hundred and ſixty-ſeven Pounds fifteen Shillings and four Pence. For the Diſcharge of which, this Company was incorporated by Act of Parliament, Anno 1710, and by an Act of Parliament made the Year after, the Company (after the Diſcharge of the Debt due to them from the Government) was made perpetual. In the Year 1714, by an additional Sum of eight hundred twenty-two thouſand and thirty-two Pounds four Shillings and eight Pence, the Capital of the Company was, by Act of Parliament, inlarged to ten Millions, for which they received an Intereſt of ſix per Cent. or ſix hundred thouſand Pounds per Ann. Act Parl. 9 Anne.

In the Year 1720, an Act of Parliament was made to enable the ſaid Company to increaſe their Capital, by redeeming ſeveral of the publick Debts, and to raiſe Money for the Diſcharge of ſundry national Incumbrances; by the Amount of Subſcriptions on this Occaſion, the Capital Stock of the Company was increaſed to thirty-three Millions five hundred and forty three thouſand two hundred and ſixty-three Pounds eight Shillings and three Pence. Ibid.

See South-Sea Houſe in Broad-ſtreet Ward, and Page 525, Vol. I.

The Traffick carried on to the Spaniſh Weſt-Indies by this Company, by reaſon of frequent Seizures made of their Effects by the Spaniards, and Stops in Trade, (on the Account of national Differences) is but of little Advantage to the Proprietors. And by the Traffick carried on to Greenland for nine Years, the Company loſt about one hundred and ninety thouſand Pounds, which cauſed the ſaid Trade to be laid aſide in the Year 1743.

Beſides the above-mentioned Incorporations, there were divers other Companies of Merchants which had been incorporated, though at preſent extinct, viz. The Spaniſh, Portugueſe, Italian, French, Dutch, American, &c. However, the Commerce to all thoſe Countries (except that of France) is carried on with greater Advantage to the Nation, than when it was under the Direction of the ſaid Companies.

The vaſt Increaſe of our Navigation, by the indefatigable Pains and Aſſiduity of the Merchants, has occaſioned the Improvement of our Manufactures to ſuch a Degree, that they far excel thoſe of all other Nations; whereby this City is not only rendered the moſt populous and opulent that is, or, for aught appears, ever was upon Earth; but it is become the Envy of all other Cities, eſpecially that of Paris, whoſe Citizens are inceſſantly ſtriving for the Pre-eminence, though without the leaſt Reaſon, Juſtice or Truth, as I have elſewhere made appear, and which I ſhall farther endeavour to corroborate by the ſtupendous Commerce of this City to and from all all Parts of the terraqueous Globe, by the great Number and Magnitude of its Ships, (exclusive of those belonging to other Ports and Nations continually trading hither) an Account whereof I have subjoined, with their respective Names, Number of Tons, and Men carried by each.

A List of all the Ships that belonged to the City of London in the Year 1732, with the Number of Tons and Men carried by them respectively, taken from the General Register at the Custom-House.

To prevent the Reader's being ſurprized at the great Diſparity of Seamen in Ships of the ſame Tonnage or Burden, it will be neceſſary to acquaint him, that all Ships trading to the Weſtern and Southern Parts of the World, are, on Account of their long Voyages, obliged to carry a much greater Number of Men, than thoſe that trade to the Eaſtern and Northern Parts, except thoſe that go to Greenland and Davies's Straights on the Whale Fiſhery.

Having ſhewn the Number of Ships belonging to this City, I ſhall now for the Satisfaction of the Curious, ſubjoin an Account of the Number of Ships that arrived at London from all Foreign Parts, as well as from the ſeveral Ports of Great-Britain, from Chriſtmas, Anno 1727, to Chriſtmas 1728, viz. Britiſh Ships from all Ports beyond the Sea, eighteen hundred and thirty-nine, and foreign Ships, two hundred and thirteen; together, two thouſand and fifty-two; and from the ſeveral Ports of Great Britain, the Numbers that appear in the following Table:

Number Total —— Foreign Ships, 2052 —— Coaſters, 6837 —— General Total 8889

Though this is a prodigious Number of Ships to be imported in one Year, yet the ſame has been conſiderably increaſed in divers Years ſince.

For unlading this vaſt Number of Veſſels, and carrying the amazing Quantities of Merchandize brought hither by them to and from the ſeveral Wharfs (which are one hundred and forty-four in Number) of the City, Suburbs and Vicinal Parts, there are not only employed about two thouſand Lighters, Barges and Boats; but likewiſe four hundred and twenty great Carts belonging to the City and Liberty thereof, beſides one hundred and twenty to the Coal, or Woodmongers, and ſixty-ſeven in the Out-Parts; together, ſix hundred and ſeven, which are equal in Burden to that of Waggons.

By the indefatigable Induſtry of our Merchants, this City has not only attained to its preſent Height of Grandeur and Opulency; but alſo the Kingdom in general to ſuch an Affluence of Wealth by the Improvement and Export of our Manufactures, that the legal Intereſt, which was never lower than ten per Cent. till the Year 1625, is at preſent (though reduced by Act of Parliament only to five per Cent.) in reality under three; for ſome of the publick Securities of three per Cent. at this Time, bear a Premium of almoſt ſeven per Cent, whereby the Nobility and Gentry, are not only enabled to raiſe Money at a low Intereſt for portioning off their younger Sons and Daughters, but likewiſe the Value of their Eſtates are thereby riſen from ten, to five or ſix and twenty Years Purchaſe.

Beſides this vaſt Acceſſion of Treaſure, owing to the inceſſant Labours of our Merchants, we are likewiſe indebted to them for the great Improvement of our Lands by exotick Culture; therefore they may juſtly be deemed the Soul of the Commonwealth.

CHAP. III.

An Account of divers Offices, &c. within the Bill of Mortality.

AS many of the publick Offices in this City have their immediate Dependence upon Trade, I ſhall therefore ſubjoin the ſeveral Accounts thereof; and though the other numerous Offices within the Bill of Mortality are ſeemingly independent of Commerce, I ſhall nevertheleſs for the ſake of Connection, and Eaſe to the Reader, interſperſe the ſame in Alphabetical Order with the former.

Admiralty Office.

This is a magnificent Structure oppoſite Scotland-Yard near Whitehall, wherein are tranſacted all maritime Affairs belonging to the Juriſdiction of the Lord High Admiral. For which end, he, or the Lords Commiſſioners of the Admiralty, ſit on certain Days for the Management of the Royal Navy; the Determination of all Cauſes, (which at preſent are heard and decided by the Court of Admiralty at Doctors-Commons) Civil and Criminal, committed at Sea; and the Amerceing their Dependents and Officers for Neglect of Duty, or other Irregularities; and unto whom belongs the Nomination of Admirals, Captains, and other Officers, to ſerve on board his Majeſty's Ships of War.

Amicable Society.

This Company (whoſe Office is in Serjeants-Inn-Court, Fleet-ſtreet) was incorporated by Letters Patent of the Fourth of Queen Anne, 25 March, Anno 1706, by the Name of The Amicable Society for a perpetual Aſſurance Office. The Number of Members, not to exceed two thouſand, are impowered to purchaſe Lands, Tenements, &c. to the Amount of two thouſand Pounds per Ann. the ſame to alien at Pleaſure, to ſue and be ſued, and to have a common Seal, alterable at Diſcretion. Comp. Chart.

Each Member of this Society originally paid, during the Life of the Perſon inſured upon, the Sum of ſix Pounds four Shillings per Ann. out of which, for the firſt Year of the Incorporation, was divided one ſixth Part of the ſeveral Payments or Contributions among the Nominees of the Members that died in the ſaid Year; which Dividend increaſed proportionably till the Year 1710, when they divided 10300 l. among the Nominees, which is to be yearly continued, with an Addition of ſo much as the General Court ſhall deem proper. But in caſe the Number of Members ſhall not amount to two thouſand, then the annual Dividends to be made in Proportion to the yearly Payments of ſix Pounds four Shillings by each of the reſpective Members. Comp. Rec.

And for the more effectual Support of this Society, it is by a ſupplemental Charter of the third Ibid.

third Year of his preſent Majeſty, 16 January, Anno 1729, ordained, that all and every of the Members, or their Nominees, that ſhall be in Arrears to the Corporation for a Year and a Quarter, and who, upon proper Notice thereof given in the London Gazette, ſhall omit Payment thereof for three Months after, every ſuch Member ſo offending to be excluded the Society, and deprived of all Benefits ariſing thereby, as if he, ſhe, or they, had never belonged to the ſame.

The Sum, as already mentioned, appointed by their Charter to be paid by the Members of the Society, is ſix Pounds four Shillings per Annum each, and the Sum to be divided among the yearly Claimants five Pounds. The Surplus, of one Pound four Shillings, is improved for the Benefit of the Corporation for granting Annuities upon Lives to their own Members: By which, and other good Management, the Society have a Stock of near thirty thouſand Pounds; whereby they are not only enabled to defray all the Expences of the Society, but likewiſe to reduce the annual Payments of the Members from ſix Pounds four Shillings, to five Pounds each; and beſide this, the Company divide about 700 l. per Ann. or ſo much thereof as ſhall be required, (when the Dividend, by a great Mortality, does not amount to 100 l. on each Claim) to pay each Claimant one hundred Pounds, whereby all Reductions are effectually prevented, and the Corporation kept in a flouriſhing Condition; which, by the good Footing it is on at preſent, it is not to be doubted, but it will improve to the great Advantage of its Members.

Regiſt. Acc.

Bank-end Waterworks.

To this Office, which is kept at the Bank-end in Southwark, belongs a Horſe-Machine for raiſing Thames Water for the Service of that Neighbourhood; but it having but one Main Pipe of a ſeven Inch Bore, neither their Stock, or Shares, can be very conſiderable.

Bank of England.

This Corporation was projected in the Year 1694, by William Paterſon, Eſq; a Scotſman, upon the following Occaſion; viz. The Goverment having Occaſion for great Sums of Money towards carrying on an offenſive War againſt France, Paterſon propoſed the raiſing the Sum of twelve hundred thouſand Pounds by Subſcription, to be lent to the Publick on certain Conditions, the principal whereof was that for erecting a Bank in this City. This Propoſal being chearfully embraced by many of the chief Citizens, they immediately applied to Parliament; where the Terms propoſed being readily accepted, the Subſcribers of the ſaid Sum were incorporated by the Appellation of The Governor and Company of the Bank of England; to have perpetual Succeſſion, and a common Seal; to purchaſe Lands, Rents, Tenements, and Hereditaments of what kind ſoever; and to ſell, grant, demiſe, and diſpoſe of the ſame at Pleaſure; to ſue and implead, to be ſued and impleaded, anſwer and be anſwered in Courts of Record, or any other Place whatſoever; and to have an Intereſt of eight per Cent. for the Money advanced till the ſame ſhall be repaid.

Act Parl. 5 & 6 W. & M.

The Proprietors of the Bank and the Grocers Company not agreeing about a new Leaſe, they began to erect a Building in Threadneedle-ſtreet to tranſact their Affairs in: On which Occaſion, the Governor and Directors of the Corporation repaired thither on the third of Auguſt, Anno 1732, to ſee the Pedeſtal of the Weſtern Column of the interior Front laid; whereon were engraven the following Words: The Foundation of this Building of the Bank of England was laid Auguſt 1, 1732, in the ſixth Year of the Reign of King George the Second; Sir Edward Bellamy, Knight and Alderman, Governor; the Honourable Horatio Townſhend, Eſq; Deputy Governor; together with the Names of the ſeveral Directors. This Inſcription is partly a Miſtake, for the Foundation of the Work was begun about four Months before.

In order to come at the Virgin Earth to lay a firm Foundation for this magnificent Structure, after digging a conſiderable Depth, the Workmen continued to diſcover artificial Ground, which occaſioned their boring to diſcover the Depth thereof; when, to their great Surprize, they brought up Oyſter-ſhells in a Mooriſh Soil upwards of thirty Feet below the Surface: But for want of an additional Length of a Borer, could proceed no deeper; which ſhews the Earth to be vaſtly raiſed in this Place. And being in the Neighbourhood of the ancient Watercouſe of Walbrook, it does in ſome Meaſure corroborate Stow's Tradition of the River Thames having anciently flowed as far as Bucklersbury in this Neighbourhood.

Soon after the finiſhing of this ſtately Fabrick, the Proprietors of the Bank cauſed a Statue to be erected in the Hall of the ſame, in Commemoration of their great Founder, with this Inſcription:

Ob
Legibus vim,
Judiciis Auctoritatem,
Senatui Dignitatem,
Civibus univerſis Jura ſua,
Tam Sacra, quam Civilia, Reſtituta,
Et illuſtriſſimæ Domus Hannoverianæ

Optimo Principi,
Gulielmo Tertio,
Conditori ſuo,
Grato Animo Poſuit, dicavitque

Engliſh'd thus:

For reſtoring Efficacy to the Laws,
Authority to the Courts of Juſtice,
Dignity to the Parliament,
To all his Subjects their Religion and Liberties,
And confirming theſe to Poſterity,
By the Succeſſion of the illuſtrious Houſe of Hanover
To the Britiſh Throne:
To the beſt of Princes, William the Third,
Founder of the Bank,
This Corporation, from a Senſe of Gratitude,
Has erected this Statue,
And dedicated it to his Memory,
In the Year of our Lord MDCCXXXIV.
And the firſt Year of this Building.

Bounty

Bounty of Queen Anne.

Act Parl. 1 & 3 Anne.

This Corporation, who keep their Office in Dean's-yard, Weſtminſter, was eſtabliſhed by Act of Parliament Anno 1703, for the better Maintenance of the poor Clergy, by the Augmentation of ſmall Livings. This Body Corporate conſiſts of the Lords of the Privy Council, Lords Lieutenants and Cuſtos Rotulorum, the Archbiſhops, Biſhops, Deans of Cathedrals, Judges, the King's Sergeants at Law, Attorney, Sollicitor and Advocate General, Chancellors and Vice-Chancellors of the Univerſities, Lord-Mayor and Aldermen of London, and Mayors of all other Cities within the Kingdom; ſeven whereof at leaſt to compoſe a Court, provided a Privy Counſellor, Biſhop, Judge, or one of the King's Council be three thereof. This Court, having the Direction of all Affairs belonging to the Corporation, appoint Committees of Governors, and inveſt them with ſuch Powers as they judge convenient.

The Governors Buſineſs is to find out the Value of every Benefice under eighty Pounds per Annum, with their reſpective Diſtances from the City of London, &c. and to lay the State thereof before the King, with the Value of the Firſt-Fruits and Tenths, &c. and all Penſions and Charges belonging to the ſame, to the end the Royal Bounty may be applied for the Support of ſuch as the Clergy as are in the greateſt Diſtreſs. The Corporation has already made a great Progreſs in the Augmentation of a vaſt Number of ſmall Livings; but I was refuſed an Account thereof on my applying for the ſame.

Charitable Corporation.

This Corporation was incorporated (for lending Money to the Poor upon eaſier Terms than thoſe of Pawn Brokers and Money Jobbers, who ſeldom take leſs than thirty per Cent.) by Letters Patent of the Sixth of Queen Anne, 22 December 1708, by the Style of The charitable Corporation for the Relief of Induſtrious Poor, by aſſiſting them with ſmall Sums upon Pledges at legal Intereſt: And to enable the Members of the Corporation to anſwer their Title, they were impowered to raiſe a Fund not leſs than twenty, nor more than thirty thouſand Pounds. But this Fund afterwards, by additional Grants, being increaſed to ſix hundred thouſand Pounds, the ſame, inſtead of being employed to the Advantage of the Proprietors, was wickedly embezzled by their Caſhier, Warehouſe-keeper, and others; the two former whereof, for their flagitious Crimes, and unparalleled Villany, fled to France to ſhelter themſelves from Juſtice: On which Occaſion the unfortunate Proprietors applied to Parliament for Redreſs, who, in Commiſeration to their unhappy Circumſtances, not only made an Act to oblige the two Miſcreants to return to account with the Sufferers, (which they not complying with, they were, by the ſaid Act, both declared Felons) but likewiſe granted them a Power to make a Lottery for the Sum of five hundred thouſand Pounds; whereby they cleared about eighty thouſand Pounds.

This Corporation, by their Charter, are, upon Pain of Diſſolution, injoined not to interfere with the Bank of England, by diſcounting of Bills either Foreign or Domeſtick, or keeping other Caſh than their own, nor to traffick or deal in any Buſineſs other than that of lending Money upon Pledges, which they are to advance upon legal Intereſt, and a reaſonable Allowance for Charges; which, by the Advice of able Council, they aſcertained at five per Cent. which, with the Intereſt, amounts to ten per Cent. upon all Pawns.

The Affairs of this Corporation are under the Direction of a Committee of ſeven of the Proprietors, three or more whereof conſtitute a Court, who, in Conjunction with others, may call a general Court, which is to conſiſt of ſeventeen at leaſt, who are impowered to make By-laws for the better Government of the Company, and to appoint their Officers, who are a Chaſhier, Warehouſe-keepers, Accomptant, Clerks, &c.

This Corporation, during its Proſperity, had two Offices, viz. One on Laurence Pountney's-Hill, and the other in Spring-Garden, Charing-Croſs; but they tranſact their Affairs only in that of the Spring-Garden, Charing-Croſs.

Chelſea Water-works.

This Society was incorporated by Act of Parliament in the Year 1722, by the Name of The Governor and Company of Chelſea Water-works; by which Name they are to have perpetual Succeſſion and a common Seal, with a Power to purchaſe in Mortmain, Lands, &c. to the Amount of one thouſand Pounds per Ann. with a Right to alien and diſpoſe of the ſame as they ſhall ſee convenient. Which Works are divided into two thouſand Shares. The Company's Affairs are managed by a Governor, Deputy, and thirteen Directors.

Act Parl. 8 G. I.

Coal-meters Office.

In this Office, which is kept in Church-Alley, St. Dunſtan's-Hill, are entered all Ships that arrive in the Port of London with Coals; and to which belong fifteen Maſter-meters, who appoint a ſufficient Number of Perſons to meaſure the Coals brought by the ſaid Ships, to prevent Impoſitions, which would otherwiſe happen both to the King and Subject, in reſpect to the Duty and Meaſure. See Vol. I. A. D. 1713.

Cuſtom-Houſe.

Though the Antiquity of the Duties of Import and Export in this City cannot be aſcertained, yet that they are almoſt coeval with the Commerce thereof, I think will not be controverted. That Cuſtom was paid in London during the Saxon Government, is manifeſt by the twenty-third Law of King Ethelbert, which appoints a certain Toll to be paid at Billingſgate, to the Collectors of the King's commercial and other Revenues in this City. See Tower Ward.

Joh. Brompt. Chron.

The Duties ſaid to be collected in the Year 1728, amounted to upwards of two Millions and eight hundred thouſand Pounds, than which nothing can ſo effectually ſhew the Opulency and prodigious Commerce of this vaſt City.

Engliſh Copper Office.

This Company, whoſe Office is kept in Buſh-Lane, was incorporated by Letters Patent of the Clerk Acc.

the Third of William and Mary, 22 September, Anno 1691, by the Appellation of The Governor and Company of Copper Miners in England; which was confirmed by Queen Anne, Anno 1710; and by ſubſequent Grants, their Power of working of Mines was extended to all Parts of Ireland and New England.

This Corporation conſiſts of a Governor, Deputy Governor, and eighteen Aſſiſtants.

Exciſe Office.

Scob. Act Parl. The Duty of Exciſe was at firſt introduced into this City and Kingdom by the Parliament, 22 July, Anno 1643, by laying an Impoſt upon Beer, Ale, Wine, and other Proviſions for carrying on a War againſt the King.

This Office, which is kept in the Old Jewry, was till of late managed by ſeven Commiſſioners; but there being ſo many new exciſeable Commodities brought into the ſame, their Number is increaſed to nine, who have each a Salary of one thouſand Pounds per Annum; as are likewiſe the Clerks and other Officers under them, both in Number and Salaries.

At the Deſire of the Commiſſioners of this Office, a very laudable Practice is lately ſet on Foot, for the Support of the valetudinary and aged Clerks and Officers belonging to the ſame; for which Purpoſe the ſeveral Clerks and Officers contribute three Pence per Pound out of their reſpective Salaries; which is ſaid to amount to about three thouſand Pounds per Annum.

Before the Commiſſioners of Exciſe are try'd all Frauds committed in the ſeveral Branches of the Revenue under their Direction; and if any Perſon thinks himſelf injured by their Sentence, he may appeal to the Commiſſioners of Appeals for a Re-hearing, who are five in Number, and have each a Salary of two hundred Pounds per Annum. See Cheap Ward.

Friendly Society.

This Society was erected by a Deed of Settlement of the 28th of Auguſt, Anno 1684, for inſuring Houſes againſt Loſs by Fire, which they do on Brick Buildings at the Rate of nine Shillings and four Pence per Cent. for the Term of ſeven Years, and double that Sum on thoſe of Wood.

Beſides this certain Charge, the Inſured are obliged to contribute to the Payment of all Loſſes that may happen; in order to which, they make a Depoſit of ſix Shillings and eight Pence per Cent. ſo much whereof as remains undivided, at the Expiration of the ſeveral Inſurances, is returned to the reſpective Proprietors. And for ſecuring the Payment of all Loſſes, that may happen by Fire, a conſiderable Security in Land is ſettled on Truſtees. And, for extinguiſhing Fires, continually keep in their Service two and twenty Firemen, who wear the Company's Badge, and are annually cloathed.

Georgia Office.

The King having been graciouſly pleaſed to purchaſe the Properties of divers of the Proprietors of uncultivated Lands in the Province of South Carolina in America, in order for their Cultivation; and to which End, conferred the ſame upon a certain Namber of Gentlemen in Truſt, whom he incorporated by his Letters Patent, 9 June, Anno 1732, by the Appellation of The Truſtees for eſtabliſhing the Colony of Georgia in America; with a Power to receive Benefactions, and make Collections by Contribution, or Subſcription, towards promoting the intended Settlement: For which Purpoſe the ſaid Truſtees having directed their Letters Commiſſorial, under their common Seal, to the Miniſters, Churchwardens and Veſtrymen of the ſeveral Pariſhes of this City and Suburbs; divers whereof, together with ſuch Gentlemen as had Commiſſions directed to them for the ſame End, in a ſhort time, ſo beſtirred themſelves, that they collected upwards of five thouſand Pounds; which, with the ten thouſand Pounds granted them by Parliament on the ſame Account, the whole Sum on the 9th of June, Anno 1734, amounted to fifteen thouſand two hundred and twenty-ſix Pounds twelve Shillings and ten Pence. Chart. Corp.

Since which Time divers Collections were made in other Pariſhes, which greatly contributed to the forwarding of ſo great and laudable an Undertaking; but none ſo effectually as the generous Reſolution of the Houſe of Commons, in granting the Truſtees an additional Supply of twenty-ſix thouſand Pounds. By this Encouragement, and the great Progreſs made in the Cultivation of the Country by Foreigners who are ſent thither, it is not to be doubted but this Colony will prove of as great Advantage to this Kingdom, as any of our American Settlements.

But by the Truſtees manner of granting the Lands in Georgia to the People only in Tail Male, it is to be feared it will be a Means of deterring others from going to ſettle in that Country on ſuch ſlaviſh Terms, ſeeing that the Female Deſcendants of induſtrious Parents (who, at the Expence of their All, and the wearing out of their Bodies in hard Labour, to improve the Ground, which, when granted them, probably was not worth ſix Pence an Acre) will be thereby deprived of their Father's Inheritance, which, on the Failure of the Male Branch of the Family, will revert to the Truſt, while the diſtreſſed Females will be left to ſhift for themſelves, perhaps under the direful Effects of a miſerable Poverty.

Hackney-coach Office.

Act Parl. 5 & 6 W. & M. This Office, which is kept in Surrey-ſtreet in the Strand, was erected by Act of Parliament in the Year 1696, to conſiſt of five Commiſſioners, for licenſing Hackney and Stage Coaches.

For the better Government of the ſaid Coaches and Chairs, and preventing the Drivers and Bearers thereof from impoſing upon their Employers, each has its reſpective Number, whereby the Workers, in caſe of any Damage, Abuſe or Impoſition committed by them, may be found; and who, being on ſuch Occaſions ſummoned before the Commiſſioners, are generally fined for each Offence in the Sum of twenty or forty Shillings, without the Right of Appeal.

And as a farther Regulation for the ſaid Hackney Coachmen and their Employers, the following ing Rates are by the ſaid Act of Parliament appointed to be taken by them reſpectively.

Act Parl. 5 & 6 W. & M.

That no licenſed Hackney-coachman, or Driver of ſuch Coach, ſhall preſume to take for his Hire in and about the Cities of London and Weſtminſter, or ten Miles of the ſame, above the Rate of ten Shillings per Day, reckoned at twelve Hours; and by the Hour, eighteen Pence for the firſt, and twelve Pence for every Hour after; and from any of the Inns of Court, or thereabouts, to any Part of St. James's or Weſtminſter (except beyond Tothil-ſtreet) one Shilling; and from any of the ſaid Inns of Court to the Royal Exchange, one Shilling; and if to the Tower of London, Biſhopſgate-ſtreet, Aldgate, or thereabouts, one Shilling and ſix Pence; and from the ſame Places to the ſaid Inns of Court; and the like Rates to and from Places of the like Diſtances.

Purſuant to the Directions of the ſaid Act of Parliament, and for the better aſcertaining the Fares between the moſt remarkable Places of this City and Snburbs, the Commiſſioners of the Hackney Coach Office cauſed the Diſtances between the following Parts to be meaſured, and the ſeveral Rates fixed acccordingly.

Hampſtead Water-Office.

To this Office, which is kept in Denmark-ſtreet, St. Giles's, belong two main Pipes of a ſeven Inch Bore, which bring Water from the Ponds at Highgate and Hampſtead to ſupply this Neighbourhood.

Hand in Hand Fire-Office.

This Office was erected in the Year 1696, by about one hundred Perſons, who mutually agreeing to inſure one anothers Houſes from Loſs by Fire, by an amicable Contribution, entered into a Deed of Settlement for that Purpoſe; which being ſigned by every Perſon deſirous of becoming a Member, he or ſhe is thereby admitted into the joint Contributionſhip, and becomes an equal Sharer in Profit and Loſs, in Pro-

Proportion to his, her or their reſpective Inſurances; which Deed of Settlement was inrolled in Chancery, 24 January, Anno 1698.

This Office being calculated for the mutual Eaſe and Advantage of all the Contributors, they inſure Houſes, Chambers, &c. at the following eaſy Rates, viz. The Depoſite Money on Stone, or Brick Houſes, is ten Shillings per Cent. and double on thoſe of Timber; with a Premium of two Shillings per Cent. on Brick or Stone, and double on Timber Buildings, for any Sum not exceeding 1500 l. And for any Sum from 1500 l. to 2000 l. four Shillings per Cent. on Brick or Stone, and double on Timber for any Term of Years not exceeding ſeven. But a Sum exceeding 2000 l. not to be inſured on any Building, without the Approbation of a General Court. And for the more effectual preventing the Office from being impoſed upon, they inſure only three-fourths of the Value of each Houſe.

Surely never any Project was better calculated for the mutual Advantage of the Contributors than this; for the Depoſite Money of ten and twenty Shillings per Cent. is returnable at the Expiration of ſeven Years, the Premium employed in defraying the Expence of the Office, and the Surplus thrown into the Dividend of Profits.

The annual Dividend of this Society ariſes from the Surpluſage above-mentioned, and the Intereſt of their Stock in the publick Funds and other Securities; which on ſtating the Company's Accounts, 23 October, Anno 1732, amounted to fifty-five thouſand two hundred and forty-ſeven Pounds ſeven Shillings and two Pence Half-penny. The Profits whereof amounting to above double the Expence of the Office, the Remainder is divided among the Proprietors.

The Affairs of this Community are managed by twenty-four Directors, who generouſly ſerve gratis; which together with their frugal and diſintereſted Management, the conſiderable Fund aforeſaid, and a Call of ten Shillings per Cent. on Brick, and twenty on Wooden Buildings (which is the moſt that each Contributor is obliged to pay, in caſe ſo great a Loſs ſhould happen as to require the ſame, which hitherto has not happened, nor probably never will) on any extraordinary Event; a better Security cannot well be deviſed. And as this Office, as already hinted, is calculated for the general Good of the Members, they have likewiſe the Advantage ſeparately to examine the Deed of Settlement, and all Orders and Proceedings, as well of the General Courts, as thoſe of the Court of Directors.

This Company, for the extinguiſhing of Fires, keep in their Service thirty Firemen, who are annually cloathed, and have each a Badge. See Alderſgate Ward.

Jewel-Office.

In this Office, which is kept in the Tower of London, beſides Plate and Jewels of great Value, are contained the Regalia uſed at Coronations. See Tower of London, Vol. I. Page 146, &c.

Lead-Office.

This Company was incorporated by Letters Patent of the fourth of William and Mary, 4 Oct. Anno 1692, by the Appellation of The Governor and Company for ſmelting down Lead with Pit and Sea-Coal, and by which they were impowered to raiſe a joint Stock for the effectual carrying on the Buſineſs of Smelting, or Refining Lead from the Ore, &c. with Sea-coal, inſtead of Wood.

This Corporation is under the Direction of a Governor, Deputy-Governor and twelve Aſſiſtants; who manage their Affairs in a convenient Houſe in Ingram's-court in Fenchurch-ſtreet.

London-Aſſurance.

This Society, purſuant to an Act of Parliament of the ſixth of George I. was incorporated by Letters Patent of the ſaid Prince, 22 June, Anno 1720, by the Name of The London Aſſurance for aſſuring of Ships, Goods, and Merchandizes at Sea, or going to Sea; and for lending Money upon Bottomry. By which Name they are to have perpetual Succeſſion, (yet ſubject to Redemption by Parliament) with a Power to ſue and implead, be ſued and impleaded, anſwer and be anſwered in Courts of Record, or elſewhere, touching or concerning the Tranſactions of the Corporation; to have a common Seal; and to purchaſe Lands, &c. in Mortmain, to the Amount of one thouſand Pounds per Annum; and to grant, alien, or demiſe the ſame at Pleaſure. Act Parl. 6 G. I.

In Conſideration of the Premiſes, the Corporation was to advance to his Majeſty the Sum of three hundred thouſand Pounds, without Intereſt, for the Term of thirty-one Years. Towards the raiſing of which Sum, and paying all juſt Demands, that may be made upon their reſpective Policies, the Company was impowered to raiſe a Sum not exceeding fifteen hundred thouſand Pounds, to be called the Stock of the Corporation.

And in caſe the Government ſhould think fit to repay the aforeſaid Sum of three hundred thouſand Pounds within, or at the Expiration of, the aforeſaid Term of thirty-one Years; then, and in ſuch caſe, three Years Notice ſhall be given by Parliament in the London Gazette, to be affixed on the Royal Exchange of London. Upon the Payment of which Sum, the Corporation to ceaſe, and become intirely void, in all Reſpects, as if the ſame had never ſubſiſted.

By a ſecond Charter, granted to this Corporation, 29 April, Anno 1721, they were impowered not only to inſure Houſes, Goods, Ships, &c. from Fire, but likewiſe to aſſure Lives.

London-bridge Water-works.

Theſe Water-works are divided into Shares, which belong to the ſeveral Proprietors; who, after a Deduction of Charges, divide the Profits ariſing thereby half-yearly. See Bridge Ward within.

Mercers Aſſurance-Office.

This Office of Aſſurance was projected by William Aſhton, D. D. See Mercers Company. Acc. Aſſit. Propoſ.

Merchants Water-works.

To this Office belong three Engines for raiſing Water, viz. a Windmill in Tottenham-Court-Road-Fields; and two others wrought by the common Sewer at Tom's Coffee-houſe in St. Martin's and Harts-horn Lanes in the Strand; whence iſſue three main Pipes of ſix and ſeven Inch Bores, whereby thoſe Neighbourhoods are ſup-ſupplied with Water. This Company, like others, after the defraying of all Charges, divide the Profits half-yearly.

Mines Royal.

Sir John Pettus's Fodinæ Regale.

The Engliſh in the Reign of Queen Elizabeth having but little Knowledge in diſcovering and working of Mines, ſhe, by the Advice of her Council, ſent for divers Germans experienced in ſuch Works, and thoſe of Smelting and Refineing of Minerals; who, on their Arrival, were no ſooner naturalized, than the Queen, by her Letters Patent of the tenth of October, An. 1564, granted to Thomas Thurland and Daniel Houghſetter, and their Heirs for ever, Licence to ſearch for Mines of Gold, Silver, Copper, and Quickſilver, in the ſeveral Royalties in the Counties of York, Lancaſhire, Cumberland, Weſtmorland, Cornwall, Devon, Gloceſter, Worceſter and Principality of Wales, for their ſole Uſe and Profit, other than that her Majeſty reſerved to herſelf the Tenths of all Gold, Silver, and Quickſilver Ores, and the Pre-emption of refined Gold and Silver; the former at eight Pence, and the latter at one Penny per Ounce lower than the current Price of the ſaid Metals; and two Shillings and ſix Pence for every hundred Weight of Copper.

Ibid. Thurland and Houghſetter aforeſaid, having, by virtue of the Powers granted them, ſold divers Parts, or Shares, of their ſaid Privileges, &c. they were, with the Purchaſers, by Letters Patent 22 May, Anno 1568, incorporated by the Style of The Governors, Aſſiſtants and Commonalty of the Mines Royal. The Shares of this Company at firſt conſiſted of twenty-four; which have ſince been increaſed to ninety-ſix.

Mineral and Mineral-works.

Ibid. Queen Elizabeth, on the ſeventeenth of September, Anno 1565, granted to William Humfreys and Chriſtopher Schutz, a German, a Licence to ſearch for all Mines, Minerals, and ſubterraneous Treaſure, (except Copperas and Alom) in the ſeveral Royalties, in all Parts of England, (excluſive of the eight Counties ſpecified in Thurland's and Houghſetter's Grant of the Mines Royal) and in the Engliſh Pale in Ireland; to be held of the Crown upon the ſame Terms as thoſe belonging to the Company of Mines Royal.

Ibid. Some Time after, Queen Elizabeth, on the twenty-eighth of May, Anno 1568, incorporated this Society by the Name of The Governors, Aſſiſtants and Society of the Mineral and Battery-works. The Number of Shares belonging to this Company at firſt were thirty-ſix; which being divided into Half and Quarter-parts, they are thereby increaſed to one hundred and forty-four.

Mint-Office.

Try. Pix. This Office is kept in the Tower of London; the Moniers, or Members whereof, were incorporated by Edward III. See Tower of London, Vol. I. Page 146, &c.

Navy-Office.

In this Office, which is kept in Crouched-friars, are managed all Affairs belonging to the Royal Navy, by ſeven Commiſſioners under the Lord High Admiral, or Commiſſioners of the Admiralty; the Chief whereof being the Treaſurer, his Office is to receive and pay all Sums for the Uſe of the Navy. See Tower Ward.

New-River Company.

Various were the Projects in the Reign of Queen Elizabeth and King James I. for ſupplying the City of London with a ſufficient Quantity of Water, for domeſtick Uſes. One of which, in the third of King James I. Anno 1606, was confirmed by Act of Parliament. See Vol. I. Page 294. Act Parl. 3 Jac. I.

By an exact Menſuration of the Courſe of the New-River, taken by Henry Mills, (Surveyor to the Company) in the Year 1723, it appeared to be thirty-eight Miles three Quarters and ſixteen Poles in Length; to which it was reduced, by the Contraction of its Sinuoſities, above two Miles. Mill. Surv. New Riv.

This River, wherein, and over it, are forty-three Sluices, and two hundred and fifteen Bridges, is carried over two Vales in Wooden Frames, or Troughs, lined with Lead; that at Buſhil being ſix hundred and ſixty Feet in Length, and thirty in Height; under which, for the Paſſage of the Land-waters, is an Arch, capacious enough to receive the greateſt Cart, or Waggon, laden with Hay or Straw; and the other, at Highbury, is in Length four hundred and ſixty-two Feet, and in Height ſeventeen. And over and under the ſaid River, beſides divers conſiderable Currents of Land-waters, a great Number of Brooks, Rills, and Water-courſes have their Paſſage.

As this New-River is, in ſome Places, wafted over Hills and Vales, ſo in others, Mole-like, it forces its Way through ſubterraneous Paſſages; and arriving at the Place, unjuſtly called its Head, in the Neighbourhood of Iſlington, 'tis ingulfed by fifty-eight Main Pipes, of Bores of ſeven Inches; whereby 'tis conveyed into the ſeveral Streets, Lanes, &c. of the City and Suburbs of London, to the great Convenience and Uſe of the Inhabitants; who, by ſmall Leaden Pipes of an Half-Inch Bore, have the Water brought into their Houſes; which amount to upwards of thirty thouſand, who take in the ſame.

This Corporation conſiſts of a Governor, Deputy-Governor, Treaſurer, and twenty-ſix Directors; who at preſent keep their Office in Bridewell Precinct; where, weekly, on Thurſdays, they hold a Board, for appointing of Officers, granting of Leaſes, and redreſſing of Grievances.

The Officers and Servants belonging to this Company, beſides the above-mentioned, are, a Clerk, and his Aſſiſtant; a Surveyor, and his Deputy; fourteen Collectors, who, after deducting five per Cent. for collecting the Company's Rents, pay their Money every Thurſday to the Treaſurer; fourteen Walkſmen, who have their ſeveral Walks along the River, to prevent throwing in Filth, or infectious Matter, into the ſame; ſixteen Turncocks; twelve Paviours; twenty Borers of Pipes, beſides Horſe Engines for boring of others; together with a great Number of inferior Servants and Labourers.

The Work of the New-River being finiſhed, and the Water brought to the Baſon, into which 'twas not admitted till the Michaelmas following, in the Year 1613, on which Day, Sir Thomas Middleton, Brother to our Undertaker, was elected Lord- Mund. Ed. Stow. Sur.

Lord-Mayor of London for the enſuing Year; who accompanying Sir John Swinerton, the Lord-Mayor, attended by many of the Aldermen, Recorder, &c. repaired to the ſaid Baſon; when a Company of Labourers, about ſixty in Number, (handſomly apparelled, with green Caps, carrying Spades, Shovels, Pickaxes, and other Implements of Labour) preceded by Drums and Trumpets, marched thrice round the Baſon; when ſtopping before the Lord-Mayor, &c. who were ſeated upon an Eminence, one of the ſaid Labourers addreſſed himſelf to them in the following Lines:

Mund. Ed. Stow. Sur.

Long have we labour'd, long deſir'd and pray'd
For this great Work's Perfection: And by th' Ayd
Of Heav'n, and good Mens Wiſhes, tis at length
Happily conquer'd by Coſt, Art and Strength.
And after five Yeeres deare Expence in Days,
Travaile and Paines, beſides the infinite Wayes
Of Malice, Envie, falſe Suggeſtions,
Able to daunt the Spirits of mighty ones
In Wealth and Courage: This, a Work ſo rare,
Only by one Man's Induſtry, Coſt and Care,
Is brought to bleſt Effect, ſo much withſtood;
His onlye Ayme the Cities generall Good.
And when (before) many unjuſt Complaints,
Enviouſly ſeated, cauſed oft Reſtraints,
Stops, and great Croſſes, to our Maſter's Charge,
And the Work's Hindrance; Favour now at large
Spreads itſelf open to him, and commends
To Admiration both his Pains and Ends.
The King's moſt gracious Love Perfection draws,
Favour from Princes, and (from all) Applauſe.
Then, worthy Magiſtrates, to whoſe Content,
(Next to the State) all this great Care was bent;
And for the Publicke Good, (which Grace requires)
Your Loves and Furtherance chiefly he deſires,
To cheriſh theſe Proceedings; which may give
Courage to ſome, that may hereafter live,
To practiſe Deedes of Goodneſſe and of Fame,
And gladly light their Actions by his Name.
Clarke of the Work, reach me the Booke, to ſhow
How many Arts from ſuch a Labour flow.
Firſt, here's the Overſeer, this tride Man,
An ancient Soldier, and an Artizan:
The Clarke, next him, a Mathematician.
The Maſter of the Timber-work takes place
Next after theſe; the Meaſurer, in like caſe;
Bricklayer, and Engineer; and after thoſe,
The Borer and the Paviour. Then it ſhowes
The Labourers next; Keeper of Amwell-head;
The Walkers, laſt: So all their Names are read.
Yet theſe but Parcels of ſix hundred more,
That (at one Time) have been imployed before.
Yet theſe in Sight, and all the reſt will ſay,
That all the Weeke they had their Royall Pay.
Now for the Fruits then: Flow forth, precious Spring,
So long and dearly ſought for, and now bring
Comfort to all that love thee: Loudly ſing,
And with thy Chryſtal Murmurs ſtrook together,
Bid all thy true Well-wiſhers, Welcome hither.

At which Word, the Sluices being opened, the Stream ran plentifully into the Baſon, under the Sound of Drums and Trumpets, the Diſcharge of divers Chambers, and loud Acclamations of the People.

Sir Hugh Middleton, with the Aſſiſtance of King James I. and the Mayor and Commonalty of London, is ſuppoſed to have expended five hundred thouſand Pounds in bringing this Work to Town: But ſo poorly did it anſwer at firſt, that the Projector was almoſt ruined by it, whereupon the King, who was intitled to a Moiety of the Profits, relinquiſhed his Share, reſerving only 500 Pounds per Ann. out of it: And for above thirty Years, there were not divided but five Pounds odd Money to each of the Shares, which are ſeventy-two in Number; and are now reckoned to be worth between 4 and 5000 Pounds each.

The New-River-Company ſupplies at this Time above 30000 Houſes with Water, for they have more than that Number of Tenants, ſeveral of which pay for many Houſes.

Office of Ordnance.

This Office, which is kept in the Tower of London, is under the Direction of a Maſter. See Tower of London, Vol. I. Page 146, &c.

Pay-Office.

This Office, which is kept in Broad-ſtreet near London-wall, is under the Direction of a Treaſurer, and Pay-maſter, who pay for all the Stores for the Uſe of the Royal Navy, and Wages of Sailors that ſerve on board the ſame. See Broad-ſtreet Ward.

Penny-Poſt-Office.

Comptrol. Account.

This Office, which is of great Uſe and Convenience to the Citizens of London, (and unknown in other Countries) was projected by David Murray, an Upholder in Pater-Noſter-row, in the Year 1683, who communicating the ſame to William Dockwra, he carried it on for ſome Time with great Succeſs; till the Government laid Claim to the ſame, as a Royal Prerogative; which Dockwra being obliged to ſubmit to, had, in return a Penſion of two hundred Pounds per Annum granted him by the King during Life. It is under the Direction of the Poſt-maſter-general; who appoints, as Managers thereof, a Comptroller, an Accomptant, Receiver, and Comptroller's Clerk; who have under their Management ſix Sorters and eight Sub-ſorters of Letters, ſeventy-four Meſſengers or Letter-carriers, and three hundred and thirty-four Houſes within the Bill of Mortality, for receiving or taking in Letters, which are divided among the ſix Offices belonging to the Penny-Poſt, as follow: viz. To the chief Office in St. Chriſtopher's-alley, Threadneedle-ſtreet, one Sorter, two Sub-ſorters, twenty Meſſengers, and ſeventy-three Receiving-houſes. To Weſtminſter Office, in Little Suffolk-ſtreet, one Sorter, two Sub-ſorters, fifteen Meſſengers, and ſeventy-nine Receiving-houſes. To St. Paul's Office, in Queen's-Head-alley, Pater-Noſter-row, one Sorter, a Sub-ſorter, ten Meſſengers, and thirty-ſix Receiving-houſes. To the Temple Office, in Chicheſter-rents, Chancery-lane, one Sorter, a Sub-ſorter, twelve Meſſengers, and ſixty-two Receiving-houſes. To Southwark Office, in St. Mary Overie's Church-yard, one Sorter, a Sub-ſorter, twelve Meſſengers, and fifty-four Receiving-houſes. To the Hermitage Office, in King-ſtreet, Roſe-mary-lane, one Sorter, a Sub-ſorter, five Meſſengers, and thirty Receiving-houſes.

The

The Advantages ariſing to the Citizens of London, Weſtminſter, &c. by this Poſt in reſpect to Trade, are very conſiderable; for inſtead of corresponding with their Cuſtomers in the diſtant Parts of the City and Suburbs, and circumjacent Towns and Villages, at the great Expence of Porterage as formerly, they can at preſent, by this valuable Convenience, manage their Affairs in thoſe Places, by ſending Letters, or Parcels of a Pound Weight, at ſo ſmall a Charge as one Penny upon the Stones. But beyond the Stones-end, two Pence, of which the Receiver as well as the Sender pays one Penny. Beſides the above-mentioned Number of Receiving-houſes in the City and Suburbs, there are within the Circuit of the Penny-Poſt, in the Neighbourhood of London, upwards of two hundred Towns and Villages, where Penny-poſt Letters and Parcels are taken in. See Broad-ſtreet Ward.

Poſt-Office.

Of what Antiquity the Poſt in this Kingdom is, I cannot aſcertain; but by the firſt Account I find thereof, it appears to have been managed by ſeveral private Offices, which had their reſpective Diſtricts. Great Inconveniencies ariſing from their different Methods of Management, they were ſuppreſſed, and a certain Number of Publick Offices erected in lieu thereof: But theſe not anſwering the End propoſed, a General Poſt-Office was erected by Act of Parliament, in the twelfth of Charles II. Anno 1660, to be kept within the City of London, under the Direction of a Poſt-maſter, to be appointed by the King, and with Power to appoint Poſt-houſes in divers Parts of the Country hitherto unprovided, both in Poſt and By-roads.

Act Parl. 12 Car. II.

By the ſaid Act of Parliament, the Poſtage of Letters to and from all Places thereinmentioned was not only aſcertained, but likewiſe the Rates of Poſt-horſes, to be paid by all ſuch as ſhall ride Poſt.

Ibid. 9 Anne.

And upon the Union of the Kingdoms of England and Scotland, a General Poſt-Office was eſtabliſhed by Act of Parliament in the Year 1710, not only for the united Kingdom of Great-Britain, but likewiſe for that of Ireland, and her Majeſty's Plantations in the Weſt Indies and North America; by which the Poſtage of Letters being raiſed, I ſhall ſubjoin an Account of the preſent Rates, payable upon all Letters and Packets, to and from the ſeveral Places therein mentioned.

The Office of Poſt-Maſter General is at preſent under the Direction of two Commiſſioners, aſſiſted by a Secretary and Clerk, who have under their Management for the Inland Office, a Comptroller, Receiver, Accomptant and Solicitor, ſeven Clerks of the Roads, and thirteen others, with three Window-men: And for the Foreign Office, a Comptroller and Alphabet-keeper, and eight Clerks, including thoſe of the Receiver and Accomptant. And the Number of Receiving-houſes within the Bill of Mortality, where Letters are taken in for the General-Poſt, amount to thirty; and that of Men who carry Letters to all Parts within the ſaid Diſtrict, to ſixty-nine.

Record-Office.

This Office is kept in the Tower of London. See Tower of London, Page 146, &c.

This Office is in the Cuſtody of a Keeper and his Deputy, who occaſionally employ a Number of Clerks.

Rotherhithe Water-works.

This Office is kept at the upper End of Rotherhithe-wall, and lower End of Mill-ſtreet; where the Water Engine belonging to the ſame is wrought by Water from the River Thames, which being brought in by the Tide, is contained in the Canals in the neighbouring Streets: By this Engine a ſufficient Quantity of Water is raiſed to ſupply two Main Pipes of a ſix Inch Bore each, whereby the Neighbourhood is plentifully ſerved with Thames Water.

Royal-Exchange Aſſurance,

This Society, purſuant to an Act of Parliament of the ſixth of George I. 22 June, Anno 1720, were incorporated by Letters Patent, by the Name of The Royal-Exchange Aſſurance for aſſuring of Ships, Goods and Merchandiſe at Sea, or going to Sea, and for lending Money on Bottomry: By which Name they are to have perpetual Succeſſion, (yet ſubject to Redemption by Parliament) with a Power to ſue and implead, be ſued and impleaded, anſwer and be anſwered in Courts of Record, or elſewhere, touching, or concerning the Tranſactions of the Corporation; to have a common Seal, and to purchaſe Lands, &c. in Mortmain, to the Amount of one thouſand Pounds per Annum, and to grant, alien or demiſe the ſame at pleaſure.

In conſideration of the Premiſes, the Corpotion was to advance to the King the Sum of three hundred thouſand Pounds, without Intereſt, for the Term of thirty-one Years. Towards raiſing this Sum, and paying all juſt Demands that ſhall be made upon their reſpective Policies, the Company were impowered to raiſe a Sum not exceeding fifteen hundred thouſand Pounds, to be called the Stock of the Corporation.

And in caſe the Government ſhould think fit to repay the aforeſaid Sum of three hundred thouſand Pounds, within, or at the Expiration of the Term above mentioned; then and in ſuch caſe, (three Years Notice thereof ſhall be given by Parliament in the London Gazette, to be affixed on the Royal-Exchange of London; upon the Payment of which Sum) the Corporation to ceaſe and become intirely void in all Reſpects, as if the ſame had never ſubſiſted.

By a ſecond Charter granted to this Corporation, they are impowered not only to inſure Houſes, Goods, Ships, &c. from Fire, but likewiſe to aſſure Lives.

Shadwell Water-works.

This Office is kept in Shadwell, and is wrought by two Fire Engines, who ſupply two Main Pipes of ſix or ſeven Inch Bores with Thames Water, wherewith that Neighbourhood is plentifully furniſhed.

Stratford or Bow Water-works.

So called from their Situation, between the Villages of Bow in the County of Middleſex, and Stratford in the County of Eſſex, on the great Road to Harwich. Theſe Works are ſupplied by a Fire Engine, which throws up the Water out of a Creek, branched from the River Lea, which is conveyed firſt into Reſervoirs to ſettle, and then by broader Pipes conveyed Eaſtward into Stratford, and Weſtward to Bow, Bromley, Old Ford, Mile-end Old Town, Stepney, Limehouſe, Ratcliffe, and as far as Sun-Tavern Fields, in Shadwell Pariſh.

Sun-Fire Office.

This Office was projected by John Povey, about the Year 1706, for inſuring Merchandize and Houſhold Goods (as well as Houſes from Fire) which, till then was never done. Povey having for ſome Time carried on his Project with Succeſs, diſpoſed of the ſame, and conveyed his Right therein to certain Purchaſers; who, by a Deed of Settlement of the 7th of April, Anno 1710, erected themſelves into a Society by the Name of The Sun-Fire Office, for inſuring Houſes, Goods, Wares and Merchandizes from Loſs and Damage by Fire.

This Society not confining themſelves, like other Offices, to inſure Houſes, Goods, &c. within the Bill of Mortality only, but, for the Advantage of the Inhabitants of Great Britain in general, have extended their Inſurance to all Parts of the Iſland. And that all Perſons may with the greater Security inſure in this Office, the Proprietors have raiſed a Fund of forty-eight thouſand Pounds for the Safety of the inſured, who are aſſured according to the Rates ſet forth in the ſubjoined Table.

A Table of annual Premiums to be paid for Inſurances.

Under the Article of common Inſurances, are to be underſtood all Brick, or Stone, Buildings, not inhabited by the hazardous Trades hereafter ſpecified, nor the Goods hereunder mentioned. Under that of hazardous Inſurances are to be underſtood Timber and Plaiſter Buildings, and Goods and Merchandize therein called hazardous. And under the Head of doubly hazardous, are to be underſtood all Thatched Timber, or Plaiſter Buildings, wherein hazardous Goods, or Trades are depoſited, or carried on.

The hazardous Trades and Goods are, viz. Apothecaries, Chymiſts, Bread and Biſket-bakers, Ship and Tallow-chandlers, Stable-keepers, Innholders and Malt-houſes; Hemp, Flax, Tallow, Pitch, Tar, Turpentine, Hay, Straw, Fodder of all Kinds, and Corn unthraſhed.

To this Office belong thirty Firemen, and twenty Porters, to aſſiſt the Inſured in caſe of Fire.

Trade and Plantation Office.

This Office, which is kept at the North-eaſt Corner of King-ſtreet, Weſtminſter, is under the Direction of eight Commiſſioners, whoſe Buſineſs it it is, to examine the Cuſtom-houſe Accounts of all the Goods and Merchandize exported and imported from and to the ſeveral Ports of the Kingdom, as well as from Foreign Parts; thereby to inform the Government in reſpect to the Advantages and Diſadvantages of the Trade of the Nation, with the ſeveral Kingdoms and States beyond Sea, in regard to the Balance of Trade. And alſo, to encourage our Plantations abroad, by endeavouring to diſcover what Branches of Trade are the moſt conducive to their reſpective Intereſts, as well as that of the Kingdom.

Trinity-Houſe.

Mar. Prec. This Society was incorporated by Henry VIII. 20 May, Anno 1515, who confirmed to them not only all the antient Rights and Privileges of the Shipmen and Mariners of England, their Predeceſſors, but alſo their ſeveral Poſſeſſions at Deptford; which, together with divers Grants of Queen Elizabeth and King Charles II. were confirmed by Letters Patent of the firſt of James II. 8 July, Anno 1685, by the Name of The Maſter, Wardens and Aſſiſtants of the Guild or Fraternity of the moſt glorious and undivided Trinity, and of St. Clement in the Pariſh of Deptford Strond in the County of Kent.

This Corporation is governed by a Maſter, four Wardens, eight Aſſiſtants and eighteen Elder Brethren; the inferior Members of the Fraternity, denominated Younger Brethren, are of an unlimited Number, (for every Maſter, or Mate, expert in Navigation, may be admitted as ſuch) and ſerve as a continual Nurſery to ſupply the Vacancies among the Elder Brethren, when removed by Death, or otherwiſe.

The Maſter, Wardens, Aſſiſtants and Elder Brethren of this Fraternity are by Charter inveſted with the following Powers:

Ibid. 1. The examining of the Mathematical Children of Chriſt's Hoſpital.

2. The Examination of the Maſters of his Majeſty's Ships, the appointing Pilots to conduct Ships in and out of the River Thames, and the amercing all ſuch as ſhall preſume to act as Maſter of a Ship of War, or Pilot, without their Approbation, in a pecuniary Mulct of twenty Pounds.

3. The ſettling the ſeveral Rates of Pilotage, and erecting Light-houſes and other Sea Marks upon the ſeveral Coaſts of the Kingdom, for the Security of Navigation.

4. The preventing of Aliens from ſerving on board Engliſh Ships, without their Licence, upon Penalty of five Pounds for each Offence.

5. The puniſhing of Seamen, for Deſertion, or Mutiny, in the Merchants Service.

6. The Hearing and Determining the Complaints of Officers and Seamen in the Merchants Service; but ſubject to an Appeal to the Lord High Admiral, or Judge of the Court of Admiralty.

7. The granting of Licences to poor Seamen (Non-Freemen) to row on the River Thames for their Support in the Intervals of Sea Service.

To this Company belongs the Ballaſt Office, for clearing and deepning the River Thames, by taking from thence a ſufficient Quantity of Ballaſt for the Supply of all Ships that ſail out of the ſaid River; in which Service, ſixty Barges, of the Burden of thirty Tons and two Men each, are continually employed.

And in Conſideration of the great Increaſe of the Poor of this Fraternity, they are by their Charter impowered to purchaſe in Mormain, Lands, Tenements, &c. to the Amount of five hundred Pounds per Annum; and alſo to receive charitable Benefactions of well-diſpoſed Perſons, to the like Amount of five hundred Pounds per Annum, clear of Reprizes. Ibid.

The Company annually relieve about three thouſand poor Seamen, their Widows and poor Orphans, at the Expence of about ſix thouſand Pounds.

Union Fire-Office.

This Office was erected in the Year 1714, by a conſiderable Number of Perſons, who mutually agreeing to inſure one anothers Goods and Merchandize from Loſs by Fire, by an amicable Contribution, entered into a Deed of Settlement for that Purpoſe, which being ſigned by every Perſon deſirous of becoming a Member, he is thereby admitted into the joint Contribution-ſhip, and becomes an equal Sharer in Profit and Loſs, in Proportion to his, her, or their reſpective Inſurances; which Deed of Settlement was executed on the 16th of February, Anno 1714, and inrolled in Chancery on July 8, Anno 1715.

This Office, denominated The Union Society for inſuring of Goods and Merchandize from Loſs by Fire, was erected upon the ſame Foot, in all Reſpects, as that of the Hand and Hand Fire-Office, other than this, that inſtead of Houſes, they only inſure Goods and Merchandize at the Rates in the following Table.

A Table of the Premiums and Depoſits, payable for Inſurances for the Term of ſeven Years.

The Affairs of this Community are managed by twenty-four Directors, who generouſly ſerve gratis; which, together with their frugal and diſintereſted Management, conſiderable Fund, and a Call of ten Shillings per Cent. (which is the moſt that each Contributor is obliged to pay, in caſe ſo great a Loſs ſhould happen as to require the ſame, which hitherto has not happened, nor probably never will) on any extraordinary Event, a better Security cannot well be deviſed. And as this Office, as already hinted, is calculated for the general Good of the Society, the Members have the Advantage of examining the Deed of Settlement, and all Orders and Proceedings, as well of the general Courts, as that of the Directors.

To this Office belong twenty-four Porters (who give ſufficient Security for their Fidelity) for carrying off the Goods of the Inſured in caſe of Fire, who, beſides their Cloaths and Badges, are handſomely paid for their Labour. See Alderſgate Ward.

Victualling-Office.

See Tower Ward.

Welſh Copper-Office.

This Company, whoſe Office is in Philpot-lane, was incorporated by Letters Patent of William III. 10 April, Anno 1694, by the Style of Governor and Company of Copper Mines of the Principality of Wales: By which Charter they are allowed to purchaſe Lands, Tenements, &c. in Mortmain, without Limitation. And tho' this Corporation, by their Title, ſeem to be confined to the Mines in Wales, they are now at work on divers Mines in England.

Weſtminſter Fire-Office.

This Office, which is kept at Tom's Coffee-houſe in St. Martin's-lane, was erected, and the Deed of Settlement executed on the 13th of February, Anno 1717, and two Days after the ſame was inrolled in the High Court of Chancery. This Society being, in all Reſpects, alike unto that of the Hand in Hand, I ſhall only add, that they keep eighteen Firemen for extinguiſhing Fires, who, beſides Jackets and Badges, are handſomely paid for their Labour.

Wine-Licence-Office.

This Office, which is kept in Arundel ſtreet, in the Strand, is under the Management of five Commiſſioners, whoſe Buſineſs it is to grant Licences to the ſeveral Retailers of Wine in all Parts of the Kindom, (other than the Free Vintners of London, who are exempt) who are rated according to their reſpective Returns.

York-buildings Water-works.

This Company was incorporated by Act of Parliament in the Year 1691, for raiſing Thames Water in York-buildings to ſupply that Neighbourhood. But the Directors of the ſame, by purchaſing Eſtates, erecting new Water-works, and other pernicious Projects, have almoſt ruined the Corporation: However, their chargeable Engines for raſing Water by Fire being laid aſide, they continue to work that of Horſes, which, together with their Eſtates in England and Scotland, may in Time reſtore the Company's Affairs.

Among the above-named Companies and Offices, that of the Trinity-houſe ſeems to be the only one that has the Diſpoſal of Charitable Benefactions, which are ſo very great, that they amount to about ſix thouſand Pounds per Ann.

BOOK VI.

Containing an Account of the ſeveral Schools, Societies, Libraries, Inns of Court, Courts of Juſtice, Colleges, Hoſpitals, and Alms-houſes within the City and Suburbs of London.

CHAP. I.

An Account of the Free and Charity-Schools within the Bill of Mortality.

Fitzſteph. Deſcript. Lond.

THAT Learning was early planted in London, is not to be queſtioned, ſeeing that about the Beginning of the thirteenth Century, many Schools were in this City; the principal whereof were thoſe of St. Paul, the Trinity, and St. Martin. The firſt belonged to the Cathedral of that Name; and the latter, to the Monaſteries of the Trinity and St. Martin's le Grand.

Stow. Surv. Lond.

Henry V. by the Suppreſſion of foreign Priories, having deſtroyed divers Schools in this City and Neighbourhood; his Son and Succeſſor, Henry VI. to ſupply that Defect, did, by his Letters Patent, in the Year 1446, appoint the erecting of four new Grammar Schools in London, as already noted in our firſt Book under that Year.

At the general Suppreſſion of Monaſteries by Henry VIII. the Number of Schools in this City were greatly reduced; which put many Perſons, that were Lovers of Learning, upon erecting others; as will appear by the following Liſt.

Allhallows-Staining School.

This School was founded by William Winter, in the Year 1658, who endowed the ſame with the Sum of ſix hundred Pounds; the Profits ariſing from which, amounting to twenty-ſix Pounds per Ann. are imployed in inſtructing ſix Boys in Reading, Writing and Accounts, and for putting them out Apprentices, with each of whom a Sum not exceeding ten Pounds is given.

Almonry School.

This School, which is ſituate in the Almonry at Weſtminſter, was founded by Emery Hill, Eſq; in the Year 1677, who endowed the ſame with ſeven Pounds per Annum, for the Education of poor Children.

Applebee's School.

This School, which is kept in St. Saviour's Church-yard in Southwark, was founded by Dorothy Applebee, in the Year 1681, who endowed the ſame with twenty Pounds per Annum, for inſtructing thirty poor Boys in Reading, Writing, and Arithmetick.

Back-ſtreet School.

Dr. Thomas Teniſon, Archbiſhop of Canterbury, about the Year 1704, founded this School, for the Education of poor Girls, who are cloathed and taught. Their Number at preſent being twenty; 'tis to be increaſed according to the Improvement of the Eſtate; which, at this Time, is about forty Pounds per Annum.

Bancroft's

Bancroft's School.

This School, belonging to the Alms-houſes of that Name at Mile-end, contains one hundred Boys; who are cloathed and taught. See Bancroft's Alms-houſes.

Black-friars School.

This School was founded by Peter Joy, Eſq; Citizen of London, in the Year 1716, who endowed the ſame with a perpetual Fund of one hundred and ſixty Pounds ſeventeen Shillings and three Pence per Annum, for the Educating and Cloathing of poor Children; out of which the Maſter receives a Salary of thirty, and the Miſtreſs fifteen Pounds yearly, for inſtructing forty Boys and thirty Girls in Reading, Writing and Accounts. This School Mr. Joy left in Truſt with the Governors of Sion College.

Bermondſey School.

This School, purſant to the Will of Joſiah Bacon, late Citizen and Merchant of London, was founded in the Year 1718; for purchaſing a Site, and erecting a School thereon, he bequeath'd the Sum of ſeven hundred Pounds; and endowed the ſame with a perpetual Fund of one hundred and fifty Pounds per Annum, for educating ſixty poor Children of the Pariſh of St. Mary Magdalen, Bermondſey.

Bevis-Marks School.

Bunhill-fields School.

This School was erected by the Company of Haberdaſhers, in the Year 1673, purſuant to the Gift of Throgmorton Trotman, Citizen of London; who endowed the ſame with a perpetual Rent of eighty Pounds per Annum, for the Educating of thirty poor Boys of the Pariſh of St. Giles, Cripplegate.

Caſtle-ſtreet School.

This School and Library were founded by Thomas Tenniſon, D. D. and Vicar of St. Martin's in the Fields, (ſince Archbiſhop of Canterbury) Anno 1685, which being built upon Part of the Pariſh Burial-ground, a Faculty, or Licence, was obtained of the Biſhop of London, for its Erection.

In the Year 1697, the Reverend Founder gave the Sum of one thouſand Pounds, towards a Fund for the Maintenace of his Foundation; and ſome Time after, by Conſent of Dr. Patrick, Biſhop of Ely, another Sum of five hundred Pounds; which had been left them jointly in Truſt, to be diſpoſed of by them to charitable Uſes, according to Diſcretion: Which two Sums, together with two Leaſehold Meſſuages for the Term of forty Years, he veſted in Truſtees, for the Support of his School and Library; out of the Profits of which the School-maſter, beſide a commodious Houſe to dwell in, has a Salary of thirty Pounds per Annum; as has alſo the Uſher the like Sum, but without any Apartment; for which they teach thirty Boys, Sons of the Inhabitants of the Pariſh of St. Martin in the Fields. And the Librarian's Salary is ten Pounds per Annum, with convenient Lodgings contiguous to the Library.

Charterhouſe School.

This School belongs to the Charterhouſe, alias the Hoſpital of King James, wherein are contained forty-four Boys; who are fed, cloathed and taught in the learned Languages, preparatory to the Univerſity; where twenty-nine are continually inſtructed at the Charge of the Hoſpital.

Cherry-tree-alley School.

This School, in Cherry-tree-alley, Golden-lane, was founded by William Worrall, Anno 1689, who endowed the ſame with an annual Rent of thirty Pounds, for educating and cloathing forty poor Boys; whoſe Livery is of an Orange Colour, in Commemoration of the Revolution by the Prince of Orange, Anno 1688.

Chriſt's Hoſpital School.

See Chriſt's Hoſpital in Farringdon Ward within.

Eaſt-Smithfield School.

Sir Samuel Sterling, Knight, and Alderman of this City, in the Year 1673, founded this School, and endowed the ſame with certain Lands and Tenements in Eaſt-Smithfield, to the Amount of twenty Pounds per Annum, for educating ſixteen poor Boys of the Pariſh of St. Botolph, Aldgate, viz. eight in the City Liberty, and eight in that of Eaſt-Smithfield.

Grey-coat School.

This School, belonging to the Grey-coat Hoſpital in Weſtminſter, contains eighty Boys and thirty Girls; who are fed, cloathed and taught. For the Charge thereof, ſee the Hoſpital.

Green-coat School.

This School, belonging to the Green-coat Hoſpital in Weſtminſter, contains twenty Boys; who are fed, cloathed and taught. For the Charge thereof, ſee the Account of the Hoſpital.

This School, which is kept in Ironmonger-row in Old-ſtreet, was founded in the Year 1727, by John Fuller, for the Education of twenty Boys and upwards; and for the Support of which, he bequeathed the Sum of ſixteen hundred Pounds, to be laid out in a Purchaſe.

Iſlington School.

Dame Alice Owen founded this School in the Year 1613, for the educating of thirty Children; for which, a Maſter receives twenty Pounds per Annum. This Foundation, together with that of the adjacent Alms-houſes, are under the Care of the Company of Brewers of this City.

Lambeth School.

This School was founded by Richard Laurence, Citizen and Merchant of London, in the Year 1661, for the Educating of twenty poor Children of the Marſh and Wall Liberties of this Pariſh; who endowed the ſame with a perpetual Fund of thirty-five Pounds per Annum.

London-workhouſe School.

See Biſhopſgate Ward.

Mercers School.

This School, which is ſituate in the Old Jewry, antiently belonged to the Hoſpital of St. Thomas of Acons; but that Hoſpital being ſurrendered

to

to Henry the Eighth in the Year 1531, it was purchaſed by the Company of Mercers of this City, who have ſince continued the School; but whether by Compact, or Munificence, I cannot learn. However, the Maſter has a Salary of forty Pounds per Annum, with a commodious Houſe to dwell in; for which he is to teach twenty-five Boys in Grammatical Learning.

Merchant-Taylors School.

Stow. Sur. Lond.

This School, ſituate in Suffolk-lane, Thames-ſtreet, was founded by the Company of Merchant-Taylors, in the Years 1568, for the Education of Boys; one hundred whereof, according to the Conſtitutions of the Company, are taught gratis; one hundred at two Shillings and ſix Pence, and fifty at five Shillings per Quarter. Out of theſe Scholars, divers are annually ſelected and ſent to St. John's College at Oxford; which ſeems to have been founded, by Sir Thomas White, chiefly for their Uſe; ſeeing they have no leſs than forty-ſix Fellowſhips therein.

New View Lond.

Clerk. Ac.

The Head Maſter of this School receives from the Company a Salary of ten Pounds ſix Shillings per Annum, and thirty Shillings for Water, beſides Quarterage of all the Scholars. The firſt Uſher's Salary is thirty Pounds; and the two laſt, twenty-five Pounds each. And all of them have proper Apartments.

Palmer's School.

This School, belonging to Palmer's Almshouſes near Tothill-fields, Weſtminſter, contains twenty Boys; who are taught to read, write and account: For which, a Maſter has a Salary of twelve Pounds, and a Chaldron of Coals yearly, with a convenient Houſe, and a Gown every other Year.

Parker's-lane School.

This School, which is kept in Parker'-lane near Drury-lane, was founded about the Year 1663, by William Skelton, of St. Giles's in the Fields, for the Education of fifty poor Boys, viz. Thirty-five whereof to be of the Pariſh of the ſaid St. Giles in the Fields, ten of that of St. Martin in the Fields, and five of St. Paul's Covent-garden. For the Teaching of whom in Reading, Writing and Arithmetick, a Maſter has a Salary of twenty Pounds, two Chaldron of Coals, and a Gown every Year; and each of the Children, a Coat of ſix Shillings Price yearly; and the Surplus, ariſing from the Eſtate, is employed in putting them forth Apprentices.

Plow-yard School.

This School, in Plow-yard, Seething-lane, was founded by James Hickſon, Eſq; about the Year 1689, for the Education of twenty Boys; for which he appointed for the Head Maſter a Salary of twenty Pounds per Annum, a convenient Houſe to reſide in, and two Chaldron of Coals yearly: And to a Writing-Maſter, eight Pounds per Annum. Fourteen of the Children are to be of the Pariſh of Allhallows Barking; and ſix of the Hamlet of Wapping.

Quakers School.

This School, which belongs to the Quakers Workhouſe in Clerkenwell, contains forty Boys and twenty Girls; who are cloathed, fed, and taught, and five Pounds given with each of the Boys, when put out Apprentices.

Ratcliff School.

Nicholas Gibſon, Sheriff of this City, in the Year 1537, founded this School for the Education of ſixty poor Children; for which a Maſter was appointed a Salary of ten Pounds, which is now increaſed to twenty-three Pounds ſix Shillings and eight Pence per Annum; and an Uſher ſix Pounds thirteen Shillings and four Pence, but at preſent he receives nine Pounds thirteen Shillings and four Pence per Annum. This Houſe, belonging to the adjoining Alms-houſes, is under the Management of the Company of Coopers of this City.

Red-Croſs-ſtreet School.

Dame Eleanor Hollis founded this School, Anno 1709, and endowed the ſame with ſixty-two Pounds three Shillings per Annum in Ground-rents; which, with additional Benefactions, is increaſed to eighty Pounds two Shillings and eight Pence yearly, for the educating of fifty poor Girls. Which School, by its being kept in the ſame Houſe with that of the Pariſh Boys of St. Giles's, Cripplegate, is generally taken for the Pariſh Girls Charity-School, to the injured Memory of the Foundreſs.

Rotherhithe School.

Peter Hills and Robert Bell founded this School, in the Year 1612, and endowed the ſame with three Pounds per Annum, for the Educating of eight poor Seamens Children.

St. John's-ſtreet School.

This School, which is ſituate in St. John's-ſtreet, Spittle-fields, was founded by Thomas Parmieter, William Lee, and Elizabeth Carter; who endowed the ſame with ten Pounds per Annum each, for the teaching of thirty Boys in Reading, Writing, and Arithmetick, in a handſome School-houſe, erected in the Year 1722.

St. Olave's School.

This School, which is ſituate in School-houſe-lane in Tooly-ſtreet, Southwark, is commonly denominated Queen Elizabeth's School, from its being founded by her Letters Patent,

Anno for inſtructing the Boys of the Pariſh in Engliſh, Grammar, and Writing; the Number whereof, in the Year 1734, was two hundred and ninety-ſix; for the teaching of whom, the Maſter of the Grammar-ſchool has a Salary of ſixty-one Pounds per Annum; his Uſher, forty-one Pounds ten Shillings; the Writing-maſter, ſixty Pounds, out of which he is obliged to ſupply the School with Pens and Ink; the Engliſh-maſter, thirty-ſeven Pounds ten Shillings; and his Uſher, twenty Pounds: Together, 220 l. per Ann. which chiefly ariſes from an Eſtate in Horſleydown; which, together with the School, is under the Management of ſixteen of the Pariſhioners, purſuant to the Letters of Incorporation.

St. Paul's School.

This School, ſituate behind the Eaſt End of St. Paul's Cathedral, was founded by John Colet, Dean

Dean of St. Paul's, in the Year 1509, for a Maſter, Uſher, and Chaplain, and one hundred and fifty-three Scholars; for the teaching of whom, the Founder appointed a Salary of 34 l. 13 s. 4 d. for the Upper-maſter; for the Under-maſter, 17 l. 6 s. 8 d. and for the Chaplain, 8 l. per Ann. which together with the annual Sum of 38 l. 6 s. 3½ d. for Repairs, &c. the Sum total, wherewith this School was endowed, amounted to 118 l. 14 s. 7½ d. but by the good Oeconomy of the Company of Mercers of this City, to whom the Truſt thereof is committed, the Eſtate at preſent is ſo much improved, that the Salaries of the ſeveral Maſters are advanced above double.

St. Saviour's School.

This Grammar-ſchool, ſituate in St. Saviour's Church-yard in Southwark, was founded by the Pariſh, for the Education of Boys, and confirmed by Letters Patent of the fourth of Elizabeth, Anno 1562, whereby ſix of the Veſtry are for ever appointed Governors thereof; and unto which belong a Maſter and Uſher; the former whereof has a Salary of thirty Pounds, and the latter twenty Pounds per Annum; for which they at preſent (viz. 1734) teach forty-ſix Scholars.

Stewart's School.

Lieutenant General William Stewart, about the Year 1728, bequeathed the Sum of five thouſand Pounds, for erecting and endowing a School for the Benefit of twenty poor Boys of the Pariſh of St. George, Hanover-ſquare.

Tothill-fields School.

This School, ſituate in Rocheſter-row, in Tothill-fields, Weſtminſter, was founded by Emery Hill, Eſq; in the Year 1677, for the Inſtruction of twenty Boys of the Pariſh of St. Margaret, Weſtminſter, in Engliſh, Latin, Writing and Arithmetick.

Weſtminſter School.

This School, belonging to Queen's College, Weſtminſter, was founded by Queen Elizabeth in the Year 1560, for the Education of forty Boys, denominated The Queen's Scholars; who are taught in the beſt Manner, preparatory to the Univerſity. Beſides whom, great Numbers of the young Nobility and Gentry are educated here; whereby it is become the greateſt School in the Kingdom, to the great Advantage of the Maſters; who, inſtead of a Maſter and Uſher, as at firſt, are now an Upper and Under-maſter, and five Uſhers, or Aſſiſtants; who at preſent have above four hundred young Gentlemen under their Tuition.

Whitechapel School.

This School was founded by Ralph Devenant, (ſome time Rector of the Pariſh of St. Mary, Whitechapel) Mary his Wife, and Sarah her Siſter, in the Year 1680. This Foundation being greatly augmented by the charitable Benefaction of a thouſand Pounds, given in the Year 1701, by a Perſon unknown, a Maſter receives a Salary of thirty Pounds per Annum, for teaching of ſixty Boys; as does a Miſtreſs twenty Pounds, for inſtructing forty Girls.

The Free-ſchools above-ſpecified contain two thouſand eight hundred and eighty-eight Boys, and two hundred and eighty-five Girls; the Charge of whoſe Education, &c. (excluſive of that of the Free-ſchools belonging to the Hoſpitals and Alms-houſes above-mentioned, where their reſpective Diſburſements are accounted for) amounts to the yearly Sum of nineteen hundred and ninety Pounds.

Having given an Account of the ſeveral Foundations called Free-ſchools; I ſhall now add that of thoſe denominated Pariſh Charity-ſchools, which have no other Foundation than the generous Benefactions and annual Subſcriptious of well-diſpoſed Perſons; which, together with the charitable Collections made at Sermons, in the ſeveral Churches in this City and Suburbs, is their only Support.

Which Schools, denominated Pariſh-Schools, have not only proved the greateſt Bar to Popery, but likewiſe the moſt effectual Security to the Church of England, againſt all Perſuaſions whatſoever: A Liſt whereof I have ſubjoined, interſperſed with thoſe of all other Denominations within the Bill of Mortality.

A Liſt of the ſeveral Pariſh and other Charity-Schools within the Bill of Mortality, that are ſupported by Subſcriptions, Collections and Benefactions; together with the Numbers of Boys and Girls in each thereof.

As I have not been able to obtain the reſpective Charges of the aforeſaid Schools, I ſhall therefore endeavour, as near as poſſible, to come at the ſame for one Year, by the ſeveral Charges of the Pariſh-Schools of St. Andrew's, Holbourn. The firſt whereof, containing Eighty Boys, the Money diſburſed on them, in the Year 1726, amounted to 272 l. 2 s. 9 d. and the laſt, containing ſeventy Girls, their Charge, in the Year 1728, amounted to 139 l. 14 s. 6 d. Therefore, as the annual Charge of eighty Boys amounts to 272 l. 2 s. 9 d. ſo the yearly Charge of 3458 Boys muſt amount to 11763 l. 2 s. 10¼ d. So by the ſame Method of Calculation, as the Charge of ſeventy Girls amounts to 139 l. 14 s. 6 d. ſo muſt that of 1901 amount to 3794 l. 10 s. 7½ d. per Annum; whereby it appears that the whole Charge of all the ſaid Charity-Children (amounting to 5359 in Number) amounts to 15557 l. 13 s. 5¾ d. per Annum.

The Number of Free-Schools above mentioned amounting to thirty-eight, they contain three thouſand one hundred and ſeventy-three Children; 1509 whereof belonging to Hoſpitals and Alms-houſes, the annual Expence thereof is included in the Accounts of the ſaid Foundations: And the remaining Number being ſixteen hundred and ſixty-four, the yearly Charge of their Education, &c. amounts to nineteen hundred and ninety Pounds. To which being added the Account of the Charity-Schools belonging to the ſeveral Pariſhes, it will thereby appear, that the Number Total of all the ſaid Schools amount to one hundred and ſixty-ſix, and the Children taught therein to eight thouſand five hundred and thirty-two; and the annual Expence (excluſive of thoſe of the Hoſpitals and Alms-houſes aforeſaid) to ſeventeen thouſand five hundred and forty-ſeven Pounds thirteen Shillings and five Pence three Farthings.

The Number of private Schools in this great City and Suburbs for educating the Youth thereof in all Kinds of Literature (excluſive of the former) I am of Opinion, muſt amount to above three thouſand.

Beſides the above-mentioned Kinds of Learning for the Inſtruction of Youth, and forming their Minds for the Service of their God and Country, as well as an univerſal Benevolence to Mankind in general; there are divers philoſophical Lectures read in the ſeveral Parts of the City and Suburbs, by Men of great Learning, Knowledge and Experience; who, at a ſmall Charge, explain and demonſtrate to their Auditors Doctrines in experimental Philoſophy and Aſtronomy, to their very great Advantage and Improvement.

CHAP. II.

Of the Inns of Court.

AS the Inns of Court in this City and Suburbs are like ſo many Colleges in an Univerſity, wherein Students are inſtructed in the Laws of the Kingdom, I ſhall ſubjoin the ſeveral Accounts thereof.

Inns of Court.

Though the Antiquity of the Inns of Court be not aſcertained, yet it may be preſumed, that they owe their Origin to Henry the Third, who having, in the Year 1225, confirmed the Charters granted by John his Father, removed the Courts of Juſtice from his Palace into Weſtminſter-Hall. About which Time, the Lawyers, or Practitioners in thoſe Courts, began to form themſelves into a Society (ſuppoſed at Thavie's Inn in Holbourn) in a collegiate Manner; hence their Place of Reſidence was denominated an Inn, or Houſe of Court: And Henry the Third, by his Mandate, directed to the Mayor and Sheriffs of London, about the Year 1244, ſtrictly injoined them to make Proclamation throughout the City, that no Perſon whatſoever ſhould preſume to ſet up a School, or Schools, therein, for the teaching of Law. Rec. Tur.

In each of theſe Societies, Mootings are held, that is, publick Meetings for the Inſtruction of Students, wherein are argued divers abſtruſe Points of Law, after the Manner of Trials in the Courts of Juſtice.

Though theſe Societies are not incorporated, nor have any Power to make By-Laws for their Government, yet they have certain Orders, which, by Conſent and Preſcription, have obtained the Force of Laws.

Gray's

Gray's Inn.

This Houſe, which is ſituate on the North Side of High-Holbourn, and is one of the four Inns of Court, is denominated from its being the Reſidence of the ancient and noble Family of Gray, of Wilton, who, in the Reign of Edward the Third, demiſed the ſame to divers Students of the Law.

This is a magnificent and ſpacious Inn, conſiſting of three beautiful Courts, with noble and pleaſant Walks.

The Members of the Houſe are to be in Commons every Term a Fortnight, for which they pay ſixteen Shillings. The Officers and Servants belonging to this Inn are, a Treaſurer, a Steward, a Chief and three Under Butlers, an Upper and Under Cook, a Pannier-man, a Gardener, the Steward and chief Butler's Men, and two Porters.

Lincoln's Inn.

This, which is one of the four Inns of Court, is ſituate on the Weſt Side of Chancery-lane, were anciently ſtood the Houſes of the Biſhop of Chicheſter and Blackfriars; the former being erected by Ralph Nevil, Biſhop of that See, about the Year 1226, and the latter about 1222. Both of which coming to Henry Lacy, Earl of Lincoln, he, in place thereof, erected a ſtately Manſion for his and Succeſſors City Reſidence, which ſtill retains his Name, and into which it is ſaid, that ſome Time before his Death, (Anno 1310) he introduced the Study of the Law. Be that as it will, it appears to have reverted to the Biſhoprick of Chicheſter, by Robert Sherburn, Biſhop of that See,'s having demiſed the ſame to William Syliard, a Student therein, for a certain Term of Years. After the Expiration of which, Richard Sampſon, his Succeſſor, Anno 1536, paſſed the Inheritance thereof, by Deed, to the ſaid Syliard and Euſtace his Brother; which ſaid Euſtace in Conſideration of the Sum of five hundred Pounds, by a Deed of the 12th of November, Anno 1579, conveyed the ſaid Houſe and Garden in Fee to Richard Kingſmill, and the reſt of the Benchers.

Stow. Sur. Lond. Dodg. Orig. Jurid. New View Lond. Ibid.

The Charge of Admiſſion into this Houſe, including Fees, amounts to five Pounds; and every Student therein, after his Studies for ſeven Years, is admitted to the Bar. And the Members are to be a Fortnight in Commons every Term, or pay eighteen Shillings in caſe of Abſence.

The Officers and Servants of this Houſe are, a Treaſurer, Sub-treaſurer, Steward, a Chief and two Under-butlers, a Pannier-man, Gardener, two Gown and twelve Badge Porters, and a Waſh-pot.

Lyon's Inn.

This, which is a Houſe of Chancery, ſituate between Holiwell-ſtreet and Wych-ſtreet, was founded before the Year 1420; it is a Member of the Inner-Temple, governed by a Treaſurer and twelve Ancients, who, with the other Members, are to be three Weeks in Commons in Michaelmas Term, and a Fortnight in each of the reſt.

CHAP. III.

Of the Courts of Juſtice.

AS the ſeveral Courts of Juſtice within this City and Suburbs are the immediate Reſult of Wiſdom and Learning, I ſhall in this Place inſert the ſeveral Accounts of them.

Admiralty Court.

This Court, which is held in Doctors-Commons, was erected in the Reign of Edward the Third, and is under the Direction of the Lord High Admiral, who is an Officer of great Antiquity and Truſt, as appears by the Laws of Oleron, ſo denominated from the Place they were made at by Richard the Firſt: In Saxon he is called, Aen-Mere-all, that is, All upon the Sea. This Officer, or Commiſſioners of the Admiralty, take Cognizance of all Crimes committed in Rivers, and in whoſe Name or Names all Proceſs runneth, and to whom belongs the Diſpoſal of all Places.

The Proceedings are in the Civil Law, and the Plaintiff gives Security to proſecute; and if caſt, to pay what he ſhall be adjudged; and that he will ſtand to all his Proctor ſhall tranſact in his Name. But in criminal Caſes, by a Statute of Henry the Eighth, the Proceſs ſhall be by a Judge, Jury and Witneſſes, by a ſpecial Commiſſion, wherein a Judge of the common Law ſhall aſſiſt. On which Occaſion the Court is commonly held at the Seſſion-houſe in the Old-Bailey; and to which belongs the Advocate of the Admiralty and Proctor, with a Regiſter and Marſhal, who carrieth the Silver Oar before the Judge.

Court of Arches.

This Court, which at preſent is held in Doctors-Commons, is ſo denominated from the arched Roof and Steeple of St. Mary le Bow Church in Cheapſide, wherein it was anciently kept.

The Judge of this Cout is ſtyled Dean of the Arches, from his Juriſdicton over thirteen Peculiars, or Pariſhes, in this City, termed a Deanery, which belonging to the Arbiſhop of Canterbury, are exempt from the Biſhop of London's Authority.

The Advocates that plead in this Court muſt be Doctors of the Civil Law, who, obtaining the Archbiſhop's Fiat, are admitted by the Judge, but not to practiſe till a Year after. Both Judge and Advocates wear ſcarlet Robes, with Hoods lined with Taffety, if of Oxford; but of Cambridge, with Meniver and round Black Velvet Caps. Beſides the Advocates belonging to this Court, there are thirty-ſix Proctors, an Actuary, Crier and Apparitor.

Court of Chancery.

Dugd. Orig. Juird. Caſſiod. Epiſt. 6. l. 11. Pet. Pyth. l. 2. Mat. Par. Hiſt. Angl. Cok. Inſt. p. 4.

This Court, according to divers learned Men, owes it Name to certain croſs Bars of Wood, or Iron, wherewith it was incloſed, to prevent the Officers who ſat therein from being incommoded by the People. Such Grates, or croſs Bars, were, by the Romans, denominated Cancelli; which, according to the Opinion of ſome, gave likewiſe the Name to that Part of a Church called the Chancel, from its being ſeparated from the Body of the Church by ſuch Grates, or Lattices, by Order of Pope Felix, for the Uſe of the Prieſts.

Ibid.

The Chancery conſiſts of two Courts; in the firſt of which, the Lord Chancellor, or Keeper of the Great Seal, proceeds according to the Laws and Statutes of the Kingdom; and in the ſecond, according to Equity, which moderates the rigorous Judgments of inferior Courts, which are confined to the Letter of the Law.

The Judge of this Court, denominated the Lord High Chancellor, is the firſt and greateſt Civil Officer of the Kingdom, (and to whom Perſons of all Degrees give Place, other than thoſe of the Blood Royal and Archbiſhop of Canterbury) and who, by virtue of his Place, decides all Cauſes according to the Dictates of his Conſcience. And in caſe of Abſence, his Place upon the Bench is ſupply'd by the Maſter of the Rolls, who likewiſe hears Cauſes and decrees in the ſame equitable Manner.

To this Court belongs twelve Maſters of Chancery, ſix Head Clerks, ſixty-two ſworn Clerks, who purchaſe their Places, and twelve waiting Clerks, whoſe Places are given by the ſix Clerks, wherefore they are not allowed to take a Clerk; two chief Examiners, with their reſpective Clerks, a chief and four inferior Regiſters; the Clerk of the Crown; a Prothonotary; Clerks of the Petty Bag, Subpœna, Patent, Affidavit, Curſitors and Alienation Offices.

Clink Liberty Court.

This is a Court of Record kept on the Bankſide in Southwark, and held by the Biſhop of Wincheſter's Steward, before whom are held Pleas of Debts, Damage and Treſpaſs for any Sum. Here is likewiſe a Court Leet, wherein things peculiar thereunto are tranſacted.

Court of Common Pleas.

This is one of the four great Courts of the Kingdom, wherein are heard and determined Cauſes in Matters Civil. It was anciently itinerant, and followed the King whereſoever he went, till the Confirmation of Magna Charta by King John, Anno 1215, when it was fixed to Weſtminſter-Hall, where it ſtill continues.

Chart. Mag. cap. 11.

Soon after the fixing of this Court at Weſtminſter, the Cauſes therein became ſo numerous, that the King, for the greater Diſpatch of Buſineſs, found it neceſſary, inſtead of three, to conſtitute ſix Judges, whom he appointed to ſit in two Places. But the Number at preſent being only four, they ſit together in Weſtminſter-Hall to hear and decide Cauſes; and before whom no Counſellor under the Degree of a Sergeant can plead.

Cok. Inſt. p. 4.

The Judges of this Court, like thoſe of the King's Bench and Exchequer, hold not their Places as anciently, Durante bene placito, but by Patent, Quam diu ſe bene geſſerint.

Court of Delegates.

Act Parl. 25 Hen. VIII.

Upon aboliſhing the Papal Power in this Kingdom by Henry the Eighth, Anno 1534, it was by Parliament enacted, that no Appeal ſhould thenceforth be made to Rome; but in default of Juſtice in any of the Spiritual Courts, the Party aggrieved might appeal to the King in his Court of Chancery; and upon every ſuch Appeal, a Commiſſion, under the Great Seal, ſhall be directed to ſuch Perſons as his Majeſty ſhall think fit to nominate. The Commiſſioners generally conſiſt of Noblemen, Biſhops, and Judges both of the common and civil Law. But as this Court is not fixed, but occaſional, the Commiſſioners, or Judges thereof, are varied at the Pleaſure of the Lord Chancellor, who appoints them.

This being the higheſt Court for Eccleſiaſtical Affairs, no Appeal lies from it; but, upon good Reaſons aſſigned, a Commiſſion of Review is granted.

Dutchy of Lancaſter Court.

Cok. Inſt. p. 4.

This Court owes its Origin to Henry the Fourth; who, depoſing Richard the Second, uſurped the Crown; and poſſeſſing the Dutchy of Lancaſter in Right of his Mother, was ſeized thereof as Duke, as well as King. But imagining his Right to the Dutchy better than that to the Crown, he reſolved to ſecure the ſame, by ſeparating it from the Crown; which being effected, he erected this Court for its Uſe; wherein all Matters of Law and Equity belonging to the Dutchy, or County Palatine of Lancaſter, are heard and decided by the Chancellor thereof.

Eaſt-Smithfield Courts.

Cok. Inſt. P. 1.

In this Liberty two Courts are held, viz. of the Leet and Court Baron. The firſt of which, according to the Laws of Edward the Confeſſor, appears to be a Court of Record of great Antiquity; wherein Cognizance was taken, and Enquiries made into Felonies, Nuſances, View of Frank-pledge, &c.

Though in this Court, at preſent, only Officers are choſen, and Nuſances preſented; yet they may inquire into the following Offences by Act of Parliament; viz. concerning tracing and killing of Hares; Hoſtlers making Horſe-bread, under Aſſize; of Breeders of Horſes under Stature; of Artillery, Buts, and Bows; of Shooting in Croſs-bows, and Hand-Guns; of Victuallers, lers, Artificers, Workmen, and Labourers; againſt exceſſive Prices of Victuals; amending of Highways; Muſters; for preſerving the Spawn and Fry of Fiſh; againſt taking Pheaſants, &c.

The latter is that of the Baron; the Origin of which being as follows:

Ibid. The Kings of England having anciently all the Lands of the Kingdom in Demeſne, the great Manors or Royalties they reſerved to themſelves, and the reſt they granted by Infeofment to their Barons, for the Defence of the Nation, with the Juriſdiction of a Court Baron, of which the Freeholders were appointed Judges.

Ibid. This Court is ſometimes of a double Nature; the firſt of which being by the common Law, is by ſome denominated a Court Baron, or Freemen's Court, from the Freeholders being both Suiters and Judges thereof; for Barons, in one Senſe, ſignify Freemen; and at which Court the Steward of the Manor acts as Regiſter.

Ibid. The Second is a cuſtomary Court, and concerns Copyholders; wherein preſides as Judge, either the Lord of the Manor, or his Steward. And as there can be no Court Baron without Freeholders; neither can there be any cuſtomary Court without Copy, or Cuſtomary-holders. When the Court Baron is of this double Nature, the Court Roll contains Matters relating to both Courts. And foraſmuch as the Title or Eſtate of the Copyholder, is entered into a Roll, whereof the Steward delivers him a Copy, he is therefore called a Copyholder. In this Court Pleas are held to the Amount of forty Shillings.

Exchequer Court.

Dug. Orig. Jurid. This, which is one of the four great Courts of the Kingdom, is held in a Room contiguous to the North-weſt Angle of Weſtminſter-hall; and is denominated from a chequered Cloth, which anciently covered the Table where the Judges, or chief Officers ſat; and being coeval with the Norman Conqueſt, it was at firſt erected by William the Conqueror, for the Trial of all Cauſes relating to the Revenues of the Crown.

The Judges of this Court, at preſent, are a Chief, and three other Barons, before whom are not only tryed Affairs relating to the Crown, but likewiſe Matters of Equity, between Subject and Subject. And when at any Time the Barons are equal in different Opinions, concerning the Deciſion of any Cauſe, they call to their Aſſiſtance the Lord High Treaſurer, or Chancellor of the Exchequer for the Time being, who, by his caſting Voice, decides in favour of one of the Parties.

Faculty Court.

Act Parl. 25 Hen. VIII. In the twenty-fifth of Henry the Eighth, Anno 1534, when the Papal Power was abrogated in England, this Court was eſtabliſhed by Act of Parliament to impower the Archbiſhop (in lieu of the Pope) to grant Diſpenſations and Indulgences for eating Fleſh upon prohibited Days; to marry without Banns, or on Holy-days; for a Son to ſucceed his Father in his Benefice; for Non-reſidence; for having a Plurality of Livings; and for every thing elſe, formerly granted by the Pope of Rome.

Finſbury Courts.

In this Place are held a Court Leet and a Court Baron, by the Steward of the Manor; wherein is tranſacted the Buſineſs peculiar to each Court.

High Court of Parliament.

This is not only the higheſt, but likewiſe the moſt ancient Court of the Kingdom; which, by the Saxons, was differently denominated, viz. Michel Gemote, and Witen Gemote, that is, the great Court, and Council of Wiſe-men. Cok. Inſt. P. 4.

The firſt Mention I find of this national Council, is that which was held in this City by Egbert and Withlaf, Kings of Weſt Saxony and Mercia, in the Year 833, for deliberating upon Ways and Means to oppoſe the piratical Invaſions and deſtructive Depredations of the Danes. Spel. Concil. Tom. 1.

This great Council, which was held twice a Year before the Conqueſt, conſiſts of the King and three Eſtates of the Kingdom, viz. the Lords Spiritual, who conſiſt of two Archbiſhops and twenty-four Biſhops; who ſit by Virtue of their reſpective Baronies, which they hold in a political Capacity: The Lords Temporal, who are created by the King's Patent, and therefore can't be reduced to any certain Number: They ſit by Deſcent, or Creation: And the Commons, who, in Number five hundred and fifty-eight, conſiſt of Knights, Citizens, and Burgeſſes, the Repreſentatives of the Commonalty of Great-Britain; who, by Virtue of the King's Writs, are elected by the ſeveral Shires or Counties, Cities and Boroughs. Cok. Inſt. P. 4.

The Power of this High Court is ſo very great, that it makes, mends, reduces, revives, and abrogates Laws, Statutes and Ordinances concerning Matters Eccleſiaſtical, Civil and Military. None can begin, continue, or diſſolve this Council, but by the King's Authority. The Members of this Council ſat together till the fiftieth of Edward the Third, Anno 1377, when the Commons removed to the Chapter-houſe of Weſtminſter, in the Cloiſter of the Abby, now a Repoſitory for publick Records.

The Parliament is the great Corporation, or Body Politick of the Kingdom; and, according to a certain Roll of the ſame, the Common Council of the Nation. Cok. Inſti. P. 4. Rot. Parl. 3 Hen. VI. n. 3.

Houſe of Lords Court.

This is the ſupreme Court of Judicature of the Kingdom; from which lieth no Appeal; and by which all Appeals from other Courts are determined, and Peers of the Realm tryed for Treaſon, and other Mal-practices; as are alſo all Perſons that are impeached by the Houſe of Commons.

King's-Bench Court.

This is the chief of the four great Courts of the Kingdom, and is held in Weſtminſter-hall; it has its Name from the King's having anciently preſided therein as Judge, aſſiſted by his Juſtices and Chancellor. Dug. Orig. Jurid.

This was at firſt a Court itinerant, that attended the King in all his Progreſſes, till the Year 1258, when Henry the Third appointed the ſame to be held at Weſtminſter, till he ſhould otherwiſe determine; however, it does not appear to Ibid.

have been removed thence during the remaining Part of his Reign. But in the twenty eighth of Edward the First, Anno 1300, it was by Parliament enacted, That the Chancellor and Justices of the King's-Bench shall follow his Majesty, so that he might at all Times have near him Persons learned in the Law, for the greater Dispatch of Affairs, upon any Emergency.

Rot. Parl. 28 Ed. I.

The first Person that had the Office of Chief Justice of this Court conferred upon him, was Robert de Bruis, Anno 1268, occasioned by the abolishing of the Title of Justiciary of England, which ended in Philip Basset.

The Judges of this Court, at present, are a Chief and three other Justices; who hear and determine Causes Criminal, Pleas of the Crown, Civil Actions, Contracts, &c. and who hold their Places as the Judges of the Courts of Common-Pleas and Exchequer do, quam diu se bene gesserint.

Marshall's Court.

This Court, which is held in Southwark, under the Knight-Marshal, was at first erected for hearing and determining all Differences that might happen among the Royal Domesticks.

The Judge of this Court is the Knight-Marshal's Steward; to whom belong four Counsellors and six Attornies.

Prerogative Court.

This Court, which is held in Doctors-Commons, is denominated from the Prerogative of the Archbishop of Canterbury; who, by a special Privilege beyond those of his Suffragans, can here try all Disputes that happen to arise concerning Wills and Administrations of Persons who have left Goods to the Value of five Pounds without the Diocess wherein he, or she died; unless such Things are settled by Composition between the Metropolitan and his Suffragans; as in the Diocess of London, where it is ten Pounds.

St. Catharine's Courts.

To this Hospital, or Precinct, belong two Courts; in the first of which, on Thursdays, are weekly try'd Actions of Debt for any Sum. And in the latter, which depends upon the Civil Law, Matters Ecclesiastical.

The Borough Court.

This, which is a Court of Record by Prescription, is held by the Lord-Mayor's Steward, every Monday, at the Town-hall on St. Margaret's-hill in Southwark; where are try'd Actions for any Sum of Money, Damage, Trespass, &c. To this Court belong three Attornies; who are admitted by the Steward.

Besides this, there are three Courts Leet held in the said Borough, for it contains three several Liberties, or Manors, viz. The great Liberty, the Guildable, and the King's Manor; wherein are chosen Constables, Ale-conners, and Flesh-tasters; and other Business dispatched, peculiar to such Courts. In this Neighbourhood Courts Leet are likewise kept, viz. at Lambeth, Bermondsey and Rotherhithe.

Westminster Court.

This is a Court-Leet; wherein the Ward-Officers belonging to the City of Westminster are chosen, and the several Nusances occasioned by the Inhabitants presented, &c.

Whitechapel Court.

This is a Court of Record, belonging to Stepney Manor; which is held by the Steward of the Manor, by whom are try'd Actions for any Sum, as well as of Damage, Trespass, &c.

An Account of Societies, Colleges and Libraries within the City and Suburbs of London.

Antiquarian Society.

THE first Society in the City of London, that went by this Appellation, was erected about the Year 1580, by divers of the most learned and ingenious Men of the Kingdom; but their Meetings, by divers Accidents, having been frequently obstructed, the Society dwindled and dropt, till the Year 1717, when the same was revived again; since which Time no Interruptions having happened, it is at present incorporated, and is in a very flourishing Condition.

The first that united in this glorious Society were the Honourable Robert Boyle, Esq; and Sir William Petty, together with Seth Ward, Wilkins, Wallis, Goddard, Willis, Bathurst and Wren, Doctors of Divinity and Physick, and Matthew Wren and Mr. Rook; who frequently met in the Apartments of Dr. Wilkins, in Wadham College at Oxford; where the Foundation of the Royal Society was laid.

Sprat. Hist. Roy. Soci.

The Society, while at Oxford, were not only for their learned Productions eminently distinguished at home, but likewise highly revered by the Literati abroad.

Ibid.

The Society continued at Oxford till about the Year 1658, when the Members thereof were called to divers Parts of the Kingdom, on account of their respective Functions; and the Majority coming to this City, they constantly attended the Astronomical and Geometrical Lectures at Gresham College; where being joined by divers Persons of the greatest Learning and Distinction, they continued to meet at the said College once, or twice a Week, till the Death of Oliver Cromwell; when, Anarchy succeeding, they were obliged to quit their Place of Meeting, on its being converted into a Barrack, or Military Quarter, for the Reception of Soldiers.

Ibid.

But the Storm being allayed, by the Restoration of King Charles the Second, the Society, which had for some Time been, as it were, buried in Oblivion, forsook their gloomy Retreats, and began to reassume their Meetings. And for the more effectual carrying on their great and laudable Design, to purchase Instruments for the performing Experiments, and defraying all necessary Expences for the Support of the Society, they entered into the following Obligation:

"We

Rec. Roy. Society.

"We, whoſe Names are under-written, do conſent and agree, that we will meet together Weekly, (if not hindered by neceſſary Occaſions) to conſult and debate concerning the promoting of experimental Learning; and that each of us will allow one Shilling, weekly, towards the defraying of occaſional Charges. Provided, that if any one, or more of us, ſhall think fit at any Time, to withdraw; he, or they, ſhall, after Notice thereof given to the Company, at a Meeting, be freed from this Obligation for the future. December 5, 1660."

Ibid.

The King, willing to encourage ſo honourable and uſeful an Enterprize, as a diſtinguiſhing Mark of his Affection to the Society, by his Letters Patent of the 22d of April, Anno 1663, conſtituted them a Body Politick and Corporate, by the Appellation of The Preſident, Council and Fellows of the Royal Society of London, for improving of Natural Knowledge.

The ſaid Letters Patent, or Charter, is thus abridged.

Spra. Hiſt. Roy. Soc.

"Charles the Second, by the Grace of God, of England, Scotland, France and Ireland, King, Defender of the Faith, &c. to all and to whom theſe Preſents ſhall come, Greeting.

"Having long reſolved within ourſelf to promote the Welfare of Arts and Sciences, as well as that of our Territories and Dominions, out of our Princely Affection to all Kinds of Learning, and more particular Favour to philoſophical Studies, eſpecially thoſe which endeavour, by ſolid Experiments, either to reform, or improve Philoſophy; to the Intent therefore that theſe Kinds of Study, which are no where yet ſufficiently cultivated, may flouriſh in our Dominions; and that the learned World may acknowledge us to be, not only the Defender of the Faith, but the Patron and Encourager of all Sorts of uſeful Knowledge,

"Know ye, that we, out of our ſpecial Grace, certain Knowledge, and mere Motion, have given and granted, and do by theſe Preſents give and grant for us, our Heirs and Succeſſors, that there ſhall be for ever a Society, conſiſting of a Preſident, Council and Fellows, which ſhall be called by the Name of The Preſident, Council and Fellows of the Royal Society of London, for improving of Natural Knowledge; of which Society we do, by theſe Preſents, declare ourſelf to be Founder and Patron. And we do hereby make and conſtitute the ſaid Society, by the Name, &c. to be a Body Corporate, to be continued under the ſame Name, in a perpetual Succeſſion; and that they and their Succeſſors (whoſe Studies are to be employed for the promoting of the Knowledge of natural Things, and uſeful Arts, by Experiments, to the Glory of God, and Good of Mankind) ſhall by the aforeſaid Name of Preſident, Council, &c. be enabled and made capable in Law, to levy, hold, poſſeſs and enjoy, Lands, Tenements, &c. Liberties, Franchiſes, and Juriſdictions, for Perpetuity, or Terms of Lives, or Years, or any other Way; as alſo Goods, Chattels, and all other Things of what Nature or Kind ſoever: And alſo, by the Name aforeſaid, to give, grant, demiſe, or aſſign the ſaid Lands, Goods, &c. and to do all things neceſſary thereabout. And the ſaid Perſons, by the Name aforeſaid, are enabled to implead, be impleaded, ſue, defend, &c. in any Courts, and before any Judges, Officers, &c. whatſoever, of the King, his Heirs, and Succeſſors, in all and ſingular Actions, real and perſonal, Pleas, Cauſes, &c. of what Kind ſoever, as any of his Subjects within his Kingdom of England, or Corporations of the ſame, are by Law capable and enabled to do.

"And the ſaid Preſident, Council and Fellows are impowered to have a common Seal for their Uſe in their Affairs; and from Time to Time to break, change and make anew the ſame, as ſhall ſeem expedient unto them.

"And his Majeſty, in Teſtimony of his Royal Favour towards the ſaid Preſident, Council and Fellows, and of his eſpecial Eſteem of them, doth grant a Coat of Arms to them and their Succeſſors, viz. On a Field Argent a Canton of the three Lions of England; for a Creſt, an Eagle proper on a ducal Coronet, ſupporting a Shield charged with the Lions aforeſaid; and for Supporters, two Talbots with Coronets on their Necks. The ſaid Arms to be borne, &c. by the ſaid Society upon all Occaſions.

"And that his Majeſty's Royal Intention may take the better Effect, for the good Government of the ſaid Society from Time to Time, it is eſtabliſhed, that the Council aforeſaid ſhall conſiſt of twenty-one Perſons (whereof the Preſident for the Time being always to be one); and, that all Perſons, which within two Months next enſuing the Date of the ſaid Charter, ſhall be choſen by the ſaid Preſident and Council; and in all Times after the ſaid two Months, by the Preſident, Council and Fellows, (and noted in a Regiſter to be kept for that Purpoſe) ſhall be Fellows of the ſaid Society, and ſo accounted and called during Life, except by the Statutes of the ſaid Society to be made, any of them ſhall happen to be amoved.

"Moreover, on Behalf of the Society, it is granted unto the Preſident and Council, that they may aſſemble and meet together in any College, Hall, or other convenient Place in London, or within ten Miles thereof (due and lawful Summons of all the Members of the Council to extraordinary Meetings being always premiſed); and that they being ſo met together, have full Power and Authority, from Time to Time, to make, conſtitute and eſtabliſh ſuch Laws, Statutes, Orders and Conſtitutions, which ſhall appear to them to be good, uſeful, honeſt and neceſſary, according to their Judgments and Diſcretions, for the Government, Regulation and Direction of the Royal Society, and every Member thereof; and to do all Things concerning the Government, Eſtate, Goods, Lands, Revenues, as alſo the Buſineſs and Affairs of the ſaid Society; all which Laws, Statutes, Orders, &c. ſo made, his Majeſty wills and commands, that they be from Time to Time inviolably obſerved, according to the Tenor and Effect of them; provided that they be reaſonable, and not repugnant, or contrary to the Laws, Cuſtoms, &c. of his Kingdom of England.

"Full Power and Authority is alſo granted, on the Behalf of the Society, to the Council, to erect and build one, or more Colleges within London, or ten Miles thereof, of what Form or Quality ſoever, for Habitation, Aſſembling, or Meeting of

of the Preſident, Council and Fellows, about any Affairs and Buſineſſes of the Society.

" And if any Abuſes, or Differences ſhall ever hereafter ariſe and happen about the Government, or Affairs of the Society, whence the Conſtitution, Progreſs, and Improvement, or Buſineſſes thereof may ſuffer, or be hindered; in ſuch Caſes his Majeſty aſſigns and authorizes his right truſty and right well-beloved Coſen and Counſellor, Edward Earl of Clarendon, Lord High Chancellor of England, by himſelf, during his Life; and after his Deceaſe, the Lord Archbiſhop of Canterbury, the Lord Chancellor, or Lord Keeper of the Great Seal of England, the Lord High Treaſurer of England, the Lord Keeper of the Privy Seal, the Lord Biſhop of London, and the two principal Secretaries of State for the Time being, or any four, or more of them, to compoſe and redreſs any ſuch Differences, or Abuſes.

An Abſtract of the Statutes of the Royal Society.

Spra. Hiſt. Roy. Soci.

" Whatever Statute ſhall be made, or repealed, the making, or repealing of it ſhall be voted twice, and at two ſeveral Meetings of the Council.

" This Obligation ſhall be ſubſcribed by every Fellow, or his Election ſhall be void:

" We, who have hereunto ſubſcribed, do promiſe each for himſelf, that we will endeavour to promote the Good of the Royal Society of London, for the Improvement of natural Knowledge, and to purſue the Ends for which the ſame was founded: That we will be preſent at the Meetings of the Society, as often as conveniently we can, eſpecially at the anniverſary Elections, and upon extraordinary Occaſions; and that we will obſerve the Statutes and Orders of the ſaid Society; provided, that whenever any of us ſhall ſignify to the Preſident under his Hand, that he deſires to withdraw from the Society, he ſhall be free from this Obligation for the future.

" Every Fellow ſhall pay his Admiſſion Money, and afterwards Contribution towards defraying of the Charges of Obſervations and Experiments, &c.

" The ordinary Meetings of the Royal Society ſhall be held once a Week, where none ſhall be preſent beſides the Fellows, without the Leave of the Society, under the Degree of a Baron in one of his Majeſty's three Kingdoms, or of his Majeſty's privy Council, or unleſs he be an eminent Foreigner, and theſe only with the Leave of the Preſident.

" The Buſineſs of their weekly Meetings ſhall be, to order, take account, conſider and diſcourſe of philoſophical Experiments, and Obſervations: To read, hear, and diſcourſe upon Letters, Reports and other Papers, containing philoſophical Matters; as alſo to view and diſcourſe upon the Productions and Rarities of Nature and Art; and to conſider what to deduce from them, or how they be improved for Uſe, or Diſcovery.

" That Experiments be made at the Charge of the Society; two Curators at leaſt ſhall be appointed for the Inſpection of thoſe which cannot be performed before the Society; and by whom the bare Report of Matter of Fact ſhall be ſtated and returned.

" The Election of Fellows ſhall be made by way of Ballot; and their Admiſſion by a ſolemn Declaration made by the Preſident of their Election.

" The Election of the Council and Officers ſhall be made once a Year; eleven of the preſent Council ſhall be continued by Lot, for the next Year, and ten new ones choſen in like manner. Out of this new Council ſhall be elected a Preſident, Treaſurer, and two Secretaries, in the ſame way.

" The Preſident ſhall preſide in all Meetings, regulate all Debates of the Society, and Council; ſtate and put Queſtions; call for Reports and Accounts from Committees, Curators, and others; ſummon all extraordinary Meetings upon urgent Occaſions, and ſee to the Execution of the Statutes. The Vice-Preſident ſhall have the ſame Power in the Abſence of the Preſident.

" The Treaſurer, or his Deputy, ſhall receive and keep Accounts of all Money due to the Society. He ſhall pay ſmall Sums by order of the Preſident under his Hand; but thoſe that exceed five Pounds, by order of the Council. All Bills of Charges for Experiment ſhall firſt be ſigned by the Curators. The Accounts of the Treaſurer ſhall be audited four times a Year, by a Committee of the Council, and once a Year, by a Committee of the Society.

" The Secretaries are to take Notes of the Orders, and material Paſſages of the Meetings; to take care of the Books, Papers and Writings of the Society; to order and direct the Clerks in making Entries of all Matters in the Regiſter, and Journal Books of the Society, or Council; to draw up ſuch Letters as ſhall be written in their Name, which ſhall be approved at one of their Meetings; to give notice of the Candidates propounded in order to Election.

" The Curators, by Office, ſhall have a ſufficient Allowance for their Encouragement, which ſhall increaſe proportionably with the Revenue of the Society; provided, that it exceed not two hundred Pounds a year. They ſhall be well ſkilled in philoſophical and mathematical Learning, well verſed in Obſervations, Inquiries and Experiments of Nature and Art. They ſhall take care of the managing of all Experiments, and Obſervations appointed by the Society, or Council, and report the ſame, and perform ſuch other Taſks, as the Society, or the Council ſhall appoint; ſuch as the examining of Sciences, Arts, and Inventions now in Uſe, and the bringing in Hiſtories of natural and artificial Things, &c. They ſhall be propounded at leaſt a Month before they are choſen. They ſhall be examined by the Council before the Election: To their Election every Member of the Society ſhall be ſummoned: They ſhall at firſt be only elected for a Year of Probation (except they be of known Merit): At the End of the Year, they ſhall be either elected for Perpetuity, or for a longer Time of Probation, or wholly rejected.

" The Cauſes of ejecting a Curator ſhall be the ſame with ejecting a Fellow, or for fraudulent Dealing, and Negligence in the Affairs of the Society, provided that he ſhall firſt receive three reſpective Admonitions. If any Curator ſhall be diſabled disabled by Age, Infirmity, or Casualty, in the Service of the Society, some Provision shall be made for him during Life, if his Condition requires it, according as the Council shall think fit.

"The Clerk shall constantly attend all Meetings; he shall follow the Directions of the Secretaries, in registring, and entring all Matters that shall be appointed; he shall not communicate any thing contained in their Books, to any that is not a Fellow. He shall have a certain Rate for what he copies, and a yearly Stipend for his Attendance.

"The Printer shall take care for the printing such Books as shall be committed to him by Order of the Society, or Council; and therein he shall observe their Directions, as to the Correction of the Edition, the Number of Copies, the Form, or Volume, &c.

"The Operators of the Society, when they have any of their Work under their Hands, shall not undertake the Work of any other Persons, which may hinder the Business of the Society. They shall have Salaries for their Attendance.

"The common Seal of the Society shall be kept in a Chest, with three Locks, and three different Keys, by the President, Treasurer, and one of the Secretaries. The Deeds of the Society shall be passed in Council, and sealed by them and the President.

"The Books that concern the Affairs of the Society shall be the Charter-Book, Statute-Book, Journal Books, Letter Books, and Register Books, for the entring of philosophical Observations, Histories, Discourses, Experiments, and Inventions.

"The Names of Benefactors shall be honourably mentioned in a Book provided for that Purpose.

"In case of Death, or Recess of any Fellow, the Secretaries are to note in the Margent of the Register, over-against their Names.

"The Causes of Ejection shall be, contemptuous Disobedience to the Statutes and Orders of the Society, defaming, or malicious defaming the same. This shall be declared by the President at one of the Meetings, and the Ejection recorded.

When these Statutes were presented to King Charles the Second for his Approbation, he was not only graciously pleased to approve of the same, but likewise to subscribe himself their Founder and Patron. And the Duke of York and Prince Rupert at the same Time declared themselves Fellows.

The sixth Statute above recited, relating to the Election of Fellows, not being deemed effectual to prevent Persons unqualified from being chosen Members of the Society; therefore a new Statute was made, ordaining, that every Person for the future (not a Peer, or Foreigner of Distinction) desiring to be admitted a Fellow, be recommended by an Attestation under the Hands of three, or more Members, setting forth his Name, Place of Habitation, his Qualifications, Works and Productions; which is to be put up in the assembly Room at ten several Meetings, to give each Member an Opportunity of inquiring into the Character of the Candidate, before they proceed to ballot. But all Peers of Great-Britain and Ireland, and their Sons, together with all Foreign Princes and Ambassadors, are eligible, at the Recommendation of one Member, and to be elected as soon as proposed.

The Royal Society thus happily established, Men of all Ranks and Professions vyed to promote its Designs, by communicating every thing within their Power relating to natural and artificial Discoveries.

This Society was no sooner incorporated by King Charles the Second, its Founder and Patron, than he presented the same with a stately Gilt Silver Mace, to be carried before the President. And his Majesty, as a farther Proof of his sincere Attachment, by his Letters Patent of the 8th of April, Anno 1667, gave to the Society Chelsea College, with its Appurtenances, and twenty-six, or twenty-seven Acres of Land surrounding the same. But the Society not having converted Part thereof into a Physick-Garden as was intended, and the King having resolved to erect an Hospital for old and maimed Soldiers, thought no Place more proper for such a Design than this College; therefore he proposed to purchase the same, which being agreed to, on the 8th of February 1681, the Sum of thirteen hundred Pounds was paid to the Society for the same.

The Museum belonging to the Society was founded by Daniel Colwall, Esq; in the Year 1677, who gave his great and curious Collection of natural and artificial Rarities, which compose the greatest Part of the Catalogue, published Anno 1681, by Dr. Grew, under the Title of Museum Regalis Societatis. But these Curiosities, by the generous Benefaction of other curious Persons, are now increased to above six times the Number of those already published.

Upon the Society's Removal from Gresham College to their House in Crane-court in Fleet-street, Richard Waller, Esq; one of the Secretaries of the Incorporation, at his own Expence, in the Year 1711, erected the Repository in the Garden for the Reception of the said Rarities, which are beautifully disposed therein for the Entertainment of the Curious. It abounds with a great Variety of the following Species of Rarities, viz. Human, Quadrupedes, Birds, Fowls, Palmipedes, Eggs, Nests, Fishes, Viviparous, Oviparous, Exanguious, scaled and shelled, double and multiple, Insects, Reptiles, Woods, Stalks and Roots, Fruits of all Sorts, Mosses, Mushrooms, Plants, Spunges, &c. animal and vegetable Bodies petrified, Corals and other marine Productions, Fossils, Gems, Stones irregular, Metals, Antimony, Mercury and other metallick Bodies, Salts, Sulphurs, Oils and Earths, Philosophical and Mathematical Instruments, Indian, American, and other Weapons, with a Variety of Apparel, &c.

This Society, by the above-mentioned Royal and other Benefactions, the Admission Money, and annual Contributions of its Members, is in so flourishing a Condition, that they apply'd to his late Majesty King George the First, for an additional Privilege to purchase, in Mortmain, one thousand Pounds, instead of two hundred Pounds per Annum; which he was graciously pleased to grant by his Royal Licence of the 17th of December, Anno 1724, for the perpetual Support of the Society.

The Society for the Encouragement of Learning.

Divers Gentlemen, having for ſome Time conſidered how they might be ſerviceable to Learning, propoſed to their Friends the raiſing a Sum of Money by way of Subſcription, for printing ſuch Works as ſhall be judged convenient, on eaſy Terms, for the Benefit of Authors. The Scheme being approved of, the Sum propoſed to be ſubſcribed by each Perſon was ten Guineas at leaſt.

This Project met with ſuch Encouragement, that in the Space of a few Months one hundred and eight Subſcriptions were made; wherefore the Subſcribers, at a general Meeting on the third of February 1736, formed themſelves into a Society, and choſe, from among themſelves, a Preſident, Vice-preſident, two Truſtees, five Auditors, a Committee of twenty-four, a Treaſurer and Secretary; and drew up certain Conſtitutions for their good Regulation; among which are, That every Member ſhall annually contribute two Pounds two Shillings, toward the Support of the Society; and that every Member, upon his paying the Sum of ten Pounds ten Shillings, ſhall be diſcharged from the ſaid Contribution, and all other Charges relating to the Society. And for all the Works that ſhall be printed by the Society, the ſeveral Authors ſhall give Security, which after the Payment of the Money advanced, with an Intereſt of five per Cent. the ſame, with the remaining Copies of the ſeveral Books, to be delivered to their reſpective Authors.

CHAP. V.

Of the Publick Libraries.

AS Books may juſtly be termed the Baſis of Learning, I ſhall, in Alphabetical Order, ſubjoin the Accounts of the ſeveral Publick Libraries within the Bill of Mortality.

Caſtle-ſtreet Library.

This Library was founded in the Year 1683, by Thomas Tenniſon, D. D. Vicar of St. Martin's in the Fields, (and ſince Archbiſhop of Canterbury) for the Uſe of his School under the ſame. It is placed in a ſpacious Room, and conſiſts of about four thouſand Volumes in divers Faculties, but more eſpecially in Divinity and Hiſtory.

College of Heralds Library.

This Library, belonging to the Society of Heralds, is kept in their College on St. Bennet's-hill, and conſiſts of a very conſiderable Number of Books relating to Antiquities and Heraldry; which were much increaſed by the late Benefacti- of Ralph Sheldon, Eſq;

College of Phyſicians Library.

This Library, which is kept in the Phyſicians magnificent College in Warwick-lane, was founded by the Marquis of Dorcheſter, in the Year 16 . It has been conſiderably increaſed by the Benefactions of others, and contains at preſent four thouſand nine hundred and forty Books.

Cotton's Library.

This Library, which was lately kept in a handſome Gallery within that of the King's, adjoining to the South Cloiſter of Weſtminſter-Abby, conſiſts of a great and moſt curious Collection of very valuable Manuſcripts, relating to the Antiquities of Great-Britain and Ireland, &c. collected by that judicious and excellent Antiquary Sir Robert Cotton, who bequeathed the ſame to his Son Sir Thomas, and after his Deceaſe to his Grandſon Sir John; who giving it to the Publick, an Act of Parliament was made in the Year 1701, for ſecuring the ſame, intitled, An Act for the better ſettling and preſerving the Library kept in the Houſe at Weſtminſter called Cotton-houſe in the Name and Family of the Cottons, for the Benefit of the Publick. However, proper Care not being taken, according to the Directions of the ſaid Act, it became a great Sufferer by Fire, on the 23d of October, Anno 1731, whereby ninety-nine Volumes were deſtroyed, and one hundred and eleven much damaged. Act Parl. 12 & 13 Will. III.

Purſuant to the Statute aforeſaid, upon the Death of the ſaid Sir John Cotton, the Library, together with the Coins, Medals, and other Rarities, contained in a Schedule thereunto belonging, were veſted in Truſtees; who have made divers Orders for the good Regulation thereof; and alſo, for appointing a Perſon well read in Antiquities to have the Cuſtody of the ſame, upon his giving five hundred Pounds Security for his Fidelity; to which Purpoſe he is likewiſe obliged to take an Oath before the Lord Chancellor, or Lord Keeper, at his Admiſſion.

This curious and ineſtimable Collection, before the late Fire, conſiſted of nine hundred and fifty-eight Volumes of original Charters, Grants, Inſtruments, Letters of Sovereign Princes, Tranſactions between this and other Kingdoms and States, Genealogies, Hiſtories, Regiſters of Monaſteries, Remains of Saxon Laws, the Book of Geneſis, thought to be the moſt ancient Greek Copy extant, and ſaid to have been writ by Origen, in the ſecond Century; and the curious Alexandrian Manuſcript of the Old and New Teſtament, all in Greek Capitals, ſaid to have been writ in the third Century.

The Truſtees appointed for the Care of this Library are in Number ſeven, viz. the Lord Chancellor, or Keeper, the Speaker of the Houſe of Commons, and Lord Chief Juſtice of the King's Bench for the Time being; and four others, at the Nomination of the Heir Male of the Cotton Family. The Books were depoſited in the Old Dormitory at Weſtminſter. But by a late Act of Parliament are, with Sir Hans Sloane's Muſæum, to be preſerved in Montague-houſe, Bloomſbury-ſquare.

The great and valuable Library of the curious Sir Hans Sloane, Bart. deceaſed, and late Preſident of the Royal Society, amount to upwards of forty-two thouſand Volumes; which, together with his vaſt Treaſure of Rarities, both natural and artificial, are probably the greateſt and moſt valuable Collections that are, or perhaps ever were upon Earth, made by a private Gentleman.

Doctors-Commons Library.

The Library belonging to this College was greatly increaſed by the Addition of that of Sir John Gibſon, ſome Time Judge of the Prerogative-Office; which was given by James Gibſon, Eſquire, one of his Deſcendants, and Town-clerk of this City.

This Library is and muſt continue in a growing Condition; ſeeing that every Biſhop, at the Time of his Conſecration, gives at leaſt twenty Pounds, and ſome fifty, towards purchaſing Books for the ſame.

Gray's-inn Library.

This Library, which is kept in Coney-court, in Gray's-inn, conſiſts of a conſiderable Number of Books in divers Languages and Faculties, but eſpecially in Law, for the Uſe of the Gentlemen of the Inn.

Inner-temple Library.

This Library is not ſo remarkable for printed Books, as 'tis for Manuſcripts; which were given to it by William Petyt, Eſq; late Keeper of the Records in the Tower of London.

Lambeth Library.

This Library, which is in the Archbiſhop of Canterbury's Palace at Lambeth, was founded by Richard Bancroft, Archbiſhop of that See in the Year 1610, who by Will deviſed all his Books for the Uſe of his Succeſſors, Archbiſhops of Canterbury. It was greatly increaſed by the Benefactions of the Archbiſhops Abbot, Sheldon and Tenniſon, and conſiſts of fourteen thouſand five hundred and twenty-two printed Books, and upwards, and ſix hundred and ſeventeen Volumes in Manuſcript.

Lincoln's-inn Library.

This Library is kept in the old Buildings in Lincoln's-inn, and conſiſts of a handſome Collection of Books in divers Languages and Faculties.

Middle-temple Library.

This Library, which is kept in Garden-court in the Middle-temple, was founded by the Will of Robert Aſhley, Eſq; of the 27 September, Anno 1641, who therein bequeathed his own Library for that Purpoſe; and the Sum of three hundred Pounds, to be laid out in a Purchaſe for the Maintenance of a Librarian, who muſt be a Student of the Society, by the Benchers whereof he is elected into that Office. Aſhl. Will.

Mr. Aſhley likewiſe bequeathed all his Furniture, to be diſpoſed of for the Benefit of his ſaid Library; the Number of Volumes therein at preſent (A. D. 1738) amount to three thouſand nine hundred and eighty-two, in moſt Branches of Literature, but more eſpecially in Law and Parliamentary Affairs; and the ſame continuing to increaſe, by the Benefactions of Authors, and others, 'tis like to become a numerous and ſerviceable Collection.

This Library, except in the Dead of the Long Vacation, is duly kept open from ten in the Morning till one in the Afternoon, and from two in the Afternoon till ſix in the Summer, and four in the Winter.

Redcroſs-ſtreet Library.

This Library was founded by Daniel Williams, D. D. a Preſbyterian Divine of this City; who, by his laſt Will of the twenty-ſixth of June, Anno 1711, among other conſiderable Legacies, bequeathed all his Books, to be ſet up in a publick Library, for the Reception of which, a Freehold Houſe was either to be purchaſed, or erected, with an Apartment therein for the Librarian, and a Salary of ten Pounds per Annum.

In purſuance of this Will, Ground was purchaſed, and a magnificent Building erected in Redcroſs-ſtreet without Cripplegate, with a ſtately and ſpacious Room therein, capacious enough for the Reception of forty thouſand Volumes.

Royal-Society Library.

This choice and valuable Library, formerly belonging to the noble Family of Arundel, was given to the Royal Society by the truly generous and honourable Henry Howard, (afterwards Duke of Norfolk) of the County of Norfolk, Eſq; on the ſecond of January, Anno 1666. This Collection originally was (kept at the City of Buda) Part of the Royal Library, belonging to the Kings of Hungary; which, upon the Demiſe of Matthias Corvinus, the laſt King of the Hungarian Race, was diſpoſed of; about two Thirds whereof being bought by the Emperor, they are now in the Imperial Library at Vienna; and this Part coming to Bilibaldus Perkeymberus of Nuremberg, it was bought Rec. Roy. Societ.

bought of him by the Earl of Arundel, on his Return from his Embaſſy to the Imperial Court.

This fine Collection conſiſts of three thouſand two hundred and eighty-ſeven printed Books, in moſt Languages and all Faculties; and are chiefly the firſt Editions of Books, ſoon after the Invention of Printing. And the valuable and choice Collection of Hebrew, Greek, Latin, Turkiſh and other rare Manuſcripts, conſiſts of five hundred and fifty-four Volumes; which, together with the former are thought to be of ſuch a Value, as cannot be parallelled, for the Smallneſs of their Number.

The noble and generous Benefactor, at the Time of his Donation, deſired, that the commemorial Inſcription of Ex dono Henrici Howard Norfolkcienſis, might be put in each Book: And that in caſe the Society ſhould happen to fail, the ſaid Library ſhould revert to his Family. The firſt of which the Society not only readily complied with, but ſome Time after cauſed the following Inſcription to be put up in the Library:

Bibliotheca Norfolciana.

Excellentiſſimus Princeps Henricus Howard, Dux Norfolciæ, Comes Marechallus Angliæ, Comes Arundeliæ, Suriæ, Norfolciæ, & Norwici, &c. Heros, propter Familiæ Antiquitatem, Animi Dotes, Corporis Dignitatem, pene incomparabilis, Bibliothecam hanc inſtructiſſimam (quæ hactenus Arundeliana appellabatur) Regiæ Societati Dono dedit, & perpetuo ſacram eſſe voluit.

A. D. MDCLXXIX.

The Arundelian, or Norfolk Library abovementioned, occupying a very large Room in the Society's Houſe in Crane-court in Fleet-ſtreet, another curious and valuable Collection of Books, left the Society in the Year 1715, by the Will of their late Secretary, Francis Aſton, Eſq; together with the numerous Benefactions of the Works of the learned Members, in all Faculties, eſpecially in Natural and Experimental Philoſophy, amounting to three thouſand ſix hundred and twenty-five, are placed in another Room, in beautiful Glaſs Caſes: And it far excels all the publick Libraries of this City, in point of Goodneſs and Value.

St. Paul's Library.

This Library, which is in a very noble and magnificent Room over the Conſiſtory in the Cathedral Church of St. Paul, contains a fine Collection of Books in all Sciences and many Languages, both printed and manuſcript, to the Number of ſeven thouſand Volumes.

Sion-College Library.

As Sion College was founded by Dr. White, for the Uſe of the London Clergy, ſo was the Library (by Accident) in like manner, by John Simpſon, Rector of St. Olave's, Hart-ſtreet, and Executor to the ſaid Dr. White. It is at preſent in a flouriſhing Condition, containing about fifteen thouſand Books, in moſt Languages and Faculties, both printed and manuſcript. See Cripplegate Ward.

Surgeons Library.

This Library, belonging to the Company of Surgeons, is kept in their Hall or Theatre in the Old-Bailey, and conſiſts of a handſome Collection of Books in divers Languages and Faculties, but more eſpecially in thoſe of Phyſick and Surgery, for the Uſe of the Faculty.

The King's Library.

This Library, which was founded by Henry, Prince of Wales, eldeſt Son to King James I. ſeems to have been but little regarded, by the ſmall Number of its Books; for the printed only amount to about ten thouſand two hundred, and the Manuſcripts to about eighteen hundred; which, till the Fire which happened on the twenty-third of October, Anno 1731, were kept in the ſame Houſe with the Cottonian Library, and ſuffered but little by that Fire. The Books are at preſent kept in the Old Dormitory at Weſtminſter.

The Queen's Library.

This magnificent Building was erected by that great Encourager of Learning, her late Majeſty Queen Caroline, and Royal Conſort to his preſent Majeſty King George II. into which the Books were put in the Month of October, Anno 1737. As this is a very ſtately and ſumptuous Room, ſo it is well furniſhed with a choice Collection of modern Books in divers Languages; which conſiſt of about four thouſand five hundred, finely bound, and beautifully placed, with Braſs Net-work before them.

Weſtminſter Library.

This Library, which is kept in the Eaſtern Cloiſter of Weſtminſter-abbey, belongs to the Dean and Chapter of the Collegiate Church, and conſiſts of a handſome Collection of Books in moſt Languages and Faculties, about ſix thouſand in Number.

Notwithſtanding the many publick Libraries within the City and Suburbs of London, the private Collections are ſo great and numerous, that it is ſcarce to be queſtioned, but they excel thoſe of all other Countries. However, without mentioning the many great Libraries of the Nobility, Gentry, and Gentlemen of the Long Robe, or thoſe of Merchants and Tradeſmen, (tho' to my own Knowledge, divers of the latter amount to above one thouſand Pounds each in Value) I ſhall content myſelf with mentioning only one of the principal, viz.

The celebrated Library collected by the late Earl of Sunderland, and now in Poſſeſſion of his eldeſt Son, the Duke of Marlborough, is, with good Reaſon, thought to ſurpaſs all other private Collections whatſoever.

CHAP. VI.

An Account of the ſeveral Hoſpitals and Alms-houſes within the Cities and Suburbs of London.

Alleyn's Alms-houſe.

Edward Alleyn, a Player, or Comedian of this City, and Founder of Dulwich-hoſpital, about the Year 1614, erected an Alms-houſe, conſiſting of ten Rooms, at the Weſt End of St. Botolph's Biſhopſgate in Petty France, for the Reception of ſo many poor Men and Women; who are allowed about forty Shillings per Annum; and every other Year, the Men have Coats and Breeches, and the Women Gowns and Petticoats. But Petty France being rebuilt, and converted into New-Broad-ſtreet, &c. this Houſe, in the Year 1730, was forced to make way to the new Paſſage leading to Biſhopſgate-ſtreet. Wherefore a new Building was erected in Lamb-alley in Biſhopſgate-ſtreet, for the Accommodation of the ſaid poor People; whoſe annual Allowance amounts to about twenty-eight Pounds.

Alleyn's Alms-houſe.

This Alms-houſe, ſituate in Peſt-houſe-lane near Old-ſtreet, was founded by the aforeſaid Edward Alleyn, about the Year 1616, for ten poor Men and Women; who receive ſix Pence per Week each, and every other Year Coats and Gowns; the Charge whereof amounts to about twenty-two Pounds per Annum.

Alleyn's Alms-houſe.

This Alms-houſe, ſituate in Soap-yard in Deadman's-place in Southwark, was alſo founded by the ſaid Edward Alleyn, about the Year 1616, for the Uſe of ten poor Men and Women, with an Allowance of ſix Pence per Week only; which amounts to thirteen Pounds per Annum.

Amyas's Alms-houſe.

This Alms-houſe, ſituate in George-yard in Old-ſtreet, was erected in the Year 1655, by Suſan Amyas, of London, Widow, for the Habitation of eight poor ſingle Men, or Women; who have an Allowance of four Pounds per Ann. each. One Pound, for Water; ſix Pounds, for Coals; and twenty Shillings for one of the eight to read Prayers daily; together, forty Pounds per Annum.

Aſke's Hoſpital.

This magnificent Hoſpital, ſituate at Hoxton, was erected in the Year 1692, by the Company of Haberdaſhers, purſuant to the Will of Robert Aſke, Eſq; and Member of the ſaid Fraternity; who, for the Building and Endowing of the ſame, left the ſaid Company upwards of thirty thouſand Pounds, for the maintaining at Bed and Board twenty poor Haberdaſhers, and twenty Boys; who are to be taught beſides: But a Moiety of this Sum being ſhamefully ſquandered, in erecting an Edifice fitter for a Palace than an Almshouſe, to the great Reproach of thoſe concerned, the Company were obliged to turn off the Boys for ſeveral Years. Had this great Sum of Money been prudently managed, the Company, inſtead of diſcharging the Boys, might not only have erected a handſome and convenient Building for an Hoſpital; but likewiſe have kept a much greater Number upon the Foundation.

Each of the Penſioners in this Hoſpital have very handſome Apartments, conſiſting of three Rooms with proper Diet and Firing. Three Pounds in Money yearly, and a Gown every ſecond Year: Which, together with the Salaries of the Chaplain, Clerk, Butler, Porter, and other Domeſticks, amounts to about eight hundred Pounds per Annum.

Ayre's Alms-houſe.

This Alms-houſe, in White's-alley in Coleman-ſtreet, was founded by Chriſtopher Ayre, a Merchant of this City, for ſix poor Men and their Wives; and committed the Truſt thereof to the Company of Leather-ſellers; who pay each Couple four Pounds per Annum.

Badger's Alms-houſe.

This Alms-houſe, ſituate at Hoxton, was founded by Allen Badger, Anno 1698, for ſix poor Men and their Wives; who are only allowed twenty Shillings per Annum each Couple.

Bancroft's Alms-houſe.

This beautiful Alms-houſe, School, and Chapel, ſituate at Mile-end, were erected by the Company of Drapers of this City, in the Year 1735, purſuant to the Will of Francis Bancroft, dated the 18th of March, Anno 1727, who bequeathed to the ſaid Company the Sum of twenty-eight thouſand Pounds, and upwards, in real and perſonal Eſtates, in Truſt; for purchaſing a Site, and building thereon an Alms-houſe, with convenient Apartments for twenty-four Almſmen, a Chapel and School-room for one hundred poor Boys, and two Dwelling-houſes for the Maſters of the ſaid School, and for endowing the ſame. Banc. Will.

He likewiſe ordered, that each of his ſaid twenty-four Almſmen ſhould have eight Pounds, and half a Chaldron of Coals yearly, and a Gown of Baize every third Year; and the School-boys to be cloathed, and taught to read, write, and account, for which the two Maſters are to have a Salary of thirty Pounds per Annum each, with their reſpective Houſes to dwell in; and twenty Pounds yearly, for Coals and Candles for the Uſe of the ſaid Maſters and Schools; with a ſufficient Allowance for Books, Paper, Pens and Ink; five Pounds for a Dinner to the Committee of the Court of Aſſiſtants, at their annual Viſitation of the ſaid School and Alms-houſe; three Pounds ten Shillings for two half-yearly Sermons, to be preached in the Pariſh Churches of St. Helen, and St. Michael, Cornhill, or elſewhere, in Commemoration of this Foundation; out of which the Miniſter is to have twenty, the Reader ten, and the Clerk and Sexton two Shillings and ſix Pence each, for each Sermon; at which are to be preſent the Almſmen, and Boys, who are to be catechized by the Reader on all ſuch Occaſions. And the Boys, when put out Apprentices, to have four Pounds given with each; but if to Service, only two Pounds ten Shillings, to buy them Cloaths. Ibid.

The Founder, Francis Bancroft, was a Grandſon of Archbiſhop Bancroft, tho' reduced, and was for many Years one of the Lord-Mayor's Officers of this City; in which Office he acquired an Eſtate of twenty-eight thouſand Pounds.

Bancroft's Monument in the Church of St. Helen, Biſhopſgate-ſtreet, which is of a ſquare ſepulchral Form, has the following Inſcription:

" The Ground, whereon this Tomb ſtands, " was purchaſed of this Pariſh, in the Year 1723, " by Francis Bancroft, Eſq; for the Interment of " himſelf and Friends only, (and was confirmed " to him by a Faculty from the Dean and Chap- " ter of St. Paul's, London, the ſame Year) and " in his Life-time he erected this Tomb, Anno 1726,

"1726, and ſettled Part of his Eſtate in London "and Middleſex, for beautifying and keeping the "ſame in Repair for ever".

Baremere's Alms-houſe.

This Alms-houſe, ſituate in Alms-houſe-yard in Hoxton, was built about the Year 1701, by Mr. Baremere, a Preſbyterian Miniſter, for eight poor Women, who have only a yearly Allowance of half a Chaldron of Coals each.

Baron's Alms-houſe.

This Alms-houſe, ſituate in Elbow-lane, Shadwell, was founded in the Year 1682, by George Baron, for the Habitation of fifteen poor Women; who endowed the ſame with five Pounds four Shillings per Annum for Bread.

Bayning's Alms-houſe.

This Alms-houſe, in Gun-powder-alley in Crutched-friars, was erected in the Year 1631, by Paul Viſcount Sudbury, for ten poor Houſekeepers; but whether ever endowed I cannot learn: But the ſame being ſurrendered to the Pariſh, 'tis uſed as a common Alms-houſe for the ſame.

Beech-lane Alms-houſe.

This Alms-houſe was erected by the Company of Drapers about the Year 1540, purſuant to the Will of the Lady Anne Aſkew, Relict of Sir Chriſtopher Aſkew, Mayor of this City, Anno 1533, for eight poor Widows, Members of the ſaid Fraternity, who are allowed three Pounds per Annum each, and half a Chaldron of Coals.

Bermeeter's Alms-houſe.

This Alms-houſe, in St. John's-ſtreet, in the Hamlet of Bethnal-green, was founded by Mr. Bermeeter, ſome Time Town Clerk of the ſaid Hamlet, for ſix poor Women, and endowed the ſame with thirty Pounds per Annum; but the Eſtate being in Houſes, a conſiderable Sum has been lately laid out on the ſame; wherefore one Moiety of the Rent is appropriated to diſcharge that Incumbrance, till which Time the Penſioners only receive two Pounds ten Shillings per Annum each.

Bethlem Hoſpital.

Stow. Sur. Lond.

This Hoſpital, originally a Priory, was founded Anno 1247, by Simon Fitzmary, ſome time Sheriff of London, on the Eaſt Side of that Part of the Mere, or Moor, (now the Quarters of Moorfields and Burial Ground in Old Bethlem) from which it was divided by a large and deep Ditch. See Biſhopſgate Ward.

This Hoſpital, on Account of its bad Situation, ſmall Dimenſions, and ruinous Condition, being deemed unfit for the Entertainment of ſuch miſerable Creatures, occaſioned the Lord-Mayor and Citizens, in the Year 1675, to lay the Foundation of the preſent ſtately Fabrick in Moorfields for their Reception; and which, tho' the moſt ſpacious and magnificent of its kind, yet it was only fifteen Months in erecting, as appears by an Inſcription in the Front thereof; the Charge of which amounted to about ſeventeen thouſand Pounds. This noble Structure is in Length five hundred and forty Feet, and in Breadth forty, wherein are contained a great Number of convenient Cells, or Rooms for the Accommodation of the Unfortunate, who are at preſent maintained therein without any Charge to their Friends, other than that of Bedding, which the unhappy Objects are daily deſtroying.

At each End of this ſtately Edifice are erected, by the charitable Contributions of the Citizens, two beautiful Wings, or ſpacious Buildings for the Reception of poor incurable Lunaticks. Before this magnificent Structure is a pleaſant Garden, incloſed by a ſtately Wall of about ſeven hundred Feet in Length.

I ſhall ſubjoin a Septenary Account of this Hoſpital, wherein will be ſhewn the Number of Perſons admitted, cured, diſcharged, and remaining in the ſame, in the ſeveral Years of the ſaid Septenary.

The Charter-House Hospital

This Hoſpital being united to that of Bethlehem, they have the ſame Preſident, Governors, Treaſurer, Auditor General, Clerk, Phyſician, Surgeon, and Apothecary; and the Domeſticks peculiar to this Houſe, are a Steward, Chaplain, Reader, Porter and his Servant, Matron, and four Beadles, one of whom is Chapel Clerk.

Butler's Alms-houſe.

This Alms-houſe, ſituate in Little Chapel-ſtreet, Weſtminſter, conſiſts of two large Rooms for two poor Men and their Wives; which were founded by Nicholas Butler, in the Year 1675, who endowed the ſame with twelve Pounds per Annum.

Camp's Alms-houſe.

This Alms-houſe, in Wormwood-ſtreet, was founded by Laurence Camp, for the Relief of ſix poor Perſons of the Pariſh of Allhallows, London-wall, who have each an Allowance of one Pound fourteen Shillings and eight Pence per Annum.

Caron's Alms-houſe.

This Houſe, ſituate in Kingſton-road, Vauxhall, conſiſting of ſeven Rooms, for as many poor Women, was founded by his Excellency the Right Honourable Noel, Baron of Caron, (Ambaſſador from the States of the United Provinces) in the Year 1623, who endowed the ſame with a handſome Eſtate, out of which his Almſwomen receive four Pounds per Annum each.

Charter-houſe Hoſpital.

The modern Appellation of Charter-houſe given to this Hoſpital, is a Corruption of the French Appellative Chartreux, the Name of the Place where the firſt Carthuſian Monk, founded his Order in France, from which Incident all Carthuſian Convents are called Chartreux, and the Original is diſtinguiſhed by the Name of the Grand Chartreux. The Charter-houſe in Smithfield, before the Suppreſſion of Monaſteries by Henry VIII. was a Priory belonging to that Order. The proper Name of this Houſe at preſent, is, The Hoſpital of King James; which Appellation it received by the Powers whereby it was at firſt erected into an Hoſpital. The Occaſion of this Houſe's being at firſt erected, was owing to a very fatal and dreadful Cataſtrophe, of which we have given an Account on Page 128. Hern. Acc. Chart.

A vaſt Number of People being interred in this Ground during the Rage of that deſtructive Peſtilence, the Right Honourable Proprietor was thereby induced to erect a Chapel in the ſaid Cemetery, wherein great and numerous Oblations were made for many Years after. In the Year 1371, Manny founded a Carthuſian Monaſtery therein, in Honour of God and the Virgin Mary, by the Appellation of The Salutation of the Mother of God. The Revenues of this Convent, which at its Suppreſſion by Henry VIII. Anno 1538, was valued at ſix hundred and forty-two Pounds and four-Pence Half-penny per Annum, was conferred upon Sir Thomas Audley, Speaker of the Houſe of Commons, with whoſe only Daughter it went by Marriage to Thomas Duke of Norfolk, and from him, by Deſcent, to Thomas Earl of Suffolk, who diſpoſed thereof to Thomas Sutton, Eſq; Citizen and Girdler of London, by the Name of Howard Houſe, commonly called the Charter-houſe, conſiſting of Stow. Sur. Lond. Hern. Acc. Chart.

divers Courts, a Wilderneſs, Orchards, Walks, and Gardens, with Pardon Church-yard, and two adjoining Meſſuages, called Willbeck, with all the Buildings, Ways, Waters, Services, Rents, Wages, Felons Goods, Outlaws, Fugitives, Liberties, Reverſions, Emoluments and Appurtenances whatſoever; for which he paid the Sum of thirteen thouſand Pounds, on the 16th of May, Anno 1611. Whereupon Sutton applied to King James I. to have the Deſign of erecting his Hoſpital at Halingbury in Eſſex, changed into that of the Charter-houſe, with a Power to eſtabliſh the ſame in all Reſpects as effectually in the latter, as was deſigned by the Act of Parliament to have been done in the former.

The King by his Letters Patents of the twenty-ſecond of June, Anno 1611, eſtabliſhed the ſaid Hoſpital according to the Requeſt of the Founder, (which was confirmed by Parliament, 1628,) who fitted up the Houſe for the Reception of his Penſioners and Scholars, the Charge of which amounted to ſeven thouſand Pounds, which, together with the Purchaſe-Money, amounted to twenty thouſand Pounds. Beſides this Sum, Sutton endowed his Hoſpital with fifteen Manors, and other Lands, to the Amount of four thouſand four hundred and ninety-three Pounds nineteen Shillings and ten Pence Half-penny per Annum. Stryp. Ed. Stow. Sur.

Though this Hoſpital in the Years 1623, and 1624, loſt near the Sum of eight thouſand Pounds, was ſpoiled of ſixteen hundred Pounds, Anno 1649, and the great Loſs it ſuſtained under the iniquitous Maſterſhip of Gerard; yet by the juſt and faithful Management of the worthy Sir Richard Sutton, one of the Founder's Executors, the Eſtate belonging to this Foundation was, by the Year 1673, improved to five thouſand three hundred and ninety-one Pounds thirteen Shillings and eight Pence yearly. And though at this Time it amounts (as I am informed) to above ſix thouſand Pounds per Annum; yet I cannot learn that any other Addition is made to the Number of Perſons upon the Foundation, than four Boys to the Number of Scholars in the Houſe, and five to that of the Students at the Univerſities, which makes the former forty-four, and the latter twenty-nine; which, together with the eighty old Penſioners, make the Number Total of Members one hundred and fifty-three, beſides the Servants of the Houſe. Hern. Acc. Chart.

The Penſioners are provided with handſome Apartments, and all the Neceſſaries of Life, except Apparel, in lieu of which they are allowed a Gown and ſeven Pounds per Annum each. And the Scholars have not only handſome Lodgings, and are inſtructed in Claſſical Learning, &c. but they are likewiſe ſupplied with all the Neceſſaries of Life; and the Students at the Univerſities have an Allowance of twenty Pounds per Annum each, for the Term of eight Years. And the Boys that are incapable of being brought up Scholars are put out Apprentices, and the Sum of forty Pounds given with each of them. And as a farther Encouragement to the Scholars brought up on this Foundation, there are nine Eccleſiaſtical Preferments in the Patronage of the Governors, who, according to the Conſtitutions of the Hoſpi-tal,

tal, are to confer them upon thoſe that were therein educated. See Farringdon Ward without.

Chriſt's Hoſpital.

This is a Royal Foundation, which was granted the City by Henry VIII. Anno 1547, and in the Year 1552, confirmed to the Citizens by Charter of Edward VI. who thereby incorporated them Governors of his ſeveral Foundations in the City and Liberties thereof, by the Name of The Mayor, Commonalty and Citizens of the City of London, Governors of the Poſſeſſions, Revenues, and Goods of the Hoſpitals of Edward VI. King of England, &c. And as a farther Inſtance of this Prince's Generoſity to the Poor of this City, commanded, that after reſerving a ſufficient Quantity of the Linen (which had been uſed in the Times of Popiſh Superſtitions) to each Church within the City and Suburbs of London, the remaining ſuperfluous great Quantities ſhould be delivered to the Governors of this Hoſpital for the Uſe of the poor Children under their Care. The Charge for the Support of this Hoſpital, by the Account of its Diſburſements in the Year 1729, appears to be eleven thouſand and fifty-one Pounds fourteen Shillings and eight Pence.

The Number of Governors in the Direction of this Hoſpital being unlimited, 'tis therefore uncertain, tho' generally they are about three hundred, in whom is inveſted the Right of chooſing their Officers and Servants, both Men and Women. The principal whereof are, a Preſident, Treaſurer, Phyſician, Surgeon, Clerk, Steward, a Cook, Porter, four Beadles, a Matron, and eleven Nurſes.

Corporation for the Relief of Clergymens Widows and Children.

The Origin of this Society, (whoſe Houſe is in Saliſbury-court, Fleet-ſtreet) appears from the Abſtract of the Charter granted them by King Charles II.

An Abſtract of the Charter of King Charles II. for erecting a Corporation for Relief of poor Widows and Children of Clergymen, dated 1 July, Anno 1678.

" His ſaid late Majeſty having taken notice, that divers charitable Perſons had appeared very forward in contributing to the Relief of ſuch of the Widows and Children of loyal and orthodox Clergymen, as were poor, and the good Effect the ſame had; and taking into his Princely Conſideration, the great Sufferings of many of the Clergy of England for their Loyalty, was graciouſly pleaſed, by his Charter, under the Great Seal of England, to ordain, conſtitute and grant, That the Perſons therein named, and their Succeſſors, (to be elected as is therein expreſſed) be one Body Politick and Corporate, by the Name of The Governors of the Charity for the Relief of the poor Widows and Children of Clergymen; and that by the ſame Name they ſhould have perpetual Succeſſion; and to be capable to purchaſe, have, or take Manors, Lands and Hereditaments, &c. not exceeding the yearly Value of two thouſand Pounds; and all manner of Goods and Chattels, and to diſpoſe thereof; and by that to plead and be impleaded in all Actions, &c. and to act all other Matters and Things as fully as any other Body Politick in this Realm can do; and that the ſaid Governors ſhould have one common Seal.

" And his ſaid late Majeſty did further grant to the ſaid Governors, That there ſhould be a Preſident, Vice-Preſident, three Treaſurers, and forty-two Aſſiſtants, Members of the ſaid Corporation; and that they, or any five of them, (whereof the Preſident, Vice-Preſident, or any of the Treaſurers, be one) ſhould be called The Court of Aſſiſtants of the ſaid Corporation; who ſhould have the Management of all the Affairs of the ſaid Corporation, and ſhould make Laws and Ordinances for the good Government thereof, as well in Matters concerning the Corporation, as in electing of Officers, and Management of their Revenues, and impoſe Penalties on the Offenders againſt the ſaid Laws, and to recover the ſame to the Uſe of the ſaid Corporation.

" And therein it is appointed, that the Perſons thereby conſtituted be the firſt Preſident, Vice-Preſident, Treaſurers, and firſt Aſſiſtants, ſhould continue in their reſpective Places until the ſecond Thurſday in November, 1679, and from thenceforth until there ſhould be a new Choice made of Perſons to ſucceed them.

" And that on every ſecond Thurſday in November for ever, (or oftener, if there be Occaſion) there ſhould be a General Aſſembly of the ſaid Governors; and the major Part of the Members then preſent, might chuſe a Preſident, Vice-Preſident, three Treaſurers, and forty-two Aſſiſtants, who ſhould continue for the Year following: And that in caſe of the Death of any of the ſaid Officers within the Year, others might be choſen at a General Aſſembly in their Places.

" And that ſuch General Aſſembly might elect ſuch other Perſon, or Perſons, to be Members and Governors of the ſaid Corporation, as they, or the greateſt Part of them, ſhould think fit.

" Provided, That the Preſident, Vice-Preſident, and Treaſurers above-named, ſhould, before they enter upon their Places, take their Oaths before the Lord-Chancellor, faithfully to execute their reſpective Truſts; and that all the other Members of the ſaid Corporation, before they act as Aſſiſtants, and all ſucceeding Preſidents, Vice-Preſidents, Treaſurers, Aſſiſtants, and all other their inferior Officers, ſhould take the like Oath before the Perſons by the ſaid Charter impowered to adminiſter the ſame.

"Since which, the Revenues of the Corporation being increaſed to near two thouſand Pounds per Annum, by the charitable Benefactions of ſeveral well diſpoſed Perſons; and the Corporation having repreſented the ſame by their humble Petition to his moſt Gracious Majeſty King George the Firſt, his Majeſty was pleaſed to grant his Royal Licence, dated the 16th Day of December, in the firſt Year of his Reign, to enable the Corporation to make further Purchaſes and Acquiſitions, not exceeding five thouſand Pounds per Annum."

Cotterell's Alms-houſe.

This Houſe, which is ſituate in Chapel-yard Hog-lane, Soho, was endowed by Sir Charles Cotterell with a perpetual Annuity of twenty Pounds, toward the Support of eight poor Women therein.

Cure's Alms-houſe.

This Alms-houſe, which is ſituate in College Church-yard in Deadman's-Place, Southwark, was founded by Thomas Cure, Eſq; Anno 1584, for the Reception of ſixteen poor Men and Women, with an Allowance of twenty Pence per Week each. And by the additional Benefactions of Cure's Son, and Mrs. Appleby, they receive each ſixteen Shillings per Annum more.

Dewy's Alms-houſe.

This Alms-houſe, ſituate in Hog-lane, Soho, was erected by Captain Dewy, Anno 1684, but whether endowed, or not, I cannot learn.

Dun's Alms-houſe.

This Alms-houſe, containing twenty Rooms for ſo many poor Widows, was erected by Cornelius Van-Dun, a Fleming, in the Reign of Queen Elizabeth; but it not being endowed, it is inhabited by the Pariſh Penſioners of St. Margaret's, Weſtminſter.

Dutch Alms-houſe.

This Alms-houſe, ſituate in White's-alley, Moorfields, was erected by Samuel Shepherd, Eſq; an eminent Dutch Merchant, for the Reception of twenty-eight poor ancient Women of his Nation, who have each an Allowance of three Shillings per Week, and twelve Shillings to buy a Gown every other Year.

Dyers Alms-houſe.

This Alms-houſe, which belongs to the Company of Dyers, is ſituate in Dyers-Buildings in Holbourn, and contains eight Rooms for ſo many aged poor Women, who are only allowed two Pence per Week, which ſhews the Foundation to be of an ancient Eſtabliſhment.

Dyers Alms-houſe.

This Alms-houſe, ſituate in St. John's-ſtreet, near Spittlefields, was erected by the Maſter Dyers, for the Benefit of ſix poor Widows, who are allowed thirty Shillings per Annum each.

Emanuel Hoſpital.

This hoſpital, ſituate at Tothill Side in Weſtminſter, was founded by the Lady Dacres, on the 17th of December, Anno 1601, for twenty aged ſingle Men and Women; ſixteen whereof to be of St. Margaret's, Weſtminſter, two of Hayes, and two of Chelſea Pariſhes; each of whom have an Allowance of ten Pounds per Annum, with the Liberty of bringing up a poor Child.

The City of London has this Charity in Truſt, and receive annually two hundred Pounds for its Support, iſſuing out of the Manor of Bramſburton in the County of York, till the Expiration of a Leaſe of one hundred and ninety-nine Years, when the whole Manor (as 'tis ſaid, above ſix hundred Pounds per Annum) is deviſed for the Augmentation of this Foundation. And according to certain Conſtitutions made by the Executors of the Foundreſs, no Perſon of ill Fame, or ſuch as cannot ſay the Creed and ten Commandments in Engliſh, or under fifty Years of Age, nor ſuch as have not inhabited three Years in the ſaid Pariſhes, to be admitted upon this Foundation.

Sometime ago, the Court of Lord-Mayor and Aldermen of this City, cauſed to be erected at the upper End of this Hoſpital, a handſome School-houſe and Dormitory for the Reception of twenty poor Boys and Girls, who were taken into the ſame on the twenty-fourth of June, Anno 1735; they are plentifully ſupplied with all the Neceſſaries of Life, the Boys are taught to read, write and account, and the Girls to read, write and Plain-work.

Fell's Alms-houſe.

This Alms-houſe, ſtanding at Blackwall, was erected by Captain Fell, for the Accommodation of four poor Families, without any other Allowance.

Fiſher's Alms-houſe.

This Alms-houſe, which ſtands in the Dog-row, near Mile-end, was erected in the Year 1711, by Captain Fiſher, for ſix Maſters of Ships Widows, for whoſe Support he ſettled an Eſtate of forty Pounds per Annum, and committed the Truſt thereof to the Fraternity of the Trinity-Houſe. And the Ground whereon the two additional Rooms are erected, was purchaſed by Sir Charles Wager, and built by Sir William Ogborne, Anno 1728, and the two Widows therein have each an Allowance of ſixteen Shillings per Month, and twenty Shillings per Annum for Coals.

The Foundling Hoſpital.

This Hoſpital, which is riſen to an extraordinary public Benefit from ſome generous Benefactions of private Merchants in the Reign of Queen Anne, and their Legacies for carrying ſo laudable a Deſign into Execution, was eſtabliſhed at laſt by the Solicitation and great Care of Mr. Thomas Coram, (See Page 605, Vol. I.) who obtained not only a very extenſive Subſcription for the building of a noble and commodious Houſe in Lambs-Conduit Fields; but lived to ſee it built, well filled and regulated and eſtabliſhed by the Royal Letters Patents and an Act of Parliament.

The Royal Charter for eſtabliſhing the Hoſpital.

George the Second, by the Grace of God, and ſo forth, to whom theſe Preſents ſhall come Greeting.

Whereas our truſty and well beloved Subject Thomas Coram, Gentleman, in Behalf of great Numbers of helpleſs Infants daily expoſed to Deſtruction, has by his Petition humbly repreſented unto us, that many Perſons of Quality and Diſtinction, as well as others, of both Sexes, being ſenſible of the frequent Murders committed on poor miſerable Infants by their Parents to hide their Shame, and the inhuman Cuſtom of expoſing new-born Children to periſh in the Streets, or training them up in Idleneſs, Beggary, or Theft, have by Inſtruments in Writing declared their Intentions to contribute liberally towards the erecting an Hoſpital, after the Example of other Chriſtian Countries, and for ſupporting the ſame, for the Reception, Maintenance, and proper Education of ſuch helpleſs Infants, as ſoon as we ſhould be graciouſly pleaſed to grant our Royal Letters Patent for that Purpoſe: That ſeveral Legacies having been bequeathed for the ſame to be paid by the Executors, when any ſuch Hoſpital ſhall be properly eſtabliſhed here; the Petitioner therefore hath humbly prayed us, that we ſhould be graciouſly pleaſed to grant our Royal Charter for incorporating ſuch Perſons as we ſhall think fit for receiving and diſpoſing of Charities for erecting and ſupporting an Hoſpital for the Reception, Maintenance, and proper Education of ſuch expoſed and caſt-off Children as may be brought to it, under ſuch Rules and Regulations as to us may ſeem meet.

We taking the Premiſſes into our Royal Conſideration, and being deſirous to promote ſo good and laudable an Eſtabliſhment, are graciouſly pleaſed to gratify the Petitioner in his Requeſt.

Know ye therefore, that we, of our ſpecial Grace, certain Knowledge and mere Motion, have willed, ordained, conſtituted, and appointed, and by theſe Preſents, for us, our Heirs and Succeſſors, do will, ordain, conſtitute, declare, and grant that the Governors, and ſuch others, as ſhall from Time to Time be elected in the Manner herein after directed, they and their Succeſſors, be, and ſhall, for ever hereafter, be, by Virtue of theſe Preſents, one Body Politick and Corporate in Deed and in Name, by the Name of The Governors and Guardians of the Hoſpital for the Maintenance and Education of expoſed and deſerted young Children; and them and their Succeſſors by the ſame Name, we do by theſe Preſents, for us, our Heirs and Succeſſors, conſtitute and declare to be one Body Politick and Corporate in Deed and in Law; and by the ſame Name they and their Succeſſors ſhall and may have perpetual Succeſſion; and that they and their Succeſſors by that Name ſhall and may, for ever hereafter, be Perſons able and capable in the Law, and may have Power, notwithſtanding the Statute of Mortmain, to purchaſe, have, take, receive, and enjoy, to them and their Succeſſors, Manors, Meſſuages, Lands, Rents, Tenements, Annuities, and Hereditaments, of whatſoever Nature or Kind, in Fee and Perpetuity, or for Terms of Life or Years, not exceeding the yearly Value of four thouſand Pounds, beyond Repriſes, ſo far as they are not reſtrained by Law; and all Manner of Goods, Chattels, and Things whatſoever, of what Nature and Value ſoever, for the better Support and Maintenance of ſuch poor deſerted Children as ſhall be received into the ſaid Hoſpital, in the Manner herein after mentioned; and alſo to ſell, grant, demiſe, exchange, and diſpoſe of any of the ſame Manors, Meſſuages, Lands, and Tenements, whereof and wherein they ſhall have any Eſtate of Inheritance, or for Life, Lives, or Years as aforeſaid; and that by the Name aforeſaid they ſhall and may be able to ſue and be ſued, plead and be impleaded, anſwer and be anſwered unto, defend and be defended, in all Courts and Pleas whatſoever of us, our Heirs and Succeſſors, in all Actions, Plaints, Matters, and Demands whatſoever, and to act and do in all Matters and Things relating to the ſaid Corporation, in as ample Manner and Form as any other our liege Subjects, being Perſons able and capable in the Law, or any other Body Politick or Corporate in this Part of our Kingdom of Great-Britain called England, lawfully may or can Act or do; and that the ſaid Corporation, for ever hereafter, ſhall and may have and uſe a common Seal for the Cauſes and Buſineſſes of them and their Succeſſors; and that it ſhall and may be lawful for them and their Succeſſors to change, break, alter, and make new the ſaid Seal from Time to Time, as they ſhall think fit.

And, for the better Execution of the Purpoſes aforeſaid, we do declare and grant, that the ſaid Corporation, and their Succeſſors for ever, ſhall have one Preſident, ſix Vice-Preſidents, and one Treaſurer; and that John Duke of Bedford be the firſt Preſident; that Micajah Perry, the Lord Vere Beauclerk, Sir Joſeph Eyles, Martin Folkes, Peter Burrel, and James Cook, be the ſix firſt Vice-Preſidents; and that Lewis Way be the firſt Treaſurer of the ſaid Corporation; each of them reſpectively to continue in their ſeveral and reſpective Offices of Preſident, Vice-Preſidents, and Treaſurer, until the ſecond Wedneſday in May 1740, and until others be choſen in their reſpective Rooms.

And our Will and Pleaſure is, That the ſaid Preſident, Vice-Preſidents, and Treaſurer, and the reſt of the Members of the ſaid Corporation alſo above-named, or as many of them the ſaid Preſident, Vice-Preſidents, and Members as conveniently can, may, within forty Days next after the Date of this our Grants, meet together at ſuch Time and Place as the ſaid Preſident ſhall appoint by Summons, or other Notice, which he is by theſe Preſents impowered and required timely to iſſue for that Purpoſe to the ſaid Members, or ſuch of them as live within the Cities of London or Weſtminſter, or the Borough of Southwark, or within two Miles thereof; where they, or the major Part of them then preſent, may chuſe by Ballot one or more Secretaries, and ſuch other inferior Officers and Servants as ſhall be thought convenient and uſeful for the Purpoſes of the ſaid Corporation, and to ſerve in the ſaid Offices reſpectively until the ſecond Wedneſday in May 1740, and until others ſhall be elected in their reſpective Rooms, unleſs they ſhall ſooner die, or be removed; and at ſuch Meetings one or more Committee, or Committes, ſhall be choſen out of the Members of the ſaid Corporation, to conſiſt of ſuch Number and Perſons as to the ſaid general Court ſhall ſeem proper; which Committee, or Committees, ſhall continue until the ſaid ſecond

Wedneſday

Wedneſday in the Month of May, in the ſaid Year 1740, and ſhall have Power, to direct, manage, and tranſact, all the Buſineſs, Affairs, Eſtate, and Effects of the ſaid Corporation, and take in, receive, maintain, and employ ſuch poor deſerted Children, according to ſuch Rules and Directions as ſhall be made and eſtabliſhed from Time to Time by general Courts; to which ſaid general Courts we do by theſe Preſents, for us, our Heirs and Succeſſors, give and grant full Power and Authority to make and eſtabliſh ſuch Rules and Directions for the Reception, Maintenance, and Employment of ſuch poor deſerted Children, as they, or the major Part of them, ſhall think meet, fit, and convenient, from Time to Time; and for that Purpoſe ſuch Committee, or Committees, may erect or purchaſe ſuch fitting Place to be an Hoſpital for the Reception of ſuch Children.

And our further Will is, That, on every ſecond Wedneſday in the Month of May yearly, there ſhall and may be a general Meeting of the Governors and Guardians of the ſaid Corporation in the ſaid Hoſpital, or at ſome other convenient Place, until the ſaid Hoſpital be made ready to receive them, for the electing by Ballot all ſucceeding Preſidents, Vice-Preſidents, Treaſurers, and Committees, out of the Members of the ſaid Corporation, by Majority of Votes of all the Members then perſonally preſent, to continue in their reſpective Offices until the ſecond Wedneſday in the ſaid Month of May following, and until others ſhall be choſen in their reſpective Rooms; and that all ſucceeding Secretaries, and other inferior Officers and Servants, be annually appointed, or oftener, if needful, by the major Part of the Governors and Guardians for the Time being then preſent at their general Meeting, and, in Caſe of an Equality of Votes, the Preſident, or, in Caſe of his Death or Abſence, the Vice-Preſident firſt named in the Liſt of Vice-Preſidents then preſent, to have a double or caſting Voice, and at ſuch Salaries as they ſhall think reaſonable.

We Will moreover, That there ſhall be, every Year, four ſtated general Meetings of the Governors and Guardians of the ſaid Corporation, to be held on the firſt Wedneſdays after Lady-Day, Midſummer, Michaelmas, and Chriſtmas-Day reſpectively; at which Meetings, and no other, the ſaid Corporation, or the major Part of the Members thereof then preſent, ſhall and may execute Leaſes for Years, and make By-laws for the well Government of the ſaid Corporation, which By-laws, not being repugnant to the Laws and Statutes of this our Realm, ſhall and may be effectually obſerved and kept.

Provided nevertheleſs, and our Will is, That no ſuch By-laws, ſo to be made by this Corporation ſhall be binding, until the ſame ſhall be confirmed by ſome ſucceeding general Meeting; and that the ſame Method be obſerved in the altering or repealing any ſuch By-laws, after they ſhall have been ſo confirmed; and the Members preſent at ſuch quarterly Meetings, or the major Part of them then preſent, are hereby impowered from Time to Time to remove and diſplace any Officers or Servants belonging to the ſaid Hoſpital for Miſdemeanors at their Will and Pleaſure, and to put others into their Rooms from Time to Time: And we do hereby alſo impower the Committee for the Time being, or any five or more of them, on any juſt Cauſe, to ſuſpend, remove, and diſplace any inferior Officers or Servants, and to put others in their Rooms until the next general or quarterly Court or Meeting.

Provided, That no Act in any quarterly or other general Meeting be valid, unleſs thirteen or more Members be preſent, and the major Part of ſuch as ſhall be preſent be conſenting thereto.

We Will moreover, That the ſaid Corporation and their Succeſſors, or the major Part of ſuch of them as ſhall be preſent at any yearly or quarterly Court, or other general Meeting which the Preſident has by theſe Preſents Power to ſummon at any other Times, as there ſhall be Occaſion, may, from Time to Time, by Ballot elect and chuſe ſuch fit and able Perſons to be Governors and Guardians as they ſhall think moſt likely to encourage and promote the charitable Deſigns of the ſaid Corporation; which Governors and Guardians ſo elected ſhall, from and after ſuch Election, be adjudged and deemed Members of the ſaid Corporation, and as ſuch ſhall be ſummoned and admitted to vote and act, by Virtue of the ſaid Preſents, as fully and effectually, to all Intents and Purpoſes, as if their Names, reſpectively, were particularly inſerted to be Members thereof in and by this our Charter.

And we Will moreover, That the ſaid Corporation and their Succeſſors ſhall have Power to authoriſe and appoint ſuch Perſons as they ſhall think fit to take Subſcriptions, and to aſk of all or any of our good Subjects, and gather and collect ſuch Monies as ſhall by any Perſon or Perſons, Bodies Politick or Corporate, Companies or other Societies, be contributed and given for the Purpoſes aforeſaid, and may revoke and make void ſuch Authorities and Appointments, as often as they may ſee Cauſe ſo to do.

And our further Will and Pleaſure is, That the ſaid Corporation ſhall and may cauſe fair and juſt Accounts in Writing to be kept of all Receipts, Payments, and Doings by them, their Officers and Agents, reſpectively, in relation to the Premiſes, which ſhall be liable to the View and Inſpection of any Subſcriber or Subſcribers, Benefactor or Benefactors, upon Occaſion; which ſaid Accounts ſhall, on the 25th Day of December in every Year, or within fourteen Days after, be examined, audited, adjuſted, and ſubſcribed by the Members preſent at ſuch Meeting, or the major Part of them.

We Will moreover, That all Perſons who ſhall ſubſcribe and pay to the ſaid Corporation to the Amount of twenty Pounds or more, or of forty Shillings or more annually, ſhall have free Liberty to inſpect the ſaid Hoſpital, and inform themſelves of the State thereof, and of the Manner of nurſing, dieting, managing, inſtructing, and employing the Children therein.

And further we Will, That in all general Courts the Preſident, or, in Caſe of his Death or Abſence, the Vice-Preſident firſt named in the Liſt of Vice-Preſidents then preſent, be the Chairman man of the ſaid Court, and to have a caſting Voice in caſe of an Equality of Votes.

And, laſtly, our Will and Pleaſure is, That theſe our Letters Patent, or the Inrollment or Exemplification thereof, ſhall be good, firm, valid, and effectual in the Law, according to our Royal Intentions herein before declared; and ſhall be taken, conſtrued, and adjudged, in all our Courts and elſewhere, in the moſt favourable and beneficial Senſe, and for the beſt Advantage of the ſaid Corporation and their Succeſſors; any Omiſſion, Imperfection, Defect, Matter, Cauſe, or Thing whatſoever, to the contrary thereof in anywiſe notwithſtanding, without Fine or Fee, great or ſmall, to be for the ſame in any Manner rendered, done, or paid to us in our Hanaper, or elſewhere, to our Uſe.

In Witneſs thereof we have cauſed theſe our Letters to be made Patent. Witneſs ourſelf at Weſtminſter the 17th Day of October, in the thirteenth Year of our Reign,

In Purſuance of this Patent the Duke of Bedford, who was appointed the firſt Preſident, ſummoned the ſeveral Members of the Society to meet him, on Tueſday the 20th of November, at Somerſet-houſe; and, moſt of the Noblemen and Gentlemen named in the Charter being aſſembled, Thomas Coram, Eſq; who firſt propoſed the Scheme and ſolicited for the Charter, thanked his Grace the Duke of Bedford, and the reſt of the Noblemen and Gentlemen, for their Protection and Aſſiſtance in promoting the Patent; and Dr. Mead obſerved the vaſt Advantages that would accrue to the Nation by this uſeful Eſtabliſhment. After which Mr. Herman Vereſt was choſen then Secretary, who accepted of that Office without expecting any Fee or Reward for his Service; and a Committee of fifty of the Members were choſen to aſſiſt the Preſident, in carrying on the Affairs of the Corporation.

On the 14th of May 1740, the Corporation held their yearly general Meeting, when they elected by Ballot his Grace John Duke of Bedford their Preſident: The Lord Vere Beauclerk, Micajah Perry, Eſq; Martin Folkes, Eſq; Peter Burrel, Eſq; Sir Jacob Bonverie, Bart. and John Milner, Eſq; Vice-Preſidents; and Lewis Way, Eſq; Treaſurer; and theſe, with forty-two more of the Members, were elected a Committee.

The ſame Day they reſolved that ſixty Children ſhould be taken in, with proper Officers, Nurſes, asd Servants; and, on the 31ſt of October, it was reſolved that the general Committee be impowered to purchaſe of the Earl of Saliſbury his two Paſture Fields, containing thirty-four Acres of Land, on the north Side of Ormond-ſtreet, between Lamb's-Conduit and Southampton-row, for a Site to build an Hoſpital upon, and to do all Things neceſſary for the Building of it.

In the mean Time they hired a Houſe in Hatton-Garden, late in the Occupation of Sir Fiſher Tench, for the Children, until the Hoſpital ſhould be built, as it has been already obſerved.

Anno decimo tertio Georgii II. Regis.

An Act for confirming and enlarging the Powers granted by his Majeſty to the Governors and Guardians of the Hoſpital for the Maintenance and Education of expoſed and deſerted young Children, by his moſt gracious Charter, bearing Date the 17th Day of October, in the Year of our Lord one thouſand ſeven hundred and thirty-nine, and to enable them to execute the good Purpoſes of the ſaid Charter.

Whereas his Majeſty, in Compaſſion to the Numbers of poor Infants, who are liable to be expoſed to periſh in the Streets, or be murdered by their indigent and inhuman Parents, has been moſt graciouſly pleaſed, by his Royal Charter ununder the Great Seal of Great-Britain, to create and eſtabliſh a Corporation of Body Politick, by the Name of The Governors and Guardians of the Hoſpital for the Maintenance and Education of expoſed and deſerted young Children; which Corporation is, by the ſaid Charter, declared to have perpetual Succeſſion, and impowered to take, hold, purchaſe, receive, and poſſeſs Lands, Tenements, and Hereditaments, to the Value of four thouſand Pounds a Year; and Goods, Chattels, and perſonal Eſtate, of what Nature and Value ſoever; and to purchaſe or erect an Hoſpital for the Support, Maintenance, and Education of expoſed and deſerted Children; and to hold Courts, to make By-laws, and to elect Governors and Officers, and to do other Acts for the Purpoſes of the ſaid Charter: And whereas great Sums of Money have been given by the Governors of the ſaid Hoſpital, and other Perſons, to be applied to the charitable Uſes beforementioned: And whereas, by Reaſon of the Laws now in Force for the Relief of the Poor, many Difficulties may ariſe in carrying into Execution the good Intents of the ſaid Charter, and that the granting other and farther Powers to the ſaid Corporation is requiſite effectually to anſwer the Purpoſes aforeſaid:

It is enacted, That the ſaid Corporation, and their Succeſſors, ſhall have Power, by any Inſtrument under their common Seal, to purchaſe Lands, Tenements, or Hereditaments, of the Value of four thouſand Pounds per Annum, and to erect Houſes and Buildings thereon, to be an Hoſpital for the Reception of poor and expoſed Children.

And it is further enacted, That ſuch Lands and Buildings, while they continue in the Poſſeſſion of the ſaid Corporation, ſhall be rated at ſuch Value in the Taxes as ſuch Lands were rated and aſſeſſed at in the Year 1739, and no more, notwithſtanding any Improvements which ſhall hereafter be made, or any Buildings which ſhall be erected thereon.

And it ſhall be lawful for all Bodies Politick or Corporate, Femmes-Covert poſſeſſed in their own Right, Truſtees, Guardians, and Committees for Lunaticks and Idiots, Executors, Adminiſtrators, and Guardians whatſoever, in Behalf of their Ceſtui que Truſts, to contract for, ſell, or convey to the ſaid Corporation, and their Succeſſors, all or any Meſſuages, Lands, &c. provided ſuch Conveyances be approved by the Lord Chancellor, Keeper, or Commiſſioners of the great Seal for the Time being; and all ſuch Contracts, Sales, and Conveyances, ſhall be good and valid in Law.

And

And it ſhall be lawful for the ſaid Corporation, or any Perſons authoriſed by them, to receive, maintain, and educate as many Children as they think fit in ſuch Hoſpital. And it ſhall be lawful for any Perſons whatſoever to bring Children to the ſaid Hoſpital to be maintained and educated there. And no Church-warden, Overſeer, or other Perſon, ſhall, by Virtue of any Law in being for the Proviſion or Maintenance of the Poor, or for Baſtard Children, ſtop, moleſt, or diſturb any Perſon in bringing ſuch Children to the ſaid Hoſpital, or in returning from the ſame, on Pain of forty Shillings for every Offence, to be levied by two Juſtices of the Peace.

And no Overſeer, Church-warden, or other Officer, ſhall have any Power or Authority in the ſaid Hoſpital, or ſhall have any Authority to enquire concerning the Birth or Settlement of ſuch Children who ſhall be there maintained and educated.

No Children, Nurſes, or Servants, maintained or employed in the ſaid Hoſpital, ſhall gain any Settlement in the Pariſhes or Places where the Corporation ſhall order them to be maintained or educated.

Nor ſhall any mortuary Fee or Reward be due or payable to any Rector, Curate, Miniſter, Clerk, Sexton or other Officer, on Account of the Chriſtening, Death, or Burial of ſuch Children; and the Offices of Baptiſm and Burial of them ſhall be performed by ſuch Miniſters of the Church of England, as the ſaid Corporation ſhall appoint: And the ſaid Corporation ſhall provide a ſufficient Burial-ground for all Children dying under their Care, and ſhall not be intitled to make Uſe of any Church-yard or Burial-place belonging to any Pariſh, for burying the ſaid Children.

And it ſhall be lawful for the ſaid Corporation, or any Perſons by them authoriſed, to detain and employ in any Sort of Labour, or Manufacture, or in the Sea Service, all Children by them maintained and educated, till they attain the following Ages, viz. until ſuch male Children attain the Age of twenty-four Years, and the female Children attain the Age of twenty-one, or be married. And the ſaid Corporation may bind ſuch Children Apprentices, or place them out as Servants, or Mariners, to any Huſbandman, Maſter or Captain of a Ship, or other Perſon, until the aforeſaid reſpective Ages.

And it ſhall be lawful for the ſaid Corporation, ſo long as ſuch Children ſhall be maintained by them, to hire or let out ſuch Children to any Perſon who ſhall contract with them for their Work and Labour, and the Corporation to receive the Profit ariſing from ſuch Work, and to give ſuch reaſonable Correction for their Idleneſs, Diſobedience, or Miſbehaviour, as they ſhall think proper.

The Preſident, Vice-Preſidents, and Treaſurer of the ſaid Corporation, ſhall be choſen annually on the ſecond Wedneſday in May, when there ſhall be a general Meeting of the Governors and Guardians at the ſaid Hoſpital, who ſhall proceed to the Election of a Preſident, ſix Vice-Preſidents, and a Treaſurer, by Ballot, and be determined by a Majority of Votes then preſent; and, if ſuch Election cannot be made and compleated on the ſaid ſecond of May, it ſhall be made within forty Days after, the Majority preſent having Power to adjourn ſuch Meeting to a future Day; Notice of which Adjournment, and all other General Meetings, to be given in the Gazette.

And, when any Vacancy in the ſaid Offices ſhall happen by Death, the Governors and Guardians of the ſaid Corporation, or the major Part of them, are authoriſed to proceed to a new Election of an Officer in the Room of the Perſon deceaſed.

And it ſhall be lawful for the Governors and Guardians of the ſaid Corporation, at any General or Quarterly Court, to appoint one or more Committees for tranſacting Buſineſs, auditing the Accounts of the Corporation, and to require the Treaſurer, Officers, and Servants of the Houſe, to account in ſuch Manner as they ſhall direct; and, at the ſaid General or Quarterly Courts, may examine and paſs ſuch Accounts, and make ſuch By-laws as they ſhall think proper, for the better Government of the ſaid Corporation, provided that no By-law ſhall be of Force, till approved by the next General Court, and provided that it be not inconſiſtent with the Laws of the Realm.

Provided that none of the Governors or Guardians, or other Officers of the ſaid Corporation, ſhall be obliged to take the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper, or any other Oath, to qualify them to execute their reſpective Offices, or to diſcharge any Truſt relating to the ſaid Corporation.

Such of the Governors of the ſaid Corporation who ſhall be preſent at any General Court or Meeting, or any Committee choſen by the ſaid Corporation, are impowered to elect, ſuſpend, and diſplace any Officer or Servant, at their Diſcretion, without any Cauſe aſſigned. If any of the inferior Officers or Servants refuſe to account, or produce their Books and Vouchers, or Effects, they ſhall be intruſted with, any ſuch Offender may be committed by two Juſtices, until he ſubmits to be examined, &c.

The Method of admitting Children into the Hoſpital.

The Secretary is to advertiſe publickly, three Days ſucceſſively before the Day of Reception, the Day and Hours appointed for that Purpoſe.

The Gate of the Hoſpital is to be opened by the Porter, to every Perſon who brings a Child; but the Porter is not to ſuffer any Perſon to bring two Children, or to come in without a Child, except the Governors, or ſuch as they give Orders to be admitted.

The Perſons who bring Children, are to be conducted into a large Room, and ordered to ſeat themſelves on Benches; thoſe who bring Boys at one End of the Room, and thoſe who bring Girls at the other, and not to leave their Places, till called, nor are they to take from their Child any Part of its Cloathing, or any Thing ſent with it, on Pain of being turned out of the Hoſpital. Two Servants of the Hoſpital are to attend, and ſee this Order obeyed.

When the Hours of Admittance are expired, a Bell is to be rung, the Doors of the Hoſpital are to be ſhut, and no Perſon admitted to bring a Child after that Time.

Two of the Governors are to count the Number of Perſons who have Children, and how many have Boys, and how many have Girls; and are to put into one Bag ſo many white Balls, as there are Boys to be admitted, and, into another Bag, ſo many white Balls, as there are Girls to be admitted.

To every twenty white Balls, they are to add four red Balls, and proportionally, for any greater or leſſer Number.

They are then to add ſo many black Balls, as, together with the white and red ones, ſhall make the Number of the Balls, in each Bag, equal to the Number of Perſons, who ſhould have brought Boys or Girls.

The Balls in each Bag being mixed together, one of the Governors is to hold the Bag, ſo as it ſhall be impoſſible for the Perſon, who ſhall draw a Ball out of it, to ſee into it.

He is to call the Perſons one by one from their Seats to draw each a Ball; and ſuch Perſon is to hold up her Hand open in View of the Governors, before ſhe puts it into the Bag.

Each Perſon who ſhall draw a black Ball, ſhall immediately be led by the Meſſenger with her Child out of the Hoſpital.

The Perſons who ſhall draw white and red Balls, ſhall be ordered into ſeparate Rooms, to prevent Changing of Balls.

When all the Balls are drawn, and the Perſons who ſhall draw black ones are diſcharged, the Perſons who ſhall have drawn white ones, are to be carried back into the Room of Drawing, and ſeated as before: Thoſe, who ſhall have drawn red ones, remaining apart from them who ſhall have drawn the white ones. Then one Perſon who has a white Ball, is to be carried into a Room alone, there to remain, till ſuch Time as her Child ſhall be received, or refuſed.

The Child is to be delivered to the Meſſenger, who is to carry it into the Room appointed for the Inſpection.

The Child is there to be undreſſed in the Preſence of the Matron; and if the Phyſician, Surgeon, or Apothecary, attending ſhall have any Suſpicion of its having any infectious Diſtemper, or if it appears to be above the Age of two Months, it ſhall be returned to the Perſon who brought it, in the Cloaths in which it was brought, and ſhall be taken immediately out of the Hoſpital.

If there be no ſuch Objection, it is to be received, and the Perſon who brought it diſmiſſed.

Every Child received is to have a different Letter of the Alphabet tied to its Wriſt.

The Clerk and Steward are each to mark a Billet with the Letter fixed to the Child's Wriſt, and in it are to write the Sex and ſuppoſed Age of the Child, the Year and Day when inſpected, the Particulars of the Child's Dreſs, the Marks, if any, on its Body; and particular Mention is to be made, in ſuch Billet, of any Writing, or other Thing, brought with the Child.

Any Writing, or remarkable Thing, brought with the Child, is to be ſealed up immediately, and marked with the Letter of the Child on the Outſide.

This being finiſhed, one of the female Servants of the Hoſpital is to carry the Child, with the Cloathing of the Hoſpital, into the Ward which is appointed for the Taking-in of Children, and there to deliver it to the Country Nurſe, who has the ſame Letter of the Alphabet with that of the Child.

When one Child is inſpected, and delivered to its Nurſe, another Perſon, having a white Ball, is to be carried into the private Room, in like Manner; and ſo on, till all the Children, brought by the Perſons who have drawn white Balls, ſhall be inſpected.

Then, if any of thoſe Children ſhall have been rejected, there ſhall be ſo many white Balls, as there are Children rejected, put into the Bag, and ſo many black Balls added to them, as, together with them, ſhall make up the Number of Perſons who ſhall have drawn red Balls.

Theſe Balls are to be drawn in like Manner as the firſt; but the Perſons who draw the black, may, if they deſire it, ſtay in the Houſe, till they ſhall ſee, whether all the Children of thoſe Perſons, who ſhall, in the ſecond Drawing, have got white Balls, are received, or rejected; and ſo on, till the whole Number of the Children, appointed to be taken in, are received.

When all the Billets are compleated, they are to be ſealed up by a Governor, and put into a Box, together with all Writings, or other remarkable Things, brought with the Children.

The Porter is alſo to take Care, that no Moleſtation be given, by any Perſons without Doors, to any Perſons who bring Children, either coming to, or returning from the Hoſpital; and is to ſeize any Perſons ſo offending, and carry them before a Juſtice of the Peace, that they may be puniſhed according to the Act of Parliament, made for confirming the Charter of this Corporation; and is to have a Conſtable, and other Aſſiſtants, as ſhall be directed by the Governors.

Regulations to be obſerved as to the Nurſing, Employment, and Deſtination of the Children of the Foundling Hoſpital, in order to make them uſeful to the Publick, and thereby anſwer the charitable Intentions of the Benefactors to this Hoſpital; ſubject to ſuch Alterations as may be pointed out by future Experience, or better Information, which may be received by Letter, or otherwiſe.

That all the Children be ſent into the Country to Wet-Nurſes, under the Inſpection of ſome Perſon of Character in the Neighbourhood, and that they remain there untill they are three Years old; and that during that Time, their Diet, Cloathing, &c. be conformable to the Directions given in a Treatiſe, intitled, An Eſſay upon Nurſing, and the Management of Children, from their Birth to three Years old.

This Treatiſe was wrote by Dr. Cadogan, of Briſtol, and publiſhed for the Benefit of the Hoſpital.

That ſuch Children as have not had the Small-Pox in a natural Way, be inoculated at three Years old, in a proper Place out of the Hoſpital; Experience having fully evinced the Utility of this Practice, by the conſtant Succeſs which has attended the ſeveral Inoculations of the Children, without one ſingle Inſtance of Miſcarriage, under the Care of Dr. Conyers, the Phyſician, and Mr.

Mr. Wincheſter, the Surgeon, who charitably attend this Hoſpital.

That, at three Years old, the Children be returned to the Hoſpital; and from that Time, until they are ſix Years old, be taught to read, to learn the Catechiſm, &c. and, at proper Intervals, exerciſed in the open Air, and employed in ſuch a Manner as may contribute to their Health, and induce a Habit of Activity, Hardineſs, and Labour.

That, from ſix unto twelve Years old, the Boys be employed in making Nets, ſpinning of Packthread, Twine, and ſmall Cordage, adapted to their ſeveral Ages and Strength, and that they mend their own Cloaths, Stockings, &c.

That, at twelve Years old, the Boys be ſent to Sea or Huſbandry, except ſo many as may be neceſſary to be employed in the Garden belonging to the Hoſpital, which is intended to be enlarged in ſuch a Manner, as to ſupply the Houſe, and Parts adjacent with Vegetables, and to have in Readineſs Boys inſtructed in Gardening for ſuch Perſons as may incline to take them into their Service.

That, from ſix Years of Age, the Girls be employed in common Needle-work, Knitting, and Spinning; and in the Kitchen, Laundry, and Houſhold-work, in order to make them uſeful Servants to ſuch proper Perſons as may apply for them, except ſo many as may be neceſſary to be employed in the Hoſpital; it being intended to have no other female Servants in the Hoſpital, but Perſons brought up therein, when they arrive to proper Ages.

That the Boys be kept ſeparate from the Girls, and never permitted to have any Intercourſe together, either in their Employment, Dieting, or Diverſions.

That the Diet allowed to the Children be plain and ſimple, as ſmall Broth, Pottage, and Milk; Meat and Vegetables alternately, their Bread coarſe, and their Drink Water.

That their Diverſions be innocent, active, and requiring Exerciſe; that all Games of Chance, Swearing, indecent Language or Behaviour, be ſtrictly prohibited, and ſeverely puniſhed.

That the Children do conſtantly attend Divine Service in the Chapel on Sundays, and that the Officers, &c. of the Hoſpital do often remind them of the Lowneſs of their Condition, that they may early imbibe the Principles of Humility and Gratitude to their Benefactors; and to learn to undergo, with Contentment, the moſt ſervile and laborious Offices; for, notwithſtanding the Innocence of the Children, yet, as they are expoſed and abandoned by their Parents, they ought to ſubmit to the loweſt Stations, and ſhould not be educated in ſuch a Manner, as to put them upon the Level with the Children of Parents who have the Humanity and Virtue to preſerve them, and Induſtry to ſupport them.

Of the Management of the Children when returned from Nurſe.

The returned Children are to be cloathed in a Manner proper for Labour, and different from that of the Children at Nurſe, and their Numbers are to be fixed to their Cloaths, in ſome Manner, ſo as to be always viſible, that every Child may be eaſily known thereby.

They are to be entered in a Book, divided into the different Wards of the Hoſpital, to be kept in the Ward into which they are ordered. The Nurſe of the Ward is to have the Care of their Cloathing, to ſee they keep themſelves cleanly, and to teach them to read at the Times to be appointed for that Purpoſe; to ſee they riſe at five o'Clock in Summer, and ſeven in the Winter, and that they are out of the Ward in a Quarter of an Hour after theſe Times. In an Hour after the Time of riſing, the Nurſes of the Ward, with the Aſſiſtance of the Girls of the Hoſpital, are to ſee the Beds made, the Rooms cleaned, and every Thing in Order.

At half an Hour after five in Summer, and half an Hour after ſeven in Winter, the Boys are to be called over in the School-Room by the Maſter, i. e. the Huſbandman, and from thence are to go with him to Work, either in the Garden, or other Place appointed for that Purpoſe, which is to be in the open Air, unleſs in extreme bad Weather.

Their Work is to be ſuch bodily Labour as is ſuitable to their Age and Strength, and may be moſt likely to fit them for Agriculture, or the Sea-Service; ſuch as Digging, Houghing, Plowing with Ploughs manageable without Horſes, Hedging, cleaving Wood, carrying Burthens, and ſuch-like Employments, for which Purpoſe proper Tools are to be provided.

Manufactures, in general, ſeem improper for the Employment of the Boys, being likely to incline them to a Way of Life not intended for them; if any are ever made Uſe of, they muſt be only ſuch as are ſimple and laborious, as ſpinning and twiſting Thread and ſmall Ropes, or the like.

At eight in Summer, and nine in Winter, they are to breakfaſt; the elder Boys in the open Air, if the Weather permit, and to have an Hour allowed them for that Purpoſe; the younger may breakfaſt in the Eating-room, in the Preſence of the Nurſes of their Wards.

The reſt of the Morning, till twelve, is to be ſpent in their Labour.

From twelve to two is allowed for Dinner and Reſt; at two they are to return to their Work, and to work till ſix in Summer, and till it is dark in Winter.

From that Time, till Supper, Part of the Time is to be employed in learning to read; the reſt the Children may play in the open Air, or School-Room.

Eight of the Clock in the Summer, and ſeven of the Clock in the Winter, are to be Hours of Supper, and at nine they are to go to Bed.

On Sundays, and other Days appointed for publick Worſhip, they are to be inſtructed in the Principles of Religion and Morality, to attend at Chapel; to be taught the Catechiſm uſed by the Church of England, or heard to read ſuch Parts of the holy Scripture as are moſt ſuitable to their Underſtanding.

On Saturdays in the Afternoon, and on the Afternoon of ſome publick Holidays, they may be allowed to divert themſelves with ſuch Exerciſes ciſes as will increaſe their Strength, Activity, and Hardineſs; but are never to play at Games of Chance, which are to be taught to be baſe and effeminate, and ſome Puniſhment of Infamy is to be fixed to this Offence.

The Girls are to be kept in Wards entirely ſeparate from the Boys, to be dreſſed plain and neat, with Numbers viſible in ſome Part of their Cloathing; to riſe at the ſame Hour with the Boys, to clean the Houſe, make the Beds and do the Houſhold Buſineſs till the Hour of Breakfaſt; after that, to be employed in making Linen, or Cloaths, or ſuch other Labour, as is ſuitable to their Age and Strength, or in ſome uſeful Manufactory.

They are always to be apart from the Boys, and to be attended by the Nurſes of their Wards.

The Diet of the Children of the Hoſpital is to be plain and good of the Sort, and conſiſt ſome Days of Meat, and others of Roots or Herbs, raiſed by the Children's Labour; their Drink Water, their Bread good, but coarſe, and made of a different Sort of Corn, as Wheat, Rye, Barley, Peaſe, Oats, &c. occaſionally, that they may be inured to theſe accidental Changes.

Strong Drink, Tea, Coffee, and Tobacco, are never to be permitted to be uſed by any Child in the Hoſpital, nor any Butter allowed them.

The Methods of placing them out to proper Employments.

The Children are to be put out, as ſoon as poſſible, to the Buſineſs for which they are appointed, which is to be done by Indenture between the Hoſpital and the Maſter who is to take the Child; which Indenture is to contain proper Covenants to ſecure the Child's Maintenance and good Uſage during the Time of its Service, and to ſpecify the Place where, or Ship's Name on Board which the Child is to ſerve, and to agree for the Return of the Child to the Hoſpital, in ſuch Caſes where it is ſo deſigned; theſe Agreements are to be made by the Houſe-Committee, and approved by the General Committee, and ſealed with the Seal of the Hoſpital, and the Counter-part by the Maſter.

It is hoped that, for the eaſier Diſpoſal of the Boys, an Order may be obtained from the Lords of the Admiralty, to the Captains of his Majeſty's Ships, to take a certain Number of Boys from Time to Time, according to the Rate of the Ships, and their Proportion of Men; and if a Captain of every Merchant-Ship, of an Hundred Tons, or upwards, was obliged, if required, to take one or more, it would greatly increaſe the Number of Seamen; and the Hoſpital keeping an Account of them, the Government, on any Emergency, would be directed where to find them.

The Governors and Inſpectors will, by Enquiry, find in what Inland-Places Boys are wanting for Huſbandry, and inform the Committee thereof; and the Girls are to be placed out as Houſhold-Servants, or put out for a Term of Years, to be employed in the Linen, or other Manufactory, as ſoon as poſſible, but not without due Enquiry after the Character of the Perſons who take them.

As it will be impoſſible for the Hoſpital in Town to contain the great Number of Children which will be under its Care, if properly encouraged; and as the Keeping of Children, near Town, will be much more expenſive, than at a Diſtance from it; it will be extremely proper to ſend out little Colonies of them; the Boys to be employed and educated in the Manner beforementioned, under proper Maſters, at or near Yarmouth, Lynn, Liverpool, Hull, &c. and the Girls to Mancheſter, Nottingham, Braintree, Devizes, &c. by which Means the good Effects of the Charity will be more viſible, the Money collected for their Support more diffuſed, and the Maſters and Miſtreſſes will be more eaſily and readily ſupplied with Children, than they would be, if they were to ſend to London.

Of the Diſcharge of the Children from the Hoſpital.

The Children are only to be diſcharged in Manner hereafter mentioned, when they have attained the Age appointed by Act of Parliament, or when the Girls are married, or when claimed by their Parents.

When any Perſon ſhall claim a Child, they are to leave a Petition with the Secretary, directed to the Governors. The Secretary is to deliver it to the General Committee, who are to tranſmit it to the Houſe-Committee, and to give Orders, that the Perſon petitioning attend them at a Day appointed, when the Houſe-Committee ſhall enquire what Right they have to the Child, what are their Circumſtances, whether they are able and willing to provide for the Child, and what Security they can give for that Purpoſe, and what Satisfaction they can make to the Hoſpital, for the Expence it has been put to, by the Maintenance of the Child; which Committee ſhall report the ſame to the next General Committee, with their Opinion thereupon.

If the Propoſal made by the Parent, and the Report, is ſatisfactory to the General Committee, they ſhall then, and not before, order the Billets to be opened, and the Regiſter ſearched; and, if they find the Child is living, may make an Order to deliver the Child to its Parent or Relation, which Order is to be delivered, when they have complied with the Terms required by the Committee, but not previous thereto. Every Perſon to whom a Child is ſo delivered, is to provide Cloathing for their Child in which it is to be dreſſed; and the Cloathing of the Hoſpital is to be left with the Steward.

When any Perſons are diſcharged, for having attained their Age appointed for that Purpoſe, i. e. Twenty-four for Males, or twenty-one for Females, or when any of the Girls ſhall be married, with the Conſent of the Committee; the General Committee, at their Diſcretion, may give them Cloaths, Money, or Neceſſaries, not exceeding the Value of ten Pounds. But, as it is to be hoped that the Males and Females will be able at thoſe Years to get an honeſt Livelihood by their Induſtry, this Charity muſt be cautiouſly and rarely practiſed, except on Marriage of the Girls.

The Foundation of this Hoſpital was laid the 16th of September, 16th of Gerge II, 1742.

In October following, the Method formerly uſed for the Taken-in Children having been found in-con-convenient, by Reaſon of the Crowd which was occaſioned by Perſons ſtriving who ſhould firſt deliver in their Children,

The Committee reſolved to take in Children by Ballot, in the Method which is uſed at preſent, and mentioned in the Rules of the Hoſpital.

On the 8th of January, 1743, the Committee deſired Dr. Conyers, the Phyſician of the Hoſpital, to conſider of the beſt Method for inoculating the Children then in the Houſe; and, the Report made by him being very ſatisfactory, he was deſired to proceed on ſuch Inoculation as ſoon as poſſible; and ſeveral Children were accordingly inoculated, who had no bad Accident atending them: And, ſince that Time, all other Children, who have been returned to the Hoſpital without having had that Diſtemper in the natural Way, have been inoculated under the Care of the Phyſician and the Surgeon to the Hoſpital, which has been attended with great Succeſs, without the Loſs of one Child, or any ill Conſequence.

The Governors thought it would be for the Benefit of the Charity to dine together annually, at their own Expence, and appointed the 4th of April, 1744, for the firſt annual Meeting on this Occaſion; which Meeting has been ſince changed to the ſecond Wedneſday in May, being the Day appointed by the Charter for the Election of a Committee and Officers.

In October, 1745, one Wing of the Hoſpital being finiſhed, the Committee ordered the Children to be kept in the new Hoſpital, and quitted the Houſe in Hatton-garden.

The General Court, being informed that a Chapel was much wanted, and that ſeveral Ladies of the firſt Quality, and other Perſons of Diſtinction and Fortune, were deſirous to contribute to ſo good and neceſſary a Work, came to a Reſolution to build one; and, by their Direction, the Committee opened a Subſcription for that Purpoſe; whereupon they ordered the following Advertiſement to be printed:

"The Governors of the ſaid Hoſpital, being "earneſtly deſirous that the Children under their "Care ſhould be early inſtructed in the Principles "of Religion and Morality, and having no Place "of publick Worſhip to which the Children and "Servants of the Hoſpital can conveniently re"ſort, have reſolved to erect a Chapel adjoining "to their Hoſpital in Lamb's-Conduit-Fields; and, "that no Part of the Revenue of the ſaid Hoſ"pital, which is or ſhall be given for the Support "of the Children, may be diverted from that "Uſe,

"In order to defray the Expence of erecting "the ſaid Chapel, they have opened a Subſcrip"tion for that Purpoſe; and any Perſons, wil"ling to contribute to ſo good a Work, are de"ſired to enter their Names and Places of Abode, "and the Sums they ſubſcribe, in the Subſcrip"tion-Roll, which is kept by the Steward of the "ſaid Hoſpital; or, if they pleaſe to ſend to him, "they ſhall be waited on with the ſaid Subſcrip"tion-Roll; and all Sums ſubſcribed to this "Purpoſe, or otherwiſe to the Charity of this "Hoſpital, are to be paid to the Bank of Eng"land; or to Meſſrs. Hoare and Company, in "Fleet-ſtreet; Meſſrs. Martine and Company, in "Lombard-ſtreet; or Sir Joſeph and Sir Thomas "Hankey, in Fenchurch-ſtreet; Andrew Drummond, "Eſq; Banker, at Charing-croſs; or to the Trea"ſurer of the ſaid Hoſpital. — This Subſcrip"tion is now open, and it is hoped will be encou"raged, that the Governors may be enabled to "to compleat that Building, which the Charity "is in great Want of."

Second Wedneſday in May, 1746, the Governors, being deſirous the Children ſhould be educated by Perſons well affected to our preſent happy Conſtitution, ordered, that all Perſons employed by the Hoſpital ſhould take the Oaths to the Government.

And ſoon after, finding the Children capable of doing ſome Work, the Committee ordered, that ſome of the Boys ſhould be employed in winding Silk, and the Girls in making and mending Linen for the Boys and themſelves, the Children in the Country, &c. all which is done by them, without putting any Part of it out.

February 25, 1746, at the Requeſt of ſeveral Governors, a new Subſcription-Roll was opened for the Benefit of the Hoſpital, which is on Parchment duly ſtamped, in the following Words:

We, whoſe Names are hereunto ſubſcribed, do promiſe and agree, ſeverally and reſpectively, and to and with each other of us, and to and with the Governors and Guardians of the ſaid Hoſpital for the Maintenance and Education of expoſed and deſerted young Children, that our Executors, or Adminiſtrators, ſhall, immediately upon our Deceaſe, pay to the ſaid Governors and Guardians, for the Uſe of the ſaid Hoſpital, the ſeveral Sums ſet by us againſt our reſpective Names.

Particular Care was taken, in erecting the Building, that it ſhould be commodious, plain, and ſubſtantial, without any coſtly Decorations; but, ſoon after the Hoſpital became habitable, ſeveral eminent Maſters of Painting, Sculpture, and other Arts, were pleaſed to contribute many elegant Ornaments, which are placed in the Hoſpital as Monuments of their Charity, and Abilities in their ſeveral Arts.

In the Court-Room they placed four capital Pictures, the Subjects being Parts of the Sacred Hiſtory, ſuitable to the Place for which they were deſigned.

The firſt painted by Mr. Hayman, and taken from the ſecond Chapter of Exodus, Verſes 8 and 9; the Words of which are, The Maid went and called the Child's Mother, and Pharaoh's Daughter ſaid unto her, Take this Child away and nurſe it for me, and I will give you Wages. The enſuing Verſe is

The Subject of the next Picture, viz. And the Child grew up, and ſhe brought him to Pharaoh's Daughter, and he became her Son, and ſhe called his Name Moſes. This Picture is painted by Mr. Hogarth.

The third Picture is the Hiſtory of Iſhmael, painted by Mr. Highmore; the Subject taken from the twenty-firſt Chapter of Geneſis, Verſe 17. And the Angel of the Lord called to Hagar out of Heaven, and ſaid to her, What aileth thee, Hagar? Fear not, for God hath heard the Voice of the Lad where he is.

The fourth Picture was painted by Mr. Wills; its Subject taken from the eighteenth Chapter of St. Luke, Verſe 16. Jeſus ſaid, ſuffer little Children to come unto me, and forbid them not, for of ſuch is the Kingdom of God.

On each Side of theſe Pictures are placed ſmaller Pictures in circular Frames, repreſenting the moſt conſiderable Hoſpitals in and about London.

1. The View of the Hoſpital for expoſed Children.

2. The View of the Hoſpital at Hyde-Park Corner, called St. George's Hoſpital. Theſe two by Mr. Wilſon.

5. The View of Chelſea Hoſpital.

4. The View of Bethlem Hoſpital. Theſe two by Mr. Haytley.

5. The View of St. Thomas's Hoſpital.

6. The View of Greenwich Hoſpital.

7. The View of the Blue-coat Hoſpital. Theſe three by Whale.

8. The View of Sutton's Hoſpital, called the Charter-houſe.

Over the Chimney is placed a very curious Baſs-Relief, carved by Mr. Ryſbrack, and preſented by him, repreſenting Children employed in Navigation and Huſbandry, being the Employment to which the Children of this Hoſpital are deſtined.

The other Ornaments of the Room were alſo given by ſeveral ingenious Workmen, who had been employed in the Building the Hoſpital, and were willing to contribute to it.

The Stucco Work was given by Mr. William Wilton. The Marble Chimney by Mr. Deval. The Table with its Frame, inriched with Carving, by Mr. John Sanderſon; and the Glaſs by Mr. Hallat.

In the other Rooms of the Hoſpital are the Pictures of ſeveral Governors and Benefactors, viz. Mr. Thomas Coram, by Mr. Hogarth; Mr. Milner and Mr. Jacobſon, by Mr. Hudſon; Dr. Mead, by Mr. Ramſey, and Mr. Emerſon, by Mr. Highmore.

And in the Dining-Room is a large, and beautiful Sea-Piece, repreſenting the Engliſh Fleet in the Downs, by Mr. Monamy.

At the ſame Time alſo were given by Mr. Ives four Shields cut in Lead of good Workmanſhip, which were placed over the Charity Boxes with proper Inſcriptions thereon; and ſeveral other eminent Artiſts promiſed to contribute their Labours to the further Ornamenting the Hoſpital and Chapel. For which they were returned the Thanks of the Corporation, and an Inſcription was ordered to be put up in the Hoſpital, to inform the Publick, that thoſe Ornaments of the Hoſpital were Benefactions of the ſeveral Artiſts, whoſe Names were wrote thereon; it being a fixed, and, as is hoped, an unalterable Reſolution of the Governors, that no Part of the Money given to this Hoſpital be expended in any thing, but what is uſeful and neceſſary to anſwer the good Intentions of the Benefactors.

About the ſame Time the Earl Marſhal of England was pleaſed to honour the Corporation with a Grant of a Coat of Arms; the Kings at Arms, and Officers of the Heralds Office, being ſo charitable as to remit all the Fees due to them on that Occaſion.

Amongſt other conſiderable Benefactions, which have been contributed to this Hoſpital and to the Publick by its Means, is to be eſteemed a Letter from Dr. Cadogan, a Phyſician at Briſtol, which was communicated to the Governors, giving Inſtructions for the Nurſing and Management of Children from their Birth to three Years of Age; which Letter has been ſince publiſhed, with his Permiſſion, by Order of the Committee, by J. Roberts in Warwick-lane, and contains many natural and uſeful Obſervations, and is a Proof of, the Advantage which this Inſtitution may be of by making and communicating further Inquiries into the proper Method of preſerving and bringing up Children.

On the firſt of May 1747, the firſt Stone of the Chapel was laid in the Preſence of a numerous Aſſembly of Perſons of Diſtinction; on which Stone was a Copper-Plate with an Inſcription mentioning the Time when it was laid, and a large Collection was made for carrying on that neceſſary Work.

In November 1748, the Governors, obſerving that the Manufacture of Silk was too effeminate for the larger Boys, reſolved that the Boys ſhould be employed in the open Air, and inured to the Change of Weather; and therefore appointed a Committee, and cauſed Advertiſements to be publiſhed to make proper Inquiries what Manufactures would be moſt ſuitable for this Purpoſe; which Committee, having received and examined the ſeveral Propoſals made to them, reported that the Manufacturing of Hemp and Flax into Twine, ſmall Cordage Lines, and alſo into Fiſhing and other Nets, was the moſt proper Manufacture for the Employment of the Boys: In Purſuance of which the general Committee reſolved that a Trial be made in employing the Boys in the Manufacturing of Hemp as recommended, being laborious and to be performed in the Air, and in every Reſpect conſiſtent with their Deſtination to Navigation and Huſbandry; and alſo in employing them in the Garden and Buſineſs of the Houſe, according to their Strength and Capacity.

And that the Girls ſhould be inſtructed and employed, in all Sorts of Houſhold Work, in the Kitchen, Laundry, and Chambers, to make them fit for Service; and alſo in Sewing, Knitting, and Spinning; and, if more than ſufficient for theſe Purpoſes, to be employed in winding Silk or making Nets.

On the 29th of March 1749, the General Court, being informed of the Increaſe of Benefactions to this Charity, and of the Number of Children, and that it was proper the Boys ſhould be kept ſeparate from the Girls, gave Directions for building the other Wing of the Hoſpital, and referred it to the Committee, to carry on that Work as ſoon as poſſible; the Benefactions and Legacies given appear by Tables placed in the great Room of the Hoſpital.

The annual Subſcription appears by a Book in the Cuſtody of the Steward; but the Sums hitherto given are very deficient to anſwer the intended Extenſiveneſs of this Charity. The good Conſequences which this Nation may derive from it, are ſo apparent that it is to be hoped ſuch Encouragement will be given to it, that this Hoſpital may ſoon be a Receptacle to all ſuch poor Children as ſhall be brought to it.

There have already been more than eleven hundred Children received and maintained by this Corporation; but Experience has ſhewn, that Objects for this Charity are very numerous, and that many thouſand Lives may be preſerved for the Benefit of their Country, if Perſons of Fortune ſhall think proper to extend their Compaſſion and publick Spirit to ſo deſirable a Purpoſe.

French Hoſpital.

This Hoſpital, which is ſituate contiguous to the Peſt-houſe on the South, in the Pariſh of St. Luke, was erected in the Year 1717, and the Governors thereof, by Letters Patent of the 4th of King George I. Anno 1718, were conſtituted a Body Politick and Corporate, by the Appellation of The Governor and Directors of the Hoſpital for the poor French Proteſtants, and their Deſcendants, reſiding in Great-Britain.

This Hoſpital, at preſent, contains two hundred and twenty poor helpleſs Men and Women, one hundred and forty-ſix whereof, who are upon the Foundation, are plentifully ſupplied with all the Neceſſaries of Life, at the Expence of the Hoſpital; but the other ſeventy-four are paid for by their Friends, at the Rate of nine Pounds per Annum each. This Charity alſo extends to Lunaticks, for whoſe Accommodation a large Infirmary is provided.

To this Foundation belongs a Chaplain, Phyſician, Surgeon, and other proper Officers, who carefully attend the Penſioners, and adminiſter to their ſeveral Neceſſities.

French Alms-houſe.

This Alms-houſe, which is ſituate in Black-Eagle-ſtreet, Spittlefields, contains convenient Apartments for forty-five poor Men and Women, who are allowed two Shillings and three Pence, and a Buſhel of Coals each, Weekly, and Apparel every other Year.

The Society whereby this Houſe is ſupported, belongs to the French Churches in Threadneedle and Black-Eagle Streets, and is one of the moſt generous and charitable whatſoever, as will appear by the following Inſcription round a large Pewter Diſh, in the Poſſeſſion of Mr. Henry Guinand, an eminent French Merchant in Little St. Helen's, (then Deacon of the Church) who collected the great under-mentioned Sum in the aforeſaid Diſh in Bank Notes, &c.

This Houſe in Spittlefields, commonly called the Soup, was erected about ſixty Years ago, for the Relief of neceſſitous Families, whoſe Number, in the Year 1733, amounted to two hundred and ninety-ſix. This Houſe, which is ſupported by the charitable Benefactions and Contributions of well-diſpoſed Perſons, is under the Direction of a certain Number of Governors and Governeſſes, who at firſt ſupplied the Poor under their Care with Money; but many of them, without the leaſt Regard to their diſtreſſed Families, having wickedly diſpoſed of the Money in Brandy, Tobacco, &c. 'twas by the Managers judged convenient, that in lieu of Money, ſuch poor Families ſhould for the future be relieved with Proviſions, which are diſtributed among them according to their ſeveral Neceſſities, viz. Some receiving two Portions per Week, others three, or four, and the moſt neceſſitous ſix: Each Portion conſiſts of a Pan of good Broth, mixed with ſix Ounces of Bread, half a Pound of Meat, and the ſame Weight of good Bread. The Charge of this Charity amounts to about five hundred Pounds per Annum.

Fuller's Alms-houſe.

This Houſe, ſituate in Old-ſtreet at Hoxton, was founded in the Year 1592, purſuant to the Will of Judge Fuller, for the Reception of twelve poor Women; who have an Allowance of four Pounds per Annum, and three Buſhels of Coals each.

This Alms-houſe, which is ſituate at Mile-end, was likewiſe founded in the Year 1592, purſuant to the Will of the ſaid Judge, for the Accommodation of twelve antient poor Men of Stepney Pariſh; for whoſe Relief he endowed the ſame with Lands in Lincolnſhire, to the Amount of fifty Pounds per Annum.

Gallard's Alms-houſe.

This Houſe, which ſtands in Golden-lane, was founded by Richard Gallard of Iſlington, Eſq; for the Habitation of thirteen poor Men and Women; who were to receive only two Pence per Week each, and a Load of Charcoal amongſt them yearly. By the ſmall Allowance, this Houſe muſt be of a very old Foundation; which is in ſome meaſure confirmed by my Author, who ſays, that the Founder left fair Lands in Iſlington, for the Support of his Alms-houſe. This Houſe, which is ſituate in Porter's-fields in the Liberty of Norton-Falgate, was founded by Nicholas Garret, Eſq; Citizen and Weaver, in the Year 1729, for the Accommodation of ſix poor Members of his Company; who have an Allowance of eight Pounds, a Chaldron of Coals, and one Dozen and a half of Candles each, yearly.

St. George's Hoſpital.

An Account of the Proceedings of the Governors of St. George's Hoſpital near Hyde Park Corner, from its firſt Inſtitution, October 19, 1733, to December 26, 1753.

By Order of the General Board, Friday the 15th of February, 1754.

The Governors of St. George's Hoſpital think themſelves obliged in Juſtice to their Subſcribers and Benefactors, to publiſh an Abſtract of their Accounts to the twenty-ſixth Day of December laſt incluſive, together with a ſhort State of their Proceedings, that the Publick may judge of the Application of their Bounty, and the extenſive good Conſequence of it.

This

This Undertaking was ſet on Foot, ſoon after Michaelmas 1733, by ſome Gentlemen who were before concerned in a Charity of the like kind, in the lower Part of Weſtminſter. They judged this Houſe convenient for their Purpoſe on Account of its Air, Situation, and Nearneſs to Town, procured a Leaſe of it, and opened a Subſcription for carrying on the Charity here. The Subſcription increaſed ſo faſt, that on the 19th of October they were formed into a regular Society, and actually began to receive Patients on the firſt of January following.

To theſe Purpoſes here are admitted all ſuch Poor, Sick, and Lame, being recommended according to the Rules following, as the Hoſpital will contain. They are ſupplied with Advice, Medicine, Diet, Waſhing, Lodging, and ſome of the Miſerable with Cloaths alſo. The Phyſicians viſit their Patients on Mondays and Fridays, and on all intermediate Days, whenever Occaſion requires; and the Surgeons every Day: And on every Friday Morning there is a general Conſultation of all the Phyſicians and Surgeons. No Security for their Burial is required; nor any Money, Gift, or Reward, taken of them or their Friends, on any Account whatſoever. Thoſe who die, if their Friends are unable, are buried at the Charge of the Society. And the Money, collected in the Poor's Box at the Door, is kept as a ſeparate Fund for furniſhing thoſe with ſome little Sum of Money, whoſe Diſtance from their Habitations, or other particular Neceſſities, require it.

The Apothecaries, who are Governors, are appointed to attend by Rotation as Viſitors, to ſee that the Apothecary of the Houſe takes due Care of the Medicines and Patients. Two Viſitors are choſen every Week out of the Subſcribers, to attend daily, and take Care by examining of the Proviſion and Patients, that the Orders of the Society are punctually obſerved, that the Patients are treated in every Thing with Order and Tenderneſs, and to make a Report in Writing of their Obſervation.

Prayers are read daily to the Patients. A Sermon is preached every Sunday, the Communion is adminiſtered every Month, and the Chaplain attends at other Times to catechize, and to perform other religious Offices, as often as their Caſes require; and, when the Patients are diſcharged, religious Tracts are given to each of them for their farther Edification.

A Board of Governors meet every Wedneſday Morning, to do the current Buſineſs of the Hoſpital, to receive and examine the Reports of the Viſitors, to diſcharge and admit Patients, to receive the Complaints and Propoſals of all Perſons, and to prepare ſuch Matters as are proper for the Conſideration of general Boards. A general Board of the Governors meet regularly five Times a Year.

The Governors are in Number upwards of three Hundred. No Perſon receiving Salary, Fee, or Reward, from the Hoſpital, is capable of being a Governor: But every other Gentleman ſubſcribing five Pounds a Year or upwards, or giving one Benefaction of fifty Pounds, although he be not an annual Subſcriber, is thereupon put in Nomination to be a Governor, and at the firſt general Court, which is held one Month afterwards, is accordingly balloted for by the Governors.

The Contributors are deſired to ſend their Subſcriptions to the Treaſurers at the weekly Board, held every Wedneſday Morning in the Hoſpital. And, in order to ſupply the current Expence of this Charity, the Subſcribers are requeſted to continue to pay their yearly Subſcriptions in Advance.

The Treaſurers are Lieut. Col. Joſeph Hudſon and Mr. Richard Aſpinwall.

All Contributors are deſired to take Notice.

I. That no Perſon is to be admitted a Patient, except in Caſes of Accidents, without a Note from a Governor or Contributor, ſpecifying the Name and Place of Abode of ſuch Patient, and that he or ſhe is a proper Object of this Charity.

II. That all Recommendations are to be delivered every Wedneſday Morning, by nine of the Clock.

III. That, in caſe any Out-Patients ſhall neglect coming for two Weeks ſucceſſively on the Day and Hour they are ordered to attend, ſuch Out-Patients ſhall be diſcharged for Irregularity, except they have had Leave from their Phyſician.

IV. No Perſon diſcharged for Irregularity is to be ever again admitted into the Hoſpital, upon any Recommendation whatſoever.

V. That no Patient is to be ſuffered to go out of the Hoſpital without Leave in Writing; and that, to avoid Offence, no Leave is to be given to any Patient to go into St. James's Park, or the Green Park, called Conſtitution-hill, upon any Pretence whatſoever.

VI. That no Governor, Officer, or Servant, muſt at any Time preſume, on Pain of Expulſion, to take of any Tradeſman, Patient, or other Perſon, any Fee, Reward, or Gratification of any kind, directly or indirectly, for any Service done, or to be done, on Account of this Hoſpital.

VII. That no Perſon, ſubſcribing leſs than two Guineas a Year, be permitted to recommend more than two In-Patients in the Year.

VIII. And that, when there is not Room for all the Patients recommended at one Time to be received into the Hoſpital, thoſe are taken in whoſe Admiſſion the Board are of Opinion will moſt effectually anſwer the End of the Charity: And the reſt, if proper Objects, are admitted Out-Patients, till there is Room for them in the Hoſpital.

N. B. That moſt conſumptive and aſthmatick Caſes are more capable of Relief, as Out-Patients, than as In-Patients.

An Account of the Patients for the Year 1753.

Patients diſcharged from St. George's Hoſpital, ſince its firſt Receiving of Patients on the firſt of January 1733, to the 27th of December 1752, ſixty thouſand one hundred and eighty-eight.

Patients in the Houſe the 27th of December 1732, two hundred and ſeventy-three.

Out-Patients on the Books at the ſame Time, ſix hundred and forty-five.

In all, ſixty-one thouſand one hundred and ſix.

Coop. Comp. Regul.

Nicholas Gibſon, Eſq; ſome Time Sheriff of this City, erected this Alms-houſe and School, (and not, according to Stow, by Avice, his Wife) at Ratcliff, in the Year 1537, for the Reception of fourteen poor Widows, ſeven whereof to be of Stepney Pariſh, and the other ſeven of the Company of Coopers; for the Support of which, and to the Uſe of his Will, on the 23d of September, Anno 1540, he conveyed his whole Eſtate to Avice, his Wife; which ſhe, by the Name of Knivet, (being then Wife to Sir Andrew Knivet) ſurrendered, with all the Lands thereunto belonging, on the 20th of February, Anno 1553, in Truſt to the Company of Coopers. The Penſioners to have twenty-ſix Shillings and eight Pence per Annum each; the Schoolmaſter, a Salary of ten Pounds; and an Uſher, ſix Pounds thirteen Shillings and four Pence. But the Eſtate wherewith this Foundation is endowed, being vaſtly improved, the Company have of late increaſed the Penſions to five Pounds, and thirty Buſhels of Coals yearly, with a Bounty of ten Shillings each at Chriſtmas; and the Schoolmaſter's Salary, to twenty-three Pounds ſix Shillings and eight Pence; and the Uſhers, to nine Pounds thirteen Shillings and four Pence.

Grey-coat Hoſpital.

In the Year 1698, a Charity-ſchool was erected in the Pariſh of St. Margaret, Weſtminſter, for the Education of poor Children, by the Name of The Grey-coat School, from the Colour of the Childrens Cloaths: The Truſtees whereof by charitable Benefactions, being greatly encouraged to proceed in ſo laudable an Undertaking, in the Year 1701, not only conſiderably increaſed the Number of Children therein, but likewiſe plentifully ſupplied them with all the Neceſſaries of Life, in a large and commodious Building near Tothill-fields; wherein, beſides their being taught and inſtructed in the Principles of Religion, they are employed in Spinning, Knitting, Sewing, &c. to inure them early to Induſtry; and having attained the neceſſary Qualifications at School, they are put out Apprentices.

Chart. Q. Anne.

For the Encouragement of ſo great an Undertaking, Queen Anne, on the tenth of April, Anno 1706, did, by her Letters Patent, conſtitute the Truſtees of this School a Body Politick and Corporate, by the Name of The Governors of the Grey-coat Hoſpital in Tothill-fields, of the Royal Foundation of Queen Anne. By which Name to have perpetual Succeſſion, to ſue and be ſued, to elect Governors in the room of thoſe deceaſed, and to receive and purchaſe Lands, Tenements, &c. in Mortmain, to the yearly Amount of two thouſand Pounds, clear of Reprizes; and to do all other Acts and Things relating to the ſaid Corporation, in as ample Manner, as any other Body Politick and Corporate within the Kingdom.

This Hoſpital in the Year 1727, was in ſo flouriſhing a Condition, that it contained eighty Boys, and fifty Girls; in which Year the Charge of all its Diſburſements amounted to fourteen hundred and fifty-ſeven Pounds ſeven Shillings and ſix Pence.

Green-coat Hoſpital.

Divers of the Inhabitants of the City of Weſtminſter having reſolved to ſettle an Houſe, or Hoſpital, like unto that of Chriſt's in the City of London, where poor Orphans might not only be maintained with all the Neceſſaries of Life, but likewiſe, for their future Good, and that of the Publick, be inſtructed in Manual Arts; wherefore, upon their humble Application to King Charles I. he, by his Letters Patent of the 15th of November, Anno 1633, did conſtitute them a Body Politick and Corporate, by the Appellation of The Governors of the Hoſpital of St. Margaret's, Weſtminſter, of the Foundation of King Charles; to conſiſt of twenty Governors, Inhabitants of the ſaid City, to have perpetual Succeſſion, with a Right of electing Governors, for ſupplying Vacancies; and to purchaſe Lands, Tenements, &c. in Mortmain, to the Value of five hundred Pounds per Annum. Pat. 15. Char. I.

But the Civil War breaking out ſoon after, it did in a manner quaſh that noble Deſign; but by the charitable Benefactions of King Charles II. and others, the Eſtate thereunto belonging at preſent, amounts to above three hundred Pounds per Annum. But by Fines paid to the Dean and Chapter (it being chiefly Church-lands) of Weſtminſter, on the renewing of Leaſes, the annual Income is thereby conſiderably reduced; however, by caſual Donations, the Account of this Hoſpital (at preſent containing twenty Boys) ſtood thus in the Year 1727: Receipts, 328 l. 19 s. Diſburſements, 300 l. 3 s. 2¼ d.

Greſham's Alms-houſe.

This Alms-houſe, which is ſituate in Broad-ſtreet, on the North Side of Greſham College; was founded by Sir Thomas Greſham, Anno 1575, for eight poor Men; the Truſt whereof he committed to the Lord-Mayor and Commonalty of London; who annually pay the ſaid poor Men ſix Pounds thirteen Shillings and four Pence each, a Load of Coals yearly, and a Gown every other Year.

Graham's Alms-houſe.

This Alms-houſe, which ſtands in Crown-ſtreet, alias Hog-lane, Soho, was founded in the Year 1686, by Mrs. Graham, for four decayed Clergymens Widows, their Maiden Daughters, or other Gentlewomen; who have handſome Apartments, and ten Pounds per Annum each; and for Fewel, and a Servant to attend them, ten Pounds yearly.

Guy's Hoſpital.

Thomas Guy, Eſq; Son of Thomas Guy, Lighterman and Coal-monger in Fair-ſtreet, Horſley-down, in the Pariſh of St. Olave Southwark, was born in the North-Eaſt Corner-Houſe of Pritchard's-alley, (two Doors Eaſt of St. John's Churchyard) in the ſaid Street. Thomas, the Father, who was an Anabaptiſt, dying young, left a Widow and three Children, (the eldeſt of whom, our Founder, was then but eight Years of Age) who returned to Tamworth, the Place of her Nativity, in the County of Stafford, where ſhe married ſoon after. However ſhe took care to have her Children carefully educated, and at a proper Age put her Son Thomas Apprentice to John Clarke, the younger, (a Binder and Seller of Books in Mercers-hall Porch in Cheapſide) on the 3d of September, Anno 1660, for the Term of eight Years. He was admitted a Free- Rec. Chamb. Lond.

a Freeman of the Stationers Company, on the 7th of October, Anno 1668, and of the City, the 14th of the ſame Month and Year; and on the 6th of October, Anno 1673, received into the Livery of the ſaid Company.

Mr. Guy, being out of his Apprenticeſhip, ſet up his Trade, in the little Corner-Houſe betwixt Cornhill and Lombard-ſtreet, with a Stock of about two hundred Pounds. At which Time, the Engliſh Bibles printed in this Kingdom being very bad, both in the Letter and Paper, occaſioned divers of the Bookſellers of this City to encourage the Printing thereof in Holland, with curious Types, and fine Paper; and imported vaſt Numbers of the ſame, to their no ſmall Advantage. Mr. Guy, ſoon coming acquainted with this profitable Commerce, became a large Dealer thereing. But this Trade proving very detrimental to the King's Printer, all Ways and Means were deviſed to quaſh the ſame; which being vigorouſly put in Execution, the Bookſellers, by frequent Seizures and Proſecutions, became ſo great Sufferers, that they judged a farther Purſuit thereof inconſiſtent with their Intereſt. Wherefore our Founder contracted with the Univerſity of Oxford, for their Privilege to print Bibles; and having furniſhed himſelf with Types from Holland, carried on a very great Trade in Bibles for divers Years, to his very great Advantage.

Some Time after, England being engaged in an expenſive War againſt France, the poor Seamen on board the Royal Navy, for many Years, inſtead of Money received Tickets for their Pay; which thoſe neceſſitous, but very uſeful Men, were obliged to diſpoſe of at thirty, forty, and ſometimes fifty in the hundred Diſcount. Mr. Guy, diſcovering the Sweets of this Traffick, became an early Dealer therein, as well as in other Government Securities; by which, and his Trade, he acquired a very great Eſtate, inſomuch, that in the Year 1710, when the Debt of the Navy was increaſed to divers Millions, an Act of Parliament was made, to provide for the Payment of that and other Sums due from the Government, by erecting the South Sea Company; into which the Creditors of divers Branches of the National Debt were impowered to ſubſcribe the ſeveral Sums due to them from the Publick; among whom, Mr. Guy, being poſſeſſed of ſuch Securities to the Amount of many thouſands of Pounds, ſubſcribed the ſame into the ſaid South Sea Company; for which he and the reſt of the Subſcribers were to receive an annual Intereſt of ſix per Cent. upon their reſpective Subſcriptions, till the ſame were diſcharged by Parliament.

In the Year 1720, Mr. Guy was poſſeſſed of forty-five thouſand and five hundred Pounds of the South Sea Stock, which gradually aroſe to above one thouſand and fifty Pounds; when he wiſely conſidering, that the great Riſe of the Stock was owing to the iniquitous Management of a few, prudently began to ſell out his Stock, at about three hundred, and continued ſelling till it aroſe to about ſix hundred, when he diſpoſed of the laſt of his Property in the ſaid Company.

This old Batchelor, in the ſeventy-ſixth Year of his Age, being thus poſſeſſed of a vaſt Eſtate, determined to found an Hoſpital for the Cure of ſick and impotent Perſons; to which End he took of the Preſident and Governors of St. Thomas's Hoſpital, in Southwark, a Leaſe of a Piece of Ground oppoſite the ſaid Hoſpital, for the Term of nine-hundred and ninety-nine Years, at a Ground-rent of thirty Pounds per Annum. This Spot of Ground being covered with a Number of ſmall Houſes inhabited by poor People, the ſame were pulled down in the Year 1721, and the Foundation of the intended Hoſpital laid in the Spring following; the Building whereof was carried on with ſuch Expedition, that the Fabrick was roofed before the Death of the Founder, which happened on the 27th of December 1724, in the 80th Year of his Age.

The Charge of erecting and furniſhing this Hoſpital amounted to the Sum of eighteeen thouſand ſeven hundred and ninety-three Pounds ſixteen Shillings and a Penny; and the Sum left to endow the ſame, to two hundred and nineteen thouſand four hundred and ninety-nine Pounds and four-pence: Together, 238292 l. 16 s. 5*d.* Beſides, the Founder bequeathed to the Preſident and Governors of Chriſt's Hoſpital, a perpetual Annuity of four hundred Pounds, for taking into the ſaid Hoſpital four Children yearly, at the Nomination of the Governors of his Hoſpital. To his poor aged Relations he gave Annuities during Life, to the Amount of eight hundred and ſeventy Pounds; and amongſt his younger Relations and Executors, the Sum of ſeventy-five thouſand five hundred and eighty-nine Pounds; with the Sum of one thouſand Pounds, for diſcharging poor Priſoners, within the City of London and Counties of Middleſex and Surrey, who could be releaſed for the Sum of five Pounds. By which Sum of 1000 l. and the good Management of his Executors, there were above ſix hundred poor Perſons ſet at Liberty, from the ſeveral Priſons within the Bill of Mortality. Guy. Will. Ibid.

He likewiſe erected an Alms-houſe, with a Library, in Tamworth, for fourteen poor Men and Women; to whom he allowed certain Penſions during Life, and at his Death, towards their future Support, and the putting out Children Apprentices, &c. he bequeathed a perpetual annual Sum of one hundred and twenty-five Pounds.

In the Year 1707, Mr. Guy built and furniſhed, at his own Expence, three Wards, on the North Side of the outer Court of St. Thomas's Hoſpital, and gave to the ſame one hundred Pounds per Annum, for eleven Years immediately preceding the Foundation of his Hoſpital. And ſome Time before his Death, he removed the Frontiſpiece of the ſaid Hoſpital of St. Thomas, which ſtood over the Gate-way in the Borough, and erected the ſame in the Place where it at preſent ſtands, fronting the Street; and having inlarged the Gate-way, rebuilt the two large Houſes on the Sides thereof, and erected the ſtately Iron Gate between them; all at the Expence of about three thouſand Pouuds. To many of his Relations he gave ſtated Allowances of ten, or twenty Pounds per Annum; and to others, Money to advance them in the World. So, upon the whole, it may be juſtly ſaid, that he never had his Fellow in this Kingdom, not perhaps in any other, for ſuch great and extenſive Acts of Benevolence and Charity.

Upon the Death of Mr. Guy, his Executors found in his Iron Cheſt one thouſand Guineas, which which they imagined were put there to defray the Expence of his Funeral; wherefore they cauſed him to be buried in a very pompous Manner; at whoſe Burial there were no leſs than forty Coaches, with ſix Horſes each.

Soon after Mr. Guy's Deceaſe, his Executors, purſuant to his Will, apply'd to Parliament, to get themſelves and fifty-one other Gentlemen (nominated by the Founder) to be incorporated Governors of his intended Hoſpital; which being the greateſt and moſt noble Foundation that ever was deviſed by a Britiſh, or perhaps any other Subject, I ſhall therefore inſert a compendious Abſtract of the Act of Parliament, made in the Eleventh of King George the Firſt, Anno 1725, for incorporating the Governors thereof; wherein the principal Parts of the Founder's Wil are recited.

Act. Parl. 11 G. 1. "Whereas Thomas Guy of London, Eſq; (who cauſed to be erected in the Pariſh of St. Thomas in the Borough of Southwark, a magnificent Edifice, conſiſting of two ſpacious Squares, with proper Offices thereunto belonging) dy'd on the 27th Day of December, Anno 1724, having made his laſt Will and Teſtament, dated the fourth of the preceding Month of September; wherein he deviſed the Reſidue of his Eſtate, after the Payment of his Debts, Legacies, and Funeral Charges, (which reſiduary Part, being by his Executors computed at above two hundred thouſand Pounds) unto Sir Gregory Page, Bart. Charles Joy, William Clayton, Thomas Hollis, John Cenrick, John Lade, Richard Mead, Moſes Raper, and John Sprint, Eſquires; whom he appointed Executors of his ſaid Will and Teſtament, (till an Act of Incorporation could be obained) with a Power to finiſh and furniſh the Structure by him begun for his intended Hoſpital, (out of the Profits ariſing from his Eſtate) for the Reception and Relief of upwards of four hundred ſick and diſeaſed poor Objects; beſides twenty Lunaticks, who are to be provided for in a ſeparate Hoſpital; and all of whom are to be provided with proper Diet, and other Neceſſaries, (contributory to the Cure of the unfortunate Patients) during Life, or the Diſcretion of his Executors;" whom the Founder, by his ſaid Will, inveſted with a Power of diſcharging, or continuing ſuch ſick and diſtempered Perſons in his intended Hoſpital, according to their Diſcretion; and not, as ſome have vainly imagined, that he deſigned his Hoſpital for Incurables: For the obviating of which, Mr. Guy, by proper Inſtructions to his Executors, declared, that they ſhould in all things, as near as poſſible, regulate his intended Hoſpital according to the Practices of that of St. Thomas. "And for the better managing the Affairs of his ſaid intended Hoſpital, and perpetuating the Charity by him deſigned, he intreated his Executors, immediately after his Death, to endeavour by Letters Patent, or Act of Parliament, to get themſelves, and the fifty-one Gentlemen, whom he had nominated as Governors, to be conſtituted a Body Politick and Corporate, of perpetual Succeſſion, for the effectual ſettling and applying the reſiduary Part of his Eſtate: And for the good Government of the ſaid intended Hoſpital, a Preſident, Treaſurer, and other Officers, as ſhall be deemed neceſſary, be elected and admitted into ſuch Offices, as to his Majeſty, or the Legiſlature, ſhall ſeem proper; and by ſuch Name, or Names, to have perpetual Succeſſion, and a common Seal, for the neceſſary Affairs of the intended Corporation; with a Power to take and diſpoſe of the reſiduary Part of the ſaid Eſtate, and with the Money ariſing therefrom, to purchaſe Lands, Meſſuages, or other Eſtates of Inheritance, to the like, or the yearly Value, as to his Majeſty, or the Legiſlature ſhall ſeem convenient; with a Power to ſue, implead and anſwer, and to be ſued, impleaded and anſwered, in any Court of Record, or elſewhere, with ſuch Privileges in Law, as ſhall be thought fit to be granted.

"He further deſired, that his Executors and Truſtees ſhould, by an humble Application to his Majeſty, or the Legiſlature, endeavour to obtain, by Letters Patent, or Act of Parliament, that a Committee be appointed of one and twenty Members of the intended Corporation, for the more immediate Diſpatch of Affairs belonging to the ſame; and that ſeven of the ſaid Committee may be annually left out, and the like Number of Members nominated by the Committee to ſupply their Places, be choſen by a general Court of the Governors of his intended Hoſpital: And that by the incorporating Power it be provided, that the Tranſactions of the ſaid Committee be ſubject to the Inſpection and Control of a general Court of Governors; who, on this and all other Occaſions, are to be ſummoned by the Preſident, or Treaſurer of ſuch Corporation.

"And the ſaid Teſtator further declared, that his Executors and Truſtees, ſhould, after the Manner aforeſaid, endeavour to obtain, that by ſuch an incorporating Power Sir Gregory Page, Bart. be appointed the firſt Preſident; Charles Joy, Eſq; the firſt Treaſurer; and the other Gentlemen nominated by him (the Founder) the firſt Committee. And that by the ſaid Power of Incorporation it be granted, that the future Elections of Preſident, Treaſurer, Phyſicians, Surgeons, Clerk, Solicitor and Chaplain, be in the general Court of Governors of the intended Corporation; who ſhall likewiſe have the Right of removing all ſuch Officers at Pleaſure. And, that the Election of an Apothecary, Steward, Butler, Matron, Cook, Siſters, &c. be veſted in the Committee aforeſaid.

"And the ſaid Founder further declared, that as ſoon as the ſaid Incorporation ſhould be obtained, that his Executors ſhould pay, aſſign, and convey to them all the reſiduary Part of his Eſtate to the Uſe of his Will; and that the Preſident Treaſurer, Committee and Governors, to be impowered as aforeſaid, do, with all poſſible Convenience, lay out the reſiduary Part of his perſonal Eſtate in the Purchaſe of Lands, Meſſuages, or other Eſtates of Inheritance, for a perpetual Proviſion, Maintenance and Cure of poor Objects to be entertained in the ſaid intended Hoſpital, and all neceſſary Expences relating to the ſame.

"And the ſaid Teſtator further declared, That if the Profits riſing from the reſiduary Part of his Eſtate, ſhould amount to more than is ſufficient for maintaining the above mentioned Number of poor, ſick and impotent Perſons, and other neceſſary Charges about the ſaid intended Hoſpital; then, and in ſuch Caſe, the Preſident, Treaſurer and Governors, are impowered to diſpoſe of ſuch Surpluſage, for the Relief of ſuch ſick, impotent impotent and poor diſtreſſed Perſons, as they ſhall judge the greateſt Objects of Commiſeration, or to other charitable Uſes, according to their Diſcretion.

" Whereupon it was by Parliament enacted, (nemine contradicente) That the aforeſaid nine Executors, and fifty-one Gentlemen nominated in the Will of the Founder, be a Body Politick and Corporate, by the Name of The Preſident and Governors of the Hoſpital, founded at the ſole Coſt and Charges of Thomas Guy, Eſquire; and by ſuch Name to have perpetual Succeſſion, and a common Seal, with Power to alter and change the ſame at Diſcretion. And that they and their Succeſſors ſhall have, receive, and poſſeſs the Eſtates real and perſonal of the late Thomas Guy, to be veſted in them, for the Purpoſes mentioned in the ſaid Will. And that they and their Succeſſors, by the Name aforeſaid, be capable in Law, by the ſaid real, or perſonal Eſtate, or the Produce thereof, to purchaſe in Perpetuity, or for any Term of Years, any other Eſtate whatſoever, not exceeding twelve thouſand Pounds per Annum, above Reprizes; and to ſell, exchange, or leaſe out the ſame, as they ſhall ſee convenient: And by the Name aforeſaid to ſue, implead and anſwer, and to be ſued, impleaded and anſwered, in any Court of Record, or elſewhere; and to tranſact all Affairs relating to the Premiſes, according to the ſaid Will.

" And it is further enacted, That there be one Preſident, one Treaſurer, and twent-one Committees of the ſaid intended Corporation, to conſiſt of the Perſons nominated in the Will of the ſaid Teſtator; who ſhall have the Management of the whole Eſtate deviſed by the Founder, and veſted in the Corporation for the Support of his Hoſpital.

" And it is likewiſe enacted, that the Preſident and Treaſurer ſhall continue during their Lives, or until they be reſpectively removed by a general Court of the ſaid Corporation, conven'd for that Purpoſe by the Preſident, Treaſurer, or ſeven of the ſaid Committees, or until they reſign; and in caſe of either, the Vacancy to be ſupplied by a Member of the Corporation, to be elected at a general Court of the Governors, within forty Days after ſuch Removal, Reſignation, or Death. But the Committee of one and twenty to continue only for one Year; ſeven whereof being annually to be left out, ſeven other Members are to be yearly elected at a general Court, to ſupply their reſpective Places.

" And it is alſo further enacted, That the Preſident, or Treaſurer, with any ſeven, or more of the ſaid Committee legally aſſembled, ſhall be deemed a full Court of Committees; who ſhall have Power, as aforeſaid, to ſell, demiſe, or otherwiſe diſpoſe of, all, or any Part of the above-mentioned Eſtate veſted in the ſaid Corporation; provided that all the Money ariſing by ſuch Sale, or Sales, be forthwith reinveſted in ſome other Purchaſe of Lands of Inheritance for the Uſe of the ſaid Corporation, not exceeding, as aforeſaid, the yearly Rent of twelve thouſand Pounds, clear of Reprizes.

" And for the more effectual tranſacting the Affairs of the ſaid Corporation, the ſaid Committee are impowered to chuſe, and at their Pleaſure to remove, all Officers and Servants to be employed in the ſaid intended Hoſpital, (other than Phyſicians, Surgeons, Clerk and Chaplain, that are elected by the general Court) and to appoint ſuch Salaries, or other Rewards, for their reſpective Services, as they ſhall judge proper; and to take in ſuch poor, ſick and maimed Perſons under their Care, as they ſhall judge Objects of Compaſſion; and to make ſuch Proviſion for their Maintenance and Cure, as they ſhall think neceſſary; and to manage and determine all Affairs by themſelves, or their Deputies, as are neceſſary for the carrying on ſo great and good a Work. Provided nevertheleſs, that the Tranſactions and Accounts of the ſaid Preſident, Treaſurer and Committees, and Perſons deputed by them, be ſubject to the Inſpection and Control of ſuch Governors, as ſhall by the Laws of the Corporation be appointed for that Purpoſe. And to the Intent, that there never may be wanting a ſufficient Number of Governors, for perpetuating the Succeſſion of the ſaid Corporation, and for ſupplying the ſeveral Places of Preſident, Treaſurer and Committees,

" It is further enacted, That it ſhall be lawful for a Court of Committees of the ſaid Corporation, from Time to Time, to chuſe a Perſon, or Perſons, to be Governor, or Governors, for a continual Supply of Vacancies, ſo as the Number of Governors never exceed ſixty. And in caſe it ſhould hereafter happen, that the Number of Governors exceed not forty; then and in ſuch Caſe, it ſhall be lawful for the Lord Chancellor, Lord Keeper, or Commiſſioners of the Great Seal, Lords Chief Juſtices of the King's Bench and Common Pleas, and Lord Chief Baron of the Exchequer, or any two of them, at the Requeſt of five, or more of the Governors, as ſhall make up the Number of fifty.

" It is alſo further enacted, That it ſhall be lawful for the Preſident and Governors, in a general Court aſſembled, to make By-laws, for the better Government of the ſaid Corporation; ſo that ſuch Ordinances be not repugnant to the Laws of the Kingdom. And that at all general Courts, and thoſe of Committees, the Preſident and Treaſurer for the Time being, ſhall not only act and vote as Members of the ſame; but likewiſe, in caſe of an Equality of Votes, the ſaid Preſident, or in his Abſence the Treaſurer, to have the caſting Vote. And it ſhall be lawful for the ſaid Preſident and Governors, to erect a Statue or Statutes, and Monument, or Monuments, for perpetuating the Memory of the generous and charitable Actions of the ſaid Thomas Guy; provided the Expence thereof do not exceed the Sum of two thouſand Pounds. And this, by the Authority aforeſaid, is to be deemed a publick Act, and as ſuch to be obſerved in all Courts of Juſtice, and elſewhere; and to be given in Evidence in the Trial of any Cauſe whatſoever, without ſpecial Pleading of the ſame."

This Corporation was no ſooner eſtabliſhed by Parliament, than the Preſident and Governors ſet heartily about the Work, by finiſhing and furniſhing the Hoſpital, chuſing their Officers and Servants, and taking in Patients; whoſe Number at firſt, to fulfil the Will of the Founder, amounted to four hundred and two. And for the more effectual effectual preventing, the inferior Servants of the Hoſpital from preying upon poor Patients, or their Friends, have granted them ſuch conſiderable Salaries, that they can handſomely ſubſiſt upon their Wages, without impoſing upon any Perſon, as will appear by the following Account:

The Number of Patients in this Hoſpital on the 27th of July, Anno 1738, amounted to four hundred and ſix; that of the Out-Patients, to ſixteen; and the Sum Total diſburſed on account of the Houſe in the Year 1737, to ſeven thouſand nine hundred and ſeventy-eight Pounds fourteen Shillings and one Penny.

To this Hoſpital, as aforeſaid, belong ſixty Governors; who chuſe the ſeveral Officers and Servants above-ſpecified. To which I ſhall add, that the Houſe contains twelve Wards, and four hundred and thirty-five Beds.

A Chapel, divers Houſes and Offices being ſtill wanting for the Uſe of this Hoſpital, the Governors have lately taken a Leaſe of an additional Spot of Ground, whereon to erect a Square; for which, with the former, they annually pay to St. Thomas's Hoſpital the Sum of ninety Pounds.

No. 110.

As by what has been ſaid it appears, that Mr. Guy was a Man of an unbounded Charity, and univerſal Benevolence; ſo was he likewiſe a great Patron of Liberty, and the Rights of his Fellow-Subjects; which, to his great Honour, he ſtrenuouſly aſſerted in divers Parliaments, whereof he was a Member, and a Repreſentative for the Borough of Tamworth in Staffordſhire. To which Corporation (beſides his erecting the above-mentioned Alms-houſe and Library) he was a generous Benefactor. However, by a ſtrange Infatuation, the Inhabitants ſuffered themſelves to be cajoled into the Election of another Repreſentative. But ſoon becoming ſenſible of their Ingratitude, and ungenerous Treatment of their beſt Friend, ſent a Deputation to beg Pardon for their paſt Offence, and to intreat him to permit them to re-chuſe him at the enſuing Election, to repreſent them in Parliament. This Offer he juſtly rejected; and never after appeared in Parliament, by Reaſon of his great Age.

Hammond's Alms-houſe.

This Houſe, which is ſituate in Alms-houſe-yard on Snow-hill, conſiſting of ſix handſome Rooms, was founded by Edmund Hammond, Eſq; Anno 1651, for as many poor old Batchelors, or Widowers; who have each an Allowance of ten Pounds per Annum. The Truſt of this Alms-houſe being committed to the Company of Haberdaſhers, they, in Conſideration of the Eſtate appropriated for its Support being reduced by the Fire of London, Anno 1666, at preſent only pay the Penſioners ſeven Pounds ten Shillings each, yearly.

Harwar's Alms-houſe.

This Alms-houſe, ſituate in Kingſland-road, was founded by Samuel Harwar, Citizen and Draper of London, Anno 1713, for twelve ſingle Men and Women; ſix whereof to be put in by, the Company of Drapers; and the other ſix, by the Pariſh of St. Leonard Shoreditch; each of whom is allowed ſix Shillings per Month, and eighteen Buſhels of Coals yearly.

Haws's Alms-houſe.

This Alms-houſe, ſituate in Bow-lane in Poplar, was founded Anno 1686, for ſix poor Widows; who, beſides a Room, have only thirty Shillings per Annum each.

Heath's Alms-houſe.

This Houſe, which ſtands in Alms-houſe-lane, in the lower Street of Iſlington, was founded by John Heath, Eſq; Anno 1648, for the Reception of ten decayed Members of the Clothworkers Company; who annually receive from their Corporation (who are Truſtees for this Foundation) the Sum of ſix Pounds each.

Hill's Alms-houſe.

This Alms-houſe, ſituate in Petty-France, Weſtminſter, was founded by Emery Hill, Eſq; in the Year 1677, for the Reception of three Men and their Wives; to be endowed with the Surpluſage of what will endow his School and Alms-houſe in Rocheſter-row, Tothill-fields; but that there ever was any Surplus, I cannot learn.

Hill's Alms-houſe.

This Alms-houſe, in Rocheſter-row, Tothill-fields, was erected in the Year 1708, purſuant to the Will of Emery Hill, Eſq; for the Uſe of ſix poor Men and their Wives, and ſix poor Widows: The former have an Allowance of ſeven Pounds four Shillings, and a Chaldron of Coals Yearly; and the latter five Pounds, and a Chaldron of Coals, and a Gown every other Year.

Hinton's Alms-houſe.

This Houſe, in Plow-alley in Barbican, was erected in the Year 1732, purſuant to the Will of Alice Hinton, of Hackney, Widow, who bequeathed the Sum of two thouſand Pounds for erecting and endowing an Alms-houſe for twelve poor Widows of the Pariſh of St. Giles, Cripplegate; but inſtead of twelve, a Building is only erected for ſix, occaſioned, as it is ſaid, by the Loſs of Effects at Sea, and ſeven hundred Pounds by African Stock. However, each Widow has two handſome Rooms, and the Houſe endowed with twenty-two Pounds per Annum ariſing from Ground Rents.

Holles's Alms-houſe.

This Alms-houſe, which is ſituate in Great St. Helen's near Biſhopſgate-ſtreet, was founded by the Lady Holles, Relict of Sir William Holles, who was Mayor of this City in the Year 1539, (and not according to Stow, who has erroneouſly made Sir Andrew Judd, one of her Executors, the Founder) for ſix poor Men, or Women, and endowed the ſame with Lands, to the Amount of ten Pounds per Annum, out of which each Perſon was to receive ſeven Pence Weekly, and the Surplus to be laid out in Coals for their Uſe.

Dugd. Ant Warwick.

As an Addition to this Foundation, Alice Smith of London, Widow, deviſed Lands of fifteen Pounds per Annum; which, with the above-mentioned, being greatly increaſed in their Revenues, the Company of Skinners, who are intruſted therewith, have lately rebuilt the Houſe in a very handſome manner, and augmented the Penſions of the Poor.

Hulbert's Alms-houſe.

This beautiful Building, contiguous to St. Peter's Hoſpital at Newington-Buts, was founded in the Year 1719, by James Hulbert, Citizen and Fiſhmonger, for the Accommodation of twenty poor Men and Women; who, beſides two handſome Rooms to live in, each have an Allowance of three Shillings per Week, one Chaldron of Coals and a Gown Yearly, and ten Shillings at Chriſtmas. This conſiderable Foundation is under the Direction of the Company of Fiſhmongers.

Infirmary in Weſtminſter.

This Infirmary, or Hoſpital, was removed from Chapel-ſtreet to James-ſtreet near Petty France.

"This Undertaking was ſet on Foot towards the latter End of the Year 1719, and a Propoſel then publiſhed to invite all well-diſpoſed Perſons to contribute their Aſſiſtance to it.

"December 2, 1719. Several Gentlemen met to conſider of the moſt proper Methods for putting this charitable Deſign in Execution; at which Meeting it was thought neceſſary, in the firſt Place, that a Subſcription Roll ſhould be prepared with the following Preamble:

"Whereas great Numbers of ſick Perſons, in this City, languiſh for want of Neceſſaries, and too often die miſerably, who are not entitled to a parochial Relief; and whereas amongſt thoſe who do receive Relief from their reſpective Pariſhes, many ſuffer extremely, and are ſometimes loſt, partly for want of Accommodations and proper Medicines in their own Houſes, or Lodgings, (the Cloſeneſs and Unwholeſomneſs of which is too often one great Cauſe of their Sickneſs) partly by the imprudent laying out of what is ſo allowed, and by the Ignorance and Ill-management of thoſe about them:

"We whoſe Names are underwritten, in Obedience to the Rules of our holy Religion, deſiring ſo far as in us lies, to find ſome Remedy for this great Miſery of our poor Neighbours, do ſubſcribe the following Sums of Money to be by us paid yearly (during Pleaſure) by quarterly Payments, for the procuring, furniſhing, and defraying the neceſſary Expences of an Infirmary, or Place of Entertainment, for ſuch poor ſick Perſons inhabiting in the Pariſh of St. Margaret, Weſtminſter, or others, who ſhall be recommended by any of the Subſcribers, or Benefactors, with the Approbation and Conſent of the major Part of the Truſtees preſent, (all Subſcribers being admitted as ſuch) who are likewiſe impowered to allow ſuitable Relief to ſick Perſons, approved in the Manner above-mentioned, as are incapable of being removed from their reſpective Abodes.

"The Truſtees ſoon finding themſelves encouraged chearfully to go on, by the Subſcriptions and Benefactions, which they procured, each from his Friends and Acquaintance, and thoſe of others, who came readily into ſo apparently good and charitable a Deſign; and their Number being conſiderably increaſed, by the Acceſſion of new Subſcribers and Benefactors, they proceeded to form themſelves into a regular Society.

"To which End they appointed one of the Subſcribers to keep a particular Account of the Receipts and Payments: They agreed to meet every Wedneſday Evening, to manage and carry on the Charity; and made ſeveral Orders for the Regulation of their Proceedings at theſe Meetings. Dr. Alexander Stewart, afterwards Phyſician to her Majeſty Queen Carolina, and ſometime after Dr. William Waſey, and Dr. George Lewis Teiſſier, Phyſician to his Majeſty's Houſhold, (all three Subſcribers) engaged to ſerve the Society (without Fee or Reward) as Phyſicians; and divers eminent Surgeons offered their Aſſiſtance gratis, viz. Claudius Amyand, and Ambroſe Dickins, Eſqrs; Serjeant Surgeons to his Majeſty, and William Cheſelden, Eſq; Surgeon to her Majeſty, were pleaſed to ſubſcribe and accept of being principal Surgeons; and Mr. Wilkie (a Subſcriber) was appointed Surgeon in ordinary to the Infirmary; and ſeveral Divines (Subſcribers to this Charity) gave daily Attendance in their Turns to the ſick Poor.

"Though it was ſome Time before the Society could find a Houſe in all Reſpects convenient for an Infirmary, yet they did not neglect doing what Good they were able in the mean Time; and many poor People were attended and relieved at their own Lodgings. And even after a Houſe was hired and furniſhed, and the Infirmary ſet up, up, they continued, and do ſtill continue, to aſſiſt conſiderable Numbers of poor People upon the Foot of Out-Patients.

"About the Beginning of April 1720, a Houſe was taken in Petty France, Weſtminſter, and fitted up with all the neceſſary Accommodations for an Infirmary: A ſober diſcreet Perſon was provided as a Matron, or Houſe-keeper, together with a Meſſenger, a Nurſe, &c. Here, and in the Infirmary in Chapel-ſtreet, to which they removed in the Year 1724, as being a larger and more convenient Houſe, the Society have ever ſince held their weekly Meetings, at which their Incomes and Diſburſements are ſtated and adjuſted, and the particular Accounts of each regularly kept; Patients admitted and diſcharged; and all the Affairs of the Society tranſacted by as many of the Subſcribers as pleaſe to meet together. The Phyſicians, Surgeons and Clergy giving due Attendance, and the Patients being carefully looked after by the Matron and Servants of the Houſe, under the Inſpection of the Society, and provided with proper Medicines at the beſt Hand, as well as with cleanly Lodgings, and with wholeſome Diet."

To ſhew the Reader the preſent State of this Hoſpital, I ſhall ſubjoin two Accounts of the ſame for the Year 1747, wherein will be ſhewn the Receipts and Diſburſements thereof; together with the Numbers of Perſons admitted, cured, diſcharged, buried, and remaining in the Houſe, with that of the Out-Patents belonging to the ſame.

Jackſon's Alms-houſe.

This Houſe, ſituate in College-yard in Deadman's-Place, Southwark, was founded by Henry Jackſon, Anno 1685, for two poor Women, who have an Allowance of one Shilling and eight Pence per Week each.

Jefferies's Alms-houſe.

This large and handſome Building, ſituate in Kingſland-road, conſiſting of a ſpacious Front, with two Wings and a Chapel, was erected by the Company of Ironmongers in the Year 1713, purſuant to the Will of Sir Robert Jefferies, ſometime Lord Mayor of this City, for the Reception of as many of the Founder's Relations as ſhall apply for this Charity; and in Defect of ſuch for fifty-ſix poor Members of the Company, who, beſides a convenient Room and Part of a Cellar, have each ſix Pounds and a Gown yearly.

Kifford's Alms-houſe.

This Houſe, at Tothill-ſide, Weſtminſter, conſiſting of two Rooms, was founded by Judith Kifford, Anno 1705, for the Reception of ſo many decayed Gentlewomen, who have an Allowance of five Pounds per Annum each.

Kingſland Hoſpital.

This was anciently an Hoſpital for Lepers, but it being at preſent an Appendage to that of St. Bartholomew's in Smithfield, Patients are ſent thither to be cured of the Venereal Diſeaſe by Salivation; on whoſe Account the following Inſcription is put under the Dial: Poſt Voluptatem Miſericordia.

Lady-Alley Alms-houſe.

This Houſe, in Lady-alley in King-ſtreet, Weſtminſter, conſiſting of four Rooms, for as many poor Women, is ſaid to have been founded by a King, or Queen of England, with an Allowance out of the Exchequer of twenty-ſix Shillings and eight Pence per Annum each.

Little Almonry Alms-houſe.

This Alms-houſe, ſituate in the Little Almonry, Weſtminſter, was founded by King Henry the ſeventh, for the Accommodation of twelve poor Watermen and their Wives, who annually receive of the Dean and Chapter of Weſtminſter ſeven Pounds two Shillings and four Pence each Couple, and a purple Gown every other Year; and at the Burial of a Duke, Marquis, or their Ladies, in the Abbey, one Pound ſix Shillings and ſix Pence; and for that of an Earl, Baron, or their Ladies, ten Shillings and ſix Pence.

Little St. Helen's Alms-houſe.

This Houſe, in Little St. Helen's, Biſhopſgate-ſtreet, was erected by the Company of Leatherſellers, purſuant to the Will of John Haſilwood, of Waltham, Eſq; of the 16th of January, Anno 1544, for the Reception of four poor Men and three poor Women, who by the Founder were allowed eight Pence per Week each. But by other Benefactions, and the Bounty of the Company, they now receive two Shillings Weekly, and ſix Buſhels of Coals at Chriſtmas.

Lee's Alms-houſe.

This Houſe, ſituate upon the Narrow-wall, Lambeth, was erected by Gerard Van Lee, but whether endowed by him, I cannot learn. However, Valentine Van Lee, probably the Son of Gerard, gave to the eight poor Inhabitants of this Houſe, the Sum of five Pounds yearly, for the Term of five hundred Years, iſſuing out of his Lands in Glouceſterſhire and a Houſe in Ax-yard, Weſtminſter.

Lock Hoſpital.

This Hoſpital, ſituate at the South-eaſt Corner of Kent-ſtreet in Southwark, was anciently a Houſe for the Reception and Cure of Lepers, but of what Antiquity I cannot learn; however, at preſent, it belongs to the Hoſpital of St. Bartholomew in this City, and is employed for the Salivation of many of its Venereal Patients.

Lock Hoſpital near Hyde Park Corner.

Every Gentleman ſubſcribing 5 l. a Year, or upwards, ſhall be a Governor of this Hoſpital, and whoever gives a Benefaction of 50 l. at one Time a Governor for Life.

No

No Governor who ſhall be more than two Years in Arrear, ſhall have any Power or Privilege as a Governor, till he has paid his Arrears.

A Committee of the Governors do meet every Saturday Morning at ten o'Clock, to admit and diſcharge Patients, adjuſt the weekly Accounts, receive the Reports of the Viſitors, and examine the Affairs of the Houſe; and that no leſs than five be a Committee.

Two of the Contributors are appointed weekly by the Committee, to examine every Day into the Behaviour of the Patients and Nurſes, and make their Report, as it ſhall appear to them, to the next weekly Board.

The Governors are deſired to take Notice,

I. No Patient is to be admitted, but who brings a Recommendation in Writing, ſigned by a Governor, or one of the weekly Committee, in the following Form:

To the Governors of the Lock Hoſpital.

Gentlemen,

I deſire you will admit into your Hoſpital the Bearer of the Pariſh of if h Caſe intitles h to the Charity, being well aſſured is a proper Object; and am

Your humble Servant.

II. That all Recommendations for the Admiſſion of Patients are received every Saturday Morning till eleven o'Clock.

III. Every Patient is obliged to ſubmit to the Rules and Orders of the Houſe, or be diſcharged for Irregularity.

IV. No Patient diſcharged for Irregularity can ever be received into the Houſe again, on any Recommendaton whatſoever.

V. That no Governor have more than one Patient in the Houſe at a Time, and that a Preference be always given to thoſe who ſubſcribe the largeſt Sums, ſo far as the Caſe of the Patient will admit.

VI. That no Nurſe, or any other Perſon whoſoever, belonging to this Hoſpital, do preſume to take any Reward whatſoever from any Patient, either at their Admiſſion, Continuance in the Houſe, or Diſcharge out of it, on Pain of being immediately expelled, by Order of the next weekly Board.

VII. That no Security at the Admiſſion of any Patient be required for their Burial; but, when any Patient dies in the Hoſpital, he, or ſhe, ſhall be buried at the Expence of the Society, unleſs it be otherwiſe deſired by the Friends of the Deceaſed.

All Perſons who ſhall be diſpoſed to contribute to the Support of this Hoſpital, by their laſt Will and Teſtament, are deſired to do it in the following Manner:

Item, I give and bequeath unto A. B. and C. D. the Sum of upon Truſt, and to the Intent than they, or one of them, do pay the ſame to the Treaſurer or Treaſurers, for the Time being, of a Society who now call themſelves, The Governors of the Lock Hoſpital near Hyde Park Corner, which ſaid Sum of I will and deſire may be paid out of my perſonal Eſtate, and applied towards carrying on the charitable Deſigns of the ſaid Society.

The Contributors are deſired to ſend their Subſcriptions to the Treaſurer at the weekly Board, held every Saturday Morning in the Hoſpital; and, in order to ſupply the current Expence of the Charity, the Subſcribers are requeſted to pay their annual Subſcriptions in Advance.

N. B. There is a Poor's Box in the public Hall, for the Reception of ſmall Sums or from ſuch as are not willing to have their Names inſerted in the Liſt of the Subſcribers.

London Hoſpital.

It is ſupported by charitable and voluntary Contributions, for the Relief of all ſick and diſeaſed Perſons, and in particular Manufacturers, Seamen in Merchants Service, and their Wives and Children, and was inſtituted on the 2d of November, 1740.

It at preſent conſiſts of four Houſes, ſituate in Preſcot-ſtreet, Goodman's-fields, properly fitted up, with one hundred and thirty-ſix Beds, for the Reception of Patients. And, in order to extend and perpetuate this Charity, the Governors have contracted for a Piece of Ground on the South Side of White-chapel Road, whereupon they have erected a very large and more commodious Building, by voluntary Contributions.

The Society for carrying on this laudable Undertaking conſiſts of a Preſident, two Vice-Preſidents, and a Treaſurer, annually elected out of the moſt conſiderable Benefactors to this Charity, and of ſuch Perſons, who, by giving a Benefaction of thirty Guineas, or more, at one Time, become Governors for Life; and thoſe who ſubſcribe five Guineas, or more, a Year, Governors during ſuch Subſcription.

A General Court of Governors is held in the Months of March, June, September, and December, to take the Report of the Committee, elect a Houſe Committee for the enſuing Quarter, inſpect Accounts, and tranſact ſuch other Buſineſs as may then be laid before them. The anniverſary Feaſt of this Charity is held between the firſt of February and the laſt Day of April; when a printed Account of the general State of the Hoſpital, the Number of Patients received and diſcharged, and an Abſtract of the Accounts for the Year paſt, is laid before them.

A Houſe Committee of thirteen Governors is appointed at every General Quarterly Court, who, at their firſt Meeting, elect a Chairman to preſide for the Quarter. Four of the Committee take the firſt Month, four the next, and four the laſt Month of the ſaid Quarter.

Theſe Meetings are at the Hoſpital, on Tueſdays, weekly, at eleven in the Forenoon, to receive and diſmiſs Patients, to order and inſpect the Proviſions and Furniture ſent in, and ſuch Neceſſaries that may be wanting, and to examine and regulate the Conduct of the Servants and Patients, and other Matters which come before them, according to the Conſtitution of this Charity. All Governors that pleaſe to attend, have a Vote at this Committee, and their Attendance is eſteemed a Favour.

A Committee of Accounts, conſiſting of twelve Governors, is appointed at the General Quarterly Court in June, for one Year, who meet at the Hoſpital once a Quarter, to examine and audit Tradeſmen's Bills, which are paid by the Treaſurer rer within a Fortnight after. The Accounts are open at all Times for the Inſpection of the Governors.

A Phyſical Committee, conſiſting of twelve Governors, is appointed at a General Quarterly Court, out of the Phyſicians, Surgeons, and Apothecaries of this Hoſpital, who meet once a Month, or oftener, to examine the Medicines and Drugs brought into the Diſpenſatory, and none are ſuffered to be uſed without their Approbation.

Two Governors are appointed Viſitors by the Houſe Committee, for one Fortnight, to attend twice a Week, or oftener, if they think proper, to inſpect into the Management and Conduct of the Houſe, during the Interval of the Meetings of the Houſe Committee.

Three Phyſicians attend alternately, two of the Surgeons daily, from eleven o'Clock till one, without Fee or Reward, and give their Advice and Aſſiſtance to all ſuch Objects as come within thoſe Hours, whether recommended or accidental. A Surgeon extraordinary attends in Conſultation in all dangerous Caſes. The Surgeons, in Waiting, have an Apprentice, or Pupil, conſtantly in the Houſe to receive, and, if neceſſary, to call the Surgeon to ſuch Accidents as ſhall be brought in at any Hour of the Day or Night.

An Apothecary, with an Aſſiſtant, conſtantly reſides at the Hoſpital, who compounds and diſpenſes all Medicines uſed there, and ſolely attends the Buſineſs thereof.

A Clergyman of the Church of England reads Prayers, and viſits ſuch Patients in their Wards as deſire his Attendance, and performs the other Duties of his Function at the Hoſpital, without any other Gratuity, than what pays his Expences.

A Steward, for whoſe Fidelity proper Security is given, has the Charge of the Houſe and Furniture, keeps an Account of every Thing brought to, or expended in the Houſe, and ſubjects the ſame to the Examination of the Viſitors and Houſe Committee, and has the Inſpection likewiſe of the Conduct of all the Men Servants. Two Matrons have the Direction of the Nurſes, and other Women Servants, and ſee the Diet and Medicines adminiſtered according to Order. Under them are Nurſes and Watchers in Proportion to the Number of Patients, who are guided by written Orders, to prevent any Miſconduct. Proper Diet for the Patients has been ſettled by the Phyſicians and Surgeons engaged in this Charity, and is fixed up in the Wards for the Satisfaction of the Patients and their Friends.

No Officers or Servants are permitted, upon Pain of Expulſion, to take of any Tradeſmen, Patients, or other Perſons, any Fee, Reward, or Gratuity of any Kind, directly or indirectly, for any Service done, or to be done, on Account of this Hoſpital.

Every Governor is intitled to ſend one In-Patient at a Time, and Out-Patients without Limitation. Subſcribers of ſmaller Sums may likewiſe ſend what Number of Out-Patients they pleaſe. All Subſcriptions are during Pleaſure, and any ſmall Sums, from well-diſpoſed Perſons, will be thankfully received; but, in order to carry on this Undertaking, all Perſons are deſired to pay their Subſcription at the Time of ſubſcribing. The poor Objects, recommended as In-Patients, are received at any Hour, without Difficulty or Expence, except in Venereal Caſes, and are ſupplied with Advice, Medicine, Diet, Waſhing, Lodging, and every comfortable Aſſiſtance during their Cure; nor is any Security required againſt future Contingencies, they being, in Caſe of Death, buried at the Expence of the Charity, if not removed by their Friends. All Out-Patients have Advice and Medicines adminiſtered from eleven till one.

All Accidents, whether recommended or not, are received at any Hour of the Day or Night.

This is the Plan; and, though this Work has ſubſiſted but fifteen Years, yet ſuch has been the extraordinary Encouragement given to it, that, ſince the 3d of November, 1740, more than one hundred thouſand diſtreſſed Objects have been relieved at the London Hoſpital; and, from labouring under the Oppreſſion of ſome of the moſt malignant Diſeaſes and unhappy Accidents, have been reinſtated in their honeſt and induſtrious Capacities of working; and, ſo far as our Obſervation reaches, their Morals much amended, whereby the Publick again enjoy the Benefit of their Labour, and they and their poor Families are preſerved from periſhing, and prevented from being an Incumbrance to the Community. And, notwithſtanding the great Number of Objects relieved by this Charity, it has not leſſened the Number of Patients relieved by other Hoſpitals.

The Subſcribers are deſired to take Notice, that if any Patients do not conform to the Rules of the Houſe, or are guilty of any Miſbehaviour, they will be diſcharged, and never more relieved by this Charity: And not to ſend any Patient unable to walk, till they are firſt aſſured of Room in the Houſe: And, when they recommend an In-Patient, whoſe Settlement is in the Country, it is further requeſted, that they will ſatisfy the Houſe Committee concerning the Removal of ſuch Patients, when cured, or judged incurable.

No Perſons, of known Ability to pay for their Cure, are allowed to partake of this Charity: Nor any with infectious Diſtempers, or deemed incurable by the Phyſicians and Surgeons, or any in conſumptive or aſthmatick Condition, are admitted into the Houſe, being more capable of Relief as Out-Patients.

The Patients, being admitted without any Expence, are required to be conſtant in their Attendance on the Phyſicians or Surgeons, at the Hoſpital, before eleven o'Clock; and, at nine o'Clock, to return Thanks at the Chapel, and at the weekly Committee next after their Cure; and thoſe only who attend their Cure, and return Thanks, will receive a Certificate thereof, which will intitle them to future Relief.

St. Luke's Hoſpital.

This Hoſpital is an Improvement upon Bethlem, and ſupported by private Subſcription for Lunaticks. It is ſituate on the North Side of the Road above upper Moorfields, in the Pariſh of St. Luke.

The particular Reaſons and Inducements for the ſetting on Foot a new Deſign of this Sort, for the Relief of Poor Lunaticks, are,

1. Experience had long ſhewn, that the Hoſpital of Bethlem was incapable of receiving and providing for the Relief of all the unhappy Objects of this Sort who made Application for it; this Truth can be atteſted by every Governor of that Houſe, and by every Perſon to whoſe Lot it has fallen to ſolicit the Admiſſion of a Patient into it.

2. That the Expence and Difficulty attending the Admiſſion of a Patient into the Hoſpital of Bethlem, had diſcouraged many Applications for the Benefit of that Charity, particularly on the Behalf of the more neceſſitous Objects, and of ſuch who reſided in the remote Parts of this Kingdom.

3. That by this unavoidable Excluſion, or Delay in the Admiſſion of Objects of this Sort, many uſeful Members have been loſt to Society, either by the Diſorder gaining Strength beyond the Reach of Phyſick, or by the Patients falling into the Hands of Perſons unſkilled in the Treatment of the Diſorder, or who have found their Advantage in neglecting every Method neceſſary to obtain a Cure.

4. That many Families (in no mean Circumſtances) thro' the heavy Expence attending the Support of one Object of this Sort, have themſelves become Objects of charitable Relief, and thereby doubled the Load and Loſs to the Publick.

5. That the moſt fatal Acts of Violence, on themſelves, Attendants and Relations, have been often conſequent on the ſmalleſt Delay in placing the afflicted with this Diſorder, under the Care of Perſons experienced in guarding againſt and preventing Attempts of this Kind.

6. That no particular Proviſion is made by Law for Lunaticks, the common Pariſh Workhouſes being no ways proper for their Reception, either in point of Accommodation, Attendants or Phyſical Aſſiſtance.

7. That the joining this to any other Hoſpital not particularly adapted for the Reception of Lunaticks, would have been highly improper and dangerous; the joining it to Bethlem would have deprived it of two of its principal Advantages, the being under the immediate Inſpection and Government of its own Patrons and Supporters, (inaſmuch as no Benefaction to Bethlem, how great ſoever neceſſarily conſtitutes the Donor a Governor of that Hoſpital,) and of introducing more Gentlemen of the Faculty to the Study and Practice of one of the moſt important Branches of Phyſick, already too long confined (almoſt) to a ſingle Perſon.

Particular Rules and Orders for this Hoſpital.

That every Perſon, except as herein after excepted, paying (in his own Right) to the Treaſurer for the Time being, the entire Sum of twenty Guineas or upwards, or paying five Guineas at leaſt, and ſigning an Agreement (in a Book to be kept for that Purpoſe) to pay five Guineas yearly for the four next ſucceeding Years, ſhall be admitted a Governor of this Hoſpital, ſave and except all Perſons acting as Phyſician, Surgeon, Apothecary, or Secretary to this Hoſpital, during the Time they ſhall reſpectively act in thoſe Capacities.

A General Court ſhall be held in every Year, on the ſecond Wedneſday in the Months of February and Auguſt, and every General Court ſhall conſiſt of thirty Governors at leaſt.

At the General Court to be held annually on the ſecond Wedneſday in the Month of February, one Preſident, four Vice-Preſidents, a Treaſurer, a General Committee, Phyſician, Surgeon, Apothecary and Secretary, ſhall be elected for the Year enſuing. No Perſon acting as Phyſician, Surgeon or Apothecary to any other Hoſpital or Infirmary, ſhall be eligible to be Phyſician, Surgeon or Apothecary to this Hoſpital.

The Preſident ſhall have Power to order ſpecial General Courts to be ſummoned as often as he thinks neceſſary.

No Perſon to be entitled to vote at any ſuch Election at a General Court, unleſs he ſhall have paid his Subſcription Money, on, or before the Day, in which a Vacancy ſhall be declared.

The General Committee ſhall conſiſt of the Preſident, Vice-Preſidents, and Treaſurer for the Time being, and of the five Governors named as Leſſees in the Leaſe of the Ground on which this Hoſpital is built, and of all Perſons who ſhall have paid for the Uſe of the Hoſpital the Sum of 100 l. or upwards, who ſhall be ſtanding Members thereof, and of ſuch twenty-four other Governors, reſiding within the Bills of Mortality, as ſhall be annually elected for that Purpoſe, at the General Court to be held on the ſecond Wedneſday in February, of which Committee five at leaſt ſhall be neceſſary to do Buſineſs.

The General Committee have Power to hire, govern, and diſcharge the domeſtick Servants of this Hoſpital, keep the Buildings properly repaired, and purchaſe Proviſions, Furniture, and other Neceſſaries for the ſame. To admit and diſcharge Patients according to the Rules hereafter mentioned. To ſee that the ſeveral Books relating to the Hoſpital be regularly kept. That all Debts, Legacies, annual Subſcriptions, and other Revenues of this Hoſpital be received and recovered as the ſame ſhall reſpectively become due. That all Monies in the Hands of the Treaſurer, above what is neceſſary, in the Opinion of the ſaid Committee, for defraying the current Expences of the Hoſpital, be from Time to Time placed out in transferable Government Securities, and no other, in the Names of the Treaſurer for the Time being, and two of the Vice-Preſidents, or of two ſuch other Governors as the General Court ſhall appoint for that Purpoſe. And that all juſt Demands upon this Hoſpital be regularly diſcharged at leaſt once in ſix Months. And to propoſe for the Conſideration of the Geral Courts, all ſuch Matters as ſhall appear to them conducive to the Good of this Charity.

The ſaid Committee have Power to appoint Sub-committees, one of which ſhall be called the Houſe Committee; and that Sub-committees have have power from Time to Time to ſummon the General Committee.

Every Officer or Servant who ſhall take any Fee, Gratuity or Reward, directly or indirectly, from any Tradeſman or other Perſon dealing with this Hoſpital, Patient, or Friend of any Patient, in Reſpect of any Service done or to be done, ſhall forthwith de diſcharged, and rendered incapable of being received again into the Service of this Hoſpital. Except that it ſhall be lawful for the Secretary of this Hoſpital, upon his waiting on every Governor with a Staff and a printed Copy of the Rules and Orders of this Hoſpital, to accept of a Fee not exceeding one Guinea.

Patients ſhall be taken into this Hoſpital, according to the order of Time in which their Petitions have been delivered to the Secretary, without Favour or Partiality, and ſhall be admitted without any Expence, except only that ſuch of them who are Pariſh Poor ſhall provide their Bedding, which they are at liberty to take away at their Diſcharge.

On the Admiſſion of every Patient, two reſponſible Houſe-keepers, reſiding within the Bills of Mortality, (whoſe Names, with their Places of Abode, ſhall have been left in Writing with the Secretary four Days at leaſt before ſuch Admiſſion, and who ſhall be approved of by the Committee) ſhall enter into a Bond to the Treaſurer for the Time being, in the Penalty of 100 l. to take away ſuch Patient within ſeven Days next after Notice given to them for that Purpoſe, by the Committee or their Secretary. But no Governor of this Hoſpital ſhall be Security for any Patient.

The Patients in this Hoſpital ſhall not be expoſed to publick View.

No Moneys received for the Uſe of this Charity, ſhall be expended in entertaining the General Court or Committee at any of their Meetings.

Lumley's Alms-houſe.

This Houſe, ſituate in Peſt-houſe Fields near Old-ſtreet, was erected by the Viſcounteſs Lumley in the Year 1672, for the Accommodation of ſix poor Women of the Pariſhes of Aldgate and Biſhopſgate, to each of whom ſhe granted an Allowance of four Pounds, and twelve Buſhel, of Coals, per Annum.

Lying-in Hoſpital for married Women at Shaftsbury-houſe in Alderſgate-ſtreet.

See Alderſgate Ward.

The Lying-in Hoſpital in Duke-ſtreet, Groſvenor-ſquare, firſt began in Jermyn-ſtreet, St. James's.

Poor Women in a State of Child-bearing, for ſome Time before, and after their Lying-in, are, of all Objects, the moſt to be pitied, becauſe the moſt diſtreſſed and miſerable: They are quite unfit for Labour during the Circumſtances, and conſequently deprived of the Means of ſupporting themſelves in their great Day of Affliction. — Their Lodgings are generally in extreme cold Garrets, open to every Wind that blows; or in damp uncomfortable Cellars under Ground, ſubject to Floods from exceſſive Rains; deſtitute of Attendance, Medicines, and often proper Food, by which hundreds periſh with their poor little Infants; and the Community is at once robbed of the Mother and Child.

By this Scheme, Unmarried as well as Married Women will be received and relieved, in order to prevent the unhappy Conſequences enſuing therefrom; ſuch as Perjuries, falſe Affidavits, and that moſt formidable and unnatural of all Crimes, the Murder of their poor guiltleſs Innocents. Every Convenience ſhall be amply provided for them, commodious Apartments, and Beds, good Nurſing, plain ſuitable Diet, proper Medicines, the charitable Aſſiſtance of Gentlemen of Skill and Experience in Midwifery; and on due Occaſions, the ſpiritual Comfort of a ſober, pious and exemplary Divine.

Theſe ſeveral Benefits they enjoy at a Time when their Condition not only renders them unſerviceable, but even an expenſive Burthen to their needy Families; to which, from the Care taken of them in this Hoſpital, they may, in a very little Time, return with Joy, Health, and Strength, and then be uſeful not only to their Huſbands and Infants, but even to the Publick in general.

This Hoſpital conſiſts of a Houſe, with ſuch a Number of Beds for the Reception of Patients, as the contributed Sums can now admit of.

The Society for carrying on this humane Work conſiſt of a Preſident, a Vice-Preſident, and a Treaſurer, annually elected out of the moſt beneficial Benefactors to this Charity; and a General Court of Governors ſhall be held in the Months of March, June, September and December, to take the Reports of the Committees. And a Houſe Committee for the enſuing Quarter inſpect Accounts, and tranſact ſuch Buſineſs as may be laid before them.

A Phyſical Committee ſhall be appointed at a General Quarterly Court, out of the Phyſicians, Men-Midwives, Surgeons, and Apothecaries, who are to meet once a Month to examine the Medicines and Drugs brought into the Diſpenſary. None are ſuffered to be uſed without their Approbation.

Two Phyſicians and two Surgeons ſhall attend twice a Week on extraordinary Caſes; a Surgeon and Man-Midwife, educated at Paris, and in great Buſineſs, reſiding in the next Streets, ſhall give Attendance at any Hour of the Day or Night he is called for, particularly from eleven of the Clock till one every Day; and ſuch Objects as come within theſe Hours, ſhall have Advice in Phyſick and Surgery without Fee or Reward, whether recommended or accidental.

No Officers or Servants ſhall be permitted, on pain of Expulſion, to take of Patients or other Perſons Fee, Reward, or Gratuity of any Kind, directly or indirectly, for any Service done, or to done in this Hoſpital.

Every Governor and Subſcriber is entitled to ſend one In-Patient at a Time, Out-Patients without Limitation. All Subſcriptions are during Pleaſure; and in order to carry on this Charity, all benevolent Perſons are requeſted to pay at the Time of ſubſcribing. The poor Objects recommended by the Governors and Subſcribers are to be received twice a Week, on Wedneſdays and Saturdays, from eleven of the Clock till one.

N. B.

N. B. Such who contribute to this Charity the Sum of two Pounds two Shillings Annually, or twenty Pounds at one Payment, are qualified for Governors, and can ſend in twenty-four Patients in the Year; and thoſe who give leſs are only Subſcribers. All Governors ſhall have a Vote and Intereſt at the Committees, and their Attendance eſteemed a great Favour.

The Right Hon. Marquis of Carnarvon, Preſident and perpetual Governor.

An Account of the Lying-in Hoſpital for Married-Women, in Brownlow-ſtreet, Long-acre.

Amidſt the Variety of Charities which are the Diſtinction and Glory of this Age and Nation, perhaps not one has been propoſed to the Publick more truly beneficial, or more extenſive in its Benefits than an Hoſpital for Lying-in Women. It is natural and juſt to obſerve, that the Arguments for eſtabliſhing any Hoſpital, are at leaſt as ſtrong when applied to this. Poverty is an Object of Pity. Sickneſs and Poverty united, ſeem to comprehend all the natural Evils of Life: But it is not the Caſe of every ſick Perſon to be diſtreſſed in Circumſtances, ſo there are not many Perſons, thus diſtreſſed, whoſe Calamity it is to be frequently or periodically affiicted with Sickneſs; whereas moſt Women that marry, bear Children; and thoſe who work for their Subſiſtence, are, for a conſiderable Part of their Lives, annually diſqualified for Labour. At other Times, their Labour is but a bare Support. During the latter Part of their Pregnancy, and the Time of their Lying-in, the needy Family is wholly taken up in Attendance upon them, and the Joys, natural at ſuch a Seaſon, are ſuppreſſed by the Wants which ſurround them. Or, if they be deſtitute of this Attendance, how great is the Hazard, that the helpleſs Mother, or the Child, or perhaps both, may by their Deaths, become melancholy Inſtances of the Evils of real Poverty.

By the Plan of this Hoſpital every Convenience theſe diſtreſſed Objects can require, is amply provided. Commodious Apartments and Beds, good Nurſing, plain ſuitable Diet, proper Medicines, the charitable Aſſiſtance of Gentlemen of Skill and Experience in Midwifry, and, on due Occaſions, the ſpiritual Comfort of a ſober and pious Divine.

This Charity was inſtituted in November 1749; and the firſt General Meeting of the Subſcribers was held on the 17th of that Month, at which Time, honoured with the Protection of his Grace the Duke of Portland, as Preſident, and encouraged by the Benefactions of many worthy Subſcribers, a Plan for the Eſtabliſhment and Regulation of the Charity was approved, Officers appointed, Servants retained, and the Houſe (then already taken) ordered to be furniſhed, and ſeveral Subſcriptions were then received.

Between the 7th of December 1749, (the Day Women were firſt admitted) and the 12th of April 1751, two hundred and ninety-nine Patients received Orders of Admiſſion: And the Number of Patients recommended greatly encreaſing, four ſmall Houſes contiguous to the Back of the Hoſpital being offered, the ſame were viewed by the Committee, who were of Opinion they would be convenient for the Charity; and have been ſince added, and fitted up at a great Expence.

To the End likewiſe, that this excellent Charity might be rendered more extenſively uſeful to the Publick, and that not only this great Metropolis, but the remoteſt Parts of the Kingdom, might be ſupplied with well-inſtructed and experienced Midwives, it was propoſed, that female Pupils ſhould be permitted to attend Labours under the immediate Inſpection of the Matron, and the occaſional Directions of the Gentlemen of the Faculty, who undertook to inſtruct them in all Matters relating to the Buſineſs of Midwifry: Which Propoſal being maturely conſidered, and the Committee having formed a Plan for regulating ſuch Pupils, the ſame was preſented to the Quarterly General Court, when it was then approved, and is in Subſtance as follows, viz.

"That four female Pupils at a Time be permitted to attend this Hoſpital, in order to their being inſtructed in Midwifry, and that they have a Right to ſtay in the Hoſpital ſix Months.—That ſuch Pupils be Widows or Married-women, not leſs than twenty-five Years of Age, of ſober Character, and to be approved of by the Committee.—That they board in the Hoſpital, and dine at the Steward and Matron's Table.—That the Gentlemen of the Faculty attending the Hoſpital, do, at ſtated Times, give them Lectures in Midwifry, and inſtruct them how to act in all natural and difficult Births.— And when they are thoroughly inſtructed, and ſufficiently experienced, they are to receive from the ſaid Gentlemen, on their leaving the Hoſpital, Certificates of their Qualification."

The Expences of their Inſtruction, and of their Board in the Hoſpital, have been ſettled by the ſaid General Court, the Particulars of which any Perſons deſirous of becoming Pupils may be informed of, by applying to the Matron at the Hoſpital.

N. B. No Pupils of the Male Sex are permitted to attend this Hoſpital.

The General Plan of this Hoſpital.

A Preſident perpetual.

Four Vice-Preſidents choſen annually.

A Treaſurer choſen annually.

Two Phyſicians and two Surgeons, practiſing Midwifry, who deliver the Women in difficult Caſes. The ſaid Gentlemen have likewiſe agreed to meet at the Hoſpital in Conſultation every Tueſday Morning.

A Chaplain, who performs Divine Service in the Hoſpital, baptizes the Children, churches the Women, and does the neceſſary Duties belonging to his Function.

An Apothecary, who prepares ſuch Medicines as are preſcribed for the Women or Children.

A Secretary, who keeps the Accounts of the Hoſpital, attends at General Meetings and Weekly Boards, and does all ſuch other Buſineſs as is commonly done by Secretaries, Clerks, or Regiſters, at other Hoſpitals.

A Steward, who takes Care of the Proviſions and Furniture, and does ſuch other Buſineſs as belongs to the Office of a Steward.

A Matron, well ſkilled in Midwifry, who delivers the Women in eaſy natural Labours, takes Care of the Linen, ſuperintends the Nurſes, and ſees that every Thing neceſſary for the Women and Children be provided according to the Direction of the Phyſicians and Surgeons. She has under her an Aſſiſtant Matron.

A General Meeting of the Governors of this Charity is held every Quarter, and the ſole Power of making Laws and Rules for the Government of the Hoſpital lodged in the ſaid General Court.

A Committee of fifteen Governors are choſen at each Quarterly General Court (the Treaſurer for the Time being always to be one) any Number of which may tranſact Buſineſs. They meet at the Hoſpital every Friday in the Forenoon, to receive the Women recommended, and to direct the ordinary Affairs of the Houſe. Temporary Orders for the Service of the Hoſpital, may be made by this Committee: But a Report of theſe, and all their other Proceedings, to be made to the Quarterly General Court. Any Governor of the Charity may be preſent at this Weekly Committee, but none have a Right of voting there, except thoſe who are Members of the Committee, and the Preſident or Vice-Preſidents if preſent. The ſame Rule to extend to all other Committees.

A Special General Court, may, on a Fortnight's Notice, be called at any Time between the Quarterly Courts, either by Order of a General Court, or of the Weekly Committee, or at the Demand of the Treaſurer, or of any five of the Governors, the ſaid Demand being delivered in Writing at the Weekly Board, and ſigned with their reſpective Names. The Buſineſs of ſuch Special General Court to be expreſſed in the ſaid Writing, and in the Summons to the Governors.

All Officers and Servants of the Hoſpital, above the Rank of Aſſiſtant-Matron, Meſſenger, or Nurſes, to be elected by Ballot, at a General Court of the Governors: And on any Vacancy, the Day of Election for filling it up, to be appointed at leaſt one Month, and not more than three Months, from the Day ſuch Vacancy happens, unleſs directed otherwiſe by expreſs Order of a General Court: But the inferior Servants to be appointed by the Weekly Committee.

The Qualification of an annual Governor of this Charity is a Subſcription of three Guineas or upwards per Annum, and of a perpetual Governor-a Payment of at once thirty Guineas, which entitles the Subſcriber to recommend and have in the Houſe one Woman at a Time. A Subſcription of ſix Guineas per Annum, or a Payment at once of ſixty, intitles the Subſcriber to have in the Houſe two Women at a Time, and ſo, in proportion, for larger Sums. Ladies ſubſcribing the like Sums have the Privileges of recommending Women in the ſame Manner as Governors, and by an Order of a Quarterly General Court of the 6th of July, 1750, they have a Right of Voting in all Elections at General Courts, for Officers and Servants, by Proxy, provided that ſuch a Proxy be a Governor of this Charity; or they may ſend a Letter to the Board without a Proxy, naming the Perſon they vote for, which will be regarded as their Vote: No Governor to be Proxy for more than one Lady at a Time.— Benefactions or Subſcriptions of ſmaller Sums than thoſe above-mentioned, will be thankfully received, and properly applied to the Uſe of the Charity.

Women are received into this Hoſpital in the laſt Month of their Pregnancy, on producing a Letter of Recommendation from a Governor, and making an Affidavit of their Marriage and of their Huſband's Settlement, which Affidavit is prepared for them gratis by the Secretary; and where the Huſband cohabits with the Wife, it is required that he join in ſuch Affidavit, unleſs prevented by Sickneſs, or ſome other reaſonable Impediment; and it is alſo required that the Women produce a Teſtimonial of their Honeſty and Poverty, under the Hands of two ſubſtantial Houſe-keepers in the Neighbourhood where they lodge or reſide, in caſe the Weekly Board ſhall, on Examination, doubt of their being Objects of the Charity.—During their Continuance in the Houſe, all Neceſſaries are provided for them and their Children, at the ſole Charge of the Hoſpital;—No Money or other Gratuity is to be taken of them by the Nurſes, or by any of the Officers or Servants of the Houſe, on any Pretence whatſoever.

Friday being the Day appointed for the Admiſſion of Women, they are required to be at the Hoſpital by ten of the Clock in the Forenoon, no Letters of Recommendation being received after that Hour, it being neceſſary, for the Diſpatch of the Buſineſs of the Hoſpital, that their Affidavits ſhould be prepared and ſworn to, before the Weekly Board ſits, who enter upon Buſineſs at eleven.

Meggs's Alms-houſe.

This Alms-houſe, on the South Side of Whitechapel, conſiſting of twelve Rooms with pretty little Gardens, was founded about ſixty Years ago, by William Meggs, Eſq; for the Reception of twelve Widows, who receive annually five Pounds four Shillings, and a Chaldron of Coals each.

Merchant Taylors Alms-houſe.

This Alms-houſe, which ſtands near the Weſt End of Roſemary-lane, contains twenty-ſix handſome Apartments for ſo many poor Widows, Relicts of deceaſed Members, who yearly receive ſix Pounds and a Chaldron of Coals each; and a Gown every third Year.

Mico's Alms-houſe.

This Alms-houſe, ſituate on the South Side of Stepney Church-yard, conſiſting of ten handſome Rooms, was founded in the Year 1691, by the Lady Jane Mico, Relict of Sir Samuel Mico, Citizen and Mercer, for the Reception of ten poor Widows of Mercers, to each of whom ſhe allowed the yearly Sum of eight Pounds thirteen Shillings and four Pence: But by the Loſſes of the Mercers Company the Penſion is greatly leſſened.

The Middleſex Hoſpital, for the Reception of Sick and Lame, and for Lying-in Married Women, in Windmill-ſtreet, Tottenham-court Road.

This Hoſpital conſiſts of two convenient Houſes adjoining to each other, in an airy Situation. It was firſt inſtituted in Auguſt 1745, for the Relief of Sick and Lame; ond in July 1747, an additional Proviſion was made for the Reception of Lying-in Married Women.

The Qualification of a Governor of this Charity is an annual Subſcription of three Guinea: Which alſo intitles the Subſcriber to recommend, and have in the Houſe at one Time, either one Sick or Lame Patient, or one Lying-in Woman, and Out-Patients. A Subſcription of five Guineas per Annum intitles the Subſcriber to recommend one Sick or Lame In-Patient, Out-Patients, and one Lying-in Woman. A Subſcription of thirty Guineas at one Payment, conſtitutes the Subſcriber a Governor for Life, with the laſt mentioned Privilege. Contributions of leſſer Sums than three Guineas per Annum, are thankfully received, and intitle the Contributors to recommend one Sick or Lame In-Patient, and one Out-Patient at the ſame Time.

A Committee of the Governors (appointed Quarterly) meet at the Hoſpital every Tueſday, at ten of the Clock, to receive and diſcharge Patients, and to tranſact the other Buſineſs of the Houſe, where every Governor, tho' not of the Committee has a Right to be preſent, and his Attendance is received as a Favour. A Report of their Proceedings is made to the General Court held every Quarter, where the Reſolutions of this Committee are approved or rejected.

The Phyſicians viſit the Patients every Tueſday, Thurſday, and Saturday, and on intermediate Days, when particular Caſes require it. The Surgeons attend every Day.

Patients are admitted on a Letter of Recommendation from a Governor or Contributor, who may recommend In-Patients, and have Out-Patients upon the Books, according to the Regulations abovementioned. And when In-Patients are recommended, and there is not Room in the Houſe to receive them, they are put on the Liſt to be admitted on the firſt Vacancy, and in the mean Time are preſcribed for as Out-Patients. No Security is required for Burial. All Accidents are admitted without Recommendation. Tueſday being the Day appointed for the Admiſſion of Patients, they are expected to be at the Hoſpital, with their Recommendations, at ten of the Clock. The Phyſicians and Surgeons meet every Saturday, at twelve of the Clock, at the Hoſpital, where they give Advice gratis to all ſuch diſeaſed Poor who ſhall come, tho' unrecommended, and require it.

The Beds appointed for the Reception of Lying-in Women are on a ſeparate Floor from the Wards uſed for Sick and Lame. And that Ladies may conveniently viſit the Lying-in Patients without being incommoded with the Sick and Lame, there are diſtinct Stair-Caſes leading to the ſeparate Wards; the Lying-in Ward haveing no Communication with thoſe of the Sick and Lame. Married Women only are admitted (in the laſt Month of their Pregnancy) after they have been examined by the Weekly-Board, and on their producing an Affidavit, made before a Juſtice of the Peace, of the Time and Place of their Marriage, and of the Settlement of the Huſband, with the Manner the ſaid Settlement was obtained, whether by Birth, Servitude, or otherwiſe. And that this uſeful Branch of the Charity, the Midwifry Ward, may be made every way beneficial, and not liable to any Objection, no Pupils will be admitted. No Woman whatſoever who has been able to prove her Marriage, and her Huſband's Settlement, ſo as to avoid burthening the Pariſh wherein the Hoſpital ſtands, has been refuſed Admittance.

The Servants of the Houſe, are forbid to take any Gratuity of the Patients, or their Friends, on any Pretence whatſoever, on Pain of Expulſion.

Milborne's Alms-houſe.

In the Front of this Houſe, which is ſituate on the Weſt Side of Woodrooffe-lane, near Crutched-friars, are the following Words: Ad laudem Dei & Glorioſæ Virginis Mariæ, hoc Opus erexit Dominus Johannes Milborne, Miles & Alderman. hujus Civitatis, A. D. 1535. This Inſcription ſhews this Houſe to have been erected by Sir John Milborne (who was Mayor of this City, Anno 1521,) in the Year 1535, for the Reception of thirteen poor Members of the Drapers Company, with an Allowance of ſeven Pence per Week: The Truſt thereof being committed to the Company of Drapers of this City, they have not only increaſed the Number of the Penſioners to fifteen, but likewiſe doubled their Penſions, with an Addition of a Load of Coals, and twenty, or more Shillings yearly, out of the Money left to be diſtributed at Diſcretion by the ſaid Company.

Monger's Alms-houſe.

This Alms-houſe, which ſtands in Well-ſtreet, in Hackney, was founded by Henry Monger, Eſq; Anno 1669, for ſix poor old Men, who are allowed forty Shillings per Annum each.

Morrel's Alms-houſe.

This Houſe, which is ſituate near the Nag's-head in Hackney Road, was erected by the Company of Goldſmiths of this City, in the Year 1705, purſuant to the Will of Richard Morrel, for the Reception of ſix poor Members of the ſaid Company, who have two handſome Rooms, two Shillings per Week, half a Chaldron of Coals, a Quarter of a hundred of Faggots, and a Gown each yearly.

Morrice's Alms-houſe.

This Houſe, which ſtands in the Old Jewry, was erected by the Company of Armourers, purſuant to the Will of the Lady Elizabeth Morrice, Anno 1551, for the Reception of nine poor Widows of Armourers, who, according to the Diſcretion of the Company, are allowed from ſix to twenty Shillings per Quarter, and nine Buſhels of Coals each yearly.

Newbury's Alms-houſe.

This Alms-houſe, on the North Side of Mile-end-green, called the Skinners Alms-houſes, was erected by that Company in the Year 1688, purſuant to the Will of Lewis Newbury, for twelve poor Widows of the ſaid Company, who have an Allow-

Allowance of five Pounds four Shillings per Annum, and Half a Chaldron of Coals each.

Nicholas's Alms-houſe.

This Houſe, ſituate in Monkwell-ſtreet, was founded by Sir Ambroſe Nicholas, Citizen and Salter, in the Year 1575, for the Accommodation of twelve Widows of his Company, to each of whom he allowed one Shilling per Week, and twenty-four Buſhels of Coals yearly; and committed the Truſt thereof to the Company of Salters. But the Houſe being deſtroyed in the great Conflagration, Anno 1666, it is again re-edified in a very handſome Manner, each Widow having two pretty Rooms, and a Garret for her Habition.

Owen's Alms-houſe.

This Alms-houſe, which ſtands near the South End of Iſlington, was erected by the Company of Brewers in the Year 1610, for the Reception of ten poor Widows of the Pariſh of St. Mary, Iſlington, purſuant to the Will of the Lady Alice Owen, who gave to each of the ſaid Widows three Pounds ſixteen Shillings per Annum; every other Year three Yards of Cloth for a Gown, and ſix Pounds to be laid yearly out in Coals for the Uſe of the whole.

Packington's Alms-houſe.

This Alms-houſe, ſituate in White-friars, and commonly called the Clothworkers Alms-houſes, was founded by the Lady Anne Packington, Relict of Sir John Packington, Chirographer of the Court of Common Pleas, about the Year 1560, for the Accommodation of eight poor Women, each of whom receive yearly of the Clothworkers Company (who have the Truſt of this Charity) the Sum of four Pounds and nine Buſhels of Coals, and new Apparel every third Year.

Palmer's Alms-houſe.

This Houſe, which ſtands at Tothill-ſide, Weſtminſter, was founded by James Palmer, B. D. Anno 1654, for the Reception of twelve poor Men and Women, to each of whom he gave a perpetual Annuity of ſix Pounds, and a Chaldron of Coals. Here is a Chapel for the Uſe of the Scholars and Penſioners, wherein the Founder himſelf, for ſome Time, preached and prayed twice a Day to them.

Palyn's Alms-houſe.

This Alms-houſe, in Peſt-houſe-row, near Old-ſtreet, was founded by George Palyn, Citizen and Girdler, for ſix poor Members of his Company; he endowed the ſame with an Eſtate of forty Pounds per Annum, and committed the Truſt thereof to the ſaid Company.

Pemell's Alms-houſe.

This Alms-houſe, ſituate at Mile-end, was founded by John Pemell, Citizen and Draper, in the Year 1698, for four poor Drapers Widows, and the ſame Number of Seamens Widows, to be preſented by the Church-wardens of old Stepney Pariſh, who have each an Allowance of one Shilling and eight Pence per Week, half a Chaldron of Coals yearly, and a Gown every other Year.

Quakers Alms-houſe.

This Houſe, which ſtands in Bridewell-walk, Clerkenwell, being both an Hoſpital and Work-houſe, it contains eighteen old Men (but not confined to any Number) and Women, who are provided with all the Neceſſaries of Life in a very clean and decent Manner; as are alſo forty Boys and twenty Girls, who beſides are not only taught Reading, Writing and Arithmetick, but likewiſe, to inure their young Fingers early to Labour, are taught to ſpin, ſew and knit; and the Boys, when put out Apprentices, have five Pounds given with each. Theſe Children are cloathed in very good Cloth and Callimanco's, and ſupported at the Charge of about ſix hundred Pounds per Annum.

Raine's Hoſpital.

This ſtately Hoſpital, ſituate in Fowden-fields, in the Pariſh of St. George, Ratcliffe-highway, was erected in the Year 1737, by Henry Raine, a Brewer, who, by a Deed of Gift, endowed the ſame with a perpetual Annuity of two hundred and forty Pounds per Annum; and, as an Addition to the ſame, gave the Sum of 4000 l. in South Sea Annuities, amounting to about four thouſand four hundred Pounds, to be laid out in a Purchaſe.

This Hoſpital contains forty-eight Girls, who are taken out of the Pariſh School (almoſt contiguous) which was not only erected in the Year 1719, by the ſaid Mr. Raine, at the Expence of about two thouſand Pounds, but he likewiſe endowed the ſame with a perpetual Annuity of ſixty Pounds. The Children are ſupplied with all the Neceſſaries of Life; and taught to read, write, ſew and Houſe-hold Work, to qualify them for Service, to which they are put, after having been three Years upon the Foundation.

Ramſey's Alms-houſe.

This Houſe, in Horn's-yard in Cloth-fair, was founded by Dame Mary Ramſey, Relict of Thomas Ramſey, ſome time Mayor of this City, about the Year 1596, for three poor Women, who formerly received Coals and Cloaths, but at preſent only two Shillings per Week each.

Richmond's Alms-houſe.

This Alms-houſe, which ſtands in Gooſe-alley, Seacoal-lane, was erected by the Company of Armourers, purſuant to the Will of John Richmond, in the Year 1559, for the Habitation of eight poor old Men and Women, who, according to the Diſcretion of the Company, receive from five to fifteen Shillings per Annum.

Rogers's Alms-houſe.

This Alms-houſe, ſituate in Hart-ſtreet near Cripplegate, was erected by the Lord-Mayor and Citizens of London in the Year 1612, purſuant to the Will of Robert Rogers, Citizen and Leather-ſeller, Anno 1601, for ſix poor Men and their Wives, who have an Annual Allowance of four Pounds each Couple.

St. Bartholomew's Hoſpital.

See Farringdon Ward without.

The Governors of this Hoſpital judging it convenient to inlarge the ſame, cauſed the ancient Cloiſter thereof to make Way for the preſent ſtately and magnificent Structure, containing the Hall, &c. The firſt Stone whereof was laid by the Lord-Mayor, in preſence of divers Aldermen and other Governors, on the ninth of June, Anno 1730, in which was placed a Copper Plate, containing the following Inſcription.

This

This Building was begun by the voluntary Subſcription of the Governors of St. Bartholomew's Hoſpital, in the fourth Year of the Reign of King George II. Anno Dom. 1730, in the Mayoralty of Sir Richard Brocas, Knt. then Preſident of the ſaid Hoſpital.

And to ſhew the great Advantages reſulting to the Publick from this Hoſpital, by the Cure of ſo great a Number of poor, ſick and lame Objects, I ſhall ſubjoin a Septenary Account thereof; wherein will appear the Number of Patients admitted, cured and diſcharged, buried and remaining in the ſaid Hoſpital in each of the Years of the ſaid Account.

The Number of Patients in this Hoſpital and the two Lock Infirmaries thereunto belonging, on the 27th of June, Anno 1738, amounted to three hundred and ſeventy-two, and that of the Out-Patients to one hundred and ninety-eight; and the Sum Total diſburſed from Michaelmas 1728, to Michaelmas 1729, on account of the Houſe, to ten thouſand four hundred and twenty-five Pounds and ſix Shilling and eleven Pence Half-penny.

St. Peter's Hoſpital.

Comp. Regiſt.

This handſome Building, at Newington-buts, was erected by the Company of Fiſhmongers, by virtue of Letters Patent of King James I. Anno 1618, for the Reception of divers of their poor Members who had Penſions bequeathed them by the Wills of divers late Members of the Company. Thirteen of which Penſioners were Beadſmen and Women of (the Company's great Benefactor) Sir Thomas Kneſworth, who by his Will of the 13th of April, Anno 1513, deviſed them eight Pence per Week each. Sir Thomas Hunt likewiſe, by Will of the 28th of April, Anno 1615, deviſed twenty Pounds ten Shillings per Annum towards the Support of ſix antient poor Men and Women: And Richard Edmonds, by Will of the 29th of Decemb. in the Year 1620, bequeathed an annual Sum of ſix Pounds towards the Maintenance of two poor Perſons; which Number of twenty-one Penſioners, with one added by the Company, were put into this Hoſpital; and as an Addition to their Allowance, Sir John Leman, Sir John Gayer, Mr. Harper, Arthur Mouſe, and Anne Bromſgrave, by their reſpective Wills, deviſed ſeveral Sums of Money, to the Amount of twenty-eight Pounds per Annum. Each of the ſaid twenty-two Alms-People have two handſome Rooms, three Shillings per Week, fifteen Shillings at Chriſtmas, a Chaldron of Coals and a Gown yearly. And one of the Penſioners, who reads Prayers twice a Day in the Chapel, has an additional Allowance of forty Shillings per Annum.

The Hoſpital for relieving poor People afflicted with the Small-Pox, and for Inoculation.

This Hoſpital was inſtituted in the Year 1746, ſupported by a Subſcription then made by ſeveral Noblemen, Ladies and Gentlemen, who were deſirous that a Charity uſeful in itſelf, and ſo beneficial to the Publick, might be begun near this great Metropolis, there not being any Hoſpital of this Kind in Europe.

It is univerſally agreed, that amongſt all Diſtempers, to which Providence has made the Human Body liable, there is none ſo afflicting, ſo alarming, or which demands ſuch careful, ſpeedy, and continual Aſſiſtance, as the Small-Pox, to which the inferior Sort of People are at leaſt equally liable with thoſe in a higher Sphere of Life, though utterly unable to ſupport themſelves under ſo dreadful a Malady, or to procure the neceſſary Means for their Recovery.

As this Diſeaſe is ſo frightful, even in its firſt Appearance, and at the ſame Time contagious, and almoſt inevitable, Families of all Degrees are thrown into the utmoſt Confuſion, when it invades any Perſon amongſt them, let his or her Station be what it will. To keep a Servant in ſuch a Condition, is, generally ſpeaking, exceedingly inconvenient: To thruſt them out of Doors under ſuch Circumſtances, always inhumane, commonly fatal. How agreeable, therefore, muſt the Information prove to all conſiderate and charitable Perſons, that for removing theſe Difficulties, for ſecuring private Families, and for the Preſervation of the wretched Individuals labouring under this Diſeaſe, there is already eſtabliſhed

An Hoſpital for the Small-Pox.

Where Perſons of both Sexes, and of all Ages, may be carefully provided for, both as to Phyſick and Diet, and properly attended in that calamitous Condition.

As what has been ſaid ſufficiently ſhews, how well-adapted a Charity this is, in reſpect to ſuch as are afflicted with this Diſeaſe in the Natural Way; ſo the other Part of the Scheme, which has a Tendency to preſerve our Species from the Ravages of this infectious Malady, by rendering it leſs malignant and leſs deſtructive, in the Way of Inoculation, deſerves likewiſe publick Approbation and effectual Encouragement.

The Objections that have been made againſt this Practice, are founded rather in an Averſion to Novelty, however uſeful, than in an Adherence to Reaſon and Experience. The ſtrange Imputation that a well-eſtabliſhed Method of preſerving many Lives, is an Attempt upon the Prerogative of the Almighty, will make no Impreſſion upon any, who conſider that the ſame Thing may be urged againſt exhibiting Medicines at all, either ſanative or preventive, and the extraordinary Methods that are often neceſſary to be made uſe of, to ſtop the Progreſs of any particular Diſeaſe.

The Benefits of Inoculation appear every Year, by freſh Trials, greater and more certain. This dreadful, this deſtructive Diſtemper is thereby rendered mild and manageable, and becomes rather a Purgation of the Body from the latent

Seeds of an unexpected Diſeaſe, than creating a Diſeaſe itſelf: It delivers People from thoſe Apprehenſions, with which, till they have had the Small-Pox, they are always haunted. It frees them from the Objections, that are continually made to their being received into any Family, while they remain expoſed to that Diſeaſe in the Natural Way. It gives them Courage to enter into the Service of their Country, either by Land or Sea; and protects them, while in that Service, from the Riſque of being carried off, for Want of thoſe Accommodations, which Camps and Ships rarely ſupply.

To all theſe, if we add the general and great Conſideration of preſerving ſo many Lives, which may evidently ariſe from theſe different Ways of having the Diſeaſe, (for upon a general Calculation, 25 or 30 die out of 150 Patients, having the Diſtemper in the Natural Way, and one only out of this Number, when Inoculated) it will appear, that this is a Thing of very high Importance; and that it is not eaſy to name an Undertaking more laudable in itſelf, or more beneficial in its Conſequences, than the making a Proviſion, that thoſe, who really ſtand in the greateſt Need of this Preſervative, and yet from their low, though uſeful Stations in Life, are precluded from it, ſhould be reſcued from a Condition, equally injurious to them and to Society.

But as the World will be often divided in Sentiments, in Matters of ſuch a Nature; ſo by the Conſtitution of this Charity, due Care is taken, that the Intentions of ſuch well-diſpoſed Perſons, as ſhall contribute to any Branch of it, ſhall be punctually anſwered. For they may direct their Benefactions to be beſtowed upon ſuch Perſons only, as are infected with the Natural Small-Pox; or, if they judge the promoting Inoculation the more beneficial, they may confine their Gifts thereto; or, if given without any Diſtinction, it will be applied to the general Fund, both for Natural Small-Pox and for Inoculation.

To theſe Conſiderations, it is proper to add one Circumſtance, which, duly conſidered, cannot but have great Weight with all, who have any Feeling for their Fellow-Creatures in Diſtreſs; which is, that it is an Hoſpital, in Aid of all other Hoſpitals, being calculated, by its very Conſtitution, to receive thoſe miſerable Creatures, whom the Rules of all other Charities expreſly and prudentially exclude.

As this uſeful and neceſſary Charity loudly calls for further Aſſiſtance, may it not be juſtly hoped, that many pious and compaſſionate Hands will bountifully contribute to the Support Continuance, and Enlargement of a Deſign, which Reaſon, good Policy, Humanity, and Religion ſo powerfully recommend?

This Hoſpital conſiſts of two Houſes, at a due Diſtance from each other, in airy Situations.

That for preparing the Patients for Inoculation is in Old-ſtreet Road; and that for receiving them, when the Diſeaſe appears, and for the Reception of Patients in the Natural Way, is in Cold-bath-fields.

General Courts are held quarterly; Notice of which is ſent to each Governor, as well as publickly advertiſed.

Two Preſidents, four Vice-Preſidents, and a Treaſurer are annually elected out of the Governors.

A Committee of thirteen Governors is choſen Quarterly, who meet the firſt Thurſday in the Month, at nine in the Forenoon, at the Hoſpital in Cold-bath-fields, and the other Thurſdays at St. Paul's Coffee-houſe in St. Paul's Church-yard, at five in the Afternoon, to tranſact the Buſineſs of the Hoſpital, at which Meetings all Governors preſent have a Vote, and their Attendance is eſteemed a Favour.

A Phyſician and Surgeon attend without Fee, or Reward.

There are a Secretary, two Apothecaries, a Meſſenger, Matrons, proper Nurſes, &c. No Fee, Reward, or Gratuity, to be taken from any Patients, Tradeſmen, or other Perſons, on Account of the Hoſpital, on Pain of Expulſion.

Thirty Guineas conſtitutes a Governor for Life; and five Guineas per Annum, a Governor, during ſuch Subſcription. Smaller Benefactions are accepted with Gratitude.

Every Governor has a Vote at all general Courts and Committees, and is entitled to have one Patient in each Houſe at a Time. Ladies have the ſame Privilege, and may vote by Proxies, at all Elections.

The Accounts are regularly kept, and always open for Inſpection.

Every Perſon deſtitute of Friends, or Money, and labouring under this melancholy Diſeaſe, or deſirous of being inoculated, is a proper Object, being recommended by a Governor, or Subſcriber. Patients in the Natural Way are received every Day; but they ſhould firſt enquire if there is a Vacancy, to prevent the Danger and Expence of a Diſappointment for Want of Room. Thoſe for Inoculation are received from the firſt of February to the laſt Day of May, and from the firſt of September to the twentieth of December, on the Days to be appointed for that Purpoſe, and of which Notice will be from Time to Time given in the publick Papers. Recommendations will be received at all Times, and entered as preſented, and the Patients will be admitted in the Order they ſtand on the Liſt. If any Perſon omit to attend according to their Turn on the Admiſſion-Days, they will be put at the End of the Liſt; and after three ſuch Omiſſions, entirely ſtruck off. There is no Charge attending any Admiſſion, except a Depoſite of ſixteen Shillings from thoſe in the Natural Way, to anſwer the Expences of Burial in caſe of Death, to be returned to the Perſon who paid the ſame, when diſcharged the Hoſpital.

For ſake of the Patients, and for fear of ſpreading this dangerous Infection, it is neceſſary to forbid Strangers to viſit them; and therefore it is hoped that the Affection or Curioſity of particular Perſons will not be offended at this unavoidable Precaution.

Proper Dreſſes are provided for the Patients, and worn by them while in the Hoſpital; and when they are diſmiſſed, their own Cloaths are fumigated with Brimſtone, and returned to them.

St. Stephen's Hoſpital.

This Houſe, ſituate in the Wool-ſtaple at Weſtminſter, was founded by Henry VIII. Anno 1544, for for eight maimed Soldiers, who have each a convenient Room, and an Allowance of five Pounds per Annum out of the Exchequer.

St. Thomas's Hoſpital.

Stow. Sur. Lond.

This Hoſpital, which is ſituate on the Eaſt Side of the Borough of Southwark, owes its Origin to a caſual Fire that happened in that Neighbourhood in the Year 1207, which deſtroying the Priory of St. Mary Overies, the Canons erected an Hoſpital hard by for the Celebration of Divine Service, till their Monaſtery could be rebuilt; which they ſoon after accompliſhing, Peter de Rupibus, Biſhop of Wincheſter, for the greater Convenience of Air and Water, removed the ſaid Hoſpital in the Year 1215, and erected it in a Place, where Richard, Prior of Bermondſey, but two Years before, had built an Almonry, or Alms-houſe, for the Reception of indigent Children and neceſſitous Proſelytes; and having dedicated the ſame to St. Thomas the Apoſtle, endowed it with Land to the Amount of three hundred and forty-three Pounds per Annum: From which Time 'twas held of the Abbot of Bermondſey.

Stow. Sur. Lond.

Thomas Thetford, one of the ſucceeding Abbots, in the Year 1428, for a valuable Conſideration, granted to Nicholas Buckland, the Maſter of this Hoſpital, a Right to hold all the Lands, &c. that the Hoſpital were in Poſſeſſion of belonging to the ſaid Abbot and Convent, at the old Rent; which was of no great Value, as appears by its Surrender to Henry VIII. in the Year 1538, when its whole Revenue only amounted to two hundred andſixty-ſix Pounds ſeventeen Shillings and ſix Pence per Annum.

Lond. Chart.

In the Year 1551, the Mayor and Citizens of London, having purchaſed of King Edward VI. the Manor of Southwark, with its Appurtenances, for the Sum of ſix hundred and forty-ſeven Pounds two Shillings and a Penny; Part whereof being this Hoſpital, the City immediately ſet about repairing and inlarging the ſame, at the Expence of about eleven hundred Pounds; and, in the Month of November following, received into it two hundred and ſixty poor, ſick and helpleſs Objects; wherefore the King on the 26th of June, Anno 1553, incorporated this Hoſpital with thoſe of Chriſt and Bridewell, as already mentioned. See Farringdon Ward within and without.

Tho' this Hoſpital eſcaped the devouring Flames of the great Conflagration, Anno 1666, yet it ſuffered greatly in its Poſſeſſions, not only by that fatal Cataſtrophe, but likewiſe by three other great Fires, which happened in Southwark, in the Year 1676, 1681, and 1689. And as a farther Aggravation of its unhappy Circumſtances, the Building was not only old and crazy, but alſo very low, damp, and incommodious; whereby 'twas rendered very unfit for the Reception of ſuch valetudinary and diſtempered Objects: Which the Governors thereof taking into Conſideration, generouſly ſet about to rebuild the ſame by a voluntary Subſcription in the Year 1693, by the good Succeſs of which, they were not only enabled to re-edify the antient Structure, but by additional Buildings greatly to enlarge the Hoſpital; whereby it conſiſted of three beautiful Squares; to which the Governors, Anno 1732, added a magnificent new Building, conſiſting of ſeveral Wards; together with a handſome and convenient Brew-houſe, and other neceſſary Offices, at their own Expence.

Among the numerous Benefactors to this Hoſpital, none ſeems to have out-done Sir Robert Clayton, in his Donations to the ſame, by the Governors of the ſaid Hoſpitals having cauſed a Statue to be erected in Commemoration of him, in the Middle of the ſecond Court; on the North and South Sides of the Pedeſtal of which, are the following Inſcriptions:

"Roberto Claitono, Equiti, in Agro Northamptonienſi nato, Civi Londinenſi, & Urbis Prætori, hujus Noſocomii Præſidi, novi Pauperum Ergaſtuli Vice-præſidi, & Fautori benefico. Quod in Magiſtratu ſemper æquus, Patriæ, Libertatis & Fidei reformatæ Vindex fuit acerrimus. Quod præter alia Liberalitatis ſuæ erga Egenos Monumenta, Puellarum in Chriſti Orphanotrophis Cubiculum ſuis ſumptibus extrui curavit: Quod ad hanc Domum reficiendam, Libras primum DC. erogavit vivus, & inſuper MMCCC. Teſtamento legavit: Ob tanta Viri Merita, hanc Statuam, quam Honoris cauſa viventi poſuerant Noſocomii Curatores An. Dom. MDCCI. in Memoriam Mortui decoraverunt, An. Dom. MDCCXIV."

"To Sir Robert Clatton, Knight, born in Northamptonſhire, Citizen and Lord-Mayor of London, Preſident of this Hoſpital, and Vice-preſident of the new Workhouſe, and a bountiful Benefactor to it; a juſt Magiſtrate, and brave Defender of the Liberty and Religion of his Country. Who (beſides many other Inſtances of his Charity to the Poor) built the Girls Ward in Chriſt's Hoſpital, gave firſt toward the Rebuilding of this Houſe 600 l. and left by his laſt Will 2300 l. to the Poor of it. This Statue was erected in his Life-time by the Governors, An. Dom. MDCCI. as a Monument of their Eſteem of ſo much Worth; and to preſerve his Memory after Death, was by them beautified, Anno Dom. MDCCXIV."

Tho' there was no Eſtate belonging to this Hoſpital, when the City purchaſed the ſame; yet, by the great Munificence of the Citizens, the annual Diſburſements thereof have of late amounted to near eight thouſand Pounds; as will appear by the under-mentioned Account.

And to ſhew the Benefit ariſing to the Nation from this Hoſpital, by the Cure of ſo great a Number of poor, ſick and lame Objects of Compaſſion, I ſhall ſubjoin a Septenary Account thereof; wherein will be ſhewn the Number of Patients admitted, cured and diſcharged, buried, and remaining in this Hoſpital, in each Year of the ſaid Septenary Account.

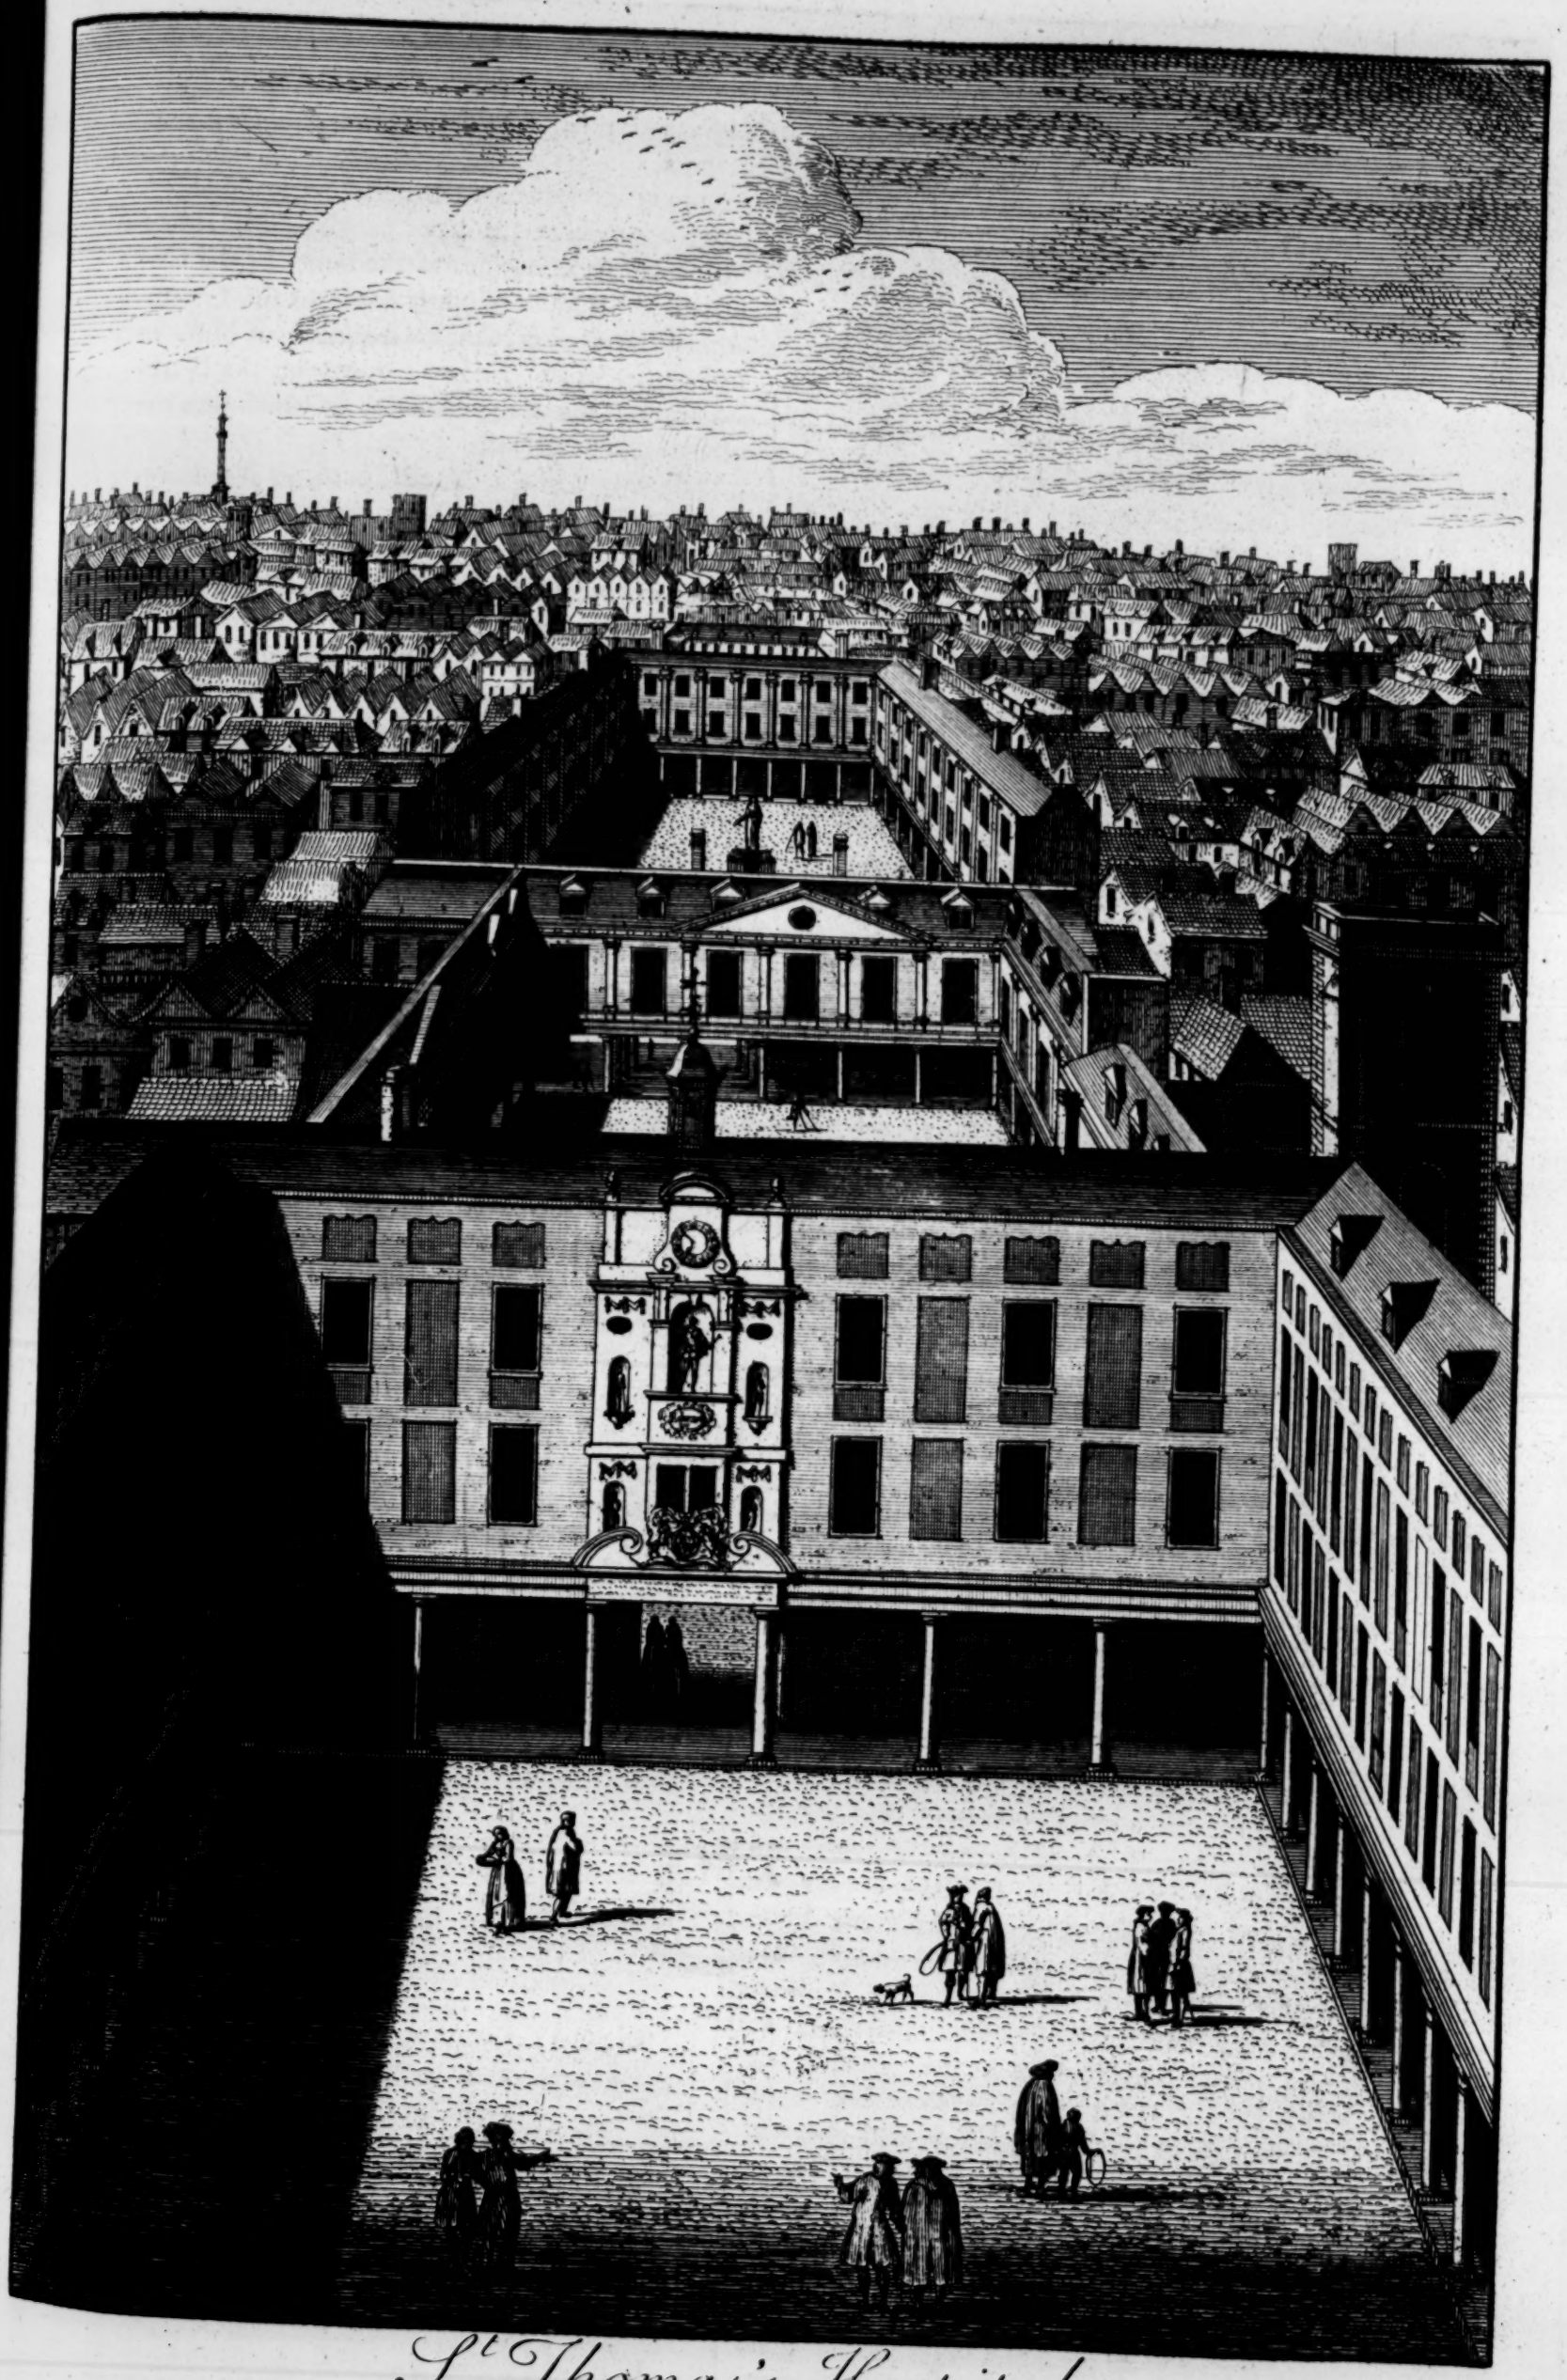
The Number of Patients in this Hoſpital, on the 27th of June 1738, amounted to four hundred and forty-eight; and that of the Out-Patients, to two hundred and eighty-five; and the Sum



S.t Thomas's Hospital.

Sum Total diſburſed on account of the Houſe in the Year 1728, amounted to 7656 l. 11 s. 1½ d.

The Number of Governors in this, like thoſe of the other City Hoſpitals, being unlimited, it is therefore uncertain. They chooſe their Officers and Servants, both Men and Women; who are a Preſident, Treaſurer, three Phyſicians, three Surgeons, a Clerk, Receiver, Apothecary, Steward, Chaplain, (beſide the Miniſter of the Pariſh, who is paid by the Hoſpital) Matron, Brewer and Butler, Cook, Aſſiſtant and Servant, an Aſſiſtant-Clerk in the Compting-houſe, two Porters, four Beadles, nineteen Sifters, nineteen Nurſes, nineteen Watch-women, a Chapel-Clerk and Sexton, and one Watchman. To which I ſhall add, that the Houſe contains nineteen Wards, and four hundred and ſeventy four Beds.

Scots Corporation.

Account Scot. Corp.

The Orgin of this Corporation is owing to James Kinnier, a Scotſman, and Merchant of this City; who, after a long and dangerous Sickneſs, determined to give Part of his Eſtate toward the Relief of the aged and neceſſitous Poor of his Country, within the Cities of London and Weſtminſter. And having prevailed with a Society of his Countrymen, intereſted in a Box Club, to join their Stock, applied for a Charter, by which he and his Coadjutors were on the third of Sep. 1665, conſtituted a Body Politick and Corporate, with divers conſiderable Privileges; which were confirmed by Letters Patent of the ſaid Prince, of the 16th November, Anno 1666, wherein are recited the Privileges granted in the former Charter, viz. That they might erect an Hoſpital within the City, or Liberties of Weſtminſter, by the Appellation of The Scots Hoſpital of King Charles the Second; to be governed by eight Scotſmen, Inhabitants of the Cities of London and Weſtminſter, or Liberties thereof. Theſe Governors were to chuſe from among themſelves a Maſter; which Maſter and Governors were declared to be a Body Politick and Corporate, with a Right of ſuing and being ſued, &c. to have a common Seal, and a Licence to purchaſe in Mortmain Lands, Tenements, &c. which were confirmed by the new Letters Patent, as aforeſaid, with theſe additional Privileges, viz. To erect their Hoſpital either in the Cities of London or Weſtminſter, or Liberties thereof. And beſide the above-mentioned eight Governors, they were impowered to elect thirty-three Aſſiſtants; and alſo to purchaſe in Mortmain four hundred Pounds per Annum, over and above the annual Sum mentioned in the firſt Charter. And the Profits ariſing from ſuch Lands, &c. to be employed in relieving poor old Scots Men and Women, and inſtructing and employing poor Scottiſh Orphans, or the Deſcendants of Scotſmen within this City, &c.

Ibid.

The good Work thus far advanced, had like to have been cruſhed in the Bud, by two very dreadful Events, viz. the Plague and Fire of London; which happened in the Years wherein their Charters were granted. However, thoſe Storms were no ſooner blown over, than thoſe in the Direction began, in the Year 1670, to proſecute the Work with freſh Vigor; wherein they ſucceeded ſo well, that they found themſelves not only in a Condition to provide for their Poor, but took a Leaſe of a Piece of Ground in Black-friars, to build upon; for the Term of a thouſand Years, at a Ground-rent of forty Pounds per Annum. And by charitable Contributions were enabled to erect their Hall, with two Houſes at Fleet-ditch, and four in Black-friars, all of which (except that for the Beadle) were finiſhed in the Year 1672, at the Expence of about four thouſand four hundred and fifty Pounds. All Matters relating to the Corporation are not only managed by the Governors without Fee, or Reward; but on all ſuch Occaſions, they not only ſpend their own Money, but likewiſe contribute quarterly for the Support of the Society, and Relief of the Poor; to the reduced and aged of whom they grant Penſions, relieve the Sick, bury the Dead, and give Money to ſuch as are diſpoſed to return to their Country. The Officers belonging to this Corporation, are, a Treaſurer, Regiſter, two Stewards and a Beadle; and the Sum annually diſburſed by the Society is about ſix hundred Pounds.

Sea-Officers Widows.

The Lords Commiſſioners of the Admiralty, having taken into Conſideration the deplorable Condition to which many poor Widows of Officers of the Royal Navy of Great-Britain were reduced to by the Death of their reſpective Huſbands; and for whoſe Support no Proviſion has hitherto been made: For the remedying of which, their Lordſhips propoſed both to the Commiſſioned and Half-pay Officers of the Navy, to enter into a voluntary Agreement of granting three Pence in the Pound out of their Pay, toward eſtabliſhing a Fund, (together with the Benefactions of well-diſpoſed Perſons) for allowing Penſions to ſuch of their Widows, as ſhall be left in mean Circumſtances.

To this Propoſal, the ſaid Officers readily aſſenting, the Lords Commiſſioners aforeſaid repreſented the whole Affair in a Memorial to his preſent Majeſty; who was graciouſly pleaſed to promote and encourage ſo good a Work, by his Letters Patent of the 30th of Auguſt, Anno 1732, directing that three Pence in the Pound be deducted from the Pay and Half-pay of all Commiſſion and Warrant-Officers of the Navy; and to appoint the Lords Commiſſioners of the Admiralty, or Lord High Admiral for the Time being, the Treaſurer, Commiſſioners, Paymaſter and Caſhier of the Navy for the Time being, twenty Captains, ten Lieutenants, five Maſters, five Boatſwains, five Gunners, five Carpenters, five Purſers, and five Surgeons of the Navy (which ſeveral Officers are to be the eldeſt of their reſpective Stations) who are conſtituted Governors of this Corporation; out of whom, are appointed a Preſident, two Vice-preſidents, a a Treaſurer, and fifteen Aſſiſtants, as a Committee, for the Management of all the Affairs belonging to this Charity.

The Lord High Admiral, or the firſt Commiſſioner of the Admiralty, to be always the Preſident; and the Treaſurer of the Navy, to be always the Treaſurer; but the two Vice-preſidents, and fifteen Aſſiſtants, are to be elected annually. And by the laudable Orders made by this generous Corporation, no Officer, or Servant employed therein, ſhall receive any Salary, Reward, ward, nor Gratuity; the whole Buſineſs thereof being to be tranſacted gratis.

The firſt Step taken by the Governors of this Charity, was, to provide for ſuch Widows whoſe Huſbands died ſince the Date of the aforeſaid Letters Patent; who in the firſt Year amounted to twenty-four in Number, to whom Penſions were allowed, according to the following Regulations: viz. To the Widow of a Captain, 45 l. per Annum. To the Widow of a Lieutenant, or Maſter, 30 l. And to the Widow of a Boatſwain, Gunner, Carpenter, Purſer, Surgeon, ſecond Maſter of a Yacht, or Maſter of a Naval Veſſel appointed by the Navy Board, twenty Pounds per Annum.

And the Lords Commiſſioners aforeſaid, commiſerating the unhappy Circumſtances of many poor Widows, whoſe Huſbands died before the Eſtabliſhment of the Corporation, therefore could receive no Benefit from that Fund; which was wholly appropriated for the Relief of ſuch poor Widows of Officers, who had paid towards the Support thereof; the annual Produce of which, upon a Medium, did not exceed twelve hundred Pounds: Wherefore the ſaid Commiſſioners renewed their Application to his Majeſty; who was graciouſly pleaſed to recommend their Caſe to the Parliament; who thereupon granted, "That one Seaman be allowed upon the Books of every Ship of War in the Sea Pay, in every hundred Men that its Complement ſhall conſiſt of; and that the Produce of the Wages of ſuch Seamen, and Value of their Victuals, be given and applied towards the Relief of poor Widows of Commiſſion and Warrant Officers of the Royal Navy, according to ſuch Rules, Orders, and Regulations, as his Majeſty hath, or ſhall eſtabliſh and appoint for that Purpoſe."

The Number of Widows, at preſent provided for by this Charity, are about ſeven hundred.

Sion College Alms-houſe.

Read. Stat. Sion. Coll.

This Alms-houſe, under the Library of Sion College, conſiſting of twenty Rooms, for the Entertainment of ſo many poor old Men and Women, was, together with the College, founded by the Will of Thomas White, D. D. of the 1ſt of October, Anno 1623, who thereby endowed the ſame with one hundred and twenty Pounds per Annum.

Of the Penſioners, ſix are preſented by St. Dunſtan's in the Weſt; two, by that of St. Gregory's; eight by the Company of Merchant-Taylors; and four by the City of Briſtol.

See Cripplegate Ward.

Smith's Alms-houſe.

This Houſe, ſituate on St. Peter's-hill near Thames-ſtreet, was founded by David Smith, Embroiderer to Queen Elizabeth, in the Year 1584, and conſiſts of ſix Rooms, for the Habitation of ſo many poor Widows, turned of fifty-ſix Years. But the ſame being deſtroyed in the great Conflagration, Anno 1666, it was rebuilt by Sir Thomas Fitch, and the Charge thereof committed to Chriſt's Hoſpital; from which the Penſioners annually receive twenty-nine Shillings and four Pence each. But an Addition being made to this Foundation, by the Daughter of the Founder, they receive yearly from the Company of Embroiderers, an Augmentation of four and thirty Shillings and ſix Pence each.

Southampton's Alms-houſe.

This Houſe, which ſtands near Monmouth-ſtreet, was, with a Piece of Ground adjoining, (now built upon) granted by Leaſe to the Pariſh of St. Giles in the Fields, by the Earl of Southampton, in the Year 1656, for the Uſe of the Poor, for a Term of five hundred Years. And towards the Support of the poor Inhabitants, (being twenty in Number) Henry Carter, in the Year 1674, gave the Sum of fifty Pounds; the Profits whereof to be diſtributed among them; which, with the Produce of the Ground aforeſaid, ſeems to yield but a ſmall Income; for each of the poor Women have only an Allowance of two Pounds eight Shillings, and twelve Buſhels of Coals yearly; and out of the Lady Dudley's Gift, at Chriſtmas and Whitſuntide, twenty Shillings.

Sprat's Alms-houſe.

This Houſe, ſituate in College Church-yard, Deadman's Place, in Southwark, was founded by Henry Sprat, Anno 1709, for two poor old Men, with an Allowance of four Pounds per Annum each.

Spurſtowe's Alms-houſe.

This Houſe, which ſtands in Back-lane, Hackney, was founded by William Spurſtowe (ſome time Rector of that Pariſh) in the Year 1666, who dying before it was endowed, his Brother, Henry, ſettled Lands thereon, to pay to each of the ſix poor Widows therein four Pounds per Annum.

Stafford's Alms-houſe.

This Houſe of Charity, which is ſituate at the lower End of Gray's-Inn-lane, was founded by Alexander Stafford, Eſq; Anno 1633, for four poor Men and ſix Women; who, beſides a good Room each, have an Allowance of ſix Pounds and half a Chaldron of Coals yearly, and a Coat and Gown every other Year.

Trinity Hoſpital.

The Ground whereon this Hoſpital ſtands, at Mile-end, was given to the Corporation of the Trinity, by Captain Henry Mudd, an Elder Brother, and the beautiful Building thereon erected by the Fraternity in the Year 1695, for the Reception of twenty-eight decayed Maſters of Ships, or their Widows; each of whom receive ſixteen Shillings per Month, twenty Shillings for Coals yearly, and a Gown every ſecond Year.

Underwood's Alms-houſe.

This Houſe was at firſt erected at the Weſt End of the Rectory Houſe of St. Botolph's, Biſhopſgate, by one Mr. Underwood, for the Habitation of ſixteen poor old Women. But Petty France being rebuilt and converted into New Broad-ſtreet, &c. this Alms-houſe, with that of Alleyn's adjoining, in the Year 1730, were forced to make way to the new Paſſage leading to Biſhopſgate-ſtreet. Wherefore a new Building was erected in Lamb-alley, in the ſaid Pariſh, for the Accommodation of the ſaid poor Women; who are only allowed two Shillings and ſix Pence per Month each.

Vintners Alms-houſe.

This Houſe, which ſtands on the North Side of Mile-end Road, was founded by the Company of of Vintners, for the Uſe of twelve Widows of deceaſed Members; who receive three Shillings per Week each, a Chaldron of Coals, and about forty Shillings at certain Times, yearly.

Walters's Alms-houſe.

This Alms-houſe, ſituate at the lower End of Blackman-ſtreet in Southwark, was founded by John Walters, Citizen and Draper, in the Year 1651, for four poor Men, and eight poor Women; who receive five Shillings per Month each, half a Chaldron of Coals yearly, and ten Shillings on every New-year's-day; now removed to the S. E. Side of the new Road leading from Weſtminſter Bridge to Blackman-ſtreet.

Walters's Alms-houſe.

This houſe, ſituate in Newington-butts, was founded by the above-named John Walters, Anno 1651, for ſixteen poor Men and Women; who have each an Allowance of five Shillings per Month, half a Chaldron of Coals, and ten Shillings on every New-year's-day.

Walters's Alms-houſe.

This Alms-houſe, which ſtands in Old-ſtreet, was founded in the Year 1658, by the aforeſaid John Walters, for eight poor Widows; who have each an Allowance of five Shillings per Month, and half a Chaldron of Coals yearly at Chriſtmas.

Watſon's Alms-houſe.

This Houſe, ſituate near Shoreditch in Old-ſtreet, was erected chiefly at the Charge of William Watſon, Citizen and Weaver, for the Widows of twelve Weavers; who receive twenty Shillings, and twenty-four Buſhels of Coals annually, and a Gown every ſecond Year.

Whitcher's Alms-houſe.

This Alms-houſe, ſituate at Tothill-ſide, was founded by George Whitcher, in the Year 1683, for ſix poor old Perſons, with an Allowance of five Pounds, and a Gown each, yearly.

Whittington's Alms-houſe.

Stow. Sur. Lond. Sir Richard Whittington, thrice Mayor of this City, about the Year 1413, founded a College on the North Side of the Church of St. Michael Pater-Noſter, for a Maſter, four Fellows, Clerks, Choiriſts, &c. together with an Alms-houſe for thirteen poor Men; one whereof to be Tutor, with a Salary of ſixteen Pence per Week; and the twelve others, fourteen Pence each, with neceſſary Proviſions. Notwithſtanding the Diſſolution of this College by Act of Parliament, in the Reign of Edward the ſixth; the Alms-houſe, ſituate upon College-hill, ſtill remains under the Direction of the Company of Mercers; who, beſides a handſome Room to each of the Penſioners, allow them three Shillings and ten Pence per Week; and the Men every third Year Coats and Breeches, and the Women Gowns and Petticoats.

Wood's Alms-houſe.

This Alms-houſe, adjoining to that of Gibſon, at Ratcliff, was founded by Toby Wood, of Lincoln's-Inn, Eſq; Anno 1613, for ſix decayed Coopers; who have an Allowance of ſix Pounds per Annum, and thirty Buſhels of Coals each.

Wood's Alms-houſe.

This Houſe, which ſtands on the Eaſt Side of Clapton in the Pariſh of Hackney, was founded by Thomas Wood, Biſhop of Litchfield and Coventry, for ten poor ancient Widows; with an Allowance of five Pounds per Annum each, and a Gown every other Year.

Young's Alms-houſe.

This Alms-houſe, ſituate in College Church-yard, Southwark, was founded by Henry Young, in the Year 1694, for two poor Women; with an Allowance of one Shilling per Week each.

Hopton's Alms-houſes.

Theſe Houſes, ſituate in the Pariſh of Chriſt's Church, Surrey, were founded by Charles Hopton, Eſq; who died Anno 1730; the poor Men were firſt choſen in Anno 1732; the Miniſter and two Church-Wardens for the Time being, together with ten other Gentlemen, are the Truſtees for managing this Charity; the Number of poor Men is twenty-ſix, the Allowance to each Man, is 10 l. per Ann. paid Monthly, and a Chaldron of Coals, with a lower and upper Room for each Man; the Alms-houſes are a very neat, handſome and ſpacious Building; the Objects to be admitted, muſt be Men who have been Houſe-keepers and come to decay.

Edwards's Alms-houſes.

Theſe Alms-houſes, in the ſaid Pariſh, were built and endowed by the Truſtees of Mr. Edward Edwards, Citizen and Maſon of London, who directed that each Perſon to be choſen therein ſhould have an Allowance of 40 s. per Ann. and once in two Years a purple Gown of twenty Shillings Value; he directs that the poor People to be choſen, ſhall be poor Perſons belonging to that Pariſh, and who do not receive any Alms or Penſion from that or any other Pariſh, each poor Perſon to have one Room only.

Weſtby's Alm-houſes

Were founded by Mrs. Mary Weſtbey of Bocking in Eſſex, Widow, for ten poor Women, on Hoxton Cauſeway, A. D. 1749, and left them in the Diſpoſal of nine Truſtees.

The Jews Hoſpital called Beth-Holim.

The Hoſpital was founded in 1748 by Subſcription. Beth-Holim, ſignifies a Houſe for the Relief of the Sick. It is confined to no Number; but about 120 yearly, and Medicines and Advice are diſpenſed gratis; it is maintained by a certain Sum allowed by the Synagogue, and private Contributions of all Perſons whatſoever, amounting to about 500 l. per. Ann. They likewiſe have a Ward aſſigned for poor Lying-in Women.

To the ſeveral Charities above ſpecified, I ſhall only add the annual Sum of one thouſand Pounds, given by the King toward the Relief of poor Houſe-keepers within this City and Suburbs, in the Rigor of Winter. Which Sum, (by his Majeſty's Letters Exhortatory to the Lord-Mayor and Biſhop of this City, for making Collections in the ſeveral Pariſhes within the Bill of Mortality for the ſame Purpoſe) by the Contributions of the Citizens, &c. made in the Year 1735, was increaſed to one thouſand ſix hundred and ninety-ſix Pounds ſeventeen Shillings and five Pence; which being re-iſſued by the Chamberlain of London, it was proportionably divided among the ſeveral Pariſhes within this City and Suburbs, and by the ſeveral Church-Wardens and Overſeers of the Poor thereof diſtributed amongſt the Families moſt neceſſitous; which probably were five hundred in Number.

Rec. Chamb. Lond.

The Number of Perſons contained in the ſeveral Hoſpitals and Alms-houſes above-mentioned, together with the Children put forth Apprentices by the Money collected at the Feaſt, &c. of the Sons of the Clergy, and the ſeveral poor Families that participate of the King's annual Charity, &c. amount in the whole to upwards of eight thouſand; and the Sum Total employed toward their Relief, to ſeventy-eight thouſand five hundred and nineteen Pounds one Shilling and two Pence.

There are in this City and Suburbs Societies, both of Men and Women, (which are very numerous) denominated Box Clubs, for the Relief and mutual Support of the poorer Sort of Artiſans, during Sickneſs, or other Incapacity, whereby they are rendered incapable of getting their Bread.

Theſe Clubs, erected by mutual Conſent, are ſupported by an amicable Contribution of two, three, or more Pence per Week, by each Member; who weekly or monthly meet at a certain Ale-houſe, where they ſpend two Pence or three Pence each; and wherein they have Orders for their better Regulation, and a ſtrong Box, or Cheſt, with divers Locks, for the Conſervation of their Books, Caſh, &c.

The Advantages ariſing to the ſeveral Members of the reſpective Clubs, are, that every Member, when ſick of lame, whereby he's rendered incapable of working, during his Illneſs, or Incapacity, receives a certain Sum of Money per Week; provided his Indiſpoſition does not proceed from a Venereal Cauſe; in which Caſe, he is not intitled to any Benefit from the Society.

And when any of the Members die, there is not only a Sum of Money allowed by the Society for the Buryings of ſuch Members, but likewiſe the Widows, or Nominees of ſuch deceaſed Members, receive from the Society the Sum of five, ten, or more Pounds.

And for preventing all Frauds and Impoſitions upon any of the ſaid Societies, all Perſons that are detected of working, during the Time of their being ſupported by the Box, are immediately, upon Conviction, expelled the Club.

Theſe great and numerous Societies, which conſiſt of may thouſands of Members, are a very great Eaſe to the ſeveral Pariſhes of this City and Suburbs; by ſupporting ſo great a Number of their poor diſeaſed Members, which otherwiſe muſt be maintained by the ſaid Pariſhes, at the Expence of many thouſands of Pounds per Ann.

Having treated of the ſeveral Hoſpitals, Alms-houſes, &c. within the Bill of Mortality, I ſhall now give ſome Account of the Parochial Work-houſes.

The numerous Impoſitions of the lazy, indolent and vicious Poor of this City and Suburbs, upon the generous and well-diſpoſed Citizens, occaſioned the Inhabitants of the Middleſex Liberty (now the Pariſh of St. Luke in Old-ſtreet) of St. Giles's, Cripplegate, in the Year 1724, to erect a Work-houſe for the Reception of the Poor of their Liberty.

By which Proceeding, their Poors Rate, which before amounted to three Shillings in the Pound, upon the Rents of all Houſes, was thereby reduced to two Shillings.

This put divers Pariſhes and Liberties in this City and Suburbs, upon erecting Work-houſes; which became general, not only within the Bill of Mortality, but alſo in the circumjacent Pariſhes, and many others in divers Parts of the Kingdom.

Though theſe parochial Nurſeries are denominated by the harſh Appellation of Work-houſes, yet the Taſks therein are ſo very eaſy, that they may more properly be termed Recreations than Labour. And in many of the ſaid Houſes, the Adults have no other Buſineſs than that of looking after the Children. They are plentifully provided with good Proviſions, warm and clean Apparel, Beds, good Fires, and all the Neceſſaries of Life.

The Fare in the Workhouſe of St. Margaret's, Weſtminſter, may ſerve as a Specimen of their Manner of Living will not be denied by any impartial Judge; eſpecially conſidering, that the very beſt and fineſt of the firſt is brought from Holland, and other Countries, for our Uſe; and the choiceſt and moſt valuable Flaxen and Grey human Hairs, (which the Inhabitants of the Countries from whence they come, cannot afford to wear) of which the ſecond are made, are imported from Germany, France, Spain, Holland, Sweden, Denmark, and all other Countries of Europe. And as to the laſt, the Difference between ours and theirs ſeems to be neareſt to that of Beaver and Wool.

And the Women, rather than come ſhort of the Men in Luxury, out-do them, in the Richneſs of their Silks, Cambricks and Lace of an exorbitant Price. And Servant Maids dreſs in ſo rich and handſome a Manner, that it is hard to diſtinguiſh many of them from Perſons of Fortune.

The modern Diverſions uſed by the Inhabitants of this City and Suburbs, are, that the principal Part of them in Summer, deveſting themſelves of urbanick Cares, repair to their fine Country Seats, and Gardens, where the Beauties of Nature diſplay themſelves, amidſt the glorious Harmony of a rural Choir. Whilſt others reſort to Bath, Tunbridge, Scarborough, and other Places of Gaiety and Pleaſure.

Many of the Citizens take Delight in Sailing, Rowing, Swiming, and Fiſhing in the River Thames, &c. whilſt others in the circumjacent Fields, Bowling-greens, &c. divert themſelves with Horſe and Foot-races, Riding, Leaping, Wreſtling, Cricket, Archery, Cudgels, Coits, Bowling, Skittles, Nine-pins, and Bull and Bear-baiting: And ſuch as delight in Blood repair to ſee the barbarous Performances of Prize-fighters, whom Neceſſity (occaſioned by a ſcandalous Lazineſs and Indolence) induces to expoſe themſelves to be horribly mangled for a little Money; when the bloodily-inclined Spectators may ſatiate themſelves with human Gore, to the great Reproach of Religion. And others, within Doors, play at Billiards, Cheſs, Draughts, Shuffle-board, Cards, Dice, &c. and ſuch as delight in Walking, beſides the pleaſant and beautiful Fields, which incircle London, have nine delightful publick Walks, within the City and Suburbs, for their Recreation.

The Citizens, during the Winter Seaſon, divert themſelves with Hunting, Hawking, Shooting, Tennis, Sliding, Scating, Foot-ball-playing, &c. by Day; and the nocturnal Diverſions are Billiards, Cheſs, Draughts, Shuffle-board, Cards, Dice, Operas, Tragedies and Comedies, in Engliſh, Italian and French; the Charge of the three laſt, by the beſt Calculation, amounts to upwards of ſixty thouſand Pounds per Ann.

The barbarous Diverſion of Cock-fighting is ſtill continued in this City, with an Addition by the Populace of a Practice much more cruel, viz. the throwing at Cocks, with large Sticks, and the utmoſt Barbarity.

Not much unlike the above, is the deteſtable Practice of Duck-hunting.

Beſides the Diverſions and Cruelties above-mentioned, great Numbers of muſical Gentlemen have formed themſelves into divers Societies, and meet once a Week at certain Taverns fit for their Purpoſe; where they, with the utmoſt Dexterity, perform upon a great Variety of Inſtruments, (aſſiſted by ſome of the beſt Voices) to numerous Audiences of their Friends. Beſides which, there are many publick Concerts of Muſick, in divers Parts of the City and Suburbs, for the Entertainment of the Curious in that Way. Therefore it may juſtly be ſaid, that no City whatſoever is ſo well ſupplied with the choiceſt of Muſick, both vocal and inſtrumental, as this is, nor with Plays of all Sorts.

Add to the aforeſaid Entertainments, that this City is continually ſupplied with a great Variety of Birds, Beaſts, Fiſhes, Monſters, and other Curioſities, both of Art and Nature, from all Parts of the terraqueous Globe, to ſatisfy the Curioſity of the Citizens; who are more profuſe of their Money in ſeeing Rarities, than any other People whatſoever; as may juſtly be inferred from the great Number inceſſantly brought hither from all Parts.

BOOK VII.

Containing the Hiſtory, Antiquities and Government of Weſtminſter, both Eccleſiaſtical and Civil; with a Deſcription of the ſeveral Pariſhes, and other Things remarkable within the City and Liberty thereof.

CHAP. I.

An Account of the Foundation of the Abbey of Weſtminſter, with the Conſtruction of the preſent Church.

THE Foundation of Weſtminſter Abbey has been handed to us by many fabulous Accounts, invented by the Monks for private Views: One of their pious Frauds was to palm it upon St. Peter, the Prince of the Apoſtles. This is the Invention of Abbot Wulfine, in the Reign of Edward the Confeſſor. Another refers it to the imaginary Reign of King Lucius. In this Uncertainty we can determine no more than adhere to thoſe Writers who place its Foundation by Sebert, on the Ruins of a Temple dedicated by the Heathen Saxons to Apollo.

The Place where this magnificent and ſtately Structure and City is ſituate, was anciently an Iſland, which, from its being over-ſpread with Thorns, received the Appellation of Thorney, or The Iſland of Thorns; and the Branch of the River which ſurrounded the ſame, now denominated Long-ditch, had its Outflux from the River

River Thames, near the East End of Manchester-court, Channel-row; and interſecting King's-ſtreet, glided along where Gardiner's-lane is ſituate, to Longditch (a Street ſo called, wherein the Name of this antient Watercourſe is ſtill preſerved); and croſſing Tothill-ſtreet, a little Weſt of the Gate-houſe, continued its Courſe along the South Wall of the Abbey Garden, to the Thames, where now the Common Sewer is, which was erected over it.

This Monaſtery, like moſt others of the Kingdom, being deſtroyed by the cruel Ravages and Depredations of the Pagan Danes, it was rebuilt by King Edgar, who not only endowed the ſame with divers Lands and Manors, but likewiſe, by his Charter, Anno 969, granted it many ample Privileges.

Chart. Edgar. in Bibl. Cot.

This Church being again reduced to very great Extremities by Daniſh Cruelties, it was reſtored to a much more flouriſhing Condition than ever, by King Edward the Confeſſor. Appropriating for that Purpoſe one tenth of his Eſtate both real and perſonal; and pulling down the ſmall and ruinous Building, erected in its ſtead a handſome Structure; and ſummoning his Miniſters and Nobility, cauſed it to be conſecrated on the 28th of December, Anno 1065, with the greateſt Pomp and Solemnity; and by ſeveral Charters, not only confirmed all its ancient Rights and Privileges, but likewiſe endowed the ſame with many rich Manors, and additional Immunities, viz. Sac and Soc, Thol and Theam, Infangtheof, Gritbrich, Hamſoken, Pontage, Murage and Forſtal. And that all the Lands, Tenements and Poſſeſſions thereunto belonging, in London and elſewhere, ſhould be exempt from all Juriſdiction whatſoever, other than that of their own; and the Convent to be free from the Authority of the Biſhop of London; and the Church thereof, by the Bull of Pope Nicholas the Second, conſtituted a Place for the Inauguration of the Kings of England. And by the ſaid Edward's Charter of Sanctuary, it became not only an Aſylum for Bankrupts, &c. but likewiſe a Refuge for Traitors, Murderers, Thieves, and the moſt abandon'd Miſcreants, who were ſuffered to live there in Impunity, and open Defiance of Juſtice, to the great Reproach of the pretended Confeſſor. However, the great Immunities in the following Charter, drew People from all Parts; which occaſioned the Refugees to increaſe ſo faſt, that there was not Room ſufficient in the Abbey Church for the Accommodation of the numerous Inhabitants without incommoding the Monks; wherefore Edward cauſed a Church to be erected on the North Side of the Monaſtery, for the Uſe of the Inhabitants, and dedicated the ſame to St. Margaret.

This Abbey, according to divers modern Hiſtorians and Surveyors of London, was denominated Weſtminſter, to diſtinguiſh it from the Abbey of Grace on Tower-hill, called Eaſtminſter: But that this is a very great Miſtake, is manifeſt by the Charter granted to the former by Edward the Confeſſor in the Year 1066, whereas the latter was not founded till Anno 1359; the Appellation of Weſtminſter was given to diſtinguiſh it from the Church of St. Paul in the City of London.

Edward's Charter of Sanctuary to Weſtminſter.

Stow. Sur. Lond.

"Edward, by the Grace of God, King of Engliſhmen; I make it to be known to all Generations of the World after me, that, by ſpecial Commandment of our holy Father Pope Leo, I have renewed and honoured the holy Church of the bleſſed Apoſtle St. Peter of Weſtminſter; and I order and eſtabliſh for ever, that what Perſon, of what Condition or Eſtate ſoever he be, from whence-ever he come, or for what Offence or Cauſe it be, flying for his Refuge into the ſaid holy Place, he be aſſured of his Life, Liberty and Limbs. And over this, I forbid, under Pain of everlaſting Damnation, that no Miniſter of mine, or of my Succeſſors, intermeddle them with any the Goods, Lands, or Poſſeſſions of the ſaid Perſons, taking the ſaid Sanctuary. For I have taken their Goods and Livelode into my ſpecial Protection.

And therefore I grant to every and each of them, in as much as my terreſtrial Power may ſuffice, all manner of Freedom of joyous Liberty. And whoſoever preſumes, or doth contrary to this my Graunt, I will he loſe his Name, Worſhip, Dignity and Power; and that with the great Traytor Judas, that betrayed our Saviour, he be in the everlaſting Fire of Hell. And I Will and Ordayne, that this my Grant endure as long as there remayneth in England eyther Love, or Dread of Chriſtian Name."

William the Conqueror, out of the great Veneration he bore to the Memory of his late dear Friend Edward, no ſooner arrived in London, than he repaired to this Church, where he offered a ſumptuous Pall as a Covering to his Shrine, and fifty Marks of Silver, together with a very rich Altar-Cloth and two Caſkets of Gold; and the Chriſtmas Day following was ſolemnly crowned therein. This being the firſt Coronation ſolemnized in this Place, I ſhall, for the Satisfaction of the Reader, inſert an Account thereof.

The Day of Coronation being come, Aldred, Archbiſhop of York, who was appointed to perform the Ceremony, in a ſhort, but handſome Speech, aſked the Engliſh then preſent, whether they were willing to have the Duke crowned as King of England; to which they unanimouſly aſſenting, the Biſhop of Conſtance addreſſed himſelf to the Normans to the ſame Effect, which they readily agreed to. William thus elected, the Archbiſhop put the Crown upon his Head, and placed him on the Throne in preſence of the Nobility, Clergy, &c. where he took an Oath to the ſame Effect with that of the Engliſh Saxon Kings, viz. That he would protect the holy Church and its Governors, that is, the Biſhops: That he would govern his People juſtly and prudently: That he would ordain and keep right Law, and ſtrictly forbid all Rapines and unjuſt Judgments. To which an eminent Hiſtorian adds, That he would behave himſelf mercifully towards his Subjects, and govern both Engliſh and French with equal Impartiality. Hence it is obſervable, that William, inſtead of claiming as a Conqueror, accepted the Crown upon the ſame Terms as his Predeceſſors the Saxon Kings.

During the Coronation, the Horſe and Foot Guards, which were poſted round the Church to ſecure the Solemnity, miſtaking the Acclamations within for a ſudden Tumult, raſhly ſet Fire to the neighbouring Houſes; but what the Event was, my Author does not mention.

William was a great Benefactor to this Abbey, for, by no leſs than ſixteen Charters, he not only confirmed all their ancient Rights and Immunities, but alſo granted them greater Privileges and additional Revenues.

In the Year 1189, Richard the Firſt was crowned in this Church with the utmoſt Pomp and Magnificence, and though it undoubtedly was the moſt ſumptuous Coronation of any till that Time ſolemnized in this Kingdom; yet it would have been much more glorious, had it not been ſtained with a barbarous Maſſacre and Robbery of the Jews; as has been related, Book I. Ch. VII.

Henry the Third erected a Chapel at the Eaſt End of the ſame; the firſt Stone of which he laid in the Year 1221, and dedicated it to the Virgin Mary.

Mat. Par. Hiſt. Angl.

Some Time after, Henry being informed of the great Decay of the ſaid Church and Steeple, cauſed the whole to be taken down, in order to rebuild the ſame in a more ſpacious and magnificent Manner; and after a great Expence and Labour of twenty-ſeven Years, having only carried on the Work of this magnificent Fabrick one Pillar Weſt of the Croſs Iſles, the Manner of Conſtruction was varied by ſubſequent Builders, who placed the ſmall decorating Columns of eight Pillars in Braſs inſtead of Stone.

Tho' Henry, and divers Abbots, were employed in the Erection of this ſtately Structure for the Term of thirty-nine Years, yet the Body of the Church was only finiſhed in the Year 1285, in which Condition it continued till Anno 1700, when the ſaid Building, by Length of Time, being greatly decayed, the Parliament granted Money toward repairing the ſame; which, by ſubſequent Parliaments, has been continued, not only for effectually repairing all Parts thereof, but likewiſe for completely finiſhing the whole Fabrick; and in order to which, the great Tower in the Center was begun to be erected, Anno 1728. But Caſh ſoon after failing, the Work was laid aſide till the Year 1733, when more Money being granted by Parliament, the Work was renewed, at the Weſt End of the Church, for repairiug the Front, and finiſhing the Steeples, which are now finiſhed, and greatly excel every thing of its Kind in this Kingdom.

Henry, in the Year 1257, granted to the Abbot and Convent of Weſtminſter, a Market and Fair, as appears by this Charter.

Rec. St. Marg. Weſt.

"Henry, by the Grace of God, King of England, Lord of Ireland, Duke of Normandy and Aquitaine, and Earl of Anjou; To all Archbiſhops, Biſhops, Abbots, Priors, Earls, Barons, Juſtices, Sheriffs, Conſtables, Officers, and to all his Bailiffs and loving Subjects, greeting. Know ye, that we have granted, and by this our Charter have confirmed to our beloved in Chriſt, Richard, Abbot of Weſtminſter, and the Convent of the ſame, that they and their Succeſſors ſhall for ever keep one Market at Touthull, on every Monday, and one Fair to be held annually in the ſame Place, on the Eve, Day and Day following St. Mary Magdalen, unleſs that Market and Fair ſhould prove prejudicial to the neighbouring Markets and Fairs.

"Wherefore we will, and ſtrictly command, for Us and our Heirs, That the aforeſaid Abbot and Convent, and their Succeſſors, may for ever keep one Market at Touthull every Week on Monday, and one Fair to be yearly held as aforeſaid, with all the Liberties and Cuſtoms to ſuch-like Market and Fair belonging, unleſs the ſaid Market and Fair ſhould prove to the Prejudice of the neighbouring Markets and Fairs as aforeſaid.

Edward I. as a Monument of his having reduced Scotland, in the Year 1296, brought from thence the famous Marble Stone, whereon the Scotiſh Kings had for many Ages been crowned, and wherein the People had placed a kind of Fatality; and on which was engraven this Diſtich:

Ni fallat fatum, Scoti hunc quocunque locatum
Inveniunt lapidem, regnare tenenter ibidem.

Edward cauſed this Stone to be fixed under the Bottom of a large Wooden Chair, and it has been uſed as the Inauguration Chair of the Kings of England for many Ages.

Stow. Sur. Lond.

In the Year 1299, a Fire, which broke out in the King's Palace, deſtroyed the Roof, and very much defaced the Abbey Church; which, by the Aſſiſtance of the King and his Succeſſors, the Abbots were enabled to repair.

In the Year 1352, Weſtminſter was by Act of Parliament conſtituted one of the ten Towns in England, where the Staple, or Market for Wool, Leather, Woolfels, Lead, and other Staple Commodities, ſhould be perpetually held.

Upon the humble Petition of the Inhabitants of Weſtminſter, Henry VI. granted them the waſte Water of the Royal Conduit in his Palace by Charter. Rec. Weſt. An. 1447.

In the Year 1502, Henry VII. cauſed the Chapel of the Virgin Mary, and a Tavern adjoining to the Eaſt End of the Abbey Church, to be taken down, and on the Site thereof erected the preſent ſtately and moſt magnificent Edifice, denominated Henry VII's Chapel, at the Expence of fourteen thouſand Pounds! a very great Sum, if we conſider, that Wheat was then ſold at five Shillings the Quarter; which, at a Medium of ſeven Years, appears to be but about a ſixth Part of the modern Price. Fab. Chron. Thomp. Ledg.

Abbot Iſlip, aſſiſted by ſeveral Perſons of Diſtinction, laid the firſt Stone of this Chapel on Behalf of the King, whereon was this Inſcription: Weav. Fun. Mon.

Illuſtriſſimus Henricus Septimus, Rex Angliæ & Franciæ, & Dominus Hiberniæ, poſuit hanc petram in honore beatæ Virginis Mariæ, XXIIIJ Die Januarij, Anno Domini MCCCCCII. & Anno dicti Regis Henrici Septimi decimo octavo. Ibid.

CHAP. II.

An Account of the Suppreſſion of the Abbey, the converting the ſame into a Biſhoprick, and then into a Collegiate Church.

AT the general Suppreſſion of Religious Houſes by Henry VIII. this Abbey was ſurrendred to him, by William Benſon, the Abbot, and ſeventeen of the Monks, on the 16th of January, Anno 1539, at which Time it appeared to be near double the Value of any other Religious Foundation in the Kingdom; the Revenues whereof amounted to 3977 l. 6 s. 4¾ d. per Ann. a Sum equal to 20000 l. at preſent. Rym. Fœd.

The Monaſtery thus diſſolved, Henry erected the ſame into a College of Secular Canons, under the Government of a Dean, and appointed William Benſon, the laſt Abbot, firſt Dean thereof: But this Eſtabliſhment proved of no long Duration, for, on the 19th of December, Anno 1541, Henry converted the ſame into a Biſhoprick, and conſtituted Thomas Thirlby Biſhop thereof, together with a Dean and twelve Prebendaries; and appointed the whole County of Middleſex (the Pariſh of Fulham, immediately belonging to the Biſhop of London, only excepted) for its Dioceſe. And for the better Support of the Epiſcopal Dignity, increaſed the Revenues of the Biſhoprick, with an Addition of the major Part of the Lands which belonged to the late Abbey. Stow. Sur. Lond. Godw. de Præſul. Angl.

On this Occaſion, Weſtminſter became a City; for the making of which, according to the Opinion of the great Lord Chief Juſtice Coke, nothing elſe is required, than the Appellation of a Biſhop's See. But the Biſhoprick being ſoon after diſſolved, the Epithet of City was thereby loſt: However, the ſame, by Complaiſance, is ſtill continued. Cok. Inſt. p. 4.

Thirlby having greatly embezzled the Revenues of his new Biſhoprick, was therefore, Anno 1550, tranſlated to Norwich; and the new Biſhoprick being diſſolved by Edward VI. he reſtored the Government thereof by a Dean; which continued till Mary's Acceſſion to the Crown, who on the 7th of September, Anno 1557, reſtored it to its antient Conventual State, and appointed John Feckenham Abbot thereof. But upon Queen Elizabeth's Acceſſion, the Monks being again ejected, ſhe, by her Letters Patent of the 21ſt of May, Anno 1560, erected the ſame into a College, under the Government of a Dean, and twelve Secular Canons, or Prebendaries; a School-Maſter, Uſher, and forty Scholars, denominated the Queen's, who are educated in the Liberal Sciences preparatory to the Univerſity, and provided with all the Neceſſaries of Life, other than Cloathing, of which they have only a Gown yearly. To this Foundation likewiſe belong twelve Almſmen, an Organiſt, with Singing-men, Choiriſters, &c.

This Church (without mentioning the Chapel of the Virgin Mary, alias that of Henry VII. adjoining to the Eaſt End thereof, which by all Judges is reckoned the moſt curious and exquiſite Piece of Gothick Architecture in Europe, and which by Leland, a very learned and judicious Antiquary, is called The Wonder of the World) is one of the moſt ſpacious, ſtately and magnificent Fabricks upon Earth; which not only excelled in its Furniture of ineſtimable Value, but likewiſe in Poſſeſſions of Lands, Tenements, &c. for it had in different Parts of the Kingdom, no leſs than two Hundreds, ſixteen Manors, ſeventeen Hamlets, and ninety-ſeven Towns and Villages, large Poſſeſſions, beſides thoſe in many other Places leſs conſiderable.

Dart. Hiſt. Weſtm.

There were antiently in this Conventual Church fourteen Chapels, tho' at preſent there are only twelve, viz. Of the Virgin Mary, or Henry the Seventh's, Edward the Confeſſor, St. Benedict, St. Edmund, St. Nicholas, St. Paul, St. John Baptiſt, Iſlip or Eraſmus's, St. John the Evangeliſt, St. Michael, St. Andrew, St. Blaiſe, and the Altars of St. Martin, St. Helena, St. Dunſtan and Thomas a Becket.

Stryp. Ed. Stow. Sur.

Of the Chantries and Anniverſaries eſtabliſhed in this Church, the firſt were only four, and the latter forty-ſix.

In this Collegiate Church is weekly diſtributed, on Saturdays, to forty poor Widows, a two Pound Loaf, and a Pound and a half of raw Beef, each; which is ſaid to be the Benefaction of Margaret, Counteſs of Richmond, Mother to Henry the Seventh.

William the Firſt, denominated the Conqueror, being the firſt Prince that ever was crowned at Weſtminſter, he has therein been followed by his Succeſſors; who have not only received the Royal Diadem in the Conventual, or Collegiate Church of this City, but likewiſe many of their Remains are depoſited in the ſaid Church, or Royal Repoſitory.

This Abbey, tho' 'twas only the Second in Rank, (as already obſerved) yet it was in all other Reſpects the Chief of the Kingdom; and whoſe Abbots, having had Epiſcopal Juriſdiction, their Seat in Parliament was in the Houſe of Peers; whoſe Names, together with thoſe of the Biſhop and Deans, I ſhall ſubjoin for the Satisfaction of the Curious,

The Names of the Abbots, Biſhop and Deans of Weſtminſter.

This Abbey, or Collegiate Church, having for many Ages not only been the Place of Royal Sepulture for the Kings and Queens of England, but likewiſe for the Nobility, and other Perſons of Diſtinction of this Nation; I ſhall therefore ſubjoin an Account of the principal and moſt curious monumental Inſcriptions therein contained: And, for the greater Eaſe of the Reader, ſhall inſert them in alphabetical Order, with marginal References, to ſhew in what Part of the Church, Henry the Seventh's Chapel, and Cloiſters, they are ſituate.

And on a Table near the Tomb, are inſcribed the following Latin and Engliſh Verſes:

Mors eſt mœſta nimis, magnos que jungit in imis,
Maxima Mors minimis conjungens ultima primis;
Nullus in orbe fuit Homo vivens, nec valet eſſe,
Qui non morte ruit; eſt hinc exire neceſſe.
Nobilis & Fortis, tibi tu confidere noli;
Omnia ſunt Mortis, ſibi ſubdit ſingula ſoli.
De Mundi medio magnum mors impia movit,
Anglia pre tedio ſatis anxia plangere novit:
Corruit Edwardus vario veneratus honore,
Rex nuper ut Nardus fragrans Virtutis odore,
Corde Leopardus, invictus & abſque pavore,
Ad rixam tardus, diſcretus & eucharis ore,
Viribus Armorum quaſi gigas ardua geſſit,
Colla ſuperborum prudens per Prelia preſſit,
Inter Flandrenſes Fortuna ſibi bene favit,
Ut quoque Wallenſes & Scotus ſuppeditavit.
Rex bonus abſque pari ſtrenue ſua Regna regebat:
Quod Natura dare potuit, Bonitatis habebat,
Actio Juſtitiæ, Pax Regni, ſanctio Legis,
Et fuga nequitie premunt precordia Regis:
Gloria tota ruit, Regem capit hæc modo foſſa.
Rex quandoque fuit, nunc nil niſi pulvis & oſſa:
Filius ipſe Dei, quem corde colebat & ore,
Dum vixit Rex, & valuit ſua magna poteſtas,
Fraus latuit, Pax magna fuit, regnavit honeſtas.
Death is too doleful which doth join
The higheſt Eſtate full low;
Which coupleth greateſt Things with leaſt,
And laſt with firſt alſo.
No Man hath been in World alive,
Nor any may there be,
Which can eſcape the Dint of Death:
Needs hence depart muſt we.
O noble and victorious Man,
Truſt not unto thy Strength;
For all are ſubject unto Death;
And all muſt hence at length.
Moſt cruel Fate from worldly Stage
Hath wreſt a worthy Wight;
To whom all England mourned loud
To ſee his doleful Plight.
Edward is dead, which was adorn'd,
With divers Graces here,
A King, or fragrant Nardus height,
A gracious Princely Peer.
In Heart the which was Lybard like,
Right puiſſant, void of Fear:
Moſt ſlow to Strife, diſcreet and wiſe,
And gracious every where.
In Arms a Giant fierce and fell,
Attempting famous Facts,
Moſt prudent did ſubdue the Proud
By Feat of Martial Acts:
In Flanders Fortune gave to him,
By Lot right good Succeſs,
In Wales he wan: The Scottiſh Rout
With Arms he did ſuppreſs.
This King, without his like alive,
Did firmly guide his Land:
And what good Nature could conceive,
He had it plight at Hand.
He was in Juſtice and in Peace
Excelling: Laws took Place;
Deſire to chaſe all wicked Works,
Did hold this Kings good Grace.
He now doth lie intombed here,
Which furthered each good Thing:
Now nought he is but Duſt and Bones,
Which was a worthy King.
The very Son of God, whom erſt
This King did love moſt dear,
Hath given to him immortal Bliſs,
For his good living here.
Whilſt lived this King, by him all Things
Were in moſt goodly Plight:
Fraud lay hid, great Peace was kept,
And Honeſty had Might.

Life is a Jeſt, and all Things ſhow it;
I thought ſo once, but I know it.
Of Manners gentle, of Affections mild;
In Wit a Man, Simplicity a Child;
With native Humour, temp'ring virtuous Rage;
Form'd to delight at once and laſh the Age.
Above Temptation in a low Eſtate,
And uncorrupted even among the Great.
A ſafe Companion, and an eaſy Friend;
Unblam'd thro' Life, lamented in the End.
Theſe are thy Honours! Not that here thy Buſt
Is mix'd with Heroes, or with Kings thy Duſt;
But that the Worthy and the Good ſhall ſay,
Striking their penſive Boſoms, Here lies Gay.

Here lie the Aſhes of Mr. John Gay, the warmeſt Friend, the gentleſt Companion, the moſt benevolent Man; who maintain'd Independency in low Circumſtances of Fortune; Integrity in the Midſt of a corrupt Age; and that Serenity of Mind, which conſcious Goodneſs alone can give, thro' the whole Courſe of his Life.

Favourite of the Muſes, he was led by them to every elegant Art, refined in Taſte, and fraught with Graces all his own. In various Kinds of Poetry ſuperior to many, inferior to none. His Works continue to inſpire what his Example taught, Contempt of Folly however adorned, Deteſtation of Vice however dignified, Reverence for Virtue however diſgraced.

O merciful God, what a Prince was this!
Which his ſhort Time in martial Acts ſpent,
In Honour of Conqueſt, that Wonder to me it is,
How he might compaſs ſuch Deeds excellent,
And yet for that his Mind nothing detent;
All ghoſtly Health for his Soul to provide,
Out of this World ere he fatally ſhould ſlide.
So though I had Tully his Eloquence,
Or of Seneca the grave Morality,
Or of Solomon the perfect Sapience,
Or the ſweet Ditties of Dame Calliope;
Yetm ight I not in Proſe, or other Ditty,
Accordingly advance this Prince's Fame,
Or with due Honour to enhaunce the ſame.
Conſidering his Acts, whereof Parcel appeare
In this rude Work, with many more left out.
The Time alſo was leſſe than Ten Yeare,
That he ſo ſhortly brought all things about,
By Divine Grace furthered out of doubt.
That mightful Lord he holp'd his ghoſtly Knight,
With Grace and Honour to paſs this World's Fight.
And to have Reward double and condigne.
And firſt, for martial Acts by him done,
To be advanced amongſt the Worthies Nine;
And for his Virtues us'd by him eftſoone,
With many good Deeds, which he on Earth had done;
Above the Hierarches, he is, I truſt, now ſtall'd,
That was on Earth, King of Kinges call'd.

The numerous ſepulchral Inſcriptions in this Church and Cloiſters being too many to be incerted within the Compaſs of this Hiſtory, we refer them to Mr. Dart's Antiquities, and other modern Collections; and ſhall only obſerve that there are interred in this Repoſitory, thirteen Kings, ſixteen Queens, thirty-two Princes, twenty-nine Princeſſes, fifteen Dukes, ſeventeen Dutcheſſes, eight Marquiſes, three Marchioneſſes, thirty-three Earls, twenty-four Counteſſes, three Viſcounts, one Viſcounteſs, thirty-eight Barons, thirty-one Baroneſſes, Knight and Baronets ſixty-eight, Archbiſhops ſeven, Biſhops eighteen, Abbots twenty-five, Deans four, and Gentlemen, Ladies, and other Perſons of Diſtinction, five hundred and thirty-ſeven.

CHAP. III.

An Account of the ſeveral Pariſhes within the City and Liberty of Weſtminſter.

St. ANNE's.

THE Pariſh of St. Martin's in the Fields continuing greatly to increaſe, the numerous Inhabitants, for want of Places of Worſhip, were deprived of an Opportunity of publickly celebrating the divine Offices; wherefore the Inhabitants of the new-erected Buildings applied to the Biſhop of London, to appoint them a proper Spot of Ground in Kemp's Field, whereon to erect a Church, and ſet out a Church-yard for a common Cemetery. This Requeſt being readily agreed to by the Biſhop, the Inhabitants of the ſaid Buildings began to erect a Church and Steeple thereon; which being raiſed to a conſiderable Height, the Diſtrict for the intended Pariſh was ſettled with the Veſtry of St. Martin's in the Fields; and upon Application to Parliament in the Year 1678, it was erected into a diſtinct Pariſh, and diſcharged from all manner of Dependance upon that of St. Martin's, in all reſpects, as if it never had belonged to the ſame; with a Power to erect a Church and Steeple, to be called The Pariſh Church of St. Anne, within the Liberty of Weſtminſter; with a Right of chooſing Pariſh Officers, to make Rates, and in all other Reſpects to act as the Inhabitants of the other Pariſhes within the City and Liberty of Weſtminſter. Act. Parl. 30 Car. II.

And by the Authority aforeſaid, the firſt Rector was appointed by the Biſhop of London; and he and his Succeſſors thereby incorporated and enabled to ſue and be ſued; and to purchaſe Lands in Mortmain, not exceeding the yearly Rent of one hundred and twenty Pounds. Ibid.

And by the ſaid Act of Parliament, the perpetual Advowſon of this Rectory was ſettled upon the Biſhop of London, and his Succeſſors; who are in all Reſpects impowered to exerciſe the ſame Authority therein, as in the ſeveral Pariſhes of the City of London; and the Rector and his Succeſſors, to enjoy the like Oblations, Obventions, Mortuaries, Eaſter Books, and Eccleſiaſtical Duties, as the Vicar of St. Martin's enjoys; and alſo, an Annuity of one hundred Pounds, to be annually aſſeſſed upon the Pariſhioners on Eaſter Thurſday, by the Church-Wardens, and three, or more ſubſtantial Houſeholders, by a Pound-rate, not exceeding eight Pence upon every twenty Pounds perſonal Eſtate, to be confirmed by two Juſtices of the Peace, dwelling within the City, or Liberty of Weſtminſter; and to be collected by ſuch Perſons as the Aſſeſſors ſhall yearly nominate who are to pay the ſame to the Church-Wardens, and they to the Rector quarterly upon pain of Impriſonment: And for the making ſuch Aſſeſſment, the Church-Wardens ſhall, on every Eaſter-day, give Notice in the Church, for a Meeting on the Thurſday following, for that Purpoſe; and if the Aſſeſſment be not made within the Time appointed, the Perſons ſo offending, to forfeit five Pounds each to the Rector, to be levied by Diſtreſs: And all Perſons aggriev'd by ſuch Aſſeſſment, to be relieved by the Juſtices, at the general quarter Seſſions; whoſe Order ſhall be final without Appeal. Ibid.

And by the Authority aforeſaid, the Rector, with the Conſent of the Burgeſſes, Church-Wardens and principal Inhabitants, may appoint a Pariſh Clerk; who ſhall have the like Allowances, as the Clerk of St. Martin's in the Fields. The firſt Church-wardens and other Pariſh Officers to be choſen by the Veſtry of St. Martin's in the Fields, and all their Succeſſors by the Laws now in Force. The Church-wardens to raiſe Money for the Repairs of the Church, after the ſame Manner as that of the Hundred-Pound Annuity for the Rector. Ibid.

And by Virtue of the ſaid Act of Parliament, the Rector and his Succeſſors are, in Right of the Church, ſeized of their Demeans in Fee, in a Parcel of Ground in Kemp's Field, now King's-ſtreet, Soho, of the Length of 213 Feet, and Depth of 45, with a Power of granting Building-leaſes, for the Term of forty-one Years, at four Shillings per Foot yearly for each Foot fronting the Street; and at the Expiration of that Term, the Rector may demiſe the Houſes thereon, for the Term of Ibid.

of forty Years, upon a reaſonable improved Rent, without taking a Fine.

Though by this Act of Parliament, the aforeſaid Diſtrict was converted into a Pariſh, and the Method of its Government thereby ſettled; yet no Proviſion being made therein for finiſhing the Church and Steeple, they were reduced to a worſe Condition than at the Time of petitioning; wherefore the Pariſhioners found it neceſſary to apply to Parliament, for a Power to raiſe Money toward finiſhing the ſaid Church and Steeple, Rectory-houſe, and other parochial Works. Whereupon, in the Year 1685, it was by Parliament enacted, that towards raiſing the Sum required, for accompliſhing ſo good a Deſign, the Biſhop of London was authorized, by an Inſtrument under his Seal, to conſtitute thirty Perſons to be Commiſſioners for finiſhing the ſame; who were to continue as ſuch, till the Work was finiſhed, and paid for; then they were to become Veſtry-men of the new Pariſh, and as ſuch to continue, till they remove, die, or be diſplaced for Mal-practices; and as often as a Vacancy happens, the ſame to be ſupplied by a proper Perſon, to be elected by the remaining Members of the ſaid Veſtry. And towards finiſhing this Church and Steeple, the Commiſſioners were impowered to raiſe the Sum of five thouſand Pounds, (above what the Pews ſhould be ſold for) in four Years, at ſixteen quarterly Payments, clear of all Deductions; towards the raiſing of which Sum, all Tenants to be rated at leaſt one fifth of the Sum charged upon Landlords.

This Church being finiſhed, it was, together with its Cemetery, conſecrated by Henry, Biſhop of London, on the twenty-firſt of March, Anno 1685

It is a Rectory, ſituate in Dean-ſtreet, Soho, and dedicated to St. Anne, the Mother of the Virgin Mary.

The Rector of this Pariſh, in lieu of Tithes, receives from his Pariſhioners an Annuity of one hundred Pounds; which, together with the Glebe, Surplice Fees, and Eaſter Book amount to about three hundred Pounds per Annum. But the Pariſh being taken out of that of St. Martin, the Rector pays neither firſt Fruits, nor Tenths to the King, nor Procurations to the Biſhop, or Archdeacon.

Officers, &c. in this Pariſh.

This Pariſh conſiſts of two Wards, who have each a Burgeſs and his Aſſiſtant; the Veſtry, which is ſelect, conſiſts of thirty Members; two Church-Wardens, four Overſeers of the Poor, ſix Conſtables, four Scavengers, who pay the Raker for cleanſing the Streets, and carrying away the Duſt, three hundred and thirty Pounds; four Beadles, twenty Watchmen, one thouſand three hundred and thirty-ſeven Houſes; and a Workhouſe for the Reception of the Poor.

Antiquities, &c. in this Pariſh.

At the North-eaſt and North-weſt Angles of Newport-ſtreet were ſituate the City Manſions of the noble Families of Bolingbroke and Newport; on the Weſt Side of the Garden of the latter (where Gerard-ſtreet, &c. are ſituate) was a Military, or Artillery Ground, wherein were exerciſed the Militia of Middleſex, and trained-bands of Weſtminſter. The only Things remarkable in this Pariſh at preſent, are, its beautiful Streets, ſpacious and handſome Church, and ſtately Quadrate, denominated King's-ſquare, but vulgarly Soho-ſquare; and Part of Leiceſter-ſquare.

St. CLEMENT's Danes.

The Origin of this Church is of very great Antiquity, as is manifeſt by the cruel and barbarous Maſſacre of the Danes in the Reign of Ethelred, Anno 1002, at which Time many of that diſtreſſed Nation fled hither for Sanctuary. A farther Proof of the Antiquity of this Church, is, that Harde-Canut, upon his Acceſſion to the Crown, Anno 1039, under Pretence of revenging ſome Injuries done to his Mother by his late Brother and Predeceſſor Harold, cauſed his Corps to be taken from its Place of Sepulture at Weſtminſter; and after cauſing the ſame to be decollated by the Hands of the common Hangman, commanded it to be thrown into the River Thames; which being ſoon after fiſhed up by certain Fiſhermen, they re-interred it in this Church-yard; which was then the common Cemetery of the Danes in this City.

That this Church was originally erected by the River Side, is manifeſt from the Place of its Situation, denominated the Strand, a Saxon Appellative, denoting either a Bank, Shore, or Side of a River; and probably founded by that People in the Reign of Ethelred. But by Fleetwood (ſome Time Recorder of London) we are told, that at the Expulſion of the Danes, none of that Nation were ſuffered to ſtay in England, but ſuch as were married to Engliſh Women; and the remaining few obliged to reſide between the City of London and Iſland of Thorney (now called Weſtminſter) where they erected a Chapel, which, upon its Conſecration, received the Appellation of Eccleſia Clementis Dacorum, in the firſt of Edward, called the Confeſſor, Anno 1041. Chron. Joh. Brompt.

It is a Rectory, ſituate on the North Side of the Strand, and dedicated to St. Clement, a Roman Diſciple of St. Peter, and fourth Biſhop of Rome, and the additional Name of Danes, is taken from the ancient Inhabitants of this Neighbourhood. It being, by Henry the Second, given to the Knights Templars of this City, the Advowſon thereof continued in them till the Diſſolution of their Order, when it was conferred upon the Prior and Canons of the Church of the Holy Sepulchre, who diſpoſed of the ſame, together with ſome Lands in the Pariſh, to Walter Biſhop of Exeter, about the Year 1324, in whom and his Succeſſors it continued till the Year 1547, when Edward the Sixth granted it to Edward Duke of Somerſet; but upon his Attainder, it reverting to the Crown, the ſaid King, Anno 1552, conferred it upon Sir Thomas Palmer; but it again devolving to the Crown, Queen Elizabeth granted the ſame to William Lord Burleigh, in whoſe Deſcendants, the Earls of Exeter, it ſtill remains. Dug. Mon. Angl. Dugd. Antiq. Warw. Newc. Repert. Eccleſ. Paroch.

The preſent beautiful Church was erected at the Charge of the Pariſhioners in the Year 1682, and in the Year 1719 the Steeple was raiſed eighty-five Feet.

The Profits of this Rectory, amount to about five hundred Pounds per Annum.

This Pariſh, which conſiſts of Part of two Liberties, (viz. of Weſtminſter and the Dutchy of Lancaſter) has one Burgeſs, with his Aſſiſtant; two Church-Wardens; five Overſeers of the Poor; eight Conſtables; ſixteen Scavengers, who annually pay the Raker, for cleanſing the Streets, and carrying away the Duſt, the Sum of five hundred and thirty-five Pounds; two Beadles, and twenty-eight Watchmen. Here is a Faculty Veſtry, conſiſting of forty-four Members; ſixteen hundred and ninety-one Houſes; and a Workhouſe for the Reception of the Poor.

Antiquities, &c. in this Pariſh.

A celebrated Fountain, denominated St. Clement's Well, which was many Ages ago one of the three principal Springs whereat the City Youth on Feſtival Days uſed to entertain themſelves with a Variety of Diverſions: The Well is now covered, and a Pump placed therein, on the Eaſt Side of Clement's-Inn, and lower End of St. Clement's-Lane. Fitzſteph. Deſcrip. Lond.

At the Diſſolution of the Order of Knights Templars, the Advowſon of this Church, together with Lands and five Meſſuages in the Pariſh, were conferred upon the Prior and Canons Regular of the Church of the Holy Sepulchre; which Lands and Meſſuages, I imagine, will appear to have been that Part of the Temple, called the Outer. For, in the Year 1324, the ſaid Prior and Canons having diſpoſed of the ſame to Walter, Biſhop of Exeter, he erected thereon a ſtately Edifice, as a City Manſion, for himſelf and his Succeſſors, and denominated the ſame Exeter-Houſe. This Fabrick being ſome Time after alienated, it came to the noble Families of Paget and Leiceſter, and at laſt to that of Eſſex; and being ſince pulled down, a beautiful Street is erected on the Site thereof, by the Appellation of the laſt noble Poſſeſſor. Dugd. Antiq. Warwick.

In the Strand, between the ſaid Eſſex-houſe and Milford-lane, was ſituate the Chapel of St. Eſprit, but when, or by whom the ſame was founded, is unknown. Stow Sur. Lond.

Almoſt contiguous to the ſaid Milford-lane, on the Weſt, was ſituate the Biſhop of Bath's Palace, which coming to the Earl of Arundel, it received the Appellation of its new Maſter; but it at laſt making way for new Streets, the Titles of the laſt noble Poſſeſſor are ſtill retained in thoſe denominated Arundel and Norfolk. Ibid.

Here is a Street, from a Well formerly therein, called Holywell-ſtreet: This Epithet it probably received from a Chapel, ſaid to have ſtood near St. Innocent's Church, or St. Mary le Strand. Joh. Fleet Hiſt. Weſt.

At the upper End of Wych-ſtreet, and lower End of Drury-lane, anciently ſtood the Houſes of the noble Families of Drury and Craven; and as from the former the neighbouring Lane was denominated, ſo from the latter a beautiful Court received the Name of its Buildings.

The moſt remarkable Places in this Pariſh at preſent are, Clare Market, and the three Inns of Chancery, viz. Clement's, New and Lyon's Inns.

St. GEORGE's, Hanover-Square.

The new Buildings in the Pariſh of St. Martin's in the Fields ſtill continuing to increaſe and extend themſelves over the neighbouring Fields, the Inhabitants were thereby ſo greatly increaſed, that neither the Pariſh-Church, nor its Chapels of Eaſe, were ſufficient to contain one Half thereof; wherefore the Commiſſioners for building the fifty new Churches within the Bill of Mortality, cauſed one of the ſaid Churches to be erected in one of the Out-Wards of the ſaid Pariſh; and the ſame being finiſhed, it was conſecrated on the the 23d of March, Anno 1724, by Edmund, Biſhop of London; and, in Honour of his reigning Majeſty's Name, was dedicated to St. George the Martyr.

This Church is a Rectory, ſituate on the Eaſt Side of George-ſtreet, and near the Square, whence it has its additional Epithet; and the Ground whereon the ſame is erected was given by Lieutenant General William Stewart, who ſome Time after bequeathed to this Pariſh the Sum of four thouſand Pounds, towards erecting and endowing a Charity School therein.

This new Pariſh, conſiſting of the two Out-Wards of that of St. Martin's in the Fields, was by Act of Parliament conſtituted a diſtinct Pariſh. And the Rector, by the Authority aforeſaid, is intitled to all ſuch Tithes, Oblations, Obventions, Mortuaries, Eaſter-Books, or Offerings, and all other Dues, as the Vicar of St. Martin's formerly uſed to receive in the two Out-Wards which compoſe this Pariſh. And the perpetual Advowſon of the Rectory is ſettled upon the Biſhop of London, and his Succeſſors.

The Profits ariſing to the Rector of this Pariſh, conſiſting of Tithes, Surplice-Fees, and Eaſter-Offerings, are ſaid to amount to about ſix hundred Pounds per Annum. But the Pariſh being taken out of that of St. Martin's in the Fields, the only Diſburſement on account of the Cure, is ten Shillings Procuration, which is paid to the Biſhop rather by Complement than Right.

Officers, &c. in this Pariſh.

This Pariſh, inſtead of two, at preſent conſiſts of four Wards, denominated Conduit-ſtreet, Groſvenor-ſtreet, Dover-ſtreet, and the Out-Ward, which contain the following Officers, &c. viz. An Aſſiſtant Burgeſs; a ſelect Veſtry of one hundred and one Members; two Church-Wardens; ſix Overſeers of the Poor; four Conſtables; one Headborough; ſix Scavengers, who annually pay the Raker, for cleanſing the Streets, and carrying away the Duſt, the Sum of nine hundred Pounds; four Surveyors of the Highways; four Beadles; thirty-nine Watchmen; nineteen hundred and nine Houſes.

Antiquities, &c. in this Pariſh.

The only Things remarkable before its Erection, were two of the London Conduits, and a Ducking-pond near the South-eaſt Angle of Groſvenor-ſtreet; and three Forts on the Line of Communication, drawn round the City and Suburbs of London, by Order of Parliament in the Year 1643. One at the lower End of Brudon-ſtreet, another at the Place called Oliver's Mount, and the third at the End of Tybourn-lane, Hide-Park Road.

At the North End of Halfmoon-ſtreet, in a Place denominated May-Fair, is annually held a Fair, which begins on May-Day, and continues for the Space of fourteen Days; which Fair, in the Year 1705, was put down, but is again revived.

The Remarkables at preſent are, the handſome Pariſh Church; four Chapels of Eaſe, viz. in Conduit-ſtreet, Audley-ſtreet, May-fair and Knight's-bridge: The firſt of which, denominated Trinity-Chapel, is modelled after King James the Second's Field-Chapel, which was a Wooden Building erected in his Camp at Hounſlow Heath, Anno 1686, whence it was brought to Town, and placed in Glaſs-houſe-ſtreet, at the North-eaſt Corner of Old Bond-ſtreet, where it continued, for the Uſe of that Neighbourhood, till the Year 1716, when it was demoliſhed, and the preſent Chapel erected for the ſame Uſe. This Pariſh likewiſe contains two of the City Conduits; Part of Hyde-Park; two ſpacious and magnificent Squares, in one of which is a ſtately gilt Equeſtrian Statute of his late Majeſty King George the Firſt; Chelſea Water-works; an Hoſpital for the Cure of lame and diſtempered Poor, and a Work-houſe for accommodating the Pariſh Poor.

St. JAMES's.

The Pariſh of St. Martin's in the Fields continuing greatly to increaſe in new Buildings, another Church, or Chapel, was deemed neceſſary for the Accommodation of the numerous Inhabitants; wherefore Henry, Earl of St. Alban's, and the neighbouring Inhabitants, erected the preſent Church, at the Expence of above ſeven thouſand Pounds.

Upon the Death of the ſaid Earl, Charles the Second, by his Letters Patent of the 31ſt of May, Anno 1684, granted the ſaid Church and Cemetery, in Truſt, to Thomas Lord Jermine (Nephew to the ſaid Earl) and his Heirs forever; who thereupon aſſigned over the ſaid Church, with its Appurtenances, to Sir Walter Clarges, Bart. and others, in Truſt, as a Chapel, for the Uſe of the Inhabitants of that Part of the Pariſh of St. Martin's in the Fields; whereupon it was conſecrated by Henry, Biſhop of London, on Sunday the 13th of July in the ſame Year, and dedicated to the Honour of God, by the Appellation of St. James in the Fields. Newc. Repert. Eccleſ. Paroch.

The Church being conſecrated, and a Diſtrict for a new Pariſh ſet out, Application was made to Parliament in the Year 1685, to get the ſaid Diſtrict made Parochial; wherefore the Parliament did conſtitute the ſame a Pariſh, diſtinct from, and independent of, that of St. Martin's in the Fields; and the ſame to be called The Pariſh of St. James within the Liberty of Weſtminſter; whereof Thomas Tenniſon, D. D. Vicar of St. Martin's in the Fields, was appointed the firſt Rector; and by the ſame Authority, he and his Succeſſors, Rectors of this Pariſh, were incorporated, and enabled to ſue and be ſued, by the ſaid Name, in all Courts and Places in this Realm; and that a Houſe be erected on Part of the Church-yard, or near the ſame, for a Habitation for the Rector, with a Power of purchaſing in Mortmain, Lands to the Amount of two hundred Pounds per Annum, over and above the then Endowments: And as a farther Support for the Rector he is intitled to all ſuch Tithes, Oblations, Obventions, Mortuaries, Eaſter-Books, and all other Dues, as the Vicar of St. Martin's receives. Act Parl. 1 Jac. II.

And it is further enacted, by the Authority aforeſaid, that the Patronage, or Advowſon of and to this Rectory, after the Death or Avoidance of the firſt Rector, ſhall be in the Biſhop of London and his Succeſſors, and Thomas Lord Jermine, and his Heirs for ever; the firſt Rector to be collated by the Biſhop of London, and the next by the Lord Jermine, or his Heirs; and for ever after, the Biſhop of London to preſent twice to Lord Jermine's once. And the Incumbents to be inſtituted and inducted as other Rectors are, and to enjoy in all Reſpects the ſame Eccleſiaſtical Duties as the Vicar of St. Martin's in the Fields. But ſome Time ago, the Lord Jermine having by a Deed, enrolled in Chancery, conveyed his Right of Preſentation to this Rectory, to the Biſhop of London, and his Succeſſors, they are become ſole Patrons thereof. Ibid.

And by the ſame Authority, the Rector of this Pariſh is ſeized in Demean, as of Fee, in Right of the Church, of a certain Toft of Ground on the North Side of the ſame in Piccadilly; and likewiſe of another Parcel of Ground, whereon ſtood Stables; together with five Houſes in Jermine-ſtreet. Theſe being the Glebe belonging to the Cure, the Rector is authorized to demiſe the Houſes thereon by Leaſe, for the Term of forty one Years, upon an improved Rent, without a Fine.

Ibid. And by the ſame Authority, the two firſt Church-wardens were appointed; and the ſeveral Veſtrymen of St. Martin's in the Fields, Inhabitants of this Pariſh, together with the Commiſſioners that were nominated by the Biſhop of London, as Superviſors of the Building of the Church, were conſtituted Veſtrymen, and in conjunction with the Rector, impowered to nominate ſo many additional Veſtrymen as would make the Number (with the Rector and Church-wardens) thirty-four; any ſix whereof (the Rector, or his Deputy, and one of the Church-wardens, to be always two) to have the ſame Power as the Veſtry of St. Martin's in the Fields; and upon the Death, or Removal of a Veſtryman, to conſtitute another.

Ibid. And by the Authority aforeſaid, the Rector, with the Approbation of the Veſtry, may appoint an Aſſiſtant-Preacher, and a Clerk, both to be in Prieſts Orders, with a Sexton, or Sextons, to be continued during Life, or good Behaviour: The Aſſiſtant to have a Stipend of one hundred Pounds per Annum, to be yearly raiſed by an Aſſeſſment upon the Inhabitants; the Pariſh Clerk a Salary of thirty Pounds per Annum, out of the Profits ariſing from the Pews, together with the ſame Dues and Perquiſites received by the Clerk of St. Martin's; and the Sextons to have the ſame Salaries, Dues, &c. as thoſe of St. Martin's in the Fields; and the Pariſh Officers to be choſen after the ſame Manner as thoſe of the ſaid St. Martin's.

And by the ſame Authority, the Eccleſiaſtical Juriſdiction of the Pariſh is reſerved to the Biſhop of London and his Succeſſors.

The Veſtry is ſelect, conſiſting of thirty-four Members; two Burgeſſes, with their Aſſiſtants; two Church-wardens; eight Overſeers of the Poor; ſeven Conſtables; fourteen Scavengers, who pay the Raker, for cleanſing the Streets, and carrying away the Duſt, the Sum of nine hundred Pounds per Annum; four Beadles, and fifty-four Watchmen; three thouſand three hundred and ſeventeen Houſes.

Antiquities, &c. in this Pariſh.

The Site whereon Marſhall-ſtreet, part of Little Broad-ſtreet and Marlborough Market are now erected, was denominated the Peſt-Field, from a Lazaretto therein, which conſiſted of thirty-ſix ſmall Houſes, for the Reception of poor and miſerable Objects of this Neighbourhood that were afflicted with a direful Peſtilence, Anno 1665. And at the lower End of Marſhall-ſtreet, contiguous to Silver-ſtreet, was a common Cemetery, wherein ſome thouſands of Corps were buried that died of that dreadful and virulent Contagion.

The Remarkables at preſent are, the handſome Church and Steeple; two Chapels of Eaſe; a Preſbyterian, Anabaptiſt, and a French Meeting-houſe; three Charity Schools; two magnificent Squares; two Markets, and Part of a third; with a Work-houſe for the Reception of the Pariſh Poor.

St. JOHN Baptiſt's.

Stow. Sur. Lond. The Houſe denominated the Savoy, (to which this is a Chapel) was at firſt erected by Peter, Earl of Savoy, (Uncle to Eleanor, Conſort to Henry the Third) in the Year 1245. But Peter ſoon after conferring the ſame upon the Fraternity Camd. of Mountjoy, Queen Eleanor purchaſed it of them Brit. for the Uſe of her Son Edmund, Earl of Lancaſter; and the ſame being pulled down ſome Time after, Henry, Earl of Lancaſter, about the Year 1328, rebuilt it in ſuch a ſumptuous and magnificent manner, that it far excelled all other Structures in the Kingdom, at the Expence of fifty-two thouſand Marks. Chron. Hen. Knight.

In 1381, this ſtately Palace, with all its ſumptuous Furniture, was deſtroyed by Wat Tyler and the Kentiſh Rebels. The Site thereof devolving to the Crown, Henry the ſeventh began to re-edify the ſame about the Year 1509, (as it Stow. Sur. at preſent appears) for an Hoſpital for the Re- Lond. ception and Entertainment of one hundred diſtreſſed Objects; but that Prince not living to finiſh the ſame, Henry, his Son and Succeſſor, in the Year 1511, not only granted his Manor of the Savoy to Richard Biſhop of Winchęſter, and others, Executors of his Father's Will, towards finiſhing the ſaid Hoſpital; but likewiſe by his Charter of the fifth of July, Anno 1513, conſtituted them a Body Politick and Corporate, to conſiſt of a Maſter and five ſecular Chaplains, and four Regulars, in Honour of Jeſus Chriſt, Dug. Mon. Angl. his Mother, and St. John Baptiſt, with a Power to purchaſe, in Mortmain, Lands to the Amount of five hundred Marks per Annum, clear of Repriſes; and the Foundation to be denominated, The Hoſpital of King Henry the ſeventh, late King of England, of the Savoy.

When this Hoſpital was ſuppreſſed by Edward the Sixth, in the Year 1553, the Revenues thereof were found to amount to five hundred and twenty nine Pounds fifteen Shillings and ſeven Speed Hiſt. Great Brit. Pence per Annum. See Bridewell Hoſpital, Farringdon Ward within.

His Siſter Mary, ſucceeding to the Crown in the Ibid. Year 1557, refounded this Hoſpital, and endowed it a new; when her Ladies and Maids of Honour, at their Expence, completely furniſhed the ſame with all Neceſſaries. But it being again ſuppreſſed, upon the Acceſſion of Queen Elizabeth to the Crown, the Apartments thereof are at preſent appropriated to divers Uſes, ſuch as a Church, which claims an extraparochial Juriſdiction, a Chapel for the Accommodation of French Proteſtants, Lodgings for private Families, and Barracks and a Priſon for Soldiers.

The Church of St. Mary le Strand being deſtroyed by Edward, Duke of Somerſet, the Inhabitants of the Pariſh united themſelves to thoſe of the Precinct of the Savoy, the Chapel whereof ſerved the united Body for the Celebration of the Divine Offices, till the Year 1723, when the Pariſhioners of St. Mary le Strand left this Chapel, and repaired to the new Church erected for them in the Strand, (at the Charge of the Publick) by the Appellation of their ancient Church.

This being a Chapelry, there are no Diſburſements on account of the Cure, or Receipts for Support of the Chaplain, than the Surplice Fees, and Contributions of the Inhabitants.

St. JOHN the Evangeliſt's.

The Pariſh of St. Margaret's, Weſtminſter, being greatly increaſed in the Number of Houſes and Inhabitants, it was judged neceſſary to erect one of the fifty-two new Churches therein, for the better Accommodation of the numerous Inhabitants, in the Performance of their religious Duties, which being no ſooner erected, and a Diſtrict for a Pariſh marked out, than the Inhabitants thereof applied to Parliament, to have the ſame erected into a Pariſh: Wherefore the Parliament, anſwerable to their Petition, not only converted the ſaid Diſtrict into a Pariſh; but likewiſe towards providing and ſettling a Maintenance for the Rector thereof, and his Succeſſors, granted the Sum of two thouſand five hundred Pounds, to be laid out in a Purchaſe of Lands, Tenements, &c. in Fee Simple, for their Uſe.

Act. Parl. 1 Geor. II.

And over and above the Profits that ſhall ariſe from the ſaid Purchaſe, it is likewiſe by Parliament enacted, that the Sum of one hundred and twenty-five Pounds, as a farther Proviſion for the ſaid Rector and his Succeſſors, ſhall be yearly raiſed by an equal Pound-rate upon the Inhabitants, to be aſſeſſed by the Rector, Church-Wardens and Veſtry, on every Eaſter-Tueſday, or fourteen Days after; and in caſe the ſaid Rector, Church-wardens and Veſtry ſhall refuſe, or neglect to make ſuch Aſſeſſment within the Time aforeſaid, he, or they ſo refuſing or neglecting, to forfeit to the King the Sum of one hundred Pounds for every ſuch Offence. And the Aſſeſſment, when made, to be confirmed by Juſtices of the Peace in the City, or Liberty of Weſtminſter; and the Collectors to be choſen by the Veſtry; who upon their refuſing to act, are to forfeit to the King the Sum of one hundred Pounds.

And in conſideration, that by the Diviſion of St. Margaret's, the Curate thereof, and the Chaplain of Tothill-fields Chapel, will thereby become great Sufferers; the Rector of this Church, and his Succeſſors, are for ever to pay to the Curate of St. Margaret's aforeſaid, the Sum of ſeventeen Pounds eight Shillings and eleven Pence per Annum, by quarterly Payments, without any Deduction; and alſo to pay to the ſaid Chaplain annually, during his natural Life, or Continuance in the ſaid Cure, the Sum of fifty-two Pounds ten Shillings.

And to this, as well as all the other new Churches, the King to have the firſt Preſentation; and for ever after, the Advowſon to be in the Dean and Chapter of Weſtminſter. And to prevent this Rectory from being held in Commendam, all Licenſes and Diſpenſations for holding the ſame are, by the ſaid Act of Parliament, declared null and void.

The Church was conſecrated on the 24th of June, 1728.

The weekly Monday Market, and the annual Fair called Magdalen's, granted by Henry the third to the Abbot and Canons of Weſtminſter, Anno 1257, were held, the firſt in Margaret-ſtreet, (near the Horſe-ferry) where its Name is ſtill preſerved; and the latter, at the upper End of the ſaid Street, in Tothill-fields; in which Fields was a Fort upon the Line of Communication, drawn round the City of London and Suburbs by Order of Parliament, in the Year 1643. In this Work, a Lazaretto was erected in the Year 1665, for the Reception of poor Objects oppreſſed with the Plague; which Place at preſent is denominated The ſeven Houſes.

The only Remarkable at preſent is the ſtately and beautiful Church.

St. MARGARET's.

K. Edward being engaged in rebuilding the Conventual Church of St. Peter, in a very magnificent Manner, imagined that it would very much tend to the Diſhonour of his new and ſtately Edifice, to have the neighbouring People aſſemble therein, for the Performance of their religious Duties, as they had formerly done in the old. Therefore, to prevent all Inconveniencies, or Annoyances (that might ariſe from ſuch Aſſemblies) to the Monks, in the Celebration of the divine Offices, Edward, about the Year 1064, cauſed to be erected a Church on the North Side of St. Peter's, for the Uſe of the neighbouring Inhabitants, and dedicated the ſame to St. Margaret, the Virgin and Martyr of Antioch.

Stow. Sur. Lond.

This Church, which is ſituate on the North Side of the Abbey-church, at the Diſtance of thirty Feet, was rebuilt in the Reign of King Edward I. by the Pariſhioners and Merchants of the Staple, the Chancel excepted, which was built by the Abbot of Weſtminſter. This Church, in the Year 1735, was not only beautifully repaired, but the Tower thereof caſed and moſtly rebuilt, at the Charge of three thouſand five hundred Pounds, given by Parliament, in conſideration of its being, as it were, a national Church, for the Uſe of the Houſe of Commons.

Ibid.

The Patronage of this Church, which is a Curacy, was anciently in the Abbot and Convent of Weſtminſter, as it is at preſent in the Dean and Chapter, and who, being poſſeſſed of the Tithes, farm the ſame to the Inhabitants of the Pariſh, at the Rent of fifty-three Shillings and four Pence per Annum; the Profits ariſing thereby they give to their Curate.

Monumental Inſcriptions.

On the South Side of the Altar is an ancient Tomb, erected in the Depth of Popiſh Ignorance and Superſtition, whereon is the Portraiture of Dame Mary Bylling, over whoſe Head is profanely ingraved that of an old Man, repreſenting the Almighty, emitting a refulgent Ray upon the Head of the Virgin Mary, (on the ſiniſter Side of Bylling) from whoſe Mouth on a Label are theſe Words: "Ecce Ancilla Domini; fiat mihi ſecundum Verbum tuum." And on the dexter Side an Angel, with the following Words before his Mouth, on a Label: "Ave Maria, Gratia plena." And on a Label iſſuing from the Mouth of Mary Bylling, theſe Words: "Bleſſed Lady, for thy glorious Salutacion, bryng our Sowles to everlaſting Salvation." And on two Scrolls on each Side of her, the following Words: "Bleſſy'd Triniti, on me have Mercy. Bleſſyd Triniti, on me have Mercy." The four above-mentioned Figures, as well as the ſeveral Inſcriptions, are engraven on ſmall Plates of Braſs inlaid in the top Stone; as is alſo the following Inſcription on the Side hereof:

A Perſon accompliſhed with all chriſtian Graces and Virtues, and moſt eminent for his Charity. Beſides what he gave in his Life-time, he left by his Will at his Death,

1. The Revenue of ſeveral Houſes in Weſtminſter, for ever, for the Uſe of the poor Children of the King's Hoſpital in Tuthill Fields, of which he was one of the Governours. 2. The Sum of one hundred Pounds, for the building of three Alms-houſes in Petty France. 3. Seven Pounds per Annum, in Fee, for the teaching of the poor Children of the Pariſh. 4. One hundred Pounds for a Stock of Coals for ever, for the Uſe of the Poor of the Pariſh. 5. Fifty Pounds to the Children of Chriſt's Hoſpital in London. 6. A bountiful Gift for the ſetting up poor decayed Tradeſmen. 7. He left a plentiful Proviſion for the building of twelve Alms-houſes, a Chapel and School for ſix poor Men and their Wives, ſix poor Widows, and teaching of twenty Children, with ſufficient Maintenance for the ſame for ever. 8. More fifty Pounds, for the Uſe of the Poor of the Company of Brewers. Beſides ſeveral other charitable Bequeſts, which (ſays the Inſcription) we have not room to mention.

Officers, &c. in this Pariſh.

The Veſtry is neither ſelect, nor general, only ſuch are admitted as have ſerved Church-wardens; ſeven Burgeſſes and their Aſſiſtants; two Church-wardens; eight Overſeers of the Poor; fifteen Conſtables; one Headborough; ſixteen Scavengers, who pay the Raker, for cleanſing the Streets, and carrying away the Duſt, the Sum of four hundred and fifty-one Pounds per Annum; ſix Beadles; thirty-ſix Watchmen; three thouſand two hundred and eighty-two Houſes; and a Work-houſe for the Reception of the Pariſh Poor.

Antiquities, &c. in this Pariſh.

The Diſtrict which this City (now containing two Pariſhes) at firſt occupied, conſiſted of an Iſland, anciently denominated Thorney, as already mentioned.

The next great Antiquity in this Pariſh, is the ſtately and magnificent Structure, called the Abbey, or Collegiate Church, already accounted for. But when, or by whom the Royal Palace in this City was at firſt erected, is unknown, though probably by Edward, ſurnamed the Confeſſor, ſeeing he is not only the firſt Prince we read of, that reſided in this City, but that he made the ſame as it were his continual Habitation. Be that as it will, William Rufus cauſed a ſpacious Hall to be added thereto; and at his Return from Normandy, kept the high Feſtival of Chriſtmas therein, Anno 1099. Hen. Hun. Hiſt.

In this Hall, and other Rooms of his Palace, Henry the Third, on New-Years-Day, Anno 1236, cauſed to be entertained ſix thouſand poor Men, Women and Children, for the Welfare of himſelf and Family: And ſome Time after, the ſaid Prince, in the Year 1241, ſumptuouſly entertained his Nobility, and the Pope's Legate, in the ſaid Hall at Chriſtmas; when, to his great Diſhonour and that of the Kingdom, he preferred the Legate to the chief Seat at Table, placing himſelf on his Right and the Archbiſhop of York on his Left Hand, to the great Diſpleaſure of his Nobility, both Spiritual and Temporal. Rec. Tur. Mat. Par. Hiſt. Angl.

But of all the Royal Entertainments that ever were given in this Hall, or perhaps in any other, that (if a certain Monk may be credited) given by the ſaid King, at the Nuptials of his Brother, Richard Earl of Cornwall, Anno 1243, was the moſt ſumptuous; for, according to my Author, the Number of Diſhes at that Feaſt amounted to above thirty thouſand. If we admit the Diſhes to have been each but a Foot in Diameter, the preſent Hall, which is much bigger than that in the Time of Henry the third, would (excluſive of Company) only contain fifteen thouſand and forty-eight of ſuch Diſhes.

At a Royal Entertainment given in this Hall, at Whitſuntide, Anno 1317, by Edward the Second to his Nobility, a Woman in a fantaſtical Dreſs, repreſenting that of a Comedian, entered the Hall on Horſeback, where, with an uncommon Aſ- Tho. Walſing. Chron.

Ibid. Our Lord the King may take Notice, that he has not kindly regarded thoſe Knights who faithfully ſerved his Father and himſelf with their Lives and Fortunes; but has too much enriched others, who never performed any thing conſiderable.

Ibid. The Woman being purſued and apprehended, ſhe readily acknowledged, that ſhe was employed and paid by a certain Knight for that Service; who being thereupon apprehended, boldly declared, that he had done it with no other View than that to the King's Honour; which being taken into Conſideration, together with the Contents of the ſaid Letter, which were inconteſtable Facts, they were ſoon after both diſcharged.

This great Hall becoming very ruinous, Richard the Second, in the Year 1397, re-edify'd it, as it at preſent appears, together with the Buildings on the Eaſt and Weſt Sides thereof, where the Office and Court of Exchequer, &c. are kept. This Edifice was no ſooner finiſhed, than it received the Appellation of the New Palace, to diſtinguiſh it from the old Palace at the South End of the Hall, wherein the two Houſes of Lords and Commons at preſent aſſemble.

Stow. Sur. Lond. In the Year 1399, the King kept the High Feſtival of Chriſtmas therein; during which Time ten thouſand Perſons were plentifully entertained in it and other Rooms of the Palace, for whoſe Supply were daily killed about eighty Oxen, and three hundred Sheep, beſides a vaſt Number of Fowls.

In this Hall are held the three great Courts of Juſtice, viz. the Chancery, King's Bench and Common Pleas; as are alſo the ſeveral Coronation Feaſts.

Ibid. Adjoining to the South-eaſt Angle of this Hall, and North End of the old Palace, King Stephen founded a Chapel, and dedicated the ſame to St. Stephen the Protomartyr. But Edward the Third having, in the Year 1347, rebuilt the ſame in a very magnificent manner, converted it into a Collegiate Church, and placed therein a Dean, twelve ſecular Canons, twelve Vicars, four Clerks, ſix Choriſters, a Verger and a Chapel keeper.

Dug. Mon. Angl. Ibid. And in the Year after, Edward, by his Letters Patent, endowed the ſame with his Hoſpitium, or great Houſe in Lombard-ſtreet, Lands in Yorkſhire, and an Annuity out of his Treaſury, to make up the Produce of the ſaid Houſe and Lands five hundred Pounds per Annum, till he ſhould ſettle an Eſtate thereon of the like yearly Value; and adjoining to the Thames Side, not only erected

Stow. Sur. Lond. handſome Apartments for their Reception, but likewiſe built for their Uſe in the Little Sanctuary in Little King-ſtreet, a very large and ſtrong Bell Tower, and placed therein three very great Bells, to be rung on ſolemn Occaſions, ſuch as Coronations, triumphal Shews, Funerals of Princes, and their Obiits.

Ibid. And for the greater Convenience of the Dean and Canons, (who, upon the Erection of the Eaſtern Part of the new Palace by Richard the Second, were removed into certain Houſes in Channel, alias Canon-row) and as an additional Embelliſhment to the ſaid ſtately Chapel, John Chamber, M. D. Phyſician to Henry the Eighth, and laſt Dean of the ſame, cauſed to be erected adjoining to the North Side thereof a magnificent Cloiſter, at the Expence of eleven thouſand Marks.

Ibid. The Revenues of this Collegiate Chapel, at its Suppreſſion, amounted to one thouſand and eighty-five Pounds ten Shillings and five Pence per Ann. and the ſame being ſurrendered to Edward the Sixth, it was appropriated for the Reception of the Repreſentatives of the Commons of England, who have ever ſince continued to meet therein every Seſſions of Parliament, (except when ſummoned by the King's Writ to Oxford) and is at preſent called the Houſe of Commons.

Contiguous to this Chapel, on the South, was that of our Lady of the Pew, whoſe Image therein being one of the firſt Claſs, had many religious Offices celebrated, and rich Offerings made to it: For Edward the Third, Anno 1369, gave to John Bulwich ten Marks per Annum for a daily Celebration before the ſaid Statue; and Richard the Second, upon the Deſtruction of Wat Tyler, repaired thither, when, after returning Thanks for his great Succeſs, he made conſiderable Offerings to the celebrated Wooden Deity; which was reduced to Aſhes, together with its Chapel and Treaſure, by a caſual Fire, in the Year 1452.

Stow. Sur. Lond.

The new Palace Yard being anciently incloſed with a Wall, there were four Gates therein; the only one at preſent remaining is that on the Eaſt, which leads to Weſtminſter ſtairs; and the three others that are demoliſhed, were, that on the North, which led to the Woolſtaple; that on the Weſt, called Highgate, (a very beautiful and ſtately Edifice) was ſituate at the Eaſt End of Union-ſtreet; but it having occaſioned great Obſtructions to the Members of Parliament in their Paſſage to and from their reſpective Houſes, the ſame was taken down in the Year 1706, as was alſo the third, at the North End of St. Margaret's-lane, Anno 1731, on the ſame Account.

Within this Incloſure (till of late) ſtood a great Stone Bell Tower, which was erected on the following Occaſion: A certain poor Man, in an Action of Debt, being fined the Sum of thirteen Shillings and four Pence, Randulphus Ingham, Chief Juſtice of the King's-Bench, commiſerating his Caſe, cauſed the Court Roll to be eraz'd, and the Fine reduced to ſix Shilling and eight Pence; which being ſoon after diſcovered, Ingham was amerced in a pecuniary Mulct of eight hundred Marks, which was employed in erecting the ſaid Bell Tower on the North Side of the ſaid Incloſure, oppoſite Weſtminſter-hall Gate; in which Tower was placed a Bell and a Clock, which ſtriking hourly, was to remind the Judges in the Hall of the Fate of their Brother, in order to prevent all dirty Work for the future. However, this Fact ſeems to have been forgot by Catlyn, Chief Juſtice of the King's-Bench in the Reign of Queen Elizabeth, by his attempting the Razure of a Court Roll, which Southcote, his Brother Judge, inſtead of aſſenting to, plainly told him, that he had no Inclination to build a Clock-houſe.

Cok. Inſt. Part 4.

On the Weſt Side of this Tower was a beautiful Fountain, with divers Spouts, which, on ſolemn Occaſions, uſed plentifully to flow with Wine for the Entertainment of the Populace; and from which, as has been already obſerved, the neighbouring Inhabitants, at other Times, received the waſte Water for their neceſſary Occaſions.

Without the North Wall and Gate of the New Palace-yard was ſituate the Woolſtaple, eſtabliſhed here by Edward the Third, and wherein (the Name whereof is ſtill remaining) was weighed all the Wool that came to the City of London and Town of Weſtminſter; and adjoining to the ſame, on the North-eaſt, were divers Houſes, erected for the Reception of the Canons of the Collegiate Chapel of St. Stephen, whereby it was denominated Canon-row, but afterwards corruptly Channel-row:

About the middle of this Row, was the Watercourſe denominated Long-ditch, over which, at the End of Gardiner's-lane in King-ſtreet, Matilda, Conſort to Henry the Firſt, erected a Bridge for the Convenience of Paſſage.

Act Parl. 27 Ed. III.

Stow. Sur. Lond.

At the North End of King-ſtreet, and Corner of Downing-ſtreet, was a very handſome Stone Gate, which was erected by Henry VIII. Anno 1532, for a Communication between his Palace of Whiteball and St. James's-Park, by a Paſſage over the ſame: But this, like the Gates already mentioned, occaſioning great Obſtructions in the Paſſage of Coaches, it was taken down a few Years ago: And now is opened a large well-built Street called Parliament-ſtreet, which ſtretches from Whiteball in a right Line, between and parallel with King-ſtreet and Channel-row, to the North End of New Palace-yard.

From the South-eaſt Corner of New Palace-yard, is erected the moſt beautiful Stone-bridge in the whole World, of which hereafter. And from the North End of this Bridge is built a ſpacious Street called Bridge-ſtreet, direct North into King-ſtreet, which by a late Act of Parliament is now continuing with lofty Buildings, in a direct Line into St. James's-Park, to open at the Avenue of Storie's-gate.

Stow. Sur. Lond. Rec. St. Marg. Pat.

In the Almonry, vulgarly the Ambry (ſo denominated from the Alms of the Abbey being diſtributed there) was a Chapel dedicated to St. Catharine, and not, according to Stow, to St. Anne; but when or by whom the ſame was founded, I cannot learn. Near to this Chapel, Abbot Iſlip, Anno 1474, erected the firſt Printing-preſs that ever was in England; and William Caxton, a Citizen and Mercer of London, who brought the ſame from Holland, became the firſt Printer.

Newt. Repert. Eccleſ. Paroch.

In Petty France was a Chapel, dedicated to St. Mary Magdalen, but of what Antiquity is unknown; when Henry VIII. erected Weſtminſter into an Epiſcopal See, he granted the ſame to the Dean and Chapter, which was confirmed by Queen Elizabeth, upon her converting the ſame into a Collegiate Church.

The antient Palace in this City not having been uſed as the Royal Reſidence ſince the twenty-third of Henry VIII. Anno 1532, the ſeveral Apartments therein have been appropriated to divers Uſes; two of which, for the Reception tion of the Houſes of Lords and Commons, and others occupied by the Courts of Star-Chamber, Requeſts, and Wards and Liveries; but theſe Courts being found very oppreſſive to the People, they are all diſſolved, and the Rooms wherein they were held, almoſt uſeleſs. But the Courts of Exchequer and Dutchy of Lancaſter, with the Receipt of the Exchequer, are ſtill kept in their reſpective Rooms. And in the great Hall, (which at firſt was only uſed for Royal Banquets, and Feaſts for refreſhing the Poor) ſince the Time of Henry III. have been held the Chief Courts of the Kingdom, which were appointed to be held there on the following Occaſion.

Stow. Sur. Lond.

The ſeveral Courts of Juſtice having antiently attended the King where-ever he reſided, proved not only very troubleſome and chargeable to the People, but the Courſe of Juſtice was thereby greatly obſtructed: For the redreſſing of theſe Grivances, Henry III. in the Year 1224, appointed, that the ſeveral Courts itinerant ſhould, for the future, be held in the great Hall of his Palace at Weſtminſter, at certain Times in the Year called Terms; in which Place, and at ſuch Times, the Courts of Chancery, King's-Bench and Common-Pleas have been held ever ſince, unleſs it were upon very extraordinary Emergencies. This Hall is alſo uſed for Royal Banquets, the Trial of Peers, and others impeached by the Houſe of Commons.

At the Weſt End of the Little Sanctuary are the Remains of a prodigious ſtrong Stone Building, of two hundred and ninety Feet ſquare, or ſeventy-two Feet and a Half the Length of each Side, and the Walls in Thickneſs no leſs than twenty-five Feet! This Fabrick originally had but one Entrance, or Door below, and that in the Eaſt Side, with a Window hard by, which ſeems to have been the only one below the Height of twenty-two Feet of the Building, where the Wall is reduced to three Feet in Thickneſs, and contains four Windows about the Height of ten, and Width of three Feet nine Inches, which are ſtill to be ſeen in the South Side, where the narrowed Wall ſtill remains, about the Height of twelve Feet.

The Area of this exceeding ſtrong Building, (excluſive of the arched Cavities in the Walls) by a Wall from Eaſt to Weſt, of two Feet ten Inches in Thickneſs, is divided into two Spaces of nine Feet ten Inches each in Width, repreſenting a Frame for Bells; which plainly evinces it to be the ſtrong Bell Tower (as already mentioned) that was erected in the Little Sanctuary by Edward III. for the Uſe of the Collegiate Church of St. Stephen; and not, as Strype ridiculouſly imagines it to have been, the Church of the Holy Innocents; for that was the Church of St. Mary le Strand. This ſtrong Tower at preſent is made uſe of as a Tavern or Wine Vault.

Ibid.

On the North Side of this Tower lies Thieving-lane, ſo denominated from Thieves paſſing that Way to the Gatehouſe Priſon, during the Continuance of the Privileges of the Sanctuary. This Gatehouſe, together with that, and the additional Building on the Eaſt, were erected by Walter Warfield, Butler to the Abbey, in the Reign of Edward III. the firſt for a common Gaol; and the Building on the Eaſt Side of the Dean's-yard Gate for the Biſhop of London's Priſon for Clerks Convict.

In the Veſtry Room of St. Margaret's Church are divers Sets of Weights both Troy and Averdupois, viz. 1. A Neſt of the former, containing thirteen different Sizes, the biggeſt of which being two hundred and fifty-ſix Ounces, and the ſmalleſt one ſixteenth Part of an Ounce. 2. Of Penny-weights, ſeven Sizes, from one to twenty Penny-weights. 3. Of Grain Weights, ſeven Sizes, from one to twelve Grains; and of the latter ſeven Sizes, the ſmalleſt one Pound and the biggeſt fifty-ſix: Which ſeveral Weights being compared on the 21ſt of Auguſt, Anno 1675, by Robert White, Clerk of Weſtminſter-Market, with thoſe of the National Standards kept in the Exchequer, they were found exactly to agree, not only in Weight and Form, as if caſt in the ſame Moulds, but alſo of the ſame Metal and Workmanſhip; nay, even in the Reſemblance of the Bags wherein the reſpective Weights were kept: But theſe of St. Margaret's being dated Anno 1588, and thoſe in the Exchequer Anno 1601, he therefore concludes, that St. Margaret's are thirteen Years older than the Standards. But the other Reaſons brought to ſupport this his Opinion, viz. their Agreement in Weight, Form, Metal, curious Engravings, and Bags, ſeem to me, that, inſtead of anſwering what they were brought for, they rather ſeem to prove them of the ſame Original. But as neither White, nor any of the preſent Inhabitants, know how, nor when the ſaid Weights were brought hither, I ſhall therefore endeavour to ſhew the Time and Occaſion of their being brought to this Place.

The People having been grievouſly impoſed upon by falſe Weights and Meaſures in moſt Parts of the Kingdom; for the redreſſing of which, it was by Parliament, in the Year 1496, enacted, that ſeveral Knights, Citizens, Barons of the Cinque Ports, and Burgeſſes in Parliament, ſhould receive proper Sets of the ſundry Sorts of Weights and Meaſures the King had cauſed to be made in Braſs, according to the original Standards in the Exchequer, to be depoſited in ſuch Places as are mentioned in the ſaid Act, where they were to remain remain as perpetual Patterns for the Inhabitants of the ſeveral Counties, Cities and Towns to make their reſpective Weights and Meaſures by, for the Eaſe and Safety of the Subjects in all Parts of the Kingdom.

Among the Cities and Town mentioned in the aforeſaid Act of Parliament for the Cuſtody of the ſaid Patterns, the Town of Weſtminſter is appointed the Repoſitory for the County of Middleſex; but as Weſtminſter, at that Time ſent no Repreſentatives to Parliament, I imagine that the ſeveral Weights and Meaſures aſſign'd for the Uſe of the County of Middleſex, were conſign'd to the principal Inhabitants of this Place, who depoſited them in the Room wherein they are ſtill kept.

Rec. Guild. But if, according to the Lord-Mayor of London's Letter to the Lord High-Treaſurer, Anno 1581, complaining that the Standard of Weights was loſt, we have then reaſon to believe, that another was provided in the Year 1588, according to the Date of St. Margaret's Weights; in which Moulds probably not only theſe, but likewiſe all thoſe for the ſeveral Parts of the Kingdom, were caſt; and perhaps ſome Time after, the new Standard being loſt, recourſe was had to the neighbouring Weights for reſtoring the ſame according to the Date of 1601.

The Remarkables in this City at preſent are, the old and new Palaces, with their ſpacious Hall, wherein the Houſes of Lords and Commons aſſemble, the Courts of Juſtice ſit, and the Receipt of the Exchequer kept; the ſtately and magnificent Abbey, or Collegiate Church, with its Appendage, the incomparable Chapel of Henry VII. the Churches of St. Margaret and St. John the Evangeliſt; four Chapels of Eaſe; two Meeting-houſes; a Market-place; the great Repoſitory of Records belonging to the Exchequer; the King's, Cotton's and College Libraries; a College; ſix Charity-Schools; three Hoſpitals; ten Almshouſes; a Pariſh Workhouſe; a Houſe of Correction; a Priſon, part of St. James's beautiful Park, and the Bridge acroſs the Thames.

The Diſtrict wherein the Royal Palace of Whitehall was ſituate, together with the Privy Garden, Treaſury, Offices of the Secretaries of State, Tennis-Court and Cock-pit, which are bounded by two parallel Lines, viz. from the North-Eaſt Angle of the Canal in St. James's Park, by Whitehall Stairs, to the River Thames; and from the ſaid River, by the Privy-Garden Stairs, Weſt to St. James's Park, having for a conſiderable Time been controverted between the Pariſhes of St. Margaret Weſtminſter and that of St. Martin in the Fields, I ſhall therefore, to avoid the Imputation of Partiality, inſert an Account of the ſaid Diſtrict between the ſaid Pariſhes.

Godw. de Præſul. Angl. The Palace of Whitehall was erected by Hubert de Burgh, Earl of Kent, and Chief Juſtice of England, who, in the Year 1243, bequeathed the ſame to the Preaching, or Black Friars in Chancery-lane, High Holborn, in whoſe Church he was buried. But the ſaid Friars, Anno 1248, having diſpoſed thereof to Walter de Gray, Archbiſhop of York, he deviſed the ſame to his Succeſſors, Archbiſhops of York, for their City Manſion; hence it received the Appellation of York-Place.

In the Reign of Henry VIII. the Royal Palace at Weſtminſter being almoſt deſtroyed by Fire, the King, with his Court, went to reſide at his Palace of Bridewell; but having a greater Inclination to York-houſe, purchaſed the ſame of Cardinal Wolſey, the Archbiſhop of that See, (and not, according to divers Hiſtorians, that it devolved to the Crown upon Wolſey's being found guilty of a Premunire) who, in the Year 1530, ſuffered a Recovery thereof to ſeveral Perſons in Truſt for the King's Uſe, by the Name of one Meſſuage, two Gardens and three Acres of Ground, with the Appurtenances in the Town of Weſtminſter, called York-place. From which Time it continued the Royal Reſidence till its fatal Cataſtrophe in the Year 1697, when it was wholly conſumed by Fire; and inſtead of being rebuilt, the Site thereof has been granted by ſucceeding Princes, to divers of the Nobility, and other Perſons of Diſtinction, who have erected ſeveral ſtately Edifices thereon.

Act Parl. 28 Hen. VIII.

Henry was no ſooner poſſeſſed of this magnificent Palace, than he cauſed to be erected a ſtately Manſion at St. James's; and for the Uſe and Service of it, as well as that of Whitehall, incloſed a beautiful Spot of Ground, and converted it into a Park for the Accommodation of both Palaces; which Work was no ſooner accompliſhed, than he cauſed to be erected the preſent ſtately Gate, oppoſite the Banqueting-houſe; to which he added a magnificent Gallery for the Accommodation of the Royal Family, Nobility, &c. to ſit in, to behold the ſeveral Juſtings and other Military Exerciſes in the Tilt-yard, which was ſo denominated from ſuch Martial Practices. Stow. Sur. Lond.

Soon after, Henry, for other Diverſions, erected, contiguous to the foreſaid Gate, a Tennis-Court, Cock-pit, and Places to bowl in; the former of which being only remaining, the reſt are converted into Dwelling-houſes, and Offices for the Privy-Council, Treaſury, and Secretaries of State. Ibid.

And the preſent ſtately and magnificent Fabrick, denominated the Banqueting-houſe, was erected by King James I. being the only and meaneſt Part of his intended ſpacious Palace that was built.

St. Martin's.

This Church, dedicated to St. Martin, a Hungarian Saint, and formerly ſituate in the Fields, is of great Antiquity, as is manifeſt by a Controverſy in the Year 1222, between Euſtace Biſhop of London, and the Dean and Chapter of St. Paul's, on the one Part; and William, the Abbot, and Canons of Weſtminſter, on the other, concerning the Exemption of the Church and Convent of the latter, from the Juriſdiction of the former. Mat. Weſt. Flor. Hiſt.

This Diſpute was adjuſted by the Arbitration of Stephen, Archbiſhop of Canterbury, the Biſhops of Winton and Sarum, and the Priors of Merton and Dunſtaple. By whoſe Award, the Abbey of Weſtminſter, and Pariſh of St. Margaret, were exempted from the Juriſdiction of the Biſhop of London. And as by the ſaid Award, the Church of St. Martin, with the Garden (part of which is ſtill denominated Covent-Garden) that belonged to the Abbot and Monks of Weſtminſter, appear to have been independent of St. Margaret's Pariſh, altho' ſurrounded by the ſame; it might therefore at firſt have been erected a Chapel for the Uſe of the Monks when they repaired to their ſaid Garden, eſpecially conſidering they were contiguous. Be that as it will, the Time of its Foundation cannot be more uncertain, than that when it was conſtituted a Pariſh: However, the latter muſt have happened before 1363; for in that Year John —— was appointed Vicar thereof, on the Reſignation of Thomas Skyn. Ibid. Joh. Fleet. MSS. Hiſt. Cœnob. Weſtm. Newc. Repert. Eccleſ. Paroch.

In the Reign of Henry VIII. the Inhabitants of this Pariſh ſeem to have been in very mean Circumſtances, by letting their Church go to ruin; for in the Preamble to King James I's Grant of an Acre of Ground to the Pariſh for a Burial Place, 'tis expreſsly ſaid, that in the ſaid Henry's Time there was no Pariſh Church here; wherefore the ſaid Prince cauſed one to be built for the Uſe of the Inhabitants. But the ſame not being capacious enough to accommodate the Pariſhioners, it was greatly inlarged in the Year 1607, by the Addition of a ſpacious Chancel, which Par. Rec.

which was erected at the Expence of Prince Henry and divers of the Nobility.

This Church, after many expenſive Reparations and Enlargements, was taken intirely down in the Year 1720, and ſoon after the firſt Stone of the preſent ſtately and magnificent Fabrick was laid, under which was put a Copper-Plate, with the following Inſcription:

D. S.

Sereniſſimus Rex Georgius, per Deputatum ſuum, Reverendum Admodum in Chriſto Patrem, Richardum Epiſcopum Sariſburienſem, ſummum ſuum Elemoſynarium, Adſiſtente (Regis juſſu) Domino Thomâ Hewyt, Equite Aurato, Ædificiorum Regiorum Curatore Principali, primum hujus Eccleſiæ Lapidem poſuit, Martis XIX. An. Dom. MDCCXXI. Annoq; Regni ſui VIIIvo.

On this Occaſion his Majeſty gave one hundred Guineas to be diſtributed among the Workmen; as he likewiſe did ſome Time after the Sum of fifteen hundred Pounds to purchaſe an Organ for the Church.

To ſhew the Time when this ſtately Church was finiſhed, the following Inſcription is put on the Weſt Front thereof:

D. Sacram Ædem. S. Martini Parochiani Extrui fec. A. D. MDCCXXVI.

The Church was no ſooner finiſhed, than it was conſecrated on the 20th of October, Anno 1716.

This noble Edifice was chiefly erected by Act of Parliament, at the Expence of the Landlords and Tenants of the Pariſh, the former paying four Fifths, and the latter one; the whole Charge of Building, Decorations, &c. according to the Account of Mr. Walter Turner, the Church-warden, when it was finiſhed, appears to be as follows: To Workmens Bills for building 33017 l. 9 s. 3 d. To recaſting the Bells, including the old and new Metal, 1264 l. 18 s. 3 d. To an Organ 1500 l. To Decorations, altering the Communion-Plate, &c. 1109 l. 2 s. 10 d. Sum Total, 36891 l. 10 s. 4 d. But of this Sum only 33450 l. being granted by Parliament, the reſt was raiſed by the Royal Benefaction, Subſcription, and the Sale of Seats in the Church.

This beautiful Church, which is ſituate on the Eaſt Side of the Lane to which it gives Name, is denominated from its Dedication to Martin, an Hungarian Saint; and the Epithet in the Fields, from its Situation therein, when it was taken into the Bill of Mortality, whereby it is diſtinguiſhed from other Churches of the ſame Appellation in the City of London.

Newc. Repert. Eccleſ. Paroch.

This Church antiently belonging to the Abbot and Canons of Weſtminſter, they erected the ſame into a Vicarage, the Advowſon whereof Queen Mary, by her Letters Patent of the 3d of March, Anno 1553, granted to the Biſhop of London and his Succeſſors, in whoſe Collation it ſtill remains. But the Tithes of the Rectory were granted by Letters Patent of Queen Elizabeth, to the Dean and Chapter of Weſtminſter, in the Year 1560.

Officers, &c. in this Pariſh.

The Veſtry is ſelect, conſiſting of fifty-two Members; three Burgeſſes, and their three Aſſiſtants; two Church-wardens; eight Overſeers of the Poor; eight Conſtables; eighteen Scavengers, who pay the Raker, for cleanſing the Streets, and carrying away the Duſt, the Sum of ſeven hundred and thirty-one Pounds; eight Beadles, and thirty-two Watchmen; three thouſand and eighty-nine Houſes.

Antiquities, &c. in this Pariſh.

Stow. Sur. Lond. At the South East Boundary of this Pariſh antiently ſtood the Vicarage Houſe; which coming to Sir Thomas Palmer, about the Year 1550, he rebuilt and very much inlarged the ſame; as it was likewiſe ſome Time after, by William Cecil, Baron of Burleigh, and Lord High Treaſurer of the Kingdom, in a very magnificent Manner; and who raiſed and paved the Street before it, for the Convenience of Paſſage. The Name of this ſtately Building is ſtill preſerved in a Street of the ſame Appellation in the Strand.

Ibid. A little Weſt from Cecil-houſe, was ſituate that of Saliſbury; which has given Denomination to a Street of that Name, erected on the Site thereof, and leads to the Stairs of the ſame Denomination.

A ſmall Watercourſe having antiently interſected the Street called the Strand, a Bridge was erected acroſs the ſame, at the North Weſt Angle of Saliſbury-houſe; the Appellation of which is ſtill preſerved in the Lane of that Name, which runs down to the River Thames.

Ibid. Almoſt contiguous to Ivy-bridge on the South-Weſt, ſtood the City Manſion of the Biſhop of Durham; which was erected by Thomas Hatfield, Biſhop of that See about the Year 1365, for the Uſe of himſelf and Succeſſors.

Ibid. Before this Houſe, fronting the Strand, were improperly ſituate the Biſhop's Stables; which being mean and deſpicable Hovels, formed a very diſagreeable Proſpect in the High-ſtreet, leading to the Royal Palace. The Earl of Saliſbury, in the Reign of King James I. pulled down the ſame, and in their ſtead erected a magnificent Stone Edifice, which the King denominated Britain's Burſe; but that Name not prevailing, it was afterwards denominated the New-Exchange. But the ſame being deſerted by the Mercers, and others who kept Shops therein, it was taken down in the Year 1737, and is now erected into handſome Dwelling-houſes and Shops.

Ibid. Contiguous to Durham-houſe, on the Weſt, was ſituate the City Reſidence of the Biſhop of Norwich; which was purchaſed by Nicholas Heath, Archbiſhop of York, about the Year 1556, for his City Manſion, and that of his Succeſſors, in lieu of Whitehall, their antient Palace, which was ſold by Cardinal Wolſey to King Henry VIII. as already mentioned. This Houſe coming to the Duke of Buckingham, he demiſed the ſame and Garden to certain Builders; who, on the Site thereof erected divers beautiful Streets and Alleys, wherein his Name and Title, viz. John Villars, Duke of Buckingham, are recorded; viz. John-ſtreet, Villars-ſtreet, Duke-ſtreet, Of-alley, and Buckingham-ſtreet. However, theſe Streets, together, are ſtill denominated York-buildings.

which was erected at the Expence of Prince Henry and divers of the Nobility.

This Church, after many expensive Reparations and Enlargements, was taken intirely down in the Year 1720, and soon after the first Stone of the present stately and magnificent Fabrick was laid, under which was put a Copper-Plate, with the following Inscription:

D. S.

Sereniſſimus Rex Georgius, per Deputatum ſuum, Reverendum Admodum in Chriſto Patrem, Richardum Epiſcopum Sariſburienſem, ſummum ſuum Elemoſynarium, Adſiſtente (Regis juſſu) Domino Thomâ Hewyt, Equite Aurato, Ædificiorum Regiorum Curatore Principali, primum hujus Eccleſiæ Lapidem poſuit, Martis XIX. An. Dom. MDCCXXI. Annoq; Regni ſui VIIIvo.

On this Occaſion his Majeſty gave one hundred Guineas to be diſtributed among the Workmen; as he likewiſe did ſome Time after the Sum of fifteen hundred Pounds to purchaſe an Organ for the Church.

To ſhew the Time when this ſtately Church was finiſhed, the following Inſcription is put on the Weſt Front thereof:

D. Sacram Ædem. S. Martini Parochiani Extrui fec. A. D. MDCCXXVI.

The Church was no ſooner finiſhed, than it was conſecrated on the 20th of October, Anno 1716.

This noble Edifice was chiefly erected by Act of Parliament, at the Expence of the Landlords and Tenants of the Pariſh, the former paying four Fifths, and the latter one; the whole Charge of Building, Decorations, &c. according to the Account of Mr. Walter Turner, the Church-warden, when it was finiſhed, appears to be as follows: To Workmens Bills for building 33017 l. 9 s. 3 d. To recaſting the Bells, including the old and new Metal, 1264 l. 18 s. 3 d. To an Organ 1500 l. To Decorations, altering the Communion-Plate, &c. 1109 l. 2 s. 10 d. Sum Total, 36891 l. 10 s. 4 d. But of this Sum only 33450 l. being granted by Parliament, the reſt was raiſed by the Royal Benefaction, Subſcription, and the Sale of Seats in the Church.

This beautiful Church, which is ſituate on the Eaſt Side of the Lane to which it gives Name, is denominated from its Dedication to Martin, an Hungarian Saint; and the Epithet in the Fields, from its Situation therein, when it was taken into the Bill of Mortality, whereby it is diſtinguiſhed from other Churches of the ſame Appellation in the City of London.

Newc. Repert. Eccleſ. Paroch.

This Church antiently belonging to the Abbot and Canons of Weſtminſter, they erected the ſame into a Vicarage, the Advowſon whereof Queen Mary, by her Letters Patent of the 3d of March, Anno 1553, granted to the Biſhop of London and his Succeſſors, in whoſe Collation it ſtill remains. But the Tithes of the Rectory were granted by Letters Patent of Queen Elizabeth, to the Dean and Chapter of Weſtminſter, in the Year 1560.

Antiquities, &c. in this Pariſh.

At the South Eaſt Boundary of this Pariſh antiently ſtood the Vicarage Houſe; which coming to Sir Thomas Palmer, about the Year 1550, he rebuilt and very much inlarged the ſame; as it was likewiſe ſome Time after, by William Cecil, Baron of Burleigh, and Lord High Treaſurer of the Kingdom, in a very magnificent Manner; and who raiſed and paved the Street before it, for the Convenience of Paſſage. The Name of this ſtately Building is ſtill preſerved in a Street of the ſame Appellation in the Strand. Stow. Sur. Lond.

A little Weſt from Cecil-houſe, was ſituate that of Saliſbury; which has given Denomination to a Street of that Name, erected on the Site thereof, and leads to the Stairs of the ſame Denomination. Ibid.

A ſmall Watercourſe having antiently interſected the Street called the Strand, a Bridge was erected acroſs the ſame, at the North Weſt Angle of Saliſbury-houſe; the Appellation of which is ſtill preſerved in the Lane of that Name, which runs down to the River Thames.

Almoſt contiguous to Ivy-bridge on the South-Weſt, ſtood the City Manſion of the Biſhop of Durham; which was erected by Thomas Hatfield, Biſhop of that See about the Year 1365, for the Uſe of himſelf and Succeſſors. Ibid.

Before this Houſe, fronting the Strand, were improperly ſituate the Biſhop's Stables; which being mean and deſpicable Hovels, formed a very diſagreeable Proſpect in the High-ſtreet, leading to the Royal Palace. The Earl of Saliſbury, in the Reign of King James I. pulled down the ſame, and in their ſtead erected a magnificent Stone Edifice, which the King denominated Britain's Burſe; but that Name not prevailing, it was afterwards denominated the New-Exchange. But the ſame being deſerted by the Mercers, and others who kept Shops therein, it was taken down in the Year 1737, and is now erected into handſome Dwelling-houſes and Shops. Ibid.

Contiguous to Durham-houſe, on the Weſt, was ſituate the City Reſidence of the Biſhop of Norwich; which was purchaſed by Nicholas Heath, Archbiſhop of York, about the Year 1556, for his City Manſion, and that of his Succeſſors, in lieu of Whitehall, their antient Palace, which was ſold by Cardinal Wolſey to King Henry VIII. as already mentioned. This Houſe coming to the Duke of Buckingham, he demiſed the ſame and Garden to certain Builders; who, on the Site thereof erected divers beautiful Streets and Alleys, wherein his Name and Title, viz. John Villars, Duke of Buckingham, are recorded; viz. John-ſtreet, Villars-ſtreet, Duke-ſtreet, Of-alley, and Buckingham-ſtreet. However, theſe Streets, together, are ſtill denominated York-buildings.

This Hoſpital, together with divers Priories Alien, being ſuppreſſed by Henry V. the ſame was refounded by King Edward IV. Anno 1476, for a Fraternity, or Brotherhood. After the general Suppreſſion of Religious Houſes by King Henry VIII. King Edward VI. in the Year 1550, granted this Chapel, with its Appurtenances, to Sir Thomas Cawarden, to be held in Soccage of the Honour of Weſtminſter. But the Hoſpital ſome Time after coming to Henry Howard, Earl of Northampton, he cauſed the ſame to be demoliſhed, and on the Site thereof erected the preſent ſtately Edifice, denominated Northumberland-houſe; in which he died June 15, Anno 1614.

Newc. Repert. Eccleſ. Paroch.

A little Weſtward from this Hoſpital King Edward I. cauſed a ſtately Croſs to be erected, in Commemoration of Eleanor, his beloved Conſort; Part of which having continued till the late Civil War, the ſame was intirely deſtroyed by the Populace, as a Monument of Popiſh Superſtition.

Since the Erection of this Croſs, an Hermitage, with a Chapel of St. Catharine, ſeems to have been erected between the ſame and the Hoſpital of Rouncival; but when, or by whom it was built, is no better known than the Time of its Diſſolution.

Oppoſite Charing-croſs, (ſo denominated from the Village wherein it ſtood) on the North, between St. Martin's-lane and the Mewſe, was ſituate an Hoſpital for Lunaticks; but the King cauſed them to be removed to Bethlem Hoſpital, without Biſhopſgate. See Biſhopſgate Ward.

Between Charing-croſs and Whitehall, on the Place ſtill denominated Scotland-yard, antiently ſtood a magnificent Palace, for the Reception of the Kings of Scotland, and their Retinues, when they came to Weſtminſter to do Homage for the Counties of Cumberland and Huntingdon, and other Fiefs, held by them of the Crown of England. This Edifice is ſaid to have been erected by King Edgar, about the Year 970.

Ibid.

On the Place where the Royal Palace of St. James's is ſituate, antiently ſtood the Hoſpital of St. James, which, according to divers Hiſtorians, was founded by the Citizens of London long before the Conqueſt (which, I think, is not to be queſtioned, ſeeing by a MS. in the Cotton Library, it appears to have been viſited by Giſlebertus, Abbot of Weſtminſter, on the Wedneſday after the Feaſt of St. John Baptiſt, Anno 1100) for the Reception of fourteen Leprous Maids; for whoſe Support they endowed the ſame with two Hides, or Ploughs of Land, with their Appurtenances, adjoining.

Some Time after, divers others of the aforeſaid Citizens having conferred upon the ſaid Hoſpital, Lands to the Amount of fifty-ſix Pounds per Annum, eight Brethren were thereupon added to the Foundation, for the Celebration of the Divine Offices; which ſo animated others of the Citizens, that they gave to the ſaid Brethren and Siſters, four Hides, or Ploughs of Land in their Neighbourhood; and eighty Acres of Wood and Arable Land in the Pariſhes of Hendon, Calcote and Hampſtead; which Edward I. not only confirmed, together with all their other Poſſeſſions, but likewiſe granted to the ſaid Hoſpital an annual Fair of ſeven Days, to begin on the Eve of St. James's Feſtival.

This Hoſpital being ſurrendered to Henry VIII. in the Year 1532, he granted certain Annuities to the ſeveral Siſters during their reſpective Lives. And having cauſed the ancient Building to be taken down, erected on the Site thereof a ſtately Manſion, and denominated the ſame The Manor of St. James's: And walling in the neighbouring Fields, converted them into a beautiful Park, for the Convenience of this and that of his Palace of Whitehall.

North-weſt of Charing-croſs is ſtill remaining an antient Building, denominated the Mewſe (from Mew, a Term among Falconers, to Moult, or caſt Feathers); it appears to be a Place of conſiderable Antiquity, by its being employed for the Accommodation of the King's Falconers and Hawks, ſo early as the firſt of Richard II. in the Year 1377. But in the twenty-eighth of Henry VIII. Anno 1537, the King's Stables at Lomeſbury, corruptly Bloomſbury, near High-Holborn, being deſtroyed by Fire, the Hawks were removed, and the Mewſe inlarged and fitted up for the Reception of his Majeſty's Horſes, where they have been kept ever ſince. But the Building being greatly decayed by devouring Time, the North Side thereof was rebuilt in the Year 1732, in a very magnificent manner by his preſent Majeſty.

King James I. in the Year 1606, gave to the Inhabitants of this Pariſh an Acre of Ground on the North Side of the Mewſe, lying between St. Martin's-lane, Caſtle-ſtreet, Duke's-ſtreet, and Heming's-row, for a common Burial Ground. On the Weſt Side of which is built Dr. Tenniſon's School and Library, and the Pariſh Workhouſe for the Reception of the Poor.

Par. Rec.

In the Year 1699, King William III. granted to the Inhabitants of this Pariſh a convenient Paſſage out of the Spring-garden into St. James's-park, they keeping the Pavement in Repair.

In digging a Foundation for the preſent Church, at the Depth of thirteen Feet, were diſcovered ſome human Bones of an uncommon Size, many of which were broken in pieces by the Labourers before they were taken notice of; and only a Rib, Hip, Thigh, Leg and Foot Bones being preſerved, they were lately in the Muſeum of the curious Mr. Edward Barnard, a Surgeon, in Great Ruſſel-ſtreet, Bloomſbury, where I meaſured the Leg and Thigh Bones, which are three Feet and eleven Inches long; but the Ends of both being much impaired by their long Interment, have loſt at leaſt an Inch, beſides the Loſs of the Cartilages; which being conſidered, according to the Rule of Proportion, the Perſon they belonged to, muſt have been at leaſt eight Feet and four Inches in Height; and the Foot Bones being fourteen Inches and five-eighths long, the whole muſt have been about fifteen Inches and a Half in Length. Theſe Bones being compared to thoſe of the Skeleton of a Man of ſix Feet two Inches in the ſaid Muſeum, the laſt only appeared as Childrens Bones to the former, both in Length and Thickneſs.

The Remarkables in this Pariſh at preſent, are, the Royal Palace of St. James's, with Part of its beautiful Park; the Admiralty Office; a fine Equeſtrian Statue of King Charles I. where Charing-croſs was ſituate; one Square; a Fleſh and Part of a Hay Market; four Engliſh and three French Chapels; one Free and two Charity Schools; two Alms-houſes; a publick Library; a Pariſh Workhouſe; four Bagnio's; two Cold-Baths; a Tennis-Court; four Sets of Steps, or Stairs to take Water at; and three Water Machines, which ſupply their reſpective Neighbourhoods with ſweet Water; one of which, in York-Buildings, is wrought by Horſes, and the other two, in St. Martin's and Hartſhorn Lanes, by the Water of a Common Sewer.

Antiquities, &c. in this Pariſh.

This Pariſh originally conſiſted of the Village denominated the Strand, the Church whereof, as already mentioned, was ſituate on the South Side of the ſame; and in whoſe Neighbourhood muſt have ſtood the Chapel above-mentioned, which I imagine was ſituate in Holywell-ſtreet (now called the Backſide of St. Clement's) wherein is ſtill a Well, in a Baker's Yard, which was denominated Holywell; which Appellation it undoubtedly received from its Vicinity to ſome conſecrated Place.

Adjoining to the late Church of this Pariſh, on the South, fronting the River Thames, was ſituate an Inn of Chancery, which, from its Neighbourhood to the Biſhop of Cheſter's Houſe and the Strand, was indifferently denominated, Cheſter's, or Strand-Inn.

Almoſt contiguous to this Inn, on the Weſt, was the City Manſion of the Biſhop of Landaff: And on the North-weſt thereof, (a little Eaſt of the preſent Catharine-ſtreet) in the High-ſtreet, was a handſome Bridge, denominated from its Situation Strand-Bridge, thro' which ran a ſmall Watercourſe from the Fields, which gliding along a Lane below, had its Influx to the Thames, near Somerſet-Stairs. All which Buildings, together with the Pariſh Church and Lane, as already mentioned, were obliged to make way for Somerſet-houſe, its Gardens and Stables.

Almoſt adjoining to Strand-bridge, on the Weſt, were contiguouſly ſituate the City Reſidences of the Biſhops of Cheſter and Worceſter; before the former of which was erected a Stone Croſs, where the Judges itinerant frequently uſed to ſit, hear and determine Cauſes.

Things remarkable in this Pariſh at preſent are, its magnificent and ſtately Church, on the Site whereof, till the Year 1714, a very lofty May-pole ſtood, which on publick Occaſions was adorned with Streamers, Flags, Garlands of Flowers, &c. At the digging a Foundation for the preſent Church, the Virgin Earth was diſcovered at the Depth of nineteen Feet; whereby 'tis manifeſt, that the Ground in this Neighbourhood originally, was not much higher than the River Thames; therefore this Village was truly denominated the Strand, from its Situation on the Bank of the River.

The magnificent Palace of Somerſet-houſe in this Pariſh, which devolved to the Crown upon the Attainder of Edward Duke of Somerſet, is occaſionally uſed for the Reception and Entertainment of Foreign Princes and Ambaſſadors; as its pleaſant Walks and beautiful Bowling-Green are for the Diverſion of the Citizens.

At the Weſtern Boundary of this Pariſh, and North Side of the Strand, antiently ſtood the City Manſion of the Earl of Exeter; but the Site and Gardens thereof being converted into Streets, &c. the Name thereof is ſtill preſerved therein, as well as 'tis in the Exchange of the ſame Appellation.

Here are likewiſe an Engliſh and a Greek Chapel, two Charity-Schools, an Exchange, and a Set of Steps or Stairs to take Water at.

St. Paul's, Covent-Garden.

In the Year 1222, the Spot whereon the beſt and greateſt Part of this Pariſh is ſituate (and from which the ſame, together with its Square and Market, are denominated) was a large Garden belonging to the Abbot and Convent of Weſtminſter; wherefore it juſtly received the Appellation of Convent-Garden, now corruptly Covent or Common-Garden; which Garden, at the Diſſolution of religious Houſes by Henry VIII. devolving to the Crown, Edward VI. Anno 1547, conferred the ſame upon Edward Duke of Somerſet: But ſoon after, upon his Attainder, it reverting to the Crown, Edward on the 6th of May, Anno 1552, granted the ſame, together with a Field contiguous on the North, denominated the Seven Acres, (but from its Length, vulgarly the Long Acre, which Name is ſtill preſerved in the Street of that Denomination) to John Earl of Bedford.

MS. Hiſt. Joh. Fleet. cap. 12.

Rec. Roll. 4 P. 6 Ed. VI.

Some Time after, the Number of Houſes upon new Foundations having greatly increaſed in this Neighbourhood, Francis, Earl of Bedford, about the Year 1640, erected a magnificent Chapel (now the Pariſh Church) for the Convenience of his new Tenants in the Performance of their religious Duties; with an Intent of ſettling a Stipend of one hundred Pounds per Annum, and a Houſe, towards the Maintenance and Habitation of a Miniſter, to officiate therein.

On the 7th of January, Anno 1645, the Precinct of Covent-garden was, by an Ordinance of the Lords and Commons then ſitting at Weſtminſter, ſeparated from the Pariſh of St. Martin's in the Fields, and conſtituted a Pariſh in all Reſpects independent, with a Power of raiſing Money to defray the neceſſary Expences of the new Eſtabliſhment; and to elect Officers for the good Government of the Pariſh. But this being the Act of an illegal Power, 'twas, in the Year 1660, by an Act of the firſt Parliament after the Reſtoration, anew conſtituted a diſtinct Pariſh, by the Appellation of St. Paul's, Covent-garden; and at the ſame Time diſcharged from all manner of Dependance upon that of St. Martin; and the Patronage thereof veſted in William, Earl of Bedford, his Heirs and Aſſigns.

Act Parl. 12 Car. II.

And by the ſaid Act, the Rector of the Pariſh, and his Succeſſors, are incorporated to have perpetual Succeſſion, and a Rent of one hundred Pounds per Annum ſettled upon them, iſſuing out of three Houſes in the Square, denominated Covent-Garden, to be paid Quarterly, upon the Penalty of twenty Pounds, for an Elapſe of Payment for twenty-one Days. And by the ſame Authority, the Rector, with the Conſent of the Patron, is impowered to nominate a Perſon duly qualified for his Curate-Aſſiſtant. And as a further Maintenance for the Rector, and Proviſion for the Curate and other Church Officers, it was ordained by the Authority aforeſaid, that on every Eaſter-Tueſday three Church-wardens ſhall be choſen, viz. One by the Patron, another by the Rector, and a Third by the Pariſhioners; which Church-wardens, or any two of them, are impowered, by a Pound-Rate upon Houſes, (the Manſion called Bedford-houſe, with its Appurtenances, only excepted) according to their improved Value, to raiſe annually two hundred and fifty Pounds, by an Aſſeſſment to be made yearly, within twenty-eight Days, after the ſaid Day of Election, to be confirmed by two Juſtices of the Peace within the City, or Liberty of Weſtminſter, under their Hands and Seals, to be collected by the ſaid Church-wardens, or thoſe they ſhall appoint; and in caſe of Non-payment, to be levied by Diſtreſs. Out of which Sum, the ſaid Church-wardens are annually to pay the Rector the Sum of one hundred and fifty Pounds, and to the Curate fifty Pounds, by Quarterly Payments, upon Pain of Impriſoment, till the ſaid Sums are reſpectively paid. And out of the remaining Sum of fifty Pounds, the Pariſh Clerk receives thirty, and the two Sextons twenty Pounds per Annum. And by the ſaid Act of Parliament, the Juriſdiction of the Biſhop of London and his Succeſſors, is to be as amply exerciſed in this, as in any other Pariſh within the Dioceſe of London.

Ibid.

This Church, which is a Rectory, ſituate at the Weſt End of the Square and Market of Covent-garden, is denominated from its being dedicated to the Apoſtle St. Paul, and the Place of its Situation.

Antiquities, &c. in this Pariſh.

Edward VI. in the Year 1552, had no ſooner granted the Precinct of Covent-garden, with its Appurtenances, to John Earl of Bedford, than he erected a Houſe therein for his City Manſion. This Houſe, which ſtood on the North Side of the Strand (till Ann. 1704,) where at preſent the lower End of Southampton-ſtreet is ſituate, was a mean Wooden Building, ſhut up from the Street by an ordinary Brick Wall, with a Garden on the North, whoſe northern Incloſure, or Wall, ran along where the Front of the ſouthern Row of Buildings of Covent-garden is at preſent ſituate; without which, where the Street now is, the Market was kept. But Southampton and Taviſtock-ſtreets, with Southampton-paſſage, being erected on the Site and Gardens of Bedford-houſe, the Market was removed farther into the Square; which has proved ſo very prejudicial to the magnificent Buildings thereof, that inſtead of their being inhabited by Perſons of the greateſt Diſtinction as formerly, they are now obliged to take up with Vintners, Coffeemen, and other ſuch Inhabitants.

In digging lately in King-ſtreet, and the northern Side of Covent-garden-ſquare, great Quantities of human Bones were diſcovered; but as it does not appear that ever there was any Church in this Place before the preſent, I am of Opinion, that this Cemetery muſt either have belonged to St. Martin's Church, or by the Abbot and Convent of Weſtminſter have been appointed a Place of Burial, during the Rage of ſome great Peſtilence.

Things remarkable at preſent are, a magnificent Square, wherein (to its great Diſgrace) is kept an Herb and Fruit Market; two Charity Schools; one Meeting-houſe; a Pariſh Workhouſe; two Bagnio's, a Cold Bath; and a Playhouſe.

Having gone thro' the Accounts of the ſeveral Pariſhes of the City and Liberties of Weſtminſter, I ſhall now give a compendious Account of its Government.

Until

Until the Reformation, Anno 1539, the Village, or Town of Weſtminſter, was under the arbitrary Government of the Abbot and Monks of that Name; as it was afterwards under that of the Biſhop, and the Dean and Chapter; till ſettled
Act Parl. 27 Eliz. by Act of Parliament in the twenty-ſeventh of Queen Elizabeth, Anno 1585, whereby the Civil Government thereof is lodged in the Hands of the Laity; tho' the Dean by the ſaid Act is impowered to nominate and appoint the chief Officers thereunto belonging, viz. The High Steward, who, if guilty of no Malverſation, holds his Office during Life. But this Officer ſeldom officiating, leaves the Management of Affairs to his Deputy, who being a Perſon well verſed in the Laws of the Kingdom, is appointed by him, and confirmed by the Dean, and generally holds his Office during Life, or the Government of his Patron.

This City, or Borough, with its Liberties, being by the ſaid Authority divided into twelve Wards, the Dean, or the High-Steward, or his Deputy, are impowered, for the better Government of the ſame, yearly, upon Eaſter-Thurſday, to nominate and elect twelve ſufficient Merchants or Tradeſmen, to be denominated Burgeſſes, with a like Number of Perſons for their Deputies, or Aſſiſtants, to preſide over the reſpective Wards for one Year, and ſo from Year to Year during Life, Good-behaviour, or Reſidence in the City, or Liberties thereof. And that all and every of the ſaid Burgeſſes, or their Deputies, that ſhall refuſe to ſerve, after he, or they are duly elected, the former to forfeit the Sum of ten, and the latter five Pounds each, to be levied by Diſtreſs. And that as often as any of the ſaid twelve Burgeſſes, or their Aſſiſtants, ſhall happen to die, remove, or be diſplaced, their ſeveral Places to be ſupplied by proper Perſons to be choſen by the ſaid Dean, High-Steward, or his Deputy; who are likewiſe to appoint, out of the twelve firſt, two to be denominated Chief Burgeſſes, who are likewiſe to continue as ſuch for the Term of one Year, upon the Penalty of ten Pounds, to be levied as aforeſaid.

Ibid. And by the ſame Authority, the ſaid Dean and his Succeſſors, the High-Steward, or his Deputy, the two Chief and other ten Burgeſſes, or any three, or four of them, (whereof the ſaid Dean, High-Steward, or his Deputy, or one of the Chief Burgeſſes, to be at all Times one) for the good Government of this City, or Borough, and the Liberties thereof, to hear, examine, determine and puniſh, according to the Laws of the Kingdom, or laudable and lawful Cuſtom of the City of London, all Matters of Incontinencies, Common Scolds, Inmates and common Nuſances; and to commit all Perſons to Priſon that ſhall be guilty of a Breach of the Peace, of which they are to give Notice to a Juſtice, or Juſtices of the Peace for the County of Middleſex, within the Space of twenty-four Hours.

Ibid. And it is further enacted by the Authority aforeſaid, That all good Ordinances that ſhall, from Time to Time, be made by the ſaid Dean and High-Steward, with the Aſſent of the Burgeſſes and their Aſſiſtants, for, or concerning the Government of this City and Liberties, not repugnant to the Royal Prerogative, or the Laws of the Nation, ſhall ſtand and be in full Force and Strength. And that as often as it ſhall happen that the ſaid Dean and High-Steward of Weſtminſter, or his Deputy, ſhall defer, or be remiſs in nominating, or chooſing the ſeveral Burgeſſes at the Time above mentioned, then and in every ſuch Caſe, two Juſtices of the Peace of the County of Middleſex are impowered to nominate and chuſe the ſaid Burgeſſes, out of ſuch Perſons qualified as aforeſaid; who, upon ſuch an Election, are to enjoy the ſame Liberties and Powers in all Reſpects, as if choſen by the ſaid Dean and High-Steward. And it is alſo provided, that no Perſon ſhall be compelled to ſerve the Office of Burgeſs above the Term of one Year; and that all Perſons who ſhall fine for the ſame, ſhall be exempt from ſerving for the Space of five Years.

The Liberty, or Suburbs of Weſtminſter being greatly increaſed both in Number of Houſes and Inhabitants, 'twas therefore judged neceſſary to increaſe both the Number of Burgeſſes and Aſſiſtants from twelve to ſixteen each; which Burgeſſes, with their Aſſiſtants, are by the ſaid Act of Parliament impowered to act in all Reſpects as Ibid. the Aldermens Deputies of the City of London.

The High-Steward of Weſtminſter, or his Deputy, attended by the Burgeſſes, act as Sheriff, by preſiding at the Court Leet, and Chairman at the Quarter-Seſſions. The next Officer in Dignity is the High-Bailiff, who is likewiſe choſen by the Dean for Life: This Officer in ſome meaſure alſo repreſents a Sheriff; for he ſummons Juries, manages Elections for Members of Parliament, has the ſeveral Bailiffs of Weſtminſter ſubordinate to him; and by having all Fines and Forfeitures belonging to him, his Office is thereby rendered very profitable. The next Officers in Rank and Power are, the Chief Burgeſſes, Burgeſſes and their Aſſiſtants; and the inferior Officers are, the Town Clerk, Afferrer, and Crier.

Among the Orders, or Ordinances for the good Government of the City of Weſtminſter, made by Rec. St. Marg. Par. the Dean, High-Steward and Burgeſſes in the Year 1585, the eleventh Order appoints, That the Number of Alehouſes to be kept in the City and Liberty of Weſtminſter ſhall not exceed one hundred, viz. ſixty in the Pariſh of St. Margaret, twenty in that of St. Martin, and in the Pariſh of St. Clement, and Precinct of the Savoy, twenty; whereby 'tis manifeſt, that the Numbers of Houſes and Inhabitants in the Pariſh of St. Margaret at that Time, did exceed thoſe of the whole Liberty (which at preſent is ſo vaſtly numerous) one fifth. And it likewiſe ſhews, that the Number of the Houſes and Inhabitants then in the City and Liberty of Weſtminſter, were but about a twelfth Part of the preſent Number; for at that Time they had only one hundred Alehouſes, whereas at preſent the Number in the ſaid Diſtrict amounts to 1164.

This Government having little in it repreſenting that of a City, Weſtminſter, in that Reſpect, ſeems not to be upon a much better Foot than a Country Market Town, ſeeing it has neither a Power to make Freemen, or erect a Corporation of Trade; nor has any other Courts than thoſe of the Leet and Seſſions, and Court of Requeſts lately erected.

Though this City had the Honour of a Government conferred upon it by Parliament in the Year 1585, yet it had not that of Arms till the firſt of October, Anno 1601, when William Dethick, Garter King at Arms, and William Camden, Clarencieux King at Arms, granted it the Arms above exhibited, viz. In a Shield Azure a Portcullis Or, on a Chief of the Second, the Arms of King Edward the Confeſſor, between the two united Roſes of Lancaſter and York.

Before I leave this Part of the Work, I think it will not be amiſs to ſay ſomething concerning a very great Work erected in this City.

The Inhabitants of Weſtminſter being of opinion that a Bridge acroſs the River Thames at their City, would be of great Advantage to them, therefore, in the Year 1735, they applied to Parliament for a Power to enable them to erect one: Their Petition being taken into Conſideration, it was thereupon enacted, That a Bridge be erected from the New Palace-yard to the oppoſite Shore, with ſuch Materials as the Commiſſioners appointed to erect the ſame ſhall judge proper.

Though great Oppoſition was made by the City of London, Borough of Southwark, Company of Watermen, and the Weſt-Country Bargemen, who ſeverally petitioned the Parliament againſt erecting a Bridge at Weſtminſter, the Act paſſed for the building thereof.

Divers Projects for erecting the intended Bridge being taken into Conſideration, the following being judged the moſt eligible, the ſame was approved of by the Commiſſioners; which is as follows:

A large Hole or Cavity, of the Depth of five or ſix Feet, was ordered to be dug in the Bed, or Bottom of the River, by Ballaſtmen belonging to the Trinity-houſe, in which was ſunk a large wooden Caſe, or Frame, Water-proof (altho' the ſame, when forced down, was filled with Water); which was raiſed again by pumping out the Water, and the ſame was as often put down and raiſed again, by letting in and pumping out the Water, till it was fixed upon an exact Level; and when the ſame was emptied for the laſt Time, one of the Piers of the intended Bridge was therein erected; which being finiſhed, the Sides of the ſaid Caſe were taken from their Bottom, and applied to another, to erect a ſecond Pier on, and then to others, till the whole Number, as appear in the fine Draught hereunto annexed.

This Bridge is allowed to be one of the fineſt in the World. It is built in a neat and elegant Taſte, and with ſuch Simplicity and Grandeur, that whether viewed from the Water, or by the Paſſenger who walks over it, it fills the Mind with an agreeable Surprize. The Semi-octangular Towers which form the Receſſes of the Foot-way, the Manner of placing the Lamps, and the Height of the Baluſtrade, are at once the moſt beautiful, and in every other Reſpect, the beſt contrived.

It is forty-four Feet wide; a commodious Foot-way is allowed for Paſſengers, about ſeven Feet broad on each Side, raiſed above the Road allowed for Carriages, and paved with broad Moor Stones, while the Space left between them is ſufficient to admit three Carriages, and two Horſes to go a-breſt without the leaſt Danger.

From Wharf to Wharf, its Extent is 1223 Feet, which is above 300 Feet wider than the ſame River at London-bridge.

The free Water-way, under the Arches of this Bridge, is 870 Feet, which is more than four times as much as the free Water-way between the Sterlings of London-bridge; which, together with the Gentleneſs of the Stream, are the chief Reaſons why no ſenſible Fall of Water can ever ſtop, or in the leaſt endanger the ſmalleſt Boats, in their Paſſage through the Arches.

It conſiſts of fourteen Piers, thirteen large, and two ſmall Arches, all ſemi-circular, and two Abutments.

The Length of every Pier is about ſeventy Feet from Point to Point, and each End terminated with a ſaliant Right-Angle againſt either Stream.

The two middle Piers are each ſeventeen Feet wide at the Springing of the Arches, and contain 3000 cube Feet, or near 200 Tons of ſolid Stone; and the others decreaſe in Breadth, equally on each Side by one Foot; ſo that the two next to the largeſt are each ſixteen Feet wide; and ſo on to the two leaſt on each Side, which are 12 Feet wide at the Springing of the Arches.

Each of theſe Piers are four Feet wider at their Foundation, than at the Top; and each of them is laid on a ſtrong Bed of Timber, of the ſame Shape as the Pier, about eighty Feet long, twenty-eight Feet wide, and two Feet thick.

The Value of 40,000 l. is computed to be always under Water, in Stone and other Materials. And here it may not be improper to obſerve, that the Caiſſon on which the firſt Pier was ſunk, contained 150 Loads of Timber; for it is a Precaution uſed in moſt heavy Buildings, to lay their Foundation on Planks, or Beds of Timber, which (if found when laid, and always kept wet) will not only remain ſound, but grow harder by Time.

The Depths or Heights of every Pier are different; but none of them have their Foundations laid at a leſs Depth than five Feet under the Bed of the River, and none at a greater Depth than fourteen Feet under the ſaid Bed. This difference is occaſioned by the Nature and Poſition of the Ground; for though the Foundations of all the Piers and Abutments are laid in a hard Bed of Gravel (which by boring was found to grow harder, the deeper it was bored into) yet this Bed of Gravel lies much lower, and is more difficult to come at on the Surry Side, than on the Weſtminſter Side.

All the Piers are built the ſame in the Inſide, as on the Outſide, of ſolid Portland Block Stones, none leſs than one Ton, or twenty Hundred Weight, unleſs here and there a ſmaller called a Cloſer, placed between four other larger Stones; but moſt of them are two or three Tons Weight, and ſeveral four or five Tons. All the Stones are ſet in (and their Joints filled with) a Cement called Dutch Tarris, and they are beſides faſtened together with Iron Cramps run in with Lead, and ſo placed that none of thoſe Cramps can be ſeen, or ever be affected by the Water.

All the Arches of Weſtminſter-bridge are ſemi-circular, that Form being one of the ſtrongeſt, and the beſt adapted for Diſpatch in Building.

They all ſpring from about two Feet above Low-water-mark, and from no higher; which renders the Bridge much ſtronger than if the Arches ſprung from taller Piers, beſides the Saving of a great Quantity of Materials and Workmanſhip.

The middle Arch is ſeventy-ſix Feet wide, and the others decreaſe in Width equally on each Side by four Feet; ſo that the two next to the middle Arch are ſeventy-two Feet wide; and ſo on to the leaſt of the large Arches, which are each fifty-two Feet wide. As to the two ſmall ones cloſe in Shore to the Abutments, they are each about twenty-five Feet wide.

The Soffit of every Arch is turned and built quite through the ſame as in the Fronts, with large Portland Blocks; over which is built (bonded in with the Portland) another Arch of Purbeck Stone, four or five times thicker on the Reins than over the Key, ſo calculated and built, that by the help of this ſecondary Arch, together with the incumbent Load of Materials, all the Parts of every Arch are in Equilibrio: So that each Arch can ſtand ſingle, without affecting, or being affected by, any of the other Arches.

Moreover, between every two Arches a Drain is managed to carry off the Water and Filth, which in Time might penetrate and accumulate in thoſe Places, to the great Detriment of the Arches. Some Bridges having been ruined for want of this Precaution; which ſhould be obſerved in all conſiderable Stone or Brick Bridges: And yet (as far as I have been able to learn) it has been always omitted.

Laſtly, juſt above and below each Abutment, there are large and commodious Flights of Moor Stone Steps, for the ſhipping and landing of Goods and Paſſengers.

Now this Bridge is finiſhed, there is not perhaps another in the whole World that can be com-compared to it: All the Piers are laid at a conſiderable Depth under the Bed of the River, in a hard Bed of Gravel, which never requires Piling, it being, after Rock, the beſt Sort of Foundation; whereas the uſual Method of building Stone or Brick Bridges over large tide Rivers, is to build them upon Stilts; that is, driving Piles in the Bed of the River, ſawing their Heads at Low-water-mark, and often above; then laying ſome Planks, to erect the Piers thereon. Such are the Foundations of London and Rocheſter Bridges, and of a great many others in Great-Britain, as well as abroad.

The Materials are the beſt four Kinds of Stone (for the ſeveral Uſes to which they are employed) that can be had in London; and they are all, not only very durable, but ſome of the heavieſt in England, ſome Kinds of Marble only excepted. And the Size and Diſpoſition of thoſe Materials are ſuch, that there is no falſe Bearing, or ſo much as a falſe Joint, in the whole Bridge; ſo that every Part is fully and properly ſupported; and whatever ought to be of one Stone, is not made of ſeveral ſmall ones, as is but too common in other Buildings.

Inſtead of Chalk, ſmall Stones, or Rubbiſh, with which the Inſides of moſt Buildings are filled, the Piers are entirely built with ſolid Blocks of Portland, and ſecured as I have explained above: And in building the Arches, ſuch Precautions have been uſed as have been ſcarcely ever before obſerved, ſuch as building them quite through with the ſame Sort of large Stones as in the Fronts, and thus deſtroying their lateral Preſſures by a proper Diſpoſition of the Materials in, between, and over theſe Arches.

Nothing is more common in the Conſtruction of Bridges, than for ſome of the Piers to ſink, or at leaſt ſo far give way, as to occaſion the Neceſſity of rebuilding ſome of them even before the Fabrick is paſſable; this has been the Caſe of one of the Piers of Weſtminſter Bridge; which, by ſinking, damaged the Arch to which it belonged, ſo much, that the Commiſſioners thought fit to have it pulled down; when by laying prodigious Weights on the lower Part of the Pier, the Foundation was ſettled and ſet to rights, in ſuch a manner as to render it compleatly ſecure from all Accidents of the like kind for the future. This Misfortune happening in 1747, when this noble Structure was almoſt compleated, prevented its being finiſhed before the tenth of November. When the laſt Stone was laid by Thomas Lediard, Eſq; in the Preſence of ſeveral of the Commiſſioners; and on the ſeventeenth, at about twelve at Night, it was opened by a Proceſſion of ſeveral Gentlemen of that City, the chief Artificers of that Work, and a Crowd of Spectators, preceded by Trumpets, Kettle-drums, &c. and Guns firing during the Ceremony.

As to the Time that has been employed in erecting this magnificent Bridge, it is ſufficient to obſerve, that the Ballaſt-men having dug the Foundation of the firſt Pier to the Depth of five Feet under the Bed of the River, levelled it, and kept it level by a proper Incloſure of ſtrong Piles, and the Caiſſon being brought over the Place where it was to be ſunk; on the twenty-ninth of January, 1738-9, the firſt Stone of the Weſtern middle Pier was laid by the Right Honourable the Earl of Pembroke: So that the noble Structure was compleated in eleven Years and nine Months; a very ſhort Period, conſidering the vaſtneſs of the Undertaking, the prodigious Quantity of Stone made uſe of, hewn out of the Quarry, and brought by Sea, the Interruptions of Winter, the Damage frequently done by the Ice to the Piling and Scaffolding, and the unavoidable Interruption occaſioned twice a Day by the Tide, which, for two Years, reduced the Time of Labour to five Hours a Day.

An Account of the ſeveral Sums, played for and loſt, or abſolutely granted, for building this Bridge, and procuring the ſeveral Conveniencies requiſite thereto.

A Guard, conſiſting of twelve Watchmen, is appointed for the Security of the Paſſage over this Bridge. They are to be upon Duty from the Cloſe of Day every Night, till the Opening of the next Morning. We walk the publick Streets with ſo much danger in thoſe Hours, that this Proviſion was extremely neceſſary upon a Bride of ſo great Length, which is not to be transformed into a Street. The Receſſes over each Pier, which are built in the Form of Alcoves, and deſigned as Places of Shelter in bad Weather, of Retirement in caſe of an accidental Danger or Difficulty in the Paſſage, might have otherwiſe ſerved for Places of Ambuſh for Robbers and Cut-throats; though indeed even theſe Occupations, which thrive ſo much in our Time, could not have been followed here without Hazard, as there is no way of eſcaping but at the two Ends of the Bridge.

Containing an Account of the Ancient and Preſent State of the ſeveral Pariſhes and Liberties in the County of Middleſex within the Bill of Mortality, with an ample Deſcription of the Remarkables now therein.

THE ſeveral Pariſhes and Liberties within this Diſtrict being independent of one another, they have neither a general Hiſtory, or common Government thereunto belonging; therefore, as both their Hiſtories and Governments are ſeparate, I ſhall ſeverally treat of them in alphabetical Order.

Part of the Pariſh of St. Dunſtan's, Stepney, denominated Spittle-fields Hamlet; which being, by an Act of Parliament of the ſame Year, conſtituted a ſeparate Pariſh, it became in all Reſpects diſtinct and independent on that of Stepney, as if it never had belonged to the ſame. Act Parl. 2 Geo. II.

The Church of this Pariſh, which is ſituate on the South Side of Church-ſtreet, is one of the fifty New Churches appointed by Act of Parliament, (in the Year 1710,) to be erected in the Suburbs of the City of London; the Foundation whereof being laid Anno 1723, and the Fabrick finiſhed Anno 1729, it was conſecrated on the fifth of July, in the ſame Year; and towards the Maintenance of its Rector and his Succeſſors, the Parliament granted the Sum of three thouſand Pounds, to be laid out in a Purchaſe of Lands, Tenements, &c. in Fee Simple. And as a further Proviſion for the ſaid Rector and his Succeſſors, the Church-wardens are by the ſaid Act appointed to pay to him yearly by quarterly Payments the Sum of one hundred and twenty-five Pounds, to be raiſed by Burial Fees; for which Purpoſe, the Diſpoſal of the Burial Ground and Pariſh Vaults are veſted in the Veſtry (excluſive of the Rector); who, with the Conſent of the Biſhop are impowered to appoint ſuch Fees for Burials, as ſhall not exceed thirty Shillings, nor leſs than two; and alſo to make Rates for Leave to make Vaults, lay down Grave Stones, and erect ſepulchral Monuments. Act Parl. 9 Anne. Act Parl. 2 Geo. II.

And for the better ſecuring the Payment of the ſaid Sum of one hundred and twenty-five Pounds to the Rector and his Succeſſors, it is enacted, That on default of Payment, the Rector, for the more eaſy Recovery of the ſame, may apply to two, or more Juſtices of the Peace of the County of Middleſex; who, upon Oath made of the Sum or Sums in Arrear, may compel ſuch Defaulters, by Diſtreſs and Sale of their Goods; and if ſuch Diſtreſs cannot be had to ſatisfy ſuch Arrears, then the ſucceeding Church-wardens to be reſponſible for the ſame. It was likewiſe ordained, by the ſaid Authority, That the Rector ſhould receive no Surplice Fees for Burials, unleſs he were deſired to perform the Funeral Obſequies in the Church, in Preſence of the Corps; and then, only ſuch Fees, as ſhould for that Purpoſe be ſettled by the Veſtry, with Conſent of the Biſhop.

It was alſo by the ſame Authority enacted, That the Rectory ſhall not be held in Commendam, and that all Licences and Diſpenſations, for that Purpoſe, are declared void and of no Effect. It was likewiſe conſtituted and appointed, That the Veſtry ſhould conſiſt of the Rector, Church-wardens, Overſeers of the Poor, and all other Perſons who have ſerved, or fined for the Office of Church-warden, or Overſeer of the Poor, as long as they ſhall reſpectively continue Houſeholders in the Pariſh; and who from Time to Time are impowered to nominate a Lecturer, Church-wardens, Sideſmen, Pariſh-clerk, and other Pariſh Officers; and as Occaſion ſhall be, to remove and diſcharge the Sexton, Grave-diggers, and other inferior Servants belonging to the Church. Act Parl. 2 Geor II.

This Pariſh, as already mentioned, being taken out of that of Stepney, the Advowſon of it, as well as that, belongs to the Principal and Scholars of King's Hall and College of Brazen-noſe in Oxford.

Here is only one perpetual Donation, given by Priſca Coborne, of ſix Pounds per Ann. Here are no Monumental Inſcriptions worthy of Notice.

Officers, &c. in this Pariſh.

The Veſtry, as already obſerved, is neither ſelect, nor general, all Perſons being admitted that have ſerved, or fined, either for Church-warden, or Overſeer of the Poor; two Church-wardens, four Overſeers of the Poor, one Conſtable, nine Headboroughs, four Scavengers, who paid the Raker, for cleanſing the Streets and carrying away the Aſhes for one Year, the Sum of two hundred and ſeventy Pounds; two Beadles, ſeventeen Watchmen, two thouſand two hundred and forty-four Houſes.

Antiquities, &c. in this Pariſh.

The Weſtern Part of this Pariſh (wherein are ſituate the ſeveral Streets, Lanes, Markets, &c. between Criſpin-ſtreet and Brick-lane) was formerly a large Incloſure denominated Lolleſwort Field, and afterwards, from its Vicinity to St. Mary's Hoſpital, or Spittle, called Spittle-field. See Biſhopſgate Ward.

The chief Things remarkable in this Pariſh at preſent, are, That moſt of the Inhabitants are either French, or of French Extraction; who, together with the Engliſh, are chiefly employed in the ſilken Manufacture; a ſtately Church; an Engliſh Chapel; a Quakers, and four French Meeting-houſes; two Charity-ſchools; two Engliſh, and two French Alms-houſes; with a Work-houſe for the Reception of the Poor.

N. B. This Pariſh, being an ancient Hamlet of the Pariſh of Stepney, has a Right to place an Alms-woman in one of the eight Apartments in the new Alms-houſes ſituate cloſe to the South Side of Bow-road facing the Parſonage Houſe.

Glaſs-houſe Liberty.

This Liberty is that Part of the Pariſh of St. Botolph, Alderſgate which is ſituate in Pickax and Goſwell Streets, in the County of Middleſex, and Hundred of Oſulſton; and is denominated from a Glaſs-houſe, which anciently ſtood here. Till of late, there was but one Government in the Pariſh; but the Poor of this Liberty having increaſed conſiderably, occaſioned the City Liberty to ſeparate from them, and each to maintain its own Poor.

Officers, &c. in this Liberty.

Two Overſeers of the Poor, one Conſtable, one Scavenger, who paid the Raker, for cleanſing the Streets and carrying away the Duſt for one Year, the Sum of twenty Pounds; one Beadle, three Watchmen, one hundred and ſixty Houſes.

The Remarkables in this Liberty at preſent, are, Part of Charterhouſe-ſquare, an Anabaptiſt Meeting-houſe, and a Work houſe for the Reception of the Poor.

High-Holbourn Liberty.

This Liberty, which is ſituate without the Bars of the City of London, is one of the two Liberties in the County of Middleſex, and hundred of Oſulſton, belonging to the Pariſh of St. Andrew, Holbourn; though by its ſeparate Government, (excluſive of that of the Church) it acts in all Reſpects, as if independent.

Part of the Pariſh of St. Dunſtan's, Stepney, denominated Spittle-fields Hamlet; which being, by an Act of Parliament of the ſame Year, conſtituted a ſeparate Pariſh, it became in all Reſpects diſtinct and independent on that of Stepney, as if it never had belonged to the ſame.

Act Parl. 2 Geo. II.

The Church of this Pariſh, which is ſituate on the South Side of Church-ſtreet, is one of the fifty New Churches appointed by Act of Parliament, (in the Year 1710,) to be erected in the Suburbs of the City of London; the Foundation whereof being laid Anno 1723, and the Fabrick finiſhed Anno 1729, it was conſecrated on the fifth of July, in the ſame Year; and towards the Maintenance of its Rector and his Succeſſors, the Parliament granted the Sum of three thouſand Pounds, to be laid out in a Purchaſe of Lands, Tenements, &c. in Fee Simple. And as a further Proviſion for the ſaid Rector and his Succeſſors, the Church-wardens are by the ſaid Act appointed to pay to him yearly by quarterly Payments the Sum of one hundred and twenty-five Pounds, to be raiſed by Burial Fees; for which Purpoſe, the Diſpoſal of the Burial Ground and Pariſh Vaults are veſted in the Veſt,y (excluſive of the Rector); who, with the Conſent of the Biſhop are impowered to appoint ſuch Fees for Burials, as ſhall not exceed thirty Shillings, nor leſs than two; and alſo to make Rates for Leave to make Vaults, lay down Grave Stones, and erect ſepulchral Monuments.

Act Parl. 9 Anne.

Act Parl. 2 Geo. II.

And for the better ſecuring the Payment of the ſaid Sum of one hundred and twenty-five Pounds to the Rector and his Succeſſors, it is enacted, That on default of Payment, the Rector, for the more eaſy Recovery of the ſame, may apply to two, or more Juſtices of the Peace of the County of Middleſex; who, upon Oath made of the Sum or Sums in Arrear, may compel ſuch Defaulters, by Diſtreſs and Sale of their Goods; and if ſuch Diſtreſs cannot be had to ſatisfy ſuch Arrears, then the ſucceeding Church-wardens to be reſponſible for the ſame. It was likewiſe ordained, by the ſaid Authority, That the Rector ſhould receive no Surplice Fees for Burials, unleſs he were deſired to perform the Funeral Obſequies in the Church, in Preſence of the Corps; and then, only ſuch Fees, as ſhould for that Purpoſe be ſettled by the Veſtry, with Conſent of the Biſhop.

Act Parl. 2 Geor. II.

It was alſo by the ſame Authority enacted, That the Rectory ſhall not be held in Commendam, and that all Licences and Diſpenſations, for that Purpoſe, are declared void and of no Effect. It was likewiſe conſtituted and appointed, That the Veſtry ſhould conſiſt of the Rector, Church-wardens, Overſeers of the Poor, and all other Perſons who have ſerved, or fined for the Office of Church-warden, or Overſeer of the Poor, as long as they ſhall reſpectively continue Houſeholders in the Pariſh; and who from Time to Time are impowered to nominate a Lecturer, Church-wardens, Sideſmen, Pariſh-clerk, and other Pariſh Officers; and as Occaſion ſhall be, to remove and diſcharge the Sexton, Grave-diggers, and other inferior Servants belonging to the Church.

This Pariſh, as already mentioned, being taken out of that of Stepney, the Advowſon of it, as well as that, belongs to the Principal and Scholars of King's Hall and College of Brazen-noſe in Oxford.

Here is only one perpetual Donation, given by Priſca Coborne, of ſix Pounds per Ann. Here are no Monumental Inſcriptions worthy of Notice.

Officers, &c. in this Pariſh.

The Veſtry, as already obſerved, is neither ſelect, nor general, all Perſons being admitted that have ſerved, or fined, either for Church-warden, or Overſeer of the Poor; two Church-wardens, four Overſeers of the Poor, one Conſtable, nine Headboroughs, four Scavengers, who paid the Raker, for cleanſing the Streets and carrying away the Aſhes for one Year, the Sum of two hundred and ſeventy Pounds; two Beadles, ſeventeen Watchmen, two thouſand two hundred and forty-four Houſes.

Antiquities, &c. in this Pariſh.

The Weſtern Part of this Pariſh (wherein are ſituate the ſeveral Streets, Lanes, Markets, &c. between Criſpin-ſtreet and Brick-lane) was formerly a large Incloſure denominated Lolleſwort Field, and afterwards, from its Vicinity to St. Mary's Hoſpital, or Spittle, called Spittle-field. See Biſhopſgate Ward.

The chief Things remarkable in this Pariſh at preſent, are, That moſt of the Inhabitants are either French, or of French Extraction; who, together with the Engliſh, are chiefly employed in the ſilken Manufacture; a ſtately Church; an Engliſh Chapel; a Quakers, and four French Meeting-houſes; two Charity-ſchools; two Engliſh, and two French Alms-houſes; with a Work-houſe for the Reception of the Poor.

N. B. This Pariſh, being an ancient Hamlet of the Pariſh of Stepney, has a Right to place an Alms-woman in one of the eight Apartments in the new Alms-houſes ſituate cloſe to the South Side of Bow-road facing the Parſonage Houſe.

Glaſs-houſe Liberty.

This Liberty is that Part of the Pariſh of St. Botolph, Alderſgate which is ſituate in Pickax and Goſwell Streets, in the County of Middleſex, and Hundred of Oſulſton; and is denominated from a Glaſs-houſe, which anciently ſtood here. Till of late, there was but one Government in the Pariſh; but the Poor of this Liberty having increaſed conſiderably, occaſioned the City Liberty to ſeparate from them, and each to maintain its own Poor.

Officers, &c. in this Liberty.

Two Overſeers of the Poor, one Conſtable, one Scavenger, who paid the Raker, for cleanſing the Streets and carrying away the Duſt for one Year, the Sum of twenty Pounds; one Beadle, three Watchmen, one hundred and ſixty Houſes.

The Remarkables in this Liberty at preſent, are, Part of Charterhouſe-ſquare, an Anabaptiſt Meeting-houſe, and a Work-houſe for the Reception of the Poor.

High-Holbourn Liberty.

This Liberty, which is ſituate without the Bars of the City of London, is one of the two Liberties in the County of Middleſex, and hundred of Oſulſton, belonging to the Pariſh of St. Andrew, Holbourn; though by its ſeparate Government, (excluſive of that of the Church) it acts in all Reſpects, as if independent.

Stow. Sur. Lond. Juſt without Holbourn-bar, on the South Side of Middle-row, anciently ſtood a Monaſtery, belonging to the Knights Templars. See Farringdon Ward without.

Ibid. Adjoining to this Convent, on the Weſt, was ſituate the Biſhop of Lincoln's City Manſion, founded by Robert de Curars, Biſhop of that See about the Year 1147. This Edifice ſince coming to the Earls of Southampton, it was taken down, and on the Site thereof erected the Streets denominated Southampton Buildings.

Ibid. And in Chancery-lane, where the ancient Part of Lincoln's-Inn is ſituate, formerly ſtood the Monaſtery of Black Friars; which was founded about the Year 1222, and wherein was held Anno 1250, a general Convention of the Order from all Parts, conſiſting of four hundred Members; who having no Poſſeſſions of their own, were ſumptuouſly entertained by the King, Queen, Biſhops, Abbots, &c. during their Convocation. But the Prior and Monks removing ſome Time after, to a more convenient and ſpacious new Edifice, erected for them in the City (ſtill denominated Black-friars) of London, the old Houſe was by Edward the Firſt, Anno 1288, given to Henry Earl of Lincoln, from whom the preſent Inn of Court is denominated.

But the greateſt Antiquity in this Liberty, is, the Manor of Portpool, (a Prebend of St. Paul's Cathedral of London) ſo denominated, as it is thought, from its Neighbourhood to a Pool and Place where the great Roman Military Way, called Watling-ſtreet, was interſected by that of Old-ſtreet, another Roman Way, which led from Eaſt to Weſt.

Dugd. Or. Jurid. The Capital Meſſuage belonging to this Manor ſtood were Gray's-Inn at preſent is ſituate; and the only Part thereof that ſtill remains, is the Chapel. This Manor at laſt coming to the noble Family of Gray of Wilton, the Manor Houſe received the Appellation of Gray's-Inn; which was ſome Time after, in the Reign of Edward the Third, demiſed to certain Students of the Law, by that Name. But the Prior and Monks of Shene having obtained a Licence to purchaſe in Mortmain, Lands, to the Amount of one hundred Pounds per Annum, they purchaſed the Manor of Portpool, and demis'd Gray's-Inn, the Manſion-houſe thereof, to certain Students of the Law, for the yearly Rent of ſix Pounds thirteen Shillings and four Pence; in whom and their Succeſſors it continued till the general Suppreſſion of Monaſteries by Henry the Eighth; who in the Year 1541, granted the ſame to the then Students of Law, in Fee-Farm, at the aforeſaid Rent.

The Remarkables, at preſent, are, an Inn of Court, and two of Chancery; a Market, denominated from the Lord Brook's City Manſion, at the North-weſt Angle thereof; two Chapels; an Anabaptiſt Meeting; a publick Walk; an Almshouſe, a Bagnio, a Tennis-court, and a Workhouſe for the Reception of the Poor.

Norton-Falgate Liberty.

This, which is an extra-parochial Liberty, belonging to the Dean and Chapter of St. Paul's in London, is ſituate at the North End of Biſhopſgate-ſtreet without, in the County of Middleſex, and Hundred of Oſulſton; but when, by whom, or on what Occaſion ſo denominated, I cannot learn.

Officers, &c. in this Liberty.

ROLLS Liberty.

This Diſtrict conſiſts of that Part of the Pariſh of St. Dunſtan's in the Weſt, which lies in the County of Middleſex; and is ſo denominated from the great Repoſitory of the modern publick Rolls, or Records of the Kindom, kept in the Chapel thereof.

Stow. Sur. Lond. The Manſion-houſe of the Maſter of the Rolls was anciently the Reſidence of an eminent Jew. This building becoming very ruinous, it was lately rebuilt in a very magnificent Manner, by the late Maſter of the Rolls. See Farringdon Ward without.

Ibid. Oppoſite this Houſe, on the Weſt Side of Chancery-lane, ſtood the City Manſion of the Prior of Neckton-park, in Lincolnſhire, denominated Herefleet-Inn, in place whereof, at preſent is ſituate the Six Clerks Office. A little higher on the ſame Side of the Lane, anciently ſtood the Biſhop of Chicheſter's Houſe, (the Name of which is ſtill preſerved in Biſhop's-court and Chicheſter-rents) which having eſcheated to Henry the Third, he granted it to Ralph Nevil, Biſhop of that See, and High Chancellor of England; who deviſing the ſame to his Succeſſors in Fee, they ſtill continue poſſeſſed of the Site thereof; whereon is erected a Number of Houſes.

The Remarkables in this Liberty, at preſent, are, the Chapel wherein the Rolls are depoſited, the Six Clerks Office, the Curſitors Office, an Inn of Chancery, and a Bagnio.

St. ANNE's, Limehouſe.

The Pariſh of St. Dunſtan's, Stepney, having increaſed to ſuch a Degree, both in Number of Houſes and Inhabitants, the Village of Limehouſe was thereby joined to the main Pile of Buildings which compoſe this vaſt City; wherefore it was reſolved to erect a Church therein, for the Convenience of the People in the Performance of their religious Duties. Purſuant to this Reſolution, one of the fifty new Churches (appointed to be erected within the Bill of Mortality, by Act of Parliament, Anno 1710,) was ordered to be built in this Place; and the Foundation thereof being laid in the Year 1712, the ſtately Edifice was finiſhed Anno 1724. However, the Inhabitants of the Hamlet not applying to Parliament, to have the ſame erected into a Pariſh, until the Year 1729, the Church was not conſecrated till the 12th of September, Anno 1730.

Act Parl. 3 G. II. This Hamlet, and Part of that of Ratcliff, being by the ſame Authority conſtituted a Pariſh, it became in all Reſpects diſtinct from that of Stepney, as if it never had belonged to the ſame; other than that the ſaid Part of Ratcliff Hamlet is only concerned in what regards the Church in this new Pariſh.

And towards the Support of the Rector of the Pariſh and his Succeſſors, the Sum of three thouſand five hundred Pounds was given by Parliament, to be laid out in Fee Simple. And as a farther Proviſion for the ſaid Rector, the Church-Wardens are to pay him annually the Sum of ſixty Pounds, to be raiſed by Burial Fees; for which Purpoſe the Right of Diſpoſal of all the Burial-grounds and Vaults, belonging to the Pariſh, are veſted in the Veſtry, excluſive of the Rector; and who, with the Conſent of the Biſhop, are impowered to appoint ſuch Fees for Burials, as ſhall not exceed thirty Shillings, nor leſs than two; and to ſet ſuch Rates, for Leave to make Vaults, lay down Grave-ſtones, and erect Monuments.

Ibid. And for the better ſecuring the Payment of the above-mentioned ſixty Pounds to the Rector, it is, by the ſame Authority, enacted, That on default of Payment, the Rector, for the more eaſy Recovery of the ſame, may apply to two, or more Juſtices of the Peace for the County of Middleſex; who, upon Oath made of the Sum, or Sums in Arrear, may compel ſuch Defaulters by Diſtreſs and Sale of the Offenders Goods; and if Diſtreſs cannot be had, to ſatisfy ſuch Arrears, the ſucceeding Church-wardens to be reſpoſible for the ſame.

Ibid. It was alſo ordained, That the Rector ſhould not receive any Surplice Fees for Burials, unleſs he was deſired to perform the Funeral Rites in the Church, in Preſence of the Corps; and then only ſuch Fees, as ſhould for that Purpoſe be ſettled by the Veſtry, with Conſent of the Biſhop. And it was ordained, that the Rectory ſhall not be held in Commendam; and that all Licences and Diſpenſations for that Purpoſe are declared void, and of none Effect. However, it is held by the preſent Rector of Stepney.

Ibid. It was alſo ordained, That the Veſtry ſhall conſiſt of the Rector, Church-wardens, Overſeers of the Poor, and all ſuch Perſons as ſhall pay twelve Shillings, or more, to the Relief of the Poor; who, from Time to Time, are impowered to nominate a Lecturer, Church-wardens, Sideſmen, Pariſh-Clerk, and all other Pariſh Officers; and, as Occaſion ſhall be, to remove and diſcharge the Sexton, Grave-digger, and other inferior Servants in and about the Church.

This Church is ſituate on the North Side of Limehouſe; and as the Pariſh thereunto belonging is a Rectory, taken out of the Pariſh of Stepney, the Advowſon of this, as well as that, belongs to the Principal and Scholars of King's Hall and College of Brazen-noſe, in Oxford.

The Rector pays neither Firſt-fruits, Tenths, Procurations, or other Diſburſments on account the Cure.

This Pariſh, as an old Hamlet of Stepney, has a right to one of the Alms-houſes at Bow lately founded.

Officers, &c. in this Pariſh.

Two Church-wardens, two Overſeers of the Poor, one Conſtable, four Headboroughs, two Scavengers, who paid the Raker, for cleanſing the Streets and carrying away the Aſhes for one Year, the Sum of forty Pounds; two Surveyors of the Highways, one Beadle, one Watchman, twelve hundred and ſixty-two Houſes.

Antiquities, &c. in this Pariſh.

Limehouſe, which is one of the Tower Hamlets, ſituate in the County of Middleſex, and Hundred of Oſulſton, was anciently a Village above two Miles diſtant from the City of London, though at preſent conjoined by a continued Chain of Buildings.

The Appellation of Limehouſe is a Corruption of Limeburſt; which, by its Saxon Termination, I take to imply a Grove of Lime Trees; which, according to Stow, anciently abounded in this Neighbourhood. Stow. Sur. Lond.

The Remarkables at preſent, are, the ſtately Church, a Preſbyterian and an Anabaptiſt Meeting Houſe, two Docks for Ship-building, a Draw-bridge in Ratcliffe narrow Street, three Ports, or Stairs for Paſſengers to take Water at; a Horſe-ferry, newly erected by Act of Parliament, in the narrow Street aforeſaid. And a Work-houſe for the Reception of the Poor.

St. DUNSTAN's, Stepney.

When, or by whom this Church was founded, I cannot learn: However, it was at firſt dedicated to all Saints, and named Eccleſia Omnium Sanctorum: If ſo, its Foundation is owing to the Saxons; which is much corroborated by Stepney's being a Manor in the Conqueror's Time. That it is of conſiderable Antiquity is evident, by the Will of Euſtace, Biſhop of London, Anno 1228, wherein he bequeathed certain Lands in this Pariſh to the Dean and Canons of St. Paul's, reſerving only five Marks per Annum, for the Maintenance of a Prieſt, daily to celebrate the Divine Offices for the Health of his Soul. But it does not appear when it took the Name of St. Dunſtan. Newc. Repert. Eccleſ. Paroch. Dug. Hiſt. St. Paul.

To this Church, which is ſituate on the Eaſt Side of Stepney Town, belong both a Rectory and Vicarage; the former whereof, being a Sine Cure, was in the Collation of the Biſhop of London, (and the latter in the Gift of the Rector) until the 12th of April, Anno 1551, when Nicholas Ridley, Biſhop of that See, granted the Manor of Stepney, and the Advowſon of its Church, to Edward the Sixth; who, by his Letters Patent, of the 16th of the ſaid Month and Year, granted the ſame to Sir Tho. Wentworth, Lord Chamberlain of his Houſehold, to be held in Chief, by the Service of the twentieth Part of a Knight's Fee. But the Advowſon being ſince purchaſed by the Principal and Scholars of King's Hall and College of Brazen-noſe in Oxford, the Preſentation is in them; and the ſaid Principal and Scholars did, from Time to Time, Newc. Repert. Eccleſ. Paroch. Act Parl. 2 Geor II.

Time, to the Year 1744, preſent two Perſons (in lieu of a Rector and Vicar) to this Rectory and Vicarage, by the Names of the Portioniſts of Ratcliff and Spittle-fields; when, by diſmembering the Hamlet of Bethnal-green from it, erected into a new Pariſh by Act of Parliament, Stepney became poſſeſſed only by one Rector for the future.

This being at preſent a Rectory impropriate, the Principal and Scholars aforeſaid receive the Great Tithes; and the Incumbent, for his Support, the ſmall, Eaſter-Offerings, Garden Pennies, and Surplice Fees; which are very conſiderable.

This Pariſh has been ſo productive of Buildings as not only to produce the Pariſhes of St. Mary Stratford-Bow, St. Mary Whitechapel, St. John's at Wapping, St. Paul's Shadwell St. George's Ratcliff-highway,, Chriſt's Church Spittle-fields, St. Anne's Limehouſe, and St. Matthew's Bethnal-green; but it ſtill remains one of the largeſt Pariſhes within the Bill of Mortality, and contains the Hamlets of Ratcliff, Mile-end Old and New Towns, and Poplar.

Here reſteth the Body of Robert Clarke, Eſq; Son of Roger Clarke, Eſq; late Alderman of the City of London, a Man humble in Proſperity, and a liberal Diſtributer to the Poor, courteous and affable to all, an upright and juſt Dealer in this World, and a moſt religious Seeker of the World to come. He had to Wife Margaretta, Daughter to John Langton, Eſq; ſometime Governor of the Engliſh Company in Sprucia, under the King of Polonia, who lived together in great Love and Integrity, almoſt ſix Years; he had by her one only Daughter named Frances, who lived one Year and three Quarters, and here lies interred with her moſt dear and loving Father.

In whoſe Memory the ſaid Margaretta, to expreſs her true Love and Affection, hath cauſed this Monument to be erected. He died May 30, 1610, having lived 36 Years.

Here are theſe Arms: Barry of four Gules and Argent charged with three Rundles.

On a ſpacious white and veined Marble Monument, with Pediment and Entablature of the Tuſcan Order, adorned with his carved Effigies, alſo the Figure of a Cupid holding a Jacob's Staff, and three Urns, with this Inſcription:

Ne id neſcias Lector D. Joannes Berry, Devonienſis Dignitate Equeſtri, Clarus Mari, tantum non Imperator de Rege & Patria, quod & Barbari norunt benè Meritus, Magnam ob res fortiter geſtas adeptus Gloriam, Famæ Satur poſt multas Reportatas Victorias cum ab aliis vinci non potuit, Fatis ceſſit, 14 Feb. 1689. Baptizatus, 7 Jan. 1635.

Arms, Barry of ſix Or and Gules.

In the Church-yard are as follows:

On a Tomb Stone on the N. Side of the W. Portico, this Inſcription:

Here lieth the Body of Mr. Richard Weble, Mariner, who departed this Life the 4th of May, 1694. Aged 23 Years.

Let not this World your Thoughts betray,
But think upon your dying Day.

On a Grave Stone in the Foot-path, near the laſt, this Inſcription:

Here lies the Body of William Wheatly, who departed this Life the 10th of Nov. 1683.

Whoever treadeth on this Stone,
I pray you tread moſt neatly;
For underneath the ſame doth lye
Your honeſt Friend William Wheatly.

On a black Marble Tomb Stone a little Weſtward from the W. End of the Church this Inſcription:

Here lieth interred the Body of Mary, Wife of Capt, Malachi Simons, Mariner, who departed this Life 29th of June, 1677.

Reſt thou, whoſe Reſt gives me a reſtleſs Life,
Becauſe I've loſt a kind and virtuous Wife:
I'll viſit thee, and when I leave this Light,
Come ſpend my Time in the ſame Cell at Night.
Till then farewell; farewel! I cannot take
A final Leave until thy Aſhes wake.

On a Grave Stone a little Weſtward from the Weſt End of the Church.

Here lieth interred Thomas Barker (and Elizabeth his Wife, of Lymehouſe) who being Lieutenant under Sir Robert Holmes, Commander of his Majeſties Ship the St. Michael, loſt his Life in the Engagement againſt the Dutch, the 28th Day of May, 1672. Fighting valiantly in Honour of his King and Country. Aged 28 Years.

Northward from the W. End, and near the Church, on a Grave Stone raiſed, this Inſcription:

Here lieth precious ſleeping Duſt
Untill the Riſing of the Juſt.
Heaven ſo great a Price it coſt,
That not one Atome ſhall be loſt;
But ſhall ariſe and cloathed be
In Bliſs and Immortality.

Containing the Body of Mr. Thomas Gilſon, Miniſter, deceaſed May 6th, 1680. Alſo Sarah his Wife, April, and Sarah Marlow Grand-child, July, 1680.

On a Tomb Stone on the N. Side of the Church, theſe Inſcriptions:

Here lyeth interred the Body of Mr. William Wilkes, Citizen and Goldſmith of London, who departed this Life Nov. 21, 1700. Aged 37.

Here lieth the Body of ſhe who was Sarah Hartland, who died Dec. 4, 1696. In the 25th Year of her Age.

Whoſe Heart too tender for to bear
From neareſt Friends ſuch Calumnies,
Receiv'd a Wound, and ſo ſhe fell
To Death a mournful Sacrifice;
But did aſcend in Peace and Joy
To him who did her Prayers hear,
And will as in the Noon-day light,
Her ſpotleſs Innocence declare.

And alſo here lieth the Body of Alice Wilkes, the Daughter of Mr. William and Mrs. Sarah Wilkes, who departed this Life the 25th of June, 1698. In the 9th Year of her Age.

Farewel dear Flower, no ſooner came
Thy early Piety to bloome,
But Death hath cropt thy tender Bud:
And laid thee in this mournful Tomb;
With her who like thee lay ſo near the Heart
As made it even Death itſelf to part.
With Patience he the Torment did endure,
But endleſs Love deſin'd another Cure;
Think on't with Joy, here but his Body lies,
For Wilkes is fled and triumphs in the Skies.

On a Tomb on the N. Side of the Church, this Inſcription:

Here lieth the Body of Suſanna Ell, the Wife of Richard Ell, who departed this Life the 17th of May, 1643, aged 36 Years. Who had Iſſue by Richard Ell, two Sons, firſt Richard, the other not chriſtened, and three Daughters, Abigal, Sarah, and Hannah.

To the pious Memory of Suſan Ell.

To ſay an Ell lies here, ev'n that alone
Were Epitaph enough, no Braſs, no Stone,
No glorious Tomb, no monumental Hearſe,
No gilded Trophy, or Lamp-labour'd Verſe,
Can dignifie her Grave or ſet it forth
Like the immortal Fame of her own Worth.
Then, Reader, fix not here but quit this Room,
And fly to Abraham's Boſom, there's her Tomb;
There reſts her Soul, and for her other Parts
They are imbalm'd and lodg'd in good Men's Hearts.
A braver Monument of Stone or Lime
No Art can raiſe, for this ſhall out laſt Time.

On a Stone erected perpendicular on the N. Side of the Church, this Inſcription:

Elizabeth the Wife of John Carles of this Pariſh, Cooper, who departed this Life the 4th Day of April, Anno Dom. 1696. Aged 29 Years.

She was modeſt, meek and good indeed;
Courteous to all, helpful to thoſe in need;

A care-

A careful Mother, a moſt loving Wife;
Calm was the End of this her well ſpent Life.
Her Body here in Grave compoſed is,
Her Soul now reſts with Chriſt in endleſs Bliſs.

A little Northward from the Church on a ſpacious Marble Tomb Stone, adorned with Cherubims, Voluta's, Fruit, Skeleton's Heads, done in Relievo, and theſe Arms:

A Croſs Patty with a Creſcent for a Difference, and the like for the Creſt. This Inſcription:

M. S.

Timothei Cruſo Evangelii Miniſtri egregiè fidelis, tam Eximiâ pietate quam præclarâ Eruditione Ornati, Concionatoris ad perſuadendum Compoſiti canori copioſi judicio ſubtili atque limato ingenio acerrimo, Induſtria incredibili, Conjugis amantiſſimi, Patris Clementiſſimi, Amici firmiſſimi, propter Lenitatem ſuis, propter ſingularem Humanitatem omnibus, jucundi qui Gregem Chriſti paſcendo exaturando Vigiliis, Curis, Laboribus fractus.

Quod ſui eſt Mortale Aſtmaticus depoſuit & ad ſummi paſtoris ædes Concionemque Beatorum Amhelans aſcendit die Nov. 26, 1697. Ætat. ſuæ 41.

Here lieth the Body of Nathaniel and Timothy Cruſo, lovely and pleaſant in their Lives, and in their Deaths.

At the E. End of the Out-ſide of the Church a ſpacious fine white Marble Monument, againſt the Church-wall, adorned with a Cherub, Urn, Voluta's, Palm-branches, and theſe Arms; Paly of ſix Or and Azure, on a Bend Sable three Mullets of the Firſt impaled with Azure an Annulet and Fiſh between two Bends Wavy Argent. This Inſcription:

Here lieth interred the Body of Dame Rebecca Berry, the Wife of Thomas Elton of Stratford Bow, Gent. who departed this Life April 26, 1696. Aged 52,

Come Ladies, you that would appear
Like Angels fair, come dreſs you here;
Come dreſs you at this Marble Stone
And make that humble Grace your own,
Which once adorn'd as fair a Mind,
As e're yet lodg'd in Womankind.
So ſhe was dreſs'd; whoſe humble Life
Was free from Pride, was free from Strife.
Free from all envious Brauls and Jars
(Of human Life the civil Wars)
Theſe ne'ere diſturb'd her peaceful Mind,
Which ſtill was gentle, ſtill was kind.
Her very Looks, her Garb, her Mien,
Diſcloſed the humble Soul within.
Trace her through every Scene of Life,
View her as Widow, Virgin, Wife,
Still the ſame humble ſhe appears,
The ſame in Youth, the ſame in Years;
The ſame in low and high Eſtate,
Ne're vex'd with this, ne're mov'd with that.
Go, Ladies, now, and if you'd be
As fair, as great, as good as ſhe,
Go learn of her Humility.

On a grey Marble Grave Stone, a little S. E. from the Church, this Inſcription:

Here lies the Body of Dr. Jeremy Butt, late Phyſician of the College of London, who departed this Life the 5th of March, 1694, in the 47th Year of his Age: Waiting for a glorious Reſurrection.

Southward from the Eaſt End of the Church, on a curious white Marble and Touch Monument, with Enrichments of Cherubims, Palm-branches, Mantling, &c. this Inſcription:

Sarah Martyn, Henrici Martyn, Armigeri Uxor.

Hopefor Bendall Mercatoris & Johannæ Uxoris Filia. Eximia Pietate ac ſuaviſſimis moribus Uxor, Mater, Filia, Nurus, Soror, omnibus Vitæ Officiis juxta Laudabilis. Obiit mortem idibus Feb. Anno 25. Ætat ſuæ ſalutis humanæ 1700.

Here are theſe Arms: On a Bend between two Cottiſes three Cinque-foiles

On a Marble Tomb Stone Southward from the Chancel, this Inſcription.

Here lyeth interred the Body of Capt. John Dunch, who departed this Life Nov. 25, 1696, in the 67th Year of his Age.

Tho' Boreas' Blaſts, and Neptune's Waves,
Have toſs'd me to and fro;
In ſpight of both, by God's Decree,
I harbour here below;
Where I do now at Anchor ride
With many of our Fleet,
Yet once again I muſt ſet ſail,
Our Admiral Chriſt to meet.

On a grey Marble Tomb Stone, a pretty way Southward from the Eaſt End of the Church, this Inſcription.

Here Thomas Saffin lyes interr'd, ah why!
Born in New-England, did in London dye;
Was the third Son of right begat upon
His Mother Martha, by his Father John.
Much favour'd by his Prince he'gan to be,
But nipt by Death at th' Age of twenty-three.
Fatal to him was that we Small-Pox name,
By which his Mother and two Brethren came
Alſo to breath their laſt, nine Years before,
And now have left their Father to deplore
The Loſs of all his Children, with that Wife
Who was the Joy and Comfort of his Life.
Deceaſed June 18, 1687.

Alſo here are theſe Arms: Three Creſcents, each ſummoned by an Eſtoile of eight Points, impaled with a Lyon Rampant, in Chief an Eſtoile of eight Rays ſurmounting a Crown Mural.

Cloſe by this Tomb laſt mentioned, is a Grave Stone, having the following Acroſtick of James Bayly, &c.

I nclos'd lyes hid as ſacred Remains
A s e're was bound by th' King of Terror's Chains.
M aſter and Chaplain's Place he well did bear;
E ach threatning Wave aſtoniſh'd with his Pray'r,
S hrunk in his Head when pious James was there.
B ayly on Board the baffled Tempeſt flew
A s ſwift as Morning Sun exhales the Dew;
Y onder he comes, his joyful Men would cry,
L ower your Topſail, ſee the Maſter's by,
Y ou'd think when he was there ſome Angel nigh.
God gave him leave to breath his laſt on Shore;
And what was lent him by th' Almighty Power,
He ſafely did convey by truſty Friend,
Who ſtrictly did perform the Donor's End;
And ſpread the Bounty of his liberal Hand,
Amongſt his poor Relations; which Command
Bought the Deceaſed ſure Title to the promis'd Land.

Born in Landelph, in the County of Cornwall.

Under a Stone pretty much Southward from the Church, was interred the Pilgrim (as the People there call him) having this Inſcription on it:

Here remains all that was mortal of Mr. Roger Crabb, who entered into Eternity the 11th Day of Septemb. 1680, in the ſixtieth Year of his Age.

Tread gently, Reader, near the Duſt
Committed to this Tomb Stones truſt;
For while 'twas Fleſh it held a Gueſt
With univerſal Love poſſeſt;
A Soul that ſtem'd Opinion's try'd,
Did over Sects in triumph ride,
Yet ſeparate from the giddy Croud
And Paths Tradition had allow'd.
Through good and ill Report he paſt
Oft cenſur'd, yet approv'd at laſt.

Wouldſt

Wouldſt thou his Religion know,
In brief 'twas this: To all to do
Juſt as he would be done unto.
So in kind Nature's Laws he ſtood,
A Temple undefiled with Blood,
A friend to ev'ry thing was good.
The reſt Angels alone can fitly tell,
Haſte then to them, and him, and ſo farewel.

On a large Marble Tomb Stone, lately at the South-Eaſt Corner of the Church-yard, was this Inſcription and Acroſtick Verſe, which is entirely deſtroyed.

Here lies the Body of Chriſtopher Henley, late of Ratcliff; deceaſed July 2, 1693.

C onceal'd from Care, beneath this Marble lies
H is ſacred Relicks, which again muſt riſe;
R emote from humane Diſcords unoppreſs'd,
I n their cold Urn his peaceful Aſhes reſt;
S natcht into Earth's dark Boſom, free from all
T hoſe Troubles which a mortal Life befal.
O pious Reader! know his living juſt,
P rocures his quiet Slumbers in the Duſt.
H is virtuous Deeds crown his unthinking Clay,
E re't a Monument without Delay.
R aiſing his Soul to everlaſting Day.

H is Wife and Children's Grief their Tears reveal,
E ach find their Loſs too weighty to conceal.
N o unjuſt Act thro' his whole Race we find,
L oving he liv'd, and juſt to all Mankind:
E aſie he ſleeps till Heaven ſhall raiſe his Duſt,
Y ielding his Soul to th' Manſions of the Juſt.

On another Grave Stone lying near the Tomb above (but not in the Ground) this Inſcription:

Here lyeth the Body of Mary Angel, Widow, who departed this Life the 29th of November 1693. Aged 72 Years.

To ſay, an Angel here interr'd doth lye,
May be thought ſtrange, for Angels never dye.
Indeed ſome fell from Heav'n to Hell,
Are loſt and riſe no more:
This only fell by Death to Earth,
Not loſt, but gone before.
Her Duſt lodg'd here, her Soul perfect in Grace
'Mongſt Saints and Angels now hath took its Place.

A little Southward from the Church, on a ſpacious Marble Tomb Stone, this Inſcription:

Here lye interred the Bodies of Capt. Thomas Chevers, who departed this Life, Nov. 18, 1675. Aged 44 Years.

And of Ann Chevers his Wife, who departed this Life, Nov. 14, 1675. Aged 34 Years.

And of John Chevers their Son, who departed this Life Nov. 13, 1675. Aged five Days.

Reader, conſider well how poor a Span,
And how uncertain is the Life of Man:
Here lye the Huſband, Wife, and Child, by Death
All three in five Days Time depriv'd of Breath.
The Child dies firſt, the Mother on the Morrow
Follows, and then the Father dies with Sorrow.
A Cæſar falls by many Wounds, well may
Two Stabs at Heart the ſtouteſt Captain ſlay.

Here are theſe Arms: Three Lions Rampant, impaled with on a Feſs three Creſcents, a Canton.

On a Tomb a little Northward from the laſt mentioned, this Inſcription:

Here lies the Body of Mrs. Mary Morley, late Wife of Mr. Daniel Morley, of Lyme-houſe, who departed this Life, Septemb. 12, 1700. Aged 32 Years.

Stay, Reader, ſtand, and ſpend a Tear,
And think of me who now lye here;
And while you read the State of me,
Thing on the Glaſs that runs for thee.

On a Marble Tomb Stone a little Southward from the Church, this Inſcription:

No. 114.

Captain Richard Matthew was buried here April 1665, and his Daughter Mrs. Elizabeth Marſh, who died April the 13th 1695, late Wife of Mr. John Marſh, of London, Merchant.

Thus fled our Dear away, and with a Dove-like Mind,
She like a Dove in Spirit, and ſo ſhe was inclin'd,
And left us here to mourn, we who are left behind.

On the North Side of the ſame Tomb in gold Letters on black, this Inſcription:

H. S. E.

Quicquid mortale fuit Matthæi Mead, V. D. M. Honeſta inter Cattieuchlanos Familia Orti, à Pietate, Doctrina, Facundia, præclari.

Qui Aſſiduis & Inſignibus laboribus, Patria, Religione, Libertate, invicto animo defunctus, Vita tandem & Laudis Satur, ad Coelitum Domum quam Diu optaverat laſſus & anhelus placidiſſime aſcendit; An. Ætat. ſuæ 70. 17 Kal. Novemb. MDCXCIX.

On a grey Marble Tomb Stone juſt without the South Wall of the Church, the following Inſcription:

Aſpice
Reſpice Proſpice

Under this Marble lieth the Body of Suſanna, the beloved Wife of Mr. Samuel Sambrook, of London, Merchant, Daughter of Captain Arnold Brown, of this Pariſh, Eſq; educated in all Virtues, adorned with all Graces, beloved of all that knew her. She ſtudied to ſerve God, and to do Good; lived much deſired, and died much lamented, October 11. Ætat. ſuæ 18, 1672.

By the South-Weſt Portico, this following Inſcription:

Here lieth the Body of John Archer, Son of John Archer of Wapping, Mariner, and of Frances his Wife, who departed this Life, Auguſt 1681. Aged ſeven Months.

Farewel, dear Gift, ſince God will have it ſo,
'Tis Sin to murmur at his Will we know.
He lies aſleep within this Bed
Until the Reſurrection of the Dead.

On a Grave Stone a little South Weſt from the Church:

Here lyeth the Body of Joyce Rich, Wife of John Rich, of this Pariſh who died Auguſt 1679, in the 74th Year of her Age: Alſo Elizabeth Winter, Daughter of Joyce Rich, who died in the Lord, November the 9th, 1687, in the 47th Year of her Age.

We two within the Grave do lye,
Where we do reſt together
Untill the Lord ſhall us awake,
And from the Goats us ſevere.

Near the laſt this Inſcription:

Here lyeth interred the Body of Ann Briſtan, the beloved Wife of Richard Briſtan, of Lymehouſe; juſt and ſtedfaſt to the Doctrine and Diſcipline of the eſtabliſhed Church, living belov'd, and dying lamented by all that knew her.

She entered into Eternity the 14th of April, Anno Dom. 1694.

On a Stone a little South-Weſtward from the Church is inſcribed:

Here lyes the Body of Daniel Saul,
Spittle-fields Weaver, and that's all.

On the Side of a Tomb Weſtward from the Weſt Portico, this Inſcription:

Mr. William Knight, of this Pariſh, Mariner, was here born, Feb. 1570, and died November the 22d 1636.

Mihi vivere Chriſtus & mori Lucrum.

Ceaſe Labours, reſt ye Seas of Cares and Fears,
Whoſe Waves have toſs'd me ſix and forty Years.
And now go ſleep mine Eyes, ſleep here till ye
Awake ſhall my Redeemer's Glory ſee;
Sleep till my happy Soul rejoined may
With recreated Body live for aye.
Tandem Portum.

On a Grave Stone near the Weſt Portico, this Inſcription:

Traveller, come read and weep.

Here lies William Alderſey, a late Lieutenant of their Majeſties Ship, the King's Fiſher. One ſober valiant, modeſt, diligent, and true. Intercepted by untimely Death on the 19th of June, 1691, in the 28th Year of his Age.

Live well, and learn to die.

Here are theſe Arms:

On a Bend ingraled three Leopard's Faces between two Cinquefoils.

About fifty Foot South of this Church is raiſed a Piece of Ground; occaſioned by the many Vaults erected therein at private Expence for the Interment of peculiar Families: Moſt of which are ornamented with handſome Marble Monuments enriched, and ſome of them environed with Iron Rails. Amongſt the latter Sort is that of the Family of the LEAKES, the Progenitors of the preſent Stephen Martin Leake, Eſq; Garter principal King at Arms; with the following Inſcriptions.

Upon the North Side of the Monument: Here lieth interred the Body of Dame Chriſtian Leake, late Wife of the Honourable Sir John Leake, Knt. Rear Admiral of Great Britain, and late Commander in Chief of her Majeſty's Fleet. And five of their Children viz. Richard firſt Son, who died Feb. the 25th 1677, aged eight Weeks. Mary eldeſt Daughter, died Feb. 2, 1681, aged nine Months. Hannah ſecond Daughter, died Nov. the 16th, aged thirteen Months. Chriſtian third Daughter, died May 6th, 1689, aged four Years. Elizabeth fourth Daughter, died Jan. 10, 1691, aged one Year, eight Months. The ſaid Dame Chriſtian deceaſed the 9th of December, Anno 1709, in the fifty third Year of her Age.

Alſo the Body of Capt. Richard Leake, who died March the 2d, 1719-20, aged thirty-ſeven Years, who commanded ſeveral Men of War in the Reign of Queen Anne.

South Side: Here lieth interred the Body of Stephen Martin, who departed this Life the 21ſt of March 1700, aged two Months. Mary Martin, who died the 15th of Feb. 1702-3, aged eight Years, ſeven Months. Alſo, here reſts the Body of Mrs. Mary Hill, Mother to the Lady Leake, who died January 1703, aged ſeventy-ſeven Years, ſeven Months; and Chriſtian Martin, who died the 1ſt of April 1721, aged ſeventeen Years, four Months, fourteen Days.

Alſo here lies the Body of Elizabeth Martin-Leake, the Wife of Capt. Stephen Martin-Leake of this Pariſh, and Siſter to the Lady Leake, who departed this Life the 14th Day of September 1723, aged fifty-ſeven Years.

Eaſt End: To the Memory of the Honourable Sir John Leake, Knt. Rear Admiral of Great Britain, Admiral and Commander in Chief of her late Majeſty Queen Anne's Fleet, and one of the Lords Commiſſioners of the Admiralty, who departed this Life the 21ſt of Auguſt 1720, Ætat. ſixty-four Years, one Month, ſeventeen Days. Who Anno 1689, in the Dartmouth, by engaging Kilmore Caſtle, relieved the City of Londonderry in Ireland. Alſo Anno 1702, with a Squadron at Newfoundland, he took and deſtroyed fifty-one Sail of French, together with all their Settlements. Anno 1704, he forced the Van of the French Fleet at the Malaga Engagement; relieved Gibralter twice, burning and taking thirteen Sail of French Men of War; likewiſe Anno 1706, relieved Barcelona, the preſent Emperor of Germany, beſieged therein by Philip of Spain, and took ninety Sail of Corn Ships. The ſame Year taking the Cities of Cartagena and Alicant, with the Iſlands of Ivica, Majorca, Sardinia and Minorca.

Weſt End: Here lyeth the Body of Stephen Martin Leake, Eſq; one of the ſenior Captains in the Royal Navy, and ſometime firſt Captain; an elder Brother of the Trinity-houſe; and in the Commiſſion of the Peace for the Counties of Middleſex, Eſſex and Surrey; who died the 19th Day of January 1735-6, in the 70th Year of his Age. He married Elizabeth, Siſter to the Lady Leake, the Wife of Sir John Leake, Knt. Admiral, &c. to whom he was ſtill more cloſely united by the ſtricteſt Acquaintance, having been his Captain, and ſhared the ſame common Dangers in twenty Years Wars. So that the ſaid Sir John Leake having ſurvived his Wife, and the Iſſue he had by her, made him Heir to his whole Eſtate. And He, in return for ſo great a Benefit, added the Name and Arms of Leake to his own, as the moſt grateful Means whereby he might tranſmit to Poſterity the Memorial of their Friendſhip.

On a flat Stone near to the Church-yard Wall, facing the South-Weſt Angle of the Weſt Porch, are the following Arms and Inſcription, belonging to an ancient and worthy Family in the County of Northumberland, viz.

ANNE	died	Dec. 1, 1738	aged	22	Years.

(Leaving RICHARD her only Son.)
In Teſtimony of Filial Duty to the Beſt of Parents,
And of tender Affection to the
Moſt deſerving Wife,
This Stone is inſcribed to their Memories by
RALPH BIGLAND, Citizen of LONDON.
Here alſo lies CHARLES WILKINS, Brother of the Said ANNE, who died Sept. 17, 1740, aged 18 Years.

Officers, &c. in the ſeveral Hamlets which compoſe this Pariſh.

The Church of this Pariſh, which is ſituate in the Hamlet of Ratcliff, and appears to have been built in the Reign of Edward IV. has a ſelect Veſtry, conſiſting of the Church-wardens of each Hamlet and the Rector, and two Veſtrymen choſen by and out of each Hamlet.

Antiquities, &c. in this Pariſh.

Stepney, which is ſituate Eaſt of London, in the County of Middleſex, and Hundred of Oſulſton, and in the Hamlets of Ratcliff and Mile-end Old Town, is of great Antiquity; for in Doomſday-Book, it appears in the Conqueror's Time to have been a Manor belonging to the Biſhop of London, by the Appellation of Stibenhede, a Saxon Compound, implying Stiben's Heath. Rec. Exch.

The Walls and Battlements of this Church, are built of Brick and wrought Stone, covered with a Finiſhing, and the Roof with Lead, the Inſide wereof appears arched; and the Pillars, Arches, and Windows, are of the modern Gothick, and the Weſt Porch built in 1610 is of the Tuſcan Order.

There is a Stone on the E. Side of the Portico, leading up to the Gallery on the North Side of the Chancel, whereon are inſcribed theſe Words (we ſuppoſe them genuine becauſe permitted to be there.)

Of Carthage great I was a Stone,
O Mortals read with Pitty!
Time conſumes all, it ſpareth none,
Men, Mountains, Towns nor City:
Therefore, O Mortals! all bethink
You whereunto you muſt,
Since now ſuch ſtately Buildings
Lye buried in the Duſt.

The Church is well pewed with Oak, and Wainſcotted about eight Foot high, and the Pulpit is of the ſame Sort of Timber.

The Altar-piece conſiſts of four Pilaiſters, with Entablature and Pediment, of the Corinthian Order, adorned with a Cherub, gilt Capitals, and Portraits of Moſes and Aaron; with the Queen's Arms carved. Here are alſo the Commandments, between the Lord's Prayer and Creed, done in Black on Gold; alſo three handſome inner Door-caſes, and Galleries on the North, South and Weſt Sides of the Church the Organ-caſe is embelliſhed with Frames, &c. and was lately repaired, enlarged, and beautified.

The Dimenſions are, Length 114 Foot, Breadth 54, Height 35, and the Altitude of the Tower and Turret 92 Feet, wherein are eight Bells to ring in Peal.

In this Place were antiently ſituate the Country Seats of divers of the Nobility and other Perſons of Diſtinction; among which was that of the Manor belonging to the Biſhop of London, beautifully ſituated in regard to the neighbouring Woods; wherefore Richard Graveſend, Biſhop of London, intending to convert the ſame into a Park, obtained for that End, of Edward I. a Grant of Free Warren, Anno 1292. But the Lord-Mayor and Citizens of London having vigorouſly oppoſed the Execution thereof, as contrary to, and inconſiſtent with, their Rights and Immunities, the Biſhop's Deſign was intirely defeated. Henry Walleis, Mayor of London, had alſo a Seat here, ſituate on the Spot now called the Square, on the North Side of the Village, in which Edward I. held a Parliament in the ſame Year. Rec. Guild. Stow. Sur.

At Mile-end, a little North of Stepney Church, antiently ſtood a Lazaretto, or Hoſpital of Lepers, denominated The Houſe of our Saviour Jeſus Chriſt and Mary Magdalene; to the miſerable Objects of which, Edward VI. by his Letters Patent of the eighteenth of February, Anno 1551, granted a Permiſſion to beg for their Support, and appointed John Mills their Proctor. Lond. Stryp. Ed. Stow. Sur.

The vicinal Roman Way from London led along where the Village of Bethnal Green is ſituate; and having a little on the North-eaſt thereof joined the Military Way from the Weſt, paſſed on together to the Trajectus, or Ferry of the River Lea at Old-Ford.

The Hamlet of Poplar (like the other four of this Pariſh) is one of the Tower Hamlets, and is ſo denominated from the great Number of Poplar Trees which antiently grew there. It is a Manor which formerly belonged to the Crown; but for many Ages it has been in the Hands of private Perſons. Wood. Ac. Popl.

The Chapel-houſe in the Iſle of Dogs, or Poplar Marſh, is the Ruins of a Stone Chapel, but when, or by whom built, is unknown. However, I am of Opinion, that it either belonged to the Manor of Pountfret, (or to his Majeſty's Servants who attended the Royal Kennels, whilſt the King's Hounds were kept here) which antiently lay in this Marſh; the capital Manſion whereof, by the Diſcovery of large Foundations and Gatehooks, may not only be preſumed to have ſtood here, but likewiſe divers other Houſes, which probably were inhabited till the great Inundation toward the Cloſe of the fifteenth Century, occaſioned by a Breach in the Bank of the River Thames near the great Ship-yard at Limehouſe-hole. Stryp. Ed. Stow. Sur.

The Chapel in Poplar was erected in the Year 1654; the Ground of the Site and Cemetery was given by the Eaſt-India Company; and the Fabrick erected by the voluntary Contributions of the Inhabitants and others; ſince which Time the ſaid Company has not only been pleaſed to allow the Miniſter a convenient Houſe to dwell in, with a Garden and a Field of about three Acres of Ground, but likewiſe, for his better Support, have given him twenty Pounds per Annum, to be continued during Pleaſure; wherefore the ſaid Chapel, for want of an Endowment, continues ſtill unconſecrated. Wood. Ac. Popl.

Things remarkable in Stepney Pariſh at preſent, are, the Church, with its ſpacious Cemetery; a Preſbyterian, Independent, Anabaptiſt, and a Quaker Meeting-houſes; two Charity Schools; fifteen Alms-houſes; one Hoſpital for twenty-four old Men, one hundred Boys, and two Maſters; two Work-houſes; an annual Fair at Mile-end Old Town; a large Ship-yard to build in; three Ports, or Stairs to take Water at; two Portugueſe and one German Jews Burial Grounds, the firſt of which contains near one thouſand Sepulchral Stones of beautiful Marble, under which Perſons of all Ages and Ranks lie promiſcuouſly in Rows without Diſtinction, and whoſe Graves are never re-opened; and the Iſle of Dogs, (at firſt firſt ſo denominated by Sailors, from the great Noiſe made by the King's Hounds, that were kept here during the Reſidence of the Royal Family at Greenwich) or Poplar-marſh, is a Spot of Ground of ſuch Fertility and Excellency of Graſs, that it not only raiſes the largeſt Cattle, but it is likewiſe the great Reſtorative of all diſtempered Beaſts.

St. George's, Bloomſbury.

This is one of the fifty new Churches appointed by Act of Parliament to be built within the Bill of Mortality; in purſuance of which it was erected at the Charge of the Publick, and a Diſtrict for its Pariſh taken out of that of St. Giles's in the Fields: Whereupon it was,
Act Parl. 3 Geo. II. Anno 1730, by Authority of Parliament, conſtituted a new Pariſh, and the Sum of three thouſand Pounds given towards the Support of its Rector; to which being added the Sum of twelve hundred and fifty Pounds, given by the Inhabitants of the Pariſh of the ſaid St. Giles, both Sums were ordered to be laid out in a Purchaſe of Lands, Tenements, &c. in Fee Simple, as a perpetual Fund for the Maintenance of the ſaid Rector and his Succeſſors, excluſive of Surplice Fees, Perquiſites, Eaſter-Offerings, Gifts and Bequeſts.

Ibid. And it was by the ſame Authority ordained, that the Commiſſioners for building the fifty new Churches aforeſaid, ſhall, with the Conſent of the Veſtry, be impowered to aſcertain the ſeveral Sums to be paid to the Rector and othe Pariſh Officers for each Burial. And that the ſeveral Vaults under the Church (excluſive of thoſe appropriated to the Rectory Houſe) together with the Veſtry Room, Seats and Pews, are veſted in the Church-wardens and their Succeſſors, for the Uſe of the Pariſh, under the Direction of the Veſtry, who, with the Rector, are impowered to chuſe a Lecturer: That the Rectory ſhall not be held in Commendam, and that all Licences tending thereto, are declared to be void and of no Effect: And that the Poor of this Pariſh, and that of St. Giles in the Fields, ſhall be maintained by the joint Aſſeſſments of both Pariſhes, in the ſame manner as before the ſaid Pariſh of St. Giles was divided.

This Church was conſecrated by Edmund Biſhop of London on the 28th of January, 1731, at which Time, in Honour of his preſent Majeſty, it received the Appellation of St. George, and the additional Epithet of Bloomſbury, from its Situation, to diſtinguiſh it from others of the ſame Denomination within the Bill of Mortality.

The Advowſon of this Rectory, like that of its Mother of St. Giles's in the Fields, is in the Gift of the Crown.

The Rector pays neither Firſt-fruits, Tenths, Procurations, nor other Diſburſements on Account of the Cure.

Officers, &c. belonging to this Pariſh.

The Veſtry is ſelect, conſiſting of thirty-ſix Members; two Church-wardens; four Overſeers of the Poor; two Conſtables; two Headboroughs; four Scavengers (the Money paid the Raker, and Number of Watchmen, are reckoned in the Pariſh of St Giles in the Fields); two Beadles; nine hundred and fifty-four Houſes.

Antiquities, in this Pariſh.

Bloomſbury, which is ſituate in the County of Middleſex, and Hundred of Oſulſton, was antiently a Village, denominated Lomſbury, wherein the King's Stables were ſituate till Anno 1354, when the ſame were deſtroyed by Fire, together with a Number of Horſes, and great Quantities of Corn and Hay.

The Remarkables at preſent are, the ſtately Pariſh Church, with the Statue of King George I. placed on the Top of its Steeple; a magnificent Square, a ſpacious Market-place, and one of the Parliament's Forts, at the North-End of Southampton-houſe Garden, now the Terraſs-walk, ſtill remaining.

St. George's, Queen's-ſquare.

The Pariſh of St. Andrew, Holborn, having greatly increaſed both in Number of Houſes and Inhabitants, divers Gentlemen, at the extreme Boundary of the Pariſh, propoſed the Erection of a Chapel for the convenient Performance of their Religious, Duties. To which End, Sir Streyn- Par. Rec.
ſham Maſter, and fourteen other neighbouring Gentlemen, being appointed Truſtees and Managers of the whole Affair, they agreed with Arthur Tooley, (who, on the twenty-ſixth of February, Anno 1705, had taken Nathaniel Curſon, a certain Spot of Ground by Leaſe, for the Term of ſixty-one Years, whereon to erect Houſes) to build them a Chapel and two Houſes for the Sum of three thouſand five hundred Pounds (which Money the ſaid Gentleman propoſed to raiſe by the Sale of Pews to be erected in the intended Chapel); which was no ſooner finiſhed, than the Truſtees, by a Deed of the 1ſt of July, Anno 1706, ſettled certain annual Stipends, for the Maintenance of a Chaplain, an Afternoon Preacher, (who was likewiſe Reader) and a Clerk; to the firſt and ſecond one hundred Pounds each, and to the laſt fifty Pounds.

The Commiſſioners for erecting the fifty new Churches within the Bill of Mortality having Ibid.
reſolved to conſtitute this Chapel one of the ſaid Churches, they purchaſed the Inheritance thereof for the Sum of eleven hundred Pounds; and having repaired and adorned the ſame, at the Expence of above two thouſand Pounds, on the 12th of Auguſt, Anno 1713, following, appointed a certain Diſtrict for its Pariſh; and having purchaſed the Chapel, with its Appurtenances, for the Sum of fifteen hundred Pounds, it was aſſigned to the ſaid Commiſſioners on the tenth of April. Anno 1721, and conſecrated on the twenty-ſixth of September, in the Year 1723, by Edmund, Biſhop of London, who dedicated the ſame to St. George, in Compliment to Sir Streynſham Maſter, who had been Governor of the Fort of that Name in India.

This Church and Diſtrict being in all Reſpects become Parochial, the Commiſſioners aforeſaid Ibid.
appointed them a ſelect Veſtry, conſiſting of the Rector, Church-wardens, and thirty other Members.

This Rectory, like that of its Mother of St. Andrew's, Holborn, is in the Gift of the Duke of Montague.

The Incumbent pays neither Firſt-fruits, Tenths, Procurations, or other Diſburſements on Account of the Cure.

This new Pariſh, like that of its Neighbour St. George of Bloomſbury, only regards Church Affairs; for all Matters relating to the Poor (except the Sacrament-Money, about 100 l. per Annum, which is given to the Poor at Diſcretion) are ſtill under the Direction of High-Holborn Liberty, from which it was taken, and to which alſo belong the Charitable Benefactions.

Officers, &c. in this Pariſh.

The Veſtry (as already taken Notice of) is ſelect, conſiſting of thirty-three Members; two Church-wardens; two Collectors for the Poor; two Conſtables; two Headboroughs; two Scavengers (the Money paid the Raker being included in the Account of High-Holborn); one Beadle; nine Watchmen; ſeven hundred and eighty-two Houſes.

Remarkables at preſent in this Pariſh.

In this Pariſh are, the Devil's and Lamb's Conduits. The former, which ſerves Chriſt's-Hoſpital with St. George's, in Middleſex.

This which is a Rectory, ſituate on the North Side of Ratcliff-Highway, is one of the fifty new Churches appointed to be built within the Bill of Mortality, by Act of Parliament of the ninth of Queen Anne, Anno 1710. In purſuance of which Act, its Foundation was laid Anno 1715, and the Structure finiſhed in the Year 1729.

Act Parl. 9 Anne.

The Commiſſioners for building this and the other new Churches, having appointed the Hamlet of Wapping-Stepney the Diſtrict for the new Pariſh, it was by Parliamet conſtituted a Pariſh diſtinct and in all Reſpects independent of that of Stepney, as if it never had belonged to the ſame; whereupon 'twas conſecrated by Edmund Biſhop of London, on the 19th of July, Anno 1729. And towards the Maintenance of the Rector and his Succeſſors, the Parliament gave the Sum of three thouſand Pounds to be laid out in a Purchaſe of Lands, Tenements, &c. in Fee Simple. And as a further Proviſion for the ſaid Rector, the Church-wardens are appointed, by the Authority aforeſaid, annually to pay him, by Quarterly Payments, the Sum of one hundred Pounds, to be raiſed by Fees ariſing from Burials; for which Purpoſe, the Diſpoſal of the Burial Ground and Vaults belonging to the Pariſh, are veſted in the Veſtry, excluſive of the Rector; and who, with Conſent of the Biſhop, are impowered to appoint ſuch Fees for Burials, as ſhall not exceed thirty, nor leſs than two Shillings; and to aſcertain Rates for Leave to make Vaults, lay down Graveſtones, and erect Monuments. And for the better ſecuring the Payment of the abovementioned hundred Pounds to the Rector, it is alſo enacted, by the Authority aforeſaid, That, on Default of Payment, the Rector, for the more eaſy and ſpeedy recovering of the ſame, may apply to two, or more Juſtices of the Peace of the County of Middleſex, who, upon Oath made of the Sum or Sums in Arrear, may compel ſuch Defaulter, by Diſtreſs and Sale of their Goods; and if Diſtreſs cannot be had to ſatisfy ſuch Arrears, then the ſucceeding Church-wardens to be reſponſible for the ſame. It is alſo ordained, that the Rector ſhall not receive any Surplice Fees for Burials, unleſs he be deſired to perform the Funeral Rites in the Church, in Preſence of the Corps; and then only ſuch Fees as ſhall for that Purpoſe be ſettled by the Veſtry, with the Conſent of the Biſhop. It is likewiſe ordained, That this Rectory ſhall not be held in Commendam; and that all Licences and Diſpenſations, for that Purpoſe, are declared void and of no Effect. And it is further ordained, That the Veſtry of this Pariſh ſhall conſiſt of the Rector, Church-wardens, Overſeers of the Poor, and all ſuch Perſons as ſhall pay one Pound four Shillings per Annum to the Poor.

The Advowſon of this Rectory, like that of Stepney, from whence it was taken, is in the Principal and Scholars of King's Hall, and College of Brazen-noſe in Oxford.

The Rector pays neither Firſt-fruits, Tenths, Procurations, or other Diſburſement on Account of the Cure.

Here are only Collectors for the Poor, who pay the Money they receive to the Church-wardens; who tranſact all Affairs relating to the Church and Poor.

St. Giles's in the Fields.

By the Village of St. Giles's not appearing in Doomſday-book, I imagine it is not coëval with the Norman Conqueſt. But that the Pariſh is of great Antiquity, is manifeſt, by the Decretal Sentence of Stephen, Archbiſhop of Canterbury, &c. Anno 1222, in the great Controverſy between Euſtace, Biſhop of London, &c. and William, Abbot of Weſtminſter, &c. in which Sentence this Pariſh is expreſsly mentioned; but I imagine it was not converted into a Pariſh Church till the twentieth of April, Ann. 1547, when William Rowlinſon was inſtituted Rector thereof.

Joh. Fleet. MS. Hiſt. Cœnob. Weſtm. in Bibl. Lamb.

The little old Church of this Pariſh being taken down in the Year 1623, the Materials thereof were only ſold for the Sum of nine Pounds eleven Shillings and nine Pence. And in the ſame Year, the Foundation of the late Brick Edifice being laid, it was finiſhed two Years after, at the Expence of 2068 l. 7 s. 2 d. But the Ground in the Neighbourhood being gradually raiſed to the Height of eight Feet higher than the Floor thereof, it became very damp and unwholſome; wherefore the Inhabitants applied to Parliament to have it rebuilt; which being agreed to, they appointed the ſame to be re-edified; and for that Purpoſe having granted the Sum of eight thouſand Pounds, the old Church was taken down, and the firſt Stone of the new laid, in the Year 1730, and the ſame being finiſhed in the Beginning of the Year 1734, it was preached in on the 14th of the following April; the whole Charge of Building amounted to the Sum of ten thouſand and twenty-ſix Pounds fifteen Shillings and nine Pence.

This Church which is ſituate on the South Side of St. Giles's-ſtreet, is denominated from St. Giles, a Grecian; and the additional Epithet to diſtinguiſh it from a Church of the ſame Name at Cripplegate.

NewView Lond. This Monument was erected, Anno 1670, in Memory of the Honourable John, Lord Belaſyſe, Baron Worlaby, Second Son of Thomas, Lord Viſcount Fauconberg, his Wives and Children.

Who, for his Loyalty, Prudence and Courage was promoted to ſeveral Commands of great Truſt, by their Majeſties King Charles the Firſt and Second, viz. Having raiſed ſix Regiments of Horſe and Foot in the late Civil Wars, he commanded a Tertia in his Majeſty's Armies, at the Battles of Edgehill, Newbury and Naſeby, the Seiges of Reading and Briſtol. Afterward being made Governor of York, and Commander in Chief of all his Majeſty's Forces in Yorkſhire, he fought the Battle of Selby with the Lord Fairfax. Then being Lieutenant-General of the Counties of Lincoln, Northampton, Derby and Rutland, and Governour of Newark, he valiantly defended the Garriſon againſt the Engliſh and Scotch Armies, till his Majeſty came in Perſon to the Scotch Quarters, and commanded the Surrender of it; at which Time he alſo had the Honour of being General of the King's Horſe-guards. In all which Services, and during the Wars and other Atchievements, he deported himſelf with eminent Courage and Conduct, and received many Wounds, ſuſtained three Impriſonments in the Tower of London, and after the happy Reſtoration of King Charles II. was made Lord Lieutenant of the Eaſt Riding of the County of York, Governor of Hull, General of his Majeſty's Forces in Africa, Governour of Tangier, and Captain of his Majeſty's Guard of Gentlemen-Penſioners.

He married to his firſt Wife, Jane, Daughter and ſole Heir to Sir Robert Boteler, of Woodhall, by whom he had Sir Henry Belaſyſe, of the Honourable Order of the Bath, who lies interred in this Choir; and Mary, married to the Lord Viſcount Dunbar.

This Foundation Henry II. ſoon after, not only confirmed, with all the Benefactions thereunto belonging, but he likewiſe granted to the ſaid Hoſpital a perpetual Annuity, out of his Exchequer, of three Pounds, to ſupply thoſe piteous Objects with Apparel; as he alſo did thirty Shillings and five Pence per Annum, out of his Domains in the County of Surrey, to buy them Lights. Mon. Angl.

Edward III. in the twentieth Year of his Reign, Anno 1347, by his Letters to the Mayor and Sheriffs of London, ſtrictly injoined them to make Proclamation in the ſeveral Wards of the City, for all Lepers to depart the ſame within fifteen Days; and that no Perſon preſume to ſhelter any ſo diſeaſed, upon pain of forfeiting the Houſe wherein ſuch Perſon or Perſons were concealed; and that all Perſons afflicted with this loathſome Diſtemper be removed to a conſiderable Diſtance from the Converſation of the Sound. Wherefore the Mayor and Citizens of London applied to the Superior of this Hoſpital, to take into the ſame fourteen leprous Citizens, according to the Settlement of Matilda, the Foundreſs. See Vol. I. A.D. 1347

By the Application of the Londoners to the Maſter of this Hoſpital, it appears, that the Number of Citizens to be admitted were fourteen; and thoſe of the County of Middleſex were probably the ſame Number. Therefore, leſt the Reader ſhould be ſurprized at Matilda's having only endowed this Hoſpital with the Sum of three Pounds per Annum, for annually ſupplying twenty-eight Perſons with Food, 'twill be neceſſary to acquaint him, that about the Time of its Foundation, the King commanded his Tenants, that for the future, inſtead of their furniſhing Bread for one hundred Men, (which my Author imagines to have been for a Meal; but, according to the Prices of other Proviſions at that Time, I rather take to have been for a Day) they ſhould bring a Shilling; and in lieu of a Stall-fed Ox, one Shilling; for Oats for twenty Horſes for one Night, four Pence; and for a Ram, four Pence: By which Ordinance we may ſuppoſe, that Wheat, then, was not above four, or, at moſt ſix Pence a Quarter; which being duly conſidered, 'twill appear, that the Wages of a Labourer, at that Time, could not amount to above a Farthing per Day. Chron. Preci.

Edward III. by his Charter of the fourth of April, Anno 1354, granted this Hoſpital to the Maſter and Brethren of the Order of Burton St. Lazar of Jeruſalem, in Leiceſterſhire, in conſideration of their having remitted forty Marks, and the Arrears thereof, payable out of the Exchequer. By which means it became a Cell to the ſaid Burton St. Lazar. Dugd. Mon. Angl. Stow. Sur. Lond.

As in the ſentential Award made by the Archbiſhop of Canterbury, &c. concerning a Conteſt between the Biſhop of London and Abbot of Weſtminſter, the Garden of the late Hoſpital appears to have lain between St. Giles's High-ſtreet, the Pound, and Hog-lane; I am of Opinion, that the Hoſpital ſtood where Lloyd's-court is at preſent ſituate, at the Weſt-end of the Church. Ibid.

On the Removal of the Gallows from the Elms in Smithfield, about the Year 1413, it was erected at the North-end of the Garden Wall belonging to this Hoſpital, oppoſite the Pound, where at preſent the Crown Tavern is ſituate, between the Ends of St. Giles's High-ſtreet and Hog-lane; in which Place it continued till removed to the Neighbourhood of Tyburn. Ibid.

The condemned Criminals, in their Way to the Place of Execution, uſually ſtopped at this Hoſpital, where they, as their laſt Refreſhment, were preſented with a large Bowl of Ale. Ibid.

Soon after the Diſſolution of this Hoſpital, Henry VIII. Anno 1545, granted the ſame, with the Appurtenances, to the Lord Dudley; at which Time, I imagine, the Chapel was converted into the Pariſh Church. Newc. Repert. Eccleſ. Paroch.

Things obſervable at preſent, are, the handſome Pariſh Church, two Charity-ſchools, an Almshouſe, and a Workhouſe for the Reception of the Poor.

St. James's, Clerkenwell.

This Church, which is a Donative, or Curacy, in the Gift of the Pariſhioners, is ſituate on the North Side of Clerkenwell-green, in the Hundred of Oſulſton, and Manor of Finſbury and Wonlakesbarn. It is Part of the antient Priory Church, denominated from its Dedication to St. James Minor, Biſhop of Jeruſalem, and the Monaſtery to which it belonged. Stow. Sur. Lond.

Here was antiently a Priory, which was founded by Jordan Briſet, a wealthy Baron, who, about the Year 1100, gave to Robert, his Chaplain, fourteen Acres of Land in a Field adjoining to Clerks, or Clerkenwell, whereon to build a Monaſtery; which was no ſooner erected and dedicated to the Honour of God, and the Aſſumption of the Virgin Mary, then he placed therein a certain Number of Nuns, (for whoſe Support, Benefactions of Lands, Tenements, &c. came flowing in from all Parts) in whom and their Succeſſors it continued till ſuppreſſed by Henry VIII. Anno 1539, when its Revenues were found to amount to 262 l. 19 s. per Annum.

Some Time after the Diſſolution of this Nunnery, the Site thereof became the Inheritance of Sir William Cavendiſh; who being ſince created Duke of Newcaſtle, erected thereon the preſent ſpacious and ſtately ſquare Brick Edifice on the North Side of the Church, and Eaſt Side of the Cloſe.

The Church of this Pariſh, which was that of the late Priory, for divers Ages, not only ſerved as a Place for the Nuns to celebrate the Divine Offices in, but it likewiſe accommodated the neighbouring Inhabitants in the Performance of their Religious Duties; and by its being made Parochial (ſoon after the Diſſolution of its Monaſtery) whereby 'tis manifeſt, that Clerkenwell at that Time muſt have been a conſiderable Village; and tho' at preſent it be, by the contiguous Buildings, added to this great City, 'tis nevertheleſs in the County of Middleſex, Hundred of Oſulſton, and Manor of Finſbury; and owes its Origin to the late Monaſtery, as much as that did its Name to the Clerks Well in that Neighbourhood.

The Steeple of this Church being greatly decayed by Age, Part thereof fell down in the Year 1623, which occaſioned the Pariſh to contract with a Builder, to re-edify the whole; who being willing to get as much thereby as poſſible, raiſed the new Work upon the old Foundation; and having carried on the ſame with the utmoſt Expedition, the Bells were ſoon after hung therein; but before the ſame was intirely finiſhed, it fell down, and deſtroyed Part of the Church, which were both ſoon after rebuilt, as they at preſent appear. Mund. Ed. Stow. Sur.

Adjoining to the North Side of the Church, is the beautiful Ambulatory, or South Side Row of the Cloiſter of the late Priory, conſiſting of ſix Arches; and altho' the Eaſtern Part of the ſaid Cloiſter be deſtroyed, yet the Nuns Hall, which was ſituate at the North End thereof, is ſtill remaining, tho' at preſent it is converted into a Cabinet-maker's Work-ſhop. And the Garden on the Eaſt Side was formerly the Cemetery belonging to the Nunnery.

At the lower End of Clerkenwell-green, in Ragſtreet, oppoſite Mutton-lane, is the celebrated Fountain, denominated Clerks, or Clerkenwell, ſo called from the Pariſh Clerks of the City of London, who antiently uſed to meet there annually, to repreſent certain Parts of Scripture in a Theatrical Manner; to which the Lord-Mayor and Citizens of London not only repaired, but likewiſe the Nobility, to ſee their Performances: From which Well, the late Priory, as well as the preſent Church and Pariſh, are denominated.

A little South-eaſt of Clerkenwell Priory, where at preſent St. John's-ſquare, &c. are ſituate, ſtood the Houſe, or Hoſpital of St. John of Jeruſalem, which was founded by the aforeſaid Jordan Briſet, who, for that End, purchaſed of the Prioreſs and Nuns of Clerkenwell, ten Acres of Land (for which he gave them twenty Acres in his Lordſhip of Willinghale in Kent), whereon he erected the ſaid Hoſpital about the Year 1110. But the Church thereof was not dedicated to St. John the Baptiſt, till the Year 1185. Ex. Stillin. MSS. in Bibl. Cor.

This magnificent Fabrick was the chief Seat in England belonging to the Knights Hoſpitalers, who, from the greateſt Poverty, by the profuſe Liberality of ſimple Bigots and Enthuſiaſts, ſoon attained to that Degree of Riches and Honour, that their Prior was reckoned the firſt Baron of the Kingdom, and who for State and Grandeur vied with the King. Such was the Antipathy of the Populace to theſe imperious Knights, that the Rebels of Kent and Eſſex under the Conduct of Wat Tyler and Jack Straw, Anno 1381, conſumed this ſtately Edifice by Fire; but the ſame being rebuilt in a much more magnificent Manner, it was ſuppreſſed by Henry VIII. in the Year 1541, at which Time the Revenues thereof amounted to no leſs than three thouſand three hundred and eighty- Camd. Brit.

eighty-five Pounds nineteen Shillings and eight Pence per Annum.

Soon after, this ſpacious and ſtately Edifice was converted into a Repoſitory of Martial Stores, and the Royal Hunting Equipage; to which Uſes it was employed till the Year 1550, when Edward Seymour, Duke of Somerſet, and Protector of the Kingdom, cauſed the Church thereof, together with its lofty and beautiful Steeple, to be demoliſhed, and the Stones thereof employed in building his ſtately and magnificent Palace of Somerſet-houſe in the Strand.

Pardon Church-yard. This Spot of Ground lies on the Eaſt Side of St. John's-ſtreet, between the North Wall of the Charter-houſe Garden and Sutton-ſtreet, alias Swan-alley; and is at preſent of the neighbouring Inhabitants corruptly called Farden Church-yard: There being nothing of the Chapel left but its four Stone Quoins, the Interſtices whereof were ſome Time ago rebuilt, and the whole converted into a Dwelling-houſe; in the Neighbourhood of which, a few Years ago, in digging Foundations for divers new Houſes, a very great Quantity of Human Bones were dug up, to the no ſmall Amazement of the whole Neighbourhood.

From Mountmill, in an oblique Line acroſs this Pariſh, ran the Line of Communication, which was raiſed round this City and Suburbs by an Order of Parliament in the Year 1642. The Veſtigia whereof, which are ſtill to be ſeen, run with a North-weſt Courſe from the Garden belonging to Merlin's-cave near the New-river-head, to the uppermoſt Stile in the Field wherein the ſaid Houſe and Garden are ſituate: And a little Weſtward from the ſaid Stile, was a Breaſt-work with a Battery on the ſaid Line of Communication, for the Defence of Hampſtead-road. And from that Part of the ſaid Line of Comumnication, whereon the ſaid Garden is ſituate, a covered Way (the Courſe whereof is ſtill to be ſeen) ran to a large Bulwark at the upper Pond belonging to the New River Company, the greateſt Part of which is ſtill remaining adjoining to the ſaid Pond on the Weſt; and the Eaſtern Part thereof is occupied by the Weſtern Part of the ſaid Pond.

Things at preſent remarkable are, the Pariſh Church, a Chapel of Eaſe, with that of an Almshouſe in Iſlington; two Quakers Meeting-houſes, three Charity-Schools, an Alms-houſe, a handſome Square, at the lower End of which is the ſtately South Gate of the Hoſpital of St. John; a Market for Sheepſkins, three Wells of Medicinal Waters, the New River Water-works, a Cold Bath, divers beautiful Bowling-greens, and among the pleaſant verdant Fields in this Neighbourhood, that of the White-Conduit is the moſt celebrated for Air, Proſpect and Elevation; two Workhouſes, a Houſe of Correction; and two Priſons.

St. John's, at Hackney.

Hackney was a diſtinct Rectory and Vicarage in the 20th of Edward I. Anno 1292, and dedicated to St. Auguſtine, but the Knights Templars having obtained a Mill and other Poſſeſſions in the Pariſh, they were, upon the Suppreſſion of their Order, granted to the Knight Templars of St. John of Jeruſalem, from whom 'tis ſuppoſed to have received its preſent Appellation of St. John. Be that as it will, 'tis certain it was not preſented to by that Name till after the Year 1660.

Newc. Repert. Eccleſ. Paroch.

This Church is both a Rectory and Vicarage, the firſt whereof was antiently in the Gift of the Crown, wherein it continued till the Year 1372, when it came to the Biſhop of London, in whom and his Succeſſors it continued, 'till Nicholas Ridley, Biſhop of that See, granted the ſaid Manor, by Indenture of the 12th of April, in the Year 1551, to Edward VI. who, on the 16th of the ſame Month, regranted the ſame to Thomas, Lord Wentworth, whereby he and his Deſcendants became Patrons of the Rectory, in whom it continued till about the Year 1590, when the Rectory, with the Great Tithes, no ſooner became the Property of a Lay Perſon, than the Vicarage, which had all along been in the Gift of the Rector, ſoon after followed, and is at preſent in the Gift of Mr. Tyſon. As to Eccleſiaſtical Affairs, 'tis ſubject to the Biſhop of London and his Commiſſary.

The Village of Hackney being antiently celebrated for the numerous Seats of the Nobility and Gentry, occaſioned a mighty Reſort thither of Perſons of all Conditions from the City of London; whereby ſo great a Number of Horſes were were daily hired in the City on that Account, that at length all Horſes to be let received the common Appellation of Hackney Horſes; which Denomination has ſince communicated itſelf both to publick Coaches and Chairs. And tho' this Place at preſent be deſerted by the Nobility, yet it ſo greatly abounds with Merchants and other Perſons of Diſtinction, that it excels all other Villages in the Kingdom, and probably upon Earth, in the Riches and Opulency of its Inhabitants, as may be judged from the great Number of Perſons who keep Coaches therein.

The greateſt Remains of Antiquity at preſent are, Shore Place, which, with the Lands formerly thereunto belonging, I take to be the Grant made by Sir John Shoreditch, to William de Croſtone, Chaplain, in the Year 1339, and the Temple Mill, ſo denominated from its having belonged to the Convent of Knights Templars in the City of London.

The Remarkables at preſent are, the Church, one Chapel, three Meeting-houſes, three Charity-Schools, three Alms-houſes, and a Work-houſe for the Reception of the Poor.

St. John's, Wapping.

The Pariſh of St. Mary, Whitechapel, having greatly increaſed both in Number of Houſes and Inhabitants, but eſpecially in that Part of it bordering upon the River Thames; which being at a great Diſtance from the Church, occaſioned the Inhabitants of the Hamlet of Wapping-Whitechapel, Anno 1615, to petition John Biſhop of London, for a Licence to erect a Chapel for the more convenient Performance of their religious Duties; to which the Biſhop aſſented, and in the Month of Auguſt of the ſame Year granted them a Faculty, upon their agreeing to ſecure all Duties to the Mother-Church, and the Rector thereof; and to provide a Houſe for, and pay twenty Pounds per Annum to a Curate to officiate in the intended Chapel. Whereupon Richard Gardner, the Rector of St. Mary, Whitechapel, did, for himſelf and Succeſſors, impower the Inhabitants aforeſaid, to nominate their Curate to the Biſhop of London, as Occaſion ſhould require.

The Chapel being ſoon after erected, it was, together with its Cemetery, conſecrated by the Biſhop aforeſaid, on Monday, July 16, Anno 1617, with this Proviſo, that the Inhabitants of the Hamlet aforeſaid ſhould annually, at the Feaſt of Eaſter, receive the Sacrament at their Mother-Church of St. Mary, Whitechapel; unleſs diſpenſed with by the Biſhop of London, or his Vicar-general, and the Rector of Whitechapel.

Antiquities, &c. in this Pariſh.

The Site of this Pariſh, together with the Parts adjoining, were antiently within the Flux of the River Thames; but when, or by whom they were at firſt imbanked, is unknown: However, I am of Opinion, as already hinted, that the ſame were at firſt taken off the River about the Year 1544.

Stryp. Ed. Stow. Sur. By frequent Inundations of the River Thames, its Banks in theſe Parts became great Sufferers; for about the Year 1565, divers Breaches were made therein; which were no ſooner repaired, than another happened in the Year 1571; when the Commiſſioners of Sewers, after viewing the ſame, were of Opinion, that the moſt effectual Way to ſecure the Bank of the River in thoſe Parts, would be to erect Houſes thereon. To which End, Ground was taken, and the firſt Foundations of Houſes laid, where Wapping at preſent is ſituate.

Things remarkable at preſent, are, the Church, a Preſbyterian, Quaker, and French Meeting-houſes, two Charity-ſchools, one Square, a Yard for Ship-building, eight Pair of Stairs or Steps to go upon and return from off the River, (two whereof being denominated Docks, one of which is the Bell-dock, the other Execution-dock, the common Place of Execution for Pirates) and a Work-houſe for the Reception of the Poor.

St. Leonard's, Shoreditch.

Newc. Repert. Eccleſ. Paroch. Tho' I cannot aſcertain the Origin of this Church, yet that it is of great Antiquity is manifeſt, by a Diſpute that happened between Henry II. and the Prior and Canons of the Holy Trinity in London, touching the Advowſon thereof; which being determined in Favour of the King, he preſented Walter de Wittenor as Parſon of the ſame.

Rec. Tur. 5 Joh. m. 8. n. 65.

In the Year 1204, King John granted this Rectory, by the Appellation of the Church of Sording, to William de Sanctæ Mariæ Eccleſia, Biſhop of London, as a Fundation for the Office of chief Chantor or Precentor of St. Paul's Cathedral, which the Biſhop confirmed for that Purpoſe; however, this Fund proved of no long Duration, for it was ſoon after alienated from the Office of Precentor, to that of the Archdeacon of London; but by whom, or on what Occaſion this Tranſition happened, I cannot learn. Be that as it will, for ought appears, the Archdeacon of London has been Parſon or Rector thereof ever ſince, and preſents the Vicar; and all Matters Eccleſiaſtical in the Pariſh, in Subordination the Biſhop, are ſubject to his Juriſdiction, except the Liberties of Hoxton and Norton-falgate, which belong to the Dean and Chapter of St. Paul's.

By the early Account of this Church, I think it is of a Saxon Origin. However, after many Reparations, it became ſo very ruinous, that in the Year 1734, the Pariſhioners were neceſſitated to apply to Parliament for Aſſiſtance to rebuild the ſame; and having obtained an Act for that Purpoſe, began to pull it down about the Beginning of November, 1735, and laid the Foundation of the preſent beautiful Edifice in the Year 1736.

Newc. Repert. Eccleſ. Paroch.

This Church, which is both a Rectory and a Vicarage, is denominated from its Dedication to St. Leonard, Biſhop of Lemoges in France, and its Situation in the Hamlet of Shoreditch. But the Rights of the Rector and Vicar not being thoroughly aſcertained, an Agreement was made between Dr. Theophilus Aelmar, Archdeacon of London, as Rector of the Pariſh, and Dr. Richard Aliſon, Vicar of the ſame; which was confirmed by the Biſhop of London, 6 April, Anno 1611; wherein it was agreed, That the Rector for the future ſhould receive the Tithes of all Grain, Hay, and Gardens of Half an Acre of Ground and upwards, which have, or ſhall be made out of Grounds tithable to the Rector; and that of all Bricks, made out of Land in the Pariſh.

Ibid.

And the Vicar, to receive the Tithes of Paſture, Orchard and Garden-wood, and of Gardens under Half an Acre; together with thoſe of all barren and fruitful Creatures; all Oblations, Eccleſiaſtical Rights, Fees for Marriages, Chriſtenings, Churchings and Burials, and other ſmall Tithes. In Conſideration of which the ſaid Vicar is to bear the whole Charge of the Cure, in Reſpect to his Office.

The Vicarage amounts to about three hundred and fifty Pounds per Annum.

Mund Ed. Stow. Sur.

This Monument is erected in Memorie, that within this Church doe lye buried the Bodies of the Right Honourable and noble Ladies, Lady Katharine Stafford, Daughter to Edward Duke of Buckingham, and Wife to Ralph Earle of Weſtmorland, who dyed 1553; Lady Elianor, Daughter to Sir William Paſton, Kt. and Wife to the Right Honourable Lord Thomas Earle of Rutland, buried 1551; Lady Margaret Nevell, Daughter to Ralph Earle of Weſtmorland, and Wife to Henry Earle of Rutland, who died 1560; and the Lady Catharine Nevell, Wife to Sir John Conſtable of Holderneſs, Kt. and Daughter to Henry Earle of Weſtmorland; and Lady Anne Manners, Daughter to Thomas Earle of Rutland; which Katharine died the Seven and Twentieth Day of March, anno Domini 1591.

And that here doe lye alſo the Bodies of two right worthy Gentlemen, honourably deſcended; namely, of Sir Thomas Manners, Kt. and Oliver Manners, Eſq; Brethren, being the Fourth and Fifth Sonnes of the aforeſaid Thomas Earle of Rutland. The Firſt died about his Age of Fifty, in June 1591. after many valiant Services performed by him for his Prince and Countrey, both in Ireland and Scotland, where he was knighted; and witneſſed by ſundrie great Wounds he then received. The Second died in his younger Yeeres, 1563, about his Age of Twentie, yet not before good Proofe made of his Valour, and Forwardneſs in the Service of Newhaven, againſt the French; where he tooke the Sickneſſe, whereof he died ſhortly after in Shoreditch.

Founded by the Lady Adeline Nevill, at the Direction of the ſaid Lady Katharine Conſtable, deceaſed, her Siſter, in February 1591.

Jane, the Wife of Ralfe Hanſby, Eſq; Daughter to William Vavaſour, Eſq; Grandchild to Thomas Manners, Knight, died the 22. Day of July, in the Yeere of our Lord 1617. and of her Age the 23. to whoſe bleſſed Memory her dear Huſband hath dedicated this Monument, to ſignifie, that with her his Joy lies here interred.

This Monument is erected in Memory of William Fremlin, Eſq; eldeſt Son of Thomas Fremlin, and Ann, his Wife, both of this Pariſh, deceaſed; whoſe better Genius having diſpoſed his Deſires wholly unto Travel, he was in the Eighteenth Year of his Age entertained by the Honourable Eaſt-India Company, and by them employed in the remoteſt Regions of Aſia; where his Abilities and fair Comportment found ſo good Approbation, that within Three Years after his Arrival, he was ſent to reſide Agent at the Court of the Great Mogul; and then the more important Affairs of the Honourable Company wanting his Aſſiſtance in the chief Reſidence at Surat, he was called thither to ſupply the Place of Second, in Council and Command; which Truſt he diſcharged with ſuch approved Diligence and Dexterity, that by expreſs Order he was appointed Preſident, and ſo Five Years, to the great Satisfaction of his Honourable Employers, and the abundant Content of his own Nation, whom he governed, and thoſe other among whom he lived.

And

And then returning for England, God was pleaſed to deliver him from as imminent Danger of Shipwreck as ever any Man eſcaped; that he arrived in Safety, after the Expiration of nineteen Years, three Months and twenty one Days, to find a Grave in the Land and Pariſh of his Nativity; for now, alas! he began to languiſh; and upon the 13th of March 1645, put a Period to this Pilgrimage, in the 38th Year of his Age, having by his laſt Will and Teſtament bequeathed to charitable Uſes 870 l. and more particularly to the Poor of this Pariſh 200 l.

Reſt, weary Traveller; A quiete Repoſe

Stryp. Ed. Stow. Sur. Here lies the Body of Mr. John Jacob Veſenbeck, Gent. of this Pariſh, who departed this Life December the 31ſt, 1729, aged 69 Years.

In all your Pride and ſelf-vain Glory,
Mind this ſame well, Memento Mori.

Officers, &c. belonging to this Pariſh.

The Veſtry is, occaſionally, both ſelect and general; two Church wardens, ſix Overſeers of the Poor, four Conſtables, eighteen Headboroughs, ſix Scavengers, who pay the Raker, for cleanſing the Streets, and carrying away the Aſhes, the Sum of two hundred and forty Pounds per Annum; four Surveyors of the Highways, four Beadles, ſeventeen Watchmen, two thouſand two hundred and ſixty-ſix Houſes.

Antiquities, &c. in this Pariſh.

This was anciently a Village, ſituate along the Roman Highway, by the Saxons denominated Old-ſtreet, at a conſiderable Diſtance North of the City of London, though they are at preſent conjoined by a huge Pile of Buildings. And by what has been ſaid, I am of Opinion that this Hamlet owes its Name to one of the Predeceſſors of Sir John Sordig, or Soredich, who was Lord thereof in the Year 1339, and not, as vainly ſuppoſed by Weav. Fun. Mon. ſome, to Jane Shore, Concubine to Edward the fourth. Its Name ſhews it to be of a Saxon Origin.

Newc. Repert. Eccleſ. Paroch. In this Pariſh are two Prebends, and Part of a third, belonging to St. Paul's Cathedral in the City of London: The firſt whereof, which is denominated Eald-ſtreet, or Old-ſtreet, received that Appellation from the Saxons, as being part of the Roman Military Way above-mentioned. And the ſecond, which had been a ſeparate Village for many Ages, by its Nane of Hocheſtone, (ſo denominated in the Conqueror's Survey) vulgarly ExDoomſ. in Rec. Exch. Hoxton, likewiſe ſhews itſelf to be of a Saxon Origin. And the third called Haliwel, has its Name from a Vicinal Fountain, which, from the Salubrity of its Water, had the Epithet of Holy conferred upon it: However, its Holineſs has of late been opprobriouſly immured by Heaps of Dung and Soil; and the Water thereof imployed in watering the Garden to which it belongs.

Stow. Sur. Lond. A little South of this Well, but within its Precinct, ſtood the Priory of St. John Baptiſt of Haliwell of Benedictine Nuns, ſaid by a certain Author to have been founded by a Biſhop of London; but that this is a Miſtake, I think, will appear by the Charter of Richard the Firſt to this Convent Dug. Mon. Angl. in the Year 1189, wherein, among other Things, is confirm'd to the Prioreſs and Nuns, the Spot of Ground whereon the Priory was built, which Newc. Repert. Eccleſ. Paroch. was given by Robert, the Son of Gelranni, or Generanni, who was Prebendary of Haliwell, when Richard Belmeis, the firſt, was Biſhop of London. What I imagine gave riſe to its being founded by a Biſhop of London, was the ſaid Richard's having added to the Foundation a Piece of Ground, which had belonged to one John Hilewits; wherefore I think it is apparent, that this Monaſtery muſt have been founded between the Years 1108, and 1127, which were the Times of Conſecration and Death of the ſaid Prelate. Godw. de Præſul. Angl.

This Priory, after many Reparations, was reedify'd by Sir Thomas Lovel, Knight of the Garter, in the Reigns of Henry VII, and VIII, and who having given to the ſame conſiderable Benefaction in Land, was here buried in a Chapel of his own Erection. And in Commemoration of this great Benefactor, the following Lines were curiouſly painted in moſt of the Glaſs Windows. Stow. Sur. Lond.

All the Nunnes in Holywell,
Pray for the Soul of Sir Thomas Lovel. Weav. Fun Mon.

This Convent, at the general Suppreſſion of Monaſteries, was ſurrendered to Henry VIII, Anno 1539, at which Time its Revenues, according to Speed, amounted to 347 l. 1 s. 3 d. per Ann. Speed Hil. Great Brit. The Ruins of this Priory, which are ſtill to be ſeen in King John's Court in Holywell-lane, are by the Populace unjuſtly regarded as the Remains of King John's Palace, though it does not appear that ever any Royal Manſion was in this Neighbourhood.

The Remarkables at preſent are, the fine new Church, two Chapels, two Engliſh and one French Meeting-houſes, two Charity-Schools, one Hoſpital, ten Alms-houſes, three Squares, and Part of Moorfields; one Market, two Cold Baths, the firſt whereof was made out of that excellent Fountain denominated Dame Agnes la Clair, vulgarly Annaſide Clear, which was anciently in great Eſteem for its plentiful Spring, and Sweetneſs of Water; and a very large Workhouſe for the Reception of the Poor.

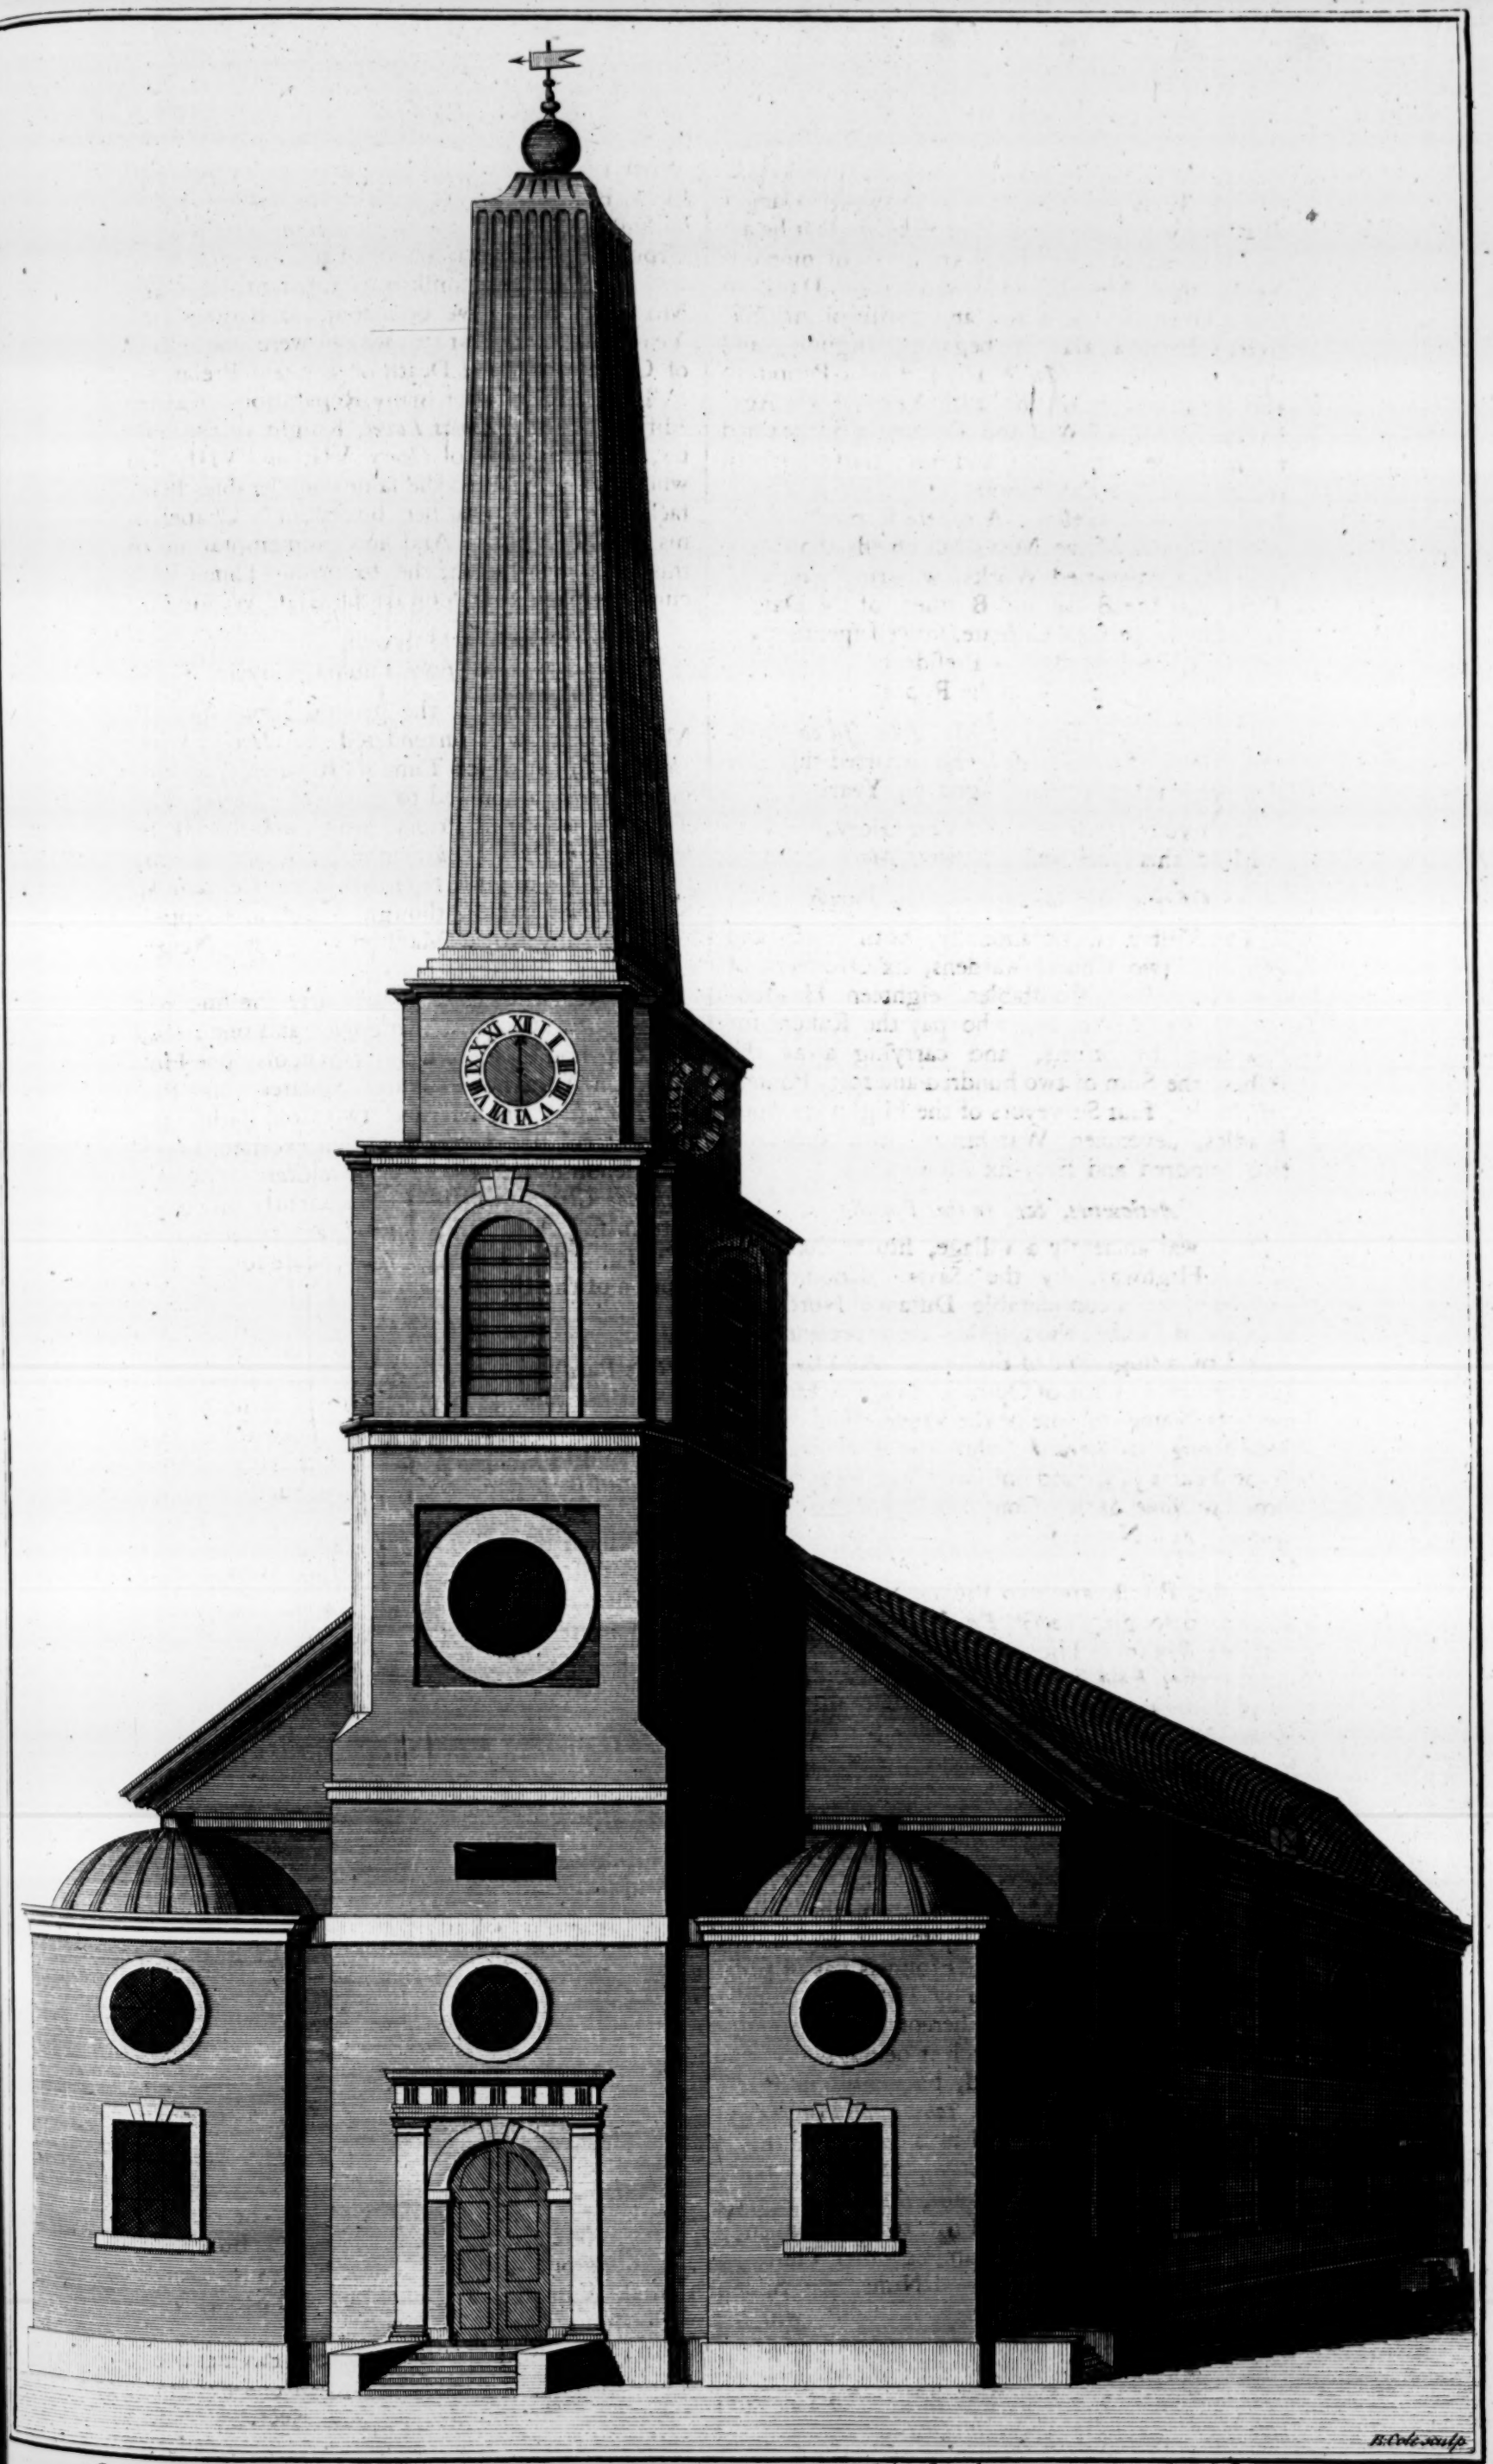
St. LUKE's.

The Pariſh of St. Giles's, Cripplegate, having increaſed to ſuch a Degree both in Number of Houſes and Inhabitants, that notwithſtanding there being a Chapel of Eaſe, and divers Meetinp houſes therein, the Pariſh Church was not ſufficient to contain one half of its numerous Inhabitants; which the Commiſſioners for erecting the fifty new Churches within the Bill of Mortality taking into Conſideration, they purchaſed a Site in this Pariſh whereon to erect one of the ſaid Churches; and the ſame being finiſhed, and the Lordſhip, or Middleſex Liberty of St. Giles's appointed for the Pariſh, the Inhabitants thereof applied to Parliament to have the ſame ſeparated from that of St. Giles; which being agreed to, it was conſtituted a Pariſh in all Reſpects diſtinct from, and independent of, the old, as if it never had belonged to the ſame. Act Parl. 2 Geo. II.

And towards the Support of a Rector and his Succeſſors, the Sum of three thouſand five hundied Pounds was granted, to be laid out in a Fee-Simple. And as a farther Proviſion for the ſaid Rector, the Church-wardens are to pay him, at four quarterly Payments, the yearly Sum of one hundred and twenty Pounds, without Defalcation, or any Deduction whatſoever, to be raiſed by Burial Fees; for which Purpoſe, the Right of Diſpoſal of the Burial Ground and Vaults belonging to the Pariſh is veſted in the Veſtry, (excluſive of the Rector) who, with Conſent of the Biſhop, are impowered to appoint ſuch Fees for Burials as they judge proper, and to ſet ſuch Rates for Leave to make Vaults, lay down ſepulchral Stones and erect Monuments. Ibid.

And for the better ſecuring the Payment of the above-mentioned yearly Sum of one hundred and twenty Pounds to the ſaid Rector and his Ibid.

Succeſſors,



South West View of the Parish Church of S.t Luke in Old Street.

Succeſſors, it is by the ſame Authority ordained, that on Default of Payment, the Rector, for the more eaſy and ſpeedy Recovery of the ſame, may apply to one or more Juſtices of the Peace for the County of Middleſex, who upon Oath made of the Sum, or Sums in Arrear, may compel ſuch Defaulters, by Diſtreſs and Sale of their Goods; and where Diſtreſs cannot be had to ſatisfy ſuch Arrears, ſuch Juſtice, or Juſtices, are impower'd to commit ſuch Offender, or Offenders, to the County Gaol, there to remain without Bail, or Mainprize, until he, or they, ſhall have fully paid all ſuch Arrears; and that the ſaid Rector may not be a Sufferer in Caſe of Inſolvency, the ſucceeding Church-wardens are made reſponſible for the Payment of all Arrears that cannot be had by Diſtreſs,

Ibid. It is by the ſame Authority enacted, that the Rector ſhall not receive any Surplice Fees for Burials, unleſs he were deſired to perform the Funeral Rites, or Part thereof, in the Church, in Preſence of the Corps; and then only ſuch Fees, as ſhall for that Purpoſe be ſettled by the Veſtry, with Conſent of the Biſhop. And it is alſo ordained, that the Rectory ſhall not be held in Commendam, and that all Licences and Diſpenſations for that Purpoſe, are declared void and of no Effect.

Ibid. And it is likewiſe enacted, that the Rector, Church-wardens, Overſeers of the Poor, and all other Perſons who have either ſerved, or fined for all Offices, ſhall be Veſtrymen (as long as they continue Houſeholders, and pay to the Poor); and as ſuch are from Time to Time impowered (upon due Notice given) to meet, nominate, and elect a Lecturer, or Lecturers, Church-wardens, Sideſmen, and all other Pariſh Officers: And alſo from Time to Time to nominate, and elect, remove and put out the Sexton, Grave-diggers, and all other Officers and Servants employed in opening af Pews, making Graves, or Buſineſs in or about the Church.

This Church, which is ſituate on the North Side of Old-ſtreet, in the Hundred of Oſulſton, and Manor of Finsbury, was conſecrated on the 18th of October, Anno 1733, which happening to be St. Luke's Day, it was therefore dedicated to that Saint. And as the Pariſh thereof is a Rectory taken out of that of St. Giles's, Cripplegate, the Advowſon of this, as well as that, belongs to the Dean and Chapter of St. Paul's Cathedral in the City of London.

The Rector pays neither Firſt-fruits, nor Tenths, nor any Procuration, that I can learn.

Officers, &c. in this Pariſh.

The Veſtry is neither ſelect, nor general, all being admitted that have either ſerved, or fined for Offices; two Church-wardens, four Overſeers of the Poor, four Conſtables, ſixteen Headboroughs, thirteen Scavengers, who pay the Raker, for cleanſing the Streets, and carrying away the Duſt, the Sum of two hundred and eighty Pounds per Annum; four Beadles, eighteen Watchmen, three thouſand and thirty-five Houſes.

Antiquities, &c. in this Pariſh.

The Road, by the Saxons denominated Ealdſtreet, or Old ſtreet, which at preſent runs through this Pariſh from Eaſt to Weſt, is Part of the Roman Military Way, which anciently led from the Weſtern (on the North Side of the City of London) to the Eaſtern Parts of the Kingdom.

Near to the South-eaſt Corner of this Pariſh, and that of Chiſwell-ſtreet, in the Hundred of Oſulſton, is ſituate the ancient Manor-houſe of Finſbury, Fenſbury, or Vyneſbury; the latter of which Appellations a modern Author taking to imply a Vineyard, imagines, that the preſent Name is derived therefrom; which, I think, will not be eaſily admitted, if we conſider, that no Place can be more improper for ſuch a Plantation, than a Fen, or Mooriſh Ground, as this was; wherefore it is much more probable, that it had the Name of Fenſbury, or Finſbury, from the neighbouring Fen, or Moor. Stryp. Ed. Stow. Sur.

This Manor of Finſbury, is, by a certain Author, erroneouſly called a Hundred; which Miſtake has led moſt People into the ſame Opinion. Speed. Map. Gr. Brit.

Though I cannot aſcertain the Antiquity of this Manor, yet that it is of a very conſiderable Standing, is manifeſt, from its having been a Prebend of St. Paul's Cathedral of London, in the Year 1104. Newc. Repert. Eccleſ. Paroch.

On the 22d of May, Anno 1315, Robert de Baldock, Prebendary of Haliwell and Finsbury, (with the Conſent of the Dean and Chapter of St. Paul's Cathedral) granted to the Mayor and Commonalty of London, for himſelf and Succeſſors, all his Right and Claim in Mora de Halywell and Finſbury, for the yearly Rent of twenty Shillings. By which Manner of Expreſſion it looks, as if he had granted his Prebend to the ſaid Mayor and Commonalty in Perpetuity, on that Condition: But that he did not, is apparent, by a Leaſe granted to the ſaid Mayor and Commonalty of the Premiſes, by Edward Mowle, or Moyle, Prebendary of the ſaid Prebend, commencing at Michaelmas, Anno 1555, for the Term of ninety Years, at the Rent of 29 l. 13 s. 4 d. per Annum; which Leaſe by divers Renewals, is continued to the City till the Year 1784, at the ſaid Rent. Ibid. Rec. Guildhall.

To one of the ſaid Leaſes granted by Samuel Aelmer, on the 15th of March, Anno 1582, a Survey of the Manor of Finſbury was annexed, ſetting forth the Contents of the ſaid Manor; whereby it appears, that this Part of it at that Time chiefly conſiſted of Gardens, Orchards, Tentergrounds and Fields. Divers of the firſt on the North Side of Chiſwell-ſtreet, were by the Mayor and Commonalty of London, in the Year 1498, converted into a large Field, (at preſent denominated the Artillery-ground, which contains eleven Acres and eleven Perches) for Archers and other military Citizens to exerciſe in. Mund. Ed. Stow. Sur. Rec. Guildhall.

Ibid. On the 27th of July, Anno 1641, the Mayor and Commonalty of the City of London demiſed to Sir Paul Pindar, and others, in Truſt, for the Artillery Company of the ſaid City, the Field aforeſaid, for the Term of 139 Years, as a Military Field, wherein to erect an Armory, and other Structures for their Accommodation; but not to convert the ſame to any other Uſe. This Leaſe of the Firſt of March, Anno 1727, was granted for the Term of fifty-three Years, at the Rent of 6*s.* 8*d. per Annum*; in which Leaſe the ſaid Artillery Company are impowered to demiſe a certain Portion of the ſaid Field, whereon to erect Houſes. There is alſo a Proviſo in the ſaid Leaſe, that if the City of London ſhall renew theirs for a further Term of Years, they ſhall grant a new Leaſe to the ſaid Artillery Company, for that Term, (except the four laſt Years) under the like Rent and Covenants.

Mund.Ed. Stow. Sur. The above-mentioned Artillery-ground, together with that on the North Side thereof, as far as Old-ſtreet, was anciently denominated Bonhill, or Bunhill, Field; Part whereof, at preſent denominated Tindal's, or the Diſſenters great Burial-ground, was, by the Mayor and Citizens of London, in the Year 1665, ſet apart and conſecrated, as a common Cemetery, for the Interment of ſuch Corps as could not have Room in their Parochial Burial-grounds, in that dreadful Year of Peſtilence. However, it not being made uſe of on that Occaſion, the ſaid Tindal took a Leaſe thereof, and converted it into a Burial-ground, for the Uſe of Diſſenters; over the Weſt Gate of which was the following Inſcription:

"This Church-yard was incloſed with a Brick Wall, at the ſole Charges of the City of London, in the Maioralty of Sir John Laurence, Kt. Anno Dom. 1665, and afterwards the Gates thereof were built and finiſhed in the Maioralty of Sir Tho. Bloudworth, Kt. Anno Dom. 1666."

The Ground between this Cemetery and Old-ſtreet was a common Layſtall, till the Year 1706, but the Soil thereof being ſoon after removed, divers new Streets were thereon erected.

The Fen, or Moor in this Neigbourhood, anciently reached from London Wall to Hoxton; the Southern Part whereof being gradually raiſed from Time to Time, that denominated Windmill-hill began to be raiſed, by above one thouſand Cartloads of human Bones, brought from St. Paul's Charnel-houſe in London, and laid here in the Year 1549, which being ſoon after covered with Street Dirt from the City, the Place was converted into a Layſtall; whereby the Ground was ſo greatly raiſed, that ſoon after three Windmills were erected thereon; from which it received its preſent Appellation; and the Ground on the South Side thereof being likewiſe greatly raiſed, it was denominated the Upper Moorfield.

Stow. Sur. Lond.

During the Popiſh Hierarchy in this Kingdom, a lofty Stone Croſs, with a Crucifix thereon, was erected at the End of Brick-lane in Old-ſtreet, the Baſe whereof, with Part of the Body, are ſtill remaining.

At Mountmill, near the upper End of Goſwell-ſtreet, was ſituate one of the Forts, which were erected by Order of Parliament, for the Security of the City of London, in the Year 1643. But the ſame being rendered uſeleſs at the End of the Civil War, a Windmill was erected thereon; from which it received its preſent Name.

In Peſt-houſe-row, adjoining to the French Hoſpital on the North, till the Year 1737, ſtood the City Peſt-houſe, (conſiſting of divers Tenements) which was erected as a Lazaretto, for the Reception of diſtreſſed and miſerable Objects, that were infected by the dreadful Plague, in the Year 1665.

The firſt Playhouſe (for ought I can learn) that was erected in the Neighbourhood of the City of London, was ſituate between Whitecroſs-ſtreet and Golden-lane, in a Place ſtill denominated Play-houſe-yard; where, on the North Side, are ſtill to be ſeen the Ruins of that Theatre.

Things remarkable at preſent, are, the handſome new Church, a Popiſh Meeting-houſe, a Methodiſt Meeting-houſe, a French Hoſpital, a Free, and three Charity-ſchools, ſix Alms-houſes, the Artillery Ground, or Field wherein the Artillery Company and Trained Bands of the City of London are exerciſed; the Common Hunt's Houſe, and Kennel, wherein the City Hounds are kept; two Bowling-greens, for the Diverſion of the Citizens; and a ſpacious Workhouſe, for the Reception of the Poor: And the fine ſwimming Bath made out of the Ruins of Perilous Pool, which for the Sweetneſs of the Water, Accommodations and Pleaſure, is not to be equalled in the Britiſh Dominions. See Book I. Chapter X. Page 84.

St. MARY's, Iſlington.

This Pariſh, ſituate on the North Side of London, in the Hundred of Oſulſton, and Manor of Finſbury, is a Prebend of St. Paul's Cathedral; which in the Conqueror's Survey, is written by the different Appellations of Iſendone and Iſledone, whereby it is plainly ſhewn to be of Saxon Origin. Doomſd. Book. in Recor. Excheq.

Anciently a Controverſy happened between the Dean and Canons of St. Paul's, and the Prioreſs and Nuns of Stratford-Bow, concerning this Church; which was determined by Gilbert (I ſuppoſe Segrave) Biſhop of London, after this Manner; viz. That the Nuns ſhould hold the Church of the ſaid Dean and Canons, at the yearly Rent of 13*s.* 4*d.* for which they were freely to preſent to the ſame; and which it ſeems, being ſoon after appropriated to the ſaid Nuns, a Vicarage was inſtituted and endowed; of which they continued Patrioneſſes, till their Suppreſſion; when the Advowſon thereof came into Lay Hands; wherein it ſtill continues. Newc. Repert. Eccleſ. Paroch.

Though this Vicarage is in the County of Middleſex; yet, as to the Matters Eccleſiaſtical, it is ſubject to the Archdeacon of London, other than what relates to Wills and Adminiſtrations, which belong to the Commiſſary. Ibid.

This Church is denominated from its being dedicated to the Virgin Mary, and its Situation about the Middle of Iſlington.

Skin. Lexicon. A certain Author imagines, that the Name of this Village is derived from two Saxon Appellatives, viz. Giſel, an Hoſtage, or Pledge, and Dun, or Tun, a Town. But this Etymology ſeems as wild as the fixing the Time of its Foundation would be without the leaſt Account thereof. However, that it is of the Saxon Origin, I think is not to be doubted, by its being mentioned in Doomſday-book.

Here is an ancient Manor-houſe, denominated Canonbury, from its having formerly belonged to the Prior and Canons of St. Bartholomew in Smithfield; the Eaſtern Part whereof ſtill ſhews it to be of great Antiquity.

This Manſion, at preſent vulgarly called Cambray-houſe, is pleaſantly ſituate on a beautiful Eminence, on the Eaſt Side of Iſlington, and commands three delightful Proſpects to the Eaſt, North, and South.

The third Field, North of that of the White Conduit, conſiſting of ſix Acres of Ground, appears to have been an ancient Fortreſs, incloſed with a Rampart and Ditch; which, by its ſquare Form, and Manner of Fortification, without Outworks, I take to have been a Roman Camp, and probably the ſame made uſe of by Suetonius Paulinus, the Roman General, after his Retreat from London; and from which he ſallied, and routed the Britons under the Command of their Queen Boadicea.

Tacit. An. Lib. 14.

This Field, in Writings, is denominated the Reed-moat, or Six-acre Field; and the ſquare Place in the South-weſt Corner thereof, incloſed with a Ditch, is, by the Populace, called Jack Straw's Caſtle. But as the ſame is not of a modern Fortification, nor that it any where appears, that that Rebel ever erected any Fortreſs; nor, in truth, had he Occaſion for any, ſeeing there was no Army to oppoſe him, and that after his Arrival at London, his Rebellion was but of five or ſix Days Duration, before the Killing of his Accomplice Wat Tyler, I think it much more probable, that the ſaid Place was the Site of the Prætorium, or Tent of the Roman General, in the ſaid Camp.

Newc. Repert. Eccleſ. Paroch. Here is a Precinct belonging to the Dean and Chapter of St. Paul's, wherein Wills are proved, and Adminiſtrations granted; and where, till of late, the Church-warden thereunto belonging was ſworn, though at preſent he is ſworn by the Archdeacon of London.

The New River, after running above two hundred Yards under Iſlington, glides along the South Side thereof to its Terminus, improperly called the New River Head.

The Obſervables at preſent, are, the new Church, two Charity-ſchools, an Hoſpital, with its Chapel; an Alms-houſe, the New-river Houſe and Works, Canonbury-Houſe, and a Work-houſe for the Reception of the Poor.

The old Church becoming ruinous, deeply buried within the Ground of the Church-yard, and dangerous to the devout People that reſorted thereto, the Inhabitants applied for and obtained the following Act to pull it down, and to build a new Church on the Site thereof, in the Year of our Lord 1751, wherein having ſet forth, "That whereas the Pariſh Church of St. Mary, Iſlington, in the County of Middleſex, being a very ancient Fabrick; and notwithſtanding the continual Expence the Inhabitants of the ſaid Pariſh have been at in repairing and ſupporting the ſame, the whole Building was in a very ruinous Condition: Now, to the Intent the ſaid Church may be rebuilt for the publick Worſhip of God, and the Inſtruction of the Inhabitants of the ſaid Pariſh in the true Chriſtian Religion, as now profeſſed in the Church of England; and that the Steeple may alſo be rebuilt; and that the ſame may be effected in a Manner that may be leaſt burthenſome to the Inhabitants of the ſaid Pariſh; it was enacted; that it ſhall and may be lawful to and for the Truſtees herein after appointed, or for any five or more of them, to cauſe the ſaid Pariſh Church, and the Steeple thereof to be pulled down, and to be rebuilt after ſuch Model, and of ſuch Dimenſions, and of ſuch Materials, and in ſuch Manner and Place, as by the ſaid Truſtees, or any five or more of them, ſhall be agreed upon.

"And for defraying the Expences of pulling down and rebuilding the ſaid Pariſh Church and Steeple, That from and after the twenty-fourth Day of June, in the Year of our Lord one thouſand ſeven hundred and fifty one, the ſeveral Funeral Rates and Duties which have been anciently and accuſtomably payable and paid to the Church-warden of the ſaid Pariſh for the Time being, and are mentioned and ſpecified in a certain Indenture, bearing Date the ſeventh Day of March, in the Year of our Lord one thouſand ſeven hundred and fifty, and made between the Vicar of the ſaid Pariſh, of the one Part, and the Church-wardens and Overſeers of the Poor of the ſame Pariſh, of the other Part, and to be enrolled in the High Court of Chancery, ſhall be collected, levied, and paid in the ſaid Pariſh for the Burial of any Perſon in the Manner therein mentioned.

"That when any of the Bells in the Steeple of the ſaid Church ſhall be required to be rung or tolled, upon Occaſion of the Death or Burial of any Perſon in or belonging to the ſaid Pariſh, there ſhall be paid ſuch Rates and Duties for the ſame, as in and by the ſaid Indenture or Schedule thereunto annexed, to be inrolled in Chancery, is in that Behalf mentioned, agreed upon, and provided.

"That all Monies ariſing or to ariſe by or from the Uſe of Palls, which ſhall, during the Continuance of this Act, be ſupplied or furniſhed, by or at the Charge of the ſaid Pariſh, ſhall be applied to and for the Uſes and Purpoſes mentioned in this Act; and that the Church-wardens of the ſaid Pariſh for the Time being, ſhall provide two or more handſome and decent Palls, for the Uſe and Service of Funerals in the ſaid Pariſh; and that no Perſon or Perſons whatſoever ſhall preſume to bring or cauſe to be brought into the ſaid Church, or any of the Church-yards, or Cemetries belonging to the ſaid Pariſh, any Pall or Palls, unleſs ſuch Perſon or Perſons ſhall firſt pay ſuch Rates or Duties for the ſame, as in the ſaid Indenture and Schedule to be inrolled in Chancery is mentioned, agreed upon, and provided.

"And to the End that all the Monies, which ſhall ariſe by the Rates and Duties above mentioned, may be duly paid, and faithfully applied, to anſwer, ſatify, and diſcharge all Sums of Money as ſhall be neceſſary for the rebuilding and adorning the ſaid Church, and for rebuilding or repairing the Steeple of the ſaid Church, and which ſhall be advanced and lent upon the Credit of this Act, for the Purpoſes aforeſaid, in ſuch Manner as is herein after mentioned; it was further enacted, that it ſhall be in the Power of the Vicar and Churchwardens of the ſaid Pariſh for the Time being, and the other Truſtees for putting the Act in Execution, and the Survivors of them, or any five or more of them, to receive and take the ſeveral and reſpective Rates and Duties herein before mentioned; and the ſame are hereby veſted in the ſaid Truſtees, for the Purpoſes aforeſaid, and ſhall be by them paid and applied to and for the ſeveral Uſes and Purpoſes aforeſaid, in ſuch Manner as is herein after mentioned;

tioned; (the neceſſary Charges expended in obtaining this Act of Parliament, being firſt deducted) and they, the ſaid Truſtees, or any five or more of them for the Time being, are hereby impowered by themſelves, or any Perſon or Perſons by them, or any five or more of them for the Time being, by writing under their Hands and Seals thereunto authorized, to levy the ſaid Rates and Duties upon any Perſon or Perſons liable to pay the ſame, who after Demand made thereof ſhall refuſe to pay the ſame, according to the true Intent and Meaning of this Act, by Diſtreſs of the Goods and Chattels belonging to the Perſon or Perſons ſo refuſing, and to detain and keep the ſame until ſuch Rates and Duties, with the reaſonable Charges of ſuch Diſtreſs, ſhall be paid; and that it ſhall be lawful for ſuch Perſon and Perſons ſo diſtraining (after the Space of ſeven Days next after ſuch Diſtreſs taken, to ſell the Goods ſo diſtrained, returning the Overplus, if any be, and demanded) to the Owner or Owners thereof, after ſuch Duty or Duties, and reaſonable Charges for diſtraining, keeping, and ſelling the ſame, ſhall be deducted.

"That it ſhall and may be lawful to and for any Perſon or Perſons to contribute, advance, and pay into the Hands of the ſaid Truſtees, or any five or more of them, for the Uſes before mentioned, any Sum or Sums of Money, not exceeding in the whole the Sum of ſeven thouſand Pounds, for the abſolute Purchaſe of one or more Annuity or Annuities, to be paid and payable, during the full Term of the natural Life of ſuch Contributors reſpectively, or the natural Life of ſuch other Perſons as ſhall be nominated by, or on Behalf of ſuch reſpective Contributors, at the Time of Payment of their reſpective Contribution Monies; which Annuity or Annuities ſhall not exceed the Rate of eight Pounds per Centum per Annum for every one hundred Pounds, and ſo in Proportion for any greater or leſs Sum, to be advanced and paid as aforeſaid; all which ſaid Annuities, ſo to be purchaſed as aforeſaid, ſhall not exceed in the Whole, the Sum of five hundred and ſixty Pounds per Annum, and ſhall be payable and paid by the ſaid Truſtees, or any five or more of them.

"And that all and every the Annuities ſo to be purchaſed under and by virtue of this Act, ſhall be and are hereby charged upon, and ſhall be paid and payable from Time to Time out of the Monies ariſing by the ſaid Rates and Duties herein before-mentioned; and that none of the ſaid Annuities ſhall be ſubject or liable to the Tax charged upon Lands by Authority of Parliament.

"And whereas the Rates and Duties beforementioned may happen to fall ſhort, and be deficient to pay the Annuities by this Act charged thereon, as aforeſaid; it was further enacted by the Authority aforeſaid, That ſuch Deficiency ſhall from Time to Time, be ſupplied and made good by an Aſſeſſment on all Lands, Houſes, Tenements, and Hereditaments, within the ſaid Pariſh, not exceeding one Shilling in the Pound of the yearly Rent of ſuch Lands, Houſes, Tenements, and Hereditaments, as the ſame ſhall be aſcertained and rated by the Land Tax, for the Year one thouſand ſeven hundred and fifty-one, or for the Time being; two third Parts of which Rates and Aſſeſſments to be paid by the Landlords or Owners, and the other third Part by the Tenants or Occupiers of ſuch Lands, Houſes, Tenements, and Hereditaments.

"Provided always, That in Caſe any Houſe or Tenement ſhall be ſet, lett, or occupied, in different Apartments, Rooms, or Lodgings, to or by diſtinct and ſeparate Families, Lodgers, or Inmates, the whole Houſe or Tenement ſo lett and occupied, ſhall be charged with the whole Rate aſſeſſed, or to be collected, for or in reſpect of the ſame; and in caſe of Nonpayment, ſhall and may be levied and recovered upon and from any of the Inhabitants or Occupiers of any Part or Parts of ſuch Houſe or Tenement, in ſuch and the ſame Manner as the other Duties directed by this Act to be raiſed are appointed to be levied and recovered.

"Provided always, That the Payment of theſe Rates, &c. ſhall not intitle any Perſon or Perſons whatſoever to a Settlement in the Pariſh of Saint Mary, Iſlington, who was not before ſuch Payment legally intitled to ſuch Settlement in the ſaid Pariſh.

"And it was further enacted, That the ſeveral Rates and Aſſeſſments hereby directed and appointed to be raiſed and levied, in the Caſe, and for the Purpoſes aforeſaid, ſhall have Continuance, and when, and as there ſhall be Occaſion or Neceſſity to raiſe the ſame, and no longer, and not otherwiſe; and from and after the Determination of all the ſaid Annuities, ſuch Rates and Aſſeſſments ſhall ceaſe and determine, and thenceforth ſuch Rates and Duties for Funerals, as are ſpecified and expreſſed in the ſaid Indenture to be inrolled in Chancery, ſhall be payable or paid, and that in ſuch Manner and Form, and to ſuch Uſes, as before the paſſing of this Act; any thing herein contained to the contrary notwithſtanding.

"Provided always, That this Act, or any thing therein contained, ſhall not extend, or be conſtrued, adjudged, deemed, or taken to extend, to leſſen, prejudice, or defeat, any the Rights which the preſent Vicar hath, or any future Vicar or Vicars thereof ſhall or may have or ought to have in the Chancel of the ſaid Old or New Church, but that the ſaid preſent Vicar and his Succeſſors ſhall, for ever after, have and enjoy, from Time to Time, all the ſame Rights, Privileges, Profits, and Advantages, in, unto, out of, and from the ſaid Chancel, as the preſent Vicar now hath or ought to have.

"Provided always, That this Act ſhall not extend to take away the Graves, Grave-ſtones, Monuments, or Vaults, being the particular Property of any Perſon or Perſons now living, or which belong to the Families of any Perſon or Perſons, buried in or under the ſaid Church, and made or provided for the Interment of him, her, or themſelves, Families and Deſcendants; but the ſame Graves, Grave-ſtones, Monuments, and Vaults, in or under the ſaid Church, when rebuilt, ſhall be preſerved or provided for, and belong to the ſaid ſeveral Perſons, his, her, and their Deſcendants, in the ſame and in the like Manner, as the ſaid Graves, Grave-ſtones, Monuments, and Vaults, were before the paſſing of this Act."

St. Mary's le Bonne.

Tho' this Pariſh is without the Bill of Mortality, yet ſince, by the new erected Buildings, its Houſes are joined to the Suburbs of London, I ſhall in this Place inſert an Account thereof.

The Village of St. Maryborne, (vulgarly St. Mary le bonne) which is ſituate in the Liberty of Finſbury, Manor of Tyborne, and Hundred of Oſulſton, owes its Riſe to the Fall of that of Tyborne, which ſtood at the Eaſt End of the Banqueting-houſe Bridge; almoſt contiguous to which, were the Court-houſe and Pound are ſituate, I imagine, ſtood the Church and Cemetery, from the great Number of human Bones dug up there, in the Year 1729.

The Village of Tyborne going to Decay, and its Church, denominated St. John the Evangeliſt, left left alone by the Side of the Highway, it was robbed of its Books, Veſtments, Bells, Images, and other Decorations; on which Occaſion, the Pariſhioners petitioned Robert Biſhop of London, for Leave to take down their old, and to erect a new Church elſewhere; which Robert readily agreeing to, he granted them a Faculty, or Licence, of the 23d of October, Anno 1400, by Virtue of which they erected a new Church (which I take to be the preſent) in a Place where they had ſome time before built a Chapel, purſuant to a former epiſcopal Licence; and the ſame being dedicated to the Virgin Mary, it received the additional Epithet of Borne, from its Vicinity to the neighbouring Brook or Bourn, as by ancient Records appears.

Doomſd. Book. Rec. Exch.

The Village of Tyborne was of great Antiquity; for in the Conqueror's Survey it appears to have given Denomination to the Manor of that Name; at which time it belonged to the Abbeſs and Nuns of Berching, or Barking, in the County of Eſſex. That it received its Name from the neighbouring Brook, I think, will not be controverted, eſpecially, if we conſider, that in the decretal Sentence of Stephen, Archbiſhop of Canterbury, &c. Anno 1222, in the great Controverſy between Euſtace, Biſhop of London, and William, Abbot of Weſtminſter, this Rivulet is expreſsly called Tyburne.

The Church of Tyborne ſeems anciently to have been a Vicarage, in the Gift of the Prior and Convent of St. Laurence de Blackmore, in the County of Eſſex; who converting the ſame into a Curacy, the Advowſon thereof continued in them, till the Diſſolution of their Priory; when Edward VI. Anno 1553, granted the ſame to Thomas Reeve, &c. to be held in Soccage of the Manor of Eaſt Greenwich; ſince which Time, the Advowſon has continued in the Hands of Lay Patrons, under the Subjection of the Archdeacon, other than what relates to Wills and Adminiſtrations, which belong to the Commiſſary; and as the ſame is a Donative, it pays neither Firſt-fruits, nor Tenths to the King, nor other Diſburſement on account of the Cure. And as the Curate's Profits are only the Surplice Fees, the Earl of Oxford, who is the Impropriator and Lord of the Manor, generouſly gives the Tithes to the Incumbent, which are about ſixty Pounds; which, together with the Surplice Fees, amount to above one hundred Pounds per Annum.

The Church-wardens of this Pariſh, in the Year 1734, only received and paid the Sacrament Money to the Poor, which amounted to about thirty Pounds.

The Veſtry is general, two Church-wardens, two Overſeers of the Poor, two Conſtables, two Headboroughs, two Surveyors of the Highways; though there are no Scavengers, yet the Perſon that carries away the Aſhes receives, by a voluntary Contribution, about fifty Pounds per Annum; one Beadle, ſix Watchmen, five hundred and ſeventy-ſeven Houſes.

Antiquities, &c. in this Pariſh.

The Village of Tyborne was ſituate on the Eaſtern Bank of the Rivulet Tyborne, (from which it was denominated) at the Eaſt End of the Lord Mayor's Banqueting-houſe Bridge; in the Neighbourhood of which, the City of London have nine Fountains, or Conduits of Water, which were at firſt erected about the Year 1238, for ſupplying the City with ſalubrious Water; but it having for many Years been better ſupply'd with that precious Element from the New-River, the Citizens, in the Year 1703, demiſed the Water of the ſaid Conduits for the Sum of ſeven hundred Pounds per Annum, for the Term of forty-three Years.

At the North-eaſt Corner of the ſaid Bridge, ſtood the Lord Mayor's Banqueting-houſe, whither his Lordſhip, with his Brethren the Aldermen, occaſionally repaired on Horſeback, accompanied by their Ladies in Waggons, to view the City Conduits; after which they were ſumptuouſly entertained in the ſaid Manſion-houſe. This handſome Building (under which were two Ciſterns for the Reception of the Water from the neighbouring Conduits) having for many Years been neglected by the Citizens, it was taken down in the Year 1737, and the Ciſterns arched over.

Many Streets of fine Houſes being lately erected in this Neighbourhood, and the ancient Roman Military Way (which led from the Weſtern to the Eaſtern Part of the Kingdom) lately denominated Tyborne Road, (but at preſent Oxford-ſtreet) being one thereof, the ſame was beautifully paved from St. Giles's to the Banqueting-houſe Bridge; and the ſaid Bridge being only about fifteen Feet broad, it not only proved very incommodious to the numerous Carriages and Travellers paſſing that way, but it was likewiſe very diſgraceful to the ſpacious Street on both Sides thereof; wherefore the Commiſſioners for repairing the Roads in theſe Parts, in the Year 1737, applied to the Citizens of London for a Piece of their Ground to inlarge the ſame, who not only generouſly granted their Requeſt, but likewiſe gave them the Sum of one hundred Pounds toward defraying the Charge of Inlargement.

The Village of Tyborne being long ſince demoliſhed, and the Rivulet of that Name converted into that of Aybrook, (from Ay, a Village ſuppoſed to have ſtood where Mayfair now is ſituate) and that at length into a common Sewer, in which it runs to the North-weſt Part of Tothill-Fields, and from thence above Ground to Scholars Pond, where it has its Influx through a Sluice to the River Thames. However, the ancient Name of the Brook and Village of Tyborne is ſtill preſerved in that of the Gallows in this Neighbourhood. But the modern Name of Aybrook, proving of no long Duration, it is in a great Meaſure reſtored to its ancient Appellation; for that Part of it, which runs above Ground, is at preſent called Twyborne Brook.

The Remarkables at preſent are, the little mean old Church, the beautiful new Chapel, a French Meeting-houſe, a Charity School, the City Conduits, a Market-place, a handſome Square, two ſpacious Bowling Greens, and a Workhouſe for the Reception of the Poor.

St. Mary's, Whitechapel.

This Church, which is a Rectory, ſituate on the South Side of Whitechapel-ſtreet, in the Manor of Stepney, and Hundred of Oſulſton, was at firſt erected a Chapel of Eaſe to the Church of St. Dunſtan, Stepney, (which, from its external Appearance, I imagine it received the additional Epithet of White) but at what Time is unknown; However, that it is not of a late Foundation, is manifeſt by Hugh de Fulbourn's being Rector thereof in the Year 1329, who was preſented thereto by the Rector of Stepney, in whoſe Succeſſors the Advowſon continued, till purchaſed by the Principal and Scholars of King's Hall and College of Braſen-Noſe in Oxford, about the Year 1711, when the Purchaſe thereof was confirmed to them by Parliament, and in whom it ſtill remains.

Stow Sur. Lond.

This Church was anciently denominated St. Mary Matfellon, as ſome have vainly imagined, from the Women of the Pariſh having killed a Frenchman, about the Year 1428, for murdering and robbing his great Benefactreſs, a religious Widow, who had generouſly and carefully brought him up almoſt from his Infancy: But that this is a Miſtake, is evident from the London Regiſter, wherein it appears, that this Church was preſented to by the Appellation of Matfellon above one hundred Years before the ſaid Cataſtrophe happened. Some derive the Epithet of Matfellon from the Hebrew, or Syriac Word Matfel, which ſignifies a Woman that has lately brought forth a Son, therefore dedicated to Mary, delivered of a Son: Be that as it will, this Name has given way to the more ancient one of Whitechapel; which being exempt from all Archidiaconal Juriſdiction, it is only ſubject to the Biſhop and his Commiſſary.

The Inhabitants of this Pariſh were anciently bound, annually, at the Feaſt of Pentecoſt, to go in a ſolemn Proceſſion to the Cathedral Church of St. Paul in the City of London, to make their Oblations, as a Teſtimony of their Obedience to the Mother Church. But upon the erecting of the Conventual Church of St. Peter, Weſtminſter, into a Cathedral, and the County of Middleſex appropriated by Henry the Eighth for its Dioceſe, of which this Pariſh being a Part, the Inhabitants were obliged to repair annually to St. Peter's, as they formerly did to St. Paul's; which Practice proving very troubleſome, and of no Service, Thomas Thirlby, Biſhop of the new See, upon their Petition, agreed to eaſe them of that Trouble, provided the Rector and Church-wardens would yearly, at the Time accuſtomed, repair to his new Cathedral, and there, in the Time of Divine Service, to offer at the High Altar, the Sum of fifteen Pance, as a Recognition of their Obedience to that Church as uſual.

St. Matthew's, Bethnal Green.

This is the laſt Hamlet taken out of the Pariſh of Stepney, and is environed on the Eaſt by the Pariſhes of Hackney and Bow, on the South by the the Hamlets of Mile-end Old Town, and Mile-end New Town; on the Weſt by the Pariſh of Whitechapel, and the Hamlet of Mile-end New Town, and the Pariſh of St. Leonard's Shoreditch; and on the North, by the Pariſh of Hackney, &c. The Church is very neat, commodious, but not large; without Pillars, and accommodated with ſpacious Galleries. The Building is of Brick cop'd and coin'd with free Stones. The Tower is of the ſame Fabrick, ſquare, and ornamented with ſix Bells, but not high, and is ſituate near to the North-eaſt Corner of Hare-ſtreet; and was built purſuant to the following Act of Parliament granted in the 13th Year of K. George II, intituled, An Act to make the Hamlet of Bethnal Green in the Pariſh of Saint Dunſtan, Stepney, in the County of Middleſex, a ſeparate and diſtinct Pariſh, and for erecting a Pariſh Church therein.

"Whereas the Pariſh of Saint Dunſtan, Stepney, in the County of Middleſex, is a large and populous Pariſh, and conſiſteth of five Hamlets, whereof the Hamlet of Bethnal Green is one; which Hamlet is a large Part of the ſaid Pariſh, and contains above eighteen hundred Houſes, and is computed to have more than fifteen thouſand Inhabitants: And whereas the moſt populous Part of the ſaid Hamlet is diſtant two Miles and upwards from the Pariſh Church of Stepney, which Pariſh Church is not near large enough to receive the Pariſhioners of the ſaid Pariſh that are deſirous of reſorting thither to Divine Service: And whereas the Want of a Place for the publick Worſhip of Almighty God, within the ſaid Hamlet, hath been a great Cauſe of the Increaſe of Diſſolutneſs of Morals, and a Diſregard for Religion, too apparent in the younger and poorer Sort; and hath likewiſe been the Occaſion that many of the better Sort of People have removed from their Habitations in the ſaid Hamlet, to the great Impoveriſhment thereof: And whereas the Commiſſioners appointed for building fifty new Churches in and about the Cities of London and Weſtminſter, and Suburbs thereof, did, on or about the thirteenth Day of October, in the Year of our Lord one thouſand ſeven hundred and twenty five, purchaſe of Charles White, Gentleman, two Acres and half an Acre of Ground in the ſaid Hamlet, for a Site of a Church to be built there, and a Church-yard, and burying Ground to the ſame: And whereas the Inhabitants of the ſaid Hamlet have a diſtinct Church-warden, and Overſeers of the Poor, and other parochial Officers, and diſtinct Rates have been made and collected for Relief of the Poor and Diſcharge of other parochial Offices: And whereas the Church-warden, Overſeers of the Poor, and other principal Inhabitants of the ſaid Hamlet, are deſirous that a Pariſh Church may be built in the ſaid Hamlet, at the Expence of the Inhabitants thereof, for the publick Worſhip of Almighty God, and the Inſtruction of the Inhabitants in the true Chriſtian Religion, as now profeſſed in the Church of England: And whereas by an Act of Parliament made in the ninth Year of her late Majeſty Queen Anne, intituled, An Act for confirming to the Principal and Scholars of King's Hall, and College of Brazen Noſe, in the Univerſity of Oxford, the Purchaſe of the Advowſons of Stepney, and other Churches, and for ſettling the ſame for the Benefit of the ſaid College; it was thereby enacted, That the Rectory ſhould be, and be conſidered, and underſtood in Law to be, at and under the Term of two Moieties or Portions of the ſaid Rectory, and the Advowſon thereof doth belong to the Principal and Scholars of King's Hall, and College of Brazen Noſe, in the Univerſity of Oxford, who have preſented thereunto the Reverend Robert Leyborne, Doctor in Divinity, and the Reverend John Brookbank, Clerk, Maſter of Arts; and the ſaid Robert Leyborne, and John Brookbank, are the preſent Portioniſts and Incumbents thereof: And the ſaid Principal and Scholars of King's Hall, and College of Brazen-Noſe, the Patrons; and alſo the ſaid Robert Leyborne, and John Brookbank, the Incumbents; and alſo the Right Reverend Father in God, Edmund, Lord Biſhop of London, Ordinary of the ſaid Pariſh Church, are conſenting that a new Church may be built in the ſaid Hamlet, and that the ſaid Pariſh of Stepney may be divided in Manner as herein after is directed: May it pleaſe your Majeſty (at the humble Suit of the Church-warden, Overſeers of the Poor, and other principal Inhabitants of the ſaid Hamlet) that it may be enacted, and be it enacted, by the King's moſt excellent Majeſty, by and with the Advice and Conſent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this preſent Parliament aſſembled, and by the Authority of the ſame, That it ſhall and may be lawful for the Truſtees herein after appointed, or for any nine or more of them, to cauſe a Church and Steeple to be built within the ſaid Hamlet of Bethnal Green, on the Ground purchaſed by the ſaid Commiſſioners, of the ſaid Charles White, as aforeſaid; and alſo a Houſe for the Habitation of the Miniſter, after ſuch Model, and of ſuch Dimenſions, and of ſuch Materials, and in ſuch Manner, as by the Truſtees ſhall be agreed upon; and that the Reſidue of the aforeſaid two Acres and half an Acre of Ground, ſhall be a Cemetery, or Burying-ground for the Inhabitants of the ſaid Hamlet for ever.

"And for defraying the Expences of building the ſaid intended Church, and Manſion-houſe, and for the other Purpoſes herein after mentioned; be it enacted by the Authority aforeſaid, That from and after the Conſecration of the ſaid intended Church, and the Church-yard thereof, ſuch Funeral Rates ſhall be collected, levied, and paid in the ſaid Hamlet, for the Burial of any Perſon in the ſaid intended Church, or Burying-ground, as the Veſtry of the ſaid intended Pariſh, ſhall, from Time to Time, with the Conſent and Allowance of the Biſhop of the Dioceſe, not exceeding the Sum of two Pounds, nor leſs than two Shillings, for every ſuch Burial (the Fees for the Burial of any Perſon receiving Alms, to be paid by the Overſeers of the Poor, and allowed in their Accounts) and for Liberty to make a Vault, erect a Monument, or lay a Grave-ſtone, ſo as ſuch Vault be not made within ſix Feet of the Foundation of the ſaid Church, and ſo as ſuch Monument be not erected within the ſaid Church, except againſt the Walls thereof, ſuch Sums as the ſaid Veſtry ſhall appoint.

"Provided always, and be it enacted by the Authority aforeſaid, That it ſhall be lawful for the Church-wardens to cauſe to be made ſuch Vaults, and ſet up and lay ſuch Monuments and Grave-ſtones, without any Lett or Hindrance of the Rector of the ſaid intended Church, or any Payment or Allowance to him in Reſpect thereof.

"And be it enacted by the Authority aforeſaid, That when any of the Bells of the ſaid intended Church ſhall be required to be tolled, upon Occaſion of the Death or Burial of any Perſon in the ſaid Hamlet, there ſhall be paid ſuch Rates and Duties for the ſame as are herein after mentioned; that is to ſay, to the Church-warden, for the great Bell, five Shillings, and for the ſmall Bells, two Shillings.

"And be it enacted by the Authority aforeſaid, That all Monies ariſing or to ariſe, by or from the Uſe of Palls which ſhall be ſupplied or furniſhed by, or at the Charge of the ſaid intended tended Pariſh, ſhall be applied to and for the Uſes and Purpoſes mentioned in this Act; and that the Church-wardens of the ſaid intended Pariſh for the Time being, ſhall provide four or more handſome and decent Palls for the Uſe and Service of Funerals in the ſaid intended Pariſh; and that no Perſon or Perſons whatſoever ſhall preſume to bring, or cauſe to be brought into the ſaid intended Church, or the Church-yard thereof, any Pall or Palls, unleſs ſuch Perſon or Perſons ſhall firſt pay ſuch Rates or Duties for the ſame, as are herein after-mentioned; that is to ſay, for the beſt Pall ten Shillings; for the ſecond Pall, ſeven Shillings; a Child's Pall, three Shillings; and for the Cloth Pall, two Shillings and ſix Pence; unleſs the Veſtry of the ſaid intended Pariſh ſhall, with the Conſent and Allowance of the Biſhop of the ſaid Dioceſs, otherwiſe order the ſame.

"And to the end that all the Monies which ſhall ariſe by the Rates and Duties above mentioned, and alſo by the Rates to be collected as herein after is mentioned, may be duly paid, and faithfully applied to anſwer, ſatisfy, and diſcharge all ſuch Sums of Money as ſhall be neceſſary for the building and adorning the ſaid intended Church; and which ſhall be advanced and lent upon the Credit of this Act, for the Purpoſes aforeſaid, and to maintain a Miniſter to officiate therein, certain Truſtees therein mentioned, or any nine or more of them, are hereby impowered, by themſelves, or any Perſon or Perſons by them, or any nine or more of them, by Writing under their Hands and Seals to be thereunto authorized, to levy the ſaid Rates and Duties upon any Perſon or Perſons, liable to pay the ſame, who after Demand made thereof ſhall refuſe to to pay the ſame, according to the true Intent and Meaning of this Act, by Diſtreſs of the Goods and Chattels belonging to the Perſon or Perſons ſo refuſing, and to detain and keep the ſame, until ſuch Rates and Duties, with the reaſonable Charges of ſuch Diſtreſs ſhall be paid; and that it ſhall be lawful for ſuch Perſon and Perſons ſo diſtraining (after the Space of three Days next after ſuch Diſtreſs taken) to ſell the Goods ſo diſtrained, returning the Overplus (if any be) to the Owner or Owners thereof, after ſuch Duty or Duties, and reaſonable Charges for diſtraining, keeping, and ſelling the ſame, ſhall be deducted.

"And foraſmuch as borrowing Monies upon the Credit of this Act will be the moſt ſpeedy and effectual Method of accompliſhing the pious Purpoſes aforeſaid; be it therefore enacted by the Authority aforeſaid, That it ſhall and may be lawful to and for any Perſon or Perſons to contribute, advance, and pay into the Hands of the ſaid Truſtees, or any nine or more of them, for the Uſes before-mentioned, any Sum or Sums of Money, not exceeding in the whole the Sum of five thouſand Pounds, for the abſolute Purchaſe of one or more Annuity or Annuities, to be paid and payable during the full Term of the natural Life of ſuch Contributors reſpectively, or the natural Life of ſuch other Perſons as ſhall be nominated by or on Behalf of ſuch reſpective Contributors at the Time of Payment of their Contribution-monies; which Annuity or Annuities ſhall not exceed the Rate of eight Pounds and ten Shillings per Centum; and ſo in Proportion for any greater or leſs Sum to be paid as aforeſaid; all which ſaid Annuities, ſo to be purchaſed as aforeſaid, ſhall not exceed in the whole the Sum of four hundred and twenty-five Pounds.

"And be it further enacted by the Authority aforeſaid, That all and every the Annuities ſo to be purchaſed under and by virtue of this Act, ſhall be and are hereby charged upon, and ſhall be paid and payable from Time to Time, out of the Monies ariſing by the ſaid Rates and Duties herein before mentioned; and that none of the ſaid Annuities ſhall now or hereafter be ſubject or liable to the Tax charged upon Land by the Authority of Parliament.

"And whereas a preſent Fund will be neceſſary for the Payment of Annuities, and other the Purpoſes aforeſaid, be it further enacted by the Authority aforeſaid, That it ſhall and may be lawful for the ſaid Truſtees, or any nine or more of them, from Time to Time, to make an Aſſeſſment on all Lands, Houſes, Tenements, and Hereditaments within the ſaid Hamlet, not exceeding one Shilling in the Pound of the yearly Rent of ſuch Lands, Houſes, Tenements, and Hereditaments, as the ſame ſhall be aſcertained and rated by the Land-tax for the Time being; and for that Purpoſe the Truſtees appointed by this Act, or any nine or more of of them, ſhall and may by Writing under their Hands and Seals, and they are hereby authorized and required to order and direct the Receivers and Collectors, ſo to be choſen and appointed for the Time being, to aſſeſs upon and collect from the Owners or Occupiers of ſuch Lands, Houſes, Tenements, and Hereditaments, ſuch Rates and Sums of Money as ſhall be requiſite in the Premiſes, of which Rates and Aſſeſſments two third Parts ſhall be paid by the Landlords or Owners, and the third Part by the Tenants or Occupiers of ſuch Lands, Houſes, Tenements and Hereditaments; and which ſaid Tenants and Occupiers ſhall and may deduct and retain, out of the Rents payable to the Landlords and Owners of the ſame Premiſes, the ſaid two third Parts of ſuch Rate or Aſſeſſment ſo to be made and collected as aforeſaid; and the ſaid Landlords (mediate or immediate) according to their reſpective Intereſts, are hereby required to allow to ſuch Tenants, ſuch Deductions and Payments accordingly; and every Tenant paying any ſuch Rate or Aſſeſſment for or upon the Landlord's Account, ſhall be acquitted and diſcharged for ſo much Money as the ſame ſhall amount unto, as fully and effectually as if the ſame had been actually paid to any ſuch Landlord or Landlords, or other Perſon or Perſons, to whom his or her Rent was or ſhould have been paid or payable by ſuch Rates or Aſſeſſments; and the Money ariſing therefrom ſhall be recovered, accounted for, paid, charged, and applied in ſuch Manner, and for ſuch Purpoſes, as the other Duties by this Act directed to be raiſed and levied, are directed and appointed to be recovered, charged, accounted for, paid and applied: Provided always, That in caſe any Houſe or Tenement ſhall be ſet, let, or occupied in different Apartments, Rooms, or Lodgers, or Inmates, the whole Houſe or Tenement ſo let and occupied, ſhall be charged with the whole Rate aſſeſſed, or to be collected for, or in Reſpect of the ſame; and in caſe of Non-payment, it ſhall and may be lawful to levy the ſame upon, and from any of the Inhabitants or Occupiers of any Part or Parts of ſuch Houſe or Tenement, in ſuch and the ſame Manner as the other Duties directed by this Act to be raiſed, are appointed to be levied and recovered.

"Provided always, and it is hereby enacted and declared, That the Payment of the Rates, Duties, and Aſſeſſments, directed to be raiſed and levied by this Act, ſhall not intitle any Perſon or Perſons whatſoever, to a Settlement in the ſaid new intended Pariſh, who was or were not before ſuch Payment legally intitled to ſuch Settlement.

"Pro-

" And be it further enacted by the Authority aforeſaid, That the ſaid Rates and Aſſeſſments hereby directed and appointed to be raiſed and levied upon Houſes, Lands and Tenements for the Purpoſes aforeſaid, ſhall and may take Place and have Continuance, from the twenty-fourth Day of June one thouſand ſeven hundred and forty-three, for and during ſuch Time only, as any of the Annuities to be granted purſuant to to this Act as aforeſaid, ſhall have Continuance, and when and as there ſhall be Occaſion or Neceſſity to raiſe the ſame, and no longer, and not otherwiſe; and from and after the Determination of all the ſaid Annuities, ſuch Rates and Aſſeſſments ſhall ceaſe and determine; and from thenceforth ſuch Rates and Duties for the Ground of any Burial, Bells, Palls, Grave-ſtones, Vaults, and Monuments, ſhall be paid and applied towards the Repairs of the Church, and for the Uſes herein directed; and if there be any Surplus, the ſame ſhall be applied for ſuch other Parochial Uſes, as the Veſtry ſhall appoint, the ſame being from Time to Time allowed of and conſented to by the Biſhop of the Dioceſe as aforeſaid.

" And be it further enacted, That it ſhall and may be lawful for the Pariſhioners and Veſtry aſſembled, with the Conſent of the ſaid Truſtees, or nine of them, to make ſuch Alterations in the Rates and Duties for Burials, as to the Ground and Bells, as they ſhall think convenient and neceſſary; ſo as ſuch Alterations be, i n like Manner, allowed of, and conſented to by the Biſhop of the Dioceſe.

" And be it enacted by the Authority aforeſaid, That the Perſon, who at the Time of the Conſecration of the ſaid Church, ſhall be Church-warden, Overſeers of the Poor, Scavengers, Surveyors of the Highways, and the other Parochial Officers, for or in the ſaid Hamlet of Bethnal Green, ſhall, together with one other ſubſtantial Inhabitant within the ſaid Hamlet, to be choſen for another Church-warden within two Months next after the Conſecration of the ſaid Church by the Veſtry-men of the ſaid new intended Pariſh, or the major Part of ſuch of them who ſhall be preſent at their publick Meeting for that Purpoſe, be the Churchwardens, Overſeers for the Poor, Scavengers, Surveyors of the Highways and other Pariſh Officers for the ſaid new Pariſh.

" And be it further enacted by the Authority aforeſaid, That the Rector of the ſaid Pariſh Church, and the Church-wardens, and Overſeers of the Poor of the ſaid new intended Pariſh, for the Time being, and all other Perſons, who ſhall have ſerved or fined for the Office of Church-warden or Overſeer of the Poor of the ſaid Hamlet, or of the ſaid new intended Pariſh, and ſhall pay two Shillings per Month, and all others who ſhall pay four Shillings per Month for the Relief of the Poor of the ſaid Hamlet, for his own Dwelling-houſe, or Lands, and no others, ſhall be Veſtry Men, for the Time being, of the ſaid new intended Pariſh, and ſhall meet, from Time to Time, upon publick Notice to be openly read and publiſhed in the ſaid Church by the Order of the Rector, Church-wardens, and Overſeers of the Poor, or either of them, on the Lord's Day next preceding, immediately after Divine Service; and the ſaid Veſtry Men, or the major Part of ſuch of them as ſhall be aſſembled at ſuch Meetings, ſhall and may, from Time to Time, elect and nominate a Lecturer, as alſo Church-wardens, Sideſmen, Pariſh Clerk, and all other Officers, for the ſaid intended Pariſh; and alſo, from Time to Time, elect and nominate, amove and put out the Sexton, Grave-diggers, and all other Officers and Servants to be employed in or about opening the Pews, making the Graves, or otherwiſe, in or about the ſaid Church; and the Lecturer ſo to be choſen ſhall be admitted by the Rector, for the Time being, to have the Uſe of the Pulpit.

" And be it further enacted by the Authority aforeſaid, That the ſaid Hamlet of Bethnal Green, and the Precinct and Territory thereof, ſhall from and for ever after the Conſecration of the ſaid new intended Church, be and be deemed, and taken to be for ever of itſelf a diſtinct Pariſh to all Intents and Purpoſes whatſoever, and the ſaid new Church ſhall be the Pariſh Church thereof, and ſhall be called by the Name that ſhall be given thereto in the Act or Inſtrument of Conſecration thereof; and the Inhabitants, within the Limits of the ſaid Hamlet, ſhall be the Pariſhioners thereof, and be divided and exempt from the ſaid Pariſh of St. Dunſtan, Stepney, and from bearing any Offices or Charges, and from all Dependencies and Contributions for or in Reſpect thereof.

" Provided always, and be it further enacted and declared, That all great Tythes, or any Modus, or Compoſition in Lieu thereof, ariſing within the ſaid new Pariſh, ſhall be continued to be paid to the Principal and Scholars of King's Hall, and College of Brazen-Noſe, in the Univerſity of Oxford, or to the Perſon or Perſons to whom the ſame do of Right belong; any thing herein contained to the contrary thereof notwithſtanding.

" And be it further enacted by the Authority aforeſaid, That the Advowſon and Right of Preſentation of and to the ſaid new intended Church, ſhall for ever belong to the ſaid Principal and Scholars of King's Hall, and College of Brazen-Noſe, and their Succeſſors, who ſhall and may from Time to Time, when the ſame ſhall be vacant, preſent a fit Perſon to be inſtituted and admitted Rector thereof; and the Rector of the ſaid new Pariſh ſhall have and enjoy the Houſe for the Habitation of the Miniſter, to be built as as aforeſaid; and alſo ſhall be intitled to ſuch Surplice Fees, and other Perquiſites, in the ſaid new Church and Pariſh as ſhall belong, or be appropriated to him, according to the true Intent and Meaning of this Act.

" And be it further enacted by the Authority aforeſaid, That the Pariſh-Clerk of the ſaid new Church for the Time being, ſhall be a Member of the Corporation, or Company of Maſter, Wardens, Aſſiſtants, and Brethren of the Pariſh-Clerks of the City and Suburbs of London, and the Liberties thereof, the City of Weſtminſter, the Borough of Southwark, and the Out-pariſhes, to all Intents and Purpoſes whatſoever, and ſhall be ſubject to the Rules and Orders of the ſaid Corporation or Company, as any other Pariſh Clerk of the ſaid Corporation is or ought to be; any thing in the Charter or Charters of their Incorporation to the contrary notwithſtanding.

" And be it further enacted by the Authority aforeſaid, That the Miniſter and Inhabitants of the ſaid new Pariſh, in Veſtry aſſembled, ſhall and may from Time to Time, with the Conſent or Allowance of the Biſhop or Ordinary of the Place, ſettle all Fees and Perquiſites payable to the Pariſh-Clerk, and other Officers of the ſaid new intended Church, for or upon every Marriage or Burial, or otherwiſe howſoever.

" Provided always, and be it further enacted by the Authority aforeſaid, That the Rectory of the ſaid new Church or Pariſh ſhall not be taken or held in Commendam; and all Licences and Diſpenſations for taking and holding the ſame in Commendam ſhall be utterly void, and of none Effect; any Law, Uſage, or Cuſtom to the contrary thereof in any wiſe notwithſtanding.

" Provided always, and be it enacted by the Authority aforeſaid, That this Act, or any thing herein contained, ſhall not extend to alter or change the Methods or Payments of the Land-Tax, and other Parochial Taxes, for or in reſpect of the great Tythes ariſing within the ſaid Hamlet, or for repairing and amending the Highways and Roads lying within the ſaid Pariſh of St. Dunſtan, Stepney, but that the ſaid Land-Tax and other Parochial Taxes, ſhall be paid in the ſame Places as uſual, and the ſaid Roads repaired and amended, by the ſame Ways, Means, and Methods, and by the ſame Shares and Proportions as they were or ought to have been done heretofore; any thing herein contained to the contrary notwithſtanding.

" And be it further enacted by the Authority aforeſaid, That from and after the Conſecration of the ſaid new intended Church, ſo much of the before recited Act of Parliament, made in the ninth Year of her late Majeſty Queen Anne, as conſtitutes and appoints the ſaid two Portioniſts, ſhall be, and is hereby repealed; and the ſaid John Brookbank (if he be then living, and ſhall until that Time continue Portioniſt of Ratcliffe-Stepney; and in caſe of his Death or Amoval, whoever ſhall be Portioniſt of Ratcliffe-Stepney) ſhall be the firſt Rector of the ſaid new intended Church, and ſhall be, and be deemed to be, in the actual Poſſeſſion thereof, and of all Rights thereunto belonging, without any Admiſſion, Inſtitution, or Induction to the ſame; and the ſaid Robert Leyborne, ſhall be, and is hereby conſtituted and appointed the ſole and full Incumbent of the ſaid Rectory of St. Dunſtan, Stepney, without any Diſpenſation or Induction, or any other Act or Ceremony, Eccleſiaſtical or Civil, to be paid, performed, or received by the ſaid Robert Leyborne, and ſhall have, hold, take, and enjoy to his own proper Uſe, all and all Manner of Tythes, and other Perquiſites and Profits, in any wiſe belonging to the ſaid Rectory or Vicarage, except thoſe ariſing in the ſaid Hamlet, hereby intended to be divided from the ſaid Pariſh, in as large and ample Manner as the ſame have at any Time heretofore been received and and enjoyed by any of the former Rector or Rectors, Vicar or Vicars; and that from and after the Death or Diſmiſſion of the ſaid Robert Leyborne, there ſhall be, and continue to be, but one Rector of the ſaid Rectory of St. Dunſtan, Stepney, to be from Time to Time preſented to the ſame by the proper Patrons thereof; which Rector, and his Succeſſors, ſhall for ever be the ſole Incumbent, and be intituled to all the Rights and Profits of the whole Rectory, in as full and ample Manner as the ſaid Robert Leyborne, or any former Rector or Vicar whatſoever, except thoſe ariſing in the ſaid Hamlet of Bethnal Green aforeſaid.

" And be it further enacted by the Authority aforeſaid, That from and after the Conſecration of the ſaid new Church, all Garden Pennies, ſmall Tythes, Eaſter Offerings, and other Dues (except Surplice Fees) ariſing within the ſaid Hamlet, that have been uſually paid to the ſaid Rector or Vicar, or Portioniſts of the Pariſh Church of Stepney, ſhall from thenceforth be paid to and received by the Church-wardens of the ſaid new intended Church, who ſhall have the ſame and the like Remedy to recover the ſame, and compel the Payment thereof, as any former Rector, Vicar, or Portioniſts of the ſaid Pariſh Church of Stepney have or might have had, and the ſame ſhall be applied for the Maintenance and Support of the Rector of the ſaid new intended Church, and ſuch other Uſes as are hereby directed, and the Surplus thereof (if any) ſhall be applied to ſuch other Parochial Uſes, as the Veſtry of the ſaid new intended Pariſh ſhall from Time to Time direct or appoint.

" And for the Maintenance and Support of the Rector of the ſaid new intended Church, be it further enacted by the Authority aforeſaid, That the Church-wardens of the ſaid new intended Church for the Time being, ſhall, out of the ſaid Garden Pennies, ſmall Tythes, Eaſter Offerings, and other Dues, except Surplice Fees as aforeſaid, and alſo out of the ſaid Rates, ariſing and payable upon and for the Tolling of Bells, and for the Uſe of Palls, Grave-ſtones, Vaults, and Monuments, pay unto the Rector of the ſaid new intended Church, and his Succeſſors, for ever, preferable to all other Payments and Charges whatſoever, the yearly Sum of one hundred and thirty Pounds, upon the four moſt uſual Feaſt Days, or Days of Payment aforeſaid, by even and equal Portions, without any Deduction for any Rates or Taxes impoſed, or to be impoſed by Authority of Parliament, or for any other Matter or Thing whatſoever; and that the ſame ſhall not be ſubject to any ſuch Rates or Taxes whatſoever; the firſt Payment thereof to be made at ſuch of the ſaid Feaſt Days, or Days of Payment, as ſhall firſt happen after the End of two Kalendar Months, next after the Conſecration of the ſaid Church; and the Monies ſo paid ſhall be allowed to ſuch Church-warden or Church-wardens, in his or their Accounts, out of the Monies by him or them to be received, in Purſuance of this Act; and in caſe ſuch Monies ſhall happen to be deficient for that Purpoſe, then out of any other publick Money in his or their Hands, belonging to the ſaid new intended Pariſh (not ariſing by any Poors Rate) as the major Part of the Veſtry Men aſſembled ſhall direct or appoint; and which other Money ſhall be replaced or made good out of the Monies hereby appointed for the Payment thereof; which yearly Sum of one hundred and thirty Pounds, ſhall be deemed a full Equivalent and Satisfaction for all ſmall Tythes, Eaſter Offerings, and other Dues (except ſurplice Fees as aforeſaid) ariſing within the Limits of the ſaid new intended Pariſh.

" And be it further enacted by the Authority aforeſaid, That if Default ſhall happen to be made in Payment of the ſaid yearly Sum of one hundred and thirty Pounds, or any Part thereof, to the Rector aforeſaid, by the Space of thirty Days next over or after any of the Days of Payment, whereon the ſame ought to be paid as aforeſaid, then it ſhall and may be lawful, to and for ſuch Rector to ſue for and recover the ſame, with full Coſts of Suit, againſt ſuch Church-warden and Church-wardens, and his and their Succeſſors, by Action of Debt, in any of his Majeſty's Courts of Record at Weſtminſter, wherein no Eſſoin, Protection, Privilege, or Wager of Law, or more than one Imparlance ſhall be allowed.

" Provided always, That if Default be made as aforeſaid, it ſhall be lawful to and for ſuch Rector, inſtead of proceeding by Action as aforeſaid, to make his Complaint of ſuch Default to any one or more of his Majeſty's Juſtices of the Peace for the ſaid County of Middleſex; and that, upon ſuch Complaint and Oath made before ſuch Juſtice or Juſtices of the Peace (which Oath he or they are hereby impowered to adminiſter) of the Sum or Sums of Money then in Arrear, and unpaid, of ſuch yearly Sum as foreſaid, it ſhall and may be lawful to and for ſuch Juſtice or Juſtices of the Peace, by Warrant under his or their Hands and Seals, to ſummon the Perſon or Perſons making ſuch Default, to attend ſuch Juſtice or Juſtices, at ſuch Time and Place within his or their reſpective Juriſdictions, as he or they ſhall thereby appoint, not exceeding exceeding five Days from the Date of ſuch Warrant, to ſhew Cauſe why ſuch Money, ſo in Arrear, ſhould not be paid: And in caſe ſufficient Cauſe ſhall not be ſhewn, to the Satisfaction of ſuch Juſtice or Juſtices, (Oath being firſt made before ſuch Juſtice or Juſtices, of due Notice of ſuch Summons, in caſe the Party concerned ſhall not attend thereon) then it ſhall and may be lawful, to and for ſuch Juſtice or Juſtices, and he or they are hereby required, by Warrant under his or their Hands and Seals, to cauſe all ſuch Monies which ſhall appear to ſuch Juſtice or Juſtices to be in Arrear, of the ſaid yearly Sum of one hundred and thirty Pounds, to be levied by Diſtreſs and Sale of the Offender's Goods and Chattels, rendering to him or them the Overplus, (if any ſuch ſhall remain) after Deduction of all reaſonable Coſts and Charges, (to be aſcertained upon Oath before ſuch Juſtice or Juſtices) in and about making ſuch Diſtreſs and Sale; and in caſe ſufficient Diſtreſs cannot be had for the Purpoſe aforeſaid, then it ſhall be lawful to and for ſuch Juſtice or Juſtices of the Peace, and he and they are hereby required to commit the Offender or Offenders to the County Gaol, there to remain without Bail or Mainprize, until he or they ſhall have fully paid all ſuch Arrears as aforeſaid.

"Provided alſo, and it is hereby further enacted and declared, That all and every the ſucceeding Church-warden and Church-wardens of the ſaid Pariſh, ſhall be chargeable with, and ſubject, and liable to make good, and to pay and ſatisfy out of any Pariſh Monies as aforeſaid, in his or their Hands, all Arrears of the ſaid yearly Sum of one hundred and thirty Pounds accrued or happening in the Time of his or their Predeceſſors; and that ſuch Arrears ſhall and may be ſued for, had and recovered againſt ſuch ſucceeding Church-warden or Church-wardens, by or upon ſuch Action or Complaint as aforeſaid, and in like Manner as againſt the Church-warden or Church-wardens in whoſe Time ſuch Arrears happened, ſo as ſuch Arrears to be had and recovered againſt ſuch ſucceeding Church-warden or Church-wardens, do not in the whole exceed one whole Year's Payment, and ſo as ſuch Action or Complaint be made againſt ſuch ſucceeding Church-warden or Church-wardens within the Space of three Months, next after his or their firſt entering upon, and being ſworn into the Office of Church-warden.

"And be it further enacted by the Authority aforeſaid, That the ſaid new intended Pariſh, and the Inhabitants and Pariſhioners thereof, ſhall be diſcharged and exempt, as well againſt the Rector of the ſaid new intended Church, as againſt the Rector and Incumbent of the ſaid Pariſh Church of Stepney, from the Payment of all ſmall Tythes, Eaſter Offerings, Garden Pennies, and all other Dues whatſoever, except Surplice Fees, ariſing within the Limits of the ſaid new intended Pariſh."

Part of St. Pancras's in the Fields.

Though the Pariſh of St. Pancras in the Fields be without the Bill of Mortality, I have nevertheleſs thought it neceſſary to inſert an Account of that Part thereof where the Houſes are contiguous to the Suburbs of London; therefore I think 'twill not be amiſs, to acqaint all thoſe, who, from a vulgar Tradition, are of Opinion, that the Church of this Pariſh is of greater Antiquity than that of St. Paul's Cathedral in the City of London, (of which 'tis only a Prebend), that this is not the Church of St. Pancras which may juſtly be termed the Mother of St. Paul's, but one of the ſame Appellation at the City of Canterbury; which Auſtin, the Monk, in the Year 598, converted from a Pagan to a Chriſtian Temple, and dedicated the ſame to St. Pancras, divers Years before the Founding of St. Paul's Church in London. Chron. Guil. Thorn.

This Part of St. Pancras's Pariſh, which pays to the Poor about 132 l. per Annum, contains one hundred and twenty-two Houſes. Here adjoining to the South Side of the Church-yard is a good Spaw, whoſe Water is of a ſweet Taſte, very clear, and operates gently by Stool.

St. Paul's, Shadwell.

The Hamlet of Shadwell, which formerly belonged to the Pariſh of Stepney, having greatly increaſed both in Number of Houſes and Inhabitants, Thomas Neale, Eſq; Leaſee of that Diſtrict, erected the preſent Church in the Year 1656, for their Accommodation in the Performance of their Religious Duties. This Diſtrict, Anno 1669, was by an Act of Parliament conſtituted a Pariſh, in all Reſpects diſtinct from and independent of that of Stepney, as if it had never had belonged to the ſame. And toward the Maintenance of a Rector, beſide a conſiderable Glebe veſted in him, he is allowed all Oblations and ſuch Church Duties as are paid in the Pariſh of Stepney. And as a farther Proviſion for the ſaid Rector and his Succeſſors, he is to have one hundred and twenty Pounds per Annum, in lieu of Tythes, which is to be raiſed by an Aſſeſſment upon the Inhabitants by an equal Pound Rate, not exceeding ſix Pence in the Pound; which is to be made by the Church-wardens within twenty Days after every Eaſter Tueſday; which Rate is to be confirmed by two Juſtices of the Peace of the County of Middleſex, or by the Biſhop of London, under their Hands and Seals, to be paid at Quarterly Payments, with a Power to diſtrain in caſe of Non-payment. And in caſe the Church-wardens refuſe, or neglect to make the ſaid Aſſeſſment, or Rate, within the Time limited, they are to forfeit to the King for every ſuch Offence the Sum of twenty Pounds; on which Occaſion, the Parſon himſelf is impowered, before the Feaſt of St. John Baptiſt, or the 24th of June, in any Year, to make the ſaid Aſſeſſment, or Rate for 120 l. which being confirmed as aforeſaid, it may be levied and recovered in the ſame manner as one made by the Church-wardens. Act Parl. 21 Car. II.

Some Time after, a Controverſy happened between the Pariſh and Robert Marriot, the Rector, who pretended a Right to collect, for his own Uſe, of every Pariſhioner above ſixteen Years of Age, two Pence, or three Pence each, for Eaſter Offerings; which the Inhabitants refuſing to comply with, alledged the ſame were included in the hundred and twenty Pounds annually paid him by the Pariſh; but to aocommodate the Diſpute in an amicable manner, and to obviate all Conteſts for the future, it was agreed, that an annual Stipend of one hundred and twenty Pounds ſhould thenceforth be collected by the Pariſhioners, and paid to the Rector Quarterly, without the leaſt Deduction: And the ſaid Pariſhioners farther agreed to pay their ſaid Rector one Shilling for every Corps buried in their Church-yard; whereupon Marriot gave up and relinquiſhed all Pretenſions to Oblations, Eaſter Dues, and other Offerings whatſoever. Which Agreement has been ratified and confirmed by all the ſucceeding Rectors. Par. Rec.

This Church, which is a Rectory, ſituate on the South Side of Upper Shadwell, owes its Name to its being dedicated to St. Paul the Apoſtle, and the Place of its Situation; the Advowſon whereof belongs to the Dean of St. Paul's in the City of London, as Ground Landlord of the whole Pariſh:

To the pious Memory of Mr. James Cook.

View, Traveller, as you paſs by,
Cook's Relicks of Mortality;
Whoſe Angel Face, Seraphick Skin,
Proclaimed ſome noble Soul within;
Whoſe blooming Hope, whoſe airy Breath,
Whoſe Bud was nip'd by cruel Death.
Whoſe ſacred Gueſt was forc'd to fly,
By Death's tyrannick Cruelty,
And take a Manſion in the lofty Sky.
View all his Virtues (if you could Have Time to ſtay) modeſt and good,
Pious to God, to all was kind;
In ſhort, a univerſal Friend.
Go, Traveller, and now begin
A virtuous Life; make God thy Friend.
Give him thy Heart in youthful Days,
As pious Cook, whoſe very Praiſe
Will warbled be; Ages ſhall hear
Cook's great and mighty Character.

Officers, &c. belonging to this Pariſh.

The Veſtry is general; two Church-wardens, four Collectors for the Poor, one Conſtable, ſeven Headboroughs, two Scavengers, who pay the Raker, for cleanſing the Streets, and carrying away the Aſhes, the Sum of one hundred Pounds per Annum; two Beadles, nine Watchmen, ſixteen hundred and ninety-ſix houſes.

Antiquities, &c. in this Pariſh.

This Pariſh, which is one of the Tower Hamlets, has the Name of Shadwell from a fine Fountain, which iſſues from under the South Wall of the Church-yard: And the South Part of the Pariſh, denominated Lower Shadwell, being antiently Part of Wapping Marſh, it was within the Courſe of the River Thames, till the ſame was imbanked.

The Streets in this Pariſh, called Old and New Gravel Lanes, were ſo denominated from their being antiently Ways, wherein Carts laden with Gravel from the neighbouring Fields uſed to paſs to the River Thames, where it was employed in ballaſting of Ships, before Ballaſt was taken out of the ſaid River.

In the North-eaſt Part of this Pariſh (at preſent denominated Sun-Tavern Fields) where formerly Gravel was dug for ballaſting Ships, a Roman Cemetery was diſcovered about the Year 1615, wherein were found two Coffins; one whereof, being of Stone, contained the Bones of a Man; and the other of Lead, beautifully imbelliſhed with Scollop Shells and a Crotiſter Border, contained thoſe of a Woman, at whoſe Head and Feet were placed two Urns of the Height of three Feet each; and at the Sides divers beautiful Red Earthen Bottles, with a Number of Lachrymatories of Hexagon and Octagon Forms: And on each Side of the inhumed Bones were depoſited two Ivory Scepters of the Length of eighteen Inches each; and upon the Breaſt, the Figure of a ſmall Cupid curiouſly wrought, as were likewiſe two Pieces of Jet, reſembling Nails, of the Lenth of three Inches. Weav. Fun.Mon.

The Perſon here interred (according to the Opinion of that judicious Antiquary Sir Robert Cotton, who made the Diſcovery) muſt have been the Conſort of ſome Prince, or Roman Pretor, by the Decorations of the Coffin, and Things therein contained. Ibid.

In this Place were likewiſe diſcovered divers Urns, with Roman Coin, which on one Side had this Inſcription, Imp. Pupienus Maximus P. F. and on the Reverſe, with Hands conjoined, Patrus Senatus. Camd. An. Apar.

Alſo in this Place was lately diſcovered a very ſtrong Alomiſh Water, ſaid to be impregnated with Sulphur, Vitriol, Steel and Antimony. This Water ſhews itſelf to be a very great Antiſcorbutick, inſomuch, that by the numerous Cures it has performed in the Leproſy, Scurvy, Scald-heads, Itch, and other Cutaneous Diſtempers, 'tis thought to be a ſpecifick Remedy for all Diſeaſes of the Skin.

Things remarkable at preſent are, the Church, a Preſbyterian Meeting-houſe, two Church and one Preſbyterian Charity-Shools, an Alms-houſe, a Market, a Medicinal Spring, two Engines for ſupplying the Neighbourhood with River Water, two Wells, which flow plentifully, and ſupply the Inhabitants with Spring-water, a Dock for Ship building, five Places, denominated Stairs, for People to go upon, or return from off the River, and a Workhouſe for the Reception of the Poor.

St. Sepulchre's Liberty in Middleſex.

This Precinct, which is that Part of the Pariſh of St. Sepulchre's without the Juriſdiction of the City of London denominated Middleſex Liberty, is in the Manor of Finſbury and Hundred of Oſulſton; and in regard to its Government, 'tis in all Reſpects independent of the City Liberty, as if it was not of the ſame Pariſh.

Antiquities, &c. in this Liberty.

The Street in this Liberty, vulgarly called Turnbull-ſtreet, was antiently denominated Turn-mill-ſtreet, from the Mills thereon erected, which were wrought by a Stream of Water from Hampſtead and Highgate; which being at preſent ſeemingly dried up, it has given Occaſion to ſome Writers to repreſent the ſame as loſt: Whereas had they taken the Trouble to inquire, they would eaſily have diſcovered, that the ſaid Stream is brought

BOOK IX.

Containing the Ancient and Preſent State of the Borough of Southwark, &c. with an ample Deſcription of the ſeveral Pariſhes, and Remarkables therein at preſent, alphabetically digeſted.

THE Borough of Southwark conſiſts of the Pariſhes of St. Olave, St. Saviour, St. George and St. Thomas; which, together with the adjacent Pariſhes, compoſe that Part of the Diſtrict within the Bill of Mortality ſituate South of the River Thames, in the Hundreds of Kingſton and Brixton, and County of Surrey; which is in Length ſix Miles twenty-three Poles and two Feet: viz. From Vauxhall Bridge to Stangate, one Mile; to within three Doors of the Sign of the Earl of Warwick in Upper Ground-ſtreet, one Mile; to four Doors Eaſt of the Maze Gateway in Tooley-ſtreet, one Mile; to within nine Doors of Blackman's-alley on Rotherhithe-wall, one Mile; to within three Doors of the Bull's-head in Brimſtone-ſtreet, one Mile; and from thence to the Eaſt End of Holding-ſtreet, one Mile, twenty-three Poles and two Feet.

Sim. Dunelm. Hiſt. The firſt Mention I find of Southwark in Hiſtory is in the Year 1052, when Earl Godwin arrived at this Place with a potent Fleet; where having anchored till the Return of the Flood, he paſſed London-bridge without Oppoſition, and advanced to engage the Royal Navy, (then lying oppoſite Weſtminſter) conſiſting of fifty Ships of War; but by the Interpoſition of the Nobility, Matters were happily accommodated between the King and Godwin, without the Effuſion of Blood: However, Godwin, by way of Bravado, ſailed round Edward's Fleet, and repaſſed the Bridge, which was then of Wood. Whereby we may perceive what Sort of Ships the Royal Navy then conſiſted of. The next Mention I find of this Borough is in the Conqueror's Survey; where 'tis ſaid, that a Monaſtery, with a Watercourſe and Haven, in this Town, belonged to the Biſhop of Bayonne, in Gaſcony in France.

Ex Doomſ. in Rec. Exch.

That the Citizens of London have long endeavoured to get this Borough under their Juriſdiction, is apparent, from their Application to Parliament, in the Year 1327, ſetting forth the numerous Loſſes and Miſchiefs that befel the Citizens, occaſioned by Bankrupts, Thieves, &c. who, after they had perpetrated their reſpective Villanies, fled into Southwark, as a certain Aſylum. For the remedying of which Evil, the Bailiwick of Southwark, with its Appurtenances, were granted (as elſewhere recited) to the Citizens and their Succeſſors, to be held of the Crown for ever, at a Fee-farm Rent of ten Pounds per Annum; which was not only confirmed by divers ſucceeding Kings, but likewiſe additional Powers granted the Citizens over the ſaid Borough: However, it ſeems, that they have not hitherto been able to erect the ſame into a twenty-ſixth Ward.

Roy. Cha. Lond.

The few hiſtorical Occurrences which have happened in this Town and Neighbourhood chiefly belonging to London, I have therefore inſerted

BOOK IX.

Containing the Ancient and Preſent State of the Borough of Southwark, &c. with an ample Deſcription of the ſeveral Pariſhes, and Remarkables therein at preſent, alphabetically digeſted.

THE Borough of Southwark conſiſts of the Pariſhes of St. Olave, St. Saviour, St. George and St. Thomas; which, together with the adjacent Pariſhes, compoſe that Part of the Diſtrict within the Bill of Mortality ſituate South of the River Thames, in the Hundreds of Kingſton and Brixton, and County of Surrey; which is in Length ſix Miles twenty-three Poles and two Feet: viz. From Vauxhall Bridge to Stangate, one Mile; to within three Doors of the Sign of the Earl of Warwick in Upper Ground-ſtreet, one Mile; to four Doors Eaſt of the Maze Gateway in Tooley-ſtreet, one Mile; to within nine Doors of Blackman's-alley on Rotherhithe-wall, one Mile; to within three Doors of the Bull's-head in Brimſtone-ſtreet, one Mile; and from thence to the Eaſt End of Holding-ſtreet, one Mile, twenty-three Poles and two Feet.

Sim. Dunelm. Hiſt. The firſt Mention I find of Southwark in Hiſtory is in the Year 1052, when Earl Godwin arrived at this Place with a potent Fleet; where having anchored till the Return of the Flood, he paſſed London-bridge without Oppoſition, and advanced to engage the Royal Navy, (then lying oppoſite Weſtminſter) conſiſting of fifty Ships of War; but by the Interpoſition of the Nobility, Matters were happily accommodated between the King and Godwin, without the Effuſion of Blood: However, Godwin, by way of Bravado, ſailed round Edward's Fleet, and repaſſed the Bridge, which was then of Wood. Whereby we may perceive what Sort of Ships the Royal Navy then conſiſted of. The next Mention I find of this Borough is in the Conqueror's Survey; where 'tis ſaid, that a Monaſtery, with a Watercourſe and Haven, in this Town, belonged to the Biſhop of Bayonne, in Gaſcony in France. Ex Doomſ. in Rec. Exch.

That the Citizens of London have long endeavoured to get this Borough under their Juriſdiction, is apparent, from their Application to Parliament, in the Year 1327, ſetting forth the numerous Loſſes and Miſchiefs that befel the Citizens, occaſioned by Bankrupts, Thieves, &c. who, after they had perpetrated their reſpective Villanies, fled into Southwark, as a certain Aſylum. For the remedying of which Evil, the Bailiwick of Southwark, with its Appurtenances, were granted (as elſewhere recited) to the Citizens and their Succeſſors, to be held of the Crown for ever, at a Fee-farm Rent of ten Pounds per Annum; which was not only confirmed by divers ſucceeding Kings, but likewiſe additional Powers granted the Citizens over the ſaid Borough: However, it ſeems, that they have not hitherto been able to erect the ſame into a twenty-ſixth Ward. Roy. Cha. Lond.

The few hiſtorical Occurrences which have happened in this Town and Neighbourhood chiefly belonging to London, I have therefore inſerted them them in the Hiſtory of that City. However, in treating of the ſeveral Pariſhes, I ſhall give Hints thereof, as they occur.

Chriſt's Church.

John Marſhal, of the Borough of Southwark, Gent. by his laſt Will, of the 21ſt of Auguſt, Anno 1627, did deviſe the Sum of ſeven hundred Pounds, towards erecting a Church, with an Eſtate of ſixty Pounds per Annum, clear of Reprizes, toward the Maintenance of a Miniſter, to officiate in the ſaid Church. In purſuance of which Will, the Truſtees appointed for the Management of this Affair, having obtained a Piece of Ground, in the Precinct of Paris-Garden, whereon to erect the intended Church, with a convenient Cemetery, they heartily ſet about the Work; wherein they expended the ſaid Sum of ſeven hundred Pounds, together with divers others, collected for the ſame Purpoſe; and altho' the ſaid Sums were not ſufficient to finiſh the Work, yet the Inhabitants of the Diſtrict wherein it is built applied to Parliament, in the Year 1670, to have the ſame erected into a Pariſh, for accompliſhing the Intention of the Founder: Which the Parliament taking into Conſideration, they conſtituted the ſaid Diſtrict a diſtinct Pariſh, by the Appellation of Chriſt's-Church, according to the Will of the Founder; and in all Reſpects made it independent of that of St. Saviour, as if it never had belonged to the ſame.

Act Parl. 22 & 23 Car II.

Ibid. And by the Authority aforeſaid, the Truſtees, their Heirs and Aſſigns, were appointed Patrons of the ſaid Church for ever; with a Power of raiſing Money out of the Founder's Eſtate, for completely finiſhing the ſaid Church, and for paying the Sum of one hundred Pounds to the Pariſh of St. Saviour, in lieu of the Contributions formerly paid by the Inhabitants of this Diſtrict, towards the Repairs of that Church.

Ibid. And it was by the ſame Authority enacted, That the Ground of the new Church and Churchyard ſhall be veſted in the aforeſaid Truſtees and their Succeſſors; who are to apply the Profits ariſing therefrom, (excluſive of certain Vaults belonging to William Angel, Lord of the Manor) toward the perpetual Repairs of the Church.

And for the better Maintenance of the Rector, he and his Succeſſors are impowered to receive all Tythes, Compoſitions for Tythes, Oblations and Dues whatſoever, which the Inhabitants of the new Pariſh were accuſtomed to pay, before they were ſeparated from that of St. Saviour.

The Brick Church and Steeple of this Pariſh, by reaſon of bad Foundations, became very ruinous, inſomuch that Mr. Marſhal's Truſtees applied to Parliament in the Year 1737, for a Power to rebuild the ſame, with the Sum of two thouſand five hundred Pounds in their Hands, which aroſe from the ſaid Truſt. Purſuant to their Petition, an Act was made to enable them to rebuild the ſaid Church within the Space of three Years, from the 25th of December 1738.

Receipts and Diſburſements on Account of the Rectory, Church and Poor.

This being a new Church, and the Foundation of a private Perſon, the Profits thereof to the Rector amount to about one hundred and twenty Pounds per Annum; but in Reſpect to Diſburſements, it pays neither Firſt-fruits, Tenths, nor other Charge on Account of the Cure.

Monumental Inſcription.

In Memory of Elizabeth Dauling, the late virtuous and truly loving Wife of John Dauling, junior, Eſq; who (in hope of a bleſſed Reſurrection) departed this Life on May the 14th 1695, aged twenty-eight Years, and lies interred under the Communion Table in this Church.

Officers, &c. in this Pariſh.

The Veſtry is general; two Church-wardens; two Overſeers of the Poor; four Conſtables; three Headboroughs; two Scavengers, who pay the Raker, for cleanſing the Streets, and carrying away the Duſt, the Sum of thirty Pounds per Annum; one Beadle; ſix Watchmen; one thouſand and eleven Houſes.

Antiquities, &c. in this Pariſh.

This Pariſh, (as already mentioned) till of late, was a Diſtrict belonging to that of St. Saviour's, denominated Paris-Garden; in which were antiently kept two Bear-gardens, (which, for any thing appears, were the firſt that were erected in the Neighbourhood of the City of London) for the Entertainment of the Populace; one whereof being overcharged with Spectators, on a Sunday in the Year 1582, it fell down during the Performance, whereby a great Number of Perſons were killed and maimed. Stow. Sur. Lond. Stryp. Ed. Stow. Sur.

Things remarkable at preſent, are, the Church, which, as before related, was founded by John Marſhal, and the Ground whereon it ſtands, together with that of its Cemetery, given by William Angel, Lord of the Manor; two Charity-ſchools; a very large Glaſs-houſe, for making of Bottles; three Sets of Steps, or Stairs to take Water at; and a Work-houſe, for the Reception of the Poor.

St. George's.

Though I cannot trace this Church to its Origin, yet that it is of great Antiquity is manifeſt, from its being given by Thomas Arderne to the Abbot and Monks of Bermondſey, in the Year 1122. However, the late Fabrick being greatly decayed by Age, the Pariſhioners applied to Parliament, to have the ſame rebuilt; and having obtained an Act for that Purpoſe, the ſame was taken down, and the firſt Stone of the preſent Structure laid in the Beginning of the Year 1734, and the Work being carried on with great Expedition, the ſame was finiſhed in the Year 1736. Stow. Sur. Lond.

This Church, which is a Rectory, ſituate at the South-eaſt Corner of St. Margaret's-Hill, is ſo denominated from its Dedication to St. George, the Cappadocian Martyr; and the Advowſon thereof is in the Gift of the Crown.

The Profits of this Rectory to the Incumbent amount to about two hundred and twenty Pounds per Annum.

The Veſtry is ſelect; two Church-wardens, four Overſeers of the Poor, eight Conſtables, four Scavengers, who pay the Raker, for cleanſing the Streets and carrying away the Aſhes, the Sum of one hundred and eighty Pounds per Annum, two Beadles, eight Watchmen, fifteen hundred and three Houſes.

Antiquities, &c. in this Pariſh.

Stow. Sur. Lond. Oppoſite the Weſt End of St. George's Church antiently ſtood a magnificent Structure, belonging to the Duke of Suffolk; which coming to Henry VIII. he erected a Mint therein, from which that Neighbourhood is ſtill denominated, and which for many Years was a noted Aſylum for inſolvent Debtors; which Perſons villainouſly inclined taking the Advantage of, fled hither with all their Effects, in order to defraud their Creditors. This deteſtable Practice becoming a national Grievance, the Parliament, for the Support of Trade, judged it neceſſary to ſuppreſs this Neſt of Spoilers.

On the Eaſt Side of St. Margaret's-hill are ſituate the King's bench, Marſhalſea, and County Gaol Priſons. How long theſe Priſons have been kept in Southwark, I cannot aſcertain; however, that of the Marſhalſea appears to be of a conſiderable Standing, by the following Occurrence:

Ibid. In the Year 1377, the Duke of Lancaſter, Lord High Admiral of the Kingdom, having aſſembled the Royal Navy at London, a Sailor belonging to the ſame happened to be killed by a Gentleman; which was ſo highly reſented by the Sailors in general, that they commenced a Proſecution againſt him for Murder; but obſerving the Partiality of the Court in his Favour, and that a Pardon had been obtained to ſecure him in caſe of Danger, theſe Proceedings exaſperated the Proſecutors to ſuch a Degree, that they ran in a Body to the Marſhalſea Priſon; and breaking open the ſame, ſeized the Priſoner, and murdered him upon the Spot; and dragged his Body to the Gallows, hung it thereon, and by Sound of Trumpet returned to their reſpective Ships in Triumph. And Ibid. ſome Time after, in the Year 1381, Wat Tyler, with his rebellious Crew, broke up both this and the King's bench Priſons, and releaſed the Priſoners.

The Remarkables at preſent, are, the beautiful new Church, a Charity-ſchool, one Alms-houſe, a Hay-market, an annual Fair, three Priſons, a Pariſh Workhouſe, and a Houſe of Correction denominated Bridewell.

St. John's.

The Pariſh of St. Olave, like many others in the Suburbs of the City of London, being greatly increaſed, both in Number of Houſes and Inhabitants, the Commiſſioners for erecting the fifty new Churches within the Bill of Mortality having purchaſed a Site for a Church and Cemetery, laid the Foundation of the intended Church; which being finiſhed in the Year 1732, and the Diſtrict of Horſley-down appointed for its Pariſh, the Inhabitants thereof applied to Parliament, to have the ſame converted into a new Pariſh: Which being taken into Conſideration, the ſaid Diſtrict was conſtituted a Pariſh in all Reſpects ſeparate from and independent of that of St. Olave, as if it never had belonged to the ſame. Whereupon the Church was conſecrated on the 13th of June, Anno 1733, and towards the Maintenance of a Rector and his Succeſſors, to officiate in the ſaid Church, the Sum of three thouſand five hundred Pounds was granted by Parliament, to be laid out in Lands, Tenements, &c. in Fee-ſimple. And as a further Proviſion for the ſaid Rector, the Church-wardens are to pay him annually, at quarterly Payments, the Sum of ſixty Pounds, to be raiſed by Fees ariſing from Burials; for which Purpoſe, the Pariſh Burial-grounds and Vaults are veſted in the Veſtry, (excluſive of the Rector) who with the Conſent of the Biſhop are impowered to appoint ſuch Fees for Burials, as ſhall not exceed thirty, nor leſs than two Shillings, and aſcertain Rates for Leave to make Vaults, lay down Grave-ſtones, and erect Monuments. And for the better ſecuring the Payment of the ſaid ſixty Pounds per Annum to the Rector and his Succeſſors, it is enacted, That in default of Payment, the Rector for the more ſpeedy and eaſy Recovery of the ſame, may apply to two, or more Juſtices of the Peace of the County of Surrey; who upon Oath made of the Sum, or Sums in Arrear, may compel ſuch Defaulters by Diſtreſs and Sale of their Goods; and if Diſtreſs cannot be had to ſatisfy ſuch Arrears, then the ſucceeding Church-wardens are to be reſponſible for the ſame. Act Parl. 6 Geo. II.

Ibid. It is alſo ordained, That the Veſtry of this Pariſh ſhall conſiſt of the Rector, and all the Inhabitants renting ten Pounds per Annum and upwards; and that the Proviſion made by the ſaid Act of Parliament, for the Rector and his Succeſſors, ſhall be in lieu of all Modus's, Tythes, Eaſter Offerings, and other Demands whatſoever; except ſuch Surplice Fees and Perquiſites allowed by the ſaid Act, and ſuch other as the Veſtry, with the Conſent of the Biſhop, ſhall think proper to appoint. And it is further ordained, that the Rectory ſhall not be held in Commendam, and that all Licences and Diſpenſations for that Purpoſe are declared void and of no Effect.

Ibid. It is likewiſe enacted, by the Authority aforeſaid, That the Church-wardens may provide three handſome Palls, for Burial of the Dead; and for the Uſe of which to take a Sum of Money not exceeding ten, nor leſs than two Shillings; and that no Perſon whatſoever ſhall preſume to bring any Pall into the Church-yard, or Burial-grounds belonging to this Pariſh, without paying ſuch Sum as the Church-warden ſhall demand, not exceeding ten Shillings; unleſs ſuch Palls belong to the Pariſh of St. Olave.

Ibid. And by the ſame Authority, the Veſtry, after the Conſecration of the Church, is impowered to raiſe the Sum of five hundred Pounds, by a Pound Rate upon the Inhabitants, for purchaſing Neceſſaries to be employed in and about the Church and Steeple.

Ibid. And it is alſo ordained, that the Inhabitants of this Pariſh ſhall enjoy all the Advantages of the Free-ſchool; and that the Donations given to St. Olave's Pariſh before the ſame was divided, be divided between both Pariſhes, viz. three Fifths to that of St. Olave, and the remaining two

two to this; ſubject nevertheleſs to an annual Payment of twenty-nine Pounds, clear of Reprizes, to the Church-wardens of the Mother Pariſh.

This Church, which is ſituate on the South Side and near the lower End of Fair-ſtreet, is in the Gift of the Crown, as well as that of St. Olave's, from whence this Pariſh was taken.

The Veſtry is neither ſelect, nor general, all being admitted that rent 10 l. per Annum, or upwards; three Church-wardens, four Overſeers of the Poor, four Conſtables, four Scavengers, who pay the Raker ninety-five Pounds per Ann. two Surveyors of the Highways, one Beadle, eight Watchmen, twelve hundred and fifty-five Houſes, and a Workhouſe for the Reception of the Poor.

Antiquities, &c. in this Pariſh.

The Site of this Pariſh being anciently a grazing Ground, it was therefore denominated Horſe-down, now corruptly Horſley-down; and the Spot of Ground, which is occupied by the new Church and Cemetery, was a ſpacious inwall'd Field, called the Artillery ground, wherein the Trained-bands of Southwark uſed to exerciſe; unto which belonged a large and handſome Building in Pariſh-ſtreet, denominated the Artillery-houſe, which was lately converted into two Workhouſes, for the Reception of the Poor, both of the old and new Pariſhes.

Things remarkable at preſent, are, the beautiful new Church, one Preſbyterian, four Anabaptiſt, and one Quaker Meeting-houſes; two Charity-ſchools, one half of that ſpacious Haven, or Harbour for Ships, called St. Saviour's Dock; four Sets of Steps, or Stairs, to go upon and return from the River Thames; and a Workhouſe for the Reception of the Pariſh Poor.

St. MARY's, Lambeth.

Gerv. Dorob. Act. Pont.

Upon the Death of Richard, Archbiſhop of Canterbury, Anno 1184, a Conteſt aroſe between the Suffragan Biſhops of that Province and the Monks of Canterbury, concerning their ſeveral Pretenſions to the Right of electing their Archbiſhop; on which Occaſion, the Monks appealing to Rome, great Intereſt was made in behalf of each Party, till at length a Mandate was obtained of the Pope, wherein the Biſhops and Monks were injoined to unite in the Election: Purſuant to which, the Time of chuſing was appointed; but the refractory Monks not appearing, the Suffragans choſe Baldwin, Biſhop of Worceſter, for their Metropolitan; which the Monks highly reſenting, ſtrenuouſly exerted themſelves to invalidate the Election. But the King, who was a great Favourer of Baldwin, being made acquainted with the Demands and Promiſes of the Monks, prevailed upon him to renounce his Election, and the Electors to declare the ſame void. The Monks having obtained what they wanted, proceeded to a new Election, and, according to their previous Declaration, re-elected Baldwin.

However, the King, willing to repreſs the Inſolence of the Monks, endeavoured, by the following Stratagem, to wreſt from them the Power of electing their Archbiſhop:

He commanded Baldwin, the Archbiſhop, to build a College at Hackington, near Canterbury; for which he (the King) was to erect one Prebend, and each of the Suffragans of the Province another, whereof, as Founders, they were to have the perpetual Patronage; which was done with a View to deprive the Monks of the Right of Election, and to veſt the ſame in the Canons of the intended College. And the more eaſily to prevail upon the Pope to come into this Scheme, they propoſed to dedicate the ſaid College to Thomas Becket, the moſt celebrated Saint of that Time, and who was held in ſuch Veneration by the Pope, that it was not in the leaſt doubted, but he would readily transfer the Right of Election from the Monks of Canterbury to the Canons of Hackington.

Park de Ant. Brit. Godw. de Præſul. Angl.

The Foundation being dug, and Materials provided for the intended Work, the Part thereof allotted to the Arbiſhop to erect, was the Church, and a certain other Part of the Building. The Monks, apprehenſive of the King's and the Archbiſhop's Deſign againſt them, applied to Rome for Redreſs. In the mean Time the Work was carried on with ſuch Expedition, that the Church being almoſt finiſhed, it was conſecrated, and divers ſecular Prieſts inſtituted and inſtalled therein. But the Monks having ſucceeded in their Application to Rome, obtained a Mandate from the Pope, to diſſolve the new Corporation, and raze the Edifice; which neither the King, nor Archbiſhop daring to oppoſe, the arbitrary Order was executed accordingly.

Ibid.

Pope Urban, the great Protector of the Monks, dying ſoon after, he was ſucceeded by Gregory the Eighth, a great Favourer of Baldwin, who was thereby encouraged to renew his Deſign, but in another Place; for which End having obtained of the Biſhop and Convent of Rocheſter, a certain Spot of Ground at Lambee, Lambithe, or Lambeth, (where the Archiepiſcopal Palace is ſituate) he began to erect a Church, and Manſions for the Canons, about the Year 1188, which he lived not to finiſh. Wherefore Hubert, one of his Succeſſors, ſoon after endeavoured to accompliſh the ſame; but the Monks of Canterbury, to defeat his Deſign, as they had done that of his Predeceſſor Baldwin, applied to Rome for that Purpoſe; when, after great Solicitations on both Sides, a Compoſition was brought about, on the following Terms: viz. That upon Condition it were pulled down, Hubert might erect another upon a new Foundation, and endow the ſame with an annual Revenue of one hundred Pounds, and place therein twenty Canons. Purſuant to this Agreement, the Church was pulled down, and the Foundation of a new one laid, where the preſent Church is ſituate, by Hubert, for Canons Regular, about the Year 1200.

Reader, tread ſoft, under thy Foot doth lye,
A Mother bury'd with her Progeny:
Two Females and a Male, the laſt a Sonne,
Who with his Life his Mother's Thred hath ſpun:
His Breath her Death procur'd (unhappy Sinne,
That thus our Joy with Sorrow uſhers in);
Yet he being loth to leave ſo kind a Mother,
Changes this Life to meet her in another.
The Daughters firſt were robb'd of vitall Breath;
The Mother next, in Strength of Yeeres met Death.
The Father's only Joy, a hopefull Sonne,
Did loſe his Life, when Life was ſcarce begun.
If harmleſſe Innocence, if loyal Truth,
Found in a conſtant Wife combin'd with Youth;
If a kind Huſband's Prayers, or Father's Teares,
Could have prevailed, they had lived many Yeeres.
But theſe all fayling here, rak'd up in Duſt,
They wait the Reſurrection of the Juſt.
A Huſband's Love, a Father's Piety,
Dedicates this unto their Memory:
And when he hath his Debt to Nature paid,
In the ſame Grave himſelf will then be laid;
That all together when the Trump ſhall ſound,
Huſband, Wife, Children, may in Chriſt be found.

Good Dutcheſs of Norfolk, the Lord have Mercy upon thee; which dyed at Lambeth the laſt of November . . . . . Ibid.

Farewel, good Lady, and Siſter dere,
In Erth we ſhall never mete here;
But yet I truſt, with Godis Grace,
In Heaven we ſhall deſerve a Place:
Yet thy Kindneſſe ſhall nere depart,
During my Life, out of my Heart.
Thou waſt to me both fare and nere,
A Mother, a Siſter, a Frende moſt dere:
And to all thy Frendes moſt ſure and faſt,
When Fortune had ſounded the froward Blaſt.

And to thy Powre a very Mother,
More than was known to any other.
Which is thy Treaſure at this Day,
And for thy Sowle they heartily pray.
So ſhall I do that here remayne;
God thy Sowle preſerve from Payne.
By thy moſt bounden Brother,

Lambeth, which is ſituate in the Hundred of Brixton, and County of Surrey, is a Place of great Antiquity, as appears by the Death of Hardacnut, in the Year 1041, at which Time it was denominated Lambhythe, which, according to a certain Antiquary, implies Lomehithe, that is, a dirty Station, or Haven. This ſeems to be a forc'd Conſtruction, ſeeing that no Part of the River Thames leſs deſerves the Appellation of Lomehithe, than this Place. I am therefore of Opinion, that Lambhythe may more reaſonably be conſtrued Lamb's-Haven, and ſo denominated from the Owner thereof.

Chron. Sax.

Cam. Brit. in Com. Sur.

This Place anciently belonged to the Biſhop and Convent of Rocheſter; for the firſt Building I read of here was the Collegiate Church and Apartments for the Canons, begun by Baldwin, Archbiſhop of Canterbury, about the Year 1188, which happen'd on this Occaſion:

Gerv. Dorob. Act. Pont.

Baldwin, as already mentioned, having laid the Foundation of a new College at Hackington, near Canterbury, he was (for the Peace and Eaſe of the Monk's at Chriſt's Church in that City) by the Pope's Mandate, compelled to raze the ſame.

This proved a great Mortification to Baldwin; however, tho' he was diſappointed in point of Place, he nevertheleſs perſevered in his erecting a College elſewhere: For which Purpoſe he obtained of the Biſhop and Convent of Rocheſter, a Piece of Ground at Lambeth, in Exchange for a certain Quantity in another Place.

The Archbiſhop having brought the Stones, Wood and other Materials from Hackington to this Place, began to lay the Foundation of his new College and Apartmetns for the Canons, as aforeſaid.

The firſt Part of the Archiepiſcopal Palace which was erected, is that on the North Side, which conſiſts of the Lollards Tower, Chapel, Guard Chamber, the Archbiſhop's Apartments, Library and Cloyſters: But when, or by whom the ſame was built, is unknown. However, I am of Opinion, that all, or Part thereof, muſt have been built before the Year 1250, when Boniface, Archbiſhop of Canterbury, for his Mal-treatment of the Sub-Prior and Canons of St. Bartholomew's Convent, was obliged privately to make his Eſcape to Lambeth, for fear of the enrag'd Londoners.

Mat. Par. Hiſt. Angl.

The ſtately Gate of this Palace was erected by Reginald Pole, Cardinal and Archbiſhop about the Year 1557. The ſpacious and beautiful Hall by Archbiſhop Juxon, about the Year 1662, and the handſome Brick Building between the Hall and Gate, by the Archbiſhops Sancroft and Tillotſon. The Cloyſter in this Palace I take to be the Apartments that were built by Hubert, the Archbiſhop,

In the uppermoſt Part of the Lollards Tower is a very ſtrong Room, of the Length of twelve Feet, and Breadth of nine; the Walls whereof are lined with thick Elm Planks, (wherein are fix'd eight ſtrong Iron Rings) and the Cieling covered with thoſe of Oak. This is the Place wherein it is ſaid, that Archbiſhop Chicheley, the implacable Enemy and Perſecutor of the Wickliffites, or Lollards, uſed to impriſon them; from which Priſon the Tower received its Name.

Ex. Lib. Doomſ. in Rec. Exch.

In this Pariſh is an ancient Royalty, in the Conqueror's Survey denominated Chenintune, but at preſent Kennington, where anciently ſtood a Royal Manſion, (this I take to be the Place where Hardacnut died) wherein the Kings of England uſed frequently to reſide; and whither John of Gaunt, Duke of Lancaſter, in the Year 1377, fled to Richard, Prince of Wales, to avoid the Fury of the Londoners, who threatened his Life for an Inſult offered their Biſhop.

Stow An. Engl.

A little Northward from this Palace, ran Cnut's Trench, or Canal, which had its Influx to the River Thames, at the lower End of Chelſea Reach, and through which, as ſome pretend, he carried his Navy to the Weſt Side of London-Bridge, to attack the City by Water on that Side.

The Remarkables at preſent are, the Church, the Archiepiſcopal Palace, two Charity Schools, two Alms-houſes, a Work-houſe for the Reception of the Poor, three Glaſs-houſes, two Potteries, Vaux-hall Gardens, with beautiful Walks and ſhady Groves for Recreation; a Well of Mineral Water, and ſix Sets of Steps or Stairs to go upon and return from off the River Thames.

On Lambeth Wall is a Spot of Ground, containing an Acre and nineteen Poles, denominated Pedlar's Acre, which has belonged to the Pariſh Time immemorial; it is ſaid to have been given by a Pedlar, upon Condition that his Portrait, and that of his Dog, be perpetually preſerved in painted Glaſs in one of the Windows of the Church, which the Pariſhioners carefully perform in the South-eaſt Window of the middle Iſle. And at the Corner of Kennington-lane, oppoſite Vauxhall-bridge, is one of the Bulwarks, which was erected by Order of Parliament in the Year 1643, for the Security of thoſe Parts from being ſurpriz'd by the King's Troops.

The Name of this Manor, or Diſtrict, being a Saxon Compound, and the laſt Syllable thereof ſeeming to imply an Iſland, it might anciently have been ſuch a Place belonging to one Bermond, which the Situation thereof gives room for ſuch a Conjecture. Be that as it will, the Village of Bermondſey, in the Conqueror's Survey, appears to have been a Royal Manor, wherein were twenty-five Villains, or ſervile Huſbandmen; and twenty-three Bordmanni, or Cottagers.

This Priory being an Alien and a Cell to one in France, it was amongſt other foreign Foundations, ſequeſter'd by Edward the Third, Anno 1371, who conſtituted Richard Denton, an Engliſhman, Prior thereof; in Conſideration of which, and the Sum of two hundred Marks, Richard the Second demiſed the ſame, Anno 1380; and in the Year 1399, the Priory being converted into an Abbey, Pope Boniface appointed John Attelborough the firſt Abbot thereof.

At the general Suppreſſion of Monaſteries, this Houſe was ſurrendered to Henry the Eighth, Anno 1539, when the Revenues thereof were found to amount to the Sum of 474 l. 14 s. 4½ d. per Ann. whereupon the Abbey and Site thereof being granted to Sir Thomas (John) Pope, he demoliſhed the ſame; and in Place thereof erected a ſtately Edifice, which ſome time after came to the Earls of Suſſex.

Doomſd. Book. Rec. Excheq.

In the Conqueror's Survey mention is made of a Monaſtery, Watercourſe and Haven in Southwark, belonging to the Biſhop of Bayonne in France; but as Southwark, by the irregular Diſpoſition of Places in the ſaid Survey, is placed both in the Hundreds of Kingſton and Brixton, I cannot aſcertain whether the ſaid Monaſtery, &c. were in the Manor of Southwark, or that of Bermondſey; though I am the moſt inclined to the latter, becauſe the Priory of St. Saviour appears to have been then in being, whereas that of St. Mary Overie does not by any ſufficient Authority. Beſide, for divers Ages there appears to have been a Watercourſe (at preſent denominated the Neckinger) and a Haven (now commonly called Savory's Dock) to have belong'd to the latter; whereas we have not the leaſt Account, or Veſtigia, of any ſuch Places ever having belonged to the former.

Grant Hen. VIII.

Upon the Diſſolution of the Abbey of St. Saviour, Henry the Eighth, in Conſideration of the Sum of one thouſand and Eighteen Pounds ſix Shillings and four Pence, granted the ſaid Convent, together with all the Lands, Fiſheries, Mill and Dock, (at preſent corruptly denominated Savory's Mill and Dock, inſtead of the rightful Appellation of St. Saviour, from whoſe Monaſtery they received their Names) and other Appurtenances, to John Pope and Anthony Foſter, to be held in Soccage and Fealty.

Ibid.

This Mill of St. Saviour (which is converted into a Water Machine, for raiſing Water to ſupply the Neighbourhood) on the 31ſt of June, Anno 1536, was, by the Abbot and Monks, demiſed to John Curlew, at the annual Rent of ſix Pounds, (the Value of eighteen Quarters of good Wheat) and to grind all the Corn for the Uſe of the Convent, which Curlew was both to fetch and carry home. The annual Charge of the whole was computed at two Pounds three Shillings and eight Pence, which made the yearly Rent of the ſaid Mill amount to eight Pounds three Shillings and eight Pence.

The Remarkables at preſent are, the Pariſh Church, an Independent and two Anabaptiſt Meeting-houſes, three Charity Schools, a Workhouſe for the Reception of the Poor, an ancient Watercourſe called the Neckinger (which was formerly navigable from the River Thames to the Abby of this Place), a Water Machine, and a large Haven, denominated St. Saviour's Mill and Dock, and two Sets of Steps or Stairs to take Water at.

St. Mary's, Newington.

When, or by whom this Church was at firſt erected, I cannot learn: However, it is a Rectory, ſituate on the North-weſt Side of Newington Butts; and is a Peculiar of the Archbiſhop of Canterbury's, in the Gift of the Biſhop of Winchеſter; and owes its Name to its Dedication to the Virgin Mary.

Rotherhithe, which is ſituate on the South Bank of the River Thames, in the Hundred of Brixton, and County of Surrey, appears, as already mentioned, to be of great Antiquity. On the Eaſt Side of this Pariſh, where the great Wet-dock is ſituate, was the Out-flux of Cnut's Trench, or Canal, ſo often above-mentioned.

Things obſervable at preſent are, the Pariſh Church, a Preſbyterian Meeting-houſe, a Charity-ſchool, a Workhouſe for the Reception of the Poor, three Docks for Ship-building, a Corn-mill belonging to the King, which is wrought by the Thames Water; a Copperas Work, and eleven Sets of Steps of Stairs to go upon and return from off the River Thames.

St. Olave's.

Though the Time of the firſt Erection of this Church cannot be diſcovered, yet it appears to be of a conſiderable Standing, by a Grant of John, Earl Warren, in the Year 1281, to the Abbot and Convent of St. Auguſtine in Canterbury, of certain Meſſuages, ſituate between this Church and the Bridge-Yard. However, it is a Rectory which ſtands on the North Side of Tooly, alias St. Olave's-ſtreet, in the Gift of the Crown. Stow. Sur. Lond.

Part of this Church having fallen down in the Year 1736, and the reſt in a ruinous Condition, the Pariſhioners applied to Parliament for a Power to rebuild the ſame; which being granted, they were thereby enabled to raiſe the Sum of five thouſand Pounds, by a Rate of ſix Pence in the Pound, to be levied out of the Rents of all Lands and Tenements within the Pariſh; of which the ſeveral Landlords were to pay four, and the Tenants two Pence. Purſuant to which, the Church was taken down in Summer Anno 1737, and the Work proſecuted with ſo great Aſſiduity, that the ſame was finiſhed in the Year 1739. Act. Parl. 10 Geor. II.

The Profits of this Rectory are ſaid to amount to about four hundred Pounds per Annum.

Stow. Sur. Lond.

On the Eaſt Side of the Bridge-yard, was ſituate the Abbot of Battle in Suſſex's City Manſion (the Name whereof is partly preſerved in that of Battle-Bridge); oppoſite to which, on the South, lay its fine and ſpacious Garden, wherein was a Ibid.

Maze, or Labyrinth, the Name whereof is ſtill preſerved in the Streets, &c. thereon erected.

The Remarkables at preſent, are, the beautiful new Pariſh Church, an Independent Meeting-houſe, two Charity-ſchools, an Almshouſe, a Work-houſe for the Reception of the Poor; the Bridge Houſe and Yard, wherein are prepared all Materials for the Repair of London-bridge, and which probably have belonged to the ſame ever ſince the Erection of the Stone, if not the original Wooden Bridge. Here are many Wharfs for the ſhipping and landing of Merchandize; and two Pair of Stairs, or Steps, for the Convenience of Paſſengers to go upon and return from off the River Thames.

St. Saviour's.

Stow. Sur. Lond. In the Place where this Church is ſituate, anciently (according to Tradition) ſtood a Priory of Nuns, which was founded by one Mary, a Virgin, the Owner of a Ferry in this Neighbourhood, (before the Erection of London-bridge) wherewith ſhe endowed her new Convent; which Houſe, it ſeems, was ſome Time after converted into a College of Prieſts, by the Lady Swithin: But that Eſtabliſhment, like the former, proving of no long Duration, it was in the Year 1106, refounded by Sir William Pont de l'Arch and Sir William Dancy, two Norman Knights, with the Aſſiſtance of William Giffard, Biſhop of Wincheſter, for Canons Regular. And from its Dedication to the Virgin Mary, and Southern Situation to the City of London, it received the Appellation of St. Mary Overie, that is, St. Mary's beyond the River.

The former Part of this Relation being only a Tradition of Bartholomew Linſted's, the laſt Prior of this Convent, it is not to be depended upon, eſpecially if we conſider, that the ſame is not mentioned by any of our Hiſtorians, that I can learn. I therefore imagine, that the Origin thereof is owing to the ſaid Knights and Biſhop in the aforeſaid Year.

Ibid. This Priory was deſtroyed by Fire, about the Year 1207, but it being ſoon after re-edified, Peter de Rupibus, Biſhop of Wincheſter, added thereunto a ſpacious Chapel, and dedicated the ſame to St. Mary Magdalen; which being afterwards appointed for the Uſe of the neighbouring Inhabitants, it at laſt became their Pariſh Church.

Ibid. This Monaſtery, together with its fine Church, (as it at preſent appears) which was rebuilt in the Reigns of Richard the Second and Henry the Fourth, was, at the general Suppreſſion of religious Houſes, ſurrendered to Henry the Eighth, Anno 1539, when the Revenues thereof amounted to 624 l. 6 s. 6 d. per Annum. Whereupon the Inhabitants of the Pariſhes of St. Mary Magdalen and St. Margaret, by the Aſſiſtance of Stephen, Biſhop of Wincheſter, purchaſed of King Henry the ſtately Conventual Church; which Pariſhes in the Year following were united by Act of Parliament, by the new Appellation of St. Saviour's, and the Church-wardens thereof conſtituted a Body Politick and Corporate. And the Churches of St. Mary Magdalen and St. Margaret being laid aſide, this has ever ſince been uſed as the united Pariſh Church.

Ibid. In the Year 1611, King James the Firſt, for a valuable Conſideration, granted by Letters Patent to the Church-wardens and Pariſhioners, in Free-Soccage, the Rectory and Pariſh Church of St. Saviour, together with all the Glebe-lands, Tythes, Tenths, Oblations, Profits, &c. with all thoſe that belonged to the Rectories of St. Mary Magdalen and St. Margaret: In Conſideration of which, the ſaid Church-wardens and Pariſhioners are obliged to provide a fit Houſe, for a Grammar-ſchool, and to keep a good Maſter to teach the Children of the Pariſh, paying to the ſaid Maſter twenty Pounds, and to an Uſher ten Pounds per Annum; and alſo, to provide two able Chaplains to preach in the Church, and to pay them thirty Pounds per Annum each. Theſe Conditions were performed till the Year 1672, when the ſaid Sums were found inſufficient to maintain the ſeveral Officers aforeſaid; wherefore their reſpective Stipends were by Act of Parliament advanced, thoſe of the Chaplains to one hundred Pounds per Annum each; and thoſe of the Schoolmaſters to thirty Pounds each. For the paying of which Sums, and the Repairs of the Church, the Church-wardens, &c. were impowered to raiſe upon the Inhabitants, in lieu of Tythes, the Sum of three hundred and fifty Pounds per Annum, clear of Reprizes.

Though the Name of this Church has by Act of Parliament been changed, from St. Mary Overie, to that of St. Saviour, yet the former ſtill prevails. It is a Rectory, ſituate in a Cloſe, on the Weſt Side of the Borough, the Advowſon whereof is in the Gift of the Pariſh.

The Profits ariſing to the Chaplains by this Cure, are ſaid to amount to above three hundred Pounds per Annum.

Here lies buried the Body of John Buckland, Glover, 1625, who deceased the 16th of August. Not twice ten Years of Age, a weary Breath Have I exchanged for a happy Death; My Course so short, the longer is my Rest; God takes them soonest, whom he loveth best. For he that's born to-day, and dies to morrow, Loseth some Dayes of Rest, but more of Sorrow. Mund. Ed. Stow. Sur.

New View Lond. This Monument is dedicated the Memory of John Bingham, Esq; Sadler to Queen Elizabeth and King James; who was a good Benefactor to this Parish and Free-school. He departed this Life in September 1625, in the 75th Year of his Age; and his Body lies buried in the Vault before this Monument, where it expects the Resurrection of the Just.

Officers, &c. in this Parish.

The Vestry is select, consisting of thirty Members; six Church-wardens, eight Overseers of the Poor, nine Constables, three Headboroughs, nine Scavengers, who pay the Raker, for cleansing the Streets, and carrying away the Ashes, the Sum of two hundred and twenty Pounds per Annum; two Beadles, twenty-three Watchmen, two thousand five hundred and fifty-four Houses.

Antiquities, &c. in this Parish.

The Church of this Parish, according to the Tradition of Bartholomew Linsted, as already mentioned, was at first erected by one Mary, a Maiden, the Proprietor of the Ferry in this Neighbourhood; which Ferry was anciently the Trajectus of the Roman Military Way, denominated Watling-street, which ran on the West Side of Winchester-house, and intersected the River Thames to Dowgate.

At the North End of St. Margaret's-hill, where at present is situate the Town or Court House, anciently stood the Parish Church of St. Margaret, which (gave Denomination to the present Street or Hill) was demolished upon the uniting its Parish to that of St. Mary Magdalen, when both were converted into a new one of St. Saviour, and the Priory Church of St. Mary Overie constituted the united Parish Church thereof. Stow. Sur. Lond.

Opposite St. Saviour's Church on the West, fronting the River Thames, was situate Winchester-house; which was at first erected by William Giffard, Bishop of that See, about the Year 1107, for his City Mansion and that of his Successors: But this House (which undoubtedly was one of the most magnificent of its Kind, in the City, or Suburbs of London) having been long disused by the said Bishops, it is now converted into Warehouses, and Apartments for the Poor. Ibid.

Adjoining to Winchester-house, on the South, was situate that belonging to the Bishop of Rochester, but when, or by whom erected, is unknown. Ibid.

A little Westward from these Houses is situate the Bankside, so denominated from its Situation on the Southern Bank of the River Thames; which Place was anciently very notorious for its being the Seat of the Stews, or licenced Bawdy-houses, wherein Whores were publickly tolerated to act according to their vicious and depraved Inclinations. Ibid.

The first Mention I find of these Houses is in the Reign of Henry the Second, Anno 1162, when they were eighteen in Number, under the Ibid.

Jurisdicton of the Bishop of Winchester, wherefore they were commonly called Winchester Geese; for whose Regulation certain Constitutions were published by the said Bishop, which were confirmed by Parliament; among which were the following, viz. Beck. Let. Roy. Soci.

That no Stewholder shall molest, or obstruct any single Woman from having Access to, and Liberty to withdraw from his House at Pleasure. Stow. Sur. Lond.

That no Stewkeeper permit any Woman to board in his House.

To take no more for a Woman's Apartment, than fourteen Pence per Week.

Not to keep open his Doors on Holidays.

Not to permit any single Woman to continue in his House on Holidays.

Not to detain any single Woman, that is willing to reform.

Not to receive any Woman that's devoted to Religion, nor any Man's Wife.

No Woman to take Money for lying with a Man, unless it be for a whole Night.

No Man to be artfully deluded into a Stew.

That the several Stews be searched weekly, by the Bailiff, Constables, &c.

That no Stewholder entertain any Woman that has the perilous Infirmity of Burning, (the Venereal Distemper) nor to sell Bread, Flesh, Ale, nor any other Sort of Provisions.

These and divers other Orders were to be observed by the said Stewholders, upon very severe Penalties. And for securing all Persons that were accused of Crimes committed in this District, a Prison was erected, denominated the Clink; which is still in being. Ibid.

These Stews, or Bawdy-houses, in the Year 1381, were plundered by Wat. Tyler; at which Time it appears they were kept by Flemish Bawds. And in the Year 1506, they were, by Order of Henry the Seventh, shut up; but being re-opened soon after, their Number was reduced from eighteen to twelve: But in the Year 1546, they were by Proclamation of Henry the Eighth intirely suppress'd. Ibid.

Things worthy of Observation at present, are, the stately and spacious Parish Church, an Independent, Anabaptist, and a Quaker Meeting-houses, four Charity-schools, four Alms-houses, the Town-house, a Market, two Machines for raising Water to supply the neighbouring Inhabitants; an Iron Foundery, six Sets of Steps, or Stairs, for Passengers to go upon, and return from off the River Thames; and a Workhouse for the Reception of the Poor.

St. Thomas's.

This Church, as already mentioned, was at first erected for the Use of the adjoining Hospital, from which it is denominated; but the Numbers of Houses and Inhabitants having greatly increased in the Precinct of the said Hospital, it was judged necessary to make the said Church parochial, for the Use of the said Inhahbitants, and to erect a Chapel in the Hospital, for the Use of the Patients.

This Church, which is situate on the North Side of St. Thomas's-street, contiguous to the Hospital, is neither a Rectory, Vicarage, nor Donative, but a Sort of Impropriation in the Gift of the said Hospital.

The END of the SECOND VOLUME.

AN APPENDIX.

29 Geo. II. *An Abſtract of an Act * to improve, widen, and enlarge the Paſſage over and through* London-Bridge.

IN this Act, the Petitioners having ſet forth, That the Paſſage over and through London-Bridge is very dangerous and incommodious, and that it is abſolutely neceſſary immediately to widen and enlarge the ſame, and that the widening and enlarging the ſaid Bridge, and one or more of the Arches thereof, will be of publick Utility, of great Benefit to Trade and Commerce, make the Navigation upon the River Thames more ſafe and ſecure, and greatly tend to the Preſervation of the Lives of his Majeſty's Subjects paſſing over and through the ſaid Bridge; It is enacted by the King's moſt excellent Majeſty, by and with the Advice and Conſent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, That the Mayor, Aldermen, and Commons of the City of London, in Common Council aſſembled, ſhall with all convenient Speed after the twenty-fourth Day of June, One thouſand ſeven hundred and fifty-ſix, contract and agree for the purchaſing (if they can) of all Houſes, Tenements, Edifices, Erections, and Buildings, now ſtanding or being on the ſaid Bridge, or contiguous or adjoining thereto, (which do not belong to the Mayor and Commonalty and Citizens of London) which the ſaid Mayor, Aldermen, and Commons, in Common Council aſſembled, ſhall judge neceſſary to be taken down and removed, for the Enlargement and Improvement of the Paſſage over, and the Avenues leading to and from the ſaid Bridge; and are hereby authorized and required with all convenient Speed afterwards to cauſe to be taken down all ſuch Houſes, &c. as they ſhall deem neceſſary and proper to be taken down, for the Purpoſes aforeſaid; and alſo to cauſe the Materials thereof to be removed and taken away; and likewiſe to widen or enlarge one or more of the Arches of the ſaid Bridge, as the ſaid Mayor, Aldermen, and Commons, in Common Council aſſembled, ſhall from Time to Time judge neceſſary and direct.

And it is further enacted, That the ſaid Mayor, Aldermen, and Commons, in Common Council aſſembled, ſhall alſo, from Time to Time, deſign, aſſign, and lay out how and in what Manner, and with what Materials, the Paſſage over and through the ſaid Bridge ſhall be widened, enlarged, and rendered more ſafe and commodious, and how the ſame, and the ſaid Bridge, may, and ſhall, from Time to Time, be preſerved and kept in good Repair and Order.

And that the Paſſage over the ſaid Bridge ſhall be ſecured and preſerved by a proper and uniform Balluſtrade, to be erected on each Side thereof, and that the ſaid Paſſage ſhall be Forty-five Feet wide; that is to ſay, The Paſſage for Carriages, Horſes, and other Cattle, ſhall be Thirty-one Feet wide; and the Footways for Paſſengers on each Side of the ſaid Bridge, ſhall be Seven Feet wide.

And that ſuch convenient and ſufficient Number of Glaſs Lamps, of ſuch Sort and Faſhion, and put up in ſuch Parts and Places of the ſaid Bridge, as to the ſaid Mayor, Aldermen, and Commons of the ſaid City, in Common Council aſſembled, ſhall ſeem meet and expedient, ſhall be erected and fixed upon proper Parts and Places of the ſaid Bridge; and be kept lighted and burning from Sun-ſetting to Sun-riſing throughout the Year; and that from Time Time, after any Houſes on the ſaid Bridge ſhall be taken down in purſuance of this Act, they ſhall nominate and appoint ſuch a Number of able-bodied Watchmen as they ſhall judge neceſſary and proper to be kept upon the ſaid Bridge, which Watchmen to be removeable at Pleaſure; and that the Expence of buying and erecting of ſuch Lamps or Lights, and alſo the yearly Charges of ſupplying, maintaining, and repairing the ſame, and the Charges and Expences of watching the ſaid Bridge, ſhall be borne and paid out of the Eſtate and Revenues belonging to the ſaid Bridge; that the Penalty of breaking, &c. any of the Lamps, ſhall be the ſame as inflicted by Act 17 Geo. II.

And that if any Perſon or Perſons ſhall unlawfully, wilfully, and maliciouſly blow up, pull down, or deſtroy the ſaid Bridge, or any Part thereof, or remove, deſtroy, or take away any Works which now do or ſhall belong thereto, or in any wiſe direct or procure the ſame to be done, whereby the ſaid Bridge or the Works thereof ſhall be damaged, or the Lives of Paſſengers endangered, every ſuch Offender or Offenders, being lawfully convicted thereof, ſhall be adjudged guilty of Felony, and ſhall ſuffer as a Felon.

And it is enacted, That all Materials appertaining to the ſeveral Houſes, that ſhall be taken down by virtue of this Act, ſhall be veſted in the Mayor and Commonalty, and Citizens of the ſaid City of London, to be employed towards Reparation of the other Eſtates belonging to the ſaid Bridge-houſe, or elſe to be ſold and diſpoſed of for as much Money as can be had or gotten for the ſame, to be applied to and for the Purpoſes of this Act.

And it is enacted, That Bodies Politick, &c. Truſtees, and other Perſons may ſell and convey their Property in any of the ſaid Buildings for the Purpoſes of this Act: And that where any Perſons ſhall refuſe to treat and agree, or are prevented from treating, &c. or ſhall not make out a Title to the Premiſſes, the Court of Lord-Mayor and Aldermen is to iſſue a Precept for the ſummoning and returning a Jury, who are to be drawn as Act 3 Geo. II. directs. And that the Court may ſummon and examine Witneſſes on Oath, and direct the Jury to view the Place in Queſtion, &c. And that the ſaid Jury ſhall aſſeſs the Value on Oath. And the ſaid Court of Mayor, and Aldermen, or Juſtices, ſhall and may reſpectively give Judgment for ſuch Sum and Sums of Money to be aſſeſſed; which ſaid Verdict or Verdicts, and the ſaid Judgment, Decree, and Determination thereon (Notice in Writing being given to the Perſon or Perſons intereſted, tereſted, at leaſt Fourteen Days before the Time of ſuch Aſſeſſment, declaring the Time and Place of the Meeting of the ſaid Court of Mayor and Aldermen, or Juſtices as aforeſaid, and Jury, by leaving ſuch Notice at the Dwelling-houſe of ſuch Perſon or Perſons, or at his, her, or their uſual Place or Places of Abode, or with ſome Tenant or Occupier of ſome of the ſaid Houſes, Ground, Tenements, Edifices, Erections, or Buildings, intended to be valued and aſſeſſed, in caſe ſuch Party cannot otherwiſe be found out, to be ſerved with ſuch Notice) ſhall be binding and concluſive to all Intents and Purpoſes whatſoever; and that the Verdict of the Jury, and Judgment and Proceedings of the Court, ſhall be ſigned and ſealed by the Mayor, and recorded; and the ſame, or ſome Copy thereof, ſhall be deemed and taken to be good and effectual Evidence and Proof in any Court or Courts of Law or Equity whatſoever, and all Perſons may have Recourſe to the ſame gratis, and take Copies thereof, paying for every Copy, not exceeding Two Hundred Words, ſix Pence; and ſo proportionably for any greater or leſſer Number of Words.

And it is further enacted, and declared, That upon Payment of the Purchaſe Money, Conveyance ſhall be executed of the Premiſſes, in Truſt for the Uſe of the City. And where a good Title can't be made out, or legal Conveyance executed, &c. or the Parties are not to be found, &c. or Mortgagee ſhall refuſe to take his Mortgage Money, the Court may pay the Money into the Bank; and the Caſhier or Caſhiers of the Bank of England, who ſhall receive ſuch Sum and Sums, is and are hereby required to give a Receipt or Receipts for ſuch Sum or Sums, which Receipt or Receipts ſhall be entered on Record, and regiſtered; and immediately on ſuch Payment and Regiſtry, all the Eſtate, Right, Title, Intereſt, Uſe, Truſt, Property, Claim, and Demand in Law and Equity, of the Perſon or Perſons for whoſe Uſe the ſame was paid, in, to, and out of ſuch Houſes, Ground, &c. ſhall veſt in the ſaid Mayor and Commonalty, and Citizens, in Bar of all Right and Dower.

And it is further enacted, That after Purchaſe made, Tenants ſhall deliver up quiet Poſſeſſion of the Tenements, within a Year after Notice given for that Purpoſe. And on Refuſal that the Court ſhall Iſſue a Precept to the Sheriff to take Poſſeſſion, and levy ſuch Coſts as ſhall accrue by Means of the iſſuing and Execution of every ſuch Precept or Precepts, by Diſtreſs and Sale of the Goods and Chattels of any Perſon or Perſons, who ſhall neglect or refuſe to pay the ſame.

And it is further enacted, That it ſhall and may be lawful for the ſaid Court of Mayor, and Aldermen, or Juſtices, to impoſe any reaſonable Fine, not exceeding the Sum of Ten Pounds, on any Sheriff or Sheriffs, or their Deputy or Deputies, Bailiffs or Agents reſpectively, who ſhall make any Default in the Premiſſes, and on any Perſons who ſhall be ſummoned and returned on any ſuch Jury or Juries, who ſhall not appear, and alſo on any Witneſs or Witneſſes who ſhall not attend, or who ſhall attend and refuſe to be ſworn, or who being ſworn ſhall refuſe to give Evidence, and on any Perſons ſummoned and returned on ſuch Jury or Juries, who ſhall refuſe to be ſworn on any ſuch Jury or Juries, or being ſworn thereon ſhall not give his or their Verdict, or ſhall in any other Manner wilfully neglect his or their Duty, in or touching the Premiſſes, contrary to the true Intent and Meaning of this Act, and from Time to Time to levy ſuch Fine or Fines, by Order of the ſaid Court of Mayor and Aldermen, or Juſtices as aforeſaid, as the Caſe may require, by Diſtreſs and Sale of the Offender's Goods, together with the reaſonable Charges of every ſuch Diſtreſs and Sale, returning the Overplus, if any, to the Owner, and that all ſuch Fines, which ſhall be ſo recovered and received, ſhall be applied towards the Purpoſes of this Act.

And it is further enacted, That the principal Money ariſing from the Sale of any Houſes, &c. purchaſed for the Purpoſes contained in this Act, ſhall be paid to ſuch Perſons as they ſhall reſpectively nominate to receive the ſame, in Truſt, ſubject to the like Uſes.

And, to the Intent the Paſſage over the ſaid Bridge may always be kept open and rendered more ſafe and commodious, and be clear of all Buildings (except as herein is mentioned) it is further enacted, That after the Houſes and Tenements intended as aforeſaid to be taken down, ſhall be taken down, the Ground and Soil on which the ſame now ſtand, ſhall lie open, and be deemed and uſed as a Common and Publick Highway for ever; and that no Houſe or other Building ſhall be erected on the ſaid Bridge (except ſuch Gates and Toll-houſes as are herein provided and directed) and that all Carriages paſſing over the ſaid Bridge from London ſhall go on the Eaſt Side thereof as near as may be, and that all Carriages paſſing over the ſaid Bridge to London ſhall go on the Weſt Side thereof as near as may be; and that no Coachman or Driver ſhall ſtand or ply for Hire with any Coach or other Carriage whatſoever upon the ſaid Bridge, or leave any empty Coach or Carriage there; and that no Carman, Carter, Drayman, or Driver of any Carriage whatſoever, ſhall wilfully remain with any Cart, Carr, Dray, Waggon, or other Carriage whatſoever on the ſaid Bridge, longer than ſhall be neceſſary for going over the ſame, or leave any empty Cart, Dray, or other Carriage upon the ſaid Bridge; and that no Perſon ſhall put any Filth, Dung, Aſhes, or Rubbiſh on the ſaid Bridge, or do any Act which may be an Annoyance there; and every ſuch Offender being of any of the ſaid Offences convicted, by the Oath of one or more credible Witneſs or Witneſſes, or by his or her Confeſſion, ſhall, for every ſuch Offence, forfeit and pay a Sum not exceeding Twenty Shillings, nor leſs than Two Shillings and ſix Pence; to go and be applied between the Parties informing againſt and apprehending every ſuch Offender, and on Default of immediate Payment thereof, the Offender ſhall be committed to the London Workhouſe, and if in the County of Surry, to a Houſe of Correction, to be kept to hard Labour for any Time not exceeding Three Days, or until the Money ſhall be paid.

And it is enacted, That after pulling down the Houſes on the Bridge, the Tythes and cuſtomary Payments due from thence, ſhall be charged on the Bridge-houſe Lands; and paid Half yearly, free of all Taxes and Deductions, viz. 7 l. 15 s. 1 d. to be paid yearly to the Rector of St. Magnus and St. Margaret, in lieu of Surplice Fees, and Eaſter Offerings, and 4 l. 11 s. 4 d. to the Rector of St. Olave; and that the City ſhall make good out of the Bridge Eſtate the Deficiency in the Poor Rates, and Land Tax, occaſioned by pulling down the ſaid Houſes, and alſo the Rates chargeable thereon, to the Pariſh of St. Olave.

Provided always, That nothing in this preſent Act contained ſhall extend, or be conſtrued, deemed, or taken to extend, to impower the ſaid Mayor, Aldermen, and Commons of the ſaid City, to remove or alter any of the Arches under the ſaid Bridge, or any Engines fixed up therein, which now belong to the Proprietors of the London-Bridge Water-works, or to take away away any Right, which the ſaid Proprietors of the ſaid London-Bridge Water-works now have to the Uſe or Enjoyment of any of the Arches of the ſaid Bridge, by Grant or Leaſe from the ſaid Mayor and Commonalty, and Citizens of London, for raiſing Water therefrom.

And that if it ſhall be found neceſſary to take down or alter any of the Piers of the ſaid Bridge, in order to enlarge any of the Arches thereof, and thereby the raiſing of Water by the ſaid Works ſhall be prejudiced; that then, and in every ſuch Caſe, the ſaid Mayor, Aldermen, and Commons of the ſaid City, in Common Council aſſembled, ſhall, and they are hereby required, on Complaint and Proof of ſuch Damage, to ſtop or pen up, or cauſe to be ſtopped or pent up, a like Body of Water as ſhall be diſcharged by the taking down or altering any of the ſaid Piers, for the Uſe of the Proprietors of the ſaid Water-works.

And it is enacted, That from and after the ſaid Twenty-fourth Day of June, there ſhall be paid for Pontage, or in the Nature of a Toll, for paſſing over the ſaid Bridge, over and above the Toll now paid and payable for loaded Waggons, Carts, Drays, and Carriages, paſſing over the ſaid Bridge, the following Sums of Money (that is to ſay)

For every Horſe drawing any Coach, Chariot, Hearſe, Berlin, Landau, Calaſh, Chaiſe, or Chair, over the ſaid Bridge, the Sum of One Halfpenny.

And for every ſuch Coach, Chariot, Hearſe, Berlin, Landau, Calaſh, Chaiſe, or Chair, One Penny.

And for every Horſe not drawing, paſſing over the ſaid Bridge, One Halfpenny.

Provided always, That no Hackney Coach which ſhall paſs over the ſaid Bridge empty, or the Horſes drawing the ſame, ſhall pay any Toll whatſoever; nor ſhall any Horſe, or any Coach or Carriage whatſoever, pay more than once a Day for paſſing over the ſaid Bridge: Which ſaid reſpective Sums of Money, are hereby veſted in the ſaid City of London. And the ſaid Toll may be levied by Diſtreſs of any Horſe or Horſes, or Carriage, upon which ſuch Toll or Duty is by this Act impoſed, or upon any other of the Goods and Chattels of ſuch Perſon or Perſons as ought to pay the ſame; and all ſuch Horſes or Goods may be detained till ſuch Toll or Duty, with the reaſonable Charges of ſuch Diſtreſs, ſhall be paid; and it ſhall be lawful for the Perſon or Perſons ſo diſtraining, after the Space of Four Days after ſuch Diſtreſs made and taken, to ſell ſuch Horſe or Horſes, or other Goods or Chattels, ſo diſtrained, for Payment of the ſaid Toll or Duty, rendring to the Owner or Owners thereof the Overplus, upon Demand, after Satisfaction of the ſaid Toll or Duty, and the reaſonable Charges in or about making ſuch Diſtreſs, detaining, keeping, and ſelling the ſame, ſhall be deducted and paid.

And it is further enacted, That from and after the Twenty-fourth Day of June, One thouſand ſeven hundred and fifty-ſix, there ſhall be paid to the Receiver or Receivers, Collector or Collectors, who ſhall be appointed by the ſaid Mayor, Aldermen, and Commons, in Common Council aſſembled, by the Owner or Owners of every Hoy, Barge, Veſſel, Lighter, or other Craft, having any Goods on board, every Time any ſuch Hoy, Barge, Veſſel, Lighter, or other Craft, ſhall paſs through any of the Arches of the ſaid Bridge, the ſeveral Tolls or Sums of Money following; that is to ſay,

For every Hoy, Barge, Veſſel, Lighter, or other Craft, having any Goods on board, not exceeding five Tons Burthen, the Sum of two Pence.

For every ſuch Hoy, Barge, Veſſel, Lighter, or other Craft, not exceeding Ten Tons, the Sum of Three Pence.

For every ſuch Hoy, Barge, Veſſel, Lighter, or other Craft not exceeding Twenty-five Tons, Six Pence.

And for every ſuch Hoy, Barge, Veſſel, Lighter or other Craft, above the Burthen of Twenty-five Tons, One Shilling.

Save and except out of ſuch Tolls, all ſuch Crafts as ſhall be loaded only with Straw, Manure, Dung, Compoſt, or Lime, to be uſed for Tillage.

All which Tolls or Sums of Money ſhall be paid within the Space of three Months, under the Penalty of five Pounds, to be levied from Time to Time, by Diſtreſs and Sale of the Goods and Chattels, together with the reaſonable Charges of every ſuch Diſtreſs and Sale.

Provided always, That it may be lawful to compound or agree by the Year, or otherwiſe, with the Owner or Owners of any Craft, having Goods on board, to paſs through the Arches of the ſaid Bridge, for ſuch Sum of Money, and to be paid in ſuch Manner as the ſaid Mayor, Aldermen, and Commons, in Common Council aſſembled, ſhall think fit and reaſonable.

And it is enacted, That the Owner's Name and Tonnage be painted on ſome conſpicuous Parts of the Veſſel, on Penalty of 20*s.* beſides the Tolls; to be paid on Conviction to the Informer, and may be levied by Diſtreſs and Sale.

And it is enacted, That the Tolls and Duties payable by this Act, ſhall not be rated or taxed for or towards the Land Tax, Church, Poor or any other Rates or Taxes, Ward or Parochial, or for or towards the Repairs of any Highways.

Provided, That all and every the Powers and Authorities in and by this Act given and granted to the Mayor, Aldermen, and Commons, of the ſaid City of London, in Common Council aſſembled, ſhall and may at all Times hereafter be exerciſed and performed, as fully and effectually to all Intents and Purpoſes whatſoever, by any Committee who ſhall be appointed from Time to Time, by the ſaid Mayor, Aldermen, and Commons, of the ſaid City of London, in Common Council aſſembled, for putting in Execution this Act, or performing any Matters hereby directed to be done, according to the Authorities which from Time to Time, by the ſaid Mayor, Aldermen, and Commons of the ſaid City of London, in Common Council aſſembled, ſhall be delegated or given to ſuch Committee; and that all and every Acts, Matters, and Things, which at any Times hereafter ſhall be done or tranſacted by any ſuch Committee, who ſhall be appointed as aforeſaid, ſhall be as valid and effectual, to all Intents and Purpoſes whatſoever, as if the ſame were or had been done, tranſacted, or performed by the ſaid Mayor, Aldermen, and Commons of the ſaid City of London, in Common Council aſſembled; any thing in this Act before contained to the contrary thereof in any wiſe notwithſtanding.

And it is enacted, That an Order of Juſtice, &c. ſhall not be liable to be quaſhed for want of Form, nor removed by Certiorari. That Perſons aggrieved may appeal to the General or Quarter Seſſions, and the Court may award Coſts.

And it is enacted, That the ſeveral Tolls and Duties hereby appointed to be raiſed and levied for the Purpoſes aforeſaid, ſhall have Continuance and be received, had, raiſed, collected, and taken, until ſuch Time as the Money which ſhall be borrowed by virtue of this Act, and the Intereſt thereof, ſhall be fully ſatisfied and paid.

An

An Abſtract of an Act for building a Bridge croſs the River of Thames, from Black-Friars in the City of London, to the oppoſite Side in the County of Surry.

IN this Act, the Petitioners having ſet forth, That it will be advantageous, not only to the City of London, but to many others of his Majeſty's Subjects, and to the Publick in general, That a Bridge be built croſs the River Thames, from Black-Friars in the ſaid City, to the oppoſite Side in the County of Surry; It is enacted, That the Mayor, Aldermen and Commons of the City of London, in Common-Council aſſembled, ſhall have Power and Authority, and are authorized and empowered to deſign, direct, order and build a Bridge croſs the River Thames as aforeſaid, and to maintain, preſerve and ſupport the ſame when built, and for that Purpoſe to appoint a Committee from Time to Time to manage and tranſact ſuch Matters as they may find neceſſary; which Committee ſo to be appointed ſhall have ſuch Powers and Authorities as ſhall from Time to Time be delegated or given to them by the ſaid Mayor, Aldermen and Commons, in Common Council aſſembled, or ſuch general Powers as by this Act are given and granted to the ſaid Committee.

Provided, That no Perſon concerned in building, or dealing in any Materials for building, nor during ſuch Time as he ſhall have or execute any Office or Place of Profit by or under the Authority of this Act, or during ſuch Time as he ſhall have any Share or Intereſt in any Contract or Agreement for effecting the Purpoſes aforeſaid, or have or hold any Place or Employment under the Mayor and Commonalty and Citizens of the ſaid City, ſhall be eligible or capable of acting as a Member of the Committee.

And it is enacted, That the ſaid Mayor, Aldermen and Commons, in Common Council aſſembled, are empowered to deſign, aſſign and lay out in what Manner the ſaid intended Bridge ſhall be erected and built, and the Ways, Streets and Paſſages to and from the ſame made, widened, enlarged or improved, and to do all Matters and Things for carrying on and effecting the Purpoſes aforeſaid.

And that there ſhall remain a free and open Paſſage for the Water through the Arches thereof, or Paſſages under the ſame, of Seven Hundred and Fifty Feet at leaſt, within the preſent Banks of the ſaid River.

And that it ſhall not be lawful to erect any Houſe or Building upon the ſaid Bridge, other than Gates and Toll-Houſes.

And that if any Perſon or Perſons ſhall wilfully and maliciouſly blow up, pull down, or deſtroy the ſaid Bridge, or any Part thereof, ſuch Offender or Offenders, being thereof lawfully convicted, ſhall be adjudged guilty of Felony, and ſhall ſuffer as a Felon.

And that the ſaid Mayor, Aldermen and Commons, in Common Council aſſembled, ſhall have full Power and Authority to agree with the Owners or Occupiers of, and other Perſons intereſted in ſuch Lands, Tenements, or Hereditaments, as they ſhall Judge fit to be purchaſed, removed or pulled down, for the Purchaſe thereof; and, to appoint Workmen to pull Houſes down, and to lay ſuch Ground into Streets, Ways or Paſſages, or any of them, for the making, widening, enlarging or improving the ſame.

And if it ſhall happen that any Perſon or Perſons, Bodies politick, corporate or collegiate, or other Perſon or Perſons ſeized or poſſeſſed of, or intereſted in, any ſuch Lands, Tenements or Hereditaments as aforeſaid, ſhall refuſe to treat or agree for the Sale and Conveyance of their reſpective Eſtates and Intereſts therein with the ſaid Mayor, Aldermen, and Commons, in Common Council aſſembled, or with any Perſon or Perſons authorized by them, or ſhall not produce and evince a clear Title to the Premiſſes they are in Poſſeſſion of, or to the Intereſt they claim, to the Satisfaction of the ſaid Mayor, Aldermen and Commons, in Common Council aſſembled, or of the Perſon or Perſons ſo authorized by them, then and in every ſuch Caſe, a Jury ſhall be impannelled by the Sheriff of London or Surry, as the Caſe ſhall require; and the ſaid Jury upon their Oaths ſhall inquire of the Value of ſuch Lands, Tenements and Hereditaments, and of the reſpective Eſtate and Intereſt of every Perſon ſeized or poſſeſſed thereof, or intereſted therein, or of or in any Part thereof, and ſhall aſſeſs and award the Sum or Sums to be paid to every ſuch Perſon or Perſons for the Purchaſe of ſuch their Eſtates and Intereſts.

And it is enacted, That all Sums of Money, or other Conſideration, Recompence or Satisfaction to be paid and made purſuant to any ſuch Agreement or Verdict as aforeſaid, or which ſhall be due on any Mortgage, ſhall be, and are hereby charged and chargeable upon all Monies, which ſhall be raiſed or received for the Purpoſes of this Act, and ſhall be tendered to the Party or Parties entitled to the ſame; and in caſe of Refuſal to accept the ſame, ſhall be paid into the Bank of England, in the Names of any Perſon or Perſons appointed by the ſaid Court of Mayor and Aldermen for that Purpoſe, in Truſt for ſuch Perſon and Perſons as ſhall be entitled to receive the ſame, before the ſaid Mayor, Aldermen, and Commons in Common Council aſſembled, ſhall proceed to pull down any Houſe or Houſes, or other Erections and Buildings, or to uſe the Ground for the Purpoſes of this Act.

And it is enacted, That before the ſaid Bridge ſhall be compleatly finiſhed and made paſſable, the ſaid Mayor, &c. ſhall agree with the Company of Watermen, touching the Recompence to be made to the ſaid Company, for and in reſpect of the Sundays Ferry from Black-Friars aforeſaid, to the oppoſite Side in the County of Surry. And in Caſe ſuch Recompence cannot be ſettled by Agreement, then the Juſtices of the County of Surry, at ſome General Quarter Seſſions of the Peace for the ſaid County, or ſome Adjournment thereof, ſhall aſſeſs the ſame by a Jury of the County of Surry. And the Verdict of ſuch Jury and the Judgment of the ſaid Juſtices thereupon ſhall be binding to both Parties and their Succeſſors. And ſuch Sum or Sums ſo to be paid, ſhall be laid out in the Publick Funds, and the Income and yearly Produce thereof ſhall be applied to the ſame Purpoſes, and in ſuch manner as the Money ariſing by the ſaid Ferry hath been applied.

It is enacted, That it ſhall and may be lawful to and for the ſaid Mayor, &c. out of the Monies to be received by this Act, to fill up the Channel of Bridewell-Dock, lying between the ſaid River Thames and Fleet-Bridge; and alſo to remove, remove, pull down, and take away the Bridge croſs the ſaid Channel of Bridewell-Dock, and the Erections and Buildings, or any Part thereof, ſtanding and being upon Fleet-Bridge.

Provided, at the Time of the filling up the ſaid Channel as aforeſaid, they ſhall make, erect, and build a good and ſufficient Drain or Drains, Sewer or Sewers, in and through the ſaid Channel, of convenient Depth, and from Time to Time cleanſe and repair the ſame, out of the Monies which ſhall be raiſed, or received for the Purpoſes of this Act.

And it is enacted, That when the ſaid Bridge ſhall be compleatly finiſhed, and made paſſable, it ſhall not be lawful for any Coachman or Driver to ſtand or ply, for Hire, with any Coach or other Carriage whatſoever, or to leave any empty Coach or Carriage on the ſaid Bridge, or within the Space of One Hundred Yards on either Side of the ſame; or for any Carman, Carter, Drayman or Driver of any Carriage whatſoever, wilfully to ſtand or remain with any Cart, Car, Dray, Waggon or other Carriage whatſoever, or to leave any empty Cart, Dray, Waggon or other Carriage upon the ſaid Bridge, or within the Diſtance aforeſaid; or for any Perſon or Perſons to put any Filth, Dung, Aſhes or Rubbiſh on the ſaid Bridge, or to do any Act which may be an Annoyance there; and that every Perſon ſo offending herein, and being thereof convicted, ſhall forfeit and pay for every ſuch Offence a Sum not exceeding Twenty Shillings, nor leſs than Two Shillings and Six Pence, to be applied between the Parties informing againſt and apprehending every ſuch Offender or Offenders; and in Default of immediate Payment thereof the Offender or Offenders ſhall be committed to the Work-houſe, or to a Houſe of Correction, there to be kept to hard Labour for any Time not exceeding three Days, or until Payment thereof.

And it is enacted, That from and after the ſaid Bridge ſhall be erected and made paſſable a convenient and ſufficient Number of Glaſs Lamps ſhall be fixed on ſome proper Parts and Places of ſuch Bridge; and the ſame ſhall be kept lighted and burning from Sun-ſetting to Sun-riſing throughout the Year; and the Mayor, Aldermen, and Commons ſhall appoint ſuch a Number of able-bodied Watchmen as they ſhall judge neceſſary to be kept upon the Bridge, for the Safety and Protection of Perſons paſſing over the ſame: The Expence and the yearly Charges thereof to be borne and paid by and out of the Monies to be raiſed and collected by Virtue of this Act.

And it is enacted, That it ſhall and may be lawful to and for the ſaid Mayor, Aldermen and Commons, in Common Council aſſembled, to take and receive, or cauſe to be taken and received, in the Nature of a Toll, before any Paſſage over the ſaid Bridge ſhall be permitted, any Sum which the ſaid Mayor, Aldermen and Commons, in Common Council aſſembled, ſhall direct, not exceeding the following Rates; that is to ſay, For every Coach, Chariot, Berlin, Chaiſe, Chair or Calaſh, drawn by Six or more Horſes, Two Shillings: For every Coach, Chariot, Berlin, Chaiſe, Chair or Calaſh drawn by Four Horſes, One Shilling and Six Pence: For every Coach, Chariot, Berlin, Chaiſe, Chair or Calaſh, drawn by leſs than Four Horſes, One Shilling: For every Waggon, Wain, Car, Cart, or Carriage, drawn by Four or more Horſes, or other Beaſts, One Shilling, or leſs than Four Horſes, or other Beaſts, Six Pence: For every Horſe, Mule, or Aſs, laden or unladen, and not drawing, One Penny: And for every Foot Paſſenger on Sunday One Penny, and every other Day One Halfpenny. And the ſaid Mayor, Aldermen and Commons, in Common Council aſſembled, are hereby impowered, by any Perſon or Perſons by them thereto authorized as herein after mentioned, to levy the Tolls or Duties hereby required to be paid upon any Perſon or Perſons who ſhall, after Demand thereof made, neglect or refuſe to pay the ſame as aforeſaid; or to deny or hinder any Paſſage over the ſaid Bridge until Payment thereof. Which ſaid Tolls or Duties ſhall and may be levied by Diſtreſs of any Horſe or Horſes, or other Cattle or Goods upon which ſuch Tolls or Duties are by this Act impoſed, or upon any other of the Goods and Chattels of ſuch Perſon or Perſons as ought to pay the ſame; and all ſuch Horſes or other Cattle or Goods may be detained until ſuch Tolls or Duties, with the reaſonable Charge of ſuch Diſtreſs, ſhall be paid. And it ſhall be lawful for the Perſon or Perſons ſo diſtraining, after the Space of four Days after ſuch Diſtreſs made or taken, to ſell the Cattle, or other Goods or Chattels ſo diſtrained, for Payment of the ſaid Tolls or Duties, rendering to the Owner or Owners thereof the Overplus upon Demand, after Satisfaction of the ſaid Tolls or Duties, and the reaſonable Charges in and about making ſuch Diſtreſs and Sale, and keeping the ſame.

And it ſhall be lawful to and for the ſaid Mayor, Aldermen, and Commons in Common Council aſſembled, to nominate and appoint ſuch Perſon or Perſons to be Receiver or Receivers, Collector or Collectors of the ſaid Tolls and Duties as they ſhall think fit.

And it is enacted and declared, That the whole of the ſaid Bridge ſhall be deemed to be within the Pariſh of Saint Anne, Black-Friars, in the City of London; and the ſame or any Part thereof, or the Tolls to be taken thereon, ſhall not be rated or aſſeſſed for or towards the Land-Tax, the Repairs of Highways, Poors Rate, Church-wardens or any Ward or Pariſh-Rate whatſoever, nor ſhall the County of Surry be ſubject or liable to be taxed or aſſeſſed for the Repairs or ſupporting the ſame.

And it is further enacted, That it ſhall and may be lawful to and for the ſaid Mayor, Aldermen, and Commons, in Common Council aſſembled, from Time to Time, to raiſe, upon the Credit of the Tolls and Duties created and made payable by this Act, any Sum or Sums of Money not exceeding Thirty Thouſand Pounds in any one Year, until a Sum, not exceeding One Hundred and Sixty Thouſand Pounds in the whole, ſhall be raiſed.

And that the Tolls and Duties which ſhall be payable by Virtue of this Act ſhall be payable and have Continuance until all principal Money, which by Virtue of this Act ſhall be borrowed upon the Credit of the ſaid Tolls and Duties, together with the Intereſt thereof, ſhall be paid.

Provided, That nothing in this Act contained ſhall extend, or be conſtrued to extend, to leſſen or affect the Security of any of the preſent Creditors of the ſaid Mayor and Commonalty and Citizens.

And it is enacted, That the Chamberlain of the ſaid City of London ſhall yearly, after the ſaid Bridge ſhall be begun, lay before each Houſe of Parliament a true State of the Application of all Money which ſhall be received by Virtue of this Act.
